

$990,000 City Bond Issue Election Scheduled

Would Finance Municipal Works

An election has been set for Aug. 9 on municipal bond issue proposals totaling $990,000.

The election, which will allow the taxpaying voters of Big Spring to decide on the proposals, was called by city commissioners in a special session Friday evening.

Six different issues will be presented to the people. All call for municipal improvements or construction.

The proposed issues will be divided into $990,000 worth of general obligation tax bonds and $300,000 worth of water revenue bonds. Maturity will be serially over a period not to exceed 25 years.

Commissioners plan to meet around the first of the week to consider a shorter maturity period, possibly 20 years.

Tax bond issues to go before the people will include $500,000 for a new police and jail building, $125,000 for new fire stations and furnishings, $150,000 for street improvements, $90,000 for park improvements and land purchases, and $75,000 for city hall improvements.

The $300,000 in waterworks improvement bonds is slated for construction of an additional settling basin and flocculator basins at the basin and a new water reservoir, and numerous water main installations.

The proposed police and jail building bonds include $120,000 for construction of a new building, $50,000 for jail equipment, $20,000 for air conditioning and ventilation, and $10,000 for architect-engineer fees.

The firm of Puckett and French has been engaged to draw up plans on the proposed police building as well as on the proposed fire stations.

The $175,000 fire station bond proposal is for the following outlay: two stations, $100,000; two pump trucks, $40,000; a three-story drill tower, $15,000; furnishings for new buildings, $5,000; radio equipment, $5,000; contingencies, $5,000; and architect fee, $5,000.

The proposed street improvement bonds are for repairing and resurfacing streets in the business area, $40,000; right-of-way purchases and street construction, including connections between Third and Fourth, $50,000; street construction and maintenance equipment, $60,000.

Park improvement bonds, as outlined in the proposal, will be for two northside swimming pools, $45,000; extension of water and sewer lines to pools, $7,500; and other park improvements such as purchases of land and improvements, $40,000.

City Hall improvement bonds are slated for remodeling the second floor of the City Hall, where the police department is now, into office space. They also are to be used to air condition and renovate the city auditorium.

The water revenue bonds, according to the commissioners' Friday night decision, cannot go for an interest rate of more than 3.75 per cent. Payment will be out of

SECURITY STATE

New Bank Asked For Big Spring

Steps have been taken toward organization of a third commercial banking institution in Big Spring.

The charter application sets forth the Security State Bank of Big Spring, with a number of Big Spring business men listed as organizing stockholders.

It is proposed to open with a $250,000 capital structure, including $100,000 capital stock, $100,000 surplus, and $50,000 undivided profits. All stock in the concern has been subscribed.

Listed as stockholders are Raymond L. Tollett, president of Corden Petroleum Corporation; C. T. McLaughlin, Snyder oil operator and capitalist; G. W. Dabney, mayor of Big Spring; Ted O. Groehl and K. H. McGibbon, both oil wholesalers here; V. A. Whittington, assistant secretary and treasurer of Corden; and Larson Lloyd, a vice president of the First National Bank.

The charter application sets forth McLaughlin to serve as chairman of the board; Dabney as president, and Lloyd as executive vice president. The directorate would include McLaughlin, Dabney, Groehl, Whittington and McGibbon.

Plans are, Lloyd said Saturday, for Security State to erect a neighborhood banking house, and to stress parking and drive-in facilities. "We plan to put emphasis on service with maximum convenience to our customers," he said. Exact location of the bank has not been determined.

Security State also has made application for membership in the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. (See LOCAL, Page 6, Column 4)

Senators Hear About 'Quickie' Baby Adoptions

CHICAGO, July 16 (AP)—Senate investigators heard testimony today of "quickie" baby adoption deals with ramifications in New York, Iowa, Indiana and Duluth, Minn.

Three mothers whose babies were subjects of transactions testified from behind a large screen in the old U. S. Court House hearing room where the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee held its third and final day of Chicago hearings.

The mothers' identities were not disclosed. Two merely affirmed statements of their experiences read by subcommittee counsel Ernest A. Miller.

A third mother who testified from behind the screen sobbed uncontrollably at times as she related that her baby had been taken from her by a substitute.

This mother testified that she was shown a death certificate actually pertaining to another child, on which her baby's name had been entered. She said a New York attorney had practiced the deception, and that later she learned her baby was alive. She sought unsuccessfully to regain custody.

The testimony was heard by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of the subcommittee, and another member, Sen. Langer (R-ND).

A Chicago attorney, Edward J. S. Arken, testified after two of the mothers and a social worker had named him as an intermediary in adoption cases.

The testimony of one mother, read by Miller, related that her child had been adopted by an Indiana family, then returned when it became apparent that the youngster was partly blind.

Red Farmers Due Sunday For U.S. Visit

DES MOINES, July 16 (AP)—A 13-member Soviet agricultural delegation arrives tomorrow for a two-week visit and Iowa seems to be taking it in stride.

The Russians will be put up at top-notch hotels, received as guests in typical Iowa homes and treated as just folks.

A chartered bus itinerary has been arranged to give the visitors a look at just about every phase of Iowa's corn-bog economy and community life.

The visit is an exchange proposition which got its primary impetus from the U.S.S.R. drive to boost Russian farm production. A delegation of 12 American agriculturalists— including five Iowa farmers—currently is touring Russia.

There are some doubters—largely persons who fear the Russians will try to give the visit a propaganda twist. But most Iowans seem to think the exchange is worthwhile. A man-on-the-street poll in Des Moines showed better than 10-1 approval.

No special security measures have been asked or made for the visitors.

Ike Arrives For 'New Crusade'

GENEVA, July 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower reached Geneva tonight for a new and peaceful crusade in Europe.

Submerged and smiling, the United States President arrived for the momentous Big Four summit conference next week and declared he hoped it would "lead all the world into a more tranquil, better, fuller way of life."

Other leaders of East and West, converging here for what may be turning-point talks in the 10-year cold war, also voiced optimism.

The President was cheered by a large crowd held back at the airport fence as he alighted from his plane, Columbine III.

He made a brief speech recalling "some 11 years ago I came to Europe with an Army, Navy and Air Force with a single purpose—to destroy Nazism."

"I came with the formations of war and all of the circumstances of war surrounded that journey at that time."

"This time I come armed with something far more powerful: the good will of America—the great hopes of America—the aspirations of America for peace. That is why I have come here, in this beautiful country of yours, to meet with my colleagues from other countries to see whether it is not best to find some road that will lead all mankind into a more tranquil, better, fuller way of life."

The United States President, attended in a single-breasted dark grey suit, blue tie and light blue shirt, was accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower and his son, Maj. John Eisenhower, who will act as his personal aide here.

He was greeted by Swiss President Max Petitpierre.

Earlier, at a refueling stopover in Iceland, the American chief executive told correspondents he hoped the "cause of peace can be advanced for all the world" in the meetings which start here Monday.

Army, Navy Chiefs Argue For Place In Nuclear Warfare

QUANTICO, Va., July 16 (AP)—Army and Navy chiefs told their military bosses today why they think their forces remain vitally important elements in a nuclear age.

Top Air Force officials also compared their own service's capabilities with those of Russia. They said that this country is still ahead, but cannot afford any complacency in the face of increasing Russian strength.

In briefings delivered to the 170 civilian officials, generals and admirals attending the annual defense secretaries' conference, these points were underlined:

1. Gen. Maxwell T. Taylor, Army chief of staff, said the Army is a flexible force which can pattern its power to the problem—"can proportion its blows to fit the case, from the force of the M.P.'s truncheon to the kilotons of atomic weapons."

2. Adm. Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations, talked of the growing menace of Russia at sea.

3. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, noted the recent public display of new Soviet heavy jet bombers, said this "concrete evidence of accelerated Soviet progress" clearly demonstrates Soviet determination to develop a long-range bomber force.

4. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, the tough-tongued chief of the Strategic Air Command, said that American scientists and factories are providing "qualitatively superior" weapons. But, LeMay advised, there must be no complacency; every effort must be made to keep development and production superior.

French Army Takes Over In Strife-Torn Casablanca

CASABLANCA, Morocco, July 16 (AP)—The French army took over riot-battered Casablanca under martial law today and fired on Moroccan demonstrators in the native quarter. Five Moroccans were killed and 19 injured.

This brought the toll from rioting which had raged intermittently since Thursday night to 32 dead and at least 90 injured, by official count. Most Casablanca residents believe the toll is much higher.

As a precaution, U. S. military officers ordered all military personnel to take refuge at one of the American civilians also were invited to seek safety there.

The United States operates four air bases in Morocco and has a big naval base at Port Lyautey. The Army also operates a small port installation at Casablanca.

At almost the same hour as the shootings occurred in the native quarter, funeral services were being held at the Casablanca Cathedral for six victims of a terrorist bomb Thursday evening. Some 7,000 persons massed around the cathedral for the services. It was the bomb explosion at a busy intersection during celebration of Bastille Day, the French national holiday, which triggered the 2 1/2 days of disorders.

Gilbert Grandval, the French resident general who arrived only last week to take over active direction of the protectorate, attended the funeral services, although demonstrators had pointedly suggested that he and his representatives should stay away.

Many French residents of Morocco consider his views toward independence-seeking Moroccans as too moderate.

A group of French war veterans sought to block Grandval's way up the cathedral steps with the flags they were carrying, but the resident general waved them aside imperiously.

When he left, there were cries of "Death to Grandval!" and a crowd closed in. He narrowly escaped injury.

Cleaning Charges Going Up Monday

Charges for dry cleaning in Big Spring are going up Monday.

The Herald learned that an upward adjustment of prices will be general. Cleaners are citing increased costs necessitating higher charges, and one pointed out that there has been no change in dry cleaning prices here in seven years.

Basic price of cleaning and pressing a man's suit or a plain dress will advance from $1 to $1.25. Prices for other types of garments will be raised in proportion.

Shows Fall On Portions Of Area

Rain fell in beneficial quantities on small spots around Big Spring Friday night and Saturday. Blessed were farms near Lomax, Center Point and Lees.

Lawrence Adkins said he got 1.3 inches on the Eberley place southeast of the Lomax store.

"It puts us back in the running," he declared.

Adkins said Cecil Long in the Lees area received 1.5, but that Ray Russell, northeast of Lomax, received only about a quarter. Friday night, B. J. Petty received 3 in the Elbow area.

A. A. (Dutch) McKinney said he got a good shower at his place in the Center Point section. Rainfall ranged from a half to an inch in the community, he estimated. He said the showers apparently covered an area four miles wide and six or eight miles long from Fairview to the southeast.

Garden City got a sprinkle. A hard shower was reported at Sterling City Saturday afternoon. An unidentified motorist said Big Lake unidentified motorist said Big Lake ported 1.4.

Sen. Johnson Gets 4,000 'Get-Well' Notes

Revolution 'Ended' Argentine Liberty May Come Slowly

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 16 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron probably will proceed slowly in keeping his promise to lift restrictions on his political opposition.

The gradual approach was indicated today by the newspaper Democracia, which regularly reflects the government's views. In an editorial, it said Argentina must regain a state of calm before "all the brakes" can be loosened for a return to normal political life.

Addressing Peronista party congressmen yesterday, Peron declared the end of the "Peronista Revolution" and said he was retiring as "chief of the revolution to become President of all Argentines, friends and foes."

He promised to wipe out "all limitations" imposed on his political foes during his revolutionary rule so as to let the opposition

"set freely within the law with all guarantees of rights and freedoms." The President declared his goal is pacification of the country and that he aims to achieve it with or without the aid of the opposition.

Democracia said: "Peronism has laid down its fighting arms... now begin the stages of pacification. But pacification should not be confused with absolute institutional normality; with complete play of legal resources."

To reach this state of normalcy, Democracia said, "it must be approached gradually and as the spirits become serene and resentments are dispelled. We aspire to pass from revolution to democracy and not to another revolution, contrary or different. And so far there is not sufficient calmness in the spirits to loosen suddenly all the brakes. The opposition should not forget this."

Second Polio Shots Set For Thursday

First and second graders in Howard County will get their second shots of Salk polio vaccine Thursday in the First Presbyterian Church.

Definite times have been set for Big Spring children to get their shots, according to Health Unit nurse Jewel Barton. However, students from the independent districts of Knott, Forsan, and Coahoma, and rural schools at Midway, Elbow, Gay Hill, Vealmoor, and Center Point, may come for the shots all morning. It is best that these children from outlying areas come to the church as early as possible after 8 a. m., nurse Barton said.

The vaccine for these second shots is from the same laboratory that furnished vaccine for the first shots here, she said. It is the Eli Lilly Laboratory in Indianapolis.

Dr. Robert A. Hale, director of the Midland-Howard-Ector County health units, is expected to bring the vaccine to Big Spring today. He flew to Austin Saturday in a Shell Oil Company airplane to pick up the vaccine for 11 counties. Vaccine for Howard, Glasscock, Mitchell, and Sterling counties will be brought to Big Spring also. The other counties will pick up their portion here Monday.

Approximately 1,400 shots are expected to be given at the church Thursday. Jewel Barton said, "This is considerably less than the 1,700 administered for the first shots. Children do not have to bring any papers with them to get these second shots, provided they received the first shot in Howard County. However, the nurse explained, if the child was inoculated in another county, a vaccination record must be brought.

Persons falling into this latter category may call the County Health Unit here for instructions, she said.

Inoculations will begin at 8 a. m. with children whose last name begins with "A." Persons whose last names should arrive at the church a few minutes before their designated time so that they can be issued their vaccination card, Jewel Barton said.

The vaccinations will progress through the morning alphabetically in this order: persons whose last name begins with B, 8:10; C, 8:20; D, 8:30; E, 8:40; F, 8:50; G, 9; H, 9:10; I and J, 9:20; K and L, 9:30; M and Mc, 9:40; N and O, 9:50; P and Q, 10; R, 10:10; S, 10:20; T, 10:30; U and V, 10:40; and W, X, Y, and Z, 10:50.

Highway Crash Fatal To Rising Star Resident

COLORADO CITY, July 16 (AP)—Joe W. Fraley, Rising Star, was killed early Saturday when his car crashed head-on into a gasoline transport truck owned by Corden Refining Co. of Big Spring.

The accident occurred about 25 miles northeast of Big Spring on the Snyder Highway in Mitchell County about a mile east of the Howard County line. The truck, driven by Dell J. McGuire of Big Spring, contained about 4,500 gallons of gasoline, but no fire occurred.

McGuire was shaken up, but escaped serious injury.

McGuire told Highway Patrolman H. B. Slaughter that he was meeting a car and Fraley's 1953 Mercury appeared from behind it, apparently attempting to pass.

McGuire was southwest bound toward Big Spring and Fraley was driving toward Snyder. Fraley was taken to a Snyder hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Mitchell County Attorney Frank Ginzle is investigating the accident along with the Highway Patrol. The wreck was reported at 12:20 a. m. Saturday.

Cons Seize Three Guards

RAWLINS, Wyo., July 16 (AP)—Mutinous convicts seized control of a new cell block in the Wyoming prison today and held three guards as hostages. None of the convicts has escaped.

Warden Deane Miller, who was absent from the penitentiary when the disturbance began, returned soon afterward. He held two meetings with spokesmen for the rioting prisoners—estimated at about 75 of the 275 inmates.

Scattered Showers Crackle Over Texas

Scattered thundershowers continued to crackle over Texas Saturday night and most cities reported considerable relief from the heat.

Thunderstorm activity was reported during the day by the Weather Bureau in the vicinities of Midland, San Angelo, Abilene, Mineral Wells, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Salt Flat, Waco, College Station and Houston, and Big Spring.

Houston Mayor Wins Round In Ouster Battle

HOUSTON, July 16 (AP)—Mayor Roy Hofheinz presided at city hall today, armed with a court order halting at least temporarily impeachment efforts launched by the city council.

There were reports of compromise efforts but with no indication of success.

The next round in the bitter city hall feud probably will be next Thursday's district court hearing before Judge Ben Moorhead on Hofheinz' plea for a permanent injunction against the council.

The eight councilmen were served at noon today with an order restraining them from suspending Hofheinz for 30 days pending an Aug. 4 trial by the council on six impeachment charges.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

A new supply of anti-polio vaccine has been received and second shots will be given Thursday for first and second graders. Some may have been frightened by the bad publicity after first shots. The new supply of vaccine has been checked and re-checked. Besides, the fact that we had no cases indicated our first batch of vaccine was good and effective.

Water consumption touched a new peak here last Wednesday when an even eight million gallons were metered in a 24-hour period. Unless the tenacious drought loosens its hold or too many residents give up on lawns and shrubs, we'll be seeing more of these eight million days.

'Unfinished Business' On Tap For Reconvening Grand Jury

The grand jury is going back into session at 9 a. m. Monday to attend to some "unfinished business."

And with a petit jury panel ordered for 10 a. m. Monday, a crowded week looms for 11th District Court.

Twelve civil cases have been set tentatively for trials during the week. Judge Charlie Sullivan will call the docket for the week's settings after sending the grand jury back to work.

District Attorney Guilford Jones said the grand jury may be able to finish its work in one day. The panel will investigate forgery charges which have been filed against Frank Horton and theft charges against W. L. Henry. Then the group will take up what Jones termed "unfinished business." He would not elaborate.

The grand jury was dismissed by Judge Sullivan on June 28, but was ordered back into session last week at the request of the district attorney. Sixteen indictments were returned at the last session and only two or three criminal charges have been filed since June 28.

Heading the list of civil matters scheduled for the week is the lawsuit of the City of Big Spring and the Big Spring Independent School

Inflections Strike 157 During Week

There were 157 cases of contagious diseases in the county last week, according to the Health Unit records. Diarrhea was the most numerous with 60 cases reported.

Other diseases and number of occurrences were tonsillitis, 38; upper respiratory, 15; gastroenteritis, 14; streptococci, 12; pneumonia, 7; virus, 3; trenchmouth, 2; mumps, 2; chicken pox, 1; measles, 1; gonorrhoea, 1; and syphilis, 1.

DO IT YOURSELF Major Furniture Item, But No Major Problem

By BILL BAKER
Gone are the days when it was unthinkable to tackle a major piece of furniture as a workshop project. Today you can build almost anything!

And to prove this statement, take a look at the do-it-yourself modern dining room buffet I've designed. Strikingly beautiful and smartly simple, the buffet is one major piece of furniture that won't give you building problems.

My pattern package number 131 will be your shop assistant — and a good one it is, too, because it can carry most of the construction responsibilities for you. All you'll have to do is go along with the details — and you get all of the credit and joy when the job is finished.

If your home could do with a smart, new buffet, then this design is for you. And here's how your building schedule will go:

When you receive your pattern package you'll take the material list to your lumberyard. Everything you'll need is listed — and figured exactly right. No waste of materials for you. You'll be pleased, too, with the very small dent your hobby budget will suffer from your inexpensive lumberyard visit.

With the materials at home you'll then study the easy-to-read instruction sheet. No double talk here. You'll find just the right words, written in the step-by-step order you'll meet in the construction phase of the project.

Next you'll tack down the excelsior heavy-weight paper pattern pieces on the wood. Most of the sections of the buffet will be cut from a 4 foot by 8 foot sheet of plywood, and the pattern package includes a layout chart, showing where each pattern piece should be placed. It's a simple matter, then, to trace the pattern and cut out the pieces.

Included in the pattern package are many detailed diagram drawings, which you'll use when you assemble the cabinet. I used 12-inch wrought iron legs on my buffet, but you may wish to use wooden legs. The pattern tells how to use either.

Natural wood finish or paint in some dramatic color will add the final touch of perfection to your professional-looking project.

You'll like the practical features of the buffet, after you've moved it into your room. Three deep drawers, for example, give you ample storage space for napkins and silver.

Behind two sliding doors, on a raised section of the buffet, you'll have more than enough space to keep your fine china and linen.

An open section, running the full length of the almost four-foot long buffet, adds the right final note of modern grace to the cabinet.

New Law Hikes VA Guaranty On Farm Loans

World War II and Korean veterans in some areas will find it easier to get GI loans to purchase farms on which there is a home or to construct or improve farm houses, under a new law recently signed by the president.

The new law increases the Veterans Administration guaranty on GI farm loans made by private lenders to 60 per cent of the loan up to $7,500 on the three types of loans.

However, Ray Boren, contact officer at the local VA hospital, said that he did not believe veterans in the local area would profit by the law because of the lack of private lenders willing to loan money at four and one-half per cent. This is the maximum rate of interest that can be charged under the GI bill.

In purchasing a farm under the new law, the guaranty would cover all buildings that are considered part of the realty. Also, the GI loan with an increased guaranty can be used to liquidate a lien against the land if the indebtedness does not exceed the value of the land. This applies when a veteran wishes to build a farm residence.

The Veterans Administration also has a new Voluntary Home Mortgage Credit program which is just now getting into full swing.

This is a program to bring together veterans in small towns and rural areas with lenders who are willing to make GI loans at the prescribed four and a half per cent interest.

The reason for the program is that small-town loans have been usually harder to swing than in big cities.

Papers Donate $15 Million In Ads For Public Interest

U. S. newspapers and their advertisers contributed almost $15 million worth of space, the most given in any year since World War II, to public interest campaigns conducted by the Advertising Council during the 12-month period ended March 3, 1955.

This was disclosed by the Council in releasing its 13th annual report. The Council is a private, non-profit public service advertising organization supported by newspapers and other media, by American business firms, and by advertising agencies. Its purpose is to promote the use of advertising in the solution of such non-partisan national problems as traffic accidents, forest fires, school conditions, nursing shortages, etc.

According to the report, the nation's newspapers donated an estimated 891,282 lines of advertising—the equivalent of over 43,000 full-page advertisements—to 16 of the 17 major public interest drives conducted fiscal year.

Of these drives, six were aimed at conserving our human and spiritual resources: Stop Accidents, Better Schools, Community Chests, Red Cross, Student Nurse Recruitment, and Religion in American Life.

Two others focused on conserving our natural resources: Forest Fire Prevention and Fire Prevention.

The fund was started to promote cultural relations in the American republics, particularly among newspaper men and journalism students.

(In the home). Five worked to build up our national defense: Ground Observer Corps, Civil Defense, USO Mail Call, Engineers Wanted, and the National Blood Program.

Two attempted to strengthen our national economy: U. S. Savings Bonds and Future of America.

Two undertook to strengthen our relations overseas: Crusade for Freedom and CARE.

Additionally, the Council and its supporting groups gave some degree of assistance to 43 other causes such as the American Heart Association, American Cancer Society, Boy Scouts of America, and United Negro College Fund.

Half Of 'Voters' Identify Farm

It was a 50-50 split on returns on this week's "Mystery Farm" photo in The Herald.

Exactly one-half those turning in identifications were agreed on the owner—the right one. The other 50 per cent had varied places in mind.

First person to notify The Herald of the correct identity was John F. Masters. Two free tickets to local picture shows, courtesy of the Big Spring Theatres and The Herald, are being mailed to him.

And the owner of the farm receives two passes, also, along with a mounted photo of the aerial view of his place. A feature article on this farm in the Big Spring area will appear in Wednesday's Herald, along with another of the "Mystery" series. Readers are invited to help furnish proper identification.

China Makers Protest
MUNICH, Germany, July 16 (AP)—Bavarian china manufacturers protest that the admission of Japan to the General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs will mean their ruin. A cable to the West German Economic Ministry said the Bavarians, who make 95 per cent of Germany's chinaware, are convinced the Japanese will undercut them piecewise on the world market.

Reich Unity Held Key To Settlement

BONN, Germany, July 16 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Socialist opposition leader Erich Ollenhauer jointly informed the big powers today that a cold war settlement without German unity is "totally unacceptable."

On the eve of the Big Four conference at the summit in Geneva, the two leaders, in a rare demonstration of political cooperation, declared this is one issue on which all Germans can rally.

Adenauer and Ollenhauer, the two top political leaders in West Germany, spoke before an attentive session of the Bundestag shortly before it passed a bill to call up the first volunteers for the new West German army this year.

Bitter political opponents for years, Adenauer and Ollenhauer united in attacking the Soviet Union's proposal this week for a European security system to include both West Germany and Communist East Germany.

Speaking slowly and solemnly, 79-year-old Adenauer declared: "The creation of a European security system on the basis of the division of Germany is totally unacceptable to the Germans. Such a system would perpetuate for a wholly unpredictable time the division of Germany. This would provide no security for Europe."

The stocky, white-haired Ollenhauer — arch opponent of Adenauer's pro-Western foreign policy — then took the floor to say: "We socialists share the views of the Chancellor that a European security system which aims at maintaining the partition of Germany would be unacceptable for the German people. A way can and must be found to unite Germany peacefully."

Texas Congress Voting Record

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—How Texas members of Congress were recorded on recent roll call votes:

SENATE:

On passage, 80-1, of bill providing for strengthening of military reserve forces: Daniel, for; Johnson, not voting.

HOUSE:

On passage, 251-123, of $2,638,741,750 foreign aid appropriation bill, cut $627,900,000 under President Eisenhower's budget: Patman, Poage, Wright, Ikard, Burleton, Mahon and Kilday, for the bill; Dies, Gentry, Alger (R), Teague, Dowdy, Thomas, Bell, Kilgore, Rutherford, Rogers and Fisher, against the bill (Speaker Rayburn votes only in case of a tie).

On passage, 315-92, of compromise bill appropriating $1,965,613,500 for AEC, TVA and public works projects: Patman, Brooks, Teague, Dowdy, Thomas, Thompson, Burleson, Rogers, Mahon, Kilday and Fisher, for the bill; Dies, Gentry and Alger, against.

Crops Take Beating From Lashing Rain, Hot Winds

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., July 16 (AP)—Crops took a beating in some areas of Texas this week from lashing rains or hot, dry winds. But Dr. G. G. Gibson of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said livestock conditions in general were good.

In the regularly weekly survey of Texas' range and crop conditions, agricultural agents reported: In the Lower Rio Grande Valley weather for the next two weeks will determine the extent of damage to the cotton crop by recent heavy rains in Willacy, Hidalgo and Cameron counties. The remainder of South Texas is hot and dry and moisture is needed critically.

Livestock in North Texas is reported in good condition. However, pastures which have been in excellent condition for several months are beginning to suffer from a lack of moisture. The cotton crop is in good condition except for thrip and grasshopper damage. Corn and grain sorghum needs rain.

On the Edwards Plateau ranchmen are moving their cattle to market rapidly as ranges and pastures become critical. All crops need rain.

In Central Texas all vegetation is showing ill effects of dry weather.

In the Panhandle the wheat harvest is about complete and an extremely large sorghum acreage is now in all stages of growth. Most all will need normal rains in mature. Grass growth has stopped due to a lack of moisture, but livestock is in good condition.

Crops in the northeast quarter of the South Plains are responding beautifully to favorable growing conditions, but south and west of Lubbock moisture is needed.

Whitney Again Wins Citation

NORTH FT. HOOD, Tex., July 16 (AP)—Whitney, the smallest city in Texas with a National Guard unit, today for the second straight year won the Army's Eisenhower Trophy for National Guard company - size units.

The award went to the ambulance company of the 11th Medical Bn. for outstanding proficiency.

Maj. Gen. Carl Phinney, Commanding the 36th Division, presented the trophy to Capt. Bruce E. Oberholzer, the unit commander.

Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, Texas adjutant general presented the Governor's Trophy to Capt. Wyatt H. Barnett, Commanding Co. A, 736th Ordnance Bn. Co. A won the trophy for being the outstanding company - size unit in summer training last year.

The trophies were presented during the annual parade and review of the 9,000 men of the 36th, now in summer camp.

John Sealy Indigent Admissions Dropped

AUSTIN (AP)—Abandonment of a free admission policy for indigent patients at the John Sealy Hospital of the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston has been ordered by the university board of regents.

Effective Sept. 1, indigent patients will be charged a minimum of $3 per day, and charges to pay patients will be increased $1.50 daily over present rates.

The change in policy became necessary because of a deficit of more than $500,000 in hospital operation for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, coupled with an insufficient appropriation by the Legislature for the next two years, board chairman Tom Sealy and university president Logan Wilson said.

"Obviously deficit financing cannot continue," the two officials said in a joint statement.

"The Legislature did not appropriate sufficient funds to permit the university to continue to take care of large numbers of indigent patients from virtually every county in the state.

"These patients in general are more medically difficult and complicated cases, and by the same token the more expensive. They are referred to the John Sealy Hospital by private physicians from counties where local facilities are not comparable or available."

Wilson said the board and administrative officers had concluded that it was more desirable to ask communities from which indigent patients are referred to assume a minimum portion of the cost of caring for such patients, rather than close down 100 to 200 beds.

MEN IN SERVICE

Bobby J. Nobles, son of Stephen Nobles, 405 Washington Blvd., was recently promoted to the rank of airman first class.

Nobles is a service systems mechanic assigned to the 13th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron at Selfridge Air Force Base, Mich. A graduate of Big Spring High School, Nobles entered the Air Force in February, 1953. He has completed courses in armament systems fundamentals and service systems at Lowrey AFB, Colorado and a three-week course at Hughes Aircraft Co. in California.

Capt. William Henry Aderhold, whose permanent address is 2005 Runnels, has recently arrived at Landsberg Air Force Base, Germany, where he has been assigned to the 7th Shoran Beacon Squadron.

Mrs. Aderhold and their two children accompanied the captain to Germany.

Prior to his overseas assignment, Capt. Aderhold was stationed at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss.

Sgt. Billy E. Lusk, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Lusk of 305 Owens, is serving with the Operations and Engineering Squadron at the Marine Corps Air Station in Miami, Fla. The personnel of this organization man the control tower and make the major repairs on all of the station's aircraft.

Pvt. Alan W. Hamm, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sie Hamm, 921 Elm, Colorado City, is a member of the 7th Infantry Division in Korea.

Private Hamm, a clerk in Medical Company of the division's 31st Regiment, arrived overseas last April from an assignment at Fort Sam Houston. He was graduated from the University of Texas in 1954 and entered the Army in October.

Pfc. Royce King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy King of Lamesa, has been assigned to the 29th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Group at Yokohama, Japan.

King, 23, went overseas last February. He was a student at Lon Morris College and East Texas State College before entering the service.

At the present time he is an operations center specialist in Battery C of the anti-aircraft group's 507th AAA Battalion. He took basic training at Ft. Bliss, near El Paso.

FORSAN — Pvt. Jerry Fullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fullen, is presently located at Etain, France, where he has been on duty with the infantry for three months as a supply truck driver.

He had his training at Ft. Bliss, Camp Lee, Va., and Camp Kilmer. His wife, Charlene, lives in Big Spring with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Boyd.

Jerry's twin, Terry, is now stationed at Ft. Carson, Colo., with the infantry, and will soon enter military police school in Georgia.

Pvt. Ralph W. Winterrowd, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Winterrowd, live at 805 Runnels, was among the soldiers flown from Ft. Campbell, Ky., to Japan, recently as part of Operation Gyroscope, the Army's new unit rotation plan. Winterrowd's unit, the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, replaced the 187th RCT. The 19-year-old soldier entered the Army in October 1954 and completed basic training at Camp Chaffee, Ark. Winterrowd attended Big Spring High School.

HCJC Keeping Outlays Within Available Funds

Howard County Junior College has passed its budget outlay in expenditures, with two months remaining in the fiscal year, but it is still well within available revenues.

Financial statement of the college, approved by the board, shows general fund expenditures of $14,073 for June, boosting the year's total to $216,149. This is $8,470 more than was set up in the budget for the entire year. On the other hand, revenues have amounted to $248,278, which is $40,599 more than anticipated in the budget. Thus the excess of receipts over disbursements stands at $32,128. Based on the June record, there is every indication that the college will finish well within available funds. The interest and sinking fund may require one relatively small transfer or loan to meet August interest schedules.

More than half of the June total went to instructional service and administration. Plant operation and supplies accounted for most of the other.

Receipts for June stood at $5,404, tuition accounting for $2,058 and $1,252 from the City of Big Spring on a sewer line advance. Bookstore, laboratory and other fees contributed the remainder.

Highlights of disbursements for the month showed: Auxiliary services $318 ($3,872 for the year); athletic department $803 ($8,349 for the year); student activities $266 ($7,019 for the year); other services $439 ($12,534 for the year); administration $3,863 ($41,670 for the year); instructional service $5,102 ($82,053 for the year); plant operation $2,858 ($24,719 for the year); bus operation $107 ($2,961 for the year); refunds $135 ($911 for the year); capital outlay $183 ($38,896 for the year); bonds and interest $3,709 ($26,191 for the year); total June $17,785 ($242,344 for the year).

Scholarship To Voss Boy

WICHITA FALLS, July 16 (UP)—Award of a $1,200 college scholarship to David Pate, 18, of Voss in the FFA phase of the Frank M. Wood Wildlife Conservation Awards program was announced today.

Pate was named state winner by J. C. Porter, awards committee chairman. The Coleman County youth, a member of the Moseley America, is the first recipient of an award under the program.

He will attend Texas A&M College and has indicated he hopes to enter the National Park Service after graduation.

His award was for a wildlife conservation program he applied on his father's 1,400-acre ranch. He has fenced feeder plots for wildlife, provided water, and controlled predatory animals.

Work Starts To Enhance Lake J. B. Thomas Boating

Boating facilities will be enhanced under work started and planned at Lake J. B. Thomas.

Dirt work for two boat house sites has been completed and excavation for a third site will begin this week. In the making are plans for floating docks and permanent launching ramps for public areas.

These are part of the improvement program for the lake undertaken as rapidly as recreational revenues will permit. E. V. Spence, general manager, pointed out.

One of the boathouse basins is off the inlet extending southward from the dam. It is 100x150 and when the lake is at maximum elevation of 2,258, the basin will be 18 feet deep. At the present time the channel to it is plugged so that building may be done in the "dry."

The second basin is located just west of the Big Spring intake which is approximately half a mile east of where the Vincent road intersects with the lake. This one is 100x75 feet and already has the channel cut into it.

A third basin for a boathouse will be developed just south and east of what will be an island about midway off the south shore. Permanent launching ramps, so situated and designed that individuals will be able to easily launch and recover their boats from them, will be developed in the public areas soon, said Spence. Near each will be a floating dock, connected by a flexible gangway with the shore, so that passengers or equipment can be loaded or unloaded comfortably and safely. O. H. Ivie, production engineer, has been inspecting similar installations in other lakes during the past week in order to get details of construction, said Spence.

Boathouses will be constructed later to provide all-weather shelter for boats whose owners wish to leave them more or less permanently on the lake. This service would be available for a rental charge. The details on building of these structures have not been completed, but the dirt work was done now because it would be more economical than after inundation, the general manager explained.

Reds Free Mindszenty

VIENNA, Austria, July 16 (UP)—Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty has been released from prison on account of his health and old age, the Hungarian radio announced today.

The cardinal, now 63 years old, was sentenced to life imprisonment by a "People's Court" in Budapest on Feb. 8, 1949. He was convicted of treason, of attempting to overthrow the Hungarian Communist government in favor of the Hapsburg monarchy and of trading illegally in dollars obtained from the United States and the Vatican.

His arrest, trial and imprisonment produced a flood of indignant protests around the world. The Communists arrested Mindszenty on Dec. 26, 1948, after a long controversy. It was the second time he had been jailed. He had been imprisoned by the Nazis for defying Hitler, too. A broadcast monitored in Munich said the decree of the Justice Ministry ordering his "temporary" release specified that he should live in a monastery.

County Not Yet Due Erosion Control Fund

The emergency wind erosion control payments recently approved by the ASC State Committee do not apply to Howard County at present. The local ASC Committee must meet and ask for these funds before they will be approved for the county, according to Gabe Hammack, county office manager.

He said the county committee, composed of Roy Anderson, Sam F. Buchanan and Donald Lay, will meet Friday July 22, at which time they are expected to request the funds.

According to the memorandum received by the county ASC office, payment of $1.20 per acre will be paid for sorghums planted in normal width rows. For rows planted less than 24 inches apart or drilled sorghums, the payment is $1.90 an acre. Millet is listed at $1.75 an acre and small grains will be $2.00.

These payments will be made to farmers for planting crops on land that is bare, though the exact date of planting has not yet been decided. The crops cannot be harvested in any way, either as grain, bundles or silage, and must be left on the field for wind protection.

Hammack says Howard County does not have any funds for this practice now, but still retains a balance of around $40,000 which has not been applied on approved practices. He thinks perhaps the county committee can have this money allotted to farmers who comply with the wind erosion plantings.

Only a few farmers will apply for this practice, in the opinion of Hammack, unless the dry weather holds on until there is no chance for grain sorghums to make grain. "Since they can't harvest the crops in any way," he said, "not many farmers will want to accept the small amount of payment for wind erosion control alone. If, however, we don't get rain until September, I expect quite an acreage of the small grain to be planted."

Invention Of Big Springers Keeps Tab On Water Levels

City Saves On Device

Keeping Public Eating Places Clean Is Job Of Sanitarians

By CLIFTON LAWHORNE

The City of Big Spring made a "killing" on the purchase of an apparatus to gauge water levels in local water system reservoirs.

The apparatus, a revolutionary type telemeter, was installed at the new filter plant for a thousand dollars. The usual cost of telemeters is between $12 and $15 thousand.

Big Spring was able to realize the huge savings because of the invention of the new type telemeter by two local residents—Roy Rogan, city electrician, and Alfred Martel, electrical engineer for the telephone company.

The two men completed the installation of the telemeter last weekend and had it calibrated by Monday. Water Superintendent Roy Hester says the apparatus has been working perfectly since.

Prior to installation of the telemeter, Hester had to drive from the filter plant to each water reservoir to read the float gauges. This was quite a distance and took some time to do, especially as several readings are necessary each day. One reservoir is at 23rd and Lancaster, another is in the City Park, and the third is on scenic Mountain near the air base. The filter plant is at Sixteenth and Virginia Streets.

Now that the telemeter is installed, all Hester has to do is flip a switch to find out how much water is in the various reservoirs. He doesn't move from his control room at the filter plant.

Telemeter service for Big Spring has been discussed ever since the new filter plant was completed last year, but the price of equipment seemed prohibitive.

Rogan, in his position of city electrician, knew that the telemeter was needed. So he contacted Martel, and the two of them got their heads together to design a meter that could be built economically.

They submitted their plan to City Manager H. W. Whitney, who admitted that it looked practical. The City Commission agreed to give the plan a try, and last weekend's installation was the result.

Martel and Rogan spent about a year assembling the necessary materials and working out the kinks in installation.

A number of precautions were taken which perhaps were not necessary, but the two men wanted to make sure of their product. Today they think they have one of the best and simplest telemeters on the market.

Both men are interested in the commercial possibilities. They explain that a large engineering firm and upwards of a dozen cities have their eyes on the local installation.

"Of course, other cities will not get the telemeter for the same price as Big Spring," Rogan explained. "This was our original experimental model, and installation was without profit."

The two men point out that their telemeter is a radical departure from the conventional type. Operation is by direct current voltage rather than frequencies.

"Our telemeter has no heavy maintenance problems. It is sim-

City Gets New Telemeter

Alfred Martel, co-inventor of Big Spring's revolutionary new telemeter, is shown at left on top of a city water reservoir where his apparatus is hooked up to gauge water levels. As water level changes, a float moves the cable Martel is holding over the pulley and changes voltage readings in the attached microspot transformer box. A water rise of one foot causes a jump of 10 volts, while loss of a foot means a decrease of 10 volts. The microspot transformers on the city's three reservoirs are attached by wires to the voltage transfer unit shown in the picture at upper right, where Roy Rogan, the other inventor, is shown checking reservoir relays. Readings from zero to 150 volts, are obtained simply by moving the control knob. In number one position, the Lancaster reservoir reading is obtained. In number two position, which changes relays, the Park reservoir reading is registered. In number three position, which changes to still another relay, the Air Force reservoir reading is made. A relay cylinder is to be installed in the transfer unit at the Lancaster reservoir in the near future which will accommodate 15 to 20 operations, the inventors announced. This relay unit will be hooked in series to the control panel at the filter plant and will allow opening and closing of water valves, stopping and starting of pumps and motors, etc.

"Uses are unlimited," the two men claim.

Each of the reservoirs are connected by wires to a transfer unit at the Lancaster reservoir pump house. This transfer unit, from which voltage readings on each microspot can be made, is connected to the control panel at the filter plant on a leased telephone wire. The control panel is calibrated in feet rather than volts, and water footage in each reservoir can be obtained simply by moving the control knob.

The Big Spring telemeter is operated off low DC voltage with low milliamperage current, and the inventors say that interference is practically impossible.

The telemeter transmitter is hooked up to the float gauges in each reservoir by means of a cable attached to an 18-inch pulley wheel, which is in turn attached by a shaft to a microspot voltage transformer.

As the float rises, the weight on the other end of the cable pulls on the wheel. Each revolution of the wheel represents a change of a foot in the reservoir water mark, and it also means a change of 10 volts in the microspot voltage transformer.

Every time the reading picks up 10 volts, it means that the reservoir has picked up a foot of water. Loss of 10 volts means loss of a foot of water.

The microspot voltage transformer is set for a maximum of 150 volts, which means that it can gauge to the largest reservoir capacity of 15 feet.

By GLENN COOTES

"Kitchen police" are not restricted to the armed services. Big Spring has two of them, Lige Fox and Tom Hardie, but they don't wash pots and pans.

Employed by the City-County Health Unit, these two men have the responsibility of keeping the kitchens of public eating establishments clean.

Sanitation in public eating places is a must to prevent the spread of sickness and disease, according to Fox. It is the sanitarians' duty rather than the "pound of cure."

To accomplish their aim, the inspectors check each food-establishment and the personnel as often as seems necessary. Some eating establishments require closer attention than others, Fox said. The inspections include a careful check of the sterilization and refrigeration facilities.

Cleanliness and the care of stored food is also very important. Employee restrooms and hand-washing facilities are kept under observation. All of these things must be in reasonably adequate condition for the inspector to make a satisfactory report on the business, Fox pointed out.

Where the business purchases the best meats and vegetables available, the food can still be unhealthy if the kitchen is not kept clean and the dishes sterilized completely to insure that all germs are destroyed.

Storage of food must be cool enough to prevent spoilage. Contaminated, spoiled, or other food whose quality is considered questionable is condemned or sent to a state laboratory for examination.

Employees of eating establishments must have "health cards" before they begin work, Fox said.

Failure to have a card may cost the operator of the business a fine of $200, provided by state law.

This card shows that the employee has been examined by a local doctor and that he is free of communicable diseases.

Health cards in Big Spring can be obtained only after the person applying for the card has been given a blood test and an x-ray, Fox said. This is the only way that a customer in a cafe can be certain that the person preparing and serving his meal is a safe foodhandler.

There have been cases here where a man traveling through town and in need of a meal has been allowed to wash dishes to pay for the meal, Fox said. This is against the law, he added, and could be dangerous for the patrons of the cafe. After all, Fox explained, the proprietor of the cafe does not know what the health of every stranger is.

The duties of the health inspectors in Big Spring are usually limited to advising cafe, drug and food store owners about the health requirements. But sometimes, Fox said, advice and warnings are not enough. Where an operator refuses to maintain sanitary conditions, the health department must resort to the law. It is then up to the courts to see that sanitation is enforced.

Action of the courts has a tremendous bearing on the program, Fox pointed out. Adverse decisions can hurt, but more frustrating are the delays, he contended. For instance, Fox cited the record of a case being filed Jan. 21 in justice court against an operator for having spoiled food on the premises with intent to sell it. The case was not called until May 3. The operator pleaded not guilty; the trial was held; but no verdict has been entered to this date.

On June 27 another case was filed against the same operator for employing a waitress without a health card. Fox continued. So far the case has not been set for a hearing.

Court procedures are the last resort of the sanitarians, and thus Fox contends with more than a little logic that the future of enforcing the sanitary program may hinge upon action on these and other cases.

DENISON, Tex., July 16 (AP)—Otis Tillman Footest, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Footest of Floydada, drowned while swimming in Lake Texoma today.

The family was at the lake to celebrate the 32nd wedding anniversary of the victim's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Footest of Floydada.

Witch's Brew

For many centuries the apothecary's art was little more than a witch's brew. The hoof of the wild ass, the tooth of the swine, the heel of the greyhound, when properly brewed, were variously prescribed for headaches, baldness, and to "purify the blood." Out of this medical rag bag of the centuries has come the pharmacy of today. We are not qualified by either education or experience to diagnose disease or prescribe treatment, but we are thoroughly qualified to supply whatever medication your physician prescribes. In telling about her parakeet (named Bill) Miss Evelyn Bass wrote:

"I had heard a lot about parakeets, but I didn't think they could talk so clearly until I got one of my own. Now, after training him, I feel that my effort has paid off."

"I have two sisters and two brothers, and he goes to them and calls their names. He also calls out, 'Mama!'"

"It is a pleasure to see him help Mother sew. He will get the thread and cry out, 'What you doing?'"

"When I go into the room where he is, he will call out, 'Hey, there pretty!' When I go out again he says 'Bye.'"

"He knows how to play ball with his toys. He has a little ladder which he climbs when he wants to look in a mirror and talk to the image bird."

"Each evening I turn him out, and he seems to know when to return. He comes back and says, 'I want to get in my cage.'"

"It would require loads of paper to tell all the kind words and tricks of my pretty Bill. He amazes all members of the family."

Mrs. J. L. Lambert has a cobalt-blue parakeet named Ike. Here are paragraphs from her letter:

"My parakeet was two months old when I got him, and he started to talk at the age of six months. He talks, laughs, sings and plays. He gets up on the radio, and listens to the news."

"He is very tame, and leaves his cage and returns very much as he pleases. He pays no attention to my canaries. He calls me Mommy, and says, 'Hello Mommy. Kiss pretty Ike.'"

"I have a son in service. He perches on the phone and says, 'Come on Paul! Come on home and see Mommy.' Last Christmas he greeted everyone with 'Merry Christmas to you!' On my husband's birthday, he flew on his shoulder and said, 'Happy birthday to you.' He is the best pet I ever had."

The weekly insect report from Lubbock says that with cotton beginning to fruit out, insects are becoming more numerous. Aphids are infesting some fields heavily; thrips are found in counties farther north, and fleahoppers are increasing in nearly all parts of the South Plains. Eggs and scattering small bollworms have been found in Martin and Borden counties.

The entomologists ask that farmers check their cotton regularly and when they find as many as four or five worms on 100 stalks, the field should be poisoned.

The report listed false wire worms in Howard County, and said they continued to damage cotton in parts of the county.

The Brown community has had several years. Nearly everyone planted from two to four times, and some of the sander land is still partly bare.

They must have rain within the next few days, said Buford Fitts, or the cotton will start wilting. It already has bolts the size of a peewee marble, and the stalks have stopped growing. Olin Hadcock who farms just west of the store is hoing his cotton the second time.

"I should have been at it sooner," he said, "but the sand was still blowing and those weeds interfered some protection."

He said their last good rain came around May 20.

Prospects for making money with a dairy herd are very poor, according to Bill Norwood, Big Spring dairyman. He says that milk prices have not advanced, while the cost of feed has gradually inched higher.

"The main problem now," he said, "is lack of homegrown feed. We're competing with dairies in the Midwestern states where feed and pastures are plentiful, and they can ship milk down here and sell it cheaper than we can produce it."

Norwood says even producers from Minnesota ship milk into Texas and compete with local dairymen. They send it in huge insulated milk trucks. Each truck has two drivers, and when they head south the big truck hardly stops until it gets here.

"Until this area starts producing good feed crops," he said, "dairymen will have a tough time staying in business."

Two jail terms were set in county court Saturday and bail was set for a third defendant who pleaded not guilty to charges against him.

Given a five-day jail sentence was Mrs. R. L. Livengood, who pleaded guilty to charges of defrauding with worthless check. She was charged with giving worthless check for $6 to W. R. Newsom. Mrs. Livengood also is charged with forgery and has been in jail here since July 6.

A 10-day jail term was assessed against Floyd Sherman, who pleaded guilty to theft charges. He and Jessie Banks were charged with stealing $17 from Ola Mae Williams last Wednesday. Banks pleaded not guilty and his bail was fixed at $500.

Car Hits Pole, Woman Injured

Margaret Melton Jones, 1805 W. 3rd, received treatment at Medical Arts Hospital Friday afternoon after her car hit a pole in the 3000 block of Scurry.

She apparently was not seriously injured. The Jones car was the only vehicle involved in the mishap. Officers said that an oil transport truck turned over on the Andrews Highway near the city limits about 3 p.m. Friday and that a trailer jack-knifed about 11:45 p.m. the same night. Apparently no one was injured.

Billy George Rea, Andrews, was operator of the truck, but police said no one was in the cab when the vehicle started rolling at the compass. The truck overturned when it hit the pavement edge.

The trailer owner was not listed on law enforcement records Saturday, but the report was that the accident was not serious. The trailer mishap was near the State Hospital on Highway 87.

H. B. Boy, 207 E. 15th, and Kathleen Louise McRee, 108 Canyon, were drivers of vehicles in collision at 10th and Nolan about 10:55 a.m. Friday.

A car driven by Guillermo L. Reyes overturned Saturday about 8 p.m. on Highway 80 about a mile east of Coahoma. Reyes was not injured. J. Deo Roberts, 10th N. 10th, and Thomas A. Burcham, Box 972, were drivers of cars which collided at Fourth and Aylford at 8 p.m. Saturday.

THE WEEK

Big Spring Television Inc., said plans are nearing completion. Equipment has been ordered and the building in an effort to go on the air as soon as possible.

The proposed on-base housing project for Webb AFB moved up another notch last week. The House Appropriations Committee gave its approval and the matter of providing funds is due to face Senate action before long.

If you enjoy a musical instrument — almost any instrument — you might find a lot of enjoyment by taking part in a community symphony orchestra. You are invited to a meeting Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce conference room to try to get the musical ball rolling.

The presence of James McGories, former Martin County judge, in Colorado and Sweetwater last week on a bench warrant from the state prison, calls to mind the statement he made to the Herald last January when accepting sentence for misappropriation of Grady school funds. In substance, he indicated he might have something to say subsequently. Could be.

Increasing space demands may require the school room used by district offices of the Texas Education Agency here. Consequently, there is urgent need for suitable office space to be provided in order to retain these offices here. Supervisors have no alternatives for this purpose, so your suggestions will be appreciated.

ROTC Air Force cadets almost "stole" the show at the Webb AFB review Saturday morning. The drill team even broke into song as it marched away from a complex demonstration, and everybody brightened. Isn't it wonderful to be young?

That long-talked city bond election is coming up Aug. 9. City commissioners set that date Friday, but it residents are not aware of the needs and the proposals after the thorough study and debate, they are hardly likely to become acquainted before Aug. 11.

Airman Honored For Heroism At Webb Program

A double-barreled graduation and wing review drew hundreds of visitors to Webb AFB Saturday morning.

While upwards of 2,000 airmen stood at attention, Col. Charles M. Young, wing commander, decorated A. IC Walter J. Dugan for heroism last year while serving in North Africa. The airman had planned into the sea to rescue a floundering swimmer and was himself all but drowned.

Forty student officers and two aviation cadets received the wings and the latter their commissions in the graduation exercises for Class 55-R at the base theatre. Col. Ellis C. Vander Pyl, in charge of the officer candidates school at Lackland AFB, addressed the graduates of the jet pilot school.

In addition, there were 15 members of the Air Force ROTC group who Saturday concluded their training and were awarded their commissions. Lt. Milton R. Kesterbaum was recognized as a distinguished graduate of the Air Training Command ROTC program.

The wing review, shaped up as one of the most colorful in months and was enhanced by a precision exhibition by the ROTC cadet drill team. These college men not only received a round of applause from the crowd of several hundred civilians, but cheers echoed down the ramp from around 100 of their buddies.

Smiles broke over the face of the commander and the remainder of the cadre as the cadets broke into a cadence of song and marched back to their posts.

Two F-100s or Super-Sabres — The Air Force's hot fighter capable of level super-sonic flights — were flown here from George AFB at Victorville, Calif. by Capt. J. M. Hambrick and 2nd Lt. J. D. Schaffer. The sleek planes were on display at the wing review. During the review, two formations of T-33 jet trainers twice crisscrossed over the parading airmen and officers.

The 120 ROTC members broke their month's camp at noon Saturday and pointed home. Carrying commissions were 2nd Lt. Eugene J. Altermatt, Emil T. Boukert, Jack M. Coombes, Ed P. Durkin, Charles A. Ernst, Joseph L. Heap, James L. Hopkins, Wilbur G. James, L. Hipskink, Willbur G. James, Robert F. Keller, Milton R. Kesterbaum, Michael T. Maxwell, James C. McFratridge, Leonard J. Santoro, Robert E. White and Conrad D. Wutkiewicz.

Donald Reddell, 17-year-old graduate from Gail High School, will be one of the 10 candidates for the Texas FFA presidency when the state convention starts in Houston July 29. One boy will be elected president and the other nine will serve as vice presidents. Altogether they represent 40,000 FFA members in Texas. Donald will represent Area II, which includes all the counties from Sweetwater to El Paso, and from Del Rio north to Lubbock.

One requirement for being a state officer is that the boy must be a Lone Star farmer. That degree Donald is getting this year. It is the highest award given by the state association, and the only greater award is the American Farmer degree given by the National FFA organization.

As an area representative, Donald will receive an expense-paid trip to the national convention at Kansas City during the American Royal Livestock Show in October. At that time the American Farmer degrees will be awarded.

Donald has made an outstanding record in all his school and FFA work. He graduated from high school this year as valedictorian, and served as president of both the student council and the senior class. He also lettered in basketball and football, and was president of the Gail FFA Chapter for three years. Before moving to Gail, he was president of the Green Hand Chapter at O'Donell.

He will choose to represent Area II at the convention held in Odessa in June. He succeeded Bud Hale of Lamesa, who was last year's representative.

Donald plans to enroll at Texas Tech next September where he will major in agricultural engineering.

Special Honors For Heroism

A-1C Walter J. Dugan stands with Col. Charles M. Young, Webb AFB wing commander, as the colonel received his command at the review here Saturday morning. Col. Young had just decorated Airman Dugan for heroism when he was stationed in North Africa a year ago.

Charges Filed On Pair Arrested Here

Charges of burglary have been filed in Plainview against two men who were arrested here Saturday with a small arsenal in their possession.

Plainview authorities accuse the two men, William E. Warden and Howard Whiteley, with breaking into a Plainview lumber company and an Abernathy hardware store sometime during pre-dawn hours Saturday.

The two were arrested here about 8:15 a.m. Saturday after Patrolman A. N. Standard started to make a routine check but found that the back seat of the automobile had a number of goods covered with a rug. One of the men had a pistol in the seat beside him.

The patrolman took the two men, searched their car, and found three rifles and three shotguns. They also had a box full of shells. Whiteley, who is 17, and Warren, 22, were taken to the local police station and booked for vagrancy while the various goods were checked. Both gave their home address as Killeen.

Items in the car included the fire arms, two electric saws, a hatchet, a new floor sander, a box full of wrenches, a new rope, and other items.

Descriptions of the goods were broadcast over the police radio.

Lorraine Man's Rites Are Today

COLORADO CITY — Funeral service for Wesley R. Woods, 73-year-old Lorraine resident who died unexpectedly at his home Friday afternoon, will be held at 4 p.m. today.

Service will be at the Smiley Street Church of Christ in Lorraine, with Jack Hutton of Abilene and A. C. Polk of Lorraine, ministers, officiating. Burial will be in Lorraine Cemetery under direction of Kiker and Sons Funeral Home.

Mr. Woods had lived in Lorraine for 25 years and was a member of the Church of Christ. He was born Jan. 17, 1882, in Burnett County.

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Sam Woods of Abilene and Claude Woods of Lampasas; two daughters, Mrs. Vera Carpenter and Mrs. Ruth Moore, both of Lorraine; one brother, Sam Woods of Mineola; thirteen grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

Two Big Springers To Attend Annual USCC Institute

Marvin Miller, president, and Jimmie Greene, manager of the Chamber of Commerce here, flew to Dallas this morning in the Cooden "Dove" to attend the annual Southwestern Institute of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Miller is planning to return Tuesday and Greene expected to return Thursday. Approximately 500 persons connected with Chamber of Commerce officers in eight states are expected at the meetings which will last the week.

Parr Among 15 Named In Duval Indictments

A window peeper was reported in the 300 block of State Street about 3 a.m. Saturday, but when police arrived the prowler had gone. Officers found a footprint under a window.

Farm Bureau Seeking Queen Contest Entries

Entries are being sought for the Howard County Farm Bureau queen contest.

Already four or five young women have indicated that they will take part. Mrs. C. H. DeVaney, in charge of the contest, and Ralph White, Farm Bureau president, said Saturday.

They are anxious for entrants to register at the Bureau office at 117 1/2 Rannels. In order to be eligible, a young lady must have attained her 16th birthday but not her 21st. She must be the daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member, but daughters of directors are not eligible.

The actual contest has been set for 8 p.m. Aug. 11 at the Howard County Junior College. There will be special music and other entertainment. James Bruce Frazier has been selected as master of ceremonies.

Contestants will appear on the stage in formal attire. Each entrant will receive a gift and the winner and runner-up will be announced. Winner of the county contest will compete in September, and the district winner will receive a wrist watch and expenses-paid trip to the state convention in November at Fort Worth. There she will compete with winners in 12 other districts for the state title.

The Texas Farm Bureau queen will have her expenses paid to the national convention in Chicago where she will participate in a round of festivities for all the state queens.

Deadline for registering will be Aug. 4. Mrs. DeVaney said.

Paving Due For Airport Street

Paving is to be put down this week on Airport Street in west Big Spring.

BIG SHOW, TOO

John C. White To Speak At Lone Wolf Co-Op Meet

COLORADO CITY—An attendance of several hundred is expected for the annual membership meeting of the Lone Wolf Electric Co-operative in Colorado City Tuesday, according to Raymond Perdue, manager.

In addition to the regular annual business session, which will include an election of directors, there is a full program of entertainment, featured by a talk from John C. White, State Commissioner of Agriculture. The program is to begin at 9:30 a.m. with White to talk at 11 a.m. The 1953 Electric Fair is to be another feature.

A special showing of Electric Fair entertainment and exhibits will be shown Monday night for non-members and those who do not plan to attend the Tuesday meeting. Both the evening show and membership meeting will be held across Highway 208 east of the Co-op office building under the Electric Fair Big Top.

During the business meeting, members will elect nine directors, one from each Co-op region. Nominations are: Region 1, W. H. Cooper and L. R. Wright; Region 2, Forrest Porter and Willis Cornutt; Region 3, Odell Fuller and Dennis Fortenberry; Region 4, Gwan C. Strange and Tom Jackson; Region 5, (Roscoe) R. H. Marth and R. E. More than forty prizes will be given to those attending, including a $50 bond to be given by the City National Bank. A showing of new farm machinery is scheduled by farm implement dealers; and a cake baking contest will try the talents of housewives.

Brazil Shaves Entrant's Hips

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Brazil, which lost last year's Miss Universe contest by two extra inches on the hips, is taking no chances this time.

The current Miss Brazil has 35 inch hips, among the slimmest in the contest. Today a spokesman for the Brazilian contest sponsors confirmed that the Rio de Janeiro judges looked hipward this year.

At the close of last year's contest, one of the judges told the Associated Press that blonde Martha Rocha of Bahia would have won had she not had 38-inch hips. There was an unprecedented triple tie vote before awarding the crown to Miss South Carolina.

"We in Brazil like our women a little hippy," the spokesman said, "but we figured if the Miss Universe judges don't like them that way, well, we'll send them slim."

Texas Cities Have Grown By A Third Since Last U. S. Census

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK
The Associated Press
Cities in Texas, which keep getting bigger and bigger, have grown nearly one third since Uncle Sam made his last official population count in 1950.

New industries, new oil fields, expanded military bases, and extended city limits have enabled many cities in the state to chalk up even greater population gains during the past five years than they did during the previous decade.

A survey by Associated Press newspapers in 28 Texas cities shows the average population in those cities since 1950 has increased 29.2 per cent. In 1950 the combined population of the 28 cities was 2,872,492. Today they have an estimated total of 3,729,750, an increase of 856,750.

All of the 28 cities, representing virtually all sections of the state and ranging in size from Gainesville's 15,461 to Houston's whopping 700,000, have shown population gains in the past five years. Two of the cities—Victoria and Midland—have doubled their population since 1950.

The new population estimates were made by chamber of commerce and city officials based on utility connections, school enrollments, or newspaper Audit Bureau of Circulation surveys. In some cases, a city's current population figure represents the average of several estimates.

"Contrary to what a lot of people think," one chamber of commerce manager said "we try to make these population estimates just as accurate as possible. We know that Uncle Sam is going to make another census in 1960 and if we were to try to pad our figures now it would be mighty embarrassing to have to try to explain why we grew so slowly during the next five years compared to the last five years."

What has been the cause for the rapid growth of Texas cities since 1950? Here are the factors which the Associated Press newspapers listed:

1. New industries—ranging from small canning plants, dress and shoe factories to huge multi-million dollar petro-chemical plants.

2. Expansion of military bases. In 1950 the nation's military forces were numerically at a low ebb. With the Korean War and the present defense program, the armed forces have reactivated many installations in Texas, increasing the number of servicemen stationed in the state.

3. Oil and gas expansion. The opening of new fields, especially in West Texas, has created thousands of new jobs, mushrooming the population.

4. New industries breed new businesses. More factories and more workmen in a community require more houses, more service businesses and expansion of transportation and utilities facilities, all of which require more people.

5. Extension of city limits. Many Texas cities, taking advantage of liberalized annexation laws, have extended their city limits to include people who lived outside the municipality when the 1950 census was made.

6. Prosperous agricultural areas. In some farming areas, especially those where irrigation and dairying have been increased, now need more businesses to supply farmers and to process agricultural products.

7. The labor committees of Puerto Rico's House of Representatives is heading to New York next Saturday to visit sections where Puerto Rican farm laborers are employed under contracts approved by the island commonwealth's Labor Department. The tour will take them to New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Maryland.

Wright Morrow Problem Topic For Meeting

AUSTIN, July 16 (AP)—The Wright Morrow "resignation" problem and detailed plans for control of 1956 precinct conventions will be considered by the State Democratic Executive Committee here July 25.

The meeting was called today by state Chairman George W. Sandlin of Austin. Sandlin, whose press release said merely that "various matters" would be studied, later told the Associated Press the Morrow matter probably would come up. There has been controversy since 1952 over whether Morrow is or is not the national Democratic committeeman for Texas.

Sandlin said it is apparent that the Houston attorney cannot serve the best interest of the Democratic party of Texas because "he is not permitted a seat on the national committee." Morrow offered to resign when he supported Republican Dwight Eisenhower in 1952. The state committee refused the resignation unanimously but Stephen Mitchell, then national chairman, accepted it.

Since then, Morrow has refused to renew his resignation offer. Gov. Allan Shivers, who also supported Eisenhower in 1952, has recently said he wants to help build a stronger Democratic party nationally. He indicated last month he had abandoned efforts to retain Morrow as national committeeman. Morrow said immediately thereafter that Shivers and Sandlin had been urging him for four months to resign "because we must have someone who will be satisfactory to Sam Rayburn." (Rayburn, long-time House Speaker in Congress, has been a behind-the-scenes coordinator of so-called loyalist Democratic activities in Texas.)

Sandlin indicated but would not say flatly today that a showdown may be reached at the July 25 meeting on whether Morrow will resign.

He said he expects Morrow to be present. Sandlin said the executive committee will "consider the situation as concerns the precinct convention drive."

He said "quite a detailed setup" has been worked out on how to assure control of precinct conventions in 1956.

Asked if the meeting were an indirect answer to one being held by leaders of the Loyalist faction in San Antonio today, Sandlin replied: "This has nothing to do with that meeting."

The San Antonio meeting, called by the Texas Democratic Advisory Council, was for the purpose of naming a director of organization to rally Loyalist votes in the spring conventions.

Control of the precinct, county and state conventions in 1956 will determine whether a conservative delegation led by Shivers or a liberal delegation represents Texas at the Democratic National Convention which nominates the party's presidential candidate.

Forsan To Form Community 4-H

A meeting will be held at the Forsan High School Monday night, July 17, for the purpose of organizing a 4-H Club for the community. All boys and girls interested in starting agricultural projects are invited to attend the meeting. Purpose and rules of the organization will be explained by Howard County Agent James Taylor; Assistant Agents Bill Sims; and Elizabeth Pace, Home Demonstration Agent.

Like Old Times

EDMONTON, Alta., July 16 (AP)—Buffalo steaks are coming up for the plains Indians. Canada's second largest herd will be thinned out by 800 this fall to bring the number in 72 - square - mile Elk Island park down to 1,500, the proper number for available grazing land. The Indians will have first claim to the meat and hides.

Chevrolet's got a new honey of a hardtop

... with a lower-than-ever price tag!

Maybe you've had a yen for a hardtop but couldn't quite squeeze it into your budget. If so, this baby's for you! It's the hardtop as only Chevrolet builds it. Long, low and plenty saucy, like its convertible cousin. It's an honest-to-goodness hardtop, too—no center pillars when you roll down the windows. Nothing but fresh air and a picture-window view. Best of all, this big, beautiful "Two-Ten" Sport Coupe is priced right down with the two-door sedans in Chevrolet's field. It lists for less than any other leading hardtop sold today. Come in and see what a walloping bargain Chevrolet's new hardtop is.

COMBINE YOUR NEW CHEVROLET PURCHASE WITH YOUR VACATION PLANS! Order a new Chevrolet through us, then pick it up at the plant in Flint, Michigan, see Chevrolets built, if you like, and drive yours home. Chances are, you'll save a substantial share of your vacation travel costs!

IN CASE OF EMERGENCY

Have enough gas for where you're going, Mister?
Well, little matter. You can always get more at some service station.
The same goes if unexpected guests drop in at home. You can buy bread, meat, or eggs at a nearby store . . . or you can borrow from a neighbor.
But this is not possible when a serious emergency strikes. You have to be prepared beforehand. You can't buy strength of spirit. Nor can you borrow it. It grows within you, little at a time.
So be prepared when disappointment, discouragement, trouble, or grief strike.
Through worship at Church fortify yourself with faith and courage. Get acquainted with God's love and wisdom. Come what may, you'll be ready for any emergency.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Headed For The All-American

The racer that will carry Big Spring's colors in the All-American Soap Box Derby was shipped this week to Akron, Ohio, where the big race for boys will be staged August 14. Its driver will be 14-year-old Jerry Bill Hutchens, shown here with Loyd Wooten (left) of Tidwell Chevrolet Co., and Al Stevenson, who repainted and crated the coaster. Jerry won the local Soap Box event July Fourth, in Akron, he will be entertained for three days with 150 other local champs, then competes for national honors and valuable prizes. The Akron awards are topped by a $5,000 college scholarship for first place. Jerry and his father will be accompanied to Akron by Wooten, under sponsorship of the Tidwell firm, The Herald, and the Big Spring Lions Club.

Higher Teaching Costs Account For Bulk Of School Budget Hike

Direct teaching costs account for more than three-fourths of the $187,000 in additional money to be required for operation of the Big Spring school system next year. The preliminary budget, to be gone over with a fine-tooth comb at a special trustee meeting July 25, shows that $143,000 will be required for additional teachers and supplies. Twenty-five extra teachers are proposed for next year, pushing the instructional staff from 210 to 235 persons. Salaries for the 25 would increase the budget by $120,000. Additional teaching supplies add another $17,000 to the outlay.

Those two items, combined with hikes in operating and maintenance costs, capital outlays, and miscellaneous increases, account for the $187,000 jump in next year's budget. Total budget for the year, as shown in the preliminary schedule, will be for expenditure of $1,315,700 as compared to $1,128,447 during the current year.

Revenues aren't expected to keep pace with the rising costs. Receipts next year are due to hit about $1,222,596 — only about $36,000 above the 1954-55 income. However, the school district will have a cash balance of around $185,000 at the end of the current year (Aug. 31) which will boost the available funds beyond requirements. The tentative budget provides for 22 additional teachers in the white schools and for three more instructors in the Negro schools. Totals for the two divisions would be 223 white and 12 Negro.

Administrative costs would be up only $1,700 over the current year, according to the preliminary budget. The schedule anticipates a $11,800 increase in plant operating costs, a $9,140 hike in maintenance expenses, and an increase of $17,854 in capital outlay. Insurance costs are expected to drop by $4,065, however, to help absorb the other cost rises. That's because bulk of the school's insurance already is paid for the next year. Here's a summary of anticipated expenditures, with this year's outlay followed by proposed disbursements for 1955-56:

Administrative costs — $48,311—$50,550, up about $1,750.
Instructional salaries (white) — $751,900 — $864,700 up about $113,000.
Instructional supplies (white) — $28,170 — $42,600, up about $14,000.
Instructional salaries (Negro) — $32,084 — $44,680, up about $12,500.
Instructional supplies (Negro) — $931 — $4,125, up about $3,200.
Other school services — $18,379—$23,946, up about $7,400.
Plant operation — $77,144 — $88,950, up about $11,800.
Plant maintenance — $34,857—$34,000, up about $9,000.
Capital outlay — $23,810 — $41,664, up about $17,800.
Debt service — $112,879 — $112,069.

Revenues next year for current expenditures are expected to include $31,500 in federal funds, $725,919 in state aid, and $350,800 in local funds. The federal aid will be in the form of $3,500 through the school lunch fund and $28,000 under Public Law 874, designed to assist districts in accommodating an influx of children of federal employees and military personnel.

Funds from the state will include $369,012 per capita apportionment, $353,567.20 foundation fund, and $3,350 vocational education aid. The local funds will include $334,250 in current taxes, $7,500 in delinquent taxes, and $9,050 from miscellaneous sources. Income for debt service is calculated to include $111,375 current taxes and $2,500 from delinquent taxes. Trustees plan to give exhaustive study to the preliminary budget at a meeting called for 5:30 p.m. Monday, July 25. The tentative schedule was presented at their July meeting last Tuesday.

Safety Council Names President

AUSTIN, July 16 — W. L. Winner was elected president of the Oil Field Haulers Council of Safety Supervisors at the council's meeting in Austin. Winner is safety supervisor for Hunsaker Trucking Contractor, Inc., and makes his home in Houston with his wife and one son. Polio Shots Scheduled LAMESA — First and second grade pupils in Lamesa, Ackerly, Klondike and Union schools will receive their second rounds of Salk polio vaccine shots Tuesday. Dr. R. C. Johnson, director of the South Plains Health Unit, will be in Lamesa tomorrow to make preparations for the shots, announced Mrs. J. H. Mayberry, public health nurse. Dr. Johnson will be assisted by Dr. J. V. McKay, county health officer. Nurses who will aid include Mrs. Mayberry; Mrs. H. Handie, county school health nurse; and Marie Long, Lamesa school nurse. Several nurses from the South Plains Health Unit will also be present.

When The Cop's Away Delinquents Will Play

CHALFONT, S. GILES, England July 16 (AP) — When the police force went off to take a crime detection course, the youth of Chalfont S. Giles went on a spree of rowdiness. Street lamps were smashed, public notices torn down and public property damaged. Now Constable A. V. Gleeson is back, his course finished and all is quiet again.

Triple Record

SUDBURY, Ont., July 16 (AP) — Fifty years ago three young couples stood side by side in church to repeat their marriage vows. This year they sat side by side in Memorial Hall to celebrate their golden wedding anniversaries. With Mr. and Mrs. David Henri, Mr. and Mrs. Moise Phrand and Mr. and Mrs. Adelard St. Marselle were 29 children, 141 grandchildren and 25 great grandchildren.

WEDNESDAY Polio Shots Set At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY — Mitchell County youngsters will get their second go-round of polio shots Wednesday, Dr. J. Melvin Crymes, County Health Officer, announced Saturday. The vaccine will be given free to those who were in the first and second grades during the past school year and who received their primary shot in April. Also, Crymes said, if sufficient vaccine is received, those youngsters who are now living in Colorado City but received a first shot somewhere else, may get their second shot here. The primary school building will be open from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Wednesday, and a doctor and registered nurses will be on duty during the entire period, accord-

In addition to students from the primary school, students from Westbrook, the Catholic School at Colorado City and the Wallace Negro school will get second shots during the day. Mrs. Hammans said that no special times were assigned to any group. Crymes said he thought that the vaccine to be used here was made by Eli Lilly Company — same as was used for the first shots. A. L. Mac Spadden, head of the Mitchell County Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, will go to Midland after the vaccine this weekend, or Monday, he said. The vaccine is to be flown to Midland by the Shell Pipeline Co., and will be redistributed from there to neighboring towns.

Prospects Good For Organizing Symphony Group

Prospects for organization of a community symphony orchestra are considered excellent here, and another meeting Tuesday is expected to solidify plans. As the result of an initial exploratory meeting last week, the orchestra has a director—Larry Evans. Functioning as director, business manager and what-have-you, Evans has called another session for 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Chamber of Commerce conference room in the Permian Building.

"We are anxious to have everyone interested in playing take part in the meeting," said Evans. "We want to emphasize that you don't have to be an expert player to be in on the orchestra—what we want is people who would enjoy this activity as a means of musical expression."

Basic instrumentation is shaping up well, he said, but there is still a definite need for more strings. A bare minimum of violins is in sight, and violas, cellos and bass strings are needed urgently. Evans issued an invitation to all musicians in surrounding towns who might like to join in the orchestra.

The director, a recent music graduate of North Texas State College and who recently opened his own piano studio here, is expert on many instruments other than the piano. In high school here he was an outstanding member of the band and student director. At North Texas he not only played in the ROTC band but conducted it.

Ties Across The Sea

LONDON, July 16 (AP) — The Evening Standard says American servicemen at U. S. Air Force bases in southern England are beginning to look "more British than the British." They are joining local tennis, lawn bowls and rowing clubs so they can wear — off duty — a British club tie with matching handkerchiefs and scarves. Real neat, with their British blazers. The local English lads are wearing hand-painted American ties.

Most City Funds Gain During June

Most of the city's 13 operating funds showed increases during June, though a sizeable decrease was noted in the water and sewer system revenue fund.

The revenue fund slipped from $84,866.43 to $80,160.63 during the month. Income from water and sewer services was $62,481.05, and expenditures were $99,036.52.

Only three other funds registered decreases — the airport fund, the garage fund and the cemetery fund.

The airport fund dropped from $1,654 to $666.05. Receipts totaled only $667.53. Expenditures, on the other hand, totaled $1,676.12. Of this, $1,538.82 was in the form of a transfer to the general fund.

The cemetery fund slipped from $1,727 to $382.00. The receipts were $354, but a transfer to the general fund totaled $2,218.40.

The garage fund started the month at $14,306.10 and ended it with $11,748.27. Receipts, including a $1,346.37 transfer from the general fund, totaled $1,356.37. Expenditures for four motor vehicles hit $2,916.20.

The general fund almost tripled during June, going up from $5,748.48 to $16,535.35. Receipts, including $43,288.07 from other funds, totaled $83,708.80. Expenditures were $73,101.93.

The water and sewer system construction fund was raised from $60,472.32 to $61,197.32 by a refund of $725 on damaged equipment. Total available in the fund, because of securities owned, is $175,703.97.

The storm sewer bond fund was swelled by interest of $288.08 on securities, moving the cash balance up from $69.27 to $317.33. Securities owned are $62,785.30, bringing the total available to $63,102.63.

The swimming pool and park system fund had income of $5,038.25 in June and expenditures of $4,110.35. Some $3,790 of the expenditures were in the form of a transfer to the general fund. Balance of $7,197.08 increased to $8,124.33 by the transactions.

The parking meter fund jumped from $18,161.49 to $20,622.45. Receipts were $2,892.88 and expenditures (including $1,427.18 to the general fund) were $1,431.94.

The street improvement bond fund remained the same during June, with balance of $4,659.74. The Fourth Street escrow fund increased from $11,378.45 to $11,380.39 by deposit of $1.75 on curb and gutter.

The special account insurance refund added $3.62 during June because of interest on securities, moving up from cash balance of $178.89 to $182.51. Securities in the fund total $995.04, making $1,177.55 available.

The interest and sinking fund cash balance increased from $3,616.16 to $6,486.30 total available, because of securities is $48,851.50. Receipts were $15,547.80 from interest and sale of securities. Expenditures of $12,677.68 were recorded for retiring bonds, paying interest, and paying commissions.

Bonds retired totaled $9,000, and interest paid was $3,656.25. The city's bonded indebtedness now stands at $738,000 in tax bonds and $1,181,000 in revenue bonds.

Legion Names Delegates To State Meeting

Bill Kitta and Burt Cox will represent the Howard County post of the American Legion's 37th annual state convention in San Antonio, Wednesday through next Sunday, according to Foy Dunlap, legion spokesman.

Dunlap said that others may be added to the delegation before convention time.

Mrs. L. H. Steward will attend the convention from the local Auxiliary, says Mrs. Johnny Griffith, president.

Over 4,000 legionnaires and the ladies from the Auxiliary along with members of the "40 and 8" will attend the meeting to hear a gallery of speakers and attend committee meetings.

A parade will open the round of activities which include special club luncheons and the election of new state officers.

Harbert Seeks PGA Title On Own Course

Chick Is Good In Match Play

By JOE FALLS
DETROIT, July 16 (AP)—Defending champion Chick Harbert, who will have the advantage of playing on his own course, heads a field of 142 professionals for the 37th annual PGA Golf Tournament—a 7-day endurance test which starts Wednesday at the Meadowbrook Country Club.

The 46-year-old Harbert might even be tabbed as the favorite in this blue ribbon event, for he not only is familiar with the secrets of Meadowbrook's 6,750 yards, but he is a fierce match-play competitor as well.

The final five days of the tournament is match play—36 holes a day in man-to-man combat in which stamina is considered just as important as shotmaking.

The first two days are set aside for qualifying, 18 holes a day, with the low 63 scorers joining Harbert for the start of match play Friday.

A power slugger who has mastered the game's finer shots, Harbert ended his PGA "jinx" last year, taking the title with a resounding 4 and 3 victory over his great match-play veteran from nearby Franklin, Mich.

Before his victory over Burkemo in St. Paul, Harbert twice had reached the PGA finals—and twice had met with defeat. He was beaten in 1947 by Jim Ferrier, 2 and 1, and then lost in 1952 by a 1-up margin to Jim Turnesa.

"One more strike and I would have been out," Harbert quipped. Practically every top qualified professional will compete in this year's tournament. The big exception, of course, is Ben Hogan, who limits his play to the U. S. Open, Masters and a few other select tournaments.

But golf's other big names will be on hand, including a dozen former PGA champions and the present U. S. National Open king, Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa.

In addition to Harbert, Turnesa and Burkemo, the former champions back for another try are Sammy Snead, Claude Harmon, Gene Sarazen, Johnny Revolta, Olin Dutra, Henry Picard, Paul Runyan, Denny Shute and Vic Ghezzi.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 16 (AP)—Sam D. Kocsis, one of seven golf-playing Michigan brothers, defeated stubborn L. T. (Tommy) Bean, tobacco-chewing Georgia auto salesman, for the USGA public links championship today, 2-up.

Bean was never ahead or even after Kocsis was the first hole of the morning round but the Georgian carried it all the way. He was four down on the second tee of the afternoon round and whittled the margin to a single hole with one to play.

GIANTS IN FRONT

Milwaukee Frosh Victim In Loss

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—Bill Payne, a rookie pitcher just up from Toledo of the American Assn., uncorked a wild pitch in the last of the ninth today that enabled the New York Giants to score the run that defeated the Milwaukee Braves, 5-7.

It was the ninth victory in their last 10 starts for the suddenly revived world champions of 1954 and strengthened their grasp on third place.

Payne came into the game with the bases loaded and Milwaukee ahead by a single run. He forced Bill Taylor, a pinch hitter, to loft to Andy Pate but Alvin Dark scored after the catch to knot the count at 7-7. Dave Williams batted for Wayne Terwilliger and his banker to Johnny Logan forced Hank Thompson.

Whitey Lockman was walked purposely to fill the bases before Willie Mays came to the plate and Payne let go with his wild leave.

Don Mueller started the ninth with his seventh home run of the season to cut into the Braves' edge 7-4.

Until Payne uncorked his wild pitch it was a game of homers. The Braves accounted for six of their runs on circuit blows with Del Crandall hitting two to send three across. Hank Aaron also drove in two with a homer and Bill Bruton one as the first man to face starter Sal Maglie.

In addition to Mueller, the Giant homers came off the bats of Alvin Dark and Wes Westrum, each with a man on base.

Don Liddle, the third Giant pitcher received credit for the victory.

Big Spring Cops Lose To San Angelo Colts By 8-6

SAN ANGELO (SC) — Two homers and a double steal weren't enough to give the Big Spring Cops a victory over the Longhorn League's leaders, the San Angelo Colts, here Saturday night.

The Cops got what would have been the winning run on base in their half of the ninth, but were unable to push him across the plate as they bowed before the Colts, 8-6.

The Big Spring homers came in the second and third innings off the bats of Frank Billings and Floyd Martin.

Martin drove in Jim Zapp, who had walked, in the second. Billings' big blow came in the third and drove in Nick Cappelli. Pepper Caballero, who had walked, drove in Zapp in the second.

Caballero scored for the Cops in the fifth after he walked and Pepper Martin doubled. Two Colt fielders, Lefty Williams and Gene Williams, collided chasing Martin's hit and were stranded momentarily.

Lefty Williams swung the game for San Angelo in the seventh with a three-run homer. Angelo was trailing 8-4 at the time.

The two teams meet here again this afternoon with Gonzalez (3-0) due to pitch for San Angelo and Job (4-2) slated to hurl for Big Spring.

Arcaro Gives Nashua Spur To Win Arlington Mile

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO, July 16 (AP)—The brilliant Nashua needed a terrific stretch prod by Eddie Arcaro today to score a one-half length victory over lightly reckoned Traffic Judge in the $148,500 Arlington Mile classic before 24,132 wildly cheering fans at Arlington Park.

In carrying the white and red-dotted silks of Belair Stud to a 201.75 triumph Nashua had to overpower pace-setting Impromptu at the final eighth and then stave off the hard-driving Traffic Judge, who moved up from sixth place at the head of the stretch.

There was no show betting as Nashua, beaten only by Swaps in the Kentucky Derby in nine starts.

Nashua's time for the mile on a fast track was 1:35.15, well behind Equipoise's Arlington mile record of 1:34.2-3 set 23 years ago.

Nashua got away to a good start, but gradually dropped well back of the front-running Impromptu.

Arcaro got Nashua running well to overhaul Impromptu entering the last furlong, but in the closing strides the onrushing Traffic Judge uncorked a terrific challenge.

Traffic Judge did not begin running into contention until the stretch after a wide sweep on the final turn. Then Traffic Judge, a 2-1 shot, came fast in the middle of the track and was gaining on Nashua at the finish wire.

Tri-State Golf Finals Are Today

AMARILLO, July 16 (AP)—The battle for supremacy between Texas and Oklahoma golfers continues through the finals of the Tri-State Golf Tournament tomorrow.

The title will be either J. R. Brown of Amarillo, or N. D. Harter of Oklahoma City.

The two tee off at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow for the championship 18 holes over the Amarillo Country Club course.

The tourney has been a Texas-Oklahoma battle throughout. There were four Texans and four Oklahomans in the quarter finals, and two of each in the semi-finals.

Today Brown defeated Dr. H. C. Johnson of Altus, Okla., 3 and 2. The Texan was never up until No. 12. He was one down at the turn, then won 14 and 15 and halved 16 to win.

Harter downed Frank Day of Plainville, Tex., the 1953 champion, 1 up on the 21st hole. He won 15, 17, and 18 to tie the match, then halved 19 and 20 and won the 21st with a par 4.

Area Little League Playoffs Set Here

The Area 3 Little League playoffs, involving selected players of three circuits in Big Spring and five in Midland, will be conducted here July 25-30, inclusive.

Champion of the "sudden death" playoff will compete in the District Tournament Aug. 1-3 at Lubbock. The titlist there goes into the Sectional Meet at Midland Aug. 4-6 and the Sectional survivor goes to the Regional Tournament Aug. 8-13.

From that tournament emerges the Texas representative in the Little League World Series at Williamsport, Pa.

S. A. (Buster) Bradford of Big Spring serves as Area 3 tournament director. George Gann of Lubbock will be the District tournament director while John J. Redfern Jr., of Midland will act as Sectional tournament director.

Area 3 is a part of District 2, which, in turn, competes in Section 4. The Section, in turn, helps make up Region VII.

First round pairings for the Area 3 tournament, times for which have not yet been set:

Midland Northern vs Midland Southern; Big Spring American vs Big Spring National; Midland Western vs Big Spring Texas;

Knoblauch Leads TL Batters, Hitting .339

DALLAS, July 16 (AP)—Eddie Knoblauch, the southpaw swinger patrolling center field for Dallas, tightened his lead on Texas League batting last week although he dropped one percentage point.

Eddie is batting .339 and also has the most hits and doubles.

Ray Murray, his Dallas teammate, slumped 11 points but hung onto second place. He now is hitting .324, just four points better than Dick Williams, the Fort Worth clown.

Knoblauch's 132 hits were eight more than second best Bob Boyd of Houston. Eddie also has 30 doubles to lead that department.

The home run battle is a three-way affair with Ben Taylor, the lefthanded Beaumont first baseman, leading with 21. Murray is second with 20, Joe Macho of Tulsa has 19 and Mike Lutz of Tulsa 18.

Jim Pisoni of San Antonio tops in runs batted in with 88 and is tied with Art Dunham of Dallas for the lead in triples with seven.

Sherwin Dixon of Houston is the leading run-maker with 83. Dixon also is the best man on the bases. He has stolen 32.

King Ranch Horse Sets Track Record

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 16 (AP)—The King Ranch's Rejected won the $137,100 Gold Cup at Hollywood Park today, setting a new track record for a mile and one quarter.

The 5-year-old Rejected beat out the betting favorite, Louis B. Mayer's Alidon, by a nose in a photo finish.

Game little Determinine was third in the field of six horses.

The time was 1:59.57, breaking the track record of 1:59.4-3 set in 1950 by Noor.

A crowd estimated at nearly 40,000 witnessed this 16th running of Hollywood's Summertime Highlight. The weather was bright and warm and the track was lightning fast.

Rejected, with a familiar come from behind run, paid $14.10, $5.50 and $3.50; Alidon returned $3 and $2.40, and Determinine $3.10.

MILWAUKEE, July 16 (AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Klamath Falls, N. Y., beat down par for the first straight time today with a four under 66 and took back the lead in the $35,000 Milwaukee Open golf meet with a total of 197 after 54 holes.

Middlecoff, ex-Memphis dentist, took over the leader's place from Jim Turnesa, Bradcliff, N. Y., who was tied today with 189.

Chinese Engineers Study Refining

Three chemical engineers from Nationalist China concluded a week's study of Cosden's refining operations on Friday. Watching N. F. McNaughton point out some of the highlights of Cosden's alkylation unit which produces high grade avgas, are S. K. Fan, on the left, Wei Chow and Y. C. Chow. The three will help operate a new reformer and cat-cracker plant on Formosa and accepted Cosden's invitation because of the varied and modern operations at the Cosden plant.

Chinese Engineers Complete Study Of Cosden's Processes

Three young Chinese Nationalist engineers concluded their week's inspection of Cosden Petroleum Corporation's refining facilities Friday.

Before returning to Formosa to direct operation of a new refining installation, they will continue their operative studies at Beaumont. In the group were S. K. Fan, Wei Chow, and Y. C. Chow. These are Angliques approximates of their names since their relatives are still behind the Iron Curtain on the Chinese mainland. The refinery which they will help to operate is being constructed by Americans at Taipei. It will have a catalytic reformer unit and a fluid cat-cracker. Cosden has both a platformer (platinum catalyst reformer) and a fluid catalytic cracker, thus its operations are very similar to those to be employed in the Formosan plant.

Oil for the new refinery of the Chinese Petroleum Corporation, a branch of the Chinese Nationalist government, will come largely from the Middle East. Some small amount will come from Formosa. Plans are to begin operations around the first of the year.

Each of the Chinese has a degree in chemical engineering from Chinese colleges. S. K. Fan attended Chekiang University; Wei Chow was at South West Associated University; and Y. C. Chow was at North West Engineering College.

For six years they have been on Formosa, separated from their parents on the Chinese mainland. Their parents, do not know that they are married and that Fan has a son, Wei Chow two daughters, and Y. C. Chow two sons.

The three were interested not only in Cosden's operations, but also in this area. They found it quite different from their island home. Instead of the hot and dry climate of this area, Formosa is humid and temperatures do not rise above 90 degrees. While here, Cosden personnel took them on tours of the area, including a trip to Forsan where they saw oil being produced. There were pleasure trips, too, to the City Park, Scenic Mountain State Park and other areas.

Basin Exploration

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A joint oil exploration program in the Permian Basin of West Texas and New Mexico will be developed by Kern County Land Co. and Monterey Oil Co., the firms announced Friday. They now are jointly exploring coastal Louisiana.

Four Wildcat Locations Due In Basin Area

Four wildcat projects were announced this weekend for Crane, McCulloch and Coke counties. Gulf Oil Corporation will try for production on the two Crane County prospectors. One is the No. 2-13 W. M. Waddell and the other is the No. 2-10 Waddell.

No. 2-13 Waddell is 660 from south and east lines, 15-325-pal survey, about 1 1/4 miles northwest of Crane. It is slated for dual completion in the Devonian and Simpson formations. Production is already assured in the Simpson, and nearby No. 1 Waddell already has Devonian pay.

No. 2-10 Waddell, 660 from south and 1,980 from west lines, 14-325-pal survey, is 1 1/4 miles northwest of Crane and is slated for depth of 10,300 feet and dual completion in the Devonian and Silurian. It is a half-mile north of Gulf No. 3-25 Waddell, a project now testing in an attempt to complete as a discovery from those two pays.

Hansley No. 1 W. C. Johnson will be the McCulloch wildcat. Site is 430 from south and 330 from west lines, section 1356, abstract 1069, about four miles northeast of Mevin. It will go down only to 850 feet.

J. D. Wrethar of Dallas will drill his No. 2 Georgia McCutchins at site 3,673 from northeast and 751.9 from southeast lines of section 327, P. J. Moore survey, about three miles east of Bronte. It is slated for depth of 5,630 feet by rotary.

Completions Surge Ahead Of '54 Pace

AUSTIN, July 16 (AP)—Oil well completions continued to surge ahead of last year's record pace this week in Texas. Operators reported 368 new wells, running the year's total to 8,090, compared with 6,474 a year ago.

The Railroad Commission's weekly report also showed nine gas well completions and a total of 662 for the year, compared with 681 at this date last year.

There were 136 dry holes for the week. Wildcatting accounted for only five oil wells, no gas wells and all the dry holes. Wildcatting have brought in only 251 oil wells this year as against 380 for the same period in 1954.

The average calendar day crude allowable as of today was 3,028,324 barrels, up 14,159 barrels per day from last week.

Details On How Iran's Oil Divided Remain A Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has refused, because of foreign objections, to unveil still secret details of an international agreement last year dividing Iran's oil production among eight oil companies.

His refusal was contained in a letter made public today by Chairman Celler (D-NY) of the House Antitrust subcommittee investigating the role of the five U. S. oil companies in the cartel. It was in reply to a request for all documents connected with the agreement.

Dulles did say that: 1. Atty. Gen. Brownell, in an opinion requested by President Eisenhower, held in January 1954 that participation in the cartel by the U. S. companies did not constitute a violation of the antitrust laws, Dulles quoted from the opinion, which State Department sources disclosed at the time but which the Justice Department declined to confirm.

2. The plan worked out to settle the Iranian crisis has "fully justified the patient efforts made by

Sales Chief

Charles N. Schmidt has been named general sales manager of the Western Company, an oil well engineering service organization at Midland, according to H. E. Chiles, president. Schmidt, 45, is a commerce graduate of Ohio State University. He worked as a reporter for the Cincinnati Post and later was with United Press in Paris and at the League of Nations in Geneva before becoming affiliated with American Steel and Wire and the United States Steel Corporation.

Dawson, Borden Tests Plugged

Wildcat failures have been announced in Dawson and Borden counties.

T. J. Stivley No. 1 Curtiss Brothers, wildcat 14 miles northwest of Lamesa, was plugged and abandoned at depth of 4,975 feet in dry San Andres lime. Location was C NE NE, 28-M-ELARR survey, about a mile east of the Welch (San Andres) field.

Blanco Oil et al No. 1 Pratt-Duval, Northwest Borden County wildcat, was plugged at 7,515 feet in shale. Slight shows had been logged in the Spraberry, but tests after casing was set resulted in no production. The dry hole was C SW SE, 43-32-6n, T&P survey, about 12 miles northwest of Gall.

Blanco's No. 1-28 Canon et al, wildcat 15 miles east of Lamesa, reached the projected drilling depth of 7,500 feet. Application has been filed to deepen to 8,700 feet. This explorer is in section 28, block 33, tps, 5-north, T&P survey, in Dawson County.

this government during the years 1951 to 1954.

But Dulles firmly declined Celler's request to make public details of at least four supplemental agreements affecting the cartel's production and distribution of Iranian oil because of "strong objections" by the governments of Iran, England, France and the Netherlands.

Dulles said in view of the objections, "and the complications that might result in the operations of the Iranian oil industry. . . making them public would affect adversely the foreign relations of the United States."

All five U. S. oil companies in the Iranian cartel are now defendants in a pending antitrust action brought by Brownell in 1953. They are charged with conspiracy to divide foreign oil production and markets, to control foreign production, and to fix U. S. and world prices.

The companies are the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, Standard Oil of California, the Texas Co., Gulf Oil Corp., and Socony-Vacuum (Socony-Mobil) Oil Co., Inc.

Chalk Test Finals; Clear Fork Trio Set For Spraberry Trend

Duncan Drilling Company of Big Spring announced the completion this weekend of its No. 4 Chalk, a project in the Howard-Glasscock field.

Three field locations were made in Scurry County, and two Spraberry Trend projects will be plugged back for tests of the Clear Fork formation.

Daily potential of the No. 4 Chalk is 190 barrels of oil. Completion was in a 400-foot open hole zone bottomed at total depth of 3,332 feet. Fracture treatment was with 1,000 gallons of oil and 40,000 pounds of sand.

The new well is about 12 miles southeast of Big Spring. Site is 990 from south and 1,650 from east lines, 124-29-W&N survey.

One of the Scurry County locations is in the Diamond M (Clear Fork) field about 12 miles southwest of Snyder. It is Hiawatha No. 12 L. M. Wilson, 330 from south and 1,286 from west lines, 183-97-H&T survey. Depth will be 3,300 feet.

The other two projects, in the Sharon Ridge 1700 field, will be drilled by French M. Robertson. Robertson Nos. 11 and 12 First National Bank of Snyder are the ventures, and they are in section 12B, block 97, H&T survey, on a 120 acre lease. Both are slated for depth of 2,500 feet.

No. 12 is 330 from south and east lines of northeast quarter, and No. 11 is 990 from west and 330 from south lines of northeast quarter.

The Spraberry Trend projects to be plugged back for Clear Fork tests are Ashland Oil and Refining Company's No. 2-46 Davenport and Cosden Petroleum Corporation's No. 1-D Vivian Hanson.

Cosden No. 1-D Hanson is an old Spraberry producer, and plugged back depth will be 6,250 feet. Site is 660 from south and 1,980 from west lines, 46-34-4s, T&P survey, some 15 1/4 miles southwest of Garden City in Glasscock County.

Ashland No. 2-46 Davenport, in Midland County, also was an old Spraberry producer. Plugged back depth will be 6,500 feet. Site is C NE NE, 46-37-4s, T&P survey, 30 miles southeast of Midland. It is 2 1/4 miles northwest of Hanley No. 1 Moeller, recent Clear Fork completion.

In Sterling County, J. Ray McDermott No. 1 Mildred Cole, C NE NE, 135-6-H&T survey, was drilling below 7,493 feet in shale. Location is 13 miles south of Sterling City. Projected drilling depth of this wildcat is 13 miles south of Sterling City.

Ada No. 1 Dunn, wildcat seven miles northwest of Cuthbert in Mitchell County, is making hole at 5,636 feet in lime. Site of this prospector is C SE SE, 73-20-Lavaca survey.

Rotary Operations Decline In Region

A noticeable cut in the number of rotary rigs operating in the Permian Basin was shown on the last survey of Reed Roller Bit Company.

The survey, taken on July 10, shows 512 rigs in operation. On June 25, there were 523 active units, and on July 10 last year there were 519.

Andrews County was still the Basin leader, with 89 rigs, and Lea County, New Mexico, was second with 64 active units.

Total number of rigs in the immediate area picked up, and counties showing gains were Dawson, 10 now as compared to four on last count; Howard, 11 now and 10 last time; and Sterling, 7 to 6. Counties included in the Reed survey, with previous count in parentheses, follow:

- Andrews, 89 (90); Brewster, 1 (0); Cochran, 3 (2); Coke, 11 (13); Chaves, 8 (10); Crane, 32 (19); Crockett, 5 (7); Culberson, 0 (1); Dawson, 10 (4); Dickens, 1 (1); Ector, 29 (29); Eddy, 4 (4); Gaines, 32 (37); Garza, 5 (8); Glasscock, 1 (2); Hockley, 1 (6); Howard, 11 (10); Irion, 1 (2); Kent, 4 (2); Lamb, 1 (1); Lea, 64 (67); Lubbock, 2 (2); Loving, 1 (2); Lynn, 2 (0); Midland, 25 (27); Mitchell, 14 (last count not given); Menard, 1 (1); Nolan west, 19 (21); Pecos, 7 (8); Reagan, 21 (18); Reeves, 4 (2); Scurry, 18 (18); Sterling, 7 (6); Sutton, 3 (3); Tom Green, 6 (9); Torrance, 1 (0); Terry, 11 (11); Upton, 11 (11); Val Verde, 3 (7); Ward, 13 (15); Winkler, 12 (7); Yoakum 11 (13); Spraberry, 22 (21).

FISTFUL OF DUST

Wildcaters Tough Breed Turning Up Most Strikes

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, July 15 (AP)—The oil wildcatter is a born gambler, an incurable optimist statistically doomed to failure in a business where ulcers are a standard occupational disease.

Nine times and little more out of 10 he more or less blindly picks a site for his well, drills for oil and comes up with a fistful of dust.

But he is a tough breed and he is here to stay, says Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the oil and gas regulating Railroad Commission of Texas and a world-recognized authority on petroleum.

Wildcatting has been on the decline in Texas, the nation's top oil and gas producing state since Jan. 1. "But don't worry," says the general. "The wildcatter will bounce back."

So far this year in Texas, wildcaters have drilled 2,300 wells and brought in 295 producers—12 per cent success. Last year for the same period the wildcatter tried 2,362 times and had 417 completions—18 per cent success. That was unusually good.

A dictionary definition of a wildcatter is "a prospector who drills for oil where it is not known to exist."

That and a lot more could be said in describing one of the most colorful and spectacular wildcaters of them all, the late C. M. (Dad) Joiner whose famous No. 3 Daisy Bradford near Overton in Rusk County opened the vast East Texas field and started the oil world two decades ago.

Like most wildcaters, Joiner was constantly plagued by money troubles. No. 3 Daisy-Bradford was drilled from a rig hewn of pine trees cut on the ground over a geological formation that most technical experts said was impossible. If it had been a quarter of a mile farther east he would have missed. But he didn't.

wildcatter's days are not over. They have brought in 80 per cent of all discoveries against dismaying odds. The average cost of a wildcat in the United States was recently given as around $90,000, with many running into the hundreds of thousands.

MEET THE 'seniors' OF THE COSDEN FAMILY . . .

This is the fifth in a new series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

A native of Big Spring who has spent all his working career in various phases of the oil industry is Charles D. Herring Jr., a member of the 15-year group of senior employees with Cosden Petroleum Corporation.

Herring was born here October 8, 1917, and finished Big Spring High School in 1934. He held various oil company jobs, in drilling, transportation and sales, before joining Cosden on January 16, 1940.

He went to work with the company as a maintenance man, later worked on various processing units, including the crude unit, the Dubbs thermocraacker, and then was transferred to the alkylation unit when it went on stream last summer. He is No. 1 operator of the alkylation unit.

Herring's service with Cosden was interrupted by wartime service. He was a corporal and airplane mechanic with the Second Air Force, and spent nearly two years and nine months in uniform.

Herring was married to Miss Mozelle James in Big Spring July 5, 1941, and they have a 10-year-old son, Tony. They own their home at 1603 Sunset.

Herring is a member of the First Methodist Church and is a Mason, with membership in Staked Plains Lodge No. 598. He has served a term as financial secretary of Local 826 of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

He lists fishing as his chief hobby.

Test Of Western 'Sticking Power'

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

The summit conference opening Monday, July 18, in Geneva signals a new phase in the cold war that will last for months and possibly for years. It will be a gruelling test of Western sticking power.

This new phase of the cold war might well be labeled civilization's last chance. The shadow of the hydrogen bomb hovers the scene as the leaders of two worlds meet face to face in a decisive moment capping 10 years of grim political struggle.

One phase of the struggle is about over. There appears to be a sober recognition by the Kremlin that postwar Stalin policies built a stone wall of resistance in the West to further expansion of the Soviet system.

It would be a grave risk, however, for the West to assume this means the Kremlin has reformed. The new phase of the struggle requires new methods and a new approach. The Kremlin still knows how to wait, and a victory is no less a victory if it is achieved by blandishments and persuasion rather than by threats and force.

The Soviet Union now is telling its people that while it stands unequivocally for world peace, the nation must sacrifice everything to building its war potential. From this it appears the Kremlin is ready to settle down to something in the nature of a diplomatic state of siege. In the months and years to come the U.S.S.R. will continue to build up its "defense might" while attempting to divide the United States and its allies.

The summit meeting of President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Eden, Premier Faure and Premier Bulganin may amount to little more than an exchange of viewpoints. It is only the beginning. For a long time after the conference diplomats and special agencies of the United Nations will wrestle with problems handed down from the pinnacle.

The meeting is of utmost importance to the Kremlin. Moscow wanted it badly. Much diplomatic thinking in Central Europe has been that if the West did not propose the meeting first, the Kremlin would have sought ways to force a conference. All Soviet diplomatic maneuvers — in Austria, Yugoslavia, Germany and elsewhere — have pointed that way ever since the change in Kremlin leadership last February.

The giants of the World War II coalition have passed from the scene: Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill, all of them practitioners, by their own lights, of the sweeping decision and the broad perspective of history.

The last surviving member of that spectacular trio, Sir Winston Churchill, could claim to be the inspiration for this summit meeting. With his sense of history, he detected a developing change in the Soviet Union after Stalin died. He said it would be a pity "if the natural desire to reach a general settlement of international policy were to impede any healthy evolution which might be taking place inside Russia."

Churchill was reflecting on the departure from Moscow of an iron, one-man dictatorship and the possibility of a Soviet social evolution which might one day envelop the Communist dictatorship with its dreams of world rule.

That trend remains detectable inside the Soviet Union at lower levels, but a modified form of Stalinism keeps it in check. The trend obviously has been noted by Kremlin rulers themselves, and was a factor in their anxiety for at least a surface lessening of world tensions.

The slackening of tension would give the Kremlin time and opportunity to cope with its internal economic, social and political problems, now complicated by the existence of a collective dictatorship indicating divided rule. At the same time, a summit meeting could serve as a platform for the Soviet campaign to persuade the world it was producing deeds instead of words.

George Protests Foreign Aid Cut

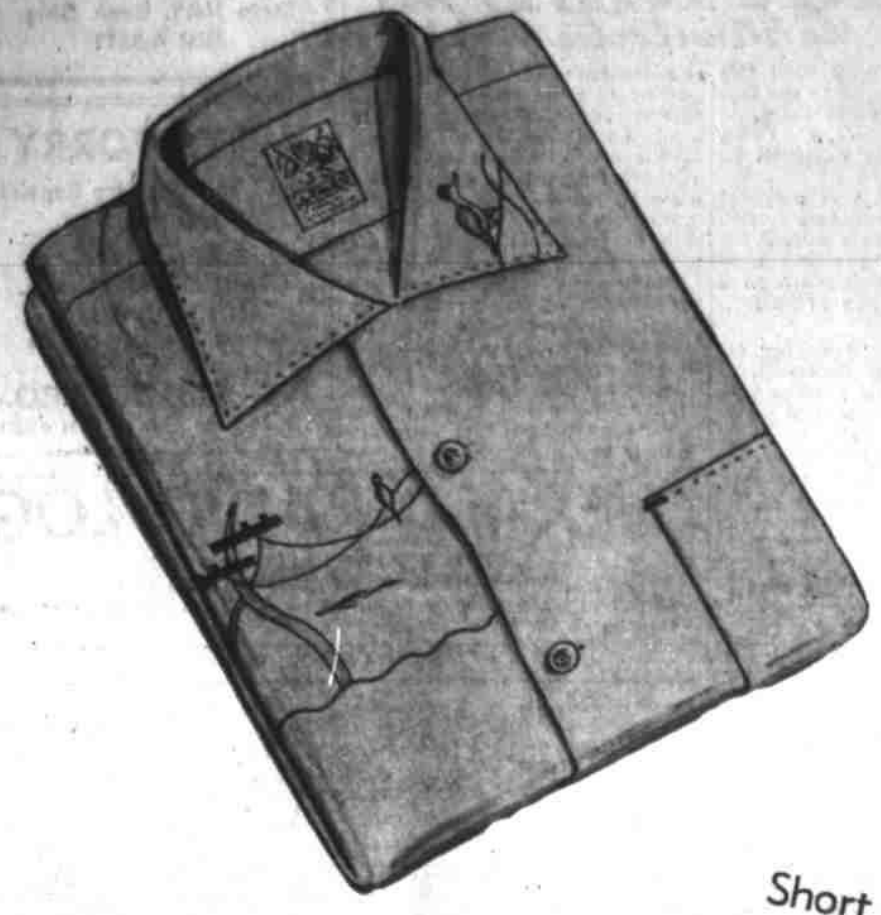

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today the House cut too deeply into foreign aid funds and he will fight to restore at least a part of the 628-million-dollar slash.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he is particularly concerned by House action cutting in half a 200-million-dollar fund requested by the President for Asian economic development.

The House Appropriations Committee contended that only 100 million of this amount would be spent in the current year. Administration leaders, said approval of the full amount is needed in order to set up longer range projects.

George said he regards this fund as "one of the most important" of those included under the 3 billion foreign aid ceiling previously authorized by Congress. Eisenhower asked $3,268,000,000 in actual appropriations and the House cut these to $2,638,000,000.

"I think the House cut much too deeply, even assuming that some of the cuts might be justified," George said. "I hope that some of these funds are restored and I shall work toward that end."

Social Welfare Unit May Be Formed Here Monday

A luncheon meeting at the Wag-on-Wheel restaurant Monday may establish a chapter of the Texas Social Welfare Association in Big Spring. The meeting is a regularly scheduled luncheon for the directors of local welfare agencies and other interested persons.

Jewel Barton, nurse at the Howard County Health Unit, will address the group concerning the functions of that organization in Big Spring. At meetings in the past, welfare workers in the other organizations have talked. These short talks are designed to acquaint each of the local welfare workers with the obligations assumed by other individual welfare groups.

A business meeting of the group will follow the talk by Nurse Barton. At this meeting a final decision on the formation of a TSWA group may be forthcoming.

The TSWA is a statewide organization of professional workers, and laymen interested in social welfare work. Its purpose is to promote good community practices in social welfare and to point out areas of need in the community. The chapters of the TSWA recommend needed services in the welfare field and give advice on how the need may be filled.

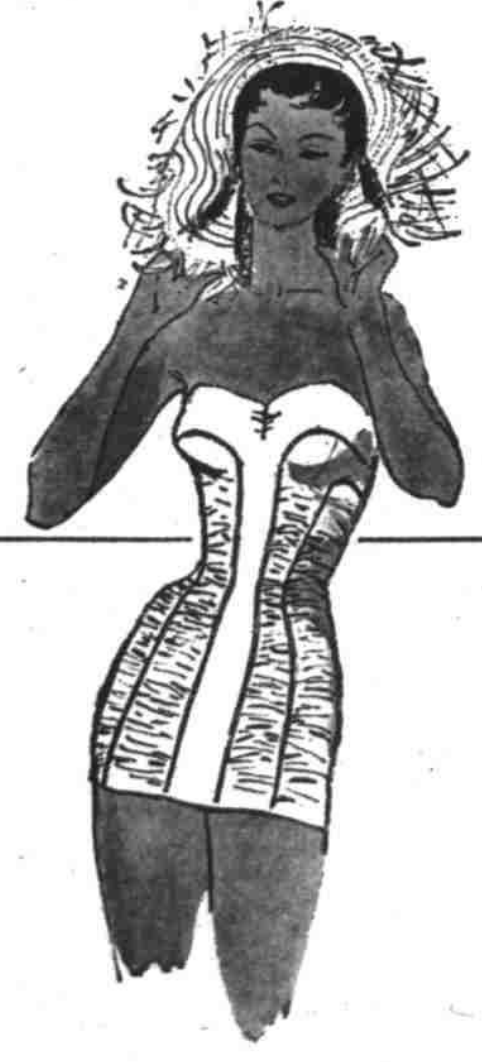

This organization keeps in constant contact with the legislature in Austin, when it is in session, and keeps all the local chapters informed concerning various legislation that may be of benefit or hindrance to welfare problems in the various communities.

A chapter of TSWA in Big Spring would be of great benefit to the city, in the opinion of E. L. Fisher, area supervisor for the State Department of Public Welfare. Primarily, the chapter would assist in more efficient use of public funds in social welfare, Fisher said. This would be done by preventing, to a certain extent, overlapping of aid to needy families. Also, a local chapter would pick out areas of need that are not now being served, he added.

The chapter if formed, will not be entirely for welfare agency workers, Fisher pointed out. It is hoped that members from local schools, doctors, city and county officials, non-professional lay-people will become interested in the problems the group will attempt to solve.

Sample projects which the TSWA has successfully maintained in other counties include, low-cost housing, a full-time director of the Community Chest, a community welfare council, a guidance clinic, a child welfare unit, filling gaps in the recreation program, and specific objectives in disease control and sanitation.

TSWA objectives do not in any way conflict with local organizational procedures or practices, Fisher said. The chapter would be in addition to welfare service now 'Fantastic Boom' Seen For U.S.

DALLAS, July 16 (AP)—"truly fantastic boom" appears to be under way for American economics, Dr. Arthur A. Smith, First National Bank economist said today.

His comments were made in the bank's monthly economic letter, due for general release Monday.

"In some respects current business activity seems not only incredible, but sensational," he wrote. "New all-time records have been set and more seem certain to be broken before the end of the year."

1955 is a "boom any way you look at it," Smith said.

The Ole Swimmin' Hole --- Modern Version

ONE WAY TO GET IN—is displayed by Donnie Everett as he dives into the swimming pool in the back yard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. McCrary, 708 W. 16th. This lovely pool is equipped with a large blue bath house, appropriately decorated with wrought-iron sea figures. Taking advantage of a perfect summer day and a cool pool are Martha Haynes with the baby, Dana McCrary, Bill Ingle on the first intertube, Judy McCrary on the step, Jerrilyn McPherson, taking a sunbath; Jimmy Haynes on the tube; and Dick Dillard watching the dive.

'ROUND TOWN'

By LUCILLE PICKLE

By LUCILLE PICKLE
Mrs. O. W. Vance, who with her two daughters, Lorraine and Charlotte, have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Johnson, plans to leave in the morning for West Plains, Mo. Mrs. Johnson will accompany Mrs. Vance for a visit with her parents in West Plains and then to Topeka, Kan., the home of Mrs. Vance. Mrs. Vance is in the Strategic Air Command with a B47 wing and has been on a mission to Alaska. He is expected to be back in Topeka the latter part of the month. Mrs. Johnson is to spend some time in Topeka before returning here. She is secretary to Dr. W. A. Hunt at the Howard County Junior College.

Mr. and Mrs. Olen Puckett and their three children are in Austin where he is attending the quarterly meeting of the State Board of Architects.

Mrs. Charles Hix and Alan left Friday after visiting here several days with her mother, Mrs. Joe Flock, and Mrs. Flock. Mr. Hix manages a hospital in Kermitt.

I thought at one time in my life that Florida was a winter resort, but from the number of Big Spring people that have been here this summer and enjoyed it so much, I am beginning to believe it's going to outrate Europe or even California. The Felix Jarratts and Mike have just returned from a stay in Miami Beach and they were completely captivated with the delightful climate.

A sad ending to their vacation trip was the death of Mrs. Jarratt's father, J. W. Haney, who died suddenly Wednesday evening at his home in Snyder. Mr. Haney had been in ill health for several years but his condition worsened after a fall Sunday evening. The Jarratts were in Snyder Thursday for the services and Mrs. Jarratt is there now with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Baird were to return today from Dallas where they have visited with relatives. They were accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Lalla Baird, who will visit with other sons for several weeks.

It was such a pleasure to visit with Mrs. Lillie Mae Sullivan and her charming young daughter, Sue, who have been visiting with friends here. Although they moved from Big Spring about 15 years ago they still remember their many friends here and make it a point to come back frequently and renew their acquaintances. Mrs. Sullivan has been teaching in the Fort Worth schools since she moved.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Goodman, Molly and Pat, left today for Brownwood where they will visit with their relatives. They plan to be away for three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sweeney and their family were to return today from Durant, Okla. where they have visited with her relatives and showed off Marc who is the latest addition to the household. Mr. Sweeney planned to fish at Lake Texoma.

Mrs. Norman Read and her house guest, Mrs. Marjorie Wofford, of Jacksonville, Ill. are spending the weekend in San Antonio visiting with mutual friends.

Mrs. Leroy Tidwell is expected back today from a visit with relatives in several East Texas towns.

A clever little "going away" supper was given for Mr. and Mrs. Kimbell Guthrie and Mr. and Mrs. Ell McCombs Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrol Jones and L.L. and Mrs. Bill McConkey entertained in the Hayes Stripling yard for the two couples who left Friday at noon for a trip to New York City, Niagara Falls, Washington, D. C. and other points of interest. Place mats for the four couples were road maps and the center piece was a large sack that was filled with fruit and a cake for the travelers to take along. Other table decorations were miniature cars and gas pumps. The cake is also to help celebrate Mrs. Guthrie's birthday anniversary which will occur while they are traveling. Little Kim Guthrie is staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wasson, while her folks are vacationing.

Word from Mrs. Betty Ratliff who is touring Europe with Colleen Slaughter says they are now in Switzerland. One Sunday she attended the Church of Christ in Rome, Italy, whose pastor has been so much in the news lately. She has written of seeing the Leaning Tower of Pisa, and spent some time in Genoa, Capri and Pompeii. When she left New York, they were thirteen days aboard ship before they finally landed in Barcelona, Spain. Their tour took them through the Straits of Gibraltar and they were awakened at 4:30 a.m. in order to see the coast line of Africa. When they finally got on land again, Mrs. Ratliff found that a member of the cruising party was a former instructor at Texas Christian University.

Mrs. M. B. Jones of Norwalk, Conn. left today for her home after visiting here with her sister, Mrs. E. G. Fausel and her family. We will surely miss the J. C. Morgan family who are told are moving to Tulsa, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Coker and family are vacationing in New Orleans, La.

Visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Miller is Mrs. Hayes Alexander and her children, Bob, Ben and Sarah, of Lockport, Ill. The family came by train to Fort Worth and were met there by Mrs. Alexander's sister, Mrs. Ruby Stanley, and they completed their trip here by automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jennings and Mrs. B. N. Ralph left Saturday morning for Oceanside, Calif. where they will visit with Jackie Jennings and his family. Jennings is stationed at Camp Pendleton. The main attraction is little Mickey Sue Jennings, who is the first grandchild of the Jimmy Jennings' and the only great-grand child of Mrs. Ralph. The Big Spring people plan to be gone two weeks.

It's always exciting for mothers to have their children at home no matter how old the children are or how often they visit. Mrs. J. J. Hair is looking forward to having her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Hair, of LaPorte here for a stay. Their daughter is not planning to make the trip here.

MRS. W. G. WILSON JR. hasn't outgrown her love for dolls

China Doll Brings Memories Of Old Song

By ANNE LEFEVER
If you are in your forties, you may remember a very old popular song, "I've Got A Pain In My Sawdust," which was written about a little china doll with a sawdust body.

Mrs. W. G. Wilson Jr., 203 Mt.

Vernon, has just such a doll, which was given to her by her mother, the late Mrs. Joseph Flint of Texas. It was a childhood toy of Mrs. Flint, who grew up and married in Fayetteville, Tenn.

Mrs. Wilson knows that the doll is at least 70 years old and it is thought that "she has seen" more time than that. About 16 or 18 inches long, she is dressed in the height of fashion of around 1875. That is as near as the owner can ascertain the style.

Underneath a dress of blue and rose changeable taffeta, there is a full petticoat trimmed with tiny tucks and with a band of insertion and a border of linen lace. Both laces look as if they were made by hand.

Also trimmed in handmade lace is a pair of long pantaloons, not the kind worn in Civil War days, but shorter and not so full. Little china shoes, hightop, in a deep shade of blue are attached to legs stuffed with sawdust.

While some china dolls have bodies made of kid, those of this era were made of strong heavy cotton fabric. Filled with sawdust, they had a certain flexibility and the arms and legs could be moved easily.

Daintily formed are the hands with each finger distinctly shaped. A string of very tiny black beads is used as a bracelet, while the dress is trimmed in the same kind of beads on the order of the once-popular passementerie.

The china head is fastened to the body by stitches taken through small holes on each side, front and back, about an inch and a half from the shoulders. A sweet, serene expression was painted on the face, with its blue eyes and pink cheeks.

A middle part is used in the hair, also painted, and it falls in deep waves in a frame for the face. The hair appears to have been done in a long bob, almost shoulder-length, since there is no indication of its being drawn back into a bun or knot.

Mrs. Bost Honored At Bridal Tea

Mrs. H. E. Bost Jr. was honored Thursday evening at a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Walter Moore. She is the former Carla Jo Kesterson.

The Bosts were married in Lovington, N. M. on March 25. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Clyde Johnston, Mrs. E. W. Pike, Mrs. H. A. McFarland, Mrs. E. W. Lowmore and Mrs. R. W. Cagle. Mrs. Kesterson and Mrs. H. E. Bost Sr. received guests and presented the honoree. Serving and registration were done by Waldene Pike, Sandra Shaw, Sandra Havens, June Ann Johnston, and Martha Bost, all of whom alternated at the tables.

The serving table was laid in a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of orange blossoms in the shape of a wedding ring. Pink tapers were used on each side. About 40 guests called during the entertaining hours.

Three More Fans For Davy

Ready to "kill him a bar" even if he is only 15 months old, is Robert Shaw, youngest son of newcomers Maj. and Mrs. James Shaw, 2100 S. Monticello. Dressed to prove their devotions to Mr. Crockett are Charles, 6, and James, 11.

Native Texas Family Is Glad To Be Back

"We are so glad to be back in Texas," exclaimed the James Shaw family, 2100 S. Monticello, who moved here recently from Alexandria, La.

These newcomers to Big Spring have no complaint about the West Texas weather, because they knew what it is like, having lived in Midland thirteen years ago. Maj. and Mrs. Shaw and their three boys, James, 11, Charles, 6, and little Robert, 15 months, have really done some traveling around.

In those 13 years, since they left Midland, the Air Force has moved them to Salt Lake City, Utah, where James was born; Alaska; Virginia, where Charles joined the family; South Carolina, and Louisiana, where the Shaws added Robert to their group.

Maj. Shaw has been in the U.S. Air Force 22 years. He is the executive officer of the hospital at Webb Air Force Base.

"We like the friendliness of the people of Big Spring," the Shaws said. "We have certainly been in some places where there was no sign of cordiality or hospitality."

Mrs. Shaw is a native of Dallas while Maj. Shaw is from San Antonio.

Both Maj. and Mrs. Shaw are interested in "do-it-yourself" hobbies, and when they get settled, he plans to build a bookcase to hold their collection of mystery novels, another hobby enjoyed by both.

The whole family lists watching television as their favorite pastime. All three blond-haired boys are Davy Crockett fans, and have the complete costumes to prove it, even though their father insists that they "leave Davy dead."

The newcomers are considering buying a home, but until they can find what they want, they plan to remodel their present residence, another step in their do-it-yourself plan.

Forsan Club Has Called Meeting

FORSAN — At a called meeting of the Forsan Study Club Wednesday afternoon, the group planned a bake sale to be held on July 23 at the Forsan Hardware Store. Proceeds will be used to finance the club projects for the coming year.

The group will adopt a Latin-American patient in the Big Spring State Hospital as one project. Another line of work will be the making of scrapbooks for the Servicemen's Center.

The first regular meeting was set for the last week in August, the date to be announced later. A breakfast will open the club year. Seven attended the meeting Wednesday.

Mrs. R. A. Fullen recently entertained at her home with a cosmetic party. Guests were Mrs. A. O. Bassinger, Mrs. Floyd Pike, Mrs. C. D. Fowler, Mrs. H. L. Greer, Mrs. Carl Bankston, Mrs. John Butler and Mrs. Willie Riffe.

Harrells Moving From Stanton To Novice

STANTON — Mr. and Mrs. William E. Harrell and Patty were to have moved this week to Novice. They have made their home for three years in Stanton and she taught in the Stanton elementary school. They will teach in the Novice schools.

Ed Davis, manager of the Martin County Chamber, plans to leave will attend the Southwest Institute, which is being held as a school for chamber of commerce managers.

Mrs. Wayne Butcher was honored with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Henry Louder recently. About 20 attended.

Hostesses were Mrs. E. F. Polson, Mrs. E. L. Polson, Mrs. Loyd Hastings, Mrs. Derwood Clardy, Mrs. Joy Morgan, Mrs. Jim Mc-Coy, Mrs. Owen Thompson, and Mrs. Henry Louder.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. M. J. Nutter and Mrs. Ben Nutter of Odessa, mother and grandmother of the honoree.

Schedule Announced For WSCS School Of Missions

Theme for the Methodist School of Missions to be held in Lubbock, July 25-29, is "Crown Thy Good With Brotherhood." Hostess groups will be from St. John's Methodist Church of Lubbock. All members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service are expected to attend the school.

Planning to attend from Big Spring are Mrs. H. H. Stephens, district secretary of supply, Mrs. C. W. Parmenter and Mrs. Dean Forrest.

Registration and assignment of homes will begin at 9 a.m. at Tech's Knapp Hall, July 25, with class sessions to be held in the Church.

"Christian Missions in A Revolutionary Age" will be taught by Mrs. Marvin T. Judy of Dallas and Lucile Flowers of Plainview, a teacher in the public schools of that city.

Mrs. Waldo Wettengel of Bush Springs, Okla., and the Rev. Lee Chupeo of Okmulgee, Okla., will be in charge of classes on "The Indian Americans." Mrs. Wettengel is executive secretary of the board of education of the Indian Mission in Oklahoma. Rev. Chupeo is district superintendent in the Indian Mission Conference of Oklahoma.

"Introduction to Five Spiritual Classics" will be taught by Elizabeth Stinson of New York City, who is secretary of Missionary Education of the division of WSCS. Other instructors for this division include Mrs. T. W. Guthrie of Vernon and Mrs. Ual Crosby of Amarillo.

Mrs. William Dingus of Lubbock will teach the classes in "To Commune Our Efforts For A Lasting Peace." Class sessions will be supplemented with workshops in "Achieving Brotherhood." These will be conducted by Mrs. J. C. Cowan of Tulsa, Mrs. Wayne Cook of Lubbock, Mrs. Henry Cusick of Amarillo, Mrs. Ethel Terrell of Lubbock, Mrs. Thomas Burrows of Seminole, Mrs. Monte Page of Lubbock, Mrs. W. J. Bryant of Stamford and Mrs. C. C. Coffee of Lubbock.

Clinics for officers and chairmen of the WSCS will be given, with many of the same staff from the workshop in charge of the discussions. A reception is scheduled for Monday at First Methodist Church, and a tea will be given Wednesday afternoon at the Student Center.

The Rev. Hubert Bratcher, host church pastor, will deliver the noon meditations on the following subjects, "Achieving Brotherhood Through Christian Beliefs," "Faith That Works," "Repentance That Heals," "Discipline That Frees."

The Rev. John A. English, pastor of Abury Church, Lubbock, will speak the first evening of the school, using the theme as his subject.

Miss Stinson, Executive Secretary of Missionary Education, Woman's Division of Christian Service, will speak Tuesday night on the subject, "Achieving Brotherhood Through Missionary Education."

Rev. Chupeo, will speak on "Indian Brotherhood." Naomi Hare, a missionary to Lima, Peru, will speak Thursday evening on "Effective Education On The Mission Field."

MRS. FOWDEN GENE MAXWELL

Miss Grant-Mr. Maxwell Repeat Vows In Clyde

Myrna Katherine Grant became the bride of Fowden Gene Maxwell in a double ring ceremony Thursday at 8 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schweikard in Clyde.

Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Beard of Clyde. The bridegroom is the son of M. B. Maxwell Sr. and the late Mrs. Maxwell, 313 Creighton, Big Spring. Dr. Max Leach, professor of psychology at Abilene Christian College, performed the ceremony before an arch banded with greenery and white blossoms. Two baskets of white gladioli and fern and wrought iron candelabra were on each side.

Candles were lighted by Kathleen Hager as a sextet composed of members of the capella chorus of Abilene Christian College, hummed "Reverie."

Ted Wilson and DeLols Wilson sang "I Pledge My Love" and "Because." Before the traditional wedding march, the sextet sang "The Lord Bless Thee and Keep Thee."

Given in marriage by her grandfather, the bride wore a ballerina length dress of chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. Chantilly lace mitts pointed over the hands. Her veil was of silk illusion edged with Chantilly lace and attached to a small white hat trimmed with white lace medallions centered with rhinestones. She carried a yellow throated white orchid centered among white split carnations on a white Bible.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Don Barr, was dressed in a ballerina length yellow organdy gown with a round neckline edged with yellow medallions centered with seed pearls. Her accessories were blue nylon lace mitts and headband. She carried a colonial bouquet consisting of blue carnations.

Miss Hager, candlelighter, wore a blue ballerina length dress and a yellow carnation wristlet.

Best man was Don Barr. At the reception, the bride's table was laid with a lace cloth over blue. The centerpiece was yellow and blue daisies flanked by white candles in crystal holders. Cake and punch was served by Mrs. Jack Norris and Mrs. Doye Maxwell. Mrs. Ma Mae Dunning registered the guests and Mrs. M. B. Maxwell, Jr., displayed the gifts.

Other members of the house party included Mrs. H. C. Cotton and Mrs. Hal Broadfoot. For a wedding trip to Grand Lake and Estes Park in Colorado, the bride chose a blue Irish linen suit with black accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Abilene Christian College. Mr. Maxwell is a graduate of John Tarleton Junior College and has spent four years in the Navy. He plans to continue his education at Fort Collins Agriculture and Mechanical College in Colorado.

Fashion's 'Neckwear' Is More Than Collars

By ANNE LEFEVER

When you hear the word, "neckwear" do you think only of a collar. Time was, in fashion history, that you would have been correct. Now, however, that term covers not only collars and cuff sets, but it includes scarves, dickeres and fill-ins, shirugs, stoles, and even a certain type of short jacket.

Coming at a time when designers are again stressing the importance of "the little black dress" such additions to the accessory wardrobe can be used to vary the costume according to the mood of the wearer or the demands of the occasion.

For an "elegant air" there are collars of satin or of velvet, glittering with rhinestones in combinations with pearls. Another velvet collar is trimmed with ermine tails and a velvet ribbon, or a mink tail with a rhinestone buckle. These are made in black, red, brown, honey, moss green, aqua and gold.

A luxurious collar is the one, made Peter Pan style, of seven rows of graduated pearls in a lacy design. French satins in various colors makes another for dress-up, when it is decorated in sequins and beads. You'll be able to get these in black and gold, black and silver, white and gold and white and silver.

Cotton laces and Venice laces are used for collars, as are fallie, corded or plain, pique, velveteen or pin-wale corduroy. The latter fabric makes a collar which is reversible, with an authentic Scotch plaid taffeta on the other side.

A lace collar is fastened with a large pearl safety pin, while a pique collar is finished with a tiny pocket holding a plaid gingham handkerchief.

Do you have trouble replacing a collar that has been removed from a dress or sweater? Does it always seem to be crooked or not fit? Then you'll welcome the additions of a "saddle" to some of the collars. This is a copy of the collar itself which is attached inside the garment and is used as an anchor.

To change that dress that is plain enough for everyday wear, except for its low neck, there is a line of "fill-ins." These come in styles with or without collars, and they may be worn either in or out of the neckline.

A waist-length fill-in comes in fallie, fashioned with a V-neck and with trim of Venice lace. Another made of fallie, is trimmed with large pearl buttons and may be worn in or out of the dress. Embroidered satin dots are used on fallie and one fill-in is made with tiny button trim.

For more warmth, and especially good with suits, is the dickey of wool jersey, lined with taffeta, or the fill-in of jersey. This is made with a turtle-neck and comes in white, red, navy, black, charcoal, maize, purple, turquoise or pink. A new size, 19 inches, is to be found in the silk squares, which are used in so many ways. Ribbon scarves in stripes or solids will add interest to a dark dress or suit, with even more color added through the use of brightly hued stoles.

An improvement from the standpoint of comfort as well as appearance is the fitted stole. Small darts make the stole conform to the slope of the shoulders and keep it in place.

As for a boutonniere to add to your suit — you'll find them in clusters of acorns and leaves or other nuts with leaves of felt or suede. The idea is to have that "all-in-one look" and they'll be available in burnt sienna, all green, all gold or all rust.

Charlotte Anderson Is Bride Of Lloyd Knapp

In a formal double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Webb Air Force Base Chapel, Charlotte Ann Anderson became the bride of Lt. Lloyd O. Knapp.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Knapp, 3060 Grape St., Denver, Colo., the bride is the daughter of Mrs. Pauline Anderson, 700 Main.

The Rev. Warren C. Swartz, assistant pastor of Warren Methodist Church, Denver, and lifetime friend of the groom, read the vows before an altar decorated with arrangements of white stock and gladioli behind a cross of gold. Gold candelabra holding seven candles formed an archway with ferns used as a back drop.

Two branch candelabra lighted the aisle pathway as Reginald Moore, uncle of the bride, from Kansas City, Mo., gave her in marriage.

Lt. Kerry P. Kicklighter sang "I Love You Truly" and "Why Do I Love You?" He was accompanied by Mrs. Earnest Lillard at the organ.

The bride's gown was of tulle and imported white lace, frosted with blush pink tulle over satin. The fitted bodice had a drop-shoulder yoke and long sleeves that formed petal points over the hands. Layers of tulle, accented with scalloped lace panels, extended to the hem of the demi-tasse length bouffant skirt. The veil of imported French illusion was fastened to a half-hat of shirred illusion outlined in tiny seed pearls. She carried a white orchid surrounded by baby pink sweetheart roses on a Bible.

and a pink half bonnet fashioned of accordion pleated nylon. Pink shoes completed the costume. Her flowers were a bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Bridesmaids, LaRue Tucker of Austin, Mrs. M. C. Grigsby Jr., and Mrs. Harold E. Allen of Big Spring, wore identical pastel blue crystal-ette ballerina length dresses with a low neck and shirred at the shoulders. Their hats and shoes were the same as the maid of honor's, except blue. They carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations against dark blue maline.

Keith E. Knapp served as his brother's best man, and Lt. Harold D. Leventon of Lookout, Calif., Lt. Andrew J. Clark, Atlanta, Ga., and Lt. Robert E. Westbrook, Houston, were groomsmen.

Alter taper lighters were John C. Anderson, brother of the bride, and John L. Davis, of Muline, Kan., nephew of the bride.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the Officers Club Lounge. Parents of the couple, the bride and groom and the bridal attendants greeted the guests in the receiving line.

An arrangement of silver, white, and crystal centered the bride's table. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with baby blue roses and a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. John E. Fort and Mrs. Duane J. Fritz served the cake and fruit punch.

Mrs. Burl Varner was in charge of the guest register. Other members of the house party included Mrs. L. D. Davis and Mrs. Reginald Moore.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the bride was wearing a pastel blue with navy embroidered figures sheath dress with a navy linen jacket. Her accessories were navy and she wore a white orchid corsage.

The Knappes will make their home at 407 E. 9th. The bride is a graduate of Iran eastern State College in Durant, Okla., and Howard County Junior College in Big Spring. She is now employed as secretary to the training group commander at Webb Air Force Base.

Lt. Knapp received his B. S. degree from Colorado State College of Education in Greeley, Colo., where he was a member of the Blue Key Fraternity and Phi Delta Kappa. He is now an instructor at Webb Air Force Base.

Out of town wedding guests included the parents of the bridegroom; Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Moore, Durant, Okla., E. J. Fritz, Shreveport, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bullard, Fort Worth.

Officers' Wives Honor Mrs. Lewis With Tea Friday

Honoring Mrs. David L. Lewis, the Officers' Wives' Club attended a tea given Friday afternoon at Ellis Hall. Mrs. Lewis is the wife of the new Air Base Group Commander.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Carlton Virden, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Charles D. Youree. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Harry Long, Mrs. Frank C. Gryska and Mrs. R. L. Morris.

Mrs. Cleon Freeman and Mrs. Newton Hagins served from a table laid with an Army-Navy cloth over pink. Pink and white carnations made up the center arrangement, flanked by two Chinese figurines.

About 100 attended the tea.

Informal Ceremony Unites Local Couple

Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Trinity Baptist Church, Pettis, Son Bond, daughter of Mrs. Beulah Bond, 1802 Donley, became the bride of Bobby Earl Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Phillips, 704 E. 3rd.

The Rev. H. H. Bond, brother of the bride and pastor of the Hilltop Baptist Church in Fort Worth, officiated at the informal double ring ceremony. Two tall baskets of white gladioli formed an archway with large palms behind it. Candelabra were on either side.

Uncle of the groom, Johnny Hood from Albuquerque, N. M., sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer." He was accompanied by Patsy Hayworth at the piano.

Given in marriage by Jerry Bond, her brother, the bride chose a waist length white satin cotton gown with a high neck, Peter Pan collar embroidered with seed pearls. The fitted bodice came to a point at the waistline with tiny buttons down the front to the full skirt. Her shoulder length veil was attached to a narrow band decorated with seed pearls. She carried white carnations on a white Bible.

For something old, she wore a mother of pearl ring which was hand carved in the Philippines. It belongs to Mrs. R. E. Hoover, sister of the bride. Her wedding dress was something new; something borrowed was the white Bible from Mrs. Ted Hull, sister of the bridegroom; something blue was a garter; and a penny was in her shoe for good luck.

Maid of honor was the sister of the bride, Jamie Bond, who wore an aqua stain cotton dress designed like the bride's. Her flowers were white carnations.

Roy Johnson was best man and Richard Vance, Kenneth Hammack and Thomas Lynn served as ushers.

Candle lighters, Linda Bond, sister of the bride, and Carol Ann Phillips, niece of the bridegroom, wore identical dresses of pink embroidered organdy and pink wrist corsages.

Mrs. Bond, wore a gray silk pongee dress with white accessories. Her corsage was pink carnations. The mother of the bridegroom was dressed in a navy blue lace ensemble with white accessories and white carnations.

At the reception in the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hoover, 1313 E. 15th, decorations were the flowers from the wedding ceremony. A white hand-crocheted cloth over pink covered the bride's table. Centerpiece was a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Elmo Phillips, Mrs. Ted Hull and Mrs. Charles Hodges.

The bride attended Big Spring High School. Mr. Phillips is a graduate of Big Spring High School where he lettered in basketball. He plans to enter the Seminary in Fort Worth this fall.

The couple will reside in Big Spring until September when they

Mix Berries 'n Honey

Here's an easy way to fix strawberries to serve over ice cream. Wash a pint of berries in cold water and drain; hull and slice. Mix the sliced berries gently with a quarter cup of honey; refrigerate about an hour so the berries and honey will be kin! You'll have about 1 1/2 cups—enough for six scoops of vanilla ice cream.

Emergency Rations—Just Eat Your Hat

DALLAS (U)—The Bee and Thistle Garden Club had a hat party.

Mrs. Clayton McCuller's creation was made of lettuce, radishes, endive, onions, carrots and romaine.

Mrs. Sidney McClain wore a Mexican straw hat topped with sundina berries and leaves.

Mrs. John Eulich modeled her creation of weeds. Another smart number was made of turnips and leaves.

Problem Not All One Of Money

Most of us have, in an abstract sort of a way, a knowledge that the cost of education has risen within the past few years. It is perfectly natural that it should, because practically everything else has advanced in cost to some degree; moreover, there are more children to educate.

rather striking parallel to the enrollment increase.

But note this: the cost of operating and maintaining the larger, more adequate plant has increased by 89.1 per cent (or $7,950). In round figures, we are spending $100,000 more per annum just for the physical side of the business of getting a roof over the heads of our school age youngsters.

You can apply these ratios to other schools and likely you won't get drastically different answers unless in districts which were maintaining better base salaries six years ago, and hence the percentage spread won't be as great.

We mention these factors simply to say that almost scrutiny must be given all phases of the educational budgets and that renewed efforts need to be exerted to squeeze the greatest possible value out of each dollar. We mention it also that patrons may know of the urgency for new sources of revenue. A general reevaluation could well be a part of the answer.

We mention it finally as a predicate for saying that as great as the financial problem is, the matter of securing qualified instructional personnel is even greater. Right now the Big Spring district needs about three dozen teachers, and this ratio to the total would stack up about average except in the rich districts where much higher salaries stabilize their situation. While thinking of money, we had better be thinking of where and how we are going to get more teachers. You can't produce them as quickly as revenue.

Outlawing Nuclear Weapons Hikes Our Costs

WASHINGTON — Paradoxical as it may seem, the net effect of any ban on the use of nuclear weapons that could be proclaimed at the four power conference at Geneva, or in any subsequent conference, might be to increase substantially the armament cost to the American people.

What is not generally realized is that because atomic and hydrogen bombs contain many times the explosive power of the conventional bombs used in World War II and known as "blockbusters," there is a substantial economy in their substitution for the ordinary bombs. If both A-bombs and H-bombs are tabooed, the United States would have to build up its capacity to drop conventional bombs on enemy territory.

This means that long range bombers by the thousands would have to be provided. Estimates vary, but one military executive said he thought it might mean trebling the cost for more bomber aircraft just to be able to deliver the blows that would be necessary to make sure "massive retaliation" against an aggressor would be effective.

Obviously the contention of many military men is that disarmament talk is nonsense unless the plan is to include all kinds of armament. In other words there cannot be any partial restriction on the use of weapons because it would only mean the equivalent increase in conventional weapons to secure adequate defensive strength.

The disarmament problem is regarded here as something attractive to talk about in international conferences — as a sort of evidence of good will and good intention. But nobody expects the limitation to get anywhere, and if it does, the inevitable result will be to create a new demand for long-range bombers. The aircraft industry certainly may enjoy its biggest boom if the ban on nuclear weapons becomes effective.

All this is but another way of saying that the world is reaching the point where it will become necessary to find a way to ban all forms of international military airpower, and find some sure means of inspection if anything real is to be accomplished in the field of disarmament.

Precisely because no nation, least of all the United States, is going to throw away its means of defense, whether on a conventional or unconventional basis, the chances of a disarmament agreement are nil.

It is important to talk about it, however, as a goal and as a means of offsetting the accusations of "warmonger" which the Communists level at the United States. That's why disarmament will be a topic of discussion for a long time to come though nothing concrete will ever come of it.

Naturally, military men are concerned about any restrictions on the use of weapons. They have been saying in recent years that the introduction of nuclear weapons cuts down the expense and actually permits the reduction in the arms budget. The fact that the converse is also true — abolition of nuclear weapons means an increase in conventional arms — has not yet seeped through to the people in the Western countries.

There is evidence that the Russians are building up their armament at the very time that their propaganda is urging a reduction or limitation. It is to the interest of Moscow to catch up with the United States, particularly in airpower. If air strength is to be limited, however, the Reds have an ace in the hole — they have the biggest land armies in the world. Naturally it is Moscow's effort to persuade America and the West to stand still a few years while the Communists build up their armament.

So the disarmament game isn't fooling our own military leaders as they scoff at talk of reduced expense and lower taxes allegedly as a result of any international agreements to limit armament. No plan that has as yet been brought out will accomplish any economy for the American people — it could conceivably increase by many billions of dollars the armament budget.

Big 4 Meet Will Have Effect On Business

The Big Four meeting at Geneva will have a deep and long-time influence on jobs, wages, profits and Wall Street — no matter what the outcome.

If the conference is a bust, if President Eisenhower returns to Washington and Premier Bulganin to Moscow convinced that east is east and west is west and inimical vigil their lot, workers in defense industries could feel surer of their jobs.

The defense industry — a neglected baby after World War II and now a steady, mature adult two years after the Korean armistice — would continue to require at least 10 per cent to 12 per cent of our energy and resources. Indeed, an upward revision in the national security program, now about $40 billion a year — would be entirely possible. A nation faced by an implacable enemy can afford no relaxation.

In America, the post-conference reasoning would be: President Eisenhower is a moderate, practical man. He's not doctrinaire. Since he couldn't find a way to negotiate with his old friend, Gen. Zhukov, he'd better get set for another long stretch of war, cold or hot.

But the conference isn't foredoomed to fail. Economics is on the side of success. Since the death of Stalin, the new rulers of Russia have been under pressure to relieve the drabness of living — the bread and cabbage diet, overcrowding in homes, long hours of rewardless work. Russian supplies of foodstuffs, of consumer goods, per capita, are still low by prewar standards, though slightly higher than during the war.

The Russian people need a higher standard of living as a reason for industriousness and efficiency. This explains sales of Soviet gold abroad — to buy sugar from Cuba and butter from New Zealand. It explains the constant admonitions in Pravda for higher productivity. Russia has been under a triple economic drain:

1. Stalin emphasized war industries — coal, steel, electric power, petroleum, and machinery. Manpower went into these industries at the expense of consumer goods.

2. The war effort of the Chinese Communists — in Korea and Indochina — drew off Russian surpluses of war materials.

3. Satellite countries, which earlier were a source of supply, now need help beyond Russia's capacity. Hungary and Poland, for example, have been negotiating for Canadian wheat. A reduction in armaments, as proposed by Premier Faure of France, would suit the Russians. First, it would release manpower from defense to consumer-goods industries. Second, it might pave the way for resumption of large-scale East-West trade, enabling Russia and its satellites to get much-wanted western products. In this the United States has a real interest. Farm prices here continue to slump (see chart). Disposing of our farm surpluses would help bail out Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson from some of his troubles. Third, Karl Marx, the Soviet's postwar era, Russian foreign policy delayed a test of this theory. The Korean War forced the U. S. to rearm.

Wall Street has already paid its respects to the conference. Early in February former Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons that the time was not ripe for a Big Four conference. Yet Churchill was one of the early advocates of a meeting "at the summit." Aircraft shares climbed to record highs on the New York Stock Exchange. Reasoning: Bigger plane orders ahead.

But soon thereafter, President Eisenhower exchanged letters with Defense Minister Zhukov. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said a Big Four meeting would not be a bad idea. Bulganin announced he'd approve such a meeting. Aircraft shares took a 20 per cent tumble.

To me, the point is very clear. Wall Street was looking far ahead. A successful meeting at Geneva would be a prelude. If words led to deeds and deeds led to mutual confidence, the level of defense outlays would gradually decline. War babies on the exchange would be hurt.

The job, sales, and income structure in America would shift: Fewer jobs in war plants, lower sales of war materials to the government; more jobs in civilian industry, greater sales of civilian goods. And greater competition — factories now producing armaments would divert more of their efforts to peacetime products. And taxes most certainly would be cut. A boon to all of us!

Feeding The Business Boom

NEW YORK (AP) — Fatter pocketbooks of many Americans are feeding the business boom.

Personal income totals have topped the 300 billion dollars a year for the first time in history.

That has helped retail sales to climb steadily. It has also given many families confidence enough in their future to hock part of their expected income and buy on the installment plan. So consumer debt also has risen to a new high.

In turn, businessmen have stepped up their own buying of raw materials. They have increased their production schedules, thus adding to their payroll totals. They have raised their sights on future expansion. These three things swell the incomes of the producers of raw materials, of factory workers, of the construction industry and of the makers of tools and equipment.

It is an example of what economists mean when they talk about the present business boom running along for awhile on its own momentum, even if new stimuli don't show up.

Some cynics say the boom on top of the boom is a little like families prospering by taking in each other's washings that the whole thing could grind to a jolting halt if consumers should stop buying so freely and starting saving instead.

But figures released this week point only to the signs of prosperity on every hand. Department of Commerce data show that in the first five months of the year personal income was running at an annual rate 10 billion dollars higher than the year before. In May it reached a record 301 billion, figures annually. The jump of two billion over the April rate was credited by the department to higher employment, longer work weeks, and higher hourly wage scales.

A lot of the increase in incomes has flowed quickly into the hands of the merchants and the providers of various services — and from them it is working its way back to the prime producers.

But much of the additional cash has also gone into personal savings. The percentage of personal income saved isn't as high this year as in some previous ones, but the total has gone on steadily climbing.

Bible Words for Today

PROVERBS 15:27—"He that is greedy of gain troubleth his own house." (American Revised Version)

Man seems never to have enough of any material substance which he finds useful or which strikes his fancy. He has enough only when he has a little bit more than he now has. The desire to meet one's own reasonable needs and the needs of loved ones dependent upon him is legitimate. But this desire easily turns into a love of things for their own sake or for the sake of mere possession or, worse still, for the sake of control over the lives of others which wealth brings. Even a desire to be the generous prince or the lady bountiful can subtly lead to greed and covetousness. And no greedy, covetous man is happy, for "man's life does not consist in the abundance of his possessions."

Dr. Jesse R. Wilson, American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, New York City

It's Time Rocking Chairs Were 'Smart' Again

People shouldn't jump to conclusions because my mind is on such things, but it is about time somebody went into action on behalf of the rocking chair.

I mean the old-time, easy-going rocker that treats you gently with a mild swing, preferable with one rocker that squeaks a little bit in the process.

There's no point in arguing with modernism in furniture design; some of that stuff is here to stay. But chairs seem to have set the pace. There are those numbers that look like a wicker basket with the top sawed off; others that look like the pocket of a slingshot; others with flouncy cushions but no arms, so that if you move around a little, you tump right off on the floor. High backs and low backs, spindly legs, or no legs, you know the kind I'm talking about.

Comfortable, I guess, but probably not designed for just a settin' and a-thinkin'. Furniture seems to be designed to reflect the habits of the people. If we are rushing around all the time, or jumping up and down every whipsnitch, no point in having a chair for all-out leisure. Maybe none of us is a settin' and a-thinkin' enough.

Well, an old-time rocker will help encourage this sort of living, as I see it.

You really have to go into the old-time homes to see a profusion of rockers these days. I'm not talking about the "antiques" now; I mean just plain, every-day Grand Rapids rocking chairs. Pretty well padded, you know; or else some home-made pads hung down the back; and on the seat.

If the chair has one of those old fiber bottoms tacked on with brass-headed tacks, a pillow could be used without violating the general use of the chair.

The rockers need to be long enough that a fellow can stretch way back, if he wants to; and certainly of such shape that you can get that easy motion of tipping back and forth, maybe in time with the sedate tick-tock of Seth Thomas mantel clock.

One that will work out on the porch, too. One that you can get close enough to the rail to prop the feet and then push gently back and forth. There's no better place, position and attitude to assume to let the world pass by.

Could be that the increasing tempo of the world brought the end to the popularity of rocking chairs, or vice versa. Offhand, you could say that the anxieties of the times have become more perplexed the less comfortable our chairs.

I'm not so sure but that if the Big Four boys in their Geneva meeting might come a whole lot closer to harmony if they specified that a couple of sessions would be held in rocking chairs. Everybody relaxes and rocks while he ponders the Geneva agenda.

This probably won't happen, but it does look like that some smart furniture maker would promote a campaign to make rockers "smart" once again. Then we'd all get 'em.

And we could do more settin' and thinkin'. And if that's too much, we could just set.

Don't Get The Idea Moscow Is Weakening

GENEVA—As the heads of state of the two great centers of power East and West prepare to confront each other here in neutral Geneva it is important to realize how this meeting looks from the middle ground. In Yugoslavia this reporter talked with the top men around Tito as well as with diplomats of a half-dozen middle-ground nations committed to neither Moscow nor Washington. What follows is a composite of their hopes and fears. And in particular it reflects the intimate and long-time knowledge of Yugoslav Communists who have dealt over the years with Communist Russia, both as ally and as enemy.

"We believe that Russia genuinely wants a settlement which would mean gradual relaxing of tensions," I was told. "There are many reasons why this should be true. First, they are really afraid that America has aggressive intentions. They are also fearful that a rearmored Germany will have aggressive designs in ever-closer alliance with the United States.

"A second factor is the growing realization among high-ranking Soviet military men of the total destructiveness of atomic and hydrogen warfare. They have come to this realization late because they have so long been predominantly concerned with land warfare. The consequences of nuclear warfare and the necessity to prevent it is believed to have been the main subject of the correspondence between President Eisenhower and Marshal Zhukov. A third factor is the economic difficulty especially in agriculture. There is no doubt this is serious and widespread. "But you Americans must not believe that Russia has been compelled to come to Geneva out of weakness. It would be a tragic miscalculation to assume, as your Secretary of State seems to assume, that collapse of the Soviet system is in sight and that, therefore, you need not make any move toward a real settlement.

"The present Soviet policy has been made as the result of deliberate choice. Even more important to understand is that if this policy fails at Geneva or in the aftermath of Geneva, then the Kremlin masters—or another set of bosses—can throw the gear in reverse and return to the old policy of cold war, with the looming threat on the horizon of a final desperate resort to hot war.

"You must understand that while Beria and some of the principal advocates of the old Stalinist line have been removed there has been no wholesale purge of an entire opposition, such as occurred in the late 'thirties. This means that those ready and ever eager to go back to the tough policy are in the immediate background. What is more, you may be sure that Khrushchev, Bulganin and Company now carrying out the new policy believe in it with only half their minds. They could revert quickly to the old attitude of implacable hostility, of revenge and reprisal.

"In this connection Khrushchev's remark that Russia was not coming to Geneva with broken legs—meaning not compelled by weakness—is highly significant. It reflects the suspicion and doubt that will certainly be increased by Dulles' talk of economic collapse.

"Consideration of the punishment their people might take has never deterred the Communists from pursuing a particular policy line. In the early 'thirties millions died of starvation as a consequence of enforced collectivization. So despite their present economic troubles, they could slam the door shut again and make their people pay the price. And they might finally conclude that Russia, with its vast land mass and its dispersed industries, could better absorb the shock of nuclear war than America where the concentration is so great. The fatal error in this conclusion would not matter once the world was in ruins and humanity decimated."

To one observer this seems to make eminent good sense. To this analysis of the present outlook one final and most significant factor must be added. Appraisal of intelligence reports out of Russia indicates that the Soviets have not reduced by a single gun the vast military machine continuously built up since the war's end. In fact, the rate of acceleration has, if anything, increased.

In contrast, the Eisenhower Administration has made large cuts in America's military strength. And these reductions have not, for all of America's prodigious productivity and booming prosperity, improved the American bargaining position at this conference. That is the stern reality which cannot be evaded in the moment when so much hangs in the balance.

Norman Vincent Peale

There's A Place To Go For The Right Answer

Once, when I checked into a hotel to stay overnight, I had a curious experience. As I registered, the clerk told me the manager was very anxious to see me.

I went into the manager's office and he greeted me most cordially. He said he was glad to see me because he wanted me to help him out with a business problem.

"What is it?" I asked.

"Well," he told me, "it has to do with the hotel business."

"I know nothing about the hotel business," I said.

"Oh, I know you don't know anything about it," he answered. "Sometimes I think I don't know anything either. But I have this problem and need your help. It says in the Bible that if any two of us agree as touching any matter, our Heavenly Father will give us the answer."

"That's right," I agreed.

"Well," he said, "I use that technique whenever I have a problem to solve. I sit quietly and empty my mind. But sometimes when the problem is particularly difficult I try to get someone to empty my mind with me, as I want you to do. Two emptied minds are better than one. So I want you to join me in a quiet creative prayer session and help me get God's guidance. Then I want to check the insight I get with the insight you receive."

So we sat in his office, heads bowed, in the process of what he called "emptying the mind." He prayed aloud somewhat as follows: "Lord, I now empty out all preconceived notions about this problem. I empty out all the bad things that may be in my mind. I empty out all error. Fill my mind with truth, Thy truth." Then he asked me to pray in the same way.

Then he prayed again, saying: "Now, Lord, give us the constructive answer." It was a curious way to pray, but it was most effective, for suddenly I got a flash of thought in my mind. And, as we raised our heads after the prayer, he asked, "Did you get anything?"

"Yes," I answered, "I got this: Is what you are intending to do right?"

"What do you mean, 'right'?" he said. "Morally right," I told him. "Ethically right, spiritually right."

He flushed a bit and sat silently; then he said, "I'll admit that's why I wanted you to pray with me. I have been wanting to do something and I just had a sneaking feeling that it wasn't exactly on the up and up. I felt you might get the truth about it. Now, I know what I should do." He never did tell me exactly what his problem was. That wasn't necessary.

It was an impressive demonstration of the fact that two people can efficiently function together in asking God's guidance on the simple basis of spiritual fellowship. Such practice brings right and truth to bear on decisions which, of course, is the surest way to have them turn out right.

Such decisions shouldn't be hurried, and the answer doesn't always come as quickly as in this instance. Often you will have to allow it to mature in your mind. Put it in God's hands and leave it there for a little while. Then sincerely practice emptying your mind and allow it to fill with the wisdom which God gives to those who humbly pray and who try to do the right thing always.

All living is a matter of making decisions, large and small. And successful living is a matter of making the right decisions. It is so easy to fall into the tragic habit of making decisions on too low a level, without sufficient guidance. When you do this, you are likely to have a high proportion of wrong decisions.

But if you make all your decisions on the highest level, the level on which you ask the guidance of God and receive His wisdom, then your decisions reach a high proportion of rightness.

Martini Diminutive by Sylvan Rich

COOL AND COMFORTABLE

Fashions Are Scaled To Flatter 'Tiny Miss'

Miss "Five-foot-five and under" has a real friend in designer Sylvan Rich who creates truly flattering clothes for women of below-average height, shorter waists and fuller hips. This easy-to-make dress is a perfect example of his talent for scaling high fashion to Martini Diminutive proportions for the little woman.

Observe the lengthening line of the bodice, traced by rickrack trim; the darts gently shaping the figure through the mid-section; the skirt made of four gores, tapered to eliminate any bulk where it is softly gathered to the lowered waistline. The sleeves are brief and eased with gussets while the simple neckline is coolly cut in V's.

For luncheons and afternoon bridge on the club terrace, you'll enjoy wearing it all summer long, made in one of the beautiful new cottons and trimmed with gay rickrack or braid; in fall or silk crepe with satin or velvet ribbon trim, it will be a perfect late day dress for Fall.

This pattern is cut to DESIGNER MEASUREMENTS, not Standard Pattern Measurements. Size 10, bust 34, waist 24, hips 35 inches. Size 12, bust 35, waist 25 hips 36 inches. Size 14, bust 36 1/2, waist 26, hips 37 1/2 inches. Size 16, bust 38, waist 28, hips 39 inches. Size 18, bust 40, waist 31, hips 41 inches.

Size 12 requires 5 1/4 yards of 36-inch material for dress and 1/4 yard of 25-inch material for interfacing. To order Pattern No. 1226, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P.O. Box 555, G.P.O. Dept. B-5, New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail handling 25-cents extra. American Designer Pattern Booklet No. 11 is available for 25 cents. If paying by check or money order, make it payable to Spadea Syndicate, Inc. and add 4 cents for handling.

Safety Council Has Variety Program

A program of tap dances and music was the entertainment for members of the T&P Ladies Safety Council Thursday when they met at the Settles Hotel.

Karen Derryberry sang "Sincerely"; Joanna Boyd danced; David Derryberry sang "Jesus Loves Little Children" and "Jesus Loves Me"; Ruth Ann Woertendyke, pianist, played "Maiden's Wish" and "Minuet" from "Don Juan." Lynn Boyd sang "Let Me Go, Lover" and "A Little Love." Mrs. C. A. Boyd accompanied them.

Mrs. H. W. McCandless spoke to the group, using as her subject, "Signs of Life." Mrs. J. H. Webb won the special prize. Hostesses, Mrs. L. A. Webb and Mrs. L. A. Griffith, served refreshments to 34, including the following guests, H. L. Gahman, road foreman, Mrs. Newell Derryberry, Mrs. H. D. Woertendyke and Mrs. M. C. Boyd.

Quick Snack News

Want a quick snack to serve with a tomato juice cocktail? Mix equal parts of butter or margarine and finely grated Romano cheese; the cheese is now available in wedge-shaped portions in most food markets and can be grated at home. Spread the mixture on slices of bread, sprinkle with paprika and toast in a hot oven or under the broiler; cut each slice of bread into three long strips and serve at once.

Cook-Weaver Marriage Solemnized In Ackerly

In an informal double ring ceremony Thursday night at 7 p.m., Margie Cook and Ray Weaver were married.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cook, Ackerly, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ella Weaver, Lamesa.

The Rev. J. Roy Haynes, pastor of the Ackerly Baptist Church, read the vows before an altar of large palm leaves tied with white ribbons and large wedding bells in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride wore a street-length blue antique taffeta dress that had a round neckline, decorated with pearls. Her accessories were blue shoes and bag, white hat, gloves and white carnation corsage. For something old, she wore a necklace and also a penny in her shoe for luck.

Sister of the bridegroom, Fern Weaver of Lamesa, was the maid of honor. She wore a pink dress with blue accessories and white carnations.

James Cook, brother of the bride, served as best man and usher. Debbie Gregg, niece of the bride, was ring bearer.

The reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth over gold with a centerpiece of dahlias. The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with green and gold and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The refreshments were served by Mrs. Tommy Jackson, cousin of the groom, Jane Cook, sister of the groom, Mrs. Bill Gregg, sister of the bride, and Miss Weaver.

For a short wedding trip, the bride chose as her traveling costume a grey linen suit with red accessories. Mrs. H. D. Woertendyke and Mrs. M. C. Boyd. The Cooks will make their home at 409 Gregg. He is employed with the Cooper Construction Company at Webb Air Force Base.

The bride is a graduate of Ackerly High School and is presently employed by the First National Bank in Big Spring.

A graduate of Ackerly High School, the bridegroom was all-district in football and basketball. Out-of-town wedding guests included Mrs. C. J. Bailey and family, Stephenville; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Rasberry, Alexandria, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Jackson and Brenda, Mrs. J. B. McNeil, all of Andrews; Francis Davis, Mr. and Mrs. James Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wood and family, Mrs. Don Rasberry, Mrs. Walter Barbie, Loretta Hinson, all of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Webb Weaver and Robert, Carolyn McMullen, Mrs. Ella Weaver and Fern, Mrs. Noel Dedman and son, all of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. John Cook and family of Post.

Ens. and Mrs. John F. Brown are guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Cook, 1611 Main. They are en route to Oceanla, Va., where he will assume his duties in the Naval Air Reserve on Aug. 1. Mrs. Brown is the former June Cook.

Marlon's Viewpoint

Hollywood Beauty columnist Lydia Lane interviews Marlon Brando and learns his ideas on beauty. "There is something beautiful about every woman," the star of Samuel Goldwyn's new "Guys and Dolls" says.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Marlon Brando Gives His Views On Girls

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—Academy Award winner Marlon Brando is Hollywood's and New York's most eligible bachelor. The qualities that have won him this honor have been the subject of much discussion in Hollywood circles.
"He's brilliant and stimulating," one of his recent dates told me. "I always feel I'm learning something when I'm with Marlon."
Another explains it this way. "He's completely honest. You know exactly where you stand with him—there isn't a phony bone in his body."
I wondered what the other side of the picture would look like. I decided to find out what this popular young man had to say about the type of women who appealed to him.
I found Marlon on the "Guys and Dolls" set just as they were breaking for lunch.
"Are you a gentleman who prefers blondes?" was my first question as we walked across the lot to the commissary.
"The color of a woman's hair is not important," Marlon said. "It's how she makes me feel."
"You can narrow it down more than that," I coaxed.
"He was silent for a moment. "You can find many girls with perfect figures but one who has an intelligent and interesting expression is more intriguing," he said.
"In America the accent is placed too heavily on external beauty and far too lightly on inner beauty. The false standards set up by advertising have the women here all confused. Today a woman who does not have obviously regular features or a large bosom is made to feel that she is a failure."
"The couturier influence bullies a woman into buying new clothes for fear of being labeled out-of-style. Conformity is made the measure of desirability and I believe this is wrong."
"Taste should be examined and valued in relation to the individual. I wish women would have the courage to wear what they like and what is comfortable rather than let themselves be dictated to this way."
"When you say that we in America emphasize externals, do you imply that it's different in other countries?" I asked.
"I think so," Marlon replied. "European girls tend to mature more quickly. They have to face the realities of life more sharply and youth comes into maturity with more realistic appraisal of life and a truer sense of values. This tends to give European women a more reserved quality—a kind of elegance which I find very attractive. These women have a familiarity with international topics and their knowledge gives them style."
I asked Marlon to name some of the most beautiful women he has known.
"When I think of great beauty, I have to think of great personality," he said as he lit my cigarette. "And this combination is difficult to find. External beauty, devoid of other qualities, is very common. Greta Garbo. There is enduring beauty. She has delicacy and subtlety in her expression. There is a gentleness of form contrasted with severity of line."
He searched silently for another example. "Madame Pandit's beauty is contained in her attitude toward life. She has a dignity and spiritual quality not uncommon in India," he said seriously.
I wanted to know what he thought about beauty which appealed to our other senses.
"The world of odors has great power to appeal or repel. I dislike the odor of tobacco on a woman's breath, for example," he admitted.
Marlon has definite ideas about the kind of perfume he likes on a woman. He dislikes the heavy, exotic scents; prefers the lighter,

Dear Jayhawkers,
I have a little college news for you this week, but first I'd like to talk to you about something that's more important to each of us.
Since our early childhood we have repeatedly been drilled with the scouting motto "Be Prepared." I'm afraid, however, that some of us have come to take the phrase for granted in that we say it, but often fail to put it into practice.
Every boy and girl, man and woman, above the age of 14 now has the opportunity to carry out this motto to the greatest extent. This may be achieved by each of us volunteering for the Ground Observer Corps. You have probably read or heard what this organization is and what it is for.
Although our country is equipped with extensive radar systems, radar is a machine and therefore has faults for this reason. Ground Observer Corps are being set up over the nation to protect our country from an air attack.
This plan trains civilians to serve in the observer posts on schedules planned by the amount of spare time each one can give. Students who plan to attend college soon may train here, and transfer their services when they leave.
Those of you who have taken any government courses at HCJC are sure to remember the statement: "For each right you have, you have a duty to perform; if you fail to do your duty, you will lose your rights." Your rights are freedom and peace; your duty is to defend these rights in every way possible. Will you do your duty, or will you risk losing your rights?
Phone either 4-4132 or 4-5811 if you wish to volunteer or secure additional information. Jayhawkers, let's do our part!
We were happy to hear that none of the Big Spring boys at the National Guard camp in Ft. Hood were injured in Thursday's storm.
Dee Phillips and Gloria Esmond were visitors in Big Spring last weekend. Dee is working for the State Highway Department in Lamesa.
Nancy Conway, who will become the bride of Dick Gray this afternoon, was honored with a shower Tuesday evening in the home of LaJuan Horton. Co-hostesses were Dee Phillips and Gloria Esmond and Frankie Marstrand.
Mr. B. M. Keese is attending a workshop in Stockton, California. You might drop by the SUB sometime and see the tremendous progress being made in its remodeling.
Mrs. Louise Brown left Friday or a vacation in Cleburne, Iowa Park, and Amarillo. Mrs. Beulah Johnson will begin her vacation tomorrow. She plans to visit in West Plains, Mo.

Myrna Talley is spending this weekend visiting in Fort Worth.
A good turnout is expected for the Public Relations Course to be offered at HCJC July 19-22.
John Curtis and Toni Barron came by the stand to see me Thursday shortly before John returned to Denver City. He was here visiting for two days.
Mary Ann Moore and Donnie Rowland have now set their wedding date for July 23 at 8:00 p.m. in the Trinity Baptist Church. No invitations are being mailed, but friends are expected to attend.
R. B. Hall is leading the singing for the Coahoma Baptist Church Revival which begins today and will last through this week.
Charlie Rosas was in the stand the other day. He is attending HCJC at night this summer. Charlie tells me that Phil Stovall is now a salesman for Tarbox Motor Company.
Practically all of the Jayhawkers are working this summer. Bobby Read is keeping books for the Colorado City Machine Shop; Jimmie Airhart and Charles Burks, like so many others, are helping their dads on the farm; Laura Holland makes a pretty little sales-lady for Woolworth's; Frank Hunt's theme song is "I've Been Workin' on the Railroad."
Bill Gilbert has been busy at the Herald; Nancy Milford is working with the County Cotton Acreage committee; Barbara Abbott is giving the other salesgirls at Lewis 5 & 10 a lot of competition, and Bob Patterson, Wiley Brown, and Lynn Laws are measuring cotton.
The Community Choir, under the direction of Orland Johnson, will meet next Thursday evening as a trial to determine whether interest in the project warrants its continuation or not. If you are interested in joining the organization, be at the college auditorium next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.
I have received a number of calls and letters this week, and they have certainly proved helpful. Keep them coming. In addition to college news, I would now like to have the names and addresses of those high school graduates who plan to attend HCJC this fall. Beginning in two or three weeks I will begin introducing you to several of the future Jayhawkers each week.

Vacation For Alexanders Adds Fun To Business
Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alexander and children have returned from a business and vacation trip to Colorado Springs and Cleveland, Ohio. In Colorado Springs, Alexander attended a steering committee meeting of the engineering and development division of the Asphalt Institute, while Mrs. Alexander and the children, Don, Mark, Ray, Beverly, Sherri and Mike, vacationed at a dude ranch at Sedalia. They enjoyed horseback riding, swimming, fishing and other sports. COSDEN CHATTER

Vacation For Alexanders Adds Fun To Business

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Brewer and James Wallace McDonald were married at Coahoma in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Warren, Friday at 7 p.m., with the Rev. Lin Crossman, pastor of the Coahoma Presbyterian Church officiating for the double-ring ceremony.
Mrs. Don Ferguson of Big Spring was matron of honor, and Woodrow B. Grant of Big Spring was best man.
The bride wore a ballerina length dress of white embroidered dimity fashioned with three-quarter sleeves, long bodice and sweetheart neckline. For something new and blue, she wore a necklace and earrings, a gift from the groom. She carried a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother for something old, and something borrowed was the 1900 Indian penny she wore in her shoe. It belongs to her aunt, Mrs. O. B. Warren. Her corsage was white carnations.
Mrs. Ferguson wore an aqua street length dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.
The bride's mother wore navy blue crepe with white accessories.
Mrs. McDonald is a graduate of Coahoma High School and attended Big Spring Business College. She is employed as bookkeeper for Beef Fields Gasoline Corp. Mr. McDonald attended schools in Coleman and Howard County Junior College and is employed as Credit and Collections Clerk at the State Hospital.
A reception was held immediately following the ceremony with Mrs. Warren serving. The couple left for a 10-day trip to Huixtlan, N. M., through Colorado, and to their destination, Rapid City, S. D.
Guests included the bride's son, Mike, Mrs. Woodrow B. Grant and Susie, Don Ferguson and Dale of Big Spring, Mrs. Crossman and Ardis, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Graham and Mastie Rae of Coahoma, and Mr. O. B. Warren.

Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. Eston Barbee are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marie Wallace, to Wayne K. Tiller, son of Mrs. E. E. Tiller of Midland. Wedding vows will be taken on Aug. 27, the date to be announced later.

Patsy Pollock Is Wed To Marion M. Casey

The home of the bride's parents was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Patsy Yvonne Pollock and Marion Milton Casey. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pollock of Lenora, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Casey, 409 Johnson.
A background of white gladioli in floor baskets and on the mantel was formed at the fireplace. Flanking this were candelabra holding white tapers, which were lighted by the bride's brothers, Darrell and Don Pollock.
The double ring ceremony was read by Lyle Price, minister of the Main Street Church of Christ. Preceding and during the rites, Mrs. Dudley McKaskle, pianist, played traditional wedding music.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a street-length dress of white lace, fashioned with a loose fitted bodice and full skirt. Tiny rhinestone buttons trimmed the front extending from the small round collar to the skirt. White accessories completed her costume, and she carried a white Bible topped with white roses.
A pin belonging to the maternal grandmother of the bridegroom was something old chosen by the bride. Her dress was something new, and she had borrowed earbobs from her aunt, Mrs. Charles Lebkowsky, Mrs. McKaskle provided a blue garter, which had a penny attached.
As matron of honor, Mrs. Bob Cox of Stanton wore a street-length dress of pale blue organdy over taffeta. Her flowers were white carnations in a corsage and her accessories were white.
Attending the groom as his best man was his brother, Billy E. Casey.
During the reception, which followed the wedding, the bridal couple received guests, assisted by their parents and their attendants. The table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with the three-tiered cake, decorated with white roses and a miniature bride and groom.
Jane Brown served the cake and LaRue Casey, sister of the bridegroom, served punch. Mrs. Ray P. Simpson of Stanton registered guests.
For a wedding trip to Monterrey, Mexico, Mrs. Casey wore a linen suit in a shrimp shade. Her boxy jacket had a trim of white pearl buttons and she chose white accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.
Upon their return to Big Spring, the couple will be at home at 1603B Lincoln.
The bride is a graduate of Stanton High School and is employed in the Maintenance Office at Webb Air Force Base.
The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and has attended Howard County Junior College and Abilene Christian College. He served three years in the Air Force. He is now assistant manager of White's Auto Stores in this city.
Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mrs. Ralph Skelton of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Pollock, Charlotte and George and Mrs. G. B. Pollock, all of Lubbock.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph B. Halfmann of St. Lawrence are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jean, of Midland, to Robert E. Connor, son of Mrs. James M. Connor and the late Mr. Connor of Dallas. The wedding will be held July 30 in St. Ann's Catholic Church.

Families Move Into And Out Of Forsan

Raymond and Ann Hughes of Midland have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Barton and Van.
Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Howard were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Abee in Andrews.
Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Cox of Sweetwater were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Moore and Mrs. Pauline Cox recently.

HI--TALK

By MARY SUE HALE

For six weeks, beginning July 19, Tommy Jo Williamson and Sandy Sloan will attend Camp Wana-ka, which is located in Colorado, 18 miles from Colorado Springs.

They will travel via the Burlington train lines to Colorado City, be met there by chartered buses and then taken to Camp Wana-ka.

The waterfront of this camp will be under the supervision of counselors holding senior lifesaving certificates. They will swim in an outdoor heated swimming pool; ride horseback, mountain climb and follow trails in the mountainous area. Music, drama, handicrafts and many sports are included in the program of Wana-ka.

Eddie Don Harris, winner of the Junior Golf Tournament held here Saturday, along with Frank Powell, Ronald McKenzie and Charles Johnson, second, third and fourth place winners respectively, represented Big Spring in the state playoffs held in Abilene Thursday and Friday.

Bill Gray and Ralph McLaughlin of the sponsoring Jaycees, accompanied them to Abilene Wednesday.

In the Monday Jaycees meeting, Eddie Don was presented a plaque in addition to having his name engraved on the revolving trophy that some lucky junior tournament winner will receive after holding the title of "champ" for three years.

Beverly Edwards, salutatorian of the 1954 BSIS graduating class, placed fifty from the top of the Dean's honor list at Wayland College in Plainview where she is attending. Beverly plans to make teaching her profession following graduation from college.

YMCA swimming instructors, including Nancy Smith, Clara Freeman, Nancy Pitman, Carolyn Miller, Sue Barnes, Lou Ann White, Bettie Anderson, Sue Boykin, Pat Johnson, Glenda Adams, and Linda Mason, are devoting the time between 10 and 11 a.m. to the instruction of about 20 crippled children for the further use of disabled limbs and muscles. They work in the heated water of the Westward-Ho Motel swimming pool.

The program has expanded considerably since its start and much progress is being made by the crippled children. Local merchants and organizations have donated time, transportation to and from the pool for the children, and equipment for use in this worthy project.

Kay Wilcox's cousin, Margey Jackson of Odessa, has been visiting her for three days this week.

The young people of the First Presbyterian Church attended a work party at the church with the task of painting a ping pong table the job in mind. Refreshments of brownies and ice cream were served to about 10.

Pudgie Gray's family is planning to do quite a bit of camping out in the wide open spaces of Colorado and New Mexico this week. Anne Mary came down from NTS-CT to go along. Having left yesterday, they expect to return in about a week.

Sharon McRee visited friends in Abilene Wednesday of this week and returned to Big Spring Wednesday evening.

Rand Price of Westlake, La. has been visiting relatives here and will remain in Big Spring for about five weeks. Rand is 17, 6' 5", and was named both all-state football and basketball player prior to his graduation from high school this spring.

From all reports received, Marlene Mann and Margaret Fryar are enjoying the Spanish Workshop in Monterrey, Mexico. They spend the larger part of the mornings in the Spanish classroom, but their afternoons are free to swim, shop and get acquainted with other attending students.

The organization of a Community Band is under way here with Jerry Robinson one of the organizers. After some encouragement from his mother, Mrs. Edith Robinson, he went to work on this project with his music teacher, Mrs. J. E. Hardesty, supplying names of people possibly interested in such an organization.

The group, consisting partly of Charlie McCarty, Don Lovelace, Billy Evans, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Evans, had their first meeting at the YMCA building Tuesday evening.

The next meeting is scheduled to be at the Chamber of Commerce at 7:00 p.m. Everyone interested in music is cordially invited to come as this organization is still in its infancy.

Sherry Chastel has exchanged Big Spring for Midland as a place of residence, since she is moving tomorrow and will live at 202 Princeton there.

Two and a half thrilling days of sight-seeing were enjoyed by the YMCA group who sailed from that city Thursday. Kendra McGibbon called her mother Wednesday evening to tell her a few things about the trip thus far . . . looking over Radio City, Coney Island, the Statue of Liberty and many other things far too numerous to mention had filled their time up to then. The group has big plans for their tour through England, Denmark, Italy, Switzerland, Holland, France and Germany.

Miss Coleen Slaughter and Mrs. Betty Lou Hatfield have been sending back reports about their interesting trip in Europe. Cards and letters have been received from Barcelona, Spain; Rome, Italy; and Paris, France. They sailed from New York on June 11 aboard the SS Roma and have plans of being overseas for about six weeks.

The Negro work at the Lakeview School is the most all-around, worthwhile and definite YMCA program thus far up into effect in Big Spring," stated Mr. Grover Good, general secretary of the Y. Richard Deats, a recreational director of the YMCA for the summer, is in charge of this group. The young people of the Wesley Methodist Church sponsored a program Thursday evening where about 80 young people participated in a balanced program. The young people have socials similar to the ones our HI-Y and Tri-HI-Y enjoy during the school months.

Perhaps you have met one or two of the six new kids we will be attending school with, come fall. The ones the information is about have moved here during June and in July this far.

Celia Harris, who lives at 406 Washington Place and moved here from Abilene, is 5' 4 1/2" tall and has blonde hair and blue eyes. She is a great football and baseball fan and enjoys playing tennis and swimming.

Nelda Jean Stewart lives at 1944 Stadium and is 15 years old. She will be a BSIS sophomore next fall and is planning to do quite a bit of volleyball playing as well as sing in the choir. Nelda moved here from Sweetwater, has short brown hair, brown eyes, and is 5' 4".

Donnie Smith is 14 years old and will be a 9th grader next year. He has blue eyes and particularly enjoys all kinds of sports. He is 5' 5", has brown hair and blue eyes. Leon Clark lives at 904 Ayford and is 16 years old. He will be a senior next year and moved here from Seminole, Texas. A three-year FFA member, he held the district office of vice president in the organization last year. He has plans for running track next year and is now playing in the Teen Age Baseball League. Leon is 5' 11", has blue eyes and brown hair.

We will have a new sophomore in BSIS next year who is Gay Bownds, 5' 4", with brown hair and blue eyes. Gay, who moved here from Dallas July 1, lives at 1509 Eleventh Place. She plays the piano and sang in the Highland Park Choir last year, where she attended school.

Mary Nell Bownds, Gay's big sister, is 18 and will attend Abilene Christian College this fall. She likes to play tennis, is 5' 8", and has blue eyes and blonde hair. Following graduation from college, she has plans of being a school teacher.

Engagement Told Of Westbrook Girl

WESTBROOK—Mrs. Orlean Cook is announcing the engagement and approaching a marriage of her daughter, Sue, to Donald Gressett, of Westbrook.

Vows will be taken Aug. 5 at the First Baptist Church. The bride-elect is a graduate of the local high school and attended Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

The prospective bridegroom is also a Westbrook High School graduate. He was graduated from Texas Tech and is a teacher in the public schools of Silver, where the couple will live.

'Love Me Or Leave Me'

Doris Day Is Star Of Color, CinemaScope Picture At Ritz

Doris Day as Ruth Etting and James Cagney as Marty ("The Gimp") Snyder star in the biographical film, "Love Me or Leave Me." The CinemaScope and color picture starts today at the Ritz.

Back in the gay 1920's, songbird Ruth Etting was a well known name to just about everyone. Her spectacular career started in a Chicago dime-a-dance hall. During the golden age of jazz, Ruth dreamed of the big lights and success. Then into her life stepped "The Gimp" who was impressed by her personality.

The Gimp convinced Ruth that he should be her manager and she agreed. Under his guidance, Ruth climbed to success in radio, on records, in the Zeigfield Folies, and finally to Hollywood. Every move of her upward climb was carefully plotted by the Gimp who was devoted to her. He battled fearlessly over each contract she signed, getting the best deal possible.

Finally they were married which would have been the end of a perfect love story, except it didn't end there. Johnny Alderman, (played by Cameron Mitchell), was Ruth's pianist and secretly in love with her. When she married, Alderman found it almost impossible to break the hold which the Gimp had on her.

Ruth realized one day that it is really Alderman whom she loved, and she asked Marty for a divorce.

His jealousy got the better of him and he shot Alderman. The film draws to a close when the pair are united after Alderman has recuperated.

Doris Day is her usual best in this picture. She is the ideal choice for the part of the sweetheart of the 20's. She isn't new to this type of role either. Remember the picture, "I'll See You in My Dreams." It was a biographical treatment of Grace Kahn, another songbird of the jazz era. Ruth Etting and Grace Kahn were responsible for the two most popular songs of the 20's. They were also close friends.

Cagney plays a type of role that he knows best, a bull-headed, jealous, and domineering promoter. There are some excellent songs in this picture. The title song "Love Me or Leave Me" is perhaps the best but others may be as good. "I'll Never Stop Loving You," "It All Depends on You," "You Made Me Love You," and "Mean To Me" are just a few.

The musical arrangements for the picture were made by Percy Faith especially for Doris Day. The singer's wardrobe consists of dresses reminiscent of an earlier era and cost approximately $40,000.

'Cinerama Holiday' Setting Records

When the new, the second Cinerama production, "Cinerama Holiday," opened in the first few Cinerama theaters, there was much speculation by critics and press as to whether it could equal the audience popularity and boxoffice grosses established by the first attraction, "This Is Cinerama."

The Melba Theater, Dallas, opened "Cinerama Holiday" April 27 after a ten-month run of "This Is Cinerama." Results to date indicate that "Cinerama Holiday" is an even more popular entertainment, as the theatre has already played to more than 100,000 "Cinerama Holiday" patrons, and advance ticket orders reaching into October far exceed in volume last year's record breaking orders for "This Is Cinerama."

Glamor Girls Star In 'Millionaire' Film

Three of Hollywood's most glamorous girls will team up to tell you just "How to Marry a Millionaire" tonight and tomorrow night at the Terrace Drive-In.

Marilyn Monroe, Betty Grable and Lauren Bacall are a group of lovelies who decide they want a rich husband and are ready to use all their charms to get him.

Filed in CinemaScope, the film also stars, William Powell, Rory Calhoun, Cameron Mitchell and David Wayne.

'Untamed' Starts At Jet Thursday Night

"Untamed," filmed in the mysteries of the dark continent, starring Tyrone Power and Susan Hayward will be shown at the Jet Drive-In, Thursday and Friday.

Backed up by Richard Egan and sultry Rita Moreno, this CinemaScope production reveals the wild beauty of Africa, along with the trouble of those who try to conquer it.

One of the most exciting scenes is when thousands of screaming Zulus attack a caravan of settlers.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Glenn Coates

The exceptionally good films on the "Playbill" this week are an indication of the pictures that will be coming to Big Spring for the remainder of the summer. Elsewhere on this page is a list of some of the better pictures that have been booked into the Ritz, although a definite date for their showings has not been decided as yet.

Manager Ike Robb said the best in motion picture entertainment would be shown here as early as he can get them. One example of this was the Southwestern Premier of "Lady and the Tramp" at the Ritz last week.

The dancing rage today is something called "bop" or "mambo." A few years ago, everyone was "jitterbugging." These dances may be tricky, but it is doubtful if they have anything on some of the steps that were popular 20-30 years ago.

The rage in dance steps then were such things as the "Charleston," the "Big Apple," and the "Black Bottom." Parts of these latter dance steps can be seen in the current offering at the Ritz, "Love Me or Leave Me."

After a little consideration, you might not think these modern dances so difficult after all.

I have never seen a more humorous cartoon feature than UPA's "Mister Magoo" series. This is perhaps one of the keenest satires on the "American-way-of-life" currently available. For no matter how wrong Magoo may be in drawing his conclusions, he always comes out all right in the end.

'Hell's Island' Is State Feature

John Payne and the beautiful starlet, Mary Murphy, are co-stars in "Hell's Island" at the State today. Filmed in VistaVision and Technicolor, the mystery picture is concerned with a missing ruby, valued at thousands of dollars.

Payne plays a former district attorney, down on his luck, financially. He takes a job from a ruthless paralytic to recover the missing gem. In his search, Payne finds that Mary Murphy, a girl who had jilted him to marry a wealthy man, is also looking for the ruby. She confesses that she still loves him in spite of her marriage to another man.

Once convinced, Payne sets out to a dangerous island penal colony to rescue Mary's husband, who is serving a sentence for murder. Before the ruby is found, numerous persons die and Payne has his hands full trying to locate the jewel and solve the murders at the same time.

This adventure thriller is Mary's first full starring role and probably the first of many. She combines breathless beauty with an easy manner of acting. The picture plays through Monday.

Western At State

"Seminole Uprising" starring George Montgomery, with Karin Booth, will be presented at the State Saturday only.

The Technicolor film tells a story of the early trouble between the cavalry and the Indians. In this one, a Seminole outlaw Indian is breaking terror and bloodshed on the white settlers. Montgomery has the unenviable job of bringing him in.

The film is based on the best-selling novel, "Bugle Wake" by Curt Brandon.

Walt Disney Film Here At Terrace

"The Living Desert," Walt Disney's first true life adventure picture, will be at the Terrace for a return engagement Thursday and Friday. The educational and interesting film is printed in Technicolor.

Some of the more exciting scenes picture battles between javelinas and a bobcat, a red-tailed hawk and a rattlesnake, a kangaroo rat and a sidewinder snake, a tarantula and a Pelepepe wasp, and two tortoises. These are the common everyday happenings in the desert and they are brought to the screen in remarkable reality.

"Seven Little Foys" with Bob Hope.
 "Not As A Stranger" with Olivia and Frank Sinatra.
 "Violent Saturday" with Victor Mature.
 "Daddy Longlegs" with Fred Astaire.
 "Assassin" with Richard Todd.
 "Seven Year Itch" with Marilyn Monroe and Tom Ewell.
 "Escape To Burma" with Barbara Stanwyck.

Crawford, Ford In Drive-In Film

Glenn Ford, Gloria Grahame, and Broderick Crawford combine talents to make "Human Desire" a suspenseful and dramatic murder mystery. The picture is taken from the novel by Emilia Zola.

Crawford plays the jealous husband of Gloria and Ford plays the third that makes a crowd. Crawford playfully beats up Gloria once to find out about her secret lover and then he kills the culprit. But Ford is too smart for Crawford and stays away after he finds out the danger of a clandestine love affair.

The film plays at the Terrace Saturday.

Coonskins Vs. Beans For College Style

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A "great debate" echoes across the Trinity University campus: "Should freshmen wear coonskin caps?"

The question was sparked by the Dave Crockett craze. Around these parts Dave looms larger than dim legend.

The Trinity campus is just a rifle's shot northwest of the Alamo, that rustic Spanish mission where the Texas hero and "King of the Wild Frontier" made his famous last stand in 1836 as Texas fought for independence from Mexico.

Some Trinity upperclassmen think it might be nice for freshmen this fall to pass up the traditional beanies for coonskin caps. They made the suggestion at a planning session for "Fish Week," a period early in the fall when first-year students are taught the facts of college life.

They touched off a word battle in the summer student body, about half the fall campus population.

"Kid stuff," say opponents of the coonskin beanie. Others call the idea, "Silly, Corny." Some have even said: "For the birds." Others ask, "What's wrong with the beanie?"

The pro-coonskin crowd counters by pointing to current efforts by a special Chamber of Commerce committee to promote "Dave Crockett time in San Antonio."

According to Leon Taylor of the Trinity public relations office, the committee has urged businessmen and institutions to whip it up for Davy.

"We ought to do into this patriotic theme," says one coonskiner, who adds that requiring Trinity freshmen to wear the Crockett headgear will be "fun," "different," and "in keeping with the blunder spirit of 87-year-old Trinity."

It wasn't known when the argument will be settled. Classes are continuing.

Clark Gable, Susan Hayward Star In 'Soldier Of Fortune'

Clark Gable and Susan Hayward are teamed together in an exciting adventure film at the Ritz starting Wednesday. "Soldier of Fortune" is the picture and it was filmed entirely in Hong Kong, where the action takes place. The Cinema-Scope and color film was taken from the book of the same name, written by Ernest K. Gann. Gann was also the author of "High and the Mighty."

Susan Hayward plays a woman in search of her husband in China. She is told by the authorities that her husband is a prisoner in Red China and impossible to contact. She doesn't give up, however, and makes an effort to reach him. These efforts prove futile, and she has to fall back on the aid of Gable. Clark Gable plays a gentleman adventurer, a "soldier of fortune," who deserted from the U.S. Navy during the war to begin a smuggling racket with the Red Chinese. This proves very profitable, but he falls in love with Susan. She convinces him that he should make an attempt to rescue her husband from the Communists.

With his high-powered launch, Gable makes the trip inland to Susan's husband and successfully sets him free. When the husband and Susan are re-united, they find that their love is not what it had once been. Exit husband, and enter Gable.

and fast action drama. This is Gable's first acting assignment since he became a free-lance actor. He is now taking only parts he wants to act, with no permanent contract at any studio.

Other stars in the picture are Michael Rennie, Gene Barry, and Anna Sten. The film plays through Saturday.

Beckett Class Has Vacation Luncheon

A vacation scene decorated the table for the Berta Beckett Sunday School Class luncheon Thursday at the First Baptist Church. Made by Mrs. W. R. Douglass, it featured sea shells and palm trees around a mirror. Tiny swans and ducks "swam" on the "water," and small figurines "sunbathed" in sand around it.

The opening prayer was given by Mrs. J. H. Greene. The devotion was brought by Mrs. G. A. Brown, who chose as her topic, "Truth." Mrs. Brown closed her talk with a prayer.

During the business meeting reports were heard from various officers and committee chairmen.

3 Couples Begin World Walk

NOTTINGHAM, England (U)—Six young people set out from this Robin Hood habitat Friday for a walk—around the world. They expect it will take them five years.

The sextet—three men and three girls—call themselves "the Overlanders."

They were dressed alike in blue jeans and jackets, each carrying a knapsack weighing 65 pounds. They have a total of only 50 pounds—$144—in their jeans but hope to pay their way most of the trip by working. They've already lined up temporary jobs on Italian farms and Malayan rubber plantations.

Speaking for the group, 22-year-old Geoffrey Whittaker said they are calling their trip "a five-year plan for six sensible people."

As a side trip, they expect to take a bus ride across Africa's Sahara Desert and wind up having tea atop Capetown's Table Mountain.

Walking with Whittaker are Harry Harrison, 21; Bill Youens, 18; Betty Shaw, 26; Sheila Woodward, 18, and Pat Buggins, 20.

Our Story: THE HUNT WAS A SUCCESS, BUT PRINCE VALIANT RETURNED ON A STRETCHER. NO BONES WERE BROKEN BY THE CHARGE OF THE GREAT BULL AUROCH, BUT HE WILL BE LAME FOR WEEKS.

THE TWO CAPTIVES SHOW GREAT EXCITEMENT AT THE SIGHT OF ALL THE METAL OBJECTS. NEITHER GOLD NOR JEWELS INTERESTS THEM, ONLY IRON.

THEIR DRESS AND WEAPONS INDICATE THAT THEY ARE HUNTERS. BY SIGNS VAL TELLS THEM HE WILL EXCHANGE ARROWHEADS, KNIVES OR AXES FOR MEAT, AND SETS THEM FREE.

NEXT EVENING SEVERAL OF THESE PRIMITIVE SWAMP-DWELLERS COME TO THE SHIPS LADEN WITH GAME, AND SHOUT FOR JOY AT THEIR REWARDS.

TRADE IS BRISK, GAME PLENTIFUL, SO THEY BUILD SMOKEHOUSES AND DRYING RACKS TO PRESERVE ENOUGH FOR THE HOMEWARD JOURNEY.

VAL IS IMPATIENT TO COMPLETE THEIR JOURNEY NORTHWARD BEFORE WINTER STORMS MAKE THE WAY PERILOUS. BUT NOW THEY ARE FAR UP THE DNIEPER RIVER, THE CURRENT INCREASES AND THEY ENCOUNTER RIFFLES AND RAPIDS.

AT LAST THEY ARRIVE AT THE 'GREAT PORTAGE' AND THE HARDEST PART OF THEIR JOURNEY LIES BEFORE THEM.

AS YOU WERE SAYING...

How I Discovered the Best Hour of the Day

WITH TWO young children to raise, a house to keep clean, meals to prepare, and a recently purchased business which I help my husband manage, I found that I hadn't a minute to call my own. Not long ago I discovered a simple solution. I set the alarm to go off an hour before the rest of the family wakes up. Then, during the freshest, most beautiful part of the day, I have 60 minutes to spend as I choose.

Some mornings I take a cup of coffee, go out in the yard, and just sit watching the day "wake up." Often I write, read, or think through some pressing problem.

That early-morning hour has given new meaning to my whole day. In fact, I'm seriously considering setting the alarm to give me an extra 30 minutes.—Mrs. Vannah Taylor, Florence, Ala.

Should We Stop Erecting Statues?

I am always reading of monuments being erected here and there for this and that hero. Now don't get me wrong. I believe we should memorialize our outstanding soldiers and statesmen. But can't we do it in a different way?

Most monuments cost a great deal and serve no practical purpose. Yes, they are often great works of art, but why not use this money to build something useful as well as beautiful?

I don't believe there is a city or town in the United States that can't use another building. The structure doesn't have to be large. In place of a small monument, build a small one-room building and start a museum. If more money is available, build a larger building to be used as a hobby shop, skating rink, or dancing center for the town's youth.

Don't you believe our heroes—if they were alive—would prefer to see such a practical living memorial created in their honor, instead of a cold bronze statue?—Mrs. Edward Heinz, Babbitt, Nev.

Knock on Any Door

During an average day's work, I call on five or six homes and meet the residents. In the course of our conversations, I learn many things about people, their family lives, customs, and hobbies. When I return home each day, I realize how much richer I am because of these calls.

Sometimes I'll have a package of rare flower seeds given to me, or a slip from a pretty plant, or a new recipe for an especially nice dish. Other times I'll be invited to taste some newly baked cake or bread.

With each call I make, I appreciate more and more how wonderful people really are.—Mrs. C. C. B., South Plainfield, N. J.

Parents Key to Delinquency Problem

"Juvenile delinquency is rooted in parental delinquency," says FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover. Because this is so, we can't do much to reform delinquent teen-agers unless we can get their parents to mend their own erring ways. In many towns teen-agers themselves have set up organizations to help stamp out juvenile delinquency. This is a great step forward, but until parents start setting the right example for their youngsters, we will always have the juvenile problem.—Mrs. R. L. Bohon, Taylor, Mo.

How to Win Friends and Newspaperboys

I recently moved into a somewhat exclusive neighborhood. Not knowing anyone, I wondered just how friendly the people might be. This incident convinced me:

I was at a garden-club meeting and overheard a lady complaining about her newspaper delivery. "With that new boy on this route," she said, "I don't get my paper until after dark. I have to search for it among the shrubs and when I find it, I have to get a knife to cut all the wrapping cord he winds around it. It's a nuisance!"

Several weeks later I sat in on another discussion about her newspaperboy. "How is your newspaper delivery these days?" her friend asked.

"It's the most amazing thing," she replied. "That sweet boy puts my paper in the mailbox now, and he ties the cord in a bow and leaves the mailbox open a little so I can tell if he's been by. Did you tell him what I said?"

"No," replied her friend, "I told him you said he was the nicest paperboy you ever had."—Mrs. J. L., Tuscaloosa, Ala.

I was just thinking...

... I'M THE RESULT of a great-grandmother in seven petticoats and a grandfather who found the moonlight sad.

When I was born, I became the present culmination of a gaunt old woman who sometimes ate beans from the can. In my bones and sinews are the distant legacy of a one-armed soldier who wore Confederate gray and sleeps under a willow tree somewhere I never saw.

In my blood is the pulse of a Kentucky hill dweller and a Danish peasant. There is the faint scent about me of a pipe stuffed with cigar clippings and a tintype of a stiff-starched woman looking from the corner of her cold eyes.

The shape of my body was once corseted in whalebone and a mouth like mine once sang "Barbara Allen" in a cabin.

Out of my dreams rises the miasma of a town I have never known and the cobblestones of streets I have never walked. In my hair is the sea spray of a Viking voyage and my fingers are sensitive to the ancient touch of linsey woolsey and fine silk.

I am a boy who was too quick a mind and died too soon a death. I am the young doctor who drowned and the old man who lives in bitterness. I am the infant who remains frozen forever in the pastry perfection of a christening robe and the child who ran naked in the spring-time into the icy delight of Beed's Lake.

In me there is the faded carpet covered with cabbage roses and the slick prickle of the horsehair sofa. In my nostrils is the pungent scent of horse manure and musty farmhouses and the hot warmth of coffee and fresh bread.

And I am the sweet smell of morning in the kitchen and the old man praying aloud and the blind woman by the crystal set and the buck-toothed boy on the tractor.

On me are the marks of a thousand minds and bodies. I am part of a procession which can neither begin nor end with me. For each of us there is this heritage of heart and hand.

How strange and wonderful it is to be the keeper of a temple.

Patty Johnson

Bickering and fighting are a part of growing up together; the wise parent watches to see that they don't get out of hand.

BROTHERLY LOVE is just a myth—if you judge by all the teasing and quarreling that go on among brothers and sisters as they are growing up together.

But frequent squabbling, even name-calling and fist-cuffs, are mostly what you might call "topsoil." Underneath is the rich loam of loyalty, common interests, and backgrounds which make a fertile seedbed for planting and cultivating happy relationships among our offspring.

Of course, some friction is unavoidable. A complete absence of open rivalries and bickering doesn't necessarily indicate the healthiest of situations. But if your home is the scene of constant wrangling, you may wonder if all the disagreements don't do real damage.

Mother and father often read completely different meanings into their children's behavior toward each other. This difference, added to all the others common in marriage, can sometimes put parents at loggerheads.

Take as an example Frank and Lil Thorsen, who have a 13-year-old daughter, Trudie, as well as two boys, Wally, who is eight, and Dan, ten. Here's what Lil has to say:

"I'm for peace in the family. The everlasting feuding that goes on the minute our boys think I can't hear them makes me sick."

Trudie's "holier than thou" attitude toward her brothers is typical of teen-age girls. Scorning the teasing boys is her way of reassuring herself that she is

by Edith G. Neisser, author of "Brothers and Sisters"

"When Wally was small, he adored his sister and Trudie was like a little mother to him. Trudie is a good girl and I've been able to teach her, at least, that getting angry is wrong and that you must control your temper.

along after Dan and the older boys. He tries to keep up with them even though they give him a hard time. Besides, although Wally's in the third grade, he reads no better than a first grader.

"Some days my heart aches for Wally. I was the youngest child, too, and I know how it feels to be tripped up every time you walk across a room, to have everything you say made fun of until you're afraid to open your mouth.

"The worst of it is that my husband and I get to arguing almost as badly as the children when we try to talk about their behavior. Frank keeps saying I'm making softies out of Dan and Wally, and he has a strange attitude toward our daughter, too."

How father sees it

On the other hand, here's the viewpoint of Mr. Thorsen:

"Lil worries too much about the fighting our boys do. The important thing is that they learn to fight fair, and I'm teaching them to do that. Wally's performance in school certainly doesn't make him look like any ball of fire, but they don't teach kids to apply themselves these days.

"If Lil wants something to worry about, she should take a good look at our daughter. Trudie has always been pretty bossy with her brothers. I guess older sisters usually are—heaven knows mine was!

"I had expected that when Trudie reached the teens, she would overdo the lipstick and the boy friends, like other girls her age. But not our Trudie-prudie!

"And the way she carries on about her brothers, you'd think Miss Nicey-nice had never slammed a door or come to breakfast with her hair uncombed. The truth is that Trudie is a tiresome little prig and I don't blame the boys for putting angleworms in her dresser drawers. At least when they fight, it's honest, small-boy 'mad' coming out, and I say it's a lot healthier than always keeping your feelings under wraps."

It goes back a long way

As you can see, when the Thorsens talk about the way their children behave, both are influenced by their own feelings toward older sisters and brothers, carried over from childhood. Lil is more upset about her sons than she probably needs to be because she relives her own experience as the youngest child who was endlessly teased by the older ones. And Frank transfers to his daughter some of his own antagonism toward his older sister.

Lil's insistence that her children avoid any show of strong feelings is just as extreme as Frank's opinion that "the important thing is that they learn to fight fair." The emotional health of children will be improved if they understand there's nothing dangerous or "bad" about venting their feelings. But Frank would do better telling his sons that there are other—often better—ways to resolve differences than by a fight—even a fair one.

Lil might reduce the quarreling if she encouraged her children to "talk out" their resentments. Then, if she can calmly absorb what they say, she may find it easier to control what they do.

The child who is repeatedly told that anger is "wrong" may start feeling guilty, timid, and over-dependent. He'll be better able to cope with his

Parents can forestall trouble

As a parent, you may be able to improve relations among your youngsters if you watch to see what usually starts trouble and then try to forestall it. Children emulate older brothers and sisters, of course, but if Wally were encouraged to play with boys his own age instead of tagging after Dan, the brothers might get along better at home.

Wally's backwardness in reading may be due to discouragement and resentment that he can't keep up with Danny, whose school record is exceptional. His reading might improve if his parents and teachers praised the things he does well.

As for Trudie, her "holier than thou" attitude is typical of teen-age girls. Her scorn for her brothers is a way of reassuring herself that she is beyond such childish behavior.

Adolescent girls want to know that their fathers approve of them and their development into young ladies. If Frank Thorsen understood this need and the reason underlying his annoyance with Trudie, he might find it easier to give the affectionate encouragement Trudie needs to help her become a well-adjusted woman.

In listening to your children's arguments, in seeing the superior airs they sometimes put on, remember that they're not as serious to your offspring as they seem to you.

You'll help your youngsters most if you let them know you are glad that each one is a unique individual and that, come what may, you stand ready with the love and genuine interest each one needs as he grows up. If your child knows that, for all his faults, he still is loved and valued, he'll be more able to show love and respect for his brothers and sisters.

Adolescent girls like Trudie are eager for their fathers' approval of them as they grow and mature into young women.

Berries

at their best

One of the sweetest, most bountiful things about Summer is its vivid harvest of berries.

Gathered from your own bushes or from the heaped counters of the nearest market, berries in gay variety bring the color and taste of Summer to the table.

Blueberry Muffins

A quick and delicious solution to spark the menu for unexpected guests. The clever homemaker may choose to double the recipe and freeze some of the muffins.

Grease bottoms of 12 2½-in. muffin-pan wells.

Sort, rinse, drain, and set aside
1 cup fresh, ripe blueberries

Melt and set aside to cool
¼ cup butter or margarine

Sift together into a bowl
2 cups sifted flour
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Make a well in the center of the dry ingredients and set aside.

Blend thoroughly
1 egg, well beaten (until thick and piled softly)
1 cup milk

Blend in the melted butter or margarine.

Add liquid ingredients all at one time to dry ingredients. With not more than 25 strokes, quickly and lightly stir until dry ingredients are barely moistened. With final few strokes, blend in the blueberries. The batter will be lumpy and break from spoon. (Overmixing will cause tunnels in muffins.) Spoon out (cutting batter against side of bowl) enough batter at one time to fill each muffin-pan well two-thirds full. Place spoon in well and push batter off with another spoon or spatula. Fill any empty wells one-half full with water before placing pans in oven.

Bake at 425°F 20 to 25 min., or until muffins are an even golden brown.

Run spatula around inside edge of each muffin well and gently lift out muffin.

If serving is delayed, keep muffins warm by loosening them and tipping slightly in the pan wells. Cover with a clean towel. Keep in a warm place.

Cream Pie with Gooseberry Glaze

Prepare, bake, and set aside to cool
Pastry for 1-crust 9-in. pie (your favorite recipe or a mix)

For Filling—Sift together into top of a double boiler

¼ cup cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt

Stir in and blend thoroughly

Blend in

1 cup undiluted evaporated milk

Gradually add and stir in ¼ cup very hot water

Stirring gently and constantly, bring cornstarch mixture rapidly to boiling over direct heat and cook about 1 min., or until mixture begins to thicken. Place over simmering water. Cover and cook about 12 min., stirring 3 or 4 times. Vigorously stir about 3 tablespoons of hot mixture into

2 eggs, slightly beaten

Immediately blend into mixture in double boiler. Cook over simmering water 3 to 5 min. Stir slowly to keep mixture cooking evenly. Remove from simmering water. Stir in

1 teaspoon butter or margarine

¼ teaspoon vanilla extract

Cover and set filling aside to cool slightly, stirring occasionally; set into refrigerator to cool to lukewarm. Spoon the lukewarm filling into the cooled pastry shell and set in refrigerator while preparing the glaze.

For Gooseberry Glaze—Sort, stem and tail, rinse, and drain

2½ cups fresh gooseberries

Put ½ cup of the gooseberries in a small saucepan with

Cook over medium heat 3 to 5 min., or until tender.

Add gradually, while stirring constantly, a mixture of

1 cup sugar

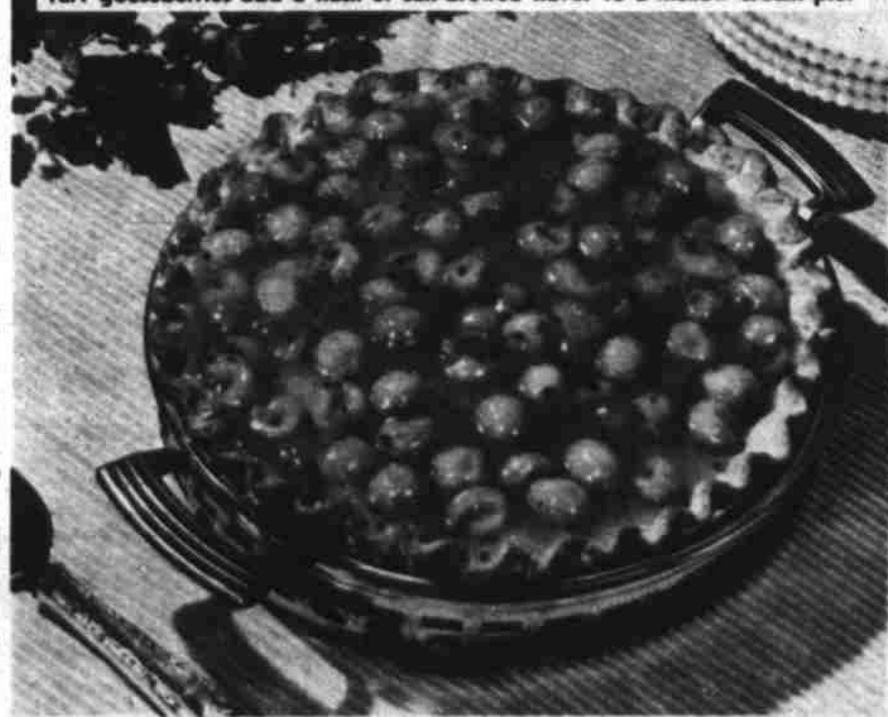

3 tablespoons cornstarch

Stir in the remaining 2 cups of gooseberries. Stirring gently and constantly, bring rapidly to boiling and cook for 3 min., or until mixture is thickened. Remove from heat; cool to lukewarm.

For Completing Pie—Spoon the cooled glaze over the cream filling. Chill in refrigerator 2 to 3 hrs. before serving.

One 9-in. pie

Tart gooseberries add a flash of sun-brewed flavor to a mellow cream pie.

Red Raspberry Jam (uncooked)

Set out four 8-oz. jelly glasses and covers.

Sort, rinse, drain, and force through a coarse sieve or food mill enough red raspberries to yield

1½ cups sieved fresh red raspberries
(about 3 cups whole berries)

In a medium-size bowl mix the sieved raspberries and

3 cups sugar

Let stand for 20 min.

Meanwhile, thoroughly wash the jelly glasses and their covers in hot, sudsy water. Rinse with boiling water; drain. Cover and set aside.

Mix thoroughly with raspberry mixture
¼ cup bottled fruit pectin

Fill glasses by pouring or ladling raspberry mixture to within ½ in. of tops. (A wide-mouthed funnel will aid in the pouring process.) With a clean, damp cloth or a paper towel, remove any of the raspberry mixture that may be on the inside of the glass above the surface of the contents or on the mouth of the glass. Cover each glass with a jelly-glass cover.*

Allow jam to stand at room temperature overnight, or until jellied.

The jam must be stored in the refrigerator or freezer. It cannot be stored at room temperature. The jam will keep in refrigerator only for several weeks.

About four 8-oz. glasses jam

*Note: Aluminum foil or several thicknesses of waxed paper tied over the top of the glass may be used instead of a jelly-glass cover.

Strawberry Chiffon Pie

Set out a 9-in. pie pan.

Prepare, bake, and set aside to cool

Pastry for 1-crust 9-in. pie (your favorite recipe for pastry or crumb pie shell)

Set a bowl and a beater in the refrigerator to chill.

Mix with strawberries

1 cup sugar

Cover bowl and allow strawberries to stand until sugar has dissolved and sirup formed.

Pour into a small cup or custard cup

½ cup cold water

Sprinkle evenly over cold water

1 tablespoon (1 env.) unflavored gelatin

Let stand about 5 min. to soften.

When strawberry sirup has formed, drain strawberries, reserving sirup. If necessary, add to reserved strawberry sirup

Water (enough to make 1 cup liquid)

Heat the sirup until very hot. Remove from heat and immediately add softened gelatin, stirring until gelatin is completely dissolved. Blend into gelatin mixture

2 tablespoons lemon juice

Cool; chill mixture in refrigerator. Or chill in a pan of ice and water until gelatin mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of thick, unbeaten egg white. If mixture is placed over ice and water, stir frequently; if placed in refrigerator, stir occasionally.

Meanwhile, remove bowl and beater from refrigerator. Pour into the chilled bowl

Sprinkle evenly over water

½ cup instant nonfat dry milk solids

Using the chilled beater, beat until mixture stands in peaks when beater is slowly lifted upright. When gelatin mixture is of desired consistency, spread the whipped nonfat dry milk solids over the gelatin. Add the drained strawberries, and gently fold together. Turn filling into the prepared pie shell and chill in refrigerator until firm.

If desired, garnish with whole berries.

One 9-in. pie

Blackberry Parfait

Set refrigerator control at coldest operating temperature.

Mix in a saucepan

½ cup sugar

¼ cup water

½ teaspoon cream of tartar

Set over low heat and stir until sugar is dissolved. Increase heat and bring rapidly to boiling; boil 5 min.

Beat until thick and lemon-colored

2 egg yolks

Beating constantly, gradually pour a very fine stream of the sugar sirup into beaten egg yolks. Cook in top of a double boiler over simmering water, stirring constantly, until mixture is smooth and thick. Cool over ice and water, beating constantly, until cold. Blend in

1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Beat until rounded peaks are formed

2 egg whites

Beat in a chilled bowl with a chilled beater until cream is of medium consistency (piles softly)

1 cup chilled whipping cream

Fold beaten egg whites and whipped cream together; fold into egg-yolk mixture. Pour into 1-qt. refrigerator tray. Freeze until firm (3 to 4 hrs.) without stirring.

Chill 8 parfait glasses in refrigerator.

1 pt. fresh, ripe blackberries

Mix with berries

½ to ¾ cup sugar (depending on sweetness of berries)

Cover bowl, set in refrigerator, and allow berries to stand until sugar has dissolved and sirup formed.

Shortly before serving, set out the berries and the firm parfait. Beginning and ending with the parfait, spoon alternate layers of parfait and berries into the chilled glasses. Serve at once.

Raspberry Sirup

Raspberry Sirup is a classic summertime cooler, with a history generations old. The amount yielded by this recipe will serve a sizable crowd. The sirup may be preserved and used as needed.

This sirup must stand for two days before completion.

To Prepare Sirup—(This recipe makes about 4 pts. sirup.) A large, heavy sauce pot or kettle will be needed for cooking the sirup.

The first day, set out a large bowl.

Sort, rinse, and thoroughly drain

4 qts. ripe red or black raspberries

Put raspberries into the bowl and crush thoroughly. Add, mixing well

1 qt. cider vinegar

Cover and let mixture stand 48 hours in refrigerator or in a cool place, stirring to blend well 3 or 4 times.

The third day, set out the large sauce pot or kettle. Strain the raspberries into the sauce pot, using a jelly bag* or a commercial jelly bag and frame.

Set the sauce pot over medium heat and add, stirring until sugar is dissolved

6 cups sugar

Increase heat and bring mixture to boiling. Boil mixture uncovered 5 min. Skim off any foam. Remove sauce pot from heat and set aside to cool. Store in a covered container in refrigerator.

To Complete Shrub—For each measuring cup of beverage desired, mix together

½ cup water

½ cup Raspberry Shrub Sirup

Serve over ice cubes or crushed ice.

*Note: To make a jelly bag, cut a double thickness of cheesecloth about 36 in. long and fold in half. Dip the cheesecloth in hot water and wring well. Put a large strainer or colander over the sauce pot and lay the cheesecloth in the strainer or colander. Turn the raspberry mixture into the cheesecloth. Gather the four corners of the cloth together and tie firmly. Allow the juice to drip through the cheesecloth and strainer or colander into the sauce pot.

Accentuate the positive delight of a creamy mold with tangy blueberries and the cool fragrance of fresh mint.

Pineapple Cream-Cheese Mold with Blueberries

Set aside to drain, reserving sirup, contents of 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple

(about 1½ cups, drained)

Using scissors dipped frequently in water, cut into quarters

32 (8 oz.) marshmallows

Put marshmallows into top of a double boiler with 1 cup of the reserved pineapple sirup. Set over simmering water, stirring occasionally, until marshmallows are melted. While marshmallows are melting, empty into a bowl

Add, stirring until gelatin is completely dissolved

1 cup very hot water

Stir until completely dissolved. When marshmallows are melted, remove from heat and blend in the dissolved gelatin.

Cool; chill mixture in refrigerator or in pan of ice and water until mixture is slightly thicker than consistency of thick, unbeaten egg white. If mixture is chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally; if chilled over ice and water, stir frequently.

Lightly oil the mold with salad or cooking oil (not olive oil). Set it aside to drain.

8 oz. cream cheese, softened

2 tablespoons lemon juice

2 teaspoons grated lemon peel

(grated through colored part only; white is bitter)

When gelatin is about same consistency as cheese mixture, blend, a few tablespoons at a time, into the cream-cheese mixture. Continue to slowly add gelatin, beating constantly, until mixture is well blended.

Chill mixture as before until it begins to gel (gets slightly thicker) and blend in the drained, crushed pineapple. Turn into the prepared mold; put in refrigerator to chill until firm.

Sort, rinse, and drain thoroughly

Set in refrigerator to chill.

To unmold gelatin, loosen top edge of mold with a knife. Invert on a chilled serving plate. Wet a clean towel in hot water and wring it almost dry. Wrap hot towel around mold for a few seconds only. (If mold does not loosen, repeat.)

Fresh mint leaves

Fresh Strawberry Fritters

About 20 min. before frying, fill a deep saucepan two-thirds full with

Hydrogenated vegetable shortening, all-purpose shortening, lard, or cooking oil for deep-frying

Heat slowly to 365°F, or until a 1-in. cube of bread browns in 60 seconds. When using an automatic deep-fryer, follow manufacturer's directions for amount of fat and timing.

Sort, rinse, drain, hull, and slice enough strawberries to yield

1 cup sliced strawberries

Put into a bowl and toss lightly with

¼ cup sifted confectioners' sugar

Allow to stand until sugar has dissolved and sirup formed.

Meanwhile, sift together into a bowl and set aside

1 cup sifted flour

2 tablespoons sugar

1 teaspoon baking powder

¼ teaspoon salt

¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Melt in a saucepan over low heat and set aside to cool

1 tablespoon butter

Drain strawberries, reserving sirup in a 1-cup measuring cup for liquids. Set the strawberries aside.

Milk (enough to make ½ cup liquid)

Beat until thick and lemon-colored

2 egg yolks

Thoroughly mix the beaten egg yolks, melted butter, milk mixture, and

1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Make a well in center of dry ingredients. Pour liquid mixture into well and blend just until batter is smooth. Gently stir in the strawberries.

Beat until rounded peaks are formed

2 egg whites

Gently fold beaten egg whites into batter.

Drop batter by heaping tablespoonfuls into fat. Deep-fry only as many fritters at one time as will float uncrowded one layer deep in the fat. Fry 3 to 4 min., or until golden brown. Turn fritters with a fork as they rise to surface of fat and several times during cooking (do not pierce fritters). Drain the fritters over fat for a few seconds before removing them to absorbent paper.

Serve immediately, sprinkled with confectioners' sugar or with maple sirup, as a dessert. Fritters may also be served as an accompaniment to meat.

The Face of Fall

by Allyn Rice

FALL FASHION starts with a fabulous fabric, shapes it into an important silhouette, completes the picture with accessories. Favorites include brushed wools; orlon and dacron mixed with silks, cottons, rayons, and wools; heavy slubbed overtones; sheer wools sprinkled with shiny silk; printed corduroys; tweeds that look hand-loomed; and plaids in bright, bold colors dramatized with black. Torsos are down and jackets up in the new silhouettes. Beautiful leather colors of avocado, garnet, and blacked browns inspire the accessory story, which spotlights dangly jewelry instead of "ropes," big pins, and earrings that cover more ear. There's exciting news, too, in costume shoes, dressmaker gloves, and belts. It all adds up to a midsummer dream of Fall, 1955.

THE GOOD DEED done for opera singer Blanche Thebom more than a decade ago still throws its shiny beam on other needy artists today.

As a girl in Canton, Ohio, Blanche sang in school and church choirs, and was urged to make music her career. But she couldn't afford the years of training, so Blanche worked as a secretary.

Then came that good deed—Blanche's boss discussed her problem with his parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J.

Gibbs volunteered to sponsor her studies.

After long preparation, Blanche Thebom made her debut at the Metropolitan Opera in 1944 as Fricka in "Die Walküre." A few years later she wanted to start repaying her debt, but the Gibbises refused to accept. So Miss Thebom established a scholarship foundation for other aspiring singers. The $750 loan for professional training has this one condition: when winners earn $10,000 a year, they start repayment "so there will be more and more scholarships available to other young singers with financial problems."

The first to benefit was Helen Laird of Laramie, Wyo., in 1948. Today she is a leading soprano at the Basel Opera in Switzerland.

A soprano at the Braunschweig Opera in Germany is another scholarship winner, Gladys Spector of Brooklyn, N. Y. A Negro basso from Los Angeles, William de Valentine, is teaching in New York City public schools while continuing his voice training.

The 1954 winner was a Kansas City coloratura, Marlys Watters, who makes her first national concert tour this Fall. She says: "Winning the scholarship was the most thrilling thing that's ever happened to me; it gave me new confidence in the future."

This Fall also will see the selection of winner No. 7. Because the scholarships are for young artists who already show promise, not beginners, age limits are 25 to 30. Applications for Blanche Thebom Foundation Scholarships are received by S. Hurok at 711 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

From almost 200 applicants last season, the three-member board of judges chose 30 finalists. Miss Thebom says the day of final auditions is the most exciting on her calendar. It's also the day that proves again how one good deed can spread ever-widening ripples of kindness.

Large triple windows in living area and corner windows of master bedroom give long, low lines of this Colonial house a modern feeling. Breezeway entrance and stone-and-shingle facades combine today's design with yesterday's style.

COLONIAL HOUSE WITH A

by Ruth W. Lee, Home-Furnishings Consultant

THOSE WHO LIKE traditional Colonial architecture and modern design will find this house a delightful blend of both. Its long low lines are enhanced by exterior walls of stone and shingles, large window areas, and a sheltered breezeway entrance. A wood-beamed ceiling in the living room complements the wood paneling around the tiled fireplace and the side-wall dado. Informal Colonial furnishings are perfectly at home in this setting. A long, curved sofa gives ample seating space for family and guests. One bedroom serves as combination guest room-study with a sofa bed doing double duty. In the master bedroom, café curtains are used with a top pleated valance. In the third bedroom, contrasting window treatment of pine shutters over a low post bed adds an individual touch. Colonial wallpapers dramatize all the rooms.

Albert Criz and Norman Hunter, Architects

Harry Gladstone, Decorator

Skillful arrangement of furnishings gives small oblong room the efficiency of a larger one. Long, curved sofa is balanced by the love seat and lounge chair flanking the fireplace. Provincial wallpaper over a pine dado adds interest.

A small bedroom does double duty as guest room and family study. Sofa serves as guest bed and the desk with Provincial lamp also serves as a night stand. Pine double shutters and Provincial wallpaper dramatize window end of room.

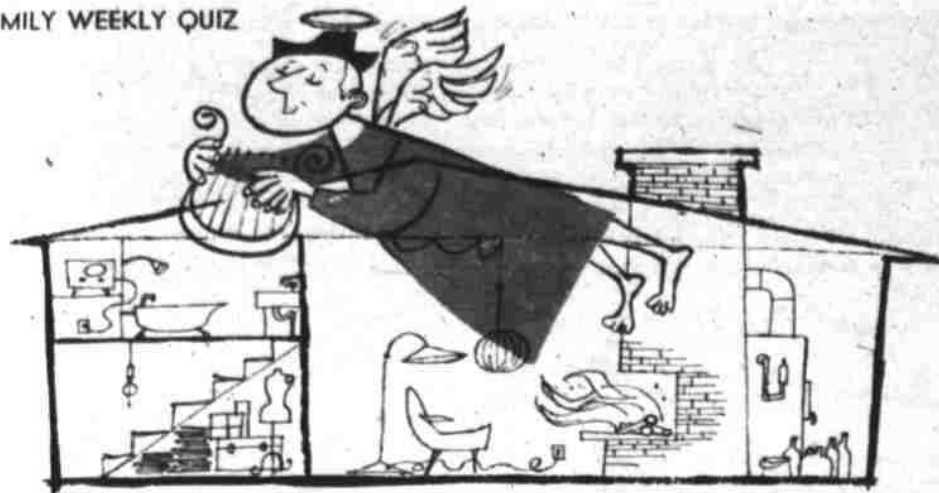

In the master bedroom, the large bank of windows with café curtains and ceiling-high valance contributes the modern element to Colonial furnishings. A touch of individuality is added by the smart over-scaled diamond-patterned wallpaper.

A contrasting window treatment which combines pine shutters over the bed with café curtains on the side wall gives decorative interest to the second bedroom. Ample cross ventilation adds the modern feature to this Colonial setting.

Is Your House Accident-Free?

SAFETY FIRST, last, and always! That's a slogan popularized by the experts, and it has helped make you conscious of highway hazards, factory perils, and outdoor dangers. But statistics show that there's no place so hazardous as "Home Sweet Home." Catherine Hutchins of Knoxboro, N. Y., who reads the Utica Observer-Dispatch, asks you to test yourself on whether your house is accident-free. Take this quiz, then check with the correct answers below. You must score 100 percent to have a really safe home.

... any time of the month

Dive right in. Splash around to your heart's content. You can go swimming—even on "those days"—when you're wearing Tampax.

Remember!—Tampax was invented by a doctor! He realized that if "time-of-the-month" was handled by internal absorption, women could indulge in normal activities without any of the chafing, irritation and other discomforts associated with external pads. So far as swimming is concerned, Tampax is not only invisible when properly inserted . . . it doesn't absorb any water! Users even wear Tampax in their bathtubs with complete security and comfort.

However, if you spend the Summer in a hammock, Tampax would still be a blessing. It prevents odor from forming by preventing exposure to the air. It's easy to dispose of, even with the unruly plumbing that sometimes exists at vacation resorts. (Both the Tampax and the applicator flush away.) And it's by far the daintiest kind of protection . . . why, your hands needn't even touch the Tampax during insertion or removal.

Make this the Summer you'll enjoy from first to last. Get your supply of Tampax at any drug or notion counter. Choice of 3 absorbencies: Regular, Super, Junior. Month's supply goes into purse; economy size gives more than an average Summer's supply. Tampax Incorporated, Palmer, Mass.

Junior Treasure Chest

Dear Miss Barrows:

The other day my Dad was working in a field and saw a nest of baby rabbits. My brother and I went down to see them. There were three in the nest. Here is the way the nest was made: first the mother dug a hole, then lined it with some of her fur. She then covered it with a lot of dry grass.

While we were still in the field, we walked along a twisting creek and we found some clam shells. My brother found a clam that was alive. He brought it to the house and put it in a pan of water. We keep it on the back porch.

Sincerely,

Carol Harkness

Dear Miss Barrows:

My hobby is shell collecting. I have many beautiful shells—sea horses, seaweed, coral, pink conch, king's helmet, spider conchs, Chinese alphabet, and many others. My father brings them home to me from the shrimp boat.

I make earrings and pins out of sea horses and sell some shells to the shell factory.

To make a sea horse pin all you need is a sea horse, a glass back, a few tiny shells, one safety clasp, and some cement glue. Then follow these steps:

1. Place the glass back on the table.
2. Glue the safety clasp onto it.
3. Glue the sea horse on the other side of the glass.
4. Take the little shells and arrange them like flowers and glue them around the sea horse.

Sincerely,

D. Ann Smith

Circus Party Favor

Jane McHenry

If your mother has some cookies in animal or clown shapes, try making these circus favors. You will need a tin of the kind of wallpaper cleaner that is green. Warm it in your hands for a few moments until it is soft enough to pat into a flat cake on a bread board. Then roll it out like cookie dough with a rolling pin. Now take the cookie cutters and cut out as many animal and clown shapes as you can. Line them up on trays. Press in colored beads or buttons for eyes and clothes trimmings. Make them as bright and sparkly as a real circus!

It will take several days for the figures to dry and harden, but then you can decorate them some more with poster paint. Surprise your circus party guests with one favor at each place that can be taken home and your party will be remembered for a long time!

Circus Masks

Bess A. Lee

It is fun to make your own masks for a circus out of large paper bags. Many different kinds of funny-looking animals' heads can be made by cutting, tying, and painting the paper bags.

For the animal shown in Figure 1, you will need two bags, one large enough to fit over your head and another slightly smaller to put on top. The large one makes the neck, and the other the head. Put the large one over your head and mark the position of your eyes and nose on the outside with a pencil. Then take it off and cut round holes for them. Paint bright-colored rings around them and make polka dots the

Circus Stunts

Tie a string to a balloon and attach colored squares of paper to the string. On each of these squares should be written a stunt. Each one snips a square from the string and must do the stunt named. Some ideas for circus stunts are:

Imitate the ringmaster showing off a group of horses.
Do a tightrope act. (On the floor!)
Pretend you are a circus clown.
Put on a seal performance.
Show how to sell pink lemonade.
Imitate the lion trainer.

same color all over the rest of the sack.

Stuff the other bag with shredded newspaper or cotton and tie it at the end with a string. Paint big round eyes on each side, dots at the end for nostrils, and a grinning red mouth. Cut out triangles of paper and paste them on each side of the head for ears. Paint a few polka dots on the head to match the neck, then glue the head onto the bottom of the bag that forms the neck.

The monkey mask in Figure 2 is a bag that fits over your head and extends above it. Paint the face or draw it with crayons, making a big mouth that stretches from ear to ear, two round marks with the centers cut out for nose and two triangles for eyes. The eye holes should be big enough to look through. Paint a few wrinkles above the eyes. Cut slots at each side of the bag, then cut a strip of paper round at each end and about 6 inches longer than the width of the sack. Run this strip through the slots and paste to the back of bag, inside. Bend the ends to look like ears.

Eph is a funny circus clown who is always hungry, and it has occurred to the artist that you might like to feed him. He will eat dried beans or peas or peanuts or tiddlywinks. Trace him and paste him on a piece of cardboard. Cut out his mouth. Fold the tongue flap back and up as shown by the dotted lines and insert the tongue through his mouth. Place Eph on a table or on the floor and he is ready to be fed. As many may play as wish. Players must be about four feet from him and try to toss the food in his mouth. Each time he swallows a piece counts one for the one who threw it.

You may make your games for as many points as you wish.

Balloon Faces

To have some fun at your circus party, get your set of paints and let each guest paint a funny face on his balloon. The one who paints the funniest face wins a prize.

Racing the Arctic Freeze-Up

RACING AGAINST TIME, two Canadian ice breakers leave Montreal this month for the frozen wastes of the Arctic Circle. To increase efficiency and speed, the icebreakers carry three Bell helicopters to perform photographic, survey, mail, and emergency missions, and spot clear-water paths through ice-choked waters. The "flying windmills" also enable advance landings of officials, doctors, dentists, and missionaries in the tiny outposts which depend on the ships for nearly every necessity. The icebreakers must complete their annual 12,000-mile swing through the Arctic Circle by mid-September or face a long Winter in the grip of the great ice packs.

Helicopter acts as the ship's eyes in ice-choked waters.
