Ex-Texas Ranger, Veteran Of Outlaw Ambush, Dies

AUSTIN, (U-P)—Frank Hamer, long time Texas Ranger captain who took part in the 1934 ambush that left outlaws Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker riddled with bullets on a lonely Louisiana road, died last night.

A heart attack killed the 71-year-old lawman, described by friends as "blunt, stubborn and fearless." His 6-foot-4½ frame had been wounded 14 times.

He reportedly served as a Ranger longer than any other man—about 35 years.

Hamer had lived here since retiring about 10 years ago.

During the 30s Barrow and his cigar-smoking girl friend, Bonnie, etched a trail of violence through the Southwest. Hamer tracked them down and was in at the kill.

When Hamer got on the trail, he traveled as much as 1,000 miles a day through Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Louisiana. He had been on the assignment 102 days when the trap was sprung on a wooded lane in Louisiana.

At 21 Hamer became city marshal at Navasota. The story goes that a few days later he found it necessary to arrest a prominent citizen for being boisterous. He corralled the offender before a hostile crowd, then turned to the on-lookers and said, "I understand you don't allow your kind to be arrested."

He waited for somebody to move, and nobody did. Hamer took his man off to jail and from then on was the law in Navasota, so legend goes.

Later he joined the Rangers.

Guard Ordered At 23 Churches

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (U-P)—Fearing a firebug may be on the loose, authorities ordered an overnight police guard at 23 Negro churches after mystery blazes destroyed one and damaged another.

Officials of the big resort city, working on the possibility the two fires were deliberately set, questioned five Negroes yesterday, but later released them.

A $200,000 fire leveled the Negro Baptist temple late Saturday night and a second, smaller blaze damaged the interior of the Negro Second Baptist Church eight hours later.

Acting Police Chief Jerry Sullivan, commenting on the church fires, said, "this looks like more than coincidence."

No one was in the churches when the fires broke out.

Forests Burn Over 3 States, 2,000 In Battle

The Associated Press
More than 2,000 men thrown into the lines today to battle forest fires which had blackened at least 23,000 acres in three states by late last night.

All still were out of control early today, with at least one person killed.

The largest, in Arizona's Prescott National Forest about 15 miles south of Prescott, had swept over an estimated 19,000 acres of wild, uninhabited land, Forest Service officials said.

Two separate conflagrations in southern Wyoming's Medicine Bow region had destroyed more than 3,500 acres, and about 100 fire fighters were converging on a small, smoky blaze in Arapahoe National Forest in northwestern Colorado.

Prescott is about 100 miles northwest of Phoenix. Wyoming's Medicine Bow region lies approximately 130 miles northwest of Denver.

Charles Cline, 57, Waggoner, Ariz., was burned to death in the Prescott fire when he was trapped in a canyon while prospecting, Prescott authorities said.

W. B. Gallaher, a flying ranger, said the Arizona fire was "a long way from being under control."

Both Wyoming blazes died down during the night. Forest Supervisor E. J. Fortenberry reported, but he said he expected the flames to run away again today before "between 1,000 and 1,200" men could encircle them.

One of the Wyoming fires was raging about 40 miles northwest of Laramie in the Medicine Bow Mountains. It was discovered last Wednesday, and spread over about 1,800 acres.

The other, Fortenberry said, also has destroyed about 1,800 acres since it began Saturday in Medicine Bow National Forest 25 miles southwest of Saratoga, Wyo.

Firefighting teams include National Guardsmen, Forest Service personnel, special Indian firefighters from Arizona and New Mexico and volunteers.

Yugoslavia Ups Bread Prices

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (U-P)—Yugoslavia, which has been importing hundreds of thousands of tons of American wheat to tide over home shortages, has upped bread prices 33 per cent to spur domestic grain growing.

Vice President Svetozar Vukmanovic told the nation last night the government would also boost its purchase price for domestic wheat one cent per pound. He said low prices had discouraged farmers and Yugoslavia's wheat harvest has slumped below prewar levels.

Cotton Industry Keeps Eyes On Benson Exports Decision

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (U-P)—The cotton industry at home and abroad looked to Secretary of Agriculture Benson today for an early decision on whether the United States will offer to sell cotton abroad at cut-rate prices.

For weeks there has been speculation in foreign and domestic markets that the United States would offer a subsidy to encourage greater exports of cotton. Benson has indicated his department is considering new measures to boost foreign sales. He promised a decision before the start of the new marketing season Aug. 1.

The possibility that U.S. cotton might be made available at lower prices has led many foreign buyers to limit purchases to day-to-day needs. It has adversely affected exports from other countries as well as the United States.

Prompting Benson to consider possible new cotton export policies are a number of factors. One is the accumulation of reserve and surplus supplies of 10,700,000 bales and the necessity, under terms of farm laws, of imposing rigid restrictions on production.

The reserve and surplus supplies are more than enough to meet a full year's domestic requirements. The uncertainty as to future U.S. cotton export policies was a major subject of discussion at a recent meeting of the international cotton Advisory Committee in Paris. The committee is an inter-governmental agency set up to keep major cotton importing and exporting countries advised of world cotton developments.

The committee concluded that the current surplus of cotton is the result of postwar economic development, technological advances in cotton production and a continuing high level of cotton prices. Some time ago Benson appointed a cotton industry advisory committee to advise him on a cotton export program. But reports indicated that the committee has been unable to agree on a recommendation. Meanwhile, the industry at home and abroad has been pressing for a decision.

There is sharp opposition to an export subsidy among U.S. textile manufacturers who fear that foreign manufacturers would then be better able to undersell U.S. textile products.

U.S. exports of cotton have been running about four million bales a year. Benson would like to see this boosted to at least five million.

The idea of an export subsidy is disliked at the State Department. Its use would make this country subject to foreign complaints, State Department officials say, of engaging in "dumping."

A factor in the situation is the desire of agriculture officials to reduce stocks of cotton in which the government now has about $1,400,000,000 invested. The cotton was acquired in price support operations.

Prison Quartet Baritone Walks Into Arms Of FBI

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U)—The baritone member of an escaped Alabama prison quartet called his Birmingham wife from Memphis last night and stepped from the telephone booth into the arms of FBI agents.

He was Walter Tidwell, 30, described by Kilby prison officials as the "tough guy" of the hymn-singers and probably the leader of last Friday's escape.

(At Birmingham, Ala., Tidwell's wife said he called to say he was taking "the next bus to Birmingham to see you, and then I want you to go to Kilby with me to turn myself in.")

Tidwell is serving a life sentence for murder. The other three members of the quartet stopped briefly near Searcy, Ark., earlier yesterday, still driving the prison station wagon in which they escaped. Police said they apparently had left the state by the time their trails were picked up.

Orville Gray, 27, who had refused a parole a year ago to stay with the quartet, visited a father and an uncle at their homes at Griffithville, Ark.

A cafe operator reported Gray and his two companions, Bobby Tidwell, 22, and Bobby Cottrell, 22, of Roanoke, Va., had eaten breakfast at his cafe at Kensett, Ark. Sheriff Jack Price said at Searcy that Gray's father, Jess Gray, and the uncle, Louis MacDonald, tried to talk the fleeing convict, who had only six months to serve on a 10-year robbery sentence, into surrendering. Both quoted him as answering: "I'll take care of that later."

The convicts overpowered a guard Friday night while en route to the prison at Montgomery, Ala., after a singing appearance at Linden, Ala.

LIFE WITH THE REDS WAS HELL

Turncoats Prepared To Leave For Home At Midnight Sailing

HONG KONG (U)—Three former U.S. soldiers who changed their minds about living under Chinese communism prepared for a midnight sailing tonight for home.

The three men—William A. Cowart, 23, of Dalton, Ga., Otho G. Bell, 24, of Hillsboro, Miss., and Lewis W. Griggs, 22, of Jacksonville, Tex., said they expect to be prosecuted but are ready to face the consequences in order to tell what happened to them.

Life with the Reds was hell, they all agreed.

Captured in Korea, they and 20 other Americans refused repatriation. Four months ago, Cowart said, the trio and two Belgian deserters began demanding that the Reds let them go. The Chinese announced in June that all five would be released.

The Americans crossed the border into Hong Kong territory Sunday afternoon. British immigration officials turned them over to U.S. consular authorities, who said they appeared to have retained their U. S. citizenship and prepared travel documents permitting their direct return to the United States. The consulate paid their passage home on the liner President Cleveland, due in San Francisco July 29 after a stop in Japan. A consular spokesman said they would be "expected to repay the (passage) money at such time as they can."

For the voyage home, the State Department ordered the men restricted to the ship until it docks in California.

The American government has not indicated what is in store for the trio, except to say that they will "be responsible for any acts they might have committed."

Because all three and 17 other former prisoners of war still in China have been given dishonorable discharges, Secretary of Defense Wilson said last month he did not think the three returning would be tried by court-martial.

Griggs told a news conference last night "others want to come out" of Red China but he would not name them. The Chinese, in announcing that the three Americans and two Belgians would be turned loose, said any of the others could leave if they desired. Peiping radio announced last night that the two Belgians, Roger Devrient and Louis Verdyk, would be released as soon as arrangements were completed with the Indian Red Cross.

After being questioned by consular officials, the Americans held a news conference. Then they made a drinking tour of Hong Kong dance halls.

All three returnees admitted at their news conference that while war prisoners they had committed acts which made them afraid to return home in the prisoner exchange after the Korean fighting. None would say specifically what they had done, although Griggs spoke vaguely of writing an article hostile to America.

The three also pleaded youth, stupidity and the appeal of clever Communist propaganda. "A child decided not to go home—a man not afraid of that any more. I would sooner have Hitler come back than have communism. Hitler only destroyed the body but communism destroys the mind. The society of China is built on fear—fear of each man of the other."

Griggs said he was one of "those poor fools who fell for" Red propaganda in the POW camp. But he said he no longer believes in communism "because I have now seen the contradiction between what they say and what they do."

To questioning about their conduct in the POW camps, Cowart repeatedly replied: "we will wait before answering that."

The men said after their removal from the Korean neutral zone in January, 1954, they were taken to an indoctrination camp at Tal-yuan. There they were awakened in a locked compound at 8 a.m. and spent their days studying or attending lectures, with time out only for physical training, meals and a nightly movie.

After several months 11 of the men were sent to school and six to factories. Cowart, Bell and Griggs, along with the two Belgians, went to a state farm.

The five were put to repairing the farm's 20-odd tractors. They were the only foreigners among 900 Chinese workmen.

"I can only describe life on the farm in one word—hell. We were isolated, ate like dogs, slept in barns and there were no drinks," Cowart reported. He added that he was paid the equivalent of about $12 a month, with about half of it going for food, a third for cigarettes and the rest for clothing and other necessities.

On March 12, Cowart continued, the group decided "to start the struggle to get out." Griggs said he and Verdyk escaped from the farm but were captured and brought back. Bell said he attempted suicide once because he had given up hope of getting away from the Reds.

NIGHT OUT

Ex-POWs Are Silent About Themselves

By DAVID J. ROADS
HONG KONG (U)—I took the three American turncoats out for $40 worth of drinks last night in a round of dance halls.

I agree with one of them, 22-year-old Lewis W. Griggs, that they "aren't very smart." But what else they are I couldn't say.

I spent their first evening of freedom with Griggs, William A. Cowart and Otho G. Bell in the line of duty, hoping they would reveal more than they had in evasive answers during the news conference following their arrival in Hong Kong yesterday.

Helped along by mamba music, double scotches, beer, Manhattans and plenty of American cigarettes, they appeared to talk freely. But they committed themselves on little.

All three kept repeating that things were hell in Red China. Cowart, 23, of Dalton, Ga., was anxious to line up some "quick cash" and also talked vaguely about contacts with an anti-Communist underground in China.

Bell, 24, of Hillsboro, Miss., kept repeating that he couldn't wait to "see that beautiful little daughter of mine." The child, Paula, now 4, was born after he was sent to Korea. Her mother is working at a military base near Olympia, Wash.

Griggs, of Jacksonville, Tex., reckoned they had "outsmarted the Reds in getting out."

Griggs sat silently at first, sipping Coca-Colas and then switching to beer. Suddenly he turned to me and said: "You know we aren't very smart. But I feel positive we outsmarted the Reds in getting out. I'm convinced our case was dealt with by no less than Mao Tse-tung himself. They never knew exactly how to handle us after we started acting up," he continued. "We aren't too smart, but we forced the top boys in the Communist government to handle our case. Boy that makes me feel we accomplished something."

All three asked about the trials of Edward S. Dickenson and Claude Batchelor, two other Korean POW's who changed their minds earlier about staying with the Communists and were turned back to the U. N. Command in Korea. They said they had heard the two men were free, awaiting another trial. Both actually are in prison after being convicted of collaborating with the enemy. Batchelor on a 20-year sentence and Dickenson for a 10-year term.

As he had been at the news conference, Cowart was the leader of the group. Bell and Griggs frequently looked to him for guidance. Finally Cowart brought the conversation around to money.

"Look, we have to pick up some quick cash before we land in the States," he said. "Have you any suggestions?"

After a brief silence, he began asking for offers: "I have plenty to tell and will tell if I'm paid. What's it worth for our stories—individually or all three?"

When no offer was forthcoming, Cowart brought out his cloak and dagger story. He maintained he had underground contacts in Red China among "people who worked against the government." White Russians, Japanese, overseas Chinese who had returned to the mainland and other dissatisfied persons, he said.

As the hours rolled on and the drinks went down, the talk boiled down to usual barroom chatter of sports, movie stars and sex. Finally everybody was yawning and I picked up the check.

And as he reasoned of righteousness, temperance, and judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time; When I have a convenient season, I will call for thee. (Acts 24:25)

David Lawrence The FBI's Part In Probing Federal Contracts

WASHINGTON — Attacks on the proper functioning of the executive branch of the government by a certain senator from Wisconsin were widely condemned by the Democrats, but now they are doing the very things which they themselves criticized.

which could possibly become the basis for litigation later on. The federal government must be prepared to show it acted in good faith and didn't play politics in cancelling the Dixon-Yates agreement, if cancellation should be decided upon as the best course.

It was a Democratic administration which delegated to the FBI the task of getting legal information with respect to the existing contract-renegotiation laws. This involves a checkup of the contents of items that can be the basis for dispute between the government and private contractors.

But not one of these members of Congress would be willing today to sponsor legislation to prohibit the FBI from using its agents — as it is now doing in consequence of orders first issued by a Democratic attorney general — to investigate mergers, monopolies and antitrust matters generally, which is all on the civil side and usually has no relation whatsoever to national security or the apprehension of criminals.

Catholic Riot Jars Argentina Truce

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (U)—Argentina's uneasy church-state truce was jarred yesterday as police and firemen routed Catholic rioters staging their second anti-Peron demonstration in 24 hours.

The riot landed 13 policemen and firemen in hospitals and brought condemnation of the demonstrators from Santiago Cardinal Copello, archbishop of Buenos Aires who has urged a peaceful course in the dispute.

Sixty persons were arrested but many were released after questioning. In the first violence since the bloody June 16 revolt against President Juan Peron, more than 500 demonstrators milled through the Plaza de Mayo near the Metropolitan Cathedral. Police tried to disperse the crowd by force.

Interviewed last night at a sanitarium where he is being treated for injuries suffered in a fall last year, the primate said "he condemned" the attitude of those who call themselves Catholic and disturb the peace.

The Catholics were already under fire in the pro-government press for the demonstration they staged Saturday—Argentina's Independence Day—in which some 10,000 marchers took part.

Baby Is Taken While Parents Watch Video

SIoux CITY, Iowa, (U)—A 2-year-old girl apparently was kidnaped from her crib last night while her parents watched television in another room, police said today.

Mr. and Mrs. James Davis reported their daughter, Donna Sue, missing to police about 30 minutes after they had put her to bed at 9:30 p.m. The father said a screen had been removed from a window.

Davis, a clerk for the Chicago & North Western Railroad, and his family live on the first floor of a two-story duplex in a modest Sioux City neighborhood.

Police Capt. John Rispolje said he has learned no motive for a kidnapping. He said there apparently has been no family trouble and the parents knew of no one who would want to take the child. The Davises have two other children, Mary Clair, 11, and Timmy, 7, who were asleep in another bedroom.

Prison Escapee To Fight Return

LOS ANGELES (U)—Frank M. Beverly, who says he'll fight extradition to Alabama where he escaped from a prison road gang in 1947, has gone back to work as manager of a Sunset Strip restaurant.

He was working yesterday, two days after admitting to police that he was really Oscar Fred Twidahl and had served two years of a five-year sentence. He claimed he was convicted on a false charge of embezzling $200.

Police said the Alabama State Board of Corrections has indicated it will move this week to extradite Beverly.

Meanwhile, Beverly is free on a bond returnable Thursday. He is staunchly supported by his wife, Eunice, 36, whom he married here, and his employer, Sam Spiegelman.

Trial Set On Charges Of Teaching Draft Evasion

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. (U)—Mrs. Lucille Miller, 44, mother of three, goes on trial in Federal Court today, charged with attempting to influence young men to evade the military draft.

Mrs. Miller gained wide publicity with her husband, Manuel, two months ago when they stood off authorities for 12 hours until a barrage of tear gas forced their surrender.

The siege began when a U.S. Marshal called at the Miller residence in the town of Bethel to take her to a mental hospital.

Federal Judge Ernest W. Gibson had declared Mrs. Miller mentally incompetent April 18 when she first went before him charged with trying to influence young men against the draft.

After the Millers surrendered, Mrs. Miller was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D.C. She was released June 20.

Doctors said she was mentally competent to consult with an attorney about her case.

The government charges Mrs. Miller tried to influence young men against the draft in stories appearing in an anti-Communist pamphlet she published.

Mr. and Mrs. James Davis reported their daughter, Donna Sue, missing to police about 30 minutes after they had put her to bed at 9:30 p.m. The father said a screen had been removed from a window.

The Davises have two other children, Mary Clair, 11, and Timmy, 7, who were asleep in another bedroom.

Several neighbors reported seeing a man come up to the duplex and go to the back where the bedroom is located.

Although the end of the crib was near the window, police believe the person must have entered the bedroom. The window sill is about four feet from the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis said they heard no noise in the bedroom.

Capt. Rispolje said Laif Sjeldos, who lives in the neighborhood, told of chasing a man with a bundle in his arms down an alley about a block from the Davis home.

Sjeldos said he cornered the man in some bushes but that he got away when Sjeldos went into his house to telephone police.

The blonde hair, blue eyed child was dressed in pink pajamas when put to bed.

George Berger, a next door neighbor, said he was in his backyard and saw a man come up to the Davis house but that his view was blocked by a parked car.

Farmers, Ranchers Eye Skies Hopefully

Many a Texas farmer and rancher once more hopes for soaking rain, but only teasers fell early Monday.

Sprinkles hardly enough to measure dampened Wink, Midland and Salt Flat.

The Weather Bureau, however, forecast spotty showers over the state at least through Tuesday.

One group had enough moisture for a while—Rio Grande Valley cotton growers. The fall end of a Gulf storm which whipped into Mexico touched off weekend rains that damaged the valley cotton crop.

The rains, as high as 4 inches, faded early Monday. More were possible, though.

Agricultural agents in central and eastern Texas report rains are needed to mature promising crops of cotton, corn and grain sorghum.

North Texas farms are getting dry. Moreover, grasshoppers have done lots of damage to corn, and hoppers and thrip are hurting cotton in that area, he said.

Agent J. A. Scofield of Vernon said: "Rain is needed over the entire area to offset loss in surface moisture. The insect infestation is increasing."

Surface moisture is vanishing fast in Central Texas and crops are showing the results of dry weather, reported R. G. Burwell, district agent at Stephenville.

To the west, Lamesa citizens were asked to curtail water use after the supply ran dry late Saturday. It picked up some Sunday, but until a new well is hooked into the city water supply Wednesday Lamesa will have to use its water sparingly.

Changing Your Hair?

If you change the color of your hair you'll be interested in the advice offered by Gale Robbins, the star you'll be seeing soon in Republic's "Double Jeopardy." She passes on information about her routine for applying dye.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

If Changing Your Hair, Consult A Dye Expert

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — When I visited Gale Robbins at Republic Studios where she is making "Double Jeopardy" with Rod Cameron, the first thing I noticed about her was that she had changed the color of her hair again. This time she was a strawberry blonde.

"It-yourself method" to others?" I wanted to know. "Definitely not at first," she said with conviction. "I think beginners should have it done professionally several times until they have the method down pat. It's a good idea to consult a dye expert on the important points such as the right mixture to use, where to begin and how long to leave it on. My hair grows slowest in back so I have to begin there, parting my hair in strips from ear to ear, working to the crown. Then I do the front, working up from the forehead," Gale explained.

Feminine Charmer

Definitely appealing, with a wide, princess-cut skirt, Empire waistline, scooped-out neck and its own brief, collared, buttoned bolero.

Gale uses an old toothbrush for applying the dye mixture. "I leave it on for twenty minutes before shampooing and always try to let my hair dry naturally. It's much less drying than hot air," she believes. "What about conditioning treatments?" I suggested. "I must admit that all treatments certainly help," Gale agreed. "I like to use an electric cap after I've applied the oil to my scalp, but you can get practically the same effect with hot towels. "I'm for all of the brushing you can give your hair," she continued. "I find that by brushing with my head bent down I can work a lot longer without tiring my arms."

Find Your Proper Perfume By Varying

There is no one perfume to suit every woman. Scents must be used in varying degrees by different types to achieve the proper amount of essence—something to do with body chemistry. But a woman who is a "heady" type is likely to consider that license for showering herself in the stuff. The scent is not part of her as it should be. It precedes her and envelopes her wherever she goes. It owns her.

Younger girls must be especially wary of overuse of the bottled bloom. Spicy bath salts, bath crystals and body sachets permit the muted fragrance that spells gaiety and romance. There are some rose-spice scents that are ideal for the young in heart, and because they are in sachet form and rubbed into the skin, these light fragrances create the mood and the magic of a luscious flower garden without antagonizing the senses.

MORNING PEEPEERS

By Joyce Connaway

In the 600 block of Caylor Drive at 9 o'clock this morning, the ladies of the house were occupied with all sorts of activities.

Mrs. L. L. Marshall, 600, was sweeping her house, but her neighbor, Mrs. A. J. Allen, 601, was not at home.

At 602, Mrs. E. C. Bell was washing the breakfast dishes while Mrs. Garfield R. Brummett, 604, was fixing to sit down and enjoy that second cup of coffee.

Also washing dishes was Mrs. James D. Anderson, 606. No one answered the phone at 607 Caylor Drive.

Mrs. Jack E. Robison, 610, had been an early bird and bounded out of bed at 6 a.m. to get her husband off to work, but fell back in bed for just a few winks—you know the story, she was fixing to drink a cup of coffee to get awake the second time at 8:45.

Mrs. Cecil D. Cooley, 612 had gone to town and no one was home at 616.

Sitting down for a few minutes to listen to the radio was Mrs. Albert W. Evans, 617.

No one was home at the James A. Raoul residence, 618. The phone awoke Mrs. Clifford W. Fisher, 619, who was enjoying a Monday-morning rest.

Mrs. D. R. Gartman, 620, and Mrs. Leslie N. Vulmer, 622, were at work. The phone was not answered at 621 Caylor Drive.

The back yard at 622 was in the process of being cleaned by Mrs. H. B. Stanaland. Mrs. Olton Jamison, 624, was at work.

Mrs. Dalton A. Sellers, 626, had her hands in soap suds as she washed the breakfast dishes, but Mrs. Harold E. Moss was at work. Too many irons in the fire could describe Mrs. Jesse Herron, 631. When we called she was watering the yard and the hose needed to be moved, plus washing the morning dishes and minding the children.

Let Your Child Start Summer Plant Hobby

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

Now that school is out, children need occupation. Of course they will play, but a good summer project will add interest and zest to the long holiday.

If you plan a project that the whole family can take a part in, you not only keep the youngsters busy but bring the family together in an interesting enterprise.

The world of out-of-doors offers unending possibilities. Children love to make collections.

How about a collection of leaves or grasses or flowers? It may take some work on your part, too, to help identify the plants. But it's work you likely will find very pleasant. Learning with your children is one of the greatest pleasures of parenthood.

You might start very simply. Collect leaves. The first set might be all of the same kind—maple or oak or elm or whatever grows nearby. Even leaves of one kind vary a lot in size and shape. Make a collection of as many different ones as possible.

Ferns are another excellent source of collections. A walk into the country will provide a dozen different varieties of ferns. You will probably need a book from the library to help you identify the various species. Once you get a book about ferns you'll probably get interested in the spores you will find on the back of the fronds, and you and your children can talk and learn how plants that do not have flowers reproduce themselves.

Collections are more fun if there is a way of keeping them. Leaves, ferns, grasses lend themselves to pressing.

A press can be simply made with newspapers. Spread the leaves out on the paper on the floor being careful not to have any parts overlapping. Cover the arrangement with more newspapers equal in thickness to the thickest part of the plant being pressed. Then add more leaves or plants and more newspapers until everything collected that day is taken care of. Cover the entire pile with a flat board and add something heavy on top, like rocks or books. For the next four days the plants should be changed to a dry place on the newspaper—or better yet, the papers should be changed. Then during the next two weeks the plants should be changed every two or three days.

The collection will have more interest to the child if he makes some permanent arrangement for display around the house.

To mount dried plants you need a piece of window glass. Paint the glass with a thin glue diluted with vinegar. Place the dried plant carefully on the damp surface of the glass and then transfer it quickly to a piece of mounting paper. Very attractive arrangements can be made. When framed they are truly beautiful decorations.

As your skill develops you might try mounting your specimens on a lamp shade. Not only will the whole family enjoy using such a lamp but think how tremendously pleased Grandma would be next Christmas with a lamp shade made and designed by her grandchild.

Keeping 'Em Neat

If youngsters throw towels on the floor when they've finished washing, try clipping their towels with snap clothespins that have been tied to the towel rack. Then towels will be easy for small fry to reach, and they won't be dropped. Use a different color clothespin to identify each child's towel.

Launder Gloves

A new tannage method has resulted in leather gloves that may be washed by hand or in the washing-machine. Gloves tested include cape, kid, deer, pig and suede in light pastels as well as dark shades.

Cool Air Hits Atlantic Coast

Cool air which gave much of the northern United States its first relief from 90 degree temperatures in more than a week Sunday had reached the Atlantic Coast today.

By way of contrast, it was 39 at Grand Marais, Mich.; 45 at Pellston and Marquette, Mich., and 49 at Mullen Pass, Idaho. Below the band of cool air, readings at the start of the day provided no guarantee against repetition of such maximums Sunday as 89 at Denver and Kansas City, 97 at St. Louis, 95 at Salt Lake City, 94 at Oklahoma City, 92 at Indianapolis, and 91 at Cincinnati and Omaha.

Early morning weather reports included:
New York 76 cloudy; Miami 80 fair; Dallas 83 fair; Denver 70 fair; Bismarck, N.D., 64 cloudy; Seattle 59 cloudy; Los Angeles 63 fair; Milwaukee 62 fair; Chicago 69 fair; St. Louis 77 fair; Indianapolis 73 fair and Detroit 63 fair.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Now and then we read about a boy or girl who, at the age of 12 or even less, has proved to be a hero. Perhaps the life of another child has been saved by the brave young person.

It is very rare, however, for anyone to win fame in the field of science during childhood. I know of only one who has made an important discovery before reaching the teen-age stage of life. That was 12-year-old Mary Anning, who is the person who first discovered a skeleton of a Fish Lizard.

Mary lived in southern England, and helped her father to sell shells to visitors who spent days or weeks at Lyme Regis, a seaside resort. She sold sea shells at the seashore. Aside from the shells of modern shell fish, Mr. Anning and his daughter had something special to offer. In layers of rock they found sea shells which had been left by shellfish of long ago. The rock was broken up and the shells were taken out. Then the shells were sold to visitors who wanted "something different."

One day Mary saw, in a layer of rock, a fishlike skeleton. Calling her father to the scene, she showed him what she had discovered. With great care, the skeleton was taken out. It proved to be the first fossil of a Fish Lizard ever recorded.

Since that time, other Fish Lizards

The front part of the petrified skeleton of a Fish Lizard. Fossilized remains have been found. An excellent petrified skeleton was dug up in Germany. The scientific name for a Fish Lizard is "Ichthyosaurus."

Fish Lizards grew to be from eight to 10 feet long. They lived during the Jurassic Period, at the same time that dinosaurs roamed the land, and Flying Reptiles made flights in the air.

Mary Anning grew up to be a scientist. At the age of 22 she found the remains of the first Plesiosaurus (or Near Lizard) on record. Later, at the age of 29, she discovered the first Flying Reptile to be taken from the rocks of Great Britain.

Tomorrow: The End of Dinosaurs.

Bulk Purchasers Get Wholesale Rates At Bugg's

People who like to eat a lot of meat but who do not like to pay the present day over-the-counter prices would do well to check with Bugg Wholesale Meat Company.

Because anyone who wishes to buy in bulk can buy at Bugg's. Prices of the bulk purchases are considerably lower than the prices in retail markets about the city. The concern sells the best meats available at the cheapest possible prices.

Finis Bugg, operator of the company, gives the customer every consideration, assuring the utmost in service and friendliness. Individuals are welcome to inspect the meats and watch while cuts are being made.

A large saving can be realized by buying meats at the wholesale prices, Bugg points out. The same price tags are on meats sold to individuals that are on meats sold to market managers here.

Individuals who own home freezers have found that it pays to purchase their meats from Bugg. They realize a tremendous savings with the purchase of a whole beef or pork side.

With the home freezers it is easy to store a side or more, with plenty of room to spare.

Wholesale prices range from 30 to 55 cents per pound for a beef side, and one side will make a whole of a lot of meat, supplying the kitchen table for some time.

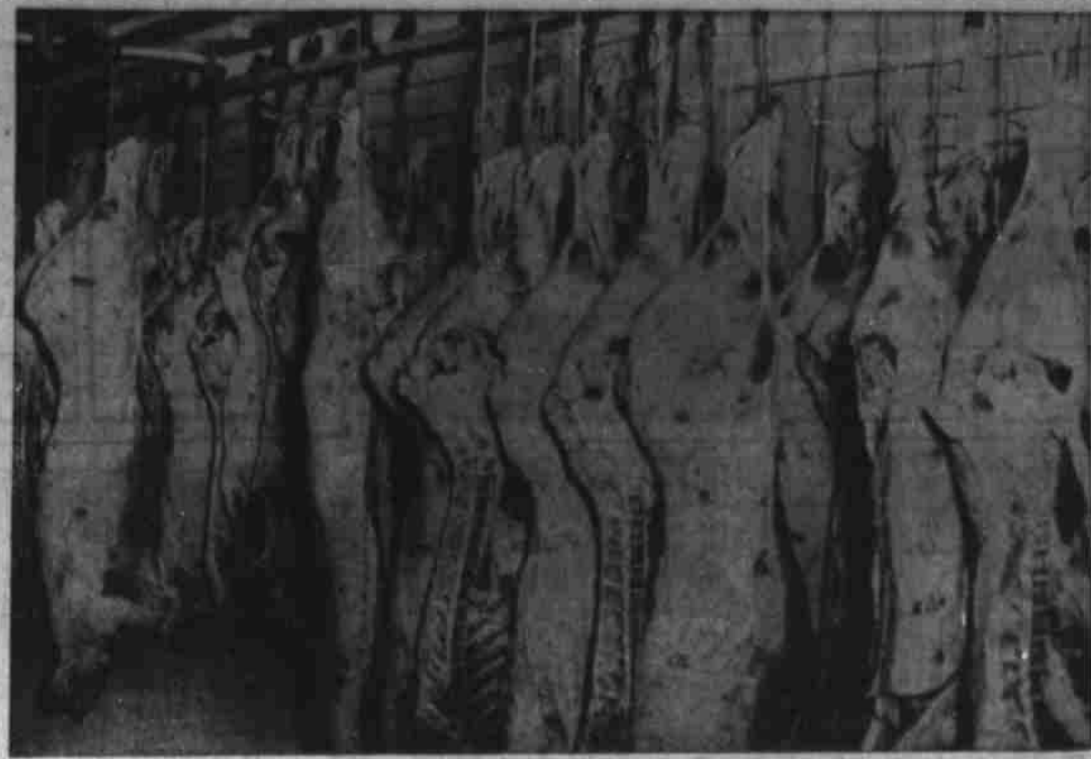

Bugg Wholesale Meat Company, located just west of the city on the Andrews Highway, is in a position to supply the wholesale buying public with the meats needed because the firm does its own slaughtering.

Hams, hog halves, other pork selections, etc., are available in quantity as well as the beef selections. Anything that is desired on the kitchen table in the way of meats can be purchased in bulk at the establishment.

The firm also processes meats for freezer and bulk customers. Beef sides or hog halves will be cut to any specification desired at a cost of only four cents per pound. Customers can take their own meats to the firm for processing or buy the meat there at wholesale prices. After cutting the meat to specification, employees wrap it and put it in the quick-freeze cooler at the plant.

This quick-freeze operation saves the customer's freezing unit about 48 hours labor. It usually takes two full days and nights for the home freezers to chill the meat.

Phone number at the establishment is 4-2901, and orders will be prepared and waiting for those wishing to call.

Beef In Bulk At Bugg

Anyone desiring to make bulk purchases of beef or pork can buy at wholesale prices at Bugg Wholesale Meat Company, on the Andrews Highway. The concern offers free delivery service. Anyone can buy meats at Bugg, and people with home freezers find the prices very attractive. Beef halves from 120 to 160 pounds cost 35 cents per pound, front quarters go for 25 cents per pound, and hind quarters are sold for 45 cents per pound. Halves and quarters will be cut to specification and wrapped for only four cents a pound. Bugg Wholesale Meat Company, operated by Finis Bugg, also slaughters animals. This service is done in exchange for the hide. Customers are invited to watch market men cut and wrap the individual selections. Individuals can make bulk purchases on any type of meat, and the same price tag is offered to them that is given to market managers.

The coloristic styling, said to have originated in Hollywood, the motion picture capital, when the cinema stars made special request for such colors, is as enduring as it is beautiful.

San Angelo Colts Here For 3 Games

Teams In Twin Bill Tuesday

The pace-setting San Angelo Colts invade Big Spring for a three-game series with Bob Martin's Cosden Cops, beginning this evening at 8:15 p.m.

The locals are just off a five-game road trip and things haven't gone very well for them. They lost four of five games.

Likely Starters

Don Newcombe, left, Brooklyn Dodgers, and Early Wynn, right, Cleveland Indians, both righthanders, appear to be the likely choices as starting pitchers for the National and American Leagues, respectively, in the 22nd annual major league All-Star game to be played in Milwaukee next Tuesday. (AP Wirephoto).

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Between them, the LeFevre twins, Jay and Zay, have fanned 493 batters in four seasons of Little League competition here. The aggregate would probably have been higher but for the fact that Zay has been pitching only for the past two seasons — he started out as an outfielder.

All-Star Teams In Good Shape

By JOE REICHLER
MILWAUKEE — For the first time in years, the American and National League squads come up for the annual All-Star Game tomorrow with "rested" pitchers and a minimum of injuries.

Sluggers Take Over In Loop

By The Associated Press
It was a great day for the sluggers in the hit-happy West Texas-New Mexico League Sunday.

Collectively, they've won 25 mound decisions while losing only five times. In three or four seasons, both should be of tremendous help to the local high school team.

There are those who insist that the boys are older than 12. They should give the Little League officials more credit for thoroughness than that. The lads couldn't be playing Little League ball without birth certificates.

The situation is far from good for the Artesia Longhorn League club.

An Artesia sports writer, in a telephone conversation with this window Saturday, said the drive to raise $10,000 and save the NuMexers was only a little more than half way toward success.

Woodson was considered one of the greatest players who ever reached the University's campus. Before he checked in at UT, he went to Ole Miss. After he departed, Johnny Vaught, the Ole Miss coach, moaned that Ben was the only player he ever had who learned all the plays in three days.

Ben was a fierce competitor and believed in fighting the psychological and the physical battle. He's the boy who antagonized Big Spring players several years ago by tossing grass into their faces and suggesting they had best get out of his way.

Some of the young men had long memories, though. Ben was gone the following year but Brownwood and Big Spring were to meet again.

Ray Masters was the Brownwood bell-wether that year. Big Spring took the Lions measure in a practice game early in the year, 13-6, but Brownwood partisans claimed that Big Spring attendants had wet down part of the field in order to slow down Masters.

The playoffs arrived and the teams came to grips in bi-directional competition. Brownwood rooters reminded local people of the "watering incident" and said nothing like that would take place that time because the game was being played in Brownwood.

Masters got his boys off to a great start, scoring twice before Big Spring could untrack.

Brick Johnson then intercepted a Brownwood pass and barreled down to the Lion field. There was no stopping the Steers, after that.

They all but uncoupled Masters and the Lions in surging to a 23-12 victory.

Woodson was on the sidelines that day, wondering, no doubt, what had come over the Steers. He had helped provide them with an avenging spirit, with his fierceoms play the previous year, whether he knew it or not.

Wright Is Sixth In Invitational

MIDLAND, (SC) — Bobby Wright of Big Spring finished sixth in the second annual Ranchland Hills Invitational Golf Tournament which terminated here Sunday.

Wright had a closing 75 to finish with a medal score of 291, nine strokes back of the winner, Wendy Green of Midland. Green had a closing 19 for a score of 282.

Marcelino Moreno, Midland; and John Paul Cain, Sweetwater, finished in a tie for second place, each with 286, and Moreno won a special playoff.

IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Hose And Detroit May Be Out Of It

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
No one won the American League pennant in the last 10 days, but it could be that the Chicago White Sox and Detroit Tigers lost it in that span.

With the All-Star game break at hand, the New York Yankees hold a five-game lead over the Cleveland Indians, who are a length in front of the White Sox. Ten days ago, the Yanks were 5½ games ahead of the Indians.

The Yanks played .500 ball, meeting mostly second division clubs, for the 10 days. Cleveland won eight of 12. The White Sox and Tigers, who faded at the same time last season, lost six of 11 and nine of 12, respectively.

New York played at the same 50-50 pace yesterday, beating Washington 5-3 after losing the first game of the twinbill 6-4. Cleveland defeated Chicago 5-2, but lost the nightcap 4-3. Boston beat Baltimore 10-7 before rain washed out the second game. Detroit whipped Kansas City 10-1 after the A's had won 9-5.

In the National, Brooklyn's lead was trimmed to 1½ games in a 3-2 defeat by New York as second place Milwaukee split with Cincinnati. The Braves won 7-4, then lost 7-4. St. Louis whipped Chicago 7-2 and Philadelphia trimmed Pittsburgh 4-1 before losing 3-1.

The Yanks were beaten in a six-run fifth by the Nats that chased Whitey Ford. Carlos Paula homered to open the rally. In the nightcap, Mickey Mantle—whose two homers had gone to waste in the first game—whacked his 21st with a man on in the fourth.

Virgil Trucks saved the day for Chicago, giving Cleveland four hits in eight innings of the second game. Bob Nieman's two-run homer off loser Herb Score wiped out an early 4-0 Indian lead on Larry Doby's solo shot. Bobby Avila's bases-loaded triple wrapped up the opener as Ray Nariski and Don Most protected Art Houtteman's sixth victory.

The Red Sox collected a three-run homer from Williams, yet needed a five-run eighth to subdue the Orioles. A bases-loaded walk by Harry Dornish and two-run singles by Billy Goodman and Norm Zauchin did it. Gus Triandos homered twice for Baltimore.

The Giants won their three-game set with the Dodgers as Willie Mays' single drove in the winning marker in a two-run sixth inning. Milwaukee won its sixth straight in the opener before Cincinnati ended its own six-game losing streak. Ted Kluszewski belted his 29th homer in the first game, but two unearned runs in the sixth won for the Braves. It was Gene Conley's 11th victory. The Redjens enjoyed four unearned runs and Walley Post's two-run homer to take the nightcap from Warren Spahn.

Luis Arroyo made his third try for No. 10 and won for the Cards. Switch-hitting Red Schoendienst slapped two doubles—a righthanded and a lefthanded triple in support of the rookie southpaw.

Ned Garver tamed the A's on four hits in the nightcap after Kansas City had clipped the Tigers for 18 safeties in the first game.

The Dusters knocked off 61st Maintenance in two straight games in the first round of the playoffs. Coahoma had to go three games before ousting Cosden.

Trophies to the winners and runners-up will be presented following the final game.

Direll's Sporting Goods of Big Spring is supplying the championship award while a group of Coahoma business men will furnish the runner-up cup.

Baseball Men To Discuss Bonus Rule At Game Site

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Any time that two or more baseball club owners or general managers are seen in deep conversation at Milwaukee today and tomorrow, the odds are that they will not be discussing either (A) the All-Star Game or (B) the problem of what to do about the tiger they have by the tail, television.

What's killing them at the moment is the bonus rule they adopted so hopefully a few years ago and which they have seen grow into a monster of alarming men. They agree that something must be done about it soon before everybody gets devoured, but they scarcely know where to begin.

The rule states that a youngster who receives more than $4,000 for signing a contract automatically becomes a bonus player and must be kept by the parent club for two years before he can be sent to the minors for the seasoning he almost invariably needs.

Well, that's not exactly what it states, but it might as well. The boy can be sent down if his owners, who paid him maybe $30,000 to sign, wish to risk losing him for the $10,000 draft price at the next winter meeting, which is not likely.

The thought behind the rule was a laudable one. It would crimp the wealthy club's practice of outbidding their poor cousins for the top prospects and then hiding them out on their farm teams while they developed into big leaguers. If they knew that their prices would have to sit like lumps on the bench for two seasons they would think twice before they threw their money around. The ragged clubs would get their share of future stars at bargain rates.

That was the theory, and in practice, it hasn't worked out that way at all. Each of the rich and powerful clubs still is paying the top price to grab off one or two of the most sought after prospects and letting them sit it out, without really impairing their reserve strength under the 25-player limit. The weak and less affluent teams, needing desperately to build for the future, find their benches cluttered with fuzzy-chinned kids who are of no earthly use to them now and have their playing strength impaired to that extent.

Ray Speer Sent Home By Tribe

MIDLAND, (SC) — Ray Speer, sidelined recently with a displaced knee cartilage he suffered in a collision with Frank Pickens in a game at Big Spring, has been sent home by the Midland Indians.

Speer was the Indians' only catcher, other than regular Rudy Briner.

Braves Rip Tiger Nine

The Big Spring Braves steam-rolled the Snyder Tigers, 15-4, in a game played in Steer Park here Sunday.

The Braves, in winning their fifth decision in eight starts, blanketed the visitors until the ninth inning.

Allen Earl Gilbert struck out 16 batters in the 8-13 inning he worked. He got 12 on strikes in the first five innings. Cornelius Price succeeded him on the mound but couldn't retire a batter. Lieutenant Scaggs came in and retired the last two batters.

The Braves scored their runs with the help of 21 hits and six enemy errors. The Braves committed three errors and yielded seven hits to the Tigers.

The Braves had a fourth inning home run with none on for Big Spring. He had two hits, as did Clarence Williams, Billy Weatherall, Robert Lee Johnson and Alvin King.

The win was the second straight for Big Spring over Snyder.

Paddy DeMarco Tries Ralph Dupas In New Orleans Ring

By MURRAY ROSE
Former lightweight champion, Paddy DeMarco, hoping to strike it rich again at Ralph Dupas' expense, meets the New Orleans youngster for the second time in a 10-rounder in New Orleans tonight.

Just 18 months ago, the Brooklyn veteran was a fading fighter apparently on the way out following three beatings in four fights. Then he met and edged Dupas in a New Orleans and two months later won the lightweight crown from Jimmy Carter. Carter took back his "loan" eight months later by stopping bustling Paddy in the 15th round.

The next time out DeMarco was knocked out in the fifth round by France's Serafin Ferrer. The 27-year-old DeMarco came back to outpoint Libby Manzo, a crude youngster, in two 10-rounders, the last on May 16.

All Teams Tied In Texas Loop

Victories scored by the American Legion and Reed Oil in Texas Little League play Saturday night left all four teams tied for first place in the standings.

The Legion bounced the Locals, 13-5, while Reed Oil was winning over the Oilers, 8-5.

Reed Oil toppled the Oilers with the aid of only three base hits. Errors and walks led to the Oilers' downfall.

Earl Wayne Harper hit a one-run home run for the Oilers in the fourth.

Each team has now won one and lost one.

San Angelo Fails To Shake Artesia

San Angelo's Colts are fast out-distancing most of the Longhorn League pack—but can't shake Artesia off their backs.

San Angelo topped Carlsbad 5-3 Sunday night. But Artesia won too, 9-5 over Big Spring, to stay just two games back.

Midland, in third place, fell to Roswell 11-3. Hobbs jarred Odessa 12-9.

Carlsbad managed a run in each of the first two innings to take a 2-0 lead, but the Colts went ahead with one in the third and two in the fourth.

Artesia broke a 5-5 tie with a three-run burst in the bottom of the fifth.

Wright Is Sixth In Invitational

MIDLAND, (SC) — Bobby Wright of Big Spring finished sixth in the second annual Ranchland Hills Invitational Golf Tournament which terminated here Sunday.

Wright had a closing 75 to finish with a medal score of 291, nine strokes back of the winner, Wendy Green of Midland. Green had a closing 19 for a score of 282.

Marcelino Moreno, Midland; and John Paul Cain, Sweetwater, finished in a tie for second place, each with 286, and Moreno won a special playoff.

U. S. Seeks Surety On Memphis Plant

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration officials studying possible cancellation of the Dixon-Yates contract apparently sought ironclad assurance today that the city of Memphis will build its own power plant.

They arranged a conference with Memphis Mayor Frank Tobey and Maj. Thomas H. Allen, president of the city's light, gas and water division.

Tobey and Allen were called here to meet with Atty. Gen. Brownell, Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes and Chairman Vogel of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The three were designated by President Eisenhower to restudy the whole matter of the controversial private power contract after Memphis announced plans to build its own plant rather than buy Dixon-Yates power through the TVA.

The 107-million-dollar Dixon-Yates plant under construction at West Memphis, Ark., across the Mississippi River from Memphis, was intended primarily to supply power for the Memphis area, replacing TVA power diverted to atomic installations.

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandow

Know How To Walk?

Do you know how to walk?

"Silly question," you say. "I learned that before I was two years old."

Could be, but most teens find they are ready for a second course before they launch themselves into the dating world. Are you? Rate yourself on the following questions and see.

- When two couples are walking:
  - each girl walks with her date, but with the girl on the inside; the arrangement being: girl, boy, girl, boy.
  - both girls walk together on the outside with both boys together on the inside.
- In a movie when there is no usher:
  - the girl goes first.
  - the boy leads the way.
- Who leads the way onto the dance floor?
  - the boy.
  - the girl.
- If an arm is held while walking:
  - the boy holds the girl's arm.
  - she takes his arm.
- In stepping off a bus, the rule is:
  - ladies first.
  - gentlemen first.
- When getting into a taxi:
  - the boy gets in first so he may turn and help his date.
  - the girl gets in first, followed by her escort.

How did you do? If you made a straight B, you're smooth. You made a B-line to successful dating. Four correct indicates you have a fair amount of "know how." Your score is three, or less? Watch out. Some date is apt to call you a dink, and that's really a square bear.

(Have you a pet peeve you'd love to see a column discuss? Maybe it's something a date does or does not do that annoys you. Write it to Beverly Brandow in care of The Herald.)

On Way To Moscow

TOKYO (AP)—Radio Peiping said Ho Chi Minh, President of Red Vietnam, arrived in Novosibirsk yesterday on his way to Moscow.

Search Still On For Missing Child

DALLAS (AP)—Sheriff Bill Decker says his office "welcomes any reports we can get" on the disappearance June 29 of 22-month-old Gary Dewayne Bray.

"We are running down every rumor that comes in," Decker said. "So far we are just where we were the day the child disappeared."
