

L. McConnell Not Candidate For Office of District Judge Of 84th. Judicial District, Nov. 8th.

In view of the fact that an unparalleled situation has developed in the present write in campaign to elect a successor to the late Judge E. J. Pickens, I feel it is my duty to come out in the open and state to my friends and the voters of the 84th Judicial District that I am not a candidate for the office of District Judge.

Many of my friends who supported me so wholeheartedly in the primary election have become confused and muddled in the present situation. You voted for me as the Democratic nominee for District Attorney and that is the office I seek at the present time. I sincerely thank each of you for your past help in my various campaigns, and I greatly appreciate the fact that many of my friends would like for me to be promoted to the office of District Judge at this time. Circumstances make it impractical for me to be a candidate for two offices. I do not believe I would be treating my friends with the proper amount of consideration should I ask that they elect me to both offices of District Attorney and District Judge, and I take this means of settling this question. Vote for me for District Attorney. W. L. McCONNELL

Verna Gail Allen

If we were talking about a football team instead of a band, I would say in effect that here present the spark-plug of the team. Since Miss Verna Allen is not a football player but one of the important reasons why the Spearman Band has been receiving favorable comments over the entire state, we are it to the readers to coin a title that will fit this attractive Spearman girl.

DON'T NAME IT

WILL J. MILLER

District Attorney W. L. McConnell has made an official announcement that he will not be a candidate for district judge, leaving the write-in campaign in the hands of two avowed candidates Jack Allen of Perryton and Judge Aynesworth of Borger. For hundreds of voters of this county this message comes as a distinct relief. Both Allen and McConnell are popular in this county, and would have split the vote pretty evenly.

McConnell deserves some praise for his attitude in the matter of withdrawal from the race for district judge. He realized that he was placing his many friends on the spot. The district gave him an overwhelming vote of confidence in the primary election, and to ask these same friends to vote for him for both district attorney and district judge was asking a bit too much. McConnell is a talented young man and will no doubt ascend to the senior office as district judge at some future date.

In view of the fact that this newspaper and writer supported McConnell we now take pleasure in showing what influence (if any) we had. We do this in respect to the ability of Aynesworth, and in the neighborhood. Allen has most of us in a legal capering the past few years have learned to depend on and to appreciate his abilities of business, and thoroughness. We voters of the district him, the district judges believe he will get the people efficiently and amicably.

If we could only revamp and improve the farm product market like the new Fighting Lynx football team, we'd have sumpin'.

I believe the government ought to put a good football coach on every board and bureau and every department of the whole system. These coaches know that they must produce and believe you me they get the job done.

I'm telling you it wouldn't hurt a bit if Congressman Marvin Jones would take a course in coaching. He's plenty good as it is, but just think how much better he would be if he had the training of a football coach.

Thanks For The DEER Meat Will Hutton

The Will Miller family feasted on deer steak for two meals this week as result of a gift from Will Hutton. Mr. Hutton returned the past week end from a 10 days deer hunt in Arizona. Bill killed his buck the first day of the hunt. It is alleged that he also shot a buck for one other man of the party on the last day of the hunting, but since it is strictly against the hunting rules, Mr. Hutton stoutly denies the allegation.

Perryton CCC Enrollees Bury 4,382 Ducks

Three truck loads of CCC men accompanied by two foremen, Lewis Buckner and Carol Voth, officiated at the funeral of 4382 ducks, poisoned when they spent the night Tuesday at a lake near the city of Dumas.

Vernon D. Yelton, U. S. game warden with headquarters at Albuquerque, N. M., supervised the disposal of the ducks, which were buried in trenches near the lake. All Panhandle sportsmen were horrified when it was learned the ducks had become poisoned as a result of vegetable growth in the usually dry lake. Several hundred of the ducks are being treated at an emergency station.

Contract Let For Paving Highway 117 to Stinnett

Contract was let Tuesday for grading, draining and paving Highway 117 from the Hansford county line to Stinnett. The total distance of 8.1 miles treatment called for in the contract. Coke and Braden of Amarillo were the successful bidders. The bid was for $93,798.00. Unofficial information states the road will go direct north out of Stinnett, connecting with the Dumas highway and will cut back to the present highway something like 2 miles from Stinnett. This will eliminate several dangerous curves in the highway.

REXALL ONE-CENT SALE WILL OPEN IN CITY. NOV. 2-3-4-5.

Bruce Sheets over at the Spearman Drug store is launching his annual 1c sale for November 2-3-4 and 5th. At this sale the standard merchandise which sells over the counter all thru the year is priced at regular prices, but for one cent extra double merchandise can be purchased.

This newspaper is on the spot in the matter of producing business for the sale. Despite the talk of "trade at home" among small town merchants, it is the custom of most drug stores to purchase the larger part of their advertising for these special sales, along with their merchandise. Attractive two color circulars which we are bound to admit look much nicer than any we print in Spearman usually carry the message of the sale. This year Mr. Sheets is paying more for circulars and adv. because he is buying them from his home town printer. The circulars will come to the people of the county just a simple one color printing job.

This paper is hoping that the people of Hansford county will appreciate this loyalty and buy their needs in large quantities. If you get a chance tell ole Bruce that you approve of his idea of trading at home—And if you can't read these circulars we put out for goodness sake come over to the Reporter office for an interpretation—don't let Bruce know they are as bad as all that.

Medical Society Formed In Four Counties

The Dallam, Hartley, Sherman and Moore County Medical Society was recently formed and began operation Oct. 1st. The purpose of this society is to render medical care and hospitalization to Farm Security Administration families. The society is composed of doctors and FSA clients in the four counties. Each family is charged from $14.00 to $25.00 according to its size while the doctors agree to render medical care and hospitalization to the families for the year.

Any doctor or hospital in any of four counties will give care to any family in any of the counties. The money that each family pays is placed in a fund from which at the end of each month the doctor's bills are paid unless the bills exceed the amount appropriated each month. If this is true then each bill is reduced until the society fund is able to pay. Practically every eligible family and all doctors in the four counties joined the society. Clients claim it to be a most economical method of obtaining medical care and hospitalization, while doctors say it gives them a definite means of getting pay for the services rendered.

The Farm Security Administration has made loans and grants for this program where the client was unable to pay his membership fees in this medical society.

We believe it to be the best medical insurance available for farm families with low incomes.

R. V. CONVERSE SAYS:

The Farm program is being lambasted from every side, by city farmers especially, they are supporting the domestic allotment plan, which would place an allotment on each peace of land of the amount of wheat, cotton, or corn, that could be sold on any peace of land for domestic use, on this domestic allotment, if produced, there would be a subsidy paid that would be supposed to bring the amount the farmer received up to parity, on the allotted amounts, and leave the balance to be waived or sold for export at any price available, under the present plan we are following the well marked road of controlling production to the point where all we raise should bring a fare price, and we do not need to go to the expense of handling a quantity of produce for less than the cost of production, it is well for everyone to give this matter some serious consideration before jumping into their representatives for a change.

It looks like Germany may permit Austria to start to invade Czechoslovakia, so that she may send troops in to settle the whole affair and then forget to bring them out. This would result in annexation of both countries at one stroke. Hitler seems to have an uncanny preception of how far he can go.

As mentioned in this column some time ago the public is being told that the trade treaty with Great Britain is running into difficulty, do not be deceived and forget who to vote for as this is only one way that is being used to divert the minds of the people from the November election.

Referring to this column of last week, first item, the boy bought one hog for $3.00 five calves for $50.00 and 94 sheep for $47.00. Yours, R. V. Converse.

HANSFORD FARMERS TO PARTICIPATE IN FIVE MILLION BENEFIT FUND

AMARILLO, Oct. 29—Farmers and ranchers of the drainage basins of the Coldwater and Palo Duro creeks in the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma now are eligible to participate in the benefits of the Department of Agriculture Water Facilities Program H. H. Fennell, regional conservator of the SCS announced today.

This area in which water resources will be developed includes Hansford, Dallam, Hartley, Sherman, Moore, Hutchinson and Ochiltree counties in Texas, and Beaver, Texas, and Cimarron counties in Oklahoma. Applications may be filed with the Soil Conservation Service or Farm Security Administration offices at either Dalhart or Guymon, Mr. Fennell said.

The waterfacilities program, which is to be carried out in the 17 semi-arid western states was authorized by the Water Facilities Act of August 1937, and during the current year, $500,000 is available for its administration. In addition, the FSA has set aside $5,000,000 to be used in helping eligible farmers develop such water resources as are needed to place them on a self-sustaining basis. This action makes available a total of $5,500,000 for the program in the 17 states during the current year.

Three bureaus of the Department of Agriculture are cooperating in the functioning of the Water Facilities Program. General plans for the selected areas are made by the Bureau of Agriculture Economics. These plans take into consideration the present and past land use, economic conditions, tax problems, surface and ground water supplies, and other natural conditions.

The Soil Conservation Service will furnish all technical assistance necessary for this work at no cost to the farmer. Farm plans for the operating unit then are written by the Farm Security Administration and any necessary loans for construction or installation of the water facilities are made by that organization. A policy has been adopted of concentrating the program in areas where the most good can be accomplished for farm welfare. Mr. Fennell stated. Assistance will be limited to those farmers who are not in a position to provide for themselves the complete water facilities needed.

In addition to repaying the cost of installation or construction under liberal terms, the benefiting farmer will be required to contribute as far as possible his own labor, materials and equipment to the construction facilities. The benefiting farmer also will be required to sign an agreement, binding for the duration of the loan, to insure maintenance of the facilities, compliance with a conservation plan, and repayment to the Government. When the benefiting farmers are tenants certain additional requirements will be made of the landlord as a protection against exploitation of the tenants.

Facilities that may be constructed under the program include ponds, reservoirs, wells, including repairs, detention, retention, and diversion dams; pump installations including windmills; spring developments; water spreaders; stock water tanks; flood irrigation and small irrigation projects, either for individual families or small groups of families, and facilities for recharging underground reservoirs.

Junior Hazlewood will return to Dr. Clayton, noted Fort Worth bone specialist Nov. 5.

High School Night At Baptist Church

Friday night, Oct. 20, was High School Night at the revival of the Baptist Church. There were approximately 50 teachers and students at the service. Members of the Hi School Chorus sat in the choir. A vocal sextet, Doris Jean Russell, Thora Jean Edwards, Denzil Lee Henderson, Betty Morton, Vera Beth Hoskins, and Polly Smith, sang "Living for Jesus", they were accompanied by Beuna Vernon. Everyone received an inspiration from Rev. Doyel's message, whose central theme was "What Shall A Man Profit to Gain the Whole World and Lose his Own Soul?"

Friday night has been designated as football boy's night, and all the boys are planning to attend.

PTA HAS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE STARTED

The room mothers of each class are sponsoring a membership drive for the PTA. Each child was asked to invite its parents to become a member and to bring 35c fee to the room teacher who gives the fee to the treasurer of the PTA. This drive ends Friday afternoon, and each room is attempting to have the largest number of parents join the PTA. Fathers, as well as mothers, are urged to become members, because special night meetings have been planned so that the men may have an opportunity to attend.

If you didn't see that game Friday, you missed something. The Spearman Lynx outplayed and outgamed a team that was heavier by, I think, ten pounds to the man. The Lynx took Boise City 19-0, scoring in the first, second and third quarters. Both Green was responsible for two touchdowns and Reed one.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Good or Bad Sportsmanship?

Good sportsmanship is something which should be taught in all schools. It is a trait that is looked for first in a team of any kind, or in any school.

There are many ways of determining good sports from bad ones. For instance in football—football is a rough game and a rather tedious one, I should imagine, but being a girl I wouldn't know. Sometimes during a tough game, its rather hard, I should think, not to be openly glad when the opposing team is penalized, but would it be good sportsmanship to show it? And another thing—does it show poor sports or good ones for the spectators to cheer over a penalty? Or on the other hand if your team is losing, what do you do? Do you jeer and poke fun at the opposing team? If you do, your spirit of sportsmanship is practically nil. Or, have you ever seen the supporters of one side act mistreated if their side is on the small end of the score. They say that the officials are unfair, and go on and on until everyone is fed up with their constant grumbling.

Another thing—is damaging your opponents property exactly good sportsmanship? Don't mark on the dressing room walls or break a window, even though it does seem a good idea at the time. Perhaps later you'll regret it, and I'm sure your opponent would just love it.

There are many other ways of showing good or bad sportsmanship, and I could probably write a book on the subject, but I think you'll understand what I'm driving at. Don't be a poor sport!

—Betty Morton.

Samplings

Students in the senior and sophomore English classes have been writing papers on Fire Prevention. The following is a poem written by Chalmers Porter.

FIRES
(With apologies to Amy Lowell)
Fires,
Light red,
Orange,
Yellow,
Color of fire.

You have not forgotten the damage you can cause;
You are only waiting, panther-like,
To spring from your light sleep among the forests of dead leaves

In response to the careless camper's match,
And destroy the veteran giants of the forest
In a trice.

Fires,
Light red,
Orange,
Yellow,
Color of fire.
You are caused by matches,
You are caused by gasoline,
You are caused by electricity;
You dwell in flint and steel
Surely if mankind only realized what death and destruction you wreak upon him,
He would do much to destroy you in places where you breed,
And make you more his servant

Seventh Grade

Well, six weeks exams are over and most of us made the grade. Seven made the A honor roll and ten made the B honor roll.

We are hoping to win the prize the PTA is giving for the classroom that has the most parents join the PTA.

In history we are making notebooks to illustrate "The Growth

With The Exes At Tech.

Perren Lyon and Craig Davidson turned their backs on dear old Tech for Canyon, My! My! such school spirit. However, it was only temporarily, as they wished to visit some of their old schoolmates and well... They found Frances Hoskins, Elizabeth Ann Miller and the rest very well thank you. Both of these boys from Tech looked their part—the typical collegiate with their green (?) trousers, a walk with that certain swing, and the position in which they held their thumb out on the highway gave the finishing touches.

Your reporter found out that Martha Delon Kirk isn't doing badly at all in Amarillo: she had many visits from flames, too. It is believed, but not ascertained, that Edwin Reed is enrolled in Amarillo Junior College. Elsie Ruth Porter didn't leave her brilliance at Spearman Hi, when she graduated, as she made one of the highest grade at TCU on a fish Eng. test.

Your reporter encountered a student from Austin College in Sherman, and as she terms it Elizabeth is going over with a bang! (Well, a boy who is president of freshman class, football hero, etc. is nothing to be sneezed at eh, Lora Elizabeth.

Fifth Grade

Saturday the 5th B grade celebrated a siege of bad weather by a picnic. Everyone was to dress like a hobo. Part of us tried to look tacky; the rest of us looked that way without trying. We tied our lunches on sticks and carried them over our shoulders, regular tramp fashion. We started to hike to our destination but a few of us got cold feet and, therefore, we all rode. Our room mothers, Mrs. Williams and our teacher Miss Douglas were our sponsors. We played several games, ate lots of food, and in the customary conclusion, I say, "A good time was had by all."

Book of the Week

This week, it's 'books of the week' instead of the usual 'book of the week.' I want to give you just a brief sketch of two of Louisa M. Alcott's books. Perhaps her books are a trifle 'youngish' for high school students, but I have found many who have not even read any of Miss Alcott's books. And to my estimation, one's education has been sadly neglected if he hasn't read at least one of her books. Even if he does start reading Alcott's works when he is rather old for that type of book, he'll enjoy them or most of them, anyway.

For instance, take "Little Men" and "Little Women". Little Women is a story of four fun-loving girls who are almost grown—Meg, the oldest and perhaps the most sensible; Jo, the reckless tomboy, but loved by all; Beth, who is just fragile, lovely Beth; and last of all, Amy, the youngest March. These girls have fun and are happy, and but, all in all, the style in which Miss Louisa Alcott portrays her characters makes one almost envy them.

"Little Men", is a story of Jo's boys, or rather, it's a story of Jo's and her husband's school for boys, Plumfield. "Little Men" is a sympathetic story of boys who haven't had an exactly fair chance in their lives. Not all boys who were particularly poor or crippled in any way, but boys whom Jo and her husband have in great books for any age.

These two books of Louisa Alcott's are, I think, two of the best books ever written for juveniles. And—don't let the word 'juveniles' scare you. They are in great books for any age.

RESOURCES Incoming Governor Learns About Conservation

On the speakers' platform before engineers and members of Texas water conservation districts...

Speakers included Governor James V. Allred, who called the conference, former Governor Pat M. Neff, a long-time conservation advocate...

Allred's remarks were brief, directed toward a review of watershed district development during his administration.

Neff sketched the history of water conservation, recalled his message to the Legislature on the need for action, and the first conservation appropriation.

"The Legislature appropriated $600,000 some 15 or 16 years ago," he said. "Oh, yes, there was grumbling that it was all wrong."

"From that time on we began to do something. With the help of the federal government surveys of watersheds were made and 112 reservoir sites were found.

"We must conserve the water for agriculture, and agriculture will produce the raw materials for plants and factories. We must secure the welfare of our people both present and future."

The limiting factor in crop production, Agriculture Editor Victor H. Schoffelmayer of the Dallas News told the conservators, is not soil fertility as is generally believed, but water.

SIDE LIGHTS

By MARVIN JONES

In the current discussions of the farm bill many of the most desirable features have been overlooked. Some people have thoughtlessly urged that the measure be repealed. They overlook some very worthwhile features of the bill which I do not believe any thinking person would want repealed. Among these are the following:

1. The freight rate provision, which authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to file applications to correct the rank discriminations against agricultural products in the freight rate structure of the country. This has been one of the greatest burdens agriculture has suffered. I do not believe any thinking person actually interested in the success of the American farm would want this provision repealed.

2. The research provision, which provides for the establishment of laboratories in the different sections of the country and for the search for new markets, new outlets, and new forms of distribution for the various farm products that are produced. Surely no one wants this desirable feature repealed.

3. The export provision, which provides for 30 per cent of the tariff collections to be devoted to exporting farm commodities and to distributing these commodities and their products among the needy people in America. Surely no wise person would want this provision repealed.

4. The soil conservation provisions. Every man, woman, and child in America is interested in the conservation and rebuilding of the soils. Some of the finest work that has been done in this generation has been in connection with the soil conservation provisions of the act. I do not see how anyone can object to this provision.

5. The loan provision, which is intended to prevent complete price collapse. Last year we produced the greatest cotton crop in history. We produced the greatest wheat crop since 1915. In 1932, with a smaller cotton crop than in 1937, cotton sold at 4c and 5c per pound. In 1932 with a smaller wheat crop than in 1937, wheat sold at 20c per bushel.

Low and unsatisfactory as prices are now, they are infinitely better than there were in 1932. In addition, the cotton farmer is receiving a price adjustment payment, and the cotton and wheat farmers are to receive some additional parity payments.

If any cotton or wheat farmer will take his pencil and figure these payments and prices along side the 1932 tragedy, he will find how much better off he is with the present program than he would be with no program at all.

At the beginning of the 1938 cotton picking period there was a carryover of 13,000,000 bales—more than twice the annual consumption of cotton in the United States. Any program, any plan that may be offered must deal with this tremendous carryover.

Everyone familiar with the facts knew that the new farm act of 1938 was going into effect during the most difficult period that could be conceived. The tremendous surpluses that had been produced in our major crops complicated the problem to an extreme degree.

It seemstome that anyone sincerely interested in the success of the farm program should be willing to wait until there is a thorough try-out of the new measure or at least until one season has passed before beginning to sow the seeds of discord and stir up dissatisfaction.

No one claims the new law is perfect. On the other hand, no fair man can deny that it has many desirable features. No man is wise enough to predict in advance just how it will work out. This much is certain: anyone who is attacking it when the new season has just started is not making a contribution to the welfare of the farmer.

No doubt the experience found here can and should be applied to other crops.

By that time I am sure that the changes will be made. In the meantime I hope that all farmers and every sincere friend of agriculture will refrain from interfering to the end that the best possible results may be obtained.

Any act, for its success, depends upon three things:

1. The form of the law.

2. The character of administration.

3. The cooperation of those in whose interest it is enacted.

No law however perfect can be successful unless it is well administered. No law however perfect, even if well administered, can succeed unless the people who are affected are willing to cooperate. He does the farmer no service who lights the torch of intolerance and who undertakes to create dissatisfaction at the very time during which the most critical part of the work is being done.

The agricultural program today is not a bill. It is a movement, and the bills are but various steps in that movement.

It involves credits. We have the lowest farm interest rates that have ever prevailed in the history of this country.

It involves markets. We have a specific provision for widening

It involves the handling of vast surpluses which are times produced within the borders of America. Provision is made in the act by which the farmer under a 2-3 vote, can regulate the disposal of these surpluses. At the same time it provides for widening of markets and increasing the distribution of these surpluses.

There are more than 200 commodities produced in America, the value of some $9,000,000,000 in annual values. Any man who feels that he has a simple problem will find that the intricate and complicated problems of the various farm commodities produced in this broad, big country, provide a challenge that is not thought of through.

I am sure that every true friend of the farmer is anxious for the law improved as it is. I am sure that by intelligent cooperative effort great improvements can be made.

That understood my eccentricities, who would loan me money, and who were concerned about me when my health was not buoyant.

boundary of Hansford county. From the comments pro and con one would think the little article was as important as some of the old age pension plans. Burl Brockus took occasion to ridicule the idea between coffee and sausages, and he got an unexpected kick-back, since one of his cash customers claimed that amount of cattle was about the right number. The argument got so hot Burl was finally informed that if he was so positive that a hundred thousand cattle could not be conted, fat and happy within Hansford boundaries, said customer would go up to Walter Good's eporium where a man can graze anywhere from a hundred thousand to five million head. This writer is willing to concede that he was half wrong in estimating a hundred thousand head of cattle in the county. Counting calves, milch cows and all there are at least fifty thousand head at this time, and that's my story and I'm sticking with it.

Prosperity is just around the corner, and if we work the 'break' correctly, we will have a mortgage on Ochiltree county after Nov. 11. We are reliably informed that our friendly enemy from the decided to take Perryton November 11th. As plenty bad last year, they leged they have a much better team this year than last year—
