

Wage Stabilization Studied; Unionists Protest WPB Ruling

CIO Leaders Dissatisfied With Decision

Work Stoppage Reported At Several Industrial Plants

BETHLEHEM, Pa., July 17 (AP)—The executive committee of five CIO United Steel Workers local unions expressed dissatisfaction today with the war labor board's recommendation of a 44-cent-a-day increase for "little steel" employes and described the situation in this steel center as "tense and explosive."

The WLB decision is "causing definite unrest in the Bethlehem steel plant here," the committee declared in telegrams to President Roosevelt, CIO President Philip Murray, and William H. Davis, WLB chairman.

Four hundred members of the CIO United Automobile Workers Union stopped work at the Ford Motor company's No. 2 body plant at Iron Mountain, Mich., yesterday and remained idle today, with 175 men in the chemical department having joined them. The unionists demanded weekly wage payments, instead of bi-weekly payments, cancellation of the stagger system of employment, and return to their jobs of two men.

In Pittsburgh members of the AFL Building Trades Union continued a walkout started yesterday protesting that the war production board had refused to authorize a 25-cent-an-hour pay increase.

Passengers on motor buses in Detroit were forced in some instances this morning to alight and seek other modes of transportation to jobs in war plants and offices when bus operators went on strike contrary to the counsel of their AFL leaders and stopped conveyances driven by non-striking drivers, ejecting the passengers.

A General Motors corporation tank plant at Flint, Mich., was idle for the third day due to a walkout which strikers said was caused by the discharge of 30 welders who left their jobs Monday to go outside the plant to smoke.

The huge Willow Run bomber plant of the Ford company experienced an hour and a half sitdown strike early last night which company officials said was an unauthorized action protesting the company's removal of a special telephone service system it contended was installed without "proper arrangements" company and union officials said full production was resumed after the brief stoppage.

GRAIN DESTROYED

FREMONT, Neb., July 17 (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed grain in an Uplike Grain company storage warehouse yesterday at a loss its owners estimated at $10,000. The structure was of 100,000 bushel capacity and almost filled with wheat.

U. S.-FINNISH BREAK IS NEAR

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Finland and the United States were one move short of an open break in diplomatic relations today, with the Helsinki government preparing to close all its consular offices in this country in compliance with a Washington request.

The state department, in disclosing last night that it had asked the Finnish government to discontinue its consular activities in the United States not later than August 1, announced that it already had cancelled the consular commissions of American consular officials in Finland and was closing immediately the consular section of the American legation in Helsinki.

The status of the American legation itself and that of the Finnish legation in Washington remain unchanged, but the closing of the consulates was reminiscent of a similar development in German-American relations. The closing of German consular offices in this country and of American consular offices in Germany was one of the preliminaries leading up to the final rupture and declaration of war.

Secretary of State Hull warned last November that "if Finland desires to maintain our friendship now and later, satisfactory evidence must be forthcoming that it is the intention of the government of Finland to discontinue promptly offensive military operations against Soviet territory."

Union Leaders Wounded, Wife Of One Slain

CHICAGO, July 17 (AP)—Two bosses of Chicago's brawling painters' union were wounded and the wife of one of them was killed in an exchange of gunfire early today.

Mrs. Loreta Youngblood, 35, was dying of a bullet wound in the breast when police arrived at her west side home. In another room, shot through the right arm, was her husband, Charles, one of the leaders of Local 147 and a member of the painters' district council.

Detective Marvin Nelson said the Youngbloods told him they had been shot by Arthur Wallace, secretary and treasurer of the painters' district council No. 14.

About an hour after the Youngbloods were fired upon, Wallace was found lying on the lawn of the Franklin Boulevard hospital. He had been shot in the abdomen, but police said he refused to tell them who wounded him.

Fleeing together the events preceding the shootings, police learned that Youngblood and Wallace had attended a meeting of the council last night and had been seen talking together quietly. Later the Youngbloods visited a tavern.

They had been home about five minutes Nelson said Youngblood told him, when the doorbell rang. Mrs. Youngblood answered it, and "they came in."

Apparently the shooting began at once, Nelson said.

Brother Of Missing Soldier Enlists

James L. Skiles, whose brother is carried on the army's missing list, enlisted in the U. S. Army through the Big Spring recruiting station Thursday.

His brother, Lieut. Leonard Skiles, with a New Mexico national guard unit, was last reported on Bataan. His family resides here now.

James Skiles, 19, was assigned to the air corps.

Case Against Four Of Nazis Finished

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The prosecution completed its case today against four of the eight submarine-landed nazis now on trial before a military commission here.

These four were those who landed on Long Island. Still to be completed is the prosecution's case against the four who landed in Florida.

Major General Frank R. McCoy, president of the military commission, made the announcement of progress and also said that the reading of a long document begun yesterday afternoon was completed at this morning's session.

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—Two men and a woman who the government says were aides of one of the eight Nazi saboteurs on trial in Washington were arraigned in federal court today and held in $50,000 bail each for a further hearing July 31.

They were Miss Hedwig Engemann, Helmut Leiner and Anthony Cramer, all of New York City, accused by the government of helping Edward John Kerling after he landed on the Florida coast last month from a German submarine.

The action came after three days of public hearings during which representatives of four firms of "sales engineers" in the nation's capital filed of earnings close to $2,000,000 during the last 18 months in fees for obtaining contracts for manufacturers throughout the country.

Robert E. Kline, an advisor in the office of under-secretary of the navy James V. Forrestal, told the committee that "it should be obvious that something is very wrong and that quick action should be taken to stop profiteering at government expense."

Oil Subsidy Plan Talked

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Senator George (D-Ga.) said today responsible representatives of large oil companies had told him that payment of government subsidies to meet increased transportation costs soon would assure a sufficient flow of petroleum into eastern states to make gasoline rationing unnecessary.

At the same time, he disclosed that a federal "war service" tax of 1 1/2 cents a gallon on petroleum products had been suggested to absorb the cost of these subsidies. He added that if the treasury approved, he would lay the proposal before the senate finance committee, of which he is chairman.

Previously, Secretary of Commerce Jones announced that the Defense Supplies corporation would assist in financing transportation and distribution of petroleum products to the eastern seaboard.

A gasoline price increase of 2 1/2 cents a gallon, permitted by the office of price administration in 17 rationed states, generally was expected to be cancelled when such subsidy payments become effective. However, a high government official, who asked that his name not be used, cautioned against expecting too much in the way of gasoline price reduction.

Says Gas Price Hike To Be Rescinded

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Majority leader McCormack (D-Mass.), said today Price Administrator Leon Henderson had assured him the recent two and one-half cent a gallon gasoline increase in eastern states soon would be removed.

McCormack said he did not know what plan had been worked out to meet the increased transportation costs which caused the hike, but it was understood the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would foot the bill.

Second Front Weighted With Difficulties

Public Pressure On Military Leaders May Be Dangerous

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

There can be no dispute with the assertion by Major General Zhuraviev, military expert for the Moscow News, that "the German command is trying to defeat the Red army before a second front can be opened in Europe," although that isn't the only reason for Herr Hitler's speed.

This second-front problem, involving as it does a water-borne invasion, presents more difficulties than a porcupine does quills. The fact that the Allied leadership hasn't yet attempted an invasion of Western Europe ought to make it clear that thus far it hasn't been possible. Our eagerness to help gallant Russia in her magnificent stand, and to smash Genghis Hitler, shouldn't be allowed to upset our perspective. After all, the Allied command is just as anxious to win this war as is the man in the street.

I am reverting to this subject again because it strikes me that the public pressure which is being aimed at all the Allied governments to compel an opening of a second front is a dangerous thing. The governments already have agreed that this front shall be opened as soon as feasible, and this is no time for civilians to try to force the hands of military leaders. When a surgical operation is to be performed you call in a specialist—and military decisions must be left to the professional soldiers.

Personally I've had a strong hunch recently that it wouldn't be long before there was an Allied invasion of Western Europe. That feeling, which still persists, isn't based on official information—it's just a hunch. However, if this unprecedented operation were undertaken without proper preparation it might produce an Allied disaster which would end the war then and there.

And don't forget this: if things went wrong with this great adventure, there would be a long, long line of Yankee boys, and other Allied boys, who wouldn't be coming back home.

The chances are that the second front isn't so very far in the offing. And should the Russians suddenly be faced with disaster, the Anglo-American invasion undoubtedly would be speeded to meet the crisis.

Freight Cars Are Delivered By Nazis To Turkey

ANKARA, July 16 (AP)—(Delayed)—Germany delivered to Turkey today four out of seven locomotives and 80 out of 500 freight cars which were contracted for several months ago.

German failure to deliver important heavy goods pledged to Turkey under their nine-month-old trade treaty, particularly railroad equipment and war material, had prompted Turks to demand that the Germans send them or admit they could not.

Two explanations may account for what appears to be a token German delivery.

First, Turkey has specified that none of her goods for Germany would be released until equivalent deliveries were made to her. Second, Britain has fulfilled her delivery schedules, meticulously, including competitive heavy industry equipment, and the Nazis may regard their prestige at stake.

Million Men Used In Invading Army; Losses Are Heavy

MOSCOW, July 17 (AP)—Masses of German infantry supported by their heaviest tanks—a force of perhaps 1,000,000 all told—marched through the lush, waist-high wheatfields of the Don steppes in a continuing offensive today as the Red army fell back both toward Stalingrad and Rostov.

Mindful of the hourly increasing threats to both of these important centers on the Volga elbow and the lower Don which flank each side of the entrance to the Caucasus, the Red army fought stubbornly from well-defended Voronezh on the north to the flat, river-wrinkled country southeast of Millerovo.

Near a river crossing southeast of Millerovo, 200 miles south of Voronezh, the Soviet fighters were reported to have handed a heavy blow to the invaders.

This river crossing was not named in Soviet dispatches, but it was not believed the German advance had yet surged to the junction where the east-west railway from Stalingrad joins the main Rostov-Moscow line.

(This might indicate that heavy fighting took place near Kamenak, or east of there. Kamenak is on the Donets 40 miles south of Millerovo. The Germans claimed they had cut the railway connecting Stalingrad with the Donets. This railway is just south of Kamenak.) The Russians said 14 German tanks were destroyed and 600 Germans killed in the battle at the crossing.

As the Russians fell back through the green fields which were to have played a large part in feeding their people this winter, reports told how the country-side was left littered with German dead, the burning wrecks of burned out tanks, and the snarl of ruins of guns and trucks.

In one other sector of this front, the Russians reported a hard punch in which 11 invading tanks were smashed and 1,500 Germans killed.

But the dispatches said the Germans were unimpaired by these losses, throwing in more men and machines strongly supported by air forces, as they advanced upon Stalingrad, now less than 175 miles from the flaming front, and Rostov 130 miles to the southwest.

At Voronezh Russian chases brightened with every new counterattack the stiffened Red army forces were throwing against the invaders.

But the Germans apparently were still clinging to positions at the west side of the city, and the danger to the city from the south, where Hungarian infantry and cavalry were attacking at the confluence of the Don and Voronezh rivers, was not lessened.

North and northwest of the city the Germans had been thrown back, leaving many ravines and hills and fields cluttered with broken machines and bodies.

Investigative said Germans were dying before Voronezh in the same proportions but on a larger scale than they did at Sevastopol. The Russians have reported that 60,000 Germans lost their lives taking the latter stronghold in the Crimea.

The Soviet information bureau estimated that Adolf Hitler still had lost 900,000 men in 90 days of spring and summer warfare.

Decision May Affect May Industries

Board Asserts Govt. Anti-Inflation Program A Factor

By The Associated Press
President Roosevelt told his press conference today that the whole question of wage controls and inflation is under study when asked for his reaction to the board's wage stabilization policy laid down by the war board to maintain the purchasing power of hourly wages at the levels of January, 1941.

He said no decision had been reached on when he might send a message to congress on the subject, and that the basis of all policy on the program was to keep the cost of living from going up.

Even as he talked unionists expressed dissatisfaction with the labor board's ruling, laid down in an 8 to 4 decision which permitted an increase of 44 cents a day in wages of workers in "little steel" who were seeking $1 a day increase through the CIO United Steel Workers. The labor members opposed the ruling.

There also were work stoppages over the nation which hampered the war effort.

Steel unionists quickly protested the WLB decision and Republic Steel Corporation, one of the four firms affected, said "the wage increase is a long step in the direction of inflation."

In another part of its decision, the WLB by another 8 to 4 vote, with industry members dissenting, granted union security through a maintenance of membership clause combined with a checkoff (collection) of union dues by the companies.

Writing the principal board decision on wages, Dr. George W. Taylor said the members had paid heed to President Roosevelt's anti-inflation program and the board "has determined that the following guiding principles should be applied in evaluating claims for wage increases:

"1. For the period from January 1, 1941, to May, 1942, which followed a long period of relative stability, the cost of living increased by about 15 per cent. If any group of workers averaged less than a 15 per cent increase in hourly wages during or immediately preceding or following this period, their established peacetime standards have been broken. If any group of workers averaged a 15 per cent or more increase, their established peacetime standards have been preserved.

"2. Any claim for wage adjustments for the groups whose peacetime standards have been preserved can only be considered in terms of the inequalities of the substandard conditions specifically referred to in the president's message of April 27, 1942.

"3. Those groups whose peacetime standards have been broken are entitled to have these standards reestablished as a stabilization factor.

"4. The board, as directed by the president in his April 27 message, will continue to 'give due consideration to inequalities and the elimination of substandard living.'

"5. Approximately 20 wage disputes, still pending before the board, were certified prior to the stabilization date of April 27. The question arises in these cases whether wage rates being paid on April 27, 1942, can or cannot be considered as 'existing rates' within the meaning of the president's message, or whether they then had the tentative character of disputed rates. Due regard must be given to any factors of equity which would be arbitrarily swept away by a change of rules in the middle of the game."

"The guiding principles outlined above insure, in general, that claims for wage rate adjustment can be considered on an equitable basis and in a manner which will further the national purpose to stabilize the cost of living."

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and of the United Steel Workers, declined comment pending the See LABOR, Pg. 6, Col. 5

New US Tanks Thrown Into Egypt Fight

Cairo, July 17 (AP)—British troops, engaged in a violent and still indecisive tank battle since yesterday in the center of the El Alamein desert line, were reported today to have brought up American-made General Lee tanks to give additional power to their defense.

The General Lee, an improved version of the General Grant mounts 75-millimeter guns in the turret instead of at the side and has streamlined armor. The General Grants previously had proved a mainstay of British armored forces in the desert.

The British were making stubborn efforts to hold their newly-won positions in the center of the line.

Sharp fighting also was reported at the southern end of the line, where the enemy was said to have withdrawn slightly, and in the coastal sector to the north.

The communique gave no hint as to how the battle in the center was going, but said that a number of enemy tanks had been knocked out. "Details of our losses are not yet known," the bulletin added.

Other dispatches from the front indicated that much of the armor strength of both sides was engaged in the struggle and it appeared that a crisis in the battle for Egypt was near.

Calling Of Younger Boys Unlikely Now, Says Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Although administration officials have been speaking repeatedly of the fact that this country always has called youths of 18 and 19 years to the colors in wartime, President Roosevelt told a press conference today that such a step was unlikely now.

He said nothing need be expected on this matter at any time soon.

Instructions Here On Bike Rationing

The local rationing board has received instructions for issuing certificates for the purchase of bicycles, newest item listed on the OPA rationing list.

Eligible under the instructions are persons engaged in gainful occupations and persons in work which contributes to the war effort or to the public welfare. However, all such workers are not eligible, as there are several specifications which must be met before anyone can qualify.

Texas Fight Attracting Attention In National Capital — Washington Would Welcome Either Moody Or Allred In Senate

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—None of the 34 United States senatorial campaigns has attracted more attention in Washington than the three-cornered conflict between ex-Governors of Texas for the full term in succession to the late Morris Sheppard.

With Josh Lee re-elected from Oklahoma, the Texas race now has no competition from the southwest from the standpoint of official Washington's interest, although in the South, the Mississippi campaign is something of a rival.

Charges and emphatic denials that Senatorial Candidate Jim Eastland of Mississippi had senate speeches printed with the intention of mailing them out over his state postage free under the franking privilege of incumbent Texas Senator W. Lee O'Daniel have linked the two campaigns.

Eastland said O'Daniel's franked envelopes were mailed to his office through a mistake, and that "every word of this campaign of vilification is false." O'Daniel in Texas commented: "Let them run their campaign and I will run mine."

and James V. Allred, an opponent, made extensive use of the affair in campaign speeches.

Administration circles so far have carefully refrained from taking an open hand in the Texas race this year, but it appears to be no secret that from the White House down a warm welcome would be extended either Allred or Dan Moody, the third contestant, if either should emerge on top the hear after the July 25 primary.

(Allred has come out strongly for all-out support of the president in the war effort—as have Moody and O'Daniel—but Allred has also said he had no intention of going to Washington as a yes man.)

Texas in Washington, naturally, are keenly interested in the fight in their home state.

Representative Wright Patman of Texas, who is head of the Texas State Society here, said he had received numerous calls from persons working in various governmental departments inquiring about procedure for casting absentee ballots in the Texas race.

Patman said he didn't ask the inquiries whom they were going to vote for.

"I don't think any member of the Texas house delegation should publicly state his preference among the candidates," added Patman.

During a special session last summer, when O'Daniel won his seat to serve out the remainder of the term of the late Senator Sheppard, Speaker Rayburn of Bonham and other Texas representatives publicly supported candidates. Patman recalled that circumstances then were different than today.

Although the Texas members of congress aren't publicly stating their sympathies, private conversations disclose that generally they are divided into two groups. Those who are strong administration supporters are backing Allred, who gave up a federal judgeship to enter the senate race. Others are supporting Moody, saying that he made a good governor and is an able statesman and lawyer who would be a credit to his state in the national legislature.

Marriage Totals Go To A New High

WASHINGTON, July 17. (AP)—War has brought America its biggest crop of marriages.

The census bureau estimated that last year there were 1,679,000 weddings, which averaged 12.6 for every 1,000 population—7.3 per cent higher than 1940 and 22.1 per cent higher than 1939.

The previous record was 12 marriages per 1,000 population in 1920, following the return of the doughboys from France.

Help Your Percolator Last for the Duration*

Electric percolators, like many other household appliances, are out of production due to the war. You'll want to take good care of the one you have so that it will last.

Don't let your percolator boil dry and be careful not to put it in water, for it might burn out. Use only a damp cloth to wipe the outside, and avoid letting the cord become twisted or frayed.

When your percolator refuses to "perc," it may be that the fuse in the base is loose or has burned out. Stores which sell electric appliances and electric shops usually can replace the fuse in a few minutes.

Chet Laabs' Hitting Spree Is The Big News Right Now

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The biggest batting spree of the season is now being staged by little Chet Laabs of the St. Louis Browns and, brother, when he hits people forget all about the complaint that the ball is dead this year.

In the last six days he has hit for four home runs and driven in 16 tallies with amazing raids at New York, Boston and Philadelphia. His total production all last year for the Browns was 15 homers and 50 runs batted in, but with his recent surge he already has brought his mark for this season to 15 circuit clouts and 58 runs driven in.

Laabs started his chain of fire-crackers against the Yankees last Saturday with a two-run homer off Ernie Bonham in the ninth.

The next day in Boston he socked the Red Sox into submission. He made a double and a single in the first game and in the second game of the doubleheader he batted in five runs, three of them on a homer in the ninth. Monday was an open date and Tuesday the Red Sox sidetracked trouble by walking him twice.

Wednesday night again he drove in five runs at Philadelphia. He homered with the bases loaded in the first inning and tripled with one on in the second, barely being thrown out at the plate trying for an inside the park home run.

Yesterday he drove in four runs to beat the Athletics again, hitting two homers each with a mate aboard, to help Al Hollingsworth win 5-1. Laabs' impetus has boosted the Browns to an even .500 percentage and a tie with the Detroit Tigers for fourth place.

Detroit stumbled to its fifth straight defeat and eighth in nine games last night at Washington. The Tigers made six errors and lost 6-3 in ten innings even though the Senators were held to five hits. One of them was George Case's single for the deciding run.

In the meantime the New York Yankees boosted their first place margin to 7 1/2 games by belting the Cleveland Indians 8-6 while the Chicago White Sox nosed out Boston 3-2. Ernie Bonham pitched seven-hit ball for the Yankees' fifth straight triumph, but served up homers to Les Fleming and Oris Hockett. Red Rolfe hit his second homer in four days and two strikes to lead the New York attack and Joe DiMaggio hit in his 13th game in a row.

At Chicago the wrought-up Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers divided a doubleheader in approximately five hours of paying strict attention to baseball. The Cubs made 14 hits and took the first contest 7-0 with Lon Warneke helping Lefty John Schmitz in the ninth.

Then Brooklyn battled back in the nightcap to win 2-1 when Arky Vaughn pinch singled, Pete Reiser doubled and Joe Medwick singled to account for two runs in the seventh after Lou Stringer had homered for Chicago in the fifth. John Allen and Hugh Casey combined to hold the Cubs to seven hits.

Mel Ott shook up his New York Giants at Pittsburgh, sending reserve First Baseman Babe Young to centerfield for the first time in his life, and old Carl Hubbell conjured up a four-hit pitching masterpiece that stopped the Pirates 3-1. It was Hub's third win and he had a two-hit shutout till the ninth.

The Phils, led by Deany Litzwhiler, who batted in three runs and scored twice, topped the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 in ten innings. Cincinnati took a 7-4 decision from the Boston Braves, even though Ernie Lombardi hit his second homer in two days and made three other safeties against his old teammates.

Recent reports indicate that the coaches are expecting Border conference football to be the toughest in history this year, which will be the first season for the loop to operate with nine clubs competing for the title. Although there were nine members last year, Texas Tech didn't have enough conference games scheduled to qualify for the grid championship. Tech, the University of Arizona and Harvard-Simmons are expected to have a slight edge, but there is not likely to be a wide margin. However, opinion at this early date seems to be that the eventual winner will be one of the three. If we were to hazard a guess as to who would be next in power it probably would be West Texas State, the choice being made purely on the type of ball they have played in recent years and the fact that Gus Miller, new head mentor, is a good builder.

Phoeph dept.—The night of the all star game, Joe DiMaggio is getting ready to be pulled out of his slump... Well, since then... And the fans are finally laying off, after giving him the old Bronx bazoo all season up to now...

Sherveport, La., July 17. (AP)—An enlisted man was killed and six other persons injured late yesterday when a medium army bomber crashed and burned about two miles south of Barksdale field.

The plane crashed in a peach orchard shortly after it took off. Killed instantly in the crash was Master Sgt. Harold J. Courtney, 37, a veteran army bombsight specialist whose home was at Indianapolis, Ind.

Services at the Church of the Nazarens will be in charge of the Rev. Claude E. Stewart, Jr., during the absence of the Rev. Ernest M. Orton.

The minister is cooking for more than 200 young people and leaders at a denominational encampment near Cisco this week and will not return until Monday. Next week will be spent in preparing for a revival meeting starting July 26.

Make no mistake. No one is taking away from Whirly, the new money-winning champ. He'll pound the go on to pass the half million dollar mark, and he would have topped Seabiscuit's record last winter if Santa Anita had operated.

But the Seabiscuit delegation is waiting until Whirlaway has run 88 races, because they want to see what he does in No. '89. Whirlaway has 43 more starts to go before he reaches that point.

The Seabiscuit crowd probably is just plain stubborn, but they can't forget old 'Biscuit's 89th trip to the post. It was on March 2, 1940, and there were 75,000 people on hand to watch the running of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, and Seabiscuit's third try for the big purse and money winning fame.

The 'Biscuit carried 130 pounds, top weight of a five field—the finest in the land that year. He carried it a mile and a quarter and broke the track record, as well as Sun Beau's money mark.

Everything was hustle-bustle today at the Garden race track, six miles east on state route 40, as the finishing touches were made to the $2,000,000 plant on the eve of New Jersey's first pari-mutuel horse racing in half a century.

When the bugle sounds at post time of 2:30 p. m. for the first of eight races it will mark a triumph for Eugene Mori and his associates. In the face of such wartime restrictions as priorities, gasoline rationing and a ban on railroad service and wire communications, Mori, president of the Garden State Park Racing Association, has gone ahead with plans for a 49-day meeting.

About 200 million cubic feet of helium has been produced since its discovery, more than nine-tenths of it in the United States.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By SID FEDER
(Fitch-Hitting for Hugh Fullerton)

NEW YORK, July 17 (Wide World)—See by the papers where Buck Nowgum may wind up with the Dodgers... Can you imagine old Bob hooking up with Leo the Lip and Lou Larry?... There's a parlay for your whiskers... When those three musketeers start cooking up some catch-as-catch-can conversation, the guy who complained about the noise the Ebbets Field organ made will think he was living in the guest room of a tomb up to now... Incidentally, that Dodger-Cubs feud is so hot right now the explosion is going to knock down the Wrigley Field walls one of these afternoons.

That speech Jimmy Conzelmann gave the graduating class at Dayton U. on "The Young Man's Mental Approach to War," is rapidly becoming a classic... And the national pro league is distributing it in booklet form now to meet the requests... Ted Lyons says if the army gets him, Uncle Sam's gotta remember he can only fight the war on Sundays... Would that mean that if Lefty Gomez got in, he'd bring Johnny Murphy along with him? ... At Pascoo race track in Rhode Island the other day, the mare Dixie Torch, and her daughter Malta, raced on the same card... Needless to say, the hunch players got murdered.

Lowdown break-down—The other day, the Cards announced attendance figures to baseball writers this way: Paid, 2,984; ladies, 2,915; boys and girls, 1,801; service men, 792; total, 8,492... What, no Mickey Mouse?...

Over the back fence—Ward Cuff may quit the pro football job to go back to alma mater Marquette as a coach... But you can kiss off the whisper that Don Hutson is getting ready to sign with the Packers and retire... Mr. Forward Pass'll be back there haunting the rest of the league again this fall... Connie McCarthy, Eddie Mead's old pal, is due to handle Henery Armstrong in these parts if and when the Hammer decides to bring his comeback east...

Ryder Squad Faces Strong Challengers

DETROIT, July 17. (AP)—The revised American Ryder Cup golf squad drawing four players from Bobby Jones' successful challengers of 1941, ranked today as a surprisingly short favorite to whip Walter Hagen's challenge squad in the two-day Red Cross match starting tomorrow over the difficult Oakland Hills course, scene of two national opens.

Headed by Captain Craig Wood and reinforced by Ben Hogan, Jimmy Demaret and Gene Sarazen, the Cuppers would seem to be long choices in the rubber match of the war-orphaned series, but Hagen's reputation as a second lineup manipulator probably contributed largely to the popular assumption that the challengers have a bona fide chance to win.

Hagen, who captained the American forces to four victories in six matches against Great Britain, will come to grips late today with Wood as seeded lineup selections are exchanged for tomorrow's five four-ball foursome matches. Tomorrow night they will disclose their lineups for ten singles matches Sunday.

He is Rex W. Beasley, manager of the 1st division artillery officers' softball team. With the score tied, 3-3, against headquarters officers, Outfielder Beasley reached for a high one, and went ka-whup on his face over a pile of brush. Artillery lost but nobody squawked because... Manager Beasley is Brigadier General Rex W. Beasley.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), July 17. (AP)—A special communique from Adolf Hitler's headquarters said today German submarines "attacked a strongly escorted British convoy off the west coast of Africa and sank six merchant ships aggregating 39,500 tons."

Other U-boats have sunk ten ships totaling 68,500 tons recently in the Atlantic, off the Mississippi and off the Panama Canal and one transport of 7,000 tons in the northern Arctic, the high command declared.

LONDON, July 17. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz, commander of U. S. Army Air Force in Europe, was less gallant and considerably more practical than Sir Walter Raleigh.

Sir Walter, 360 years ago, threw his coat on a mudpuddle for Queen Elizabeth to step on.

Yesterday when the present Queen Elizabeth was visiting the American Air Forces, it began to rain. General Spaatz shed his coat and placed it over the queen's shoulders with the remark: "Your Majesty, this makes you a major general of the American Air Forces."

T. Lee Moore, Electra, was here Thursday evening in interest of his candidacy for state railroad commissioner.

A driller and producer for the past 22 years, Moore is seeking the office on the promise he will "not run for governor or any other state or national office," that he will seek to remove the 40-acre allowable restriction regardless of depth, fight for pipelines to eastern seaboard, and to appoint experienced men to serve under the commission divisions.

Exports Show They're Still The Top Guys

If you've been worrying over the mid-season slump of the Beaumont Shippers you can turn to something more important, such as how much income tax you're going to have to pay next year.

The Exporters gave additional proof last night of reluctance to relinquish the league leadership when they trounced the visiting Oklahoma City Indians 11-6, making a clean sweep of the series.

At San Antonio the second-place Fort Worth Cats continued their drive with a 5-1 victory over the Missions and then departed for a crucial series with the Exporters at Beaumont.

The third-place Sports were turned back 8-3 by the Tulsa Oilers at Shreveport. The Dallas at Houston contest was postponed.

Catcher Harvey Riebs paced the Exporters with three singles and a double. Ken Wyatt, recently acquired from Clovis of the defunct West Texas-New Mexico league after scoring 17 straight wins, started for Beaumont but was jerked in the second inning because of wildness.

The Cats' win gave them three in a row over the Padres. Claude Horton led the Missions down with three hits, all of them coming in the third inning for San Antonio's lone run. The Cats broke a 1-1 deadlock in the sixth by scoring three runs and added another in the ninth.

The Oilers unleashed an attack against Shreveport in the first frame, pushing over three runs. The Sports scored a tally in each of the first three innings to knot the count, but Tulsa took the lead for good when Bunk homered in the sixth with none on.

Today's schedule: Dallas at Shreveport (night). Fort Worth at Beaumont (day). Tulsa at Houston. Oklahoma City at San Antonio.

Isolation Cells For Tough Convicts

NEWARK, N. J., July 17. (AP)—The homes of 85 German aliens were raided early today and last night in widespread searches throughout New Jersey as the federal bureau of investigation renewed its drive on the German-American Bund.

E. E. Conroy, special agent in charge of the Newark and New York offices of the FBI, said a quantity of wartime contraband was seized and an undisclosed number of persons was taken into custody for transfer later today to Ellis Island.

38 Go To Trial For Communist Attacks

VICHY, Unoccupied France, July 17. (AP)—The trial of 38 persons, including eight women, charged with communist attacks opened today before a German military court at Nancy.

They are accused of having committed a series of attacks throughout the Muerthe Et Moselle department since the band was organized last February by a worker at Aube under the title "chief of the popular army."

Local Poloists Will Compete At Colorado Springs

Big Spring poloists—or, to put it technically, a Big Spring-Lamesa riding combination—has headed for the "big time," and moves out this weekend against unknown foes in a tourney at no less glamorous a place than Colorado Springs, Colo.

Play at Colorado Springs is one of a series of tourneys sponsored there during the summer months, and the current games are due to attract, besides the home team, quartets from Wichita, Kas.; Dallas, San Antonio, San Angelo, possibly Lubbock, and others from the midwest and Rocky Mountain area.

The local riders plan to stay at the resort city for about two weeks, getting in as many victories as possible. They are going under sponsorship of Coeden, whose co-operation has been a favorable omen since the Big Springers have lost no matches since coming under the Coeden banner.

Doc Bennett, leader of the local forces, said his team would play Sunday, but the opponent was not known. Riding with Bennett will be Rip Smith of Big Spring, and the two Whites—Gus, Sr., and Jr.—from Lamesa. Bennett was to leave Friday afternoon, with Mrs. Bennett, Lois Ann, Mrs. White and her daughters. The other riders left earlier, and horses were shipped Thursday.

Oil seepages are found in several Chinese provinces, but examination has indicated that underground reserves are small.

U.S. Soldier Convicted In Australia

MELBOURNE, July 17. (AP)—Private Edward J. Leonski, former New York City grocery clerk, was convicted by a United States military court today of the slaying of three Melbourne women and was condemned to death by hanging.

The 10-member tribunal debated barely 90 minutes before announcing its verdict, which is subject to review by the commanding general of the United States armed forces in Australia.

The stolid calm which Leonski had maintained during the five-day trial was unbroken by the death sentence. He smirked slightly as he was led from the courtroom under heavy guard.

He had been under arrest since mid-May, a few days after the body of Miss Gladys Hosking, 40, a university chemistry school secretary, was found near an army camp.

The other victims were Mrs. Ivy Violet McLeod, 40, killed May 3, and Mrs. Pauline Thompson, 31, killed May 9. All three had been strangled.

Defense witnesses had described Leonski as a "psychopathic personality" who sometimes drank a mixture of beer, ketchup, ice cream and pepper.

Alien Homes Raided In Bund Roundup

NEWARK, N. J., July 17. (AP)—The homes of 85 German aliens were raided early today and last night in widespread searches throughout New Jersey as the federal bureau of investigation renewed its drive on the German-American Bund.

E. E. Conroy, special agent in charge of the Newark and New York offices of the FBI, said a quantity of wartime contraband was seized and an undisclosed number of persons was taken into custody for transfer later today to Ellis Island.

38 Go To Trial For Communist Attacks

VICHY, Unoccupied France, July 17. (AP)—The trial of 38 persons, including eight women, charged with communist attacks opened today before a German military court at Nancy.

They are accused of having committed a series of attacks throughout the Muerthe Et Moselle department since the band was organized last February by a worker at Aube under the title "chief of the popular army."

Schools Face Difficult Times

A little story out of Stanton and quoting O. S. Southall, superintendent of schools, indicates that we may well feel the pressure of war in our educational institutions come next term.

problem. Rules out the loss to the military, for this can be absorbed—but it is about the only such loss of trained personnel the teaching profession can stand.

of instruction. Economies have been effected at expense of instruction. Urgent expansion has been made possible in part by pen- sulating instruction.

Transportation— Highway Traffic Is One Factor In Victory

The past thirty years—the opening phase of what future historians may call the rubber age—has seen the building of 1,400,000 miles of hard-surfaced highways criss- crossing our country.

This is a third of all the cement and asphalt highways in the world. Many of our greatest indus- trial centers and largest reser- vation areas, and some of our most productive farm areas owe their existence to the steady pumping of these arteries.

Because German U-boats had sunk many tankers, because many others are needed to carry gaso- line and oils to our armies and our allies overseas, discomfort and in some cases hardship has been put upon a hard-working, war essential section of the nation.

They have not been the only ones to suffer this direct result of war. Filling stations and gar- ages, suburban property owners, small businessmen of every type have been quick to feel effect of this limitation of what had come to be looked upon as a normal pattern of American life — life based on four rubber-tired wheels.

But serious as this war-born change has been to the car-owner and upon those whose livelihood is geared to his car, the gravest effect has been felt by the war production effort. Many thou- sands of workers are finding it increasingly difficult to get to their war jobs—not, thus far, be- cause their allowances are not sufficient to get them there and back home again, but because they find it difficult to discipline themselves and their families to the strict necessity for eliminating all useless pleasure driving.

That problem is nation-wide now, not because of shortage of gasoline in most of the other parts of the country, but because Amer- ican motorists are still shying away from the imperative need to make their tires last for the duration of what most authorities be- lieve will be a long war.

If our highways are deserted evenings and Sundays we shall be winning one phase of the war. But if the day comes when the highways are deserted on work- days we shall know we are losing that battle.

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE

Chapter 29 UP THE DARK STAIR

In front of the doorway she hesitated, and looked up and down the street. Suddenly she found herself shivering. Not from cold, for the night was warm, nor from fear; but from the full knowledge of what the delivery of the envelope meant. Until now she had been able to keep her thoughts well back in her mind.

The wooden treads were worn in smooth hollows and each had a sound of its own as she put her weight upon it. In all that stillness the creaking of her progress was loud and disconcerting, but she went steadily upward, one hand on the banister, neither hurrying nor lagging.

In itself, the second floor was dark, the only light coming through a frosted glass panel halfway down on the left-hand side. Although she realized that this must be the office she sought, she paused for a second to orient herself.

There was no sign on the door, just the number 26; and in the left-hand lower corner the notice: Enter 24. She went back to the preceding door, took a breath and knocked.

The effort was weak, as she realized when she heard it, so she knocked again, aware now that some light was also filtering through this panel. Alarm struck at her when there was no answer and she was about to knock again when a muffled voice bade her enter.

"Come in." She turned the knob, stepped forward, pausing with the door partly open, noting that the room was in darkness and that the light she had noticed came from the adjoining office, the door of which was open. She pushed on, her eyes on the lighted doorway beyond as she felt behind her to close the door.

She was never quite sure what warned her. She heard nothing, saw nothing but the lighted door- way. She sensed rather than felt the threat, and suddenly, with nothing more than this premon- tion, she knew that someone else was here in this room. Close to her.

Something fell about her and the weight of heavy cloth settled over her head. She screamed once but the sound was stifled at her lips. The quick hard pressure of two arms went about her shoulders and the fabric was rough and tight against her face, and when she tried to scream again there was no air. She could not breathe. Her senses reeled and the strength went from her body and she was sinking down and down and down...

Out Of The Night When Joyce Murdock saw Della go through the darkened doorway and disappear, she was sitting well forward on the seat, her arms circling the wheel. She remained that way until she realized what she was doing, then she leaned back, found a cigar- ette and fired it with the car lighter.

Going back over the sequence of events which had led up to this rendezvous, she realized how difficult it would be to commit the perfect crime. This line of thought ended abruptly in a new and startling conclusion and she wondered why she had not thought of it before.

If the man Della was meeting knew about the envelope and the people who had called on Perry Clarke, wouldn't he know who had killed him? If he had seen two of the three callers that night, why couldn't he know who the third was? Or had he been the third? Was he the killer?

The idea began to screw down the tension. Then her thoughts be- gan to snarl. Why did this man want the envelope? Had he taken the bonds? That he had been the man who had hired the apartment across the hall from Clarke—Kent had told her about this—seemed logical. He had done this to watch Clarke. He knew who had called on him and he probably had access to Clarke's apartment. Who was he? Della didn't know. She had described him to the police. Who all. Suppose they could find out? If they could learn that much it might even be advisable to go direct to the police. With Ward Allen's South American trouble no longer a secret, the envelope was no longer so important; the chief thing now was to learn the identity of the man who knew so much.

Suddenly she knew what she should do. She should try to find out where the man went. Joyce reached for the door handle. She could see the doorway quite well from here but if she tried to leave the car after he came out he would hear her, whereas if she got out now she could stand be- hind the car, out of sight, and be ready to go.

She got her fingers on the handle. That's where they stayed. Because just then a something moved in the shadow of the door- way and assumed the shape of a man.

Identified! She leaned a little nearer the car window. Even in the shadows she was quite tall, and then luck favored her and he turned right, toward the dimly-lighted window adjacent to the doorway and the only relatively bright spot in that part of the block.

The first thing she saw was that he carried something in his hand, something oblong and white which he stuffed in his coat pocket; then he had stepped in front of the window, his figure silhouetted against the light, and in some way a part of that light was reflected on his profile.

For that first step or two she peered at him with quickly mounting incredulity; then the tension within her wound up like a spring. That profile, that figure was familiar. The way he carried himself, the sharp angle of nose and jaw. It couldn't be and yet—she knew it was. That man was Raeburn—Don Raeburn.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds— China Right In California—For The Purpose Of Saving On Movie Sets

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD — It's funny the thing the movies can find when they're put to it. China, for instance, and right on the back lot. It's up a hill, 'way back some- where in those 265 acres at Uni- versal — parts of which, so the legend goes, have never been ex- plored by white men before.

This particular hilltop now is a busy community, for three reasons, or four if you count the main one: wit: Deanna Durbin's new pic- ture, "Forever Yours," is set in China before it moves on to San Francisco. That meant (1) Producer Bruce Manning and Director Jean Renoir needed a plot of China's good earth, (2) they pre- ferred it close at hand — to save tires and transportation, (3) they had to decorate it with that $5,000 set budget (for new materials) in mind.

An early day movie-maker, faced with the prospect of a distant loca- tion, once gained immortality—through I can't remember his name and it isn't Goldwyn — by decre- ing: "A rock's a rock and a tree's a tree — we'll shoot it in Griffin Park."

The movies haven't come to that yet. "Forever Yours" has the ben- efit of Madame Rosalynne Chang's technical advice. Madame Chang, wife of the Chinese diplomat, look- ed over the back lot and said this was it—a good duplication of southern China's Yunnan province as a camera could ask.

Movie artisans went to work and now, reached by the U's own tortuous Burma road, there stands a walled Chinese mission of seven buildings. Constructed, they say, of 90 per cent fragments from old sets and 10 per cent new stuff.

Six days a week Deanna, sur- rounded by a colony of Los An- geles' most authentic Chinese, works up there. She's the girl on the hill, and she likes it. Very restful, she says. But when you come up from civilization, right had set for herself, and now it didn't matter. She glanced at the electric clock on the instrument panel. Della should be coming out. She looked at the yawning darkness of the doorway and waited. Everything was still now, except for the faint ticking of the clock. She found herself listening for the sound, and presently the ticking seemed to grow more distinct, fashioning an annoying sequence that beat against her eardrums.

It was her nerves. She knew that and told herself she was being silly. To be continued.

off she wants to know the latest war news. She talks about planes and battleships and carries as easily as she takes a high-C. With husband Vaughn Paul in the Navy, and three children in the U. S. Cana- dian, or English forces, she has a real interest in this man-and-wom- an's war.

She says they're working on the script of her next one, "Three Smart Girls Join Up," but she still doesn't know much about the script of "Forever Yours." She knows the story until it hits San Francisco — that's after the Japs have bombed her peaceful mission and she's met Flying Tiger Ed- mond O'Brien and escaped to the U. S. with a whole parcel of re- fugee children she passes off as her own.

"After we get to San Francisco," she says, "anything can happen." But she isn't worried. She's made too many hit pictures with Bruce Manning to fret about a lit- tle thing like what happens next. She knows that Manning always has made it happen right, and she likes Renoir as a director.

Despite a peace treaty with Russia in March, 1918, the Ger- man invaders of World War I captured Sevastopol at the end of April of that year.

Man About Manhattan— 'Claudia' Cast Adopts Styles Of 1900

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK — The members of the cast of "Claudia" gave themselves a sort of Gibson Girl carnival the other evening. For the 50th performance of Ross Frank's comedy they dressed in the styles of 500 months ago, or as of Nov. 1, 1900. This meant quite a few changes in props as well as costumes. The telephone-eavesdropping scenes required in- stallation of an old style wall telephone with goose-neck trans- mitter and a crank to call the operator. And Dorothy McGuire found that throwing herself on her stomach on sofas was a little different in mutton leg sleeves and high collars plus Gibson girl skirts from the easy attire of 1942.

One of the pleasant anomalies developed by this change con- cerned Audrey Ridgwell, who, as the sister-in-law Julia, had to make sudden changes in her lines. Line-changes were forbidden, but in the prime costume of 1900 Au- drey simply couldn't bring her- self to say "Come to cocktails sometimes, Mr. Seymour," so she

Washington Daybook — Where The Rubber Drive Bounced

By JACK STINNETT WASHINGTON — I don't know about the rest of the country, but the rubber salvage drive in Wash- ington bounced all over the place. Star Rubber Conservator Har- old L. Ickes got into a typical Idkessian squabble when he de- manded all government buildings toss their rubber floor mats onto the reclamation stockpile. The Public Building Administration declared that was stretching things too far.

Not only government employes but government visitors, said FEA, might fall and break their backs any rainy day if the build- ings didn't have their rubber mats. "Investigators" dashed over to the OPA offices in the LaSalle building to find out what Leon Henderson was doing about it all. They came away disappointed. The price administrator's office is using cocoa straw mats — the building never has had anything else—and the only broken backs thereabouts were found to have nothing to do with what was un- der foot on rainy days.

Practically overnight, Congres- sional tobacco chewers received their greatest challenge to aim in history. Acting on orders from Speaker Sam Rayburn, Capitol Architect David Lynn had all the gaboon mats picked up and dump- ed on the stockpile. By that time, the controversy was so hot, the cuspidor crowd didn't spit out a word of complaint. Just when the mat story was going good, along came word from Akron that scrap rubber in rubber mats wasn't good for much of anything anyway except making more rubber mats.

In the White House, where President Roosevelt holds forth as the nation's No. 1 rubber sal- vage urger, Diana, daughter of the White House star boarder, Harry Hopkins, tossed in her col- lection of rubber dolls; who falls, the President's Scottie, caught the spirit of the times and dug up a couple of bushels of rubber bones. Total White House contribution: approximately 400 pounds.

The President himself urged rubber contributions to the limit, suggesting that Capital autoists even throw in their rubber floor coverings. Washington traffic and safety officials bounced right up to the ceiling, saying there was a traffic safety ruling that all cars must have rubber floor-cov- erings as protection against gas fumes and electric shock.

Branded as the District of Co- lumbia's biggest chiselers during the drive were a few persons who can get retrained if, and only if, they turn in old castings. The local lady who really won top honors for making contribu- tions to the drive was the socialite who went into a suburban five and dime store, bought every rub- ber toy on the counters and with the assistance of her chauffeur carted them across the street to a filling station and dumped them on the heap.

Stanton Schools Facing Shortage Of Instructors

STANTON, July 17. (Sp.)—Har- vest season may see an interrup- tion of school activities in Martin county. Supt. O. C. Southall of the Stan- ton public schools says it will not be surprising if the demand for local labor in the cotton fields be- comes so acute that the county schools will have to close in order to release pupils and teachers to help with the harvest.

Besides drawing heavily on the available local labor supply, the war also may pinch the flow of migratory labor due to tire ration- ing, etc. In another vein, Supt. Southall pictures added difficulties in school administration, particularly for smaller schools in the class of Stanton, due to the supply of the teachers. Aside from the army call- ing many into service, the govern- ment is offering good positions with better pay. School boards have no desire to compete against Uncle Sam on the first count and can't on the second.

Southall does not believe that the start of school will see the solution of this problem, for there is every reason to believe that the year will be spotted with many resignations for many schools. Here in Stanton the situation is aggravated by the increase in the number of scholastics. The total now is 508, up about 30. Independ- ent schools in the rural areas show Courtney with 154 and Flower Grove with 162. Common school districts have an aggregate of 545, distributed as follows: Leorah 142, South Plains 85, Valley View 110, Goldsmith 24, Wolcott 30, Brown 96, Merrick 32, Moore's Hill 10 and Badgett 16.

Wage Control Would Start Bitter Fight
WASHINGTON, July 17 (UP)—Repealing of the price control law to include wage stabilization almost certainly would start one of the bitterest fights congress has had in years, influential house members predicted today.

These representatives said the fight would center around Leon Henderson, the price administrator, and that before it ended Henderson might find himself shorn of much of his present authority.

High-placed lawmakers have intimated that President Roosevelt soon might ask congress to put the brakes on wage and salary increases to combat the increasing threat of inflation.

Such legislation, if requested as an amendment to the price control act, would be subject to hearings and consideration by the house banking committee. This committee worked out the price control bill last year and many of its members profess no particular love of Henderson.

Wolcott said he favored creation of an appeal board to hear appeals from Henderson's rulings and to serve as a safeguard.

In addition to Thompson, addresses were made by Olin Culbertson, another member of the commission, and Henry Bell of Tyler.

Hunt Follows 'Chute Rumor

RHINECLIFF, N. Y., July 17. (AP)—Search for six "parachutes" reported seen descending in an area near President Roosevelt's Hyde Park estate was renewed at dawn today, but the belief was expressed they may have been festive balloons.

A farm superintendent's unconfirmed report of sighting parachutes late yesterday afternoon brought a small army of military, FBI and state police officials to the scene but they postponed their search until daylight today after townsfolk advanced a theory the reported aerial objects probably were balloons sent aloft by a group celebrating a religious holiday.

Robert Milroy, a hotel clerk in nearby Rhinebeck, told investigators he had heard fireworks about the time the "parachutes" were reported sighted and recalled that persons of Italian descent gathered at Glasgow on the opposite bank of the Hudson river celebrating a feast day by shooting off fireworks, Roman candles and releasing balloons.

For nine hours last night, Hudson Valley residents and motorists within a radius of 50 miles were questioned as to whether they had seen any parachutes.

Moody Finds Friendly Crowd As He Brings Campaign Here

A beaming midday sun limited his crowd, but a thoroughly favorable reaction greeted Dan Moody in Big Spring Thursday afternoon, as he spoke in behalf of his candidacy for the U. S. senatorship.

The white-clad Moody spoke in informal fashion, but his remarks were straight from the shoulder and devoid of any political bombast. He dwelt at length on his own platform for the effecting of a permanent world peace when victory is achieved—giving far more detail than either of his opponents who have spoken here—before he turned to a criticism of W. Lee O'Daniel.

Moody said he appealed to the voters only on the merits of his platform, "although you are not used to this kind of talk from candidates."

Driving home his thesis that winning the war is the issue in the Texas campaign, Moody pledged full support of the victory efforts of President Roosevelt. Investigating against assertions by O'Daniel that the war was not an issue in the campaign and to the junior senator's prophecies of a speedy end to the war, Moody declared such utterances were "calculated to create a spirit of indifference and complacency among the people."

The former governor and attorney general directed a full blast at O'Daniel's stand on selective service extension; first for O'Daniel's vote against this administration measure, but more particularly for a recent O'Daniel utterance that he (O'Daniel) did "not regret that vote and do not apologize for it."

Moody also scored O'Daniel's failure to sign an anti-saboteur bill passed by the legislature when the junior senator was governor.

"Texans are in no mood for the foolish complacency being advocated at this time by Senator W. Lee O'Daniel," Moody said.

Moody said the war is the issue in the senatorial campaign. "And O'Daniel's own words—words which follow the usual propaganda pattern, since they seek to array class against class, create disunity at a time national unity is most needed, and stir up resentment against Washington—the seat of our government—are going to bring about his defeat. O'Daniel is playing his last tune in Texas politics. He is on his way out."

Then Moody explained his formation of the "Dan Moody Club" for the purpose of sending O'Daniel to "the limbo of lost and forgotten politicians."

"All that is now necessary to do this," Moody said, "is for everyone who feels and who is saying that I am the best qualified and prepared man in the race to represent Texas in the United States senate to vote for me and encourage their friends to vote for me."

Moody again centered his attacks on O'Daniel's record in the senate and the statements made by O'Daniel that he was not worrying about the war; that that was President Roosevelt's job.

"If the United States senate was made up of 96 men of O'Daniel's viewpoint, what would be the situation of this country today?" Moody asked, then continued:

"The part which the United States senate shall have in moving this war along to victory and in bringing peace to our country and the world cannot be overstated. I pledge that if I am elected to the senate, I will do all in my power to support every measure which will contribute to our winning the war; and that I will oppose any influence which will imperil our chances of winning the war or defeating the enemy."

Material On Way Here For Water, Sewer Lines

A dozen car loads of material were in transit here today for use in extending city water and sewer lines to the airport.

Three cars of 12-inch steel pipe were due either today or Saturday, and nine cars of tile for sewer lines will likely arrive the forepart of next week.

Laying operations ought to start soon after the pipe is laid down, said City Manager B. J. McDaniel, for around two dozen men are at work on ditching and other operations on the line from the city park reservoir to the U. S. Army Flying School site. The school construction program was moving along steadily with buildings still going up, streets being paved and more concrete apron going in.

First Aid Class To Complete Its Work Monday

First aid section of the second air raid warden and auxiliary fireman class will not finish its work until Monday, E. B. Bethell, in charge of the training program, announced.

Previously, it had been said that the work was to be finished on Friday. The fire fighters concluded their training Tuesday evening.

Tuesday evening a new class for wardens, auxiliary firemen, and fire watchers will be organized, and many of those who have finished their training are expected to be back for the occasion. Herman Williams is to give his lecture and demonstration on chemical warfare as it affects civilian safety.

Bethell was anxious to have scores of new recruits for that night. Any man or woman who is interested in helping in civilian defense is eligible. Some women have held back due to a false rumor that it was only "a man's job," said Bethell.

Stressing the importance of the work, he said that within the past week that arrangements were completed for hospital evacuations in event of catastrophes.

meeting of the union's policy committee in Pittsburgh today but the executive committee of five locals at Bethlehem, Pa., expressed disapproval and said the situation in that steel center was "tense and explosive."

It added: "Our government says we work or fight. We agree. For a dollar a day wage adjustment we work. If not, we fight."

Bethlehem officials would not comment.

As the policy laid down in the steel case claimed major attention, because the ruling directly affected 157,000 workers and was expected to be reflected in other pending cases involving more than 1,000,000 in automobile and other industries, drillers and shooters in mechanically-operated shaft coal mines in Indiana were awarded a 40-cent a day pay increase, retroactive to January 1.

At Los Angeles last night management and labor representatives who had been conferring on a proposed aircraft wage stabilization formula said they had been unable to agree and blamed government agencies for the deadlock.

RAF Attacks In Daylight

LONDON, July 17 (AP)—A force of Stirlings, Britain's biggest four-engine bombers, struck at Germany before the fall of darkness last night in attacks on submarine building yards five miles from hard-hit Luebeck and on shipyards at Flensburg, near the German-Danish border.

The raids carried to a climax daylight attacks yesterday on objectives in Germany which opened with single-plane assaults on points in the Ruhr.

Details of the Luebeck and Flensburg attacks were meager but an air ministry communique said the bombs were seen to burst in yards and shipways of the submarine building yards near Luebeck.

Two of the bombers were reported missing.

(The Berlin radio broadcast a DNE report that German aircraft dropped heavy bombs on aircraft factories at Leamington, near Warwick, England, causing heavy damage to assembly shops.)

The major target in the Luebeck area was identified as the Flender-Werke, a medium-sized shipyard. Official British circles said "as many as 15 submarines have been reported on the slips or fitting out at one time" there.

Over 120 Absentee Ballots Are Cast

Absentee voting is gaining momentum as the final date nears, and more than 120 ballots had been received at the county clerk's office Friday morning.

Tuesday, July 21, is the final date for absentee ballots to come in.

The run in absentee votes is expected to be heavier than first estimated, since a new ruling allows men in the army to cast ballots. Persons working away from home on defense projects are also creating a heavy demand for absentee ballots.

Dr. Frederick Koberg, now let Lieut. Koberg is now in Hawaii in command of an ambulance unit. In a recent letter to his mother, Mrs. Charles Koberg, he told of having stopped to pick up a soldier on the way to a certain place. It was to his surprise, Leo Walling, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Walling, who lived less than two blocks from Lieut. Koberg here.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Hinds left Saturday for California where he will seek to enter the aircraft industry. They plan first, however, to visit friends in Los Angeles. He has been teaching in the Forean schools, while Mrs. Hinds has been serving as secretary for the department of public welfare district office here since 1938 (when it was the old age assistance office).

Officers answered a call to 305 Main street at 1:28 a. m. today on a complaint by a young woman that a man was trying to shoot her. The involved parties had scattered before officers arrived, but what seemed to have happened was—said officers—that one youth who figured his woman had been stolen from him produced an old gun that wouldn't shoot but which did scare the living daylight out of the errant young woman.

At noon Friday not much result had been noted from an unique water well "shooting" experiment. In an effort to dislodge encroaching sands which logged wells, Hank McDaniel inserted 200 pounds of dry ice in one. However, pressure did not arise as the "ice" vaporized and it was theorized that there were perhaps crevices up the hole where the gas was escaping.

Chief of Police J. B. Bruton was in San Angelo Friday attending the FBI special conference, which deals primarily with the prostitution problem in and around military areas.

Firemen hurried to the Wyoming hotel at 2:15 a. m. in answer to an alarm. They found a mattress afire, and that the occupant of the room had hurried away from the scene faster than the department could get to it. Little damage resulted.

Jap Bases On Aleutians Bombed

WASHINGTON, July 17. (AP)—The navy announced today in a resume of fighting in the Aleutians that army aircraft recently dropped 26 bombs on Japanese shore installations at Kiska, one of three islands on which the enemy has landed.

American losses in the campaign to date were disclosed officially to include 44 army and navy men killed in Jap bombing attacks on Dutch Harbor and nearby Fort Mears and on an army post at Fort Glenn about 70 miles west of Dutch Harbor on the island of Unimak.

The old station ship Northwestern was lost in the attack on Dutch Harbor early last month when it was hit by bombs and burned and some damage, although of a minor nature, was done to American shore installations.

Midland County In Conservation Dist.

The Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District has been rezoned to include Midland county, now a part of the district.

Creative thinking will be in demand "after the duration," the Rev. P. D. O'Brien told members of the American Business Club at their Friday luncheon.

He stressed the need for individual initiative, for digging into things of value.

Billy Horne, who is leaving to join the coast guard, was heard in a brief farewell talk. Guests included Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, Herschel Summerlin, Mrs. V. A. Whittington, Mrs. Emmon Lovelady, Mrs. George Thomas, Jimmy Jones and John Davis, Fort Worth.

Good Crowd Views Marionette Show

More than 75 youngsters and parents attended the marionette showing of "Little Black Sambo" at the American Business club park in western Big Spring Thursday evening.

The program was presented by the city-WPA recreation department. Papier-mache characters—from Sambo, Mumbo and Jumbo to the tigers—were fashioned by staff members over a period of several months as were the settings.

Next week the program will be presented to children at the East Side playground, and the following week it is scheduled to go before the children at Mexican Plaza.
