Memorial services

Memorial services were conducted at 2:00 P.M. Thursday at the Gruver United Methodist Church for Mrs. Lola Mae (Buster) Cator who died Tuesday evening at her home fifteen miles north of Gruver following a long illness. Officiant at the service was the Reverend Tom Fuller, minister of the Gruver Church.

Eddie Martin of Spearman was the director for the musical memorial offered during the service and also provided the organ music which included favorite songs of Mrs. Cator's parents, "Grandma and Grandfather Bowling" and "Jesus Will Outshine Them All"; "Beyond the Sunset" sung by Mrs. J. L. Brock; and "Will the Circle Be Unbroken?" sung by the Methodist Chancel Choir.

The concluding service and interment was at Hansford Cemetery. Casket Bearers were Dean Sparks, David Fletcher, Dr. Thu, Lynn Hart, John Venneman, John Armes, and Leslie Barkley. Honorary pallbearers were Anson Ward, Ralph Bort, Lee McClellan, L. S. McLain, R. L. Thom, and Rex Langley.

Mrs. Cator was born in Hansford County and had lived here all of her life. She married Leslie J. (Buster) Cator in 1929 in Spearman and they made their home north of Gruver where he was a farmer and rancher. He died in 1958.

Mrs. Cator, who was a member of the Gruver United Methodist Church, was an indomitable worker for good in the community, being associated with the Borger Girls Town; serving as volunteer at the former Pioneer Manor; the American Cancer Society; and other community projects.

Preceding her in death was her husband and their son Leslie J. Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Dean (Ginger) Langley of Palm Springs, California and Mrs. Don (Gwen) McLain of Spearman; two sisters, Mrs. Lois Allison of Topeka, Kansas, and Mrs. Lela Mae Richie of Safford, Arizona; and a brother, Leon Bowling of Perryton.

Six grandchildren also survive including Mike McLain, Gruver; Mrs. Gary (Patrice McLain) Pool of Amarillo; Mrs. Bruce (Pam Langley) Raymond, Palm Desert, California; Sam Langley, Palm Springs, California; and Mack and Jill McLain, both of Spearman. Also surviving are four great grandchildren, Mika and Molly Mae McLain, Gruver; Rene and Cara Pool, Amarillo, and a legion of friends everywhere.

Mrs. Cator was a woman of exceptional courage and inspiration to all who knew her. In her scrapbook from the 1926 era when she graduated from High School is a poem which, in a measure, sums up her life philosophy.

DON'T QUIT
When things go wrong,
as they sometimes will,
When the road you are trudging
seems all up hill,
When the funds are low
and the debts are high
And you want to smile,
but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you
down a bit,
Rest, if you must,
but don't you quit.
Life is queer
with its twists and turns,
As everyone of us
sometimes learns,
And many a failure turns about
When he might have won
had he stuck it out;
Don't give up,
though the pace seems slow
You might succeed
with another blow.
Often the goal is nearer than
It seems to a faint and faltering man.
Often the struggler has given up
When he might have captured
the victor's cup,
And he learned too late,
when the night slipped down
How close he was to the golden crown.
Success is a failure turned inside out
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt,
And you can never tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems
afar;
So stick to the fight
when you're hardest hit
It's when things seem worst that you musn't quit.
And Lola Mae Cator never did!

Nancy Lair Services Held

Memorial services for Nancy Kay Lair, 22, were held at 3 p.m. Tuesday at the First United Methodist Church. The Rev. Frank Oglesby, pastor, officiated. Burial was in Ochiltree Cemetery in Perryton by Boxwell Brothers Funeral Directors of Spearman.

Nancy was killed Saturday night in a wreck at Mount Shasta, Calif. She and her cousin, Rod Holt, 21 of Ramona, Calif. were passengers in a Toyota Land Cruiser driven by Thomas Thelen of Weed, Calif.

Thelen was able to protect himself by holding onto the steering wheel until the vehicle came to a stop. Holt jumped out of the vehicle before it began rolling over.

Nancy attended Spearman schools and graduated from high school at San Marcos Academy at San Marcos. She attended West Texas State University at San Marcos and American Fashion College at Lucerne, Switzerland.

She was a member of the First Methodist Church of Spearman; two brother, Matthew and Phillip, both of Spearman.

Kelly Harper To Compete In Wheatheart

Beauty Contest

Kelly, Harper, Miss Hansford 1978, will be competing in the Wheatheart of the Nation beauty contest Aug. 19, at 6:30 p.m. in the Perryton High School Auditorium. She is the 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Harper of Spearman.

Kelly is being sponsored by Xi Zeta Upsilon.

The Wheatheart of the Nation beauty contest originated at the Perryton Celebration of 1947, when the event was conceived as a way to call attention to the record breaking wheat crop that year when Ochiltree County produced 11,000,000 bushels of wheat, at that time one per cent of the nation's production.

The first contest was held at the Celebration dance in the county warehouse in Perryton, and Miss Jean Watson of Borger was the winner.

The Wheatheart beauty contest was held at the Perryton Celebration dance until 1954 when it had outgrown those surroundings and was moved into the Perryton high school auditorium as a separate event. Miss Fayteen Peoples of Wellington won the contest that year.

The Wheatheart contest grew over the years and provided national publicity for the wheat industry as the Wheatheart's picture moved over Associated Press, United Press, and television channels.

For the first few years, cash prizes were given to the Wheatheart winner. In 1951 the first prize was an expense paid trip to Havana, Cuba. Later winners had trips to Florida and for a number of years the Wheatheart was honor guest at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, Canada. The Wheatheart was guest of honor at the Seattle World's Fair.

Several years ago the prize was changed to $1,000 cash for college scholarship, with second and third prizes also college scholarship cash in the amount of $500 and $250.

The Wheatheart of the Nation Beauty Pageant is now recognized as one of the top such events in the Southwest and attracts contestants who have won beauty titles and who make this an outstanding field.

The Wheatheart of the Nation represents the entire wheat industry during the year of her reign and every winner has done an outstanding job as goodwill ambassador for the wheat industry.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

As I sat reading the article about our gallant dog pound supplying a dog for a newcomer, I couldn't help but relate it to my own experience, as a 7 year resident divorced mother of 4 with doggie problems.

Recently the children and I proceeded on a trip. 100 miles from our home I realized our family dog, a small black and white, Pomeranium-Chihuahua mix had been left behind, so at the next town I called a friend to pick up and take care of our dog. Feeling confident that matters would be taken care of, we proceeded.

After a disastrous trip (we wrecked the car and ran out of money 600 miles from home). We discovered our pet was in the city pound with quite a large fine piled up behind her.

Maybe to you folks $29.00 is not much, but when you are broke with 4 children to feed $29.00 is a lot, (and each day it is $3.00 more) so for about a week I would drive to the pound so the kids could see, pet and talk to their dog, the way children do. Then our car quit running so the children could no longer visit their dog.

Well yesterday, a pickup slowed down in front of our house to make a U-turn and in this pickup there was a small black/white dog, quite similar to our puppy. Upon seeing this, my 4 year old son went running to the street excited as he could be hollering Stinker. Stinker (our dogs name) and as the pickup pulled away it left behind a very small boy with a very big broken heart, which prompted me to write this story.

Occurrences like this make you wonder about equal rights, and the fairness and overall concern of the money hungry people we have working for not only our local authorities but think about it, the state and federal.

The mood of the country is strong to cut taxes at all levels. My position is that we must reduce spending at least as much as we cut revenues, and that the spending cut should come first. I have voted for amendments to appropriation bills this year that reduce the amounts by a percentage on funds not specifically mandated to be spent. It is not responsible to vote against appropriations that have already been mandated by legislation. I have worked to cut back and bring into line those authorization bills that increase spending in a wasteful manner. A good example is the proposal to create a separate Department of Education. I am a strong advocate of education. It is vital that we provide our children with the best education possible. To create a new department with a new bureaucratic turf would open the door for more "empire building." To keep the purse strings pulled tight on the public treasury is a never ending job for not only me, but also for each taxpayer as well. I do not support the idea of a new Department of Education.

THE "EMERGENCY" FARM CREDIT ACT
After a two month delay, the House and Senate Conference Committee reached an agreement on the Emergency Farm Credit Act. Both the House and the Senate approved the report, and it has now been signed by the President. The need for these changes was critical in January. Many producers might have been saved from farm sales if this could have become law in March.

The officials of the Farmers Home Administration hope that the county offices will be able to start taking applications within a few days. As is so often the case, the changes do not go as far as we need, but they will help many producers. The major thrust of the original bill that I co-sponsored is not Title II of the final bill. It provides for refinancing of existing debt of up to $400,000.

The repayment period can be up to 40 years for real estate loans and seven years for loans secured by other property. The seven year loans can be renewed for as long as another five years. This should give producers a way to buy some time and prevent a few forced sales. The standard rule would apply that producers would be eligible only if unable to obtain credit elsewhere.

The new law will increase the current $50,000 loan limit for operating loans to $100,000 for insured loans and $200,000 for guaranteed loans. Farm ownership loans would be increased from $100,000 to $200,000 for direct and insured loans and to $300,000 for guaranteed loans.

The rate of interest for guaranteed loans would be negotiated by the borrower and the lender with the Secretary of Agriculture having a veto over rates if they are out of reason. The rate of interest for direct and uninsured loans would be the cost of money to the government plus one percent.

Eligibility for farm ownership and operating loans is extended to domestic corporations, cooperatives and partnerships that meet the same requirements as individual borrowers. Under present law, only individual farmers and ranchers can receive Farmers Home loans.

Other provisions under the Act include extending the Emergency Livestock Credit Act through September 30, 1979 and allowing a beef check-off provision to be approved by a simple majority of beef producers instead of the two-thirds required in the last referendum.

EXPORTS
Our legislation to expand efforts in developing foreign markets has now passed both the House Committee on Agriculture and the International Relations Committee. The value of sales overseas as compared to our imports tips the scales strongly on the side of our exports. Ninety percent of the wheat grown in Texas is exported. Over one-third of the acres of agricultural commodity production go to exports. It is estimated that our foreign market sales will top $27 billion this year while our imports have remained stable at around $13 billion. The bulk of the value of agricultural imports are items such as coffee, rubber, raw silk, and other products not grown in the United States.

If we sold our products at a more realistic price, the value would be even greater. We are making some strides in regaining some of our lost sales from the pre-boycott era.

FOREIGN INVESTMENT

The Farmers Home Administration published a regulation expanding the eligibility of businesses who could obtain Business and Industrial loans to include foreign owned businesses. The comment date was to end July 31 but I asked for and received a thirty day extension. I have also filed a letter with the Farmers Home Administration opposing the change. A foreign business would be eligible if 85 percent of the work force were American both at the time of the loan and during the life of the loan. Business development is very important to our small towns and cities but I think we need to spend our money on our own people.

Anyone wishing to comment on making foreign owned businesses eligible for Farmers Home Administration loans under their Businesses and Industrial Loan Program should write to:

Comments should be received in Washington by August 31. The subcommittee on Family Farms of the House Agriculture Committee has passed a bill that will require foreign investors buying United States farmland to register. There is already a law in effect under the Department of Commerce that requires registration of foreign ownership, but it has not worked very well.

Part of President Carter's reorganization plan for the Federal agencies will go into effect August 11 of this year. The plan will eliminate the Civil Service Commission and the Federal Labor Relations Council and replace them with an Office of Personnel Management.

The reorganization establishes a Merit Systems Protection Board and creates an Office of Special Counsel in order to effect a merit system and still protect employees' rights.

The President's Civil Service Reform legislation could be considered by the House as early as this week. This bill has several controversial aspects of the President's plan including provisions for merit pay raises, streamlining disciplinary procedures and some modification of the Veterans' preference provisions of the current civil service law.

These issues will not be easy to resolve into a law that will solve all of the problems but I hope this legislation will be a step in the right direction. We must get control of the bureaucracy. This will be a vital key to controlling spending.

But if you can't do that, then the next best thing would be to wear protective clothing. Wear loose-fitting beach robes, long sleeved shirts and wide-brimmed hats.

County Petroleum Production Noted

THE MULTI-BILLION DOLLAR BOOST that oil and gas industry operations gave to the Texas economy in 1977 was shared by the citizens of Hansford County.

The marketed value of petroleum production in the county has been calculated at $66.1-million in an economic activity profile of the state's top producing counties prepared by the Dallas-based Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

"Texas' oil and gas industry remains the cornerstone of the economy of the state and of many of its counties," said the Association's president, H. B. (Hank) Harkins, Alice, independent producer and drilling company executive. "It is imperative that the state maintain taxing and regulatory policies which will encourage the growth of this industry."

Hansford was one of 201 counties last year which produced petroleum with a marketed value of $100,000 or more. The county ranked 65th in the estimated total value of petroleum produced. The Association has computed that some $4.7-million came from the production of 521,800 barrels of crude oil, which approximately $61.4-million attributed to an output of 67.9-million MCF of natural gas. Payments last year to owners of royalty in the county were calculated at $8.3-million.

While paying local, county and state property taxes, producers in the county also helped support state government through production tax payments estimated at $4.8-million. This included $217,000 from crude oil output, $4.6-million from natural gas.

According to the Texas Employment Commission, during 1977 some 358 employes worked for the industry in the county. The reported payroll amounted to an estimated $5-million.

The search for additional petroleum continued in Hansford County last year. Oil and gas developers spent an estimated $15.1-million in the drilling of 43 wells, including one classified as a wildcat. Some $4.5-million of that amount was lost in 16 dry holes. The 27 strikes included five oil wells and 22 gas wells.

Processing also contributed to the county's petroleum-related economy through the operation of two natural gasoline processing plants with a combined daily capacity of 333.9-million cubic feet.

Field Day To Focus On Labor

HALFWAY-Finding good farmhands and getting the most productivity from them are among the many concerns facing today's cost-conscious farmer.

That is why one of the five major presentations on the annual field day tour at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station for Lubbock and Halfway will focus on labor management skills, said Dr. Bill Ott, resident director of the station.

The field day, which alternates between the facilities here and at Lubbock, will be held here Sept. 12. Tractor-drawn trailer tours of the 320-acre research site will begin at 1 p.m., offering detailed reports on the latest developments in crop research, said J. Joe Wright, research assistant and field day chairman.

The program is a cooperative presentation of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the High Plains Research Foundation, the Science Education Administration of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the National Weather Service.

In addition to the stop focusing on labor management, other stops will feature results of research on cotton variety and disease control, corn irrigation, weed control, and a new mobile trickle irrigation system Wright said.

The effective use of labor is one of the most complex skills which must be developed by the modern agricultural producer, Kenneth Wolf, Extension agribusiness economist, noted. Wolf, from College Station, will present the latest and best techniques concerning labor productivity as part of the field day program.

"The emphasis will be to show how a manager can improve his skills in performing his role as a leader of manpower," Wolf said.

Among the points he will discuss will be how to locate and hire labor, breaking in new workers, rewards, discipline, motivating workers, laying out work to be done, following up on the work, evaluating performance, and releasing employees.

Continental Singers To Perform Culture

The 40-member "Continental Singers and Orchestra" will perform a live concert of contemporary Christian music in person on Thursday, August 17, at 7:30 P.M. at the First United Methodist Church.

Blending contemporary gospel music, spirituals, anthems, and hymn arrangements, this year's program, "Sing It With Love," will feature many of the most popular Christian songs being heard around the country today.

The 24 vocalists and 10-piece orchestra are completely self-contained, including their own sound and lighting equipment.

Performers are selected for the yearly 75-day summer tour by auditions from thousands of high school and college-age young people across the United States and in foreign countries. Auditions are held after each concert for future talent. From their start in 1967, various editions of the "Continental Singers and Orchestra" have made more than 4,000 live appearances domestically and over 1,000 foreign appearances, before more than 2.5 million people.

This year, the "Continental Singers and Orchestra" will visit Russia for the first time. In addition to performing in every section of the United States, the summer tour includes Canada, 11 western European countries, and Great Britain, plus Poland, Yugoslavia, Israel, Fiji, Tahiti, Samoa, New Zealand and Bermuda.

They have recorded 13 record albums on the Word, Light, and New Life labels, plus their newest, "Sing It With Love," also on New Life Records.

"Continental Singers and Orchestra" are a presentation of Continental Ministries of Thousand Oaks, CA, with Cam Florida, president.

of the arts, one major corporation, Sun Company, supports the production of music, theater, dance, painting, sculpture and other visual and performing arts across the country. It contributes to the Community Arts Center of Wallingford, Pennsylvania, as well as the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

The company helps underwrite some of Tulsa, Oklahoma's Starlight Concerts which have played to some 800,000 people over the last 30 years. The Tulsa Opera is now feeling the pinch of steadily rising operating costs a little less, thanks to contributions from that company.

DOG WARNING

A recent rash of killing of sheep and pigs, show animals, owned by FFA and 4-H members, by dog packs in the area West of Spearman known as "Little Fort Worth", has led the Commissioners Court of Hansford County to alert dog owners who allow their dogs to run loose, that the owners of livestock may take appropriate action to protect their property.

Elvis Remembered Especially On August 16

Always memorable, Elvis Presley will be particularly remembered on August 16, the first anniversary of his death. His music, as well as his memory, lives on especially for those who visit Graceland, Elvis's Memphis mansion.

Who was this man who left such an indelible stamp on a generation? How did he react to the wealth and adulation that America showered on him? Although thousands of articles have been written about Elvis, he remained an enigma to his fans and to many of the people who knew him personally. You cannot understand the real man, according to his uncle, Vester Presley, unless you understand his childhood and the culture he came from.

Vester Presley, the man at the Graceland gates, was in a unique position to know Elvis: a loved and loving relative. In his book, A Presley Speaks, Vester provides the background and family story of the "King of Rock."

While the public's image of Elvis was colored, and perhaps molded, by the glitter and tinsel of stardom that surrounded him, Vester knew his nephew from his infancy, through his days as a Mississippi child of playful pranks, to his maturity as a man of simple, deeply felt emotion. He traces Elvis's development as a human being and as a superstar skyrocketing to fame.

Elvis, a bundle of contradictions, was one of the few of us who ever make the journey from obscurity to fame. His family heritage was a powerful and continuing influence throughout his life.

A Presley Speaks is available in a regular edition, as well as in a deluxe, autographed, gold-stamped edition. It is published by Wimmer Brothers Books in Memphis, Tennessee.

ANGELO STATE YCC CAMP --Randy Washburn and Roy Washburn of Gruber were among 120 students who took part in an eight week Youth Conservation Corps Camp at Angelo State University in San Angelo. The enrollees worked on federal property in the San Angelo area erecting shade covers, barricades, picnic areas and other general duty assignments. A joint program between ASU and the Department of Interior, students in the summer program spent about 25 percent of their time in ecological training.

Texas Department of Community Affairs. There were no income level qualifications and appointments were made at random for 54 boys and 54 girls. Twelve youth leaders selected from among those who participated in last year's camp, were asked to return this year. Although the enrollees spent about eight hours a day on the job, approximately 25 percent of that time was spent in ecology training. According to a statement of purpose in the YCC handbook, "At summer's end, the YCC enrollees should have a general knowledge of the ecology, the land management philosophies of various federal land management agencies and an increased awareness of the need to manage wisely, maintain and protect the natural resources in which he or she has been involved."

Other recreational activities also served to break up the monotony of hard work and free-time was filled with competitive sports like volleyball, tennis, softball and badminton. Swimming in the university's large indoor pool was a popular activity.

The Grand Champion and Reserve Grand Champion steers and heifers will receive trophies and $100 and $50 certificates respectively, towards the purchase of an animal in the 1979 Five State Shorthorn Sale.

There will be a judging contest open to all 4-H and FFA judging teams on Friday, August 18 beginning at 6:00 p.m.

Last year 100 young people participated in the eight-week camp, spending weekdays on work crews on public land in and around San Angelo. The enrollees worked on federal property erecting shade covers, barricades, barbecue pits and performing similar chores.

Environmental Profile Of Palo Duro Creek Study Underway

WTSU--Seven West Texas State University faculty members have been contracted by the US Corps of Engineers to create an environmental profile of the Palo Duro Creek north of Spearman.

The profile is a preliminary step in the Corp's determination whether to build a dam for a reservoir on the North Canadian River Tributary, according to Dr. Marion Guidry, WTSU professor of biology and chemistry and project coordinator.

"An environmental profile is a general description of the environmental conditions that exist in the area," Guidry said.

Topics to be covered include descriptions of stream networks, land forms, rock and mineral characteristics.

Studies will also be made of the area's flora and fauna, including species which are unique, rare or endangered; present land use; and cultural resources, according to Guidry.

WTSU professors performing the studies are Jack Hughes, professor of anthropology; Dr. Gerald Schultz, professor of geology; Dr. Robert Wright, professor of biology; Dr. Derl Brooks, professor of biology; Dr. Flavius Killebrew, assistant professor of biology; and Dr. Larry Higgins, associate professor of biology.

Assisting Hughes in his work is Terry Stephenson, WTSU general studies major who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T.T. Stephenson of 1322 S. Harvard, Perryton.

Wright is being helped in his project by David Hill, WTSU graduate student who lives at 2413 13th Ave. in Canyon.

This is the first environmental profile study West Texas State University professors have been asked to perform, according to Guidry.

Under Guidry's coordination several years ago, WTSU professors did create two environmental impact statements involving weir dams on heavily salt-filled streams in the Wichita Falls area, Guidry said.

The coordinator anticipates that the professor's field work will be completed by Sept. 1, and the final report by the end of December.

A-G Hill Urges Help For Wheat Farmers

AUSTIN--Attorney General John Hill submitted a brief Monday urging the United States Department of Agriculture to continue and to expand the wheat set-aside program in order to aid hard-pressed Texas wheat farmers.

In the wheat set-aside program, farmers can increase the support price of wheat production by taking some land out of production. The Agriculture Department is currently considering whether to expand the program and even whether to continue it at all.

"The facts clearly justify an additional 10% set-aside of national wheat acreage," Hill said. "This would help bring wheat prices toward levels at which our farmers can survive."

"The set-aside program is far superior to the land diversion payment program, and should be expanded to prevent any need for land diversion payments."

"Finally, the special grazing and haying program has been very important to Texas farmers during the current crop year and should be renewed."

Wheat Program Comment Period Extended

Washington, D. C. - Congressman Jack Hightower announced that the Department of Agriculture has officially extended the comment period on the 1979 Wheat Program through August 4th. The original closing date was July 27th. The Department of Agriculture told Hightower they could not extend the period any longer than the 4th because they are required by law to announce the program by August 15th.

"The small amount of additional time allowed for comments should be of some help to producers who had not heard about the request for comments," said Hightower. "Everyone wanting input into the 1979 Wheat Program should get their comments into the mail as soon as possible."

"Hightower had requested the Secretary of Agriculture to extend the comment period because of the limited amount of publicity that accompanied the request for comments going into the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 27th.

Persons interested should comment regarding aspects of the Wheat Program including: the size of the 1979 national program acreage; if there should be a set aside and if there is a set aside, how large it should be; if there should be a paid land diversion; and if there is one, should payments be based on a flat rate or handled on a bid basis; should there be a limit on planted acres; and should the special grazing and haying program be used during the 1979 crop year.

Comments should be addressed to: Acting Director, Production Adjustment Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Room 3630 South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, Post Office Box 2415, Washington, D. C. 20013.

Hill Urges Support of Tax Relief Amendment

Attorney General John Hill today urged agricultural groups to begin organizing support for the proposed tax relief constitutional amendment approved this week by the special legislative session for a vote by the people Nov. 7.

"One of the most important features of the proposed constitutional amendment adopted by the legislature Tuesday is tax relief for farmers and ranchers," Hill said.

"This same proposal, to tax agricultural land on the basis of its productivity instead of its market value, had failed when it came up for a vote before the same legislators only a year ago.

"Now that the proposal will be part of a package of tax relief for homeowners, elderly citizens and the disabled, as well as farmers and ranchers, I am very optimistic that the prospects for tax relief for our agricultural producers have changed from bleak to excellent in just one year.

"I am especially pleased that this tax reform for our farmers and ranchers was one of the key issues in my campaign for governor. By developing this issue during the campaign, I believe the drastic needs of farmers and ranchers for tax relief were given the additional push they needed to secure approval by the legislature.

"The next step is voter approval of the tax relief package at the polls in the general election Nov. 7, and I urge all agricultural organizations to rally behind adoption of the amendment.

"The steps taken by the legislature during the special session were important first steps in a well-balanced attempt at tax relief, and I commend the legislature for its actions. But I plan to continue to push for expansion of the reforms next year."

'CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE THIRD KIND' OPENS Aug. 16 AT THE LYRIC THEATRE

Already hailed from coast to coast by critics and the public alike as a unique experience in motion picture entertainment, "Close Encounters of the Third Kind" will open — AUG. 16 — at the LYRIC Theatre.

The Phillips Production of a Steven Spielberg Film was produced by Julia Phillips and Michael Phillips and written and directed by Steven Spielberg. The Columbia Presentation in Association with EMI stars Richard Dreyfuss, Francois Truffaut, Teri Garr and Melinda Dillon.

Heightened by sophisticated new visual effects and the use of the Dolby Sound System, "Close Encounters of the Third Kind" brings an audience as close as possible to an event that could be the most momentous of our time — the awesome experience of contact with alien beings.

The story of ordinary people confronting the extraordinary was conceived by writer-director Spielberg nearly five years ago, while he was editing his first motion picture, "The Sugarland Express," and preparing his second, "Jaws."

He wrote an initial 25-page story outline, concerning a UFO sighting in the skies over Indiana, then put it aside while he filmed "Jaws." Since "Jaws" was released three years ago — to become the second highest-grossing boxoffice success in movie history — he has worked continuously on "Close Encounters of the Third Kind."

To protect the picture's dramatic concept and special visual effects, filming was carried out under tight security in Wyoming, India, Alabama and California.

The visual effects were supervised by Douglas Trumbull, who previously designed the photographic effects for Stanley Kubrick's "2001: A Space Odyssey" and hailed by Spielberg as "the next Walt Disney." Using advanced camera and electronic equipment of his own invention, Trumbull based his imagery on thousands of documented UFO reports.

"Close Encounters of the Third Kind" reunites Spielberg with Richard Dreyfuss, who co-starred in "Jaws." Dreyfuss portrays Ron Neary, an Indiana power lineman driven to the brink of desperation by a UFO encounter. In addition to "Jaws," Dreyfuss has won critical acclaim in "The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz" and "American Graffiti," and is currently on screen in Neil Simon's "The Goodbye Girl" with Marsha Mason.

Francois Truffaut, the Academy Award-winning French filmmaker, stars as Claude La-combe, a scientist who spearheads a worldwide investigation into the UFO phenomena. It is a role written especially for him.

Teri Garr, who won distinction for her performance opposite Gene Hackman in "The Conversation" and in Mel Brooks' "Young Frankenstein," is Neary's wife, who cannot comprehend the sudden and bizarre upheaval in their lives.

Melinda Dillon, brought to the filmmakers' attention by Hal Ashby, who directed her in "Bound for Glory," plays a young widow, traumatized by the "strange lights in the sky" and the subsequent disappearance of her 4-year-old son.

The film's elaborate musical score was composed and conducted by Academy Award winner John Williams, whose impressive screen credits include "Star Wars" and "Jaws." The Director of Cinematography was Vilmos Zsigmond, winner of the Best Cinematography Award from the National Society of Film Critics for "The Long Goodbye." Other well-known cinematographers who contributed to individual sequences included William A.

Fraker, Douglas Slocumbe, John Alonzo, and Laszlo Kovacs.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, who served as Technical Advisor in the film's production, has been described as today's outstanding authority on UFO phenomena. The highly respected astronomer and author is a former director for Ohio State University's MacMillin Observatory and spent 22 years as scientific consultant to the United States Air Force's "Project Blue Book" as the military investigation into UFOs was called.

He is presently a professor of astronomy at Northwestern University and the Director of the Center for UFO Studies in Evanston, Illinois.

It was Hynek who first categorized the three kinds of "close encounters" from which the picture draws its title — a close encounter of the first kind — sighting of a UFO; close encounter of the second kind — physical evidence; close encounter of the third kind — actual contact with the occupants of a UFO.

Filmed in Panavision and Metrocolor and recorded in Dolby Sound, "Close Encounters of the Third Kind" has been rated PG by the M.P.A.A.

Preserving Summer Goodness

To many, the thought of canning brings back childhood memories. Of baskets of fresh-picked tomatoes, still warm and sweet-smelling from the garden sun. Of steaming kettles and rows of shining jars. Of grandmother's garden where everything from asparagus to zucchini grew in abundance. Of canning days sitting in the kitchen peeling, paring, pitting and slicing. Of mother marking the jars with red-bordered labels.

For generations, canning season has been a time for relatives to congregate and a time to be thankful for a plentiful harvest. In earlier days, canning was a near necessity. But with all the developments in food technology, processing and distribution, canning is not nearly so necessary as it once was.

Yet, home canning has grown tremendously in popularity in recent seasons. Millions of Americans are returning to a basic pioneer concept-grow your own food, preserve it for winter, be a little more self-sufficient.

Serves in widespread sections of the nation tell the same story-not since the victory gardens of World War II have families gone in so heavily for home preservation of food as they have in the last several years.

These same surveys also suggest that many families are rediscovering that, in addition to economy, there is something basically satisfying and rewarding in preserving food. And canned foods can be enjoyed at a later time when they are needed more. Also, fruits, and vegetables can be available all year long, not just when they are in season. And most importantly, the home canner has complete control over which, if any, additives are put in the food-and home canned foods can be made to meet the specific tastes of the family.

Recognizing the increasing importance of home canning, two well-known companies, Imperial Sugar of Sugar Land, Texas and the Ball Corporation, Muncie, Indiana, each with over a hundred years of experience, have joined together in a program this summer intended to encourage more people to try their hand at home canning.

A highlight of the program is the Ball Blue Book which is being made available in a special offer from Imperial. Although they have been a reliable source for recipes and cookbooks since 1915, Imperial felt the 30th edition of the Blue Book, encompassing more than 70 years of canning knowledge, technical experience and scientific study, would be more helpful and meaningful to today's home canner.

This newest edition of the Blue Book is bigger and more extensive than any of the 29 editions published since 1909. Included in the full color book are illustrated step-by-step instructions on canning fruits, vegetables, jellies, jams; yield charts; processing times; types of equipment needed and instructions on the three basic canning methods: steam pressure, boiling water bath, open kettle.

The 30th edition of the Blue book also contains a complete section on preserving foods by freezing. While freezing certainly isn't anything really new, developments in convenient home equipment and containers have made freezing practical on a wide scale.

This edition also has a special section on canning for special diets. And a new feature in this issue includes dual recipe measurements--both English and metric.

Here are home canning recipes for peaches, strawberries and sweet corn. They are typical of the more than 250 tested easy-to-follow recipes in the Blue Book.

Strawberry Lime Jam
2 quarts strawberries
1/4 cup lime juice
1 package powdered pectin
7 cups Imperial Granulated Sugar

1. Crush fruit; measure 4 1/2 cups into large saucepan. Mix lime juice with strawberries.
2. Add powdered pectin to the mixture.
3. Place fruit over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. Immediately add Imperial Granulated Sugar and boil hard for 1 minute, stirring constantly.
4. Remove from heat and skim off foam.
5. Ladle into hot jars. Leave 1/4-inch head space. Adjust caps.
6. Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath.
7. Yield: about nine, 1/2-pints.

Corn With Red Peppers
12 Large ears fresh corn
1 Sweet red (or green) pepper, diced
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons Imperial Granulated Sugar

- Dried Basil
1. Husk corn; remove silk and wash. Cut corn from cob. With corn in colander, rinse in cool water.
 2. Measure 2 quarts corn kernels into large kettle. Add salt, Imperial Granulated Sugar and 4 cups boiling water.
 3. Add pepper to corn in kettle
 4. Pack hot into hot jars, leaving 1-inch head space. Add 1/2 teaspoon basil to each jar. Adjust caps.
 5. Process pints 55 minutes, quarts 1 hour and 25 minutes, at 10 pounds pressure.
 6. Yield: five pints.

Canned Peaches
Canning of peaches may be done through cold pack or hot pack methods. The cold pack method is the most desirable way to can evenly ripened peaches. Following is a step-by-step method for cold packing peaches:

1. Select firm, evenly-ripe peaches. Sort, wash and drain just enough peaches for one canner load. Fill water bath canner half full with water. Heat.
2. Prepare medium or light sugar syrup. For medium syrup combine 3 cups Imperial Granulated Sugar and 1 quart water into a saucepan. (Use 2 cups Imperial Granulated Sugar and 1 quart water for light syrup). Cook until sugar dissolves. Keep syrup hot until needed, but do not let it boil down.
3. Using wire basket or cheesecloth, dip peaches into boiling water in canner 1/2 to 1 minute to loosen skins. Dip into cold water. Drain.
4. Cut peaches into halves, pit and peel. Drop halves into salt-vinegar solution (mix 2 tablespoons salt, 2 tablespoons vinegar in 1 gallon cold water). Rinse peaches.
5. Pack peach halves, cavity-side down, layers overlapping, in hot jars. Leave 1/2-inch head space. Cover peaches with boiling hot syrup (approximately 1 to 1 1/2 cups per quart) leaving 1/2-inch head space. Remove air bubbles in jar by running a flat, non-metallic kitchen utensil gently between fruit and jar. Add more syrup, if needed.

6. Screw jar lids down evenly and tightly. Stand jars on rack in canner with water covering jars. Water in canner should be hot, but not boiling.
7. Put cover on canner and bring water to a boil. Process at a gentle but steady boil (quarts 30 minutes, pints 25 minutes).
8. Store jars in dry, dark, cool place.

Peaches and other fruits tend to darken while being prepared for canning or after they are in the jar. Step 4 will prevent darkening during preparation. To prevent darkening in the jar, sprinkle over the fruit, 1/4 teaspoon ascorbic acid to each quart, just before capping.

During this canning season, the Ball Blue book is being offered at a special price by Imperial Sugar. To get a copy send $1.75, plus your name, address, zip code pure cane block cut from an empty Imperial Sugar package to Imperial Sugar Company, P.O. Box 500, Sugar Land, Texas 7747.

GROWING IMPORTANCE OF MEDICAL SELF-HELP

In an effort to help patients prevent many of their personal health problems, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) is promoting six health habits the association says can save lives and money.

A California study showed that people who followed these ideas lived 7-11 years longer than those who did not. One of the authors of the 1973 study said a man at age 55 who follows all the habits can be as healthy as someone 30 years younger who follows less than two.

If these habits can help keep you healthy, then they are going to save you money on medical bills, said Mylie E. Durham, Jr., M. D., TMA president. Feeling good and saving money are two great reasons to follow these recommendations:

1. Eat three meals a day, including breakfast, at regular times and avoid snacks;
2. Control your weight. Use your head to fight fat. Remember that fat diets don't keep weight off permanently. Diets based on good nutrition and sensible amounts of food have the best chance of success;

3. Exercise more than once or twice a week. If you haven't exercised in a long time, ease into it. If you're over 40 or have heart problems, check with your doctor before starting a program;

4. Avoid having more than two alcoholic drinks daily;

5. Get enough sleep. Eight hours nightly is a general rule but individual requirements vary;

6. Don't smoke.

Health experts are putting more stress on self-help health habits because they play a major part in solving several problems.

As scientists increase the average lifespan by battling traditional killers such as heart disease, an individual's efforts to increase the quality and quantity of life become even more important. Even expensive masses of modern technology cannot save someone if he is determined to destroy himself or make life miserable by following bad health habits, Dr. Durham said.

Bad habits also are pumping up the rising cost of health care. Medical bills and other related expenses of alcoholism will cost more than $44 billion this year. Another study estimates smoking-related problems will cost more than $18 billion, including missed work days and other items. Curbing these and other expensive health habits could mean a lot more money available for pleasure instead of pain, Dr. Durham said.

As part of the association's efforts to educate the public, doctors statewide are distributing several hundred thousand pamphlets entitled "Your Health Is In Your Hands." The pamphlets include the six health habits and other ideas on saving lives and money. For a free copy of the pamphlet, write Communication Department, Texas Medical Association, 1801 North Lamar Blvd., Austin, Texas 78701.

RESTRAINTS COULD DECREASE CHILD DEATHS

An injured child instinctively turns to the safety of mother's arms for protection. But in an automobile accident, even the strongest of arms are incapable of protecting a child from death and injury, warns the Texas Medical Association. Infants and children, due to their short legs and large, heavy heads, are much more likely to be thrown about the car upon impact than are adults. In a 20 m.p.h. collision, a 15 pound baby is thrown at a force equal to 300 pounds.

Automobile accidents are the leading cause of death in the U.S. for children over the age of 1 month. Approximately 1,000 children, 5 years old and under, are killed in auto accidents each year and another 100,000 are injured. Car seats and restraint devices could prevent many deaths and injuries. A Washington State Seat Belt Study indicated that if all children under the age of 5 years were restrained at the time of an accident, a reduction of death by 91 percent and of injuries by 78 percent might be expected. Despite this startling statistic, a 1975 study by the Insurance Institute of Highway Safety showed that 90 percent of children under 10 years of age ride as passengers in vehicles without any type of restraint.

An infant, in particular, is in danger when carried in someone's arms. The baby is not only inadequately protected against crash forces but also is placed in further jeopardy because of the possibility of being crushed by the person holding the child.

Seat belts alone, however, do not always provide adequate protection, especially for small children. Studies have shown that lap-type seat belts often slip to a position on the child's abdomen which could cause internal injuries during a crash.

To insure adequate protection, all children should be placed in some type of child restraint device. There are four basic types: infant carriers, C-shaped shields, car seats, and harnesses. When choosing a restraint device, parents should consider their responsibility for installing and using the device correctly, the size and weight of the child, and special features of their automobile which may prevent them from using certain brands. Although all of the approximately 15 brands of child restraint devices on the market meet federal safety standards, there are differences among them.

Ancient Romans appear to be the first people to use napkins.

Melinda Dillon as Jillian Guiler and Cary Guffey as her son Barry, huddle together as something extraordinary comes down from the skies outside their Indiana home in "Close Encounters of the Third Kind," a Columbia Presentation in Association with EMI opening AUG. 16 at the LYRIC Theatre. Richard Dreyfuss, Francois Truffaut and Teri Garr also star.

SYNOPSIS

"Close Encounters of the Third Kind" begins when Roy Neary (RICHARD DREYFUSS), a power repairman, witnesses unidentified flying objects in the skies near his Muncie, Indiana home. This encounter sets into action a startling chain of dramatic events. Neary tries desperately to understand what he has experienced. He is baffled by the governmental cover-up that blocks his efforts, however, and finds himself increasingly driven to the emotional edge. His wife (TERI GARR) cannot understand what is happening and finds her relationship with her husband disintegrating.

In his quest, Neary clings to an ally in Jillian Guiler (MELINDA DILLON), who has witnessed with him the nocturnal encounter. Together, they pursue an answer to the extraordinary mystery that has engulfed them.

As Roy and Jillian share their struggle, an international "science group" is being led by Claude Lacombe (FRANCOIS TRUFFAUT), a dedicated French expert on extraordinary phenomena. He and his scientific teams seek knowledge of the phenomenon of the skies and search for a breakthrough in communications. This suspenseful, cosmic detective work moves from the Indiana plains across the world to a remote hillside in India and then to the one place that will hold the answer to the ultimate encounter.

Banking At Home? Protect Your Money With Travelers Checks

Be it ever so humble, sure there's no place like home. But, according to American Express, millions of dollars are lost each year by dwellers who habitually leave cash at home.

What can these cash hoarders do to protect their money? According to Consumer Affairs expert at American Express, Barbara Sullivan, "There's little risk in keeping a small amount of cash at home for emergencies. However, with a large sum of money it's better to deposit it in a financial institution or convert it into travelers checks. American Express Cheques, for example, never expire and, if they are lost at home or stolen, you can get them replaced."

What follows are five common reasons why people lose their money in their homes:

1. People hide money at

2. The pockets of old discarded clothing or items sent to the cleaners often have cash that has been forgotten.
3. Pets and children delight in tearing up and even swallowing bills.
4. Fires destroy cash, like everything else.
5. Robbers who break into homes and apartments are experts at discovering "secret" hiding places.

Four Hansford County beauties vied for the Farm Bureau 1978 Queen crown last Tuesday night during a 7:30 P.M. pre-supper pageant held at the El Vaquero in Gruver.

Em-ceeing the occasion was Mr. Tommy Baskin of Stratford who was introduced by the Hansford Farm Bureau president Delbert McCloy. Mrs. Aubrey Rasor chaired the Queen's contest with other members of the Farm Bureau assisting.

Vieing for honors Tuesday night were Misha Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davidson of Gruver; Nanelle McCloy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson McCloy of Morse; Mittie Green, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Green, Gruver; and Anita Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Walker who farm near Gruver.

The candidates for queen appeared four times before the assembly and the three judges against a background of organ music by Mrs. James Dorman. During the final appearance before the judging, each girl was asked several questions including why she felt that Farm Bureau was an important organization in the life of her family.

Presented with the 1978 Hansford Farm Bureau Queen's crown was Mittie Green, who is 18 years old, a 1978 graduate of Gruver High School and plans to attend Abilene Christian College this Fall. Named as 1st runner-up was Nanelle McCloy, also a GHS graduate and a sophomore at Panhandle State University in Goodwell this year. All of the girls in the pageant were presented with spray bouquets of red roses at the conclusion of the judging.

Following the pageant a fried chicken dinner was served buffet style. Among those attending the Tuesday FB Pageant were the District I president Jack Osborne and Mrs. Osborne. The invocation for the evening was offered by Aubrey Rasor.

Price Supports Tax Bill

AUSTIN-- State Sen. Bob Price announced July 25 that he has joined Sen. A.M. Aikin Jr., of Paris, Texas, Dean of the Texas Senate and Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and other members of the Senate in sponsoring S.J.R. 14, which proposes a constitutional amendment relating to ad valorem taxation, and conditions for increases in total property tax revenue.

This constitutional amendment does not include such features as initiative and referendum, a cap on the amount of taxes to be levied, nor a two-thirds majority of the legislature to raise taxes.

"However," Price said, "this proposal does have the support of the lieutenant governor and the leadership in the Senate, giving the measure a greater chance of passage during this special session of the legislature."

S.J.R. 14 excludes from taxation household goods and personal effects not used for the production of income. The proposed constitutional amendment would further provide for the taxation of agricultural land according to productivity and would raise the homestead exemption from $3000 - $5000 of the fair market value of the residence homestead, and up to $10,000 for residence homestead of persons 65 years of age or older.

Also, the total amount of property taxes imposed at the local and state level would be limited to the amounts of the proceeding year, unless adequate notice is given and a public hearing is held to consider the proposed increase.

"This legislative proposal, if passed during this session, would appear on the ballot for voter consideration during the general election on 7 November 1978," said Price.

Price concluded, "While this constitutional amendment may not include all of the attractive aspects of tax reform, it does have the best chance of passage by both houses of the legislature during this special session and will offer tax relief for homesteads and agricultural land and provide for limitations on tax increases."
