

Weather is "Les Miserables"

The weather outside is frightful, and inside, it is delightful. That is what everyone was singing in Hansford County this New Years holiday week-end! The temperature drooped to a -11 in the county January 1st, at 7 P. M. By 8 p. m., the cold sharp wind had switched to the West, and the temperature rose to a -7! It was probably the coldest New Years day on record for the county, and officially Billy Haden had a -5 degrees, we understand! The cold snap hit Saturday morning, and hung on til January 1st (midnite) and on in to Jan. 2nd. Spearman and Gruver received about 3 to 5 inches of snow, and the roads became very slick by Sunday morning in the area. The basketball game Saturday night between Clarendon and Spearman had to be cancelled, but the dribble derby started up again on Tuesday night of this week, and the Lynx and Lynettes traveled to Sanford Fritch for a return game with the classy Eagles and their Eaglettes!

Cattlemen reported that the cold weather was hard on the cattle, but water trucks kept running through the holidays and the cattle had to be supplied with plenty of warm water.

In the meantime, Dallas suffered one of the worst ice storms in history, and some 75,000 families were without heat for New Years day! In fact, the Houston Cougars froze up in the waning seconds of their ball game against the Irish, and lost 35-34! It was the best of all of the games played over the New Years!

Weather-men are predicting some more moisture for the week-end, and we hope that it will benefit the wheat "the next time around!"

Basketball

The Spearman Lynx lost a doubleheader to Fritch Tuesday night, The girls lost by a score of 54 to 39. The Spearman boys lost by a score of 82 to 72. The Gruver girls blasted the Channing girls 75 to 47, and the Gruver boys lost to Channing 80-56. The Perryton Rangers won over Dumas 81 to 57 and the Rengerttes lost to Dumas by a 44-28 score. All 6 of these teams will be in the Stratford tournament starting today (Thursday). Be sure and check the bracket out in this paper for information.

Freeman's sermon at the service for the public worship of God on Sunday, January 7 at 11:00 a.m. Martha Batton and Richard Bennett will be ordained elders and Mrs. Batton and Mr. Bennett and Helen Etter will be installed as members of the church's Session. Universal Week of Prayer is January 7-13.

1978 big year for animals

1978 was a newsy year for the human race. It had its share of wars, floods, earthquakes, inflation, and other untoward events.

It was also a big news year for wildlife, according to a survey by the National Wildlife Federation. It was the year in which a tiny fish, the snail darter, stopped construction of a $120 million dam in Tennessee and a diamond-back rattlesnake, concealed in a mailbox as a murder weapon, bit and nearly killed a Los Angeles attorney. It was a year in which hundreds of other animals made headlines.

A few of them made the news tickers by getting kidnapped—a 75-pound Galapagos turtle named Little Rock that was whisked from a Brooklyn motel room; a large octopus that was eventually abandoned on the floor of a San Francisco ladies' room; a batch of snakes valued at $5,000 abducted from a Glen Burnie, Md., reptile house; nine pigs. Well, it was originally one pig, stolen from a farm in Washington County, Mo., but by the time she reached St. Louis she had produced eight piglets.

There were also a lot of animals who were harshly reminded that it's a man's world: Willie the Whale, who strayed into port at Cherbourg, France, and paralyzed harbor traffic for five days before dying of starvation; thousands of fish who were poisoned in Dijon, France, when a disgruntled employee poured $600,000 worth of his boss's fine burgundy into village sewers; a deer who crashed through a Beltsville, Md., woman's bathroom window and landed in her bathtub; and a colony of eager beavers who were trapped and relocated when their dams flooded pastures, fields and gardens around Moscow, Idaho.

Some critters made news by making unusual adjustments to man's presence. A city-wise fox set up housekeeping under the bleachers in Yankee Stadium. And in Baltimore, Md., a peregrine falcon, normally a bird of the wilderness, settled on the 32nd floor of a downtown building. Her new neighbors named her Scarlet.

The animal who behaved most like a human in 1978? It would have to be Koko, a 130-pound California gorilla who's learned 375 "words" in the sign language used by deaf. Koko learned to lie, insult, and swear in sign language—all human failings.

This year people came up with some new ways to make a living with the assistance of animals. A Virginia man hit the road with Victor, a wrestling bear. Victor never loses, and celebrates his wins by licking the faces of his prostrate human challengers. In England, a pet-shop began selling cockroaches. The shop owner said they make ideal pets because they don't eat much and you can go on vacation and leave them on their own.

In an attempt to keep coyotes from preying on ranchers' sheep, biologists in western Canada reported that they are trying to convince coyotes that sheep just don't taste good. They're injecting dead sheep with lithium chloride and then leaving them for the dog-like wild animals. The lithium chloride doesn't kill the coyotes, just gives them an upset stomach.

In Washington, D.C., government scientists announced that they're trying a different tactic. They're attempting to train a shaggy-haired Hungarian dog, the Komondor, to protect sheep from coyotes. In preliminary tests, they said, the hulking 120 pound watchdogs—which can cost up to $500—intimidated caged coyotes simply by walking past them.

If the tests succeed, the use of Komondors may turn out to be the shaggy dog story of 1979.

Boy Scout Den 551, under the leadership of Fred Groves and assistant Dwight Sumner, had their Christmas party at a regular scout meeting, Monday, Dec. 18, at the First Christian Church. The boys exchanged gifts and also presented recognition plaques to the Scout Committee members, Bob Boxwell, Don Wirsdorfer and Harry Stumpf for service to the scouts.

The party and refreshments were planned and served by the boys themselves.

Their next meeting will be Mon. Jan. 8 from 5 until 7 p.m. at Fred Groves' Shop.

Zi Zeta's Annual Christmas Party was held at the County Barn, December 16, with Richard Kirk providing the entertainment with his Disco lights and country-western music for the dancing.

There was a twist contest and a jitterbug contest, both of which ended in a tie.

Refreshments were served and fun had by all members and their husbands and out of town guests, Danny and Linda Collins.

Mr. Knox Pipkin will be honored by his children on Sunday, January 14, for his 80th birthday.

To be held at the Fellowship Hall of the Union Church which is located at 21 S. Endicott in Spearman, Texas.

1978 Census

The 1978 Census of Agriculture gets underway this week with the mailing of report forms to all farms and ranches in the 50 States, the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce, announced today.

Farmers and ranchers are being asked to report on their agricultural operations during 1978. This 1978 census, "Nation's 21st farm census in a series that started in 1840, will update data most recently obtained in 1975 for 1974 operations. Information will be sought on all agricultural operations.

With report forms for the 1978 census drastically reduced from the 22 pages of the last census, most agricultural operators will receive a four-page form in the mail, and about 20 percent will receive a five-page version. The overall time required by farmers to complete the form has been reduced by more than one-third.

The census will continue to monitor trends in domestic ownership and control of land. The last census showed a five-year gain in the number of U.S. corporate farms from 22,000 to 29,000; the amount of acreage they farmed rose from 80 to 97 million acres, and the value of their farm products rose from $6 billion to $14 billion.

The census asks whether the farm is operated by a family or individual, a partnership, a family-held corporation, an investor-owned corporation with more than 10 stockholders, or some other legal entity such as cooperative, estate or trust, grazing association, etc.

The apparent increase in foreign ownership of land has raised questions in the Congress and with business and agricultural groups. In 1974 a Department of Commerce survey showed about 5 million acres of the Nation's one billion acres of farm land were owned by foreign interests, or less than one-half of one percent of the total. The new farm census will measure the increase. As in earlier censuses, information obtained about farming operations will be published for each of more than 3,000 counties with agricultural operations, for each State and for the entire Nation.

Each report form will have a control number printed on the address label. Because response is required by law (Title 13, U.S. Code), each control number must be accounted for by the Bureau of the Census. Followup letters will be sent to non-respondents. Everyone who receives the agriculture census report form should answer the first four items and as much more of the report as applies, and return it, so that it will not be necessary to spend more tax money on obtaining a response.

Despite careful screening of the mailing lists used, some persons not engaged in agricultural activities will receive report forms. Those persons should return the form with the fact noted in order to stop additional mailings.

TMIP Enacts Innovative Program

AUSTIN—An innovative program to add top-flight talent to the administration of state agencies was announced today by the Texas Merit System Council.

The Texas Management Intern Program (TMIP) will place on a management level in certain state agencies the brightest of college and university graduates with master's degrees in public affairs or public administration.

Gregory Moore, 24, former coordinator of Dallas County's Skill Training Improvement Program, has been named coordinator of the new state program. He received his master's degree in public administration at Southern Methodist University and his undergraduate degree from the University of Texas at Dallas.

TMIP is patterned to some extent after the President's Management Intern Program created by an executive order signed by President Carter on Aug. 25, 1977. Both programs recruit for public service men and women of exceptional management potential who have received special training in planning and managing public programs and policies.

The federal program was the brainchild of Dr. Alan K. Campbell, U. S. Civil Service Commission chairman who is on leave of absence as dean of the LBJ School of Public Affairs in Austin. Campbell called the program "the first step -- small, but significant -- in an effort to totally revitalize the personnel system of the federal government."

Leo F. Brockmann, director of the Texas Merit System Council, was equally as enthusiastic about the state program.

"Not only will it provide state agencies with the cream of the crop of graduates with public management training, it will place these people in an area with a potential for rapid advancement," he said.

The Merit System Council is the closest agency Texas has to a civil service system. Operating under federal guidelines, MSC serves as the central personnel agency for ten state agencies that receive certain federal grant-in-aid funds. These agencies hire employees from top-ranking applicants who pass Merit System competitive examinations.

The Texas Management Intern Program is being set up under a first-year $54,306 budget, half that amount from a federal grant under provisions of the Intergovernmental Personnel Act. "The grant will fund the designing, planning work and the implementation of a pilot operational phase for a management intern program for state agencies," said Brockmann.

Details of the state intern program will be worked out during the coming weeks. Moore will consult with deans of Texas' schools of public affairs and with personnel officers of state agencies in putting the state program in effect.

The Texas Management Intern Program will require that all candidates have, or be about to receive, a master's degree in public affairs or public administration, or other graduate degrees directly focused on managing the state's business. The program will require that candidates be nominated by the deans of their colleges or universities.

Kemp Dixon, head of job analysis and test development for the Merit System Council, said the duties of the interns hired in the state program will be flexible, depending on the administrative needs of the state agencies.

Moore said Texas' program should attract top-notch graduates who would not ordinarily pursue a career in state government. "A surprising number," he said, "are going into private industry, where salaries and opportunities are better."

Moore himself was a candidate recommended by his university dean for the President's Management Intern Program.

The program will be available to Merit System participating agencies, including the Employment Commission, Air Control Board, Commission on Alcoholism, Governor's Committee on Aging, Surplus Property Agency, Drug Abuse Division, Disaster Emergency Services, and the departments of Health, Human Resources and Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Mealtime Magic

EXOTIC BEGINNINGS

The truly elegant meal begins with hors d'oeuvres—the perfect appetizers or accompaniments for before-dinner drinks.

To prepare a selection that will please every guest, add a different twist to your traditional vegetable or meat tidbit favorites. For example, the agreeable flavors you'll find in the booklet "Round The World With Champale...The International Hors d'Oeuvres Recipe Experience," available from Champale, Recipes, Dept. G., Trenton, N.J. 08611, for 25¢ postage and handling can bring the color and excitement of foreign lands to your parties.

You can add a touch of sophistication, too, serving Champale, Extra Dry or Pink, or using Champale to make a tasty Sate like "Sate Javanese" from Indonesia.

SATE JAVANESE

3 chicken breasts, skinned, boned, and cut into 1-inch cubes

Marinade
1/2 cup Pink Champale
Malt Liqueur
2 tsp. Giroux Lime Juice
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. ground ginger
1 garlic clove, crushed
Peanut Oil

Sauce
1 tbsp. peanut oil
1/4 cup scallions, chopped
1 garlic clove, chopped
1 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup Pink Champale
Malt Liqueur
1 tsp. Giroux Lime Juice
1/2 cup peanut butter
2 tsp. soy sauce
1/4 tsp. red pepper flakes

Place chicken cubes in non-metal container with all the marinade ingredients, except oil. Let stand 1 hour. Thread 2 or 3 pieces of chicken on small skewers. Brush with oil and broil 5 minutes, turning occasionally. To make sauce, heat oil in pan; sauté scallions and garlic until transparent. Add next ingredients. Blend well. Heat and serve with Sates. Insert skewers into a pineapple garnished with Raffetto Kumquats. Makes about 24 Sates.

high as R-12. Except for their insulation backing, thermal ceilings are much like conventional fiber glass suspended ceiling panels.

If you don't want to spoil a cathedral effect with a conventional suspended-ceiling grid system, you can now buy thermal panels as large as four feet by 16 feet and use the existing beams as suspension grid members. The thermal ceiling can also be installed next to the original ceiling, leaving the decorative beams exposed.

Check with your building supply dealer for tips on purchasing and installing thermal panels. He can work out a plan that will give you the grid system and ceiling design that blends most harmoniously with your decor.

People once believed that if their palms itched they would receive money.

A Beautiful Way To Save Money

If your energy bills seem to be going through the roof, you may be able to put a ceiling on your costs—and decorate at the same time.

Thermal ceilings are ideal for homes with cathedral ceilings or where there's no room for attic insulation. Like attic insulation, they help prevent winter heat loss and summer heat gain.

PRETTY IS AS PRETTY DOES: This suspended ceiling lends beauty and comfort to the living area.

Fiber glass thermal ceiling panels, developed by Owens-Corning, contain up to three inches of built-in insulation, with insulation values as

If we told you there was a new comedy directed by Howard Morris, one of the original members of the legendary Sid Caesar Show, and that this comedy featured half a dozen of your favorite Hollywood heroes and villains and that it all takes place on the white sand, brown skinned beaches of Hawaii, and stars Donny and Marie Osmond, would you want to go?

You'd be making a big mistake if you didn't. "Goin' Coconuts" is definitely the funniest movie you've never seen.

TSTI To Construct First New Permanent Building

AMARILLO--TSTI Board of Regents met on the Harlingen Campus today (12-11-78) and took action in connection with the proposed construction of the TSTI Amarillo Campus's first new permanent building.

Regents authorized President Dr. Maurice Roney to submit applications to the Economic Development Administration for a requested grant in the amount of $1,750,000 to construct an employment skills development center. Total cost of the project is estimated at $3.5 million. The remainder of those funds needed to pay for the new building will be requested from the State Legislature. The proposed building will house those programs related to industrial transportation. Board members also appointed Hanon & Daniels, Architects-Engineers as architects for the new skill development center. The E.D.A. requests that an Architect be appointed before applications for the grant can be submitted.

TSTI regents also authorized the raising of minimum wages for employees in the Texas State Technical Institute System. Effective January 1st, minimum wage paid will be

$2.93 an hour as compared to the $2.90 Federal minimum wage in 1979.

In other business, several lease agreements were approved on the Amarillo Campus. Empire Systems, Inc. was granted a five year lease for building 9521 at a rental rate of $300 per month. Superior Pallet Company, Inc. received an OK for a one year lease to building 9519 at $300 per month and another five year lease at $300 per month was granted to Foundry and Steel.

SUPERMARKET SAVINGS

Ideas To Help You
The five best tools for the smart shopper? A pencil, the weekly supermarket ads, a sharp knife, a good cookbook and unit pricing.

BE A SUPERMARKET STRATEGIST and capitalize on the savings.

Use the pencil and the ads to plan the week's main meals, utilizing the specials. Invaluable is a good cookbook to point the way to interesting new twists on economy foods as eggs, cheese, liver, frozen and canned fish, and ground beef -- and, of course, leftovers.

You can cut costs with a sharp knife. Whole broiler/fryers, for example, are generally cheaper than cut-up ones. Buy several when they're on sale, cut them at home, package and freeze.

Spending a few minutes to compare unit prices shown on the shelf tags in supermarkets can make a big difference. Consumers can take advantage of this handy short-cut to compare price per pound between brands and types of packaged items.

Accent On Health

The health and safety of workers in Texas is being improved by a unique partnership between the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration, or OSHA, and the Texas Department of Health.

Under federal law, every private employer in the United States is required to comply with a massive set of OSHA regulations. These rules cover almost every conceivable aspect of the physical facilities and the environment of the workplace. When OSHA inspectors find violations, the employer is given a citation and possibly a fine.

"Under the law federal inspectors aren't allowed to provide consultation and advice to employers on ways to improve the health and safety aspects of their businesses and to meet OSHA regulations," says Walter G. Martin, Director of the Occupational Safety Division of the Texas Department of Health.

"But this is where the Texas Department of Health enters the picture," Martin continued. "State engineers from the Occupational Safety Division and the Occupational Health and Radiation Control Division are available to provide consultative assistance to employers thanks to a funded contract between OSHA and the Department."

When an employer asks for an inspection, one of the state engineers—who was trained by OSHA—visits the workplace and conducts the same kind of inspection that an OSHA inspector would perform. But the state inspection doesn't result in penalties. Instead, the state engineer offers advice and suggestions on how to correct problems and points out ways to improve safety and health.

Since the state consultation program began late in 1975, the number of requests for consultative inspections has steadily increased. In fact, a number of requests for inspections have come from employers who aren't even subject to OSHA regulations such as city governments, state agencies, hospitals, and even federal military installations.

The manager of one business wrote, "We constantly strive to make working conditions safer than even the strictest of local, state, and federal regulations. But I am, perhaps too close to the situation to be objective and impartial. So your unbiased opinion will be welcomed by everyone."

The manager continued, "If possible, I would rather not know when you plan the inspection. Just visit us at your convenience, identify yourself, inspect what you will, and let the chips fall where they may."

The president of an oil drilling company wrote, "It is through inspections like this that we are able to train our people in the proper safety methods in work areas. Please convey my thanks to your engineer for his inspection and I hope that sometime in the future he will be able to again pay us a visit."

The following nursing home hearings are scheduled by the Bureau of Long Term Care of the Texas Department of Health, according to Dr. Robert Bernstein, Deputy Commissioner of Special Health Services.

Georgia Manor Nursing Home, Amarillo, January 3, at 2:30 p.m.
Leisure Lodge Borger, Borger, January 3, at 10:30 a.m.
Thomas Nursing Center, Wellington, January 4, at 10:30 a.m.
Medi-Park Care Center, Amarillo, January 4, at 3:00 p.m.

WASHINGTON--Store dried fruits in tightly closed containers. The fruit will keep well at room temperature for several months. But if the weather is hot or humid, keep dried fruits in the refrigerator and use them within a few days, say home economists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Paul and Betty Hazelwood had Christmas visits from Mary Ragsdale of Seagraves, their daughter and their other daughter, and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Needham and Danielle of Amarillo and Danny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Needham of Amarillo.

If food stands at room temperature for long periods of time may become contaminated with bacteria which can produce a harmful toxin. Once this toxin is produced in the food, it isn't destroyed by ordinary cooking.

Don't leave fresh fruit in direct sunlight. Let fruits ripen in indirect light in the open air at room temperature. When fully ripe, refrigerate and use as soon as possible.

You can leave fruits and fruit juices in opened tin cans if you cover and store them in the refrigerator. But use them within two or three days after opening.

Citrus fruits keep best if stored at a cool room temperature, about 60 to 70 degrees, and if used within two weeks. Use up pineapples as quickly as possible after buying them.

Mixtures of foods that require several steps and handling--such as meats, fish and salads--are most likely to become bacteria contaminated. Use clean hands, utensils and clean work surfaces.

Cream, custard and meringue-type pies--or those with custard fillings--need to be refrigerated promptly. Low refrigerator temperatures keep Staphylococcus bacteria from growing and forming toxins that can make you ill.

Open and close hot dog and luncheon meat packages as few times as possible. Handle them as little as possible, too. Use a fork or tongs--not your fingers--to separate meat. Fingers spread germs.

The word "booze" is believed to come from the Dutch buizen, meaning "to drink to excess."

$5800 Defibrillator Arrives!

The Lifepak 5 defibrillator monitor. How it works, why it's great.

Gruver's new "Lifepak 5" Defibrillator monitor has arrived and is on display for the time being at Gruver City Hall.

The new life saving piece of equipment raised with local funds entirely weighs less than nineteen pounds and is noted to be the lightest complete instrument of its kind ever built.

The new Defibrillator was raised through the efforts of the Alpha Mu Psi Sorority in its 1978 Trick or Treat efforts along with numerous gifts made as memorials to the Library.

Gruver officials and area medical personnel noted that the acquisition of the new Defibrillator could save countless lives over the long run. It will be used in conjunction with ambulance runs involving cardiac problems.

It weighs less than 19 pounds complete with defibrillator, scope and recorder. The lightest complete instrument of its kind ever built.

Press a button and it separates into two completely self-contained modules. Carry one in either hand. Use the modules together or apart.

Each module has a rechargeable Battery/Pak. Keep a second set of batteries on charge at all times in the battery charging unit. (Not shown).

EKG monitor module has non-fade cardio-scope and recorder with 2.4 second memory delay. Input through Quik-Look™ defibrillator paddles or 3-lead low-noise patient cable.

Defibrillator paddles are designed with all controls under the operators' thumbs, including Quik-Look, charge, discharge, and energy level selector.

Built tough to take real-life punishment with sealed high-impact case. Smaller than the famed Lifepak 4, but every bit as rugged and reliable.

The Chairman of the Standing Committee on Agriculture of the Canadian Senate visited the State of Texas last week for the purpose of meeting with the leadership of the Texas Wheat Producers Association. Senator Hazen Argue stated in a discussion with the wheat producers that a commitment is needed between the U. S. and Canada to cooperate in maintaining a fair farm-gate price for wheat.

He further stated that this price level should be no less than $4.00 per bushel.

"Our discussion in Winnipeg led us to the conclusion that production costs in Canada and the United States...are very similar. On this year's crop, our producers will require about $4.00 per bushel to cover their costs." (Texas Wheat Producers Association estimates Texas production costs at $3.78 per bushel for the 1978 crop.)

"This figure can be expected to rise in the future if input costs continue to increase at between 12 and 15 percent per annum as they have in this decade."

The visiting Senator, a leading figure in agriculture and Canadian politics for 30 years, pictured the American wheat producer as a victim of his own nation's farm and export policies.

"Clearly nothing can be gained by the policy currently being pursued by the United States, yet much is being lost. Your government still follows a policy of low loan rates and thus effectively sets the floor of the world market at a very low level; indeed, at a level substantially below the costs of production of almost all its producers."

Senator Argue illustrated the way in which he feels American farmers are victimized by their own government's present policies.

"A year ago when world prices were very depressed, the American farmer as you remember well, was selling his wheat for just over $2.00 per bushel. At the same time, the Japanese government was buying it for about $3.00 per bushel, then selling it to the Japanese millers at $6.50 thus making a profit of $3.50 or one and one-half times the distress price received on the farm.

"Japan and the European community continue these practices today. Locally you are receiving about $3.10 per bushel yet the current resale price of imported wheat in Japan is $10.79 and the import levy on wheat imported into the European community is $3.54 per bushel."

The Canadian Senator suggested that the U.S. and Canada working together have the clout to do something about world wheat prices because the U. S. exports 45 percent of the 70 million tons of wheat which go into world trade annually and Canada exports 20 to 25 percent. He said that the addition of the cooperative arrangement would control 80 to 90 percent.

Senator Argue said that now, following the collapse of the International Wheat Agreement negotiations, it seems clear that the only course of action open is for the exporting countries to cooperate in maintaining a reasonable floor in the world market. He pointed out that one simple approach, discussed at considerable length in Canada, would be for the U. S. to raise its wheat loan rate with the other exporters setting their prices accordingly.

The Senator added, "It is better to suffer at high prices than to suffer at low ones."

As previously mentioned, Senator Argue discussed these matters with the leadership and various members of the Texas Wheat Producers Association.

Newly elected officers of the Texas Wheat Producers Association for 1979 are the following: President - Otis Harman, Tulsa; Vice-President - Leonard King, Childress; Secretary-Treasurer - C. L. Edwards, Panhandle.

The Glenn Day's holidays included visits of their son Randy of Sanford-Fritch and son and daughter-in-law, Carrol and Charlotte Day of Beaumont.

Food Prices Compared In World Capitals

WASHINGTON—The boneless sirloin steak that cost $3.02 a pound in Washington, D.C., Nov. 1, cost $15.87 in Tokyo and $9.92 in Brazilia.

Those are findings of agricultural attaches of the U.S. Department of Agriculture who compare food costs every month in 16 world capital cities.

Of the countries regularly surveyed, only Canada and West Germany reported food price index declines from August of September. The index for the United States remained the same during the period. It rose in the remaining 13 countries.

West Germany had the lowest food price index—143.6—followed by the Netherlands (163.4), Belgium (174.9) and the United States, which was 186.4 in September.

The attaches found beef prices were up in over half the cities surveyed. They jumped 44 percent in Buenos Aires but dropped 7 percent in London.

Pork prices rose in 10 of the surveyed countries while poultry and egg prices dropped in many capitals. Butter prices rose in 10 of the 16 capitals. Cheese and milk prices remained somewhat stable. In almost all countries surveyed, prices for apples, potatoes and onions fell as domestic supplies were generally abundant.

Bacon, $1.96 a pound in Washington, varied from a high of $4.69 in Paris to a low of $1.53 in Pretoria. A dozen eggs cost $2.09 in Copenhagen, 60 cents in Mexico City and 84 cents in Washington. A quart of milk was $1.03 in Tokyo, 24 cents in Buenos Aires and 56 cents in Washington, D.C.

Assault Charges Filed

A Spearman pool hall incident on December 30th has led to the filing of assault charges by one of the individuals involved.

Charges of simple assault were filed in Spearman municipal court by Mike Stephen of Spearman, allegedly an assault by George Graves of Spearman.

The defendant is scheduled to be arraigned later in Spearman Municipal Court.

Good sources of iron include dried fruits such as raisins, dates, prunes, peaches and apricots. A one-half cup serving of most dried fruits provides at least one-sixth of the iron recommended for the normal healthy person per day.

1978 Agriculture Census

The 1978 Census of Agriculture will be conducted as follows:

--All respondents will be asked to report either from their records or by estimate, the following information: amount of farm acreage by type of ownership; land use; acreage, production, and sales of crops; inventory, number sold, and sales value of livestock and poultry; and selected characteristics of farm operators and farm management.

--About 20 percent will receive an additional page seeking answers to: value of land and building; selected production expenses; selected farm equipment; hired farm labor; fertilizer and pesticide use; and petroleum fuel usage and storage capacity.

Congress and Federal agencies, as well as agricultural and business organizations, universities and other groups rely on this information to develop and revise farm programs. Individual farmers may benefit from a railroad allocating storage cars during grain harvest, or from farm machinery or bulk fertilizer dealerships being located in new areas of farm development.

Stressing that publication of its data will be accomplished more speedily in this census, Bureau officials are setting October 1979 as the beginning date issuance deadline for more than 3,000 individual countries.

They expect to publish the additional volumes of statistical information for the State and Nation within the following two years.

Census officials also point to these features of the 1978 census:

--A second copy of the report form which the respondent can complete and keep for his own records.

--The option of receiving major county data merely by checking a box on the form.

--A time extension which will be granted farmers who request it.

--An improved mailing list, and a "Were You Counted," campaign for any farmer inadvertently omitted.

The law which requires farmers to answer the census items also protects the privacy of answers. Since 1900, census report forms have been confidential by law. They may be seen only by sworn Census employees and may be used only for statistical totals. Even other government agencies may use legal means to obtain a copy of the report retained by the operator in his files.

Farm operators who do not receive a form during the first week of January should request one from the Bureau of the Census, 1201 East 10th Street, Jeffersonville, Indiana 47132.

Farmers' Tax Deadlines Approaching

COLLEGE STATION-- While most taxpayers have until Apr. 15 (actually Apr. 16) to file their 1978 income tax returns, farmers and ranchers face a much earlier filing date.

Agricultural producers who do not file an estimate of their income by Jan. 15 and do not pay estimated taxes must file their tax returns and pay due taxes by Mar. 1. However, if farmers file an estimate, they have until the Apr. 16 deadline to file final returns, points out Ashley Lovell, economist in management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Lovell notes several considerations for Texas farmers and ranchers as they prepare their 1978 income tax returns. Filing requirements for 1978 are the same as in 1977. For example, an individual must file a return if his gross income is $2,950 or more, and a married couple under 65 years of age must file if their joint gross income is more than $4,700. If both are 65 or older, they may make $6,200 before a return is required.

The Revenue Bill of 1978 specifies that for tax years ending after Aug. 15, 1971, single purpose livestock, poultry or horticultural structures are eligible for investment credit. Examples of special purpose structures qualifying as livestock facilities include those used to breed chickens or hogs, to produce milk from dairy cattle, and to produce feeder cattle or pigs, broiler chickens, or eggs. Facilities must include, as an integral part of the structure to enclosure, equipment to contain livestock and to provide water, feed and temperature control, if necessary.

Effective for sales after Oct. 31, the amount of net capital gain a noncorporate taxpayer may deduct from gross income is increased from 50 to 60 percent. Thus, only 40 percent of net capital gain is to be included in gross income. For sales before Nov. 1, the former deduction of 50 percent of net long-term capital gain over net short-term capital loss applies.

Another change concerns tax credit for energy-saving improvements and renewable energy equipment installed in homes.

For information on other changes in the Revenue Bill of 1978 and for assistance in filing your income tax return, Lovell suggests several IRS publications (1979 editions)--"Your Federal Income Tax" and the "Farmer's Tax Guide."

Comments should be addressed to Jennifer R. Nelson, director, supplemental food programs division, Food and Nutrition Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Deadline for receiving comments is Feb. 12.

The proposed formula change will appear in the Dec. 12 Federal Register.

The breath-taking progression from sneeze to wheeze to a frantic gasp for air is a quick transition for many people with asthma.

But asthmatics and potential victims can breathe easier about this possibly fatal problem if they get prompt, early medical treatment. Controlling allergy is good preventive treatment since allergy leads to asthma in many cases. One estimate says 40 percent of people with nasal allergy ultimately get asthma to some degree. The same irritants that cause a runny, stuffy nose make the lung lining do the same thing. This lung congestion can cause the coughing, wheezing and shortness of breath characteristic of most asthma attacks. Sometimes inherited factors or body make-up also give a person the overly sensitive lungs necessary for asthma.

If a person has such lungs, many things can trigger an attack. Lung infections, vigorous exercise, emotional stress, strong fumes and cold air can be culprits, according to an article in the December issue of Texas Medicine, the Texas Medical Association's monthly journal.

Many steps can be taken to prevent allergy and asthma from reaching serious stages. A physician can give tests to determine specific things a person is allergic to and then recommend oral drugs, injections or avoiding certain substances. Such steps may help prevent asthma entirely. But if it does occur, oral drugs and sprays can control many attacks.

Save Family Occasions In Priceless Pictures

Pictures of family highlights are a worthy tradition, but that does not mean that all of the pictures have to be traditional.

Some do, of course, and rightly so. You do have to get the bride and groom, parents and baptized infant, and so on.

But there is no need to stop there. How about infant and godfather, flower girl with bubble gum, ring bearer staring longingly at wedding cake, or whatever else opportunity offers?

A Kodak Ektralite camera, with its combination of aim-and-shoot operation and built-in electronic flash, is a great choice for this kind of picture-taking. It's small enough to fit easily into pocket or purse so that you can keep it handy throughout the festivities. Then you'll be ready when the unexpected happens—or when you see the chance to pose an untraditional picture.

Either way, the same basic rules for good pictures apply. Hold your camera steady and level. Watch the background for distractions and change your angle, if possible, to avoid clutter.

Shoot from the subject's level. Aiming down at seated figures, for example, is not flattering to them in the finished pictures.

At family festivities, in addition to the untraditional candid shots, it is important to remember who is present and to see that each individual is included in at least one picture. After all, Aunt Bessie came all the way from the coast for the occasion, she deserves to be in a picture.

This, of course, leads naturally to the fact that you will have extra prints made for the family when the occasion is over.

And you henceforth will be the most popular guest for all family events.

Kissing has very few drawbacks. But everything has its problems and kissing is no exception. Mononucleosis, which is transmitted mainly by kissing, can make your pucker power go limp for weeks.

But lovers need not worry too much. The disease is not serious enough to make people want to avoid kissing entirely—except for maybe a couple of weeks when fever, sore throat and other major symptoms are apparent. Malaise (a medical term for generally feeling rotten), fatigue, headache, swollen glands, and rash are a few other symptoms, according to an article in the December issue of Texas Medicine, the Texas Medical Association's monthly journal.

Aside from the interesting way it usually is transmitted, the disease has very little going for it. In its most serious form it can cause ruptured spleen, inflamed brain tissues, liver problems and death. Luckily these very serious problems occur in only about 1 percent of "mono" cases. But even less serious cases may need medical attention.

Since many of its symptoms are similar to those of other diseases, it often takes a physician and laboratory tests to determine that a problem really is mononucleosis. Once other diseases are ruled out, treatment often is simple. Bed rest, aspirin or similar pain relievers, and salt water gargles for sore throat are the main treatments in many cases, the article said.

A few people have to undergo all the misery of mono without the pleasure of getting it by kissing. Shared beverage bottles have been blamed in a few cases. Children as young as 1 year have gotten it and since they don't engage in heavy-duty kissing, obviously the disease can spread other ways. But these ways are rare compared to kissing. One researcher described the main transmission method as "kissing of more than filial affection." In concrete terms, that's the kiss from a steady sweetheart after the prom compared to a peck on the cheek from grandma at Christmas.

There is more support for blaming kissing as the main culprit when you consider that the main group of mono victims are between ages 15-25, a group that tends to do more than share beverage bottles on dates. But a 78-year-old victim also has been recorded. If someone that age has to be sick, hopefully he or she got it from something besides a beverage bottle.

Cattle Crossbreeding Binge Near End

COLLEGE STATION---A Texas Agricultural Experiment Station animal geneticist said that promotional schemes and the crossbreeding binge the cattle industry has known for some 25 years have about run their course.

"There's no such thing as a 'super breed', and there never will be," explained Dr. Tom C. Cartwright, "but crossings of breeds have made valuable contributions to the cattle industry. And, this practice will continue."

Cartwright said that "cattle cycles" and rapid shifts from one type of animal demanded by the market, to another type, will not permit development of such a breed.

Also, the myriad of conditions under which cattle are produced, changing almost from fence line to fence line, and from rancher to rancher, prevent development of a single breed to fulfill all reasons for all seasons.

"A big advantage of crossbreeding is that a cattleman may produce within a year the type calves which bring top market prices," Cartwright added, "compared with 25 years, or maybe more, to produce similar genetic changes when using only one breed."

Cartwright assured that promotional schemes to cash in on higher prices of exotics--new blood--was not all bad, because bulls of much higher quality than most individual producers could afford were brought into the Southwest.

Semen from these higher quality bulls for use in artificial insemination provides cattle-men with a more economical way to upgrade their herds.

Cartwright said there are '52 or '53' breeds from which to choose for crossbreeding. Crossbreeding in the Southwest began a century ago when meatier European breeds were imported to mate to the rangier, more rugged Texas Longhorns.

USDA Acts To Carry Out New Nutrition Law

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is proposing a new formula for distributing funds to states to administer the special supplemental food program for women, infants and children.

Basically, the proposal governs the formula used to reimburse states for their administrative costs and recognizes that these costs vary from area to area, that costs to begin a program are often higher than those to run the program, and that programs serving rural areas and those with high percentages of migrant farm workers are more costly to administer.

The law, signed by the President on Nov. 10, extends and expands food assistance to needy mothers and children. In addition, the new law made permanent the child care food program which provides food and cash assistance for meals served at eligible child care institutions. It also provides added incentives to improve breakfast programs in schools.

USDA invites comments which may be used to alter the formula. Meanwhile, the proposed formula will be used to distribute administrative funds for the second quarter of fiscal year 1979 to states and Indian tribes which provide special supplemental foods to women and children.

The formula, which was developed earlier this year with the help of interested persons, does the following:

-- provides a minimum grant to permit smaller state agencies to meet operating requirements;

-- ties a portion of the administrative funding to the amount of food assistance provided for state agencies;

-- directs the remaining funds to areas with higher operating costs.

On a national basis, money for administration of the program will remain at 20 percent of total program funding. The percentage received by states under the more flexible formula will range between 18 and 25 percent.

Invitations Out For Fort Worth Show Parade

Invitations to participate in the annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show Parade have been mailed to 150 riding clubs, 50 high school bands and about 25 merchants and organizations which sponsor horse-drawn floats.

Parade Chairman Chuch Shytle said anyone is welcome to participate in the parade, scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. Friday, Jan. 26, in downtown Fort Worth.

"We maintain the all western heritage of the Stock Show by not permitting the use of motorized vehicles in our parade," Shytle said. "Participants must be horse-back, ride in a horse-drawn vehicle or be a member of a marching unit."

The 83rd edition of the Fort Worth Stock Show begins its 12-day run Wednesday, Jan. 24, and concludes Sunday, Feb. 4.

W.R. Watt Jr., show president-manager, reported that riding clubs are invited to join in grand entries which traditionally start each of the 22 performances of the World's Original Indoor Rodeo in Will Rogers Coliseum.

"Persons wishing to participate in the parade or rodeo grand entry should contact the Stock Show office to make reservations," Watt said. ### HORSEPOWER HORSE SENSE

You get "pinging" or "knocking" in your car's engine if your gasoline's too low in octane rating for the air-fuel pressure and temperature in the cylinders. The gasoline burns too quickly and unevenly, reducing power and efficiency.

You can knock out knock by using some of petroleum science's new high octane gasolines. Without octane-boosting lead--outlawed for practically all new cars beginning with 1975's--extra refining must reshape many of the molecules in a gasoline like new Mobil Super Unleaded so they fight "knocking" and "pinging."
