Solons Move To Prevent Waste Of Relief Funds

Both Houses Get Plans For Handling Cash

Senate May Ask For New Commission; House Call For Data

AUSTIN (AP) — Both houses Friday moved to forestall excessive expenditures for administration and distribution of unemployment relief funds supplied by the federal and state governments.

Senator Fellbaum, San Antonio, introduced a resolution calling for appointment of a commission of three members of the senate and three members of the house with permanent jurisdiction over the funds.

The house adopted a resolution that requested Governor Ferguson, former Governor Sterling and Lawrence Westbrook, director of the Texas rehabilitation commission, to furnish detailed data on expenditures made from relief funds since the work was started in Texas.

Trouble For Americans In Cuba Nearer

State Department Will Not Comment On Delicate Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Increased trouble in Cuba sharpened official apprehension Friday lest outbreaks threaten American life and property in a manner to require American troop protection.

The state department received word of violence in various sections, coupled with a threat of widespread strikes, but officials declined to speak publicly on the delicate situation.

Hundreds "Watch The Beer Year In", Many Quaffing

One Arrested During Night For Being Drunk Got That Way On Corn Liqueur Beverage Legally First Time! Demand Here Is Heavy

Several hundred Big Spring people, joined by a large number of visitors, stayed up until after midnight Thursday to see the Beer Year in as one person put it, and spent a couple of hours either driving about to see the strange spectacle of legal sale, or consuming of 3.2 per cent beer.

Police reported one man was arrested during the night for drunkenness and that his source of inebriation was corn whiskey. Bottled beer of all the better-known brands was in the ice boxes and cold a few minutes past midnight.

One cafe operator, who had five new employes busy during the morning said he had not seen so many strange faces in many months.

Another place sold 60 cases before dawn.

About 12:45 a. m. Friday a large truck loaded with keg beer lumbered into town and started deliveries.

In several places on the highways in the outskirts of town, where combination beer parlors and sandwich shops had been made ready, scores of automobiles were parked.

One officer, asked jokingly who he was looking for said "well, it looks as strange to us as anyone—in fact more so."

so far as had been learned no legal beer places had been opened in the county outside Big Spring.

Several who had been granted permits and who are making sale of beer their principal business expressed the opinion that little money was to be made, especially in view of the fact that the brew became legal in the latter part of the warm season, when consumption of beer is highest.

Further, he announced that effective October 1, the corporation's basic lending rate to banks, mortgage and insurance companies and other borrowers would be reduced from 4 1/2 to 4 per cent.

James Lawson Described As Former Prisoner In Three Places

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police announced Friday James Lawson, purported member of a middle-western gang, had been arrested in a raid in which a total of $185,300 loot was obtained. They said he was a member of the Bailey gang. His wife also was arrested. He had served terms, officers said, in Kansas and Oklahoma prisons and Leavenworth penitentiary.

Fences Going Up For Road West Of Here

Funds To Be Kept For Opening Highway No. 9 North Of City

Fences are going up on right of way for highway No. 1 west. County Commissioners court Friday announced that right of way for the rerouted highway west of Big Spring from Settles Heights to the railroad tracks had been procured with the exception of two small tracts.

Crews were put to work Thursday and Friday in fencing in the property already acquired by the county in a three-day campaign for right-of-way.

Beyond the railroad track much of the eroded road has been opened. Just when grading and drainage construction will begin left with the state highway department. County Judge H. R. Debenport said Friday that the court would continue its efforts to obtain right-of-way on the west project, but that enough funds would be held in reserve to assure the opening of the rerouted No. 9 north to the Dawson county line.

Checking—

NRA has reached the stage of introspection, which the dictionary tells us means a looking inward or self-examination.

No one in authority is talking about the fact. It wouldn't do any particular good to do so.

Furthermore all of the responsible gentlemen in the Roosevelt Administration are far too busy taping wheels on the recovery train to be engaging in public debate or speculation on possible flaws.

But if you listen carefully while this business of checking equipment progresses you can hear them humming under their breaths "Where do we go from here, boys?"

Not that President Roosevelt or his aides think the recovery special is going to fail to make its destination. Rather, they have noticed a slackening in speed. You might say they're up front interviewing the train crew to see whether a new brand of fuel might not put new life in Old 97.

The answer seems to be yes. The huddle in the roundhouse is over. Best methods of electrifying the road.

West Texans, Continuing Fight In Face Of Much Disappointment Again Plan To Urge Bollworm Repayment

To Hold Revival

T. C. Gardner, of Dallas, veteran state secretary of the B. Y. P. U. work of Texas Baptists, will lead a B. Y. P. U. revival and study course at the First Baptist church beginning Monday and continuing through Friday evening.

The following texts will be taught: "Story Hour," for small children, by Abbie Nell Rhotian; "Junior Manual," by Miss Eula Minkus; "Intermediate Work," by Mrs. J. C. Douglass; "The Meaning of Church Membership," by Rev. W. S. Garnet of Stanton; "The Books of the Bible," by Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, Colorado; "Modern B. Y. P. U. Methods," by Mr. Gardner.

Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist congregation, issued an invitation to all youths and children to join in the revival. Mr. Gardner, known as "Big Chief" among B.Y.P.U. members throughout the state, has long been one of the most effective workers among the young people that protestant denominations have had in Texas.

Mrs. J. L. Webb is recovering from a tonsillotomy.

'Blood Redemption' Dr. Copeland's Topic

Dr. A. R. Copeland will preach on "Blood Redemption" this evening at the Fundamentalist Baptist revival meeting he is conducting here.

His theme Thursday evening was "God's Spirit Will Not Always Strive With Man."

Sunday morning he will speak on "The Power of the Holy Spirit for the Christian." Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock his topic will be "The Jew in Prophecy and the Last State of this Age." Sunday evening he will deliver a discourse on "God's Last Plea for the Sinner."

Local Compliance Board Of NRA To Begin Reviewing City Saturday

The Compliance Board of the local NRA organization will meet Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in Room No. 1 of the Settles Hotel to consider data assembled following a check-up drive conducted here two weeks ago.

Five have already been named to the board with the possibility that two more may be added. Now serving on that board are Dr. M. H. Bennett, local NRA gen-

Watson To Attend Midland Meet Called For Saturday

Exhibiting bulldog tenacity, representatives of West Texans involved in several unsuccessful attempts to obtain reimbursement for losses suffered from pink bollworm quarantine will gather in Midland Saturday to prepare for a "last stand."

Disappointed three times, these representatives plan to force the issue with James E. Ferguson in an effort to have his wife include it as a part of her special session legislation.

Twice the claim got through one but with an amendment tacked on which caused the ultimate veto of the measure, or refusal of the other house to concur in amendments.

Other times it has died in the legislature.

C. T. Watson, local chamber of commerce manager, will attend the meeting Saturday beginning at 2 p. m.

The claim is just, right, legal, and if paid will be most timely in that it may prevent several farmers from falling back on relief agencies," said Watson.

'Home Town Talk' by Betty

Beer is legal in Howard county. It is legal because a majority of the voters wished it to be. The fact that it is legal gives those who wish the privilege of drinking beer. Legality does not force anyone who doesn't like it or who believes it is a wicked beverage to part take of it. That's the whole story. The only difference in yesterday and today is that beer was sold yesterday at 35 cents per bottle and sale was unlawful, while today beer sells for 20 cents per bottle and sale is lawful.

In other words, the change is practically nothing. About the only difference is that beer drinkers save 15 cents per bottle and there are more places where it can be bought.

And, there are plenty of folks who will offer to buy the beer if someone who is suspicious will drink as much and as long as possible and buy him a new hat or some other present if he can become intoxicated on it.

The highway department, with the Federal Bureau of Public Works, had given jobs to several hundred men in the Panhandle on road work with wages to be paid out of R. F. C. funds.

An understanding had been reached with federal relief authorities. But, Col. Westbrook, who handles distribution of R. F. C. funds through the Rehabilitation and Relief Commission with Jim Ferguson as the boss, rose up and got insulted because somebody presumed to put someone to work

$1500 Cash In Public Tills From 3.2 Beer

License Fees Bring In That Sum For City, County And State

Approximately $1,500 in beer license fees came into the possession of the state, county and city as a result of legalization of 3.2 beer, a check showed Friday.

County and state fees amounted to $1090. Tax collector Mabel Robinson said Friday. City fees amounted to $335.76.

On the stroke of twelve Miss Robinson started distribution of licenses paid for earlier Thursday and had given twenty-four out two minutes later.

A similar rush was enacted at the city hall when City Secretary Merle J. Stewart opened the office at midnight.

Special Rates For Week-End Offered By Texas & Pacific

Special passenger rates for the coming week-end were advertised Friday by the Texas and Pacific Railway company.

Round-trip fare between Dallas and Big Spring will be $3.50 and Big Spring and Fort Worth $2.60.

To take advantage of these rates one must leave here either Saturday night at 11:45 o'clock or Sunday morning at 7:10 o'clock and start the return trip Sunday night.

Methodist Youths To Ackery This Evening

Young people of the First Methodist church were to attend a Union meeting with youths of other congregations at Ackery Friday evening.

Those who plans to attend the meeting were Misses LaVerne Sims, Jennie Fay Felton, Nellie Puckett, and Myrtle Jones, and Messrs. John Vestine, Tilman Crane, Russell Crane, Henry Huntley and Alvis Lovelace.

Wesley Memorial Church To Begin Revival Services

Wesley Memorial Methodist church will hold services Sunday morning with Rev. G. L. Keever of Coahoma preaching at the morning service. The pastor, Rev. J. H. Crawford, will preach Sunday evening and Rev. Keever will lead the song service.

R. F. C. Will Lend At Three Per Cent If Banks Agree To Re-Lend To Help Merchants Meet Payroll Under NRA

Billion Dollars Of Government Money Made Available Under Direct Authority Of President; Basic Rate Set At 4 1-2 To 4 Per Cent

WASHINGTON — A liberalized credit policy under which one billion dollars of government money will be made available for industrial expansion under the NRA through loans at low interest rates was announced by Chairman Jesse Jones of the reconstruction corporation.

With the full approval of President Roosevelt, Jones said in a formal statement that the corporation would lend to banks and trust and mortgage companies at 3 per cent interest for any period up to six months if they agreed to re-lend the money to industry to purchase of materials and payroll costs and to "assist merchants especially affected by the NRA."

Furthermore, he announced that effective October 1, the corporation's basic lending rate to banks, mortgage and insurance companies and other borrowers would be reduced from 4 1/2 to 4 per cent.

This is the fourth cut in interest since the corporation began business, first loans being made at as high as 6 per cent.

Jones said a special department would be established in the Washington office to give attention to the emergency loan applications.

Municipal Golf Course, Girl Scout Hut To Be Opened Formally Sunday

The public is invited to make an all afternoon session of it Sunday when the Municipal golf links are officially opened and the Girl Scout hut is dedicated.

Besides these two attractions, the park is being especially groomed for crowds Sunday.

A large gallery is expected to follow a special foursome around the municipal course as it is opened.

Two local king pins will tackle a pair of outstanding West Texans in Frank Rose and E. C. Nix of Lamesa.

Obie Bristow, coach of the Big Spring Stars and often times dubbed "Babe Ruth of the Links" will team with Shirley Robbins, winner of the recent third annual invitational tournament of the Big Spring Country Club.

Eddie Morgan, promising young golfer had been slated for the place which Robbins will play in order to give him needed experience but his removal to Kansas City, Mo., reverted the task of the veteran Robbins.

Both Rose and Nix are competing in the San Angelo tournament and will be in fine shape for the Sunday match. Bristow and Robbins will play the Municipal course Saturday in preparation for the match.

The foursome will tee off at 2:30 p. m. Fire Chief Harry Lees will be in charge of the gallery.

At 5 p. m. the Girl Scout hut will be formally dedicated. Mrs. Charles Koberg is in charge of the dedicatory program and will release it Saturday.

Visitors are invited to inspect and use the park. At the present it presents a beautiful picture with its multi-colored verbenas, zinnas, petunias, and hibiscus in full bloom.

The heavily sodded triangle at the entrance of the park proper is to be used as a children's playground.

The fish pond fed by a pretty spring offered an attraction. Besides swings, see-saws, a wading pool, and a merry-go-round for children, there are several improved tennis courts for grown-ups. A clay tennis court is in progress of construction.

Trees planted two years ago are beginning to take shape.

It is probable that the Boy Scout hut, topping the hill southeast of the park will be kept open for inspection Sunday.

away from the July peak and advance indications point to a further slight dip in the chart for Sep-ember. This was to have been expected. All responsible business men knew that the uprush during the normal off-months of summer was slightly hysterical.

The momentary set-back isn't worrying President Roosevelt unduly. He realizes fully that when the country was called upon suddenly to commit itself to such a radical departure from the old order as NRA that mistakes and inconsistencies were bound to crop up.

His concern lies in pulling off on a siding briefly, making necessary repairs and then proceeding full speed ahead.

Hold It—

Inflation is to furnish the patch most demanded from outside. Particularly from the farming regions and Wall Street—strange bed-fellows—is the cry heard for this form of emergency relief.

A month ago financiers in the Brain Trust for the most part were leaning this way. Exercise of the inflationary powers conferred by the Thomas amendment was predicted then to take effect around Oct. 1. Now, with another juggling of the national kaleidoscope, they aren't so sure the time is ripe for avowed dollar-power shrinkage.

There is a rapidly growing school of thought in official circles holding the present-minute view that inflation should be saved as a remedy only for a real relapse.

Actual devaluation of the dollar through reduction of gold content had been fixed tentatively on the schedule to take place along in December.

As against straight inflation through issuance of greenbacks in one way or another, such a move would be aimed primarily at our European cousins with whom we are engaged in a merry currency war. Here again the experts have been re-checking our national position. Unless something unfavorable happens to us domestically in the next couple of months you may look for a postponement of the gold extraction act until next year.

All of which is quite technical reading matter for an Indian summer day.

Ford—

The Administration has decided to let Henry Ford hold himself out to the petard of public opinion if he just won't sign the auto code.

Outraged competitors and other persons of weight in the community have rushed to White House and to Recovery Administration headquarters recently with demands that open war be declared on the flivver magnate. It has been urged that President Roosevelt and General Johnson smother Ford under a campaign of critical publicity.

The suggested tenor would be: "Does he think he's a super-citizen? Back in 1917 men were drafted without regard for station in life. Can Ford get away with being a Blue Eagle slacker?"

Those antagonistic to the Ford position deny that a determination NOT to show his books (provided in the auto code under certain conditions) is the real reason he won't sign it.

Ford is more than a code breaker. He is a man of his word. He has run his parts plant up to a point where he couldn't manufacture cars at his present price.

To all pleas for dynamite there has been only one answer at the White House and NRA. That is: "Let him go. Let him go. Public opinion will take care of him."

Patrols—

A nationally known economist who has been attacked to the Consumers' Advisory Committee of NRA is just a wee bit disgusted with the selfishness and avarice big business has shown in code negotiations.

He has arranged a trip back to his small midwestern home for a vacation. He cancelled it because he knew the people of his old community were full of high patriotism over the Blue Eagle and would want to hear from him.

He didn't have the heart to tell them how the big fellows were driving hard bargains while the country at large entered into the spirit wholeheartedly.

Notes—

Presidential Secretary Steve Early went fishing last week-end with instructions to uphold the piscatorial prowess of the White House.

When he returned two days later quite empty-handed he was congratulated for adhering to the administration program of controlling production. Heads of the Secret Service, which alone of all federal detective agencies got an increased appropriation this year, are having their troubles. They're up to their ears in ex-prohibition agents who think it would be nice to switch over to the U. S. S. S. One ornate Washington apartment hotel boasts it houses more NRA officials than any other hostelry.

NEW YORK

By James McNeill

Cuba—

It is only a matter of weeks, and perhaps only days, until the Cuban pot boils over again.

The tack in Grau San Martin's presidential chair is that he can't win the support of the ABC. And the ABC, while not powerful enough to rule Cuba itself, has the strength to raise plenty of hob with anyone it opposes. New Yorkers with a financial stake in Cuba get no comfort from the Knowledge that the ABC criticizes the new regime because it isn't sufficiently radical.

The ABC has no outstanding candidate of its own, although it would not object to Menetti. But it has a platform with two stout planks which it will not compromise. One is the eviction from Cuba of even the most insignificant of office holders under the Machado regime. The other is the re-distribution of land into small holdings with the infernal ousting of foreign landowners.

No one who has attained power yet has been willing to go that far. But the ABC intends to stick to its knitting until it gets results. You can see what a lovely set-up this makes for a situation where we shall have to choose between intervention and the washing out of American interests in the Island.

Local observers are very doubtful that Washington would intervene to save property rights. Protecting lives would be a different matter.

Limbo—

American utility interests in Cuba are out on a limb and the limb is cracked. They are not collecting a nickel's worth of revenue for supplying power, not even from Havana, and yet they have to keep on operating. There is a clause in their charters which provides for forfeiture of their properties to the Cuban municipalities if they fail to give service. It looks like a case of slow starvation or the guillotine.

The ironic twist in this situation is that Machado got his start thru his association with these interests.

Sugar—

The Cuba snarl will be further tangled by a very small sugar crop this year. Laborers in the sugar fields have hardly been able to exist on microscopic wages. Now they are quitting work entirely. They have reached the point where they figure there's no sense to working if you are going to starve anyway. A large part of the crop will disintegrate from lack of care.

Cuba is a one industry nation and has been pounded shapeless between the hammer of American beet sugar and the anvil of Philippine and Porto Rican cane. Corn syrup (fostered by Standard Oil) has added more to the sugar planter's grief than most people realize. It has had an enormous growth as an American sugar substitute in the last few years, especially among cheap candy makers.

All this pressure has driven the Cubans to the point where they no longer consider patience a virtue. They see no remedy except a political swing to the left and pretty far to the left at that.

Headache—

What with credit problems and deposit insurance and Cuba and New York City, you would think New York bankers had enough aches and pains already. But their fevered brows have developed a new throb from the Argentine (It) Argentina is supposed to pay off $18,000,000 of short term credits to a New York banking group before the end of the year. But the country has barely been able to raise enough dollar exchange to meet her commercial obligations. It's a cinch that she can't pay off her commercial creditors and the bank as well.

The Argentine government has already expressed itself in favor of commercial business. So it looks as if its up to the banks to hold the bag and renew the credits. It's little things like this that makes the boys so close flined with their credit now. And they aren't getting a bit of sympathy from anybody except themselves.

Ballyhoo—

The local big parade for NRA stirred no great zest among New York's financial and business leaders. They viewed it privately as just one more piece of unnecessary ballyhoo. The sentiment is growing, even among those who favor Blue Eagle aims, that NRA is indulging in too much sound and fury and not enough solid achievement. "Banners and bands may make people risk their lives in war but it takes more than that to make them spend their money. You can't cure nickel nursing with whoopee."

Buying—

Insiders are more encouraged by the continued improvement in retail buying than in anything else. Department store executives are still rubbing their eyes and wondering if it is really true. One New York store showed 40 per cent greater dollar sales the first week in September than the same week a year ago. Best of all, such semi-luxuries as furniture, refrigerators and automobiles are doing especially well. This is real de-hoarding.

HOME TOWN—

One of the nastiest scraps in years is going to break loose down in the legislature in a few days. If the Rehabilitation Commission comes through with its continued existence it will be lucky. If it is abolished and relief funds distributed through more stable agencies the needy families will be a lot better off.

Expressions of confidence in the commission from Washington notwithstanding, it is obvious that the administration in Washington has decided not to let any more federal funds or federal patronage get into the hands of the present state administration.

In spite of denials by Westbrook that Ferguson followers are being favored, and scores of them given soft jobs traveling around on salaries paid out of relief funds, anybody who has made it a point to look into the methods being employed knows that it is true.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce would be caused by many a poor fellow out of a job if you mentioned its name. But, if he wants to be fair he will recognize the fact that during the months that organization had a charge of distributing relief funds in West Texas not ONE PENNY of relief money was paid in salaries for administration of the fund. Every cent of relief money went for relief.

You can't say that now. Not by a long shot.

Furthermore, the committees of citizens set up by the West Texas Chamber in each county served not only as advisors on policy but also did practically all of the work of distributing the money among jobless men.

What did the committee in Big Spring under the W. T. C. set up get in return for its free gratis work to see that this money—all of it—went to needy people? Abuse, slander, criticism of many and bitter kinds. That's the bald truth. The present condition is no fault of the county administrator, or the local committee. The fault rests higher up. The bald truth now is that a lot of money is being spent for "administration."

When Howard county first was offered R. F. C. funds what happened? The county authorities replied to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce that no relief funds were needed here.

What organization was it that took hold of the proposition, made the application, appointed the local committee and got the first federal relief money for the jobless men of Howard county? It was the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

The administration of relief funds in Howard county is OK insofar as we can determine. But there's a lot of money that goes from Washington to Austin that gets lost before it gets to the pocket of a needy man. Too much of it goes into salaries that are too high, and too numerous.

Our idea would be that if these boys who have the traveling jobs with the Rehabilitation Commission need jobs so badly, whether they voted for Mrs. Ferguson or not, they ought to go down and register with the rest of the boys and take their red rate share of wages from the R. F. C.

NEW YORK

By James McNeill

Cuba—

It is only a matter of weeks, and perhaps only days, until the Cuban pot boils over again.

The tack in Grau San Martin's presidential chair is that he can't win the support of the ABC. And the ABC, while not powerful enough to rule Cuba itself, has the strength to raise plenty of hob with anyone it opposes. New Yorkers with a financial stake in Cuba get no comfort from the Knowledge that the ABC criticizes the new regime because it isn't sufficiently radical.

The ABC has no outstanding candidate of its own, although it would not object to Menetti. But it has a platform with two stout planks which it will not compromise. One is the eviction from Cuba of even the most insignificant of office holders under the Machado regime. The other is the re-distribution of land into small holdings with the infernal ousting of foreign landowners.

No one who has attained power yet has been willing to go that far. But the ABC intends to stick to its knitting until it gets results. You can see what a lovely set-up this makes for a situation where we shall have to choose between intervention and the washing out of American interests in the Island.

Local observers are very doubtful that Washington would intervene to save property rights. Protecting lives would be a different matter.

Limbo—

American utility interests in Cuba are out on a limb and the limb is cracked. They are not collecting a nickel's worth of revenue for supplying power, not even from Havana, and yet they have to keep on operating. There is a clause in their charters which provides for forfeiture of their properties to the Cuban municipalities if they fail to give service. It looks like a case of slow starvation or the guillotine.

The ironic twist in this situation is that Machado got his start thru his association with these interests.

Sugar—

The Cuba snarl will be further tangled by a very small sugar crop this year. Laborers in the sugar fields have hardly been able to exist on microscopic wages. Now they are quitting work entirely. They have reached the point where they figure there's no sense to working if you are going to starve anyway. A large part of the crop will disintegrate from lack of care.

Cuba is a one industry nation and has been pounded shapeless between the hammer of American beet sugar and the anvil of Philippine and Porto Rican cane. Corn syrup (fostered by Standard Oil) has added more to the sugar planter's grief than most people realize. It has had an enormous growth as an American sugar substitute in the last few years, especially among cheap candy makers.

All this pressure has driven the Cubans to the point where they no longer consider patience a virtue. They see no remedy except a political swing to the left and pretty far to the left at that.

Headache—

What with credit problems and deposit insurance and Cuba and New York City, you would think New York bankers had enough aches and pains already. But their fevered brows have developed a new throb from the Argentine (It) Argentina is supposed to pay off $18,000,000 of short term credits to a New York banking group before the end of the year. But the country has barely been able to raise enough dollar exchange to meet her commercial obligations. It's a cinch that she can't pay off her commercial creditors and the bank as well.

The Argentine government has already expressed itself in favor of commercial business. So it looks as if its up to the banks to hold the bag and renew the credits. It's little things like this that makes the boys so close flined with their credit now. And they aren't getting a bit of sympathy from anybody except themselves.

Ballyhoo—

The local big parade for NRA stirred no great zest among New York's financial and business leaders. They viewed it privately as just one more piece of unnecessary ballyhoo. The sentiment is growing, even among those who favor Blue Eagle aims, that NRA is indulging in too much sound and fury and not enough solid achievement. "Banners and bands may make people risk their lives in war but it takes more than that to make them spend their money. You can't cure nickel nursing with whoopee."

Buying—

Insiders are more encouraged by the continued improvement in retail buying than in anything else. Department store executives are still rubbing their eyes and wondering if it is really true. One New York store showed 40 per cent greater dollar sales the first week in September than the same week a year ago. Best of all, such semi-luxuries as furniture, refrigerators and automobiles are doing especially well. This is real de-hoarding.

HOME TOWN—

One of the nastiest scraps in years is going to break loose down in the legislature in a few days. If the Rehabilitation Commission comes through with its continued existence it will be lucky. If it is abolished and relief funds distributed through more stable agencies the needy families will be a lot better off.

Expressions of confidence in the commission from Washington notwithstanding, it is obvious that the administration in Washington has decided not to let any more federal funds or federal patronage get into the hands of the present state administration.

In spite of denials by Westbrook that Ferguson followers are being favored, and scores of them given soft jobs traveling around on salaries paid out of relief funds, anybody who has made it a point to look into the methods being employed knows that it is true.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce would be caused by many a poor fellow out of a job if you mentioned its name. But, if he wants to be fair he will recognize the fact that during the months that organization had a charge of distributing relief funds in West Texas not ONE PENNY of relief money was paid in salaries for administration of the fund. Every cent of relief money went for relief.

You can't say that now. Not by a long shot.

Furthermore, the committees of citizens set up by the West Texas Chamber in each county served not only as advisors on policy but also did practically all of the work of distributing the money among jobless men.

What did the committee in Big Spring under the W. T. C. set up get in return for its free gratis work to see that this money—all of it—went to needy people? Abuse, slander, criticism of many and bitter kinds. That's the bald truth. The present condition is no fault of the county administrator, or the local committee. The fault rests higher up. The bald truth now is that a lot of money is being spent for "administration."

When Howard county first was offered R. F. C. funds what happened? The county authorities replied to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce that no relief funds were needed here.

What organization was it that took hold of the proposition, made the application, appointed the local committee and got the first federal relief money for the jobless men of Howard county? It was the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

The administration of relief funds in Howard county is OK insofar as we can determine. But there's a lot of money that goes from Washington to Austin that gets lost before it gets to the pocket of a needy man. Too much of it goes into salaries that are too high, and too numerous.

Our idea would be that if these boys who have the traveling jobs with the Rehabilitation Commission need jobs so badly, whether they voted for Mrs. Ferguson or not, they ought to go down and register with the rest of the boys and take their red rate share of wages from the R. F. C.

R.F.C.—

Bulletins are being sent to all RFC agencies notifying them of the plan, and Jones said the cooperation of those authorized to borrow "is earnestly solicited."

He believed the new interest rates would induce the banks to "become a little more enthusiastic about loaning money."

"It is the opinion of the directors of the RFC," he added, "that much needed relief can be had by the organization and use of local mortgage companies of substantial nature to supplement bank lending where loans are of a sound character, but slow."

"A liberal use of the above plans, coupled with widespread cooperation by banks in supplementing the issuance of 5 per cent preferred stock to be sold to the RFC," will naturally bring the banks in more effective assistance in the president's recovery program."

Borrowers under the short term, 3 per cent interest plan will be required to re-lend to manufacturers and merchants at a rate not exceeding 5 per cent, thus allowing the bank a margin as high as 2 per cent.

"Such loans by the RFC may be collateralized," Jones said, "by the short term note of the manufacturer or merchant, secured by a valid assignment of an unconditional order for the finished product, or materials or finished product, or in any other manner acceptable to the banks and to the RFC."

Faithful Workers' Class In Meeting

The Faithful Workers Class of the East Fourth Street Baptist Sunday School held a class meeting at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Woodie Smith, Thursday afternoon.

The devotional lesson was given by Mrs. Cecil Floyd. A brief session of business followed the devotional. Mrs. Smith gave a reading.

At the close of the afternoon refreshments in pink and white were served to the following class members: Mmes. D. P. Thompson, Rex Edwards, Earl Plein, Paul McCrary, Fred Redus, Bill Sandridge, Cecil Floyd, Miss Murrell Smith.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. P. Thompson on the second Thursday in October.

Texas Nudist Promoter Announces Plans For Opening "Grove" Soon

HOUSTON (UP)—The Southwest nudist movement has a post office, a site and an organizer, Frederick Sevier, 31, a black-haired, athletic man who said sunbathing in the altogether helped him get rid of his sinus trouble.

"The movement has no members, but will have as soon as Nudist Sevier gets a six-foot fence built around his grove of pine trees in local suburb and has gymnasium equipment set up on the plot."

"The fence isn't going to keep outsiders from seeing us," explained Sevier. "In fact, it will be later work. If you and 25 other nudists are in an enclosure, another air of eyes won't hurt."

Two of Sevier's followers in the movement for "healthy minds and bodies" are his wife and three 10-month-old son, Marcia.

"Last Sunday we drove down to Sugarland, where some friends of mine have a solarium," said Sevier. "We all took sun-baths. A group there, including a Rice Institute professor, have been practicing nudism for more than a year, but they don't make it a religion."

"When we moved to Shady Acres and started sun-bathing, I felt so much better that I felt I could do so by opening my grove to people who wished to take sun-baths, but had no place to do it."

Although he says his sinus trouble has disappeared, Sevier believes nudism's chief value is psychological.

"The clothes women wear today give them glamour, cause curiosity and mental complexes," said Sevier. "That is not so good."

Sevier believes many children grow to maturity with mental complexes because they are too busy to acquaint themselves with the facts of life.

"As a consequence," he said, "they have complexes which can be easily cured in a nudist colony. The daily sight of unclad persons of both sexes makes the mind more healthy and takes away amour."

Sevier will hand-pick his members, taking care to admit no abnormal persons or "peeping toms" to Shady Acres.

"Nudism must be kept on a high plane," he said.

"What about ugly people?" he was asked.

"They are welcome. The man with a bay window will have an incentive to lose weight, and the fat man can try to put on weight."

Railroad To Suspend Disputed Wage Plan By President's Wish

KANSAS CITY (UP)—President E. Johnston of the Kansas City Southern Railroad announced that the company's disputed wage plan would be placed formally in effect today and then suspended until March 1, 1934, in deference to the wishes of President Roosevelt.

The plan, first promulgated last January, would simplify working conditions for conductors and engineers and representatives of the four Brotherhoods attended conferences on the plan and it was expected eventually to be extended.

Rail unions were unwilling to accept the plan, which Johnston said would pay as much or more money to the groups but "would level existing inequalities" and improve wages. The plan would junk or fix the fabric of working conditions built up through decades, unrepresentatives said.

Employees would be paid on an eight hourly basis, with six cents guaranteed for every call to duty, instead of as at present.

The controversy was carried to Washington and through an arbitration board appointed by the president and a conference between

NRA Questions And Answers

Q. Will employers be relieved from the terms of the President's Reemployment Agreement upon approval of codes covering the industry in which they are engaged?

A. Paragraph 13 of the agreement submitted to every employer reads: "This agreement shall cease upon approval by the President of a code to which the undersigned is subject, or if the NRA so elects upon submission of a code to which the undersigned is subject and substitution of any of its provisions for any of the terms of this agreement."

Q. After hearing on codes what consideration is given their proponents?

A. Bulletin No. 2 of NRA (covering preparation of codes): "After such hearing, the proposed code may be modified at the suggestion of NRA or otherwise and as so modified it is agreed to by the representatives of the association or group presenting it and ratified by such association or group under such conditions as the administrator may prescribe. It will be presented to the President for his approval or disapproval or suggested modification."

Q. Are tips considered in fixing wages in codes or agreements?

A. No, in codes now under consideration tips are expressly excluded.

Q. Can barber shops raise prices for hair cuts and shaves, etc.?

A. Pending completion of a permanent barbers' code, the temporary agreement fixes minimum rates of pay and maximum hours but does not fix prices of service.

Q. Are hearings on codes always open?

A. Invariably and so provided in the Recovery Act.

Liquid Fire First Employed In 717 A.D.

CHICAGO (UP)—Liquid fire, used successfully during the world war, long was a lost secret, first having been used by the Byzantines in defeating an Arab fleet of 1,800 vessels in 717 A. D., Dr. Nicholas D. Cheronis, Chicago, told the American Chemical Society in session here today.

Cheronis based his deduction on experiments completed in his laboratory and credits Kallinikos for discovery of the first "liquid fire."

"It seems reasonable," Dr. Cheronis said, to assure Kallinikos discovered that the addition of saltpetre to known incendiary mixtures "used their combustible power. It is evident that Kallinikos, besides improving the mixture, devised a method by which it could be ejected in sea combat."

"We can imagine a man called 'siphonator' on the bow of a fast boat holding a tube covered by copper on the outside. The tube leads to a pump such as has been described by Heron of Alexandria and was used to put out fire."

"The pump is connected also by hose to a tube which contains the semi-liquid composition. When the boat is a few feet from the enemy's boat the pump goes into action, while the siphonator directs the siphon, and the liquid is ignited as it is shot."

"The ejection was followed by roar, thunder and lurid-burning smoke. It spread rapidly; water could not put it out. It was said in the 12th century that it had an abominable odor. By the time of the fourth crusade the secret was lost."

State Oil And Gas Commission Again May Be Urged For Texas

AUSTIN (UP)—New efforts to create a separate oil commission for Texas were being discussed here on the eve of the opening of a special session of the Texas legislature.

Rep. W. C. Holloway, Longview, head of the group which sought such a bill at the regular session, said that the movement will be delayed pending Washington developments.

The movement contemplates taking oil supervision out of the hands of the state railroad commission. Such a bill passed the house at the regular session and was killed in the senate.

Repeal of the state boxing bill, amendment of the race track betting bill, beer taxation and regulation, revision of the trust laws, and the amount of state bond issues discussed by early arrivals for the session. Rep. Pat Jefferson, San Antonio, is drafting a bill to free new buildings from taxation for five years.

would encourage a continuance of bootlegging, which the legalized beer sales were counted upon to stop.

Revision upward of state salaries, which were cut 25 per cent at the regular session, seemed doubtful. Senator T. J. Holbrook, Galveston, chairman of the senate finance committee, announced opposition because of lack of available funds.

An early resolution is being prepared by Senator Margie Neal, asking that work projects under the national recovery program be speeded up and unnecessary red tape eliminated. Projects first reported to the state relief commission have been re-referred to a specially appointed commission. No single loan for such work has yet been made in Texas.

FALSTAFF BEER

TRADE MARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

IF your great-grandfather—more than a century ago—I had worked out a secret formula for making beer of a quality no other beer could match...

And if your grandfather and your father had each proved that ancient formula beyond compare...

And if today you were finding in that secret formula an exclusive way to produce a beer so incomparably fine that millions acclaimed it the choicest product of the brewer's art... would you tell others how you do it?

Never shall we change that ancient formula, and never shall we reveal the exact proportions in which we blend and process the choicest ingredients—to give you matchless Falstaff!

Today, try old-time Falstaff... the one beer absolutely uniform and identical, whether from bottle or keg.

And marvel that in these days of speed there still persists the will and knowledge to create a beer so wonderfully good!

School Children Asked To Return Library Books At Once; New September Novels In

Many school children who were given the privilege of using the Public Library for summer months for the small amount of 25 cents still have out books due the library the first of September, announces Mrs. B. T. Cardwell, librarian. She asks that their mothers attend to the matter of returning these books at once.

All cards and books taken out on the summer rate are now past due. Parents should see to this if the children are negligent. If this is not taken care of soon, more urgent measures will be enforced.

The supply of September novels for the pay shelf composes some of the most popular writers. It is announced. Among these is the Stoke prize-winner, "No Second Spring" by Janet Beith. Others are: "Wonder Hero" by J. B. Priestley, "Love's A Puzzle" by Fath Baldwin, "Two Black Sheep" by Warwick Deeping, "Entertaining the Islanders" by Struthers Burt, "Gypsy Wagon" Sheila Kaye-Smith.

"Vanessa," Hugh Walpole, "Anged in the House," by Kathleen Norris, "A New Long Evening" by Elliott Corbett, a sequel to "The Young Mrs. Meiggs," "Summer People" by Fanny Heeslip Lea, "Gay Life" by E. M. DeLafield, "Ida Elmsbeth" by Sigrid Undset.

Radio Address To Be Read By Rev. Martin

The services at Saint Mary's Episcopal Church for Sunday will be the Holy Communion at 8 a. m. and the Morning Prayer service beginning at 11 o'clock.

At the sermon hour the minister will read the address that was given over the Columbia Broadcasting network last Sunday by Dr. Lewis B. Franklin, Vice-President and Treasurer of the National Council of the Episcopal Church. This remarkable address is based on the report of the Laymen's Commission of the Federal Council of Churches which is being widely and prayerfully studied by all thinking Christians at this time. The title of the report and of this address is "Re-Thinking Missions."

'Red Light' District Preferable, Says Houston Churchmen At Hearing

HOUSTON, (UP)—A majority of churchmen, civic leaders and police officials called before the county grand jury testified they believed present vice conditions here called for re-establishment of the "old-fashioned red light district."

Assistant District Attorney Earl Manist said after the session that all but two of the witnesses expressed the opinion that a restricted district would be preferable to "curbstome vice."

"Many home owners have complained of street women operating in front of their residences, standing on the curbs smoking cigarets and shouting at the men passing by," said Manist.

"The question to be decided is, shall these women be put in a segregated district or shall they be allowed to run wild?" The witnesses included some of the city's leading ministers as well as leaders of civic clubs and high-ranking police officers. The city formerly had a large "red light district." Galveston and San Antonio are the only Texas cities having them at present.

Babe Dikrickson Adds New Laurels In Golf

DALLAS (UP)—Babe Dikrickson, Texas wonder girl added more laurels to her athletic crown. Playing a friendly round of golf with former Dallas basketball companions, she set a new woman's low score record of 79, for the Tennessean course.

Driving from men's tees yesterday, Babe toured the severe municipal layout in 37-42. Most remarkable was her 37 for the first nine holes, which requires long, accurate driving. Fairways are studded with many trees, out-of-bounds, and crosses three water hazards. The incoming nine, while shorter, nevertheless is very sporty, being well trapped and also lined with trees. At the 57-yard par 5 ninth hole, Babe's second shot rested near the

Essentials Of Good Coffee Listed; Never Boil Or Re-Heat Is Advice

Even the highest grade of coffee can be ruined if the proper care is lacking in its preparation.

One of the essentials of good coffee is to prepare it always in a scrupulously clean pot. So between each brewing scour the pot with soap or cleanser using a thin brush to clean the spout. It helps to boil out the pot occasionally with a pinch of soda. Rinse well with very hot water after the pot is cleaned in this manner.

The coffee must never, never be boiled as this destroys the delicate flavor of the bean. And never, never, never reheat coffee—it becomes flat, bitter and unpalatable in this process.

There are three methods of making coffee, the drip method, the percolator method and the regular coffee pot method.

For the drip method use one rounded or two level tablespoons of coffee to each cup of water with an additional tablespoon for the pot. This coffee should be finely ground, and placed in the upper section with the perforated bottom. Bring the water to a brisk boiling remove from the heat and pour at once over the ground coffee allowing it to drip into the lower section of the pot. To keep from cooking during this process place pot on asbestos pad over very low flame or in a pan of very hot water. The percolator method requires the same measurement of medium ground coffee per cup with one extra tablespoon for the pot. Put hot or cold water in the pot, put coffee in top section and allow water to percolate through the coffee for about 7 minutes. The regular coffee pot method utilizes one rounded or two level tablespoons of coarsely ground coffee to the pot, one additional for the pot, place coffee in the pot and pour over it fresh water briskly boiling. Stir coffee and let simmer (do not boil) for 5 to 8 minutes. Settle with a dash of cold water. Coffee is a welcome beverage at nearly any hour of the day. After dinner coffee is usually served in much stronger solution than ordinary coffee—two rounded tablespoons to each cup of water is the strength generally preferred. Serve it in the living room on an attractively arranged tray with sugar and cream for those who prefer them.

In Summer iced coffee is a refreshing and popular beverage. Use two tablespoons of coffee to each cup of water in making this. The coffee should then be allowed to cool and is poured over crushed ice in tall glasses when served. Iced coffee may be made quickly by brewing a particularly strong blend and pouring it, hot, over crushed ice.

FOR FROSTY DAYS

FOR frosty days—fritters! Hot, steaming fritters with a succulent sauce! Doesn't the idea appeal to you? Here are two recipes for fritters containing a fruit which adds to the ease of their digestion, but their main recommendation is simply that they taste mighty good.

To make the first, which serves eight, beat two eggs thoroughly, then add one-fourth cup milk. Sift together one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup flour and one teaspoon baking powder, and add to first mixture with the grated rind of one lemon. Drain thoroughly the slices from No. 2½ can of Hawaiian pineapple, dip them in the batter and fry in deep fat. Drain on brown paper, sprinkle with confectioner's sugar and garnish with wedges of orange. Serve with the following sauce:

Mix one teaspoon cornstarch, two tablespoons sugar, a few grains of cinnamon and a few gratings lemon rind, and add to the syrup from the can of pineapple. Cook five minutes.

This Contains Rice

To make the second, beat three egg yolks well, then add one-half cup boiled rice and three-fourths cup milk. Sift together one and one-half cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder and a few grains of salt, and add. Drain the contents of an 8-ounce can of Hawaiian pineapple tidbits, and add. Fold in three stiffly beaten egg whites. Drop by spoonfuls into hot deep fat, and fry golden brown. Serve with maple syrup or a sauce made by thickening the pineapple syrup slightly with cornstarch, or flour. Makes twenty-four fritters.

Johnson Expects Million More Jobs By End Of Month

NEW YORK (UP)—Another million of the unemployed will be back at work by Oct. 1, General Hugh S. Johnson predicted after New York staged its greatest peace time demonstration for the National Recovery program.

The psychology of unemployment has been replaced by the psychology of re-employment, Johnson believes. This, he said, had been his hardest task.

New York gave a mass expression of confidence yesterday when more than a quarter million citizens, bankers as well as needle workers, marched up Fifth Avenue. At least two million more looked on. The celebration lasted more than 10 hours.

"I saw everywhere that the strain had been lifted," Johnson later told the merchants' association.

"There was in every face a real hope for the United States—hope and faith without a trace of hesitancy."

"Four years ago the expressions of people in such a gathering would have been buoyant and jubilant, but not here."

"Last March there was no hope, but now I can see there is."

Frozen Sea Food Or Fruit Salad, New Golden Salad Good Recipes

It's difficult to plan a menu that will be readily appetizing these days—unless you know how! And the smart home-maker knows that such dishes as these will pep up even the most heat-wilted appetite.

Frozen Sea Food

1 cup salmon.
1-2 cup finely cut celery.
1-2 cup dill pickle, chopped fine.
2 teaspoons gelatine.
1 tablespoon cold water.
1-2 cup mayonnaise.
1-2 cup cream.
1-2 teaspoon salt.

Flake the salmon, add celery and dill pickle. Soak gelatine in cold water, dissolve over hot water, add mayonnaise and beat well. Add fish mixture and salt. Fold in stiffly beaten cream. Turn into an oiled mold. Cover with waxed paper secured by a rubber band and freeze packed in ice and salt for two hours or turn into tray of electric refrigerator. Unmold and place in center of a platter. Dip whole shrimps in highly seasoned French dressing and place between mounds of cole slaw.

Golden Salad

1 pkg lemon gelatine.
1 pint boiling water.
1 cup canned pineapple juice.
1 tablespoon vinegar.
1-2 teaspoon salt.

1 cup canned pineapple, diced and green. Her pitch was near the pin, and she sank in a birdie 4 not often equaled by low-scoring men players.

Miss Dikrickson expects to spend much time golfing in Dallas and training for the forthcoming basketball season when she will join a professional squad.

Frozen Fruit Salad

2 slices canned pineapple, diced.
1 banana, sliced.
1-2 cup mayonnaise.
1-4 cup maraschino cherries.
1 cup sweetened whipped cream.
Moisten fruit with mayonnaise. Fold in whipped cream. Freeze in trays of electric refrigerator. Slice and serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise.

Strawberry Tapioca

Crush one quart fresh hulled strawberries and add 1 cup of sugar. Let stand 30 minutes. Cook 1-2 cup minute tapioca in 2-3 cups water salted with 1-2 teaspoon salt in double boiler for 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Add 2 cups strawberry juice drained from berries to tapioca mixture. Chill. Pour 1-2 of this mixture into parfait glasses. Chill until firm. Fold 1-2 cup whipped cream into the remaining mixture. Chill. Pile lightly on mixture in parfait glasses. Chill. Just before serving top with crushed strawberries.

People And Events

CLEBURNE (UP)—A corner's verdict in the death of Miss Rosa Lee Hammond was awaited today. She was found shot to death in a bed at her home here with a shotgun lying nearby. One witness at Peace Justice B. L. Higgins' inquest said Miss Hammond had threatened suicide.

PHARR (UP)—The Rio Grande flood, now receding, claimed the life of Andrea Garcia, 9, whose body was found in a floodway south of here. Discovery of the body marked the first death due to the recent rise of the river.

TYLER (UP)—A breath-taking leap Howard Bell, 22, Dallas, has negotiated dozens of times to thrill crowds for the Sam D. Hill circus placed the young acrobat in a hospital here. He failed to execute the attempted landing on top of a small pedestal last night and was seriously injured. One other time he missed but landed on his hands and was uninjured.

LONDON (UP)—Evolution will improve man until he is scarcely human except in mind and thought, Dr. C. C. Hurst, eminent experimenter in evolution, predicted today. In ages to come, he said, man will be on a higher intellectual plane and will be able to visit other planets and universes.

RED BANK, N. J. (UP)—An 8-year-old boy tried to kill himself to escape a dose of castor oil. The child, Edmund Sicksles, was in a serious condition. Edmund saw his mother preparing the dose and went to his bedroom where he found a revolver his older brother, Donald, had hidden. He held it against his chest and pulled the trigger.

Man Watches From Top Of 350 Foot Bridge As Body Mauled In River

PHILADELPHIA, (UP)—Michael Saffian sat on a narrow girder of the Delaware river bridge, 350 feet above the water, and watched police drag the river for his body.

Ten hours earlier the 31-year-old unemployed steamfitter, with suicide in his mind, mounted to the top of the Philadelphia tower of the bridge. He sat huddled in the chilly rain unable to muster enough courage for the leap.

Police found his coat on the bridge footwalk after a suicide note was found by his wife. They searched the structure, then drag-

Straightening Of Rio Grande To Be Started In 60 Days

EL PASO, (UP)—Action of the Mexican senate last night in ratifying the treaty for straightening the Rio Grande a distance of 180 miles from El Paso to Fort Quitova means that $60,000,000 will be spent on the project which will supply work for 1900 men for five years, L. M. Lawson, International Boundary Commissioner said.

Work will start within 60 days. The river which meanders over a wide territory will be straightened and the new channel will become the international boundary. Because of the deposit of silt and the construction of dikes, the Rio Grande through El Paso valley now is higher than the surrounding land and the city and valley is constantly menaced with danger of flood in case of a dike break. A straightened river will carry water fast enough to keep the river bed below the level of the surrounding land.

Included in the project is a retention dam 100 miles above El Paso to catch and hold back flood waters that fall on mountain ranges. Work will begin as soon as an appropriation is allotted, Mr. Lawson said. Local labor will be employed.

ALL-BRAN RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Delicious Cereal Brought New Health to Mr. Bartholomew

We quote from his voluntary letter: "I had considerable trouble with my stomach. Digestion was out of the question. I got medicine which gave me only temporary relief."

"Then I thought of taking ALL-BRAN. I started eating a cereal dishful two or three times a day."

"It has been over a year now since I ate that first dish of bran, but from that day to this I have had the pleasure of enjoying the proper functioning of the digestive organs."

"Thanks to ALL-BRAN. I still eat it regularly and like it better all the time."—Lester Bartholomew, Cadillac, Mich.

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote elimination. ALL-BRAN supplies both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Certainly this food is more natural than taking harmful patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily will overcome most types of constipation. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

For The Love of Eve by Lucy Walling

CHAPTER IX

Dick was firm in his arguments for announcing their marriage. He repeated to Eve all the objections against secret marriages, including the embarrassment she would feel if her business friends should learn of it in a roundabout way and question her. Dick was honest and straightforward to a degree that Eve at times regarded as bluntness, but he had a certain dignity that nothing could shake and which Eve could not help but respect. And it gave her a deep sense of satisfaction to know that he commended the respect of others.

Eve wanted each of the events of her life to stand out to be remembered by her friends as different from the usual. Marriage customs, Dick assured her, had not come about by chance. Their purpose was to emphasize the importance of the marriage tie. To strengthen it and give it dignity.

After repeated discussions and arguments Eve and Dick compromised. It was agreed that their relatives should be informed of their marriage but that, for the present Eve need not announce it to her business associates.

She took into her confidence a friend who was a promising young artist and asked her to design a combination Christmas card and wedding announcement. These were brought home by a very excited Eve one snowy Saturday early in December. She and Dick spent their spare time addressing, sealing and stamping the envelopes and then put the maw to be mailed Christmas week. That settled. Dick was frankly relieved.

"That's all right," Dick answered, "so long as we know they're coming. Invite them for a definite time. Don't want a lot of people horning in on our privacy when we have something else to do."

Eve was silent for a while. Then she ventured, hesitatingly, "Dick do you think—well, you see this place is quite shabby looking. Oh, I know—it has atmosphere and all that; but, well, I'd hate to have some of the people I know find me living here."

Eve wrote a little before the question in Dick's clear, steady eyes "What do you propose doing?" he asked.

"Oh, find another place." This a trifle defiantly.

Dick was silent. He was fond of picturesque old houses under ancient trees. Eve called his attention to the broken step, the dismal bathroom, the unattractive kitchen.

"I'll fix them up for your aesthetic friends," he promised.

He was as good as his word. Delighted at his offer, Mrs. Brooks purchased paint and linoleum and left Dick, unhampered by directions to transform the kitchen as Eve wished it. The walls he painted a creamy buff with deeper buff woodwork. Table and chairs he enamelled in lavender. Eve hung apple-green satins over drapes at the large, old-fashioned windows and the glass curtains were of cream net. They found an old screen in the attic, and Eve decorated it effectively and used to conceal the stove and sink.

An old mahogany bookcase was moved in to be used as a cupboard. Eve brought home a chintz lampshade with a gay lining. This cast a rosy glow over the room.

"I love it," she exclaimed when the transformation was complete. "It looks like a charming breakfast room instead of a kitchen."

The gloomy bathroom was changed into epic and span pink and whiteness above the enamel. The baseboard itself was baseboard black to top the black and white block pattern of the linoleum floor. Eve used a flowered cretonne curtain at the window.

These were changes that would affect the rentability of the apartment and Dick seemed to enjoy making the improvement. "There," he declared when he had finished the painting. "This is far more comfortable than a box-like place up three flights of stairs for the same price. We have room to turn around here."

Eve had worked out a program which she followed with military precision. Dick cooperated with her to the best of his ability. There were times when his work made it impossible for him to reach home punctually and he had not time to do the marketing, start the dinner and change into fresh clothes. At such times Eve sat unsmiling through the meal and answered his questions briefly. Dick was even tempered through it all. The truth was that he worried over Eve. She seemed restless and often looked tired. True, they had been married only a few weeks—crowded, anxious weeks in spite of their happiness. He decided Eve must be working too hard at the office and told her so.

"It's not that at all," she assured him. "But after working in an office with well-groomed business men all day you expect me to look pleased and cheerful when I come home and find my husband wearing a blue flannel shirt—and tonight even boots! High boots! MY HUSBAND, of all people, not caring how he looks!" Eve grew hysterical and rushed into the living room to throw herself on the day bed where she sobbed until quiet. Dick, his face white, his lips set in a straight line, remained in the kitchen, staring straight ahead. Presently he arose, cleared the table and stacked and washed the dishes. He did not go near Eve.

After a while she arose, went into the bathroom and bathed her eyes. Then she filled a bowl with suds and washed out some stockings and lingerie too dainty and fragile to trust to any hands but her own. She had intended to do this task in the morning, after Dick had left for the day's work. But she was in a perverse mood tonight.

Dick went to bed. He heard Eve turn on the living room lamp and rattle the evening paper. Then he drifted into troubled sleep. Eve awakened him. "Dick," she said in a low voice, "I'm sorry."

"Nothing to be sorry for," he answered. He had had time to think things out to make allowances. "I was horrid to you."

"You were saying what you thought," he said. "That's all right. I want you always to feel free to speak out. That's the way I'll know what's in your mind."

"Well, I thought being a superintendent meant an office and a polished desk where you sat giving orders. And sometimes when I come home you are—dressed like this—"

"Listen, Eve, I could get awfully mad at you if I didn't realize what makes you talk like that. Now get this straight! There are still a great many things you have to learn about what makes this world go around. One of them is that the way things look doesn't alter the truth any. Another is that a man usually knows what his job requires. Rough clothes are not necessarily dirty clothes. There are days of the job when I dress up, but I'd look like a damned fool if I wore spats and carried a walking stick when my mten are erecting steel."

"You wouldn't look like a fool to me. I think if you stood far enough off from the mess, you would get spattered with plaster and things." Dick gave a snort of anger.

Eve was persistent. "Couldn't you manage that way?" she wheedled.

Dick heaved a sigh and answered with finality. "We had a tough time today and if you had seen one-half of it, I believe you'd think a pair of boots and old suit very sensible to wear."

Eve was accustomed to having her own way. Apparently now that she was married she would have to make some concessions she had heretofore considered possible. The idea was disturbing and she crept into bed shivering with cold and anger.

FORSAN

An exceedingly large number of students are enrolled in the Forsan school this term. Thirty high school pupils from the Elbow community have been transferred here. The total is 70 pupils in high and 129 in grade school. Mrs. Thomason is in charge of the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Robert Basham of Westbrook returned to her home Saturday after a short visit here with her brother, Bernard Harmon and Mrs. Harmon.

A group of local women are attending weekly classes, studying the intricacies of Contract Bridge under the direction of Mrs. Ashley Williams of Big Spring. The classes are being held in the lobby of the City Hotel and five tables were playing last Friday. They plan to have seven tables in session next Friday.

Mrs. Bob Kneer entertained with so tables of contract on last Wednesday afternoon at her home in the west end of town. After the judge games the hostess served delightful refreshments. High scores went to Mrs. Harbin, second to Mrs. Prescott, while Mrs. Hinds was awarded the consolation gift. Those enjoying Mrs. Kneer's hospitality were: Mmes. L. Harburt, W. B. Dain, Annabelle Hinds, Frank Hamblin, Prescott, Thompson, Sullivan and Miss Frances Gibson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Payne spent the weekend in Colorado as the guest of relatives.

Dr. and Mrs. D. D. left here Monday for San Angelo where they will make their future home.

Mrs. Chas. Coulson and daughter Miss Frances, went to San Angelo Thursday on a shopping trip.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Irvin and Billy Howard motored to Odessa last Thursday on business.

Mrs. Clyde Ballard opened a kindergarten class on Monday afternoon. Temporary headquarters are in the City Hotel. Miss Ballard also has a morning class in the Chalk district.

Buddie, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Adkins of Ross, celebrated his birthday anniversary on Monday with a party. A very enjoyable afternoon was spent by the kiddies.

Roy Bell of Mincola, Texas, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ed Streety. Mrs. Bell will probably arrive October and they plan to locate in Forsan.

Mrs. C. W. Harlan and Mrs. Wag net were Big Spring shoppers on Tuesday.

Mrs. Jack Arnold and son, Kenneth, are home after a month's sojourn in Louisiana visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs. Carl Madison and little son, Gordon, of Big Spring, visited friends in Forsan Tuesday.

One-Armed Prisoner Given Parole After Dozen Years In Pen

AUSTIN (UP)—James L. Duke, 70, who for nearly 12 years with one arm only around a rake each morning and tended floaxeds in the prison yard at Wynne state farm, today was granted a general parole by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson.

Duke was convicted in two cases of rape and incest in Navarro district court April 23, 1924. He was sentenced to 25 years after his daughter, Viola, had testified against him.

Five years later the daughter, writing from the convent of the Good Shepherd at Memphis, Tenn., asserted "I am not guilty, and how I could have said so I don't understand."

The white-haired, broken old man secured his freedom on the recommendation of D. V. Wright, manager of Wynne farm, and of the state board of pardons and

Dollar Tax On Crude May Cause Fight

Hearing Saturday Expected To Be One Of State's Most Important

AUSTIN (UP)—The $1 sales tax recently attached to each barrel of top crude oil in Texas, may become a battle flag.

Allocation of the state's 975,200 barrel daily output among Texas oil fields is expected to lead to a toe-to-toe dispute at the general prororation hearing September 18 at Austin.

The present price schedule makes the difference of a few barrels in a well's daily run mount to a tidy figure in dollars and cents.

At present Texas oil fields are producing 25 per cent less than their previous allowable under an emergency order, issued September 8 by the state railroad commission, to bring production within the limit set by the national oil administration.

The horizontal cut for all but marginal wells already has loked some Gulf coast operators. They contend because of the peculiar structure of oil sand formations in that area, such a reduction in the daily flow threatens to ruin their wells.

A few operators fear the 25 per cent horizontal cut will be made permanent. The advantage under such an order, they claim, would belong to East Texas.

Under the current emergency order East Texas production is slightly less than 470,000 barrels daily, or nearly half of the federal allocation of 975,000 barrels for the entire state.

Should the railroad commission cut too deeply into East Texas production in an effort to share part of it with other fields, political repercussions will follow.

An East Texas candidate for the railroad commission reportedly will be placed in the next election.

The oil session here next Saturday will be significant for other reasons. At it Texas oil industry officials will fall in line with the NRA parade. Moreover, purchasers have been asked to make nominations of anticipated market demand for the period September 15 to December 31. Daily market demand, from what fields the oil will be run to meet that demand, and the quantity of oil now in storage are other factors sought.

Scores of operators, petroleum engineers, land and royalty owners will crowd into Austin for the hearing. The commission hopes to hear all evidence in one day. It is probable, however, new orders based on that evidence will not be issued until next week.

Texas Electric Service Officials Attend Funeral

Carl S. Blom held, district manager of the Texas Electric Service company, accompanied by Joe Chambers, manager of the Midland Fort Worth plant, attended the funeral of Vance Miller, chief engineer of the company, who dropped dead at his home Wednesday night. They were to pick up Lon Gear, district manager at Sweetwater, en route.

Mortgage Foreclosed

On Jesse Jones' Five Houston Buildings

HOUSTON, (UP)—A $2,900,000 mortgage on five downtown buildings controlled by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has been foreclosed in federal court by a bondholders' protective committee, it was learned.

U. S. District Judge T. M. Kennedy entered the foreclosure order in the case of Melvin Straus, Chicago and New York, trustee for the bondholders' protective committee, versus the United Properties Corporation, a holding company. Frank Laddell, attorney for the corporation, agreed to the foreclosure and admitted claims filed in the suit last spring.

L. C. Macerason, Jr., was appointed special master to sell the property on a date which he will announce later.

Attorneys for the corporation described the foreclosure as part of a plan to rebind the properties, requiring "friendly" suits. The buildings involved in the litigation include some of the largest and are commonly known as "Jesse Jones Buildings."

John T. Jones, Fort Worth, brother of the FRC chairman, is president of the United Properties Corporation.

Father Drags Son Across

Knee For Spanking, Stick Stopped By Fatal Attack

HANFORD, Cal., (UP)—A trifle grimly, because he had a slight pain, Manuel P. Madruga, 57, drew his son, Andrew over his knee and raised a stick with the time-honored admonition: "This hurts me more than it does you."

When the stick did not descend, Andrew pecked up over his shoulder. His father was dead. The coroner said heart disease claimed him.

Relief Administrator

Has Aversion To Pears Of The Avocado Variety

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins, whose big job is to see that the jobless get enough bread and butter, has an aversion to avocado pears, expensive southern delicacy which whets many a jaded appetite. Avocado pears remind Hopkins of a stormy night he was tossed about in an army plane, clutching a box of the pears under one straining arm.

Hopkins was alrstick as the plane, bringing him back from the south, approached Washington. The avocados—12 of them—had been presented to him by some southern friends. When the plane made a forced landing in a Virginia cornfield, the tail went up and the propeller down. Hopkins was not injured, but the avocados burst their moorings and were squashed here and there about the cabin.

The center of wild rumors about troop movements was quiet last week. Every enlisted man in the seventh regiment had his own pet "tip."

A gunnery sergeant rushed into the barracks to shout that a trainload of Pullmans had pulled in to take the regiment south.

Somebody called up the station master.

"No Pullmans, but 25 empty freight cars just arrived," he replied.

There's Gold In The Blue Eagle, Boy Finds

DALLAS, (UP)—There's gold in the Blue Eagle of the NRA, Tom Phillips, high school graduate here, has discovered.

All you have to do, Phillips explained, is stare into the white eye of the eagle for sixty seconds, turn the NRA card over and fix your gaze at the white field on the reverse side, then watch the eagle turn a faint gold with bluish-green lettering. It's just a principle of optics.

Now, Phillips hopes his discovery will gain recognition from President Roosevelt and that the President will add his autograph to Phillips' collection.

Bag Limit On Ducks

Cut To 12 This Year

AUSTIN, (UP)—Last season's bag limit of 15 ducks daily is reduced to 12 under migratory game regulations received by W. J. Tucker, secretary of the Texas Game Commission, from Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

The duck hunting season in the northern part of Texas is open in November and December; in south Texas from November 16 to January 15.

A daily bag limit of four birds exists for all species of geese. A two-day possession limit applies to both geese and ducks.

Independents Promised

Representation Upon All Regional Boards

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Independent oil companies have been promised representation on all regional and local committees set up to help administer the oil code.

The independents had protested they feared their interests would be subordinated to those of the big concerns. The national planning and coordinating committee, organized under the code, replied by adopting a resolution providing that "all parts of the industry be given fair and equitable representation" on all committees.

Ames Denies Information Refused Oil Board By Texas Company Heads

FORT WORTH — C. E. Ames, chairman of the Texas Company and co-ordinating committee, and denied the statement by E. B. Reeser, member of the planning committee on oil, that the congress had refused to submit to the group operating and cost data it had requested informally.

A copy of Ames' telegram denying information was refused was released through The Texas Company office in Fort Worth.

In a telegram to Harold Ickes, Secretary of the Interior and directing operations of the oil code, Ames, a foe of governmental price fixing, said: "In view of the inaccurate publicity emanating from Washington yesterday concerning an informal telephone conversation between Mr. Reeser, a member of the planning and co-ordinating committee, and Mr. Rogers, president of the Texas Company, I wish to state to you formally the position of the Texas Company relative to the code:

"First—We have steadily opposed governmental price fixing because (a) the Supreme Court of the United States has specifically held that the State has no constitutional power to fix the price of gasoline. Williams vs. Standard Oil Company, 78 U. S. 235.

"(b) We believe that if the production of crude oil is brought into balance with consumptive demand, economic conditions will regulate price on a sound basis and that—

"(c) Unless production and consumption are in balance any governmental price fixing is bound to fail.

"Second — Notwithstanding our convictions on price fixing, we are prepared to give you or the committee any facts within our possession relative to this or any other subject, but are unwilling to participate in framing a price schedule by the expression of opinions as distinguished from facts.

"Third—This company participated actively in drafting the code, one of our executives being a member of the committee which drafted the producing sections and another of our executives being a member of the committee which drafted the marketing sections, and we are giving this code our wholehearted support and are complying with its letter and spirit.

"Fourth—We believe you are making excellent progress in procuring the co-operation of the state commissaries and the industry in your production program and are co-operating with you and the committee in every possible way in your efforts to stabilize the situation.

"Fifth—As the inaccurate publicity does this company an injustice, we are taking the liberty of giving this telegram to the press. (Signed) "C. E. AMES, Chairman of the Board, The Texas Company."

Miss Windsor Told To Pay $75,000 For Alienation Of Love

LOS ANGELES—A verdict that blonde, violet-eyed Claire Windsor of the stage and screen stole the love of Alfred C. Read, Jr., former Oakland broker, was returned late Thursday by a jury trying the damage suit of his divorced wife, Marian Young Read, who was awarded $75,000 of the $100,000 damages she asked.

The jury vote was 10 to 2 in favor of the young Oakland matron. Speculators applauded.

Miss Windsor, face flushed, seemed stunned.

She declared it was "outrageous" and said she did not see how she ever could pay it. At present, she said, she is without financial means.

Mrs. Read laughed and cried.

Alfred Refuses To Name Witness For His Ouster Suits

AUSTIN, (UP)—Attorney General James V. Alfred refused to name witnesses he will summon in his $17,850,000 anti-trust suit for fear of attempts to "intimidate them with threats of financial ruin."

The statement was made in the attorney general's formal answer to a motion filed in 98th district court here by the Pasotex Oil Co. The company asked the court to quash subpoenas issued for El Paso or of the young Oakland matron. Speculators applauded.

She declared it was "outrageous" and said she did not see how she ever could pay it. At present, she said, she is without financial means.

Mrs. Read laughed and cried.

witnesses in the state's anti-trust suit.

The attorney general had filed suit against 15 oil companies and the American Petroleum Institute, seeking penalties and ouster for alleged violation of anti-trust laws.

Trial of the case is set for Oct. 2. Alfred declared he reserved the right to summon his witnesses any way he pleased and assured defendants in the suit he would be responsible for the manner of that summons, not they.

It had been claimed that subpoenas leaving blank the county and names had been furnished an assistant attorney general.

The Pasotex Oil company claimed it was but fair defendants should know the names of state's witnesses. Alfred replied the state had been furnished no list of the defendants' witnesses.

Mrs. E. A. Hathcock and her daughter, Mrs. Lee O. Rogers, are in Chicago attending A Century of Progress.

Something More than Beer is back

Beer is back! In those three simple words a great American industry has gone back to work. Hands long idle have found new jobs. Faces empty of hope brighten to a new promise. Thousands have found honorable livelihood. A vast American market—a new frontier of industry reopens,—bringing sorely needed business to farmers, transportation and to hundreds of other industries. And with it, a new fountain head of tax revenue has arisen to add its dollars gladly to a nation in need.

Beer is back! But is that all? No! To cheer, to quicken American life with hospitality of old, the friendly glass of good fellowship is back. Sociability and good living return to their own, once more to mingle with memories and sentiments of yesterday. America looks forward—and feels better... Beer is back! Yes! But much more than that. Beer at its best is back—the brew that everybody knew best—the king of bottled beers that outsold any other bottled beer on earth.

Farm Administration Threatens Textile Profiteers With Prison

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Cotton textile profiteers were threatened with prison by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

In a dual statement, George N. Peek, administrator of the AAA, and Frederic C. Howe, consumer's council, analyzed cotton textile prices, mentioned prison and urged advertisers of cotton goods to tell frankly what part of the retail cost can be charged off to the cotton processing tax.

"While we are out to stop price gouging and to go to considerable lengths to stop it," Peek said, "I have the highest praise for the apparently wide-spread of the textile trade which seems to be playing fair with both the farmer and the retailer."

He said, however, that "wide disparity and considerable laxness exists among textile manufacturers in billing retail merchants for increases above contract price which they attribute to processing taxes and employment costs under the NRA code."

Dr. Howe cited treasury regulations which provide a fine of $1,000 and a prison sentence of one year for anyone who misrepresents the amount of the processing tax in selling any manufactured commodity.

Wage scales not only meet the NRA objectives of restoring 1929 wage levels, but will increase wages in the producers and distributors section from 12 to 15 per cent above that year with similar increases for the distribution department.

He said he intended to report any deliberate misrepresentation to the justice department for a fine.

Howe announced completion of a survey in five stores in each of 22 representative cities, showing prices of cotton textiles and the tax thereon for the week of Aug. 30.

The tabulation showed cotton sheets sold for an average of $1.14 with a tax of eight cents; work shirts, 85 cents with a three and one-half cent tax; overalls, $1.41 with an 8 1/2-cent tax; and unbleached muslin, 11 1/2-cent per yard with a tax of one cent.

"Since these retail prices were collected, advertisements in the press and trade letters report much greater increases than had occurred up to Aug. 31," Howe added. "In some cases these advances amount to as much as 30 per cent."

"I have a list of five standard brands of sheets. The new net price of every single one is quoted at least 40 per cent above the March-April price; one is even 100 per cent higher."

"Another list of four different brands of cotton towels shows an advance of at least 75 per cent. One brand each of men's shirts has been priced up to 40 per cent; cotton mattresses, 84 cents; union suits 27 per cent; boys' shirts 52 per cent.

"Since the tax remains the same, its importance in the retail price shrinks with each price advance."

"The public has every right to know the true facts about the cotton tax. It amounts to only 4 1/2 cents per pound on the net weight of cotton."

"Every housewife should note this figure."

Howe's price lists continued in every detail the list of textile prices published by the United Press two weeks ago in a series of dispatches detailing the rise in retail costs.

Peek was emphatic in pointing out the bright side of the picture along with the darker.

"The whole farm program is based on financing the processing tax, placed in effect first, and then for cotton farmers," Peek said. "I think the country should acknowledge the national service of those operators of cotton and flax mills who have complained have shouldered burdens in order to help restore the buying power of farmers through the adjustment program, and of labor through the NRA's employment act."

Peek said the textile trade, however, deserves praise for fair play, rather than adverse criticism of its price schedules.

Will Hays Says Film Code Will Make Jobs

WASHINGTON (UP)—The proposed code for the motion picture industry will boost wages above 1929 levels, and substantially increase employment, Will H. Hays said at an NRA hearing on the agreement.

Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., said the code will...

111 More Huey Long Election Officials Charged With Fraud

NEW ORLEANS, La. (UP)—Investigations charging 111 additional election commissioners with returning false counts and certifying false tallies in the last November general election were filed by District Attorney Eugene Stanley.

Stanley began an investigation several months ago into the state political machine of United States Senator Huey Long. Previously he had filed informations against 51 other commissioners.

He announced he intended to bring the 192 men whom he named to trial as speedily as possible.
