Senior Citizens Make Crafts For Arts Show

Beverly Bostick

Members of the Senior Citizens Club are working on exhibits for their arts and crafts show scheduled for July 29, said Marsha Murphy, one of the activities coordinators for the organization.

Murphy said the members are making such crafts as silk flowers, macrame, knitted stuffed animals, dolls, Christmas decorations, cobbler aprons, large casserole carriers, artwork, toll painting, weaving and needle work.

Work on the objects is being done during a semi-weekly arts and crafts class with meetings from 1:30 to 4 p.m. each Monday and Thursday, Murphy said.

The workers are completing work on wall hangings which Murphy described as "just beautiful."

Murphy said money raised from the arts and crafts will be used to help pay for their building which they moved into in early May of this year.

Members of the Senior Citizens Club are not out any expense for materials for the crafts, said Murphy. The funds are coming from the dues already in the treasury, she said.

Murphy said that although much of the work on the crafts will be done during the arts and crafts classes, some of the members will probably finish during the arts and crafts classes, some of the members will probably finish some of the objects at home.

She said that after the building is paid for, money raised will be used to close in the arts and crafts room, lower the ceiling and insulate.

Community people are invited to contribute arts and crafts they have made, said Murphy. "We need them," she said.

The last class for the project is scheduled for July 24, she said.

CANCER ANSWER LINE American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

Today: a special ANSWERline on mammography, an x-ray examination of the breast for possible cancer, which has raised many questions and some public confusion about when women should have mammography done.

A physician notes: "There are a great number of women under 50 who should have mammography done but who may be uncertain about their need for such examinations. Please tell your readers when a younger woman should definitely have mammography."
ANSWERline: Women, between the ages of 35-50, who are either very frightened about developing breast cancer and might be reassured by having mammography done to ease their minds, or women in this age group with any of the following conditions should be examined: chronic cystic mastitis; lumps and thickenings in the breast; nipple discharge or other nipple abnormalities; a personal history of breast cancer; a family history of breast cancer on the maternal or paternal side; a family history of breast cancer in sisters; early onset of menstruation; no history of pregnancy; first full-term pregnancy at age 30 or older; or breast surgery scheduled for diagnostic purposes. Also, some physicians may feel that it is important for a woman between the ages of 35-50 to have a basic set of mammograms done so that they can be used on a comparison basis to note any changes as the woman grows older when mammograms will be routinely done because the risk of breast cancer increases with age.

mammography is creating a problem, why don't they stop doing it altogether?"
ANSWERline: The establishment of 27 Breast Cancer Detection Demonstration Project centers using mammography has occurred for a compelling reason: breast cancer is the number one cancer killer of American women, and early detection - which mammography can achieve - can help save more lives. Routine mammographic screening once a year is a must for women over 50, and there is total agreement in the scientific community about this fact. In the 27 ACS/NCI screening centers minimal breast cancers have been found that have a high cure rate - and this is the reason that mammography is so important, because the benefits far outweigh the risks.

A women's club president writes: "Some of the younger members of my club are very upset because there has been a lot of publicity about the dangers of mammography for women under 50 and they have had mammograms. What are the dangers?"
ANSWERline: The word "danger" is the wrong one to use because the recent decision to limit routine mammography to women over 50 was based on a largely theoretical minimal long-term risk of developing cancer because of radiation. The National Cancer Institute and the American Cancer Society have sought to keep exposure to radiation to a minimum of women. What is the "danger?" Think of it this way: according to mathematical theory, which is all we have to go on in assessing risk, it would take 100 mammograms for a woman's risk of developing breast cancer to go from 1 in 14 to 2 in 14. To reduce even that risk, the NCI and the ACS are also encouraging the technology necessary to produce mammography equipment using the least possible amount of radiation.

Bill Clements - A Great Governor For Texas

Bill Clements has devoted his life to leadership and good management—the two qualities most important to the future of Texas.

Clements was born on April 13, 1917, in Dallas. He attended public school in the Highland Park School System.

At the age of 13, Clements attained the rank of Eagle Scout. He went on to serve as a scoutmaster, then as president of both Circle Ten Region, and the South Central Region of the Boy Scouts of America. Through philanthropic efforts, Clements continues to support Scouting.

Clements played on the first Highland Park High School team to win a district championship and was the first HPHS football player to be named to an All-state football team.

He graduated from high school during the Great Depression and was offered several university scholarships, but chose instead to help support his family by working in the South Texas oil fields.

After studying engineering for two years at Southern Methodist University, Clements went to work for a Texas oil field service company. He resigned at age 28 to establish his own business—the Southeastern Drilling Company. The company, now known as SEDCO, is a major international drilling contractor, helping to supply an energy hungry world. SEDCO today employs approximately 15,000 people. The company's worldwide corporate headquarters is located in the old Cumberland High School in Dallas, which Clements bought and restored to original condition. The building has been designated as a historical landmark by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

Clements has a great love for the out-of-doors. He raises livestock on the family farm near Dallas. His hobbies include hunting and playing tennis.

Clements' active participation in the Republican Party began in the 1950's when he worked as a poll watcher for the Eisenhower campaign and worked precincts door-to-door in support of the Republican Party cause. In 1964 Clements was State Finance Chairman for George Bush's U.S. Senate campaign, and in 1970 he served as Bush's Dallas County Finance Chairman. 1971 saw Clements serve as Senator John Tower's statewide Fund-raising Dinner Chairman. During the 1972 election he was Co-chairman of the Republican Presidential campaign for the State of Texas.

He spent the next four years managing the operations of the Pentagon as Deputy Secretary of Defense, displaying such effective managerial talents that he was awarded the Department of Defense Medal for Distinguished Public Service (1975). President Ford later added a Bronze Palm to the award. He oversaw the daily operations of approximately 3 million defense employees, and administered the $100 billion plus annual Department of Defense budget. In recognition of Clements' innovative efforts in the upgrading of the Department of Defense educational system, each of the Service Academies named a professorial award in his honor the William P. Clements, Jr. Award for Excellence in Education. Clements is currently a member of the Republican National Committee's policy committee on foreign policy and national security.

His wife, the former Rita Crocker, was Republican National Committeewoman from Texas in 1973-1975 after serving on the Republican National Finance Committee. She was the Organization Chairman of the Republican Party of Texas from 1966-1968.

Bill Clements has been working for the Republican Party of Texas for nearly 30 years. He is the first Republican in many years to have a broad-based appeal to all Texas voters, and the commitment and resources needed to win in November.

Our Heritage of Faith

notes from Faith Lutheran Church

Faith will have a special Worship service this Sunday evening, June 18, at 5:30. This will be a time to recall, celebrate, and to receive God's love for us, as we listen, sing, and partake in Holy Communion. Everyone is welcome and encouraged to come!

Following the service will be a Sandwich-Salad Potluck Supper. Each family is asked to bring a salad and/or sandwiches. This is to be a light meal requiring little preparation. For those of an energetic spirit we hope to have a volleyball game after supper.

Regular Sunday Morning Worship at Faith is at 9:30. Sunday School follows at 10:30.

Faith includes everyone in their Sunday School program, including adults. Currently the Adult Class is studying about God's presence and care in our daily lives based on the Old Testament books of Job and Esther.

Sunday or Wednesday nights Faith usually has something special going on, either a Worship service, like this Sunday, or a Bible study. The men will have a breakfast on Tuesday morning, June 27, at 6:00 A.M. Anyone is welcome at any of Faith's Worship services or other events. If you have no regular church home we especially urge you to come.

"Texas" To Open June 14

Canyon, Texas.... "Texas" will open June 14, 1978 in the Pioneer Amphitheatre in the Palo Duro Canyon near Canyon and Amarillo, Texas with a Gala salute to the Broadcasters of the area who have helped spread the word about the production.

There will be a reception in their honor at 7:30 P.M. near the statue of Quannah Parker on the theatre grounds.

After the reception, the great triangles will ring to call the patrons into the theatre at 8:10. The ceremony will start at 8:15.

After presentation of awards and recognition of the honored guests, the first show of the thirteenth season will begin at 8:30 P.M.

The ceremonies will honor the broadcasters of the Panhandle, the people who have helped "Texas" company, and technical advice.

It is the custom of the members of the Board of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, co-producers of "Texas" with West Texas State University, to honor the people of some part of Panhandle life each year with a reception at the statue of Quannah Parker near the entrance to the theatre seating area, and a short commemorative ceremony, and a program telling the history of that part of the area life. The histories in the programs are written by Jack Walker, member of the Speech Dept. at WTSU whose recent book on the oil industry, "Boomer's Gold" is attracting nationwide attention. Dr. Walker teaches classes in radio and television.

The selection of broadcasters this year is appropriate because the leading man, Ron Clay Williams who plays "Calvin," comes from a broadcasting family. His father, Jess Williams, worked in radio and early television in Amarillo. He specialized in programs for children and was known as "Honest Jess." One of his beloved phrases was a system of rating things from bad to good as "four to humdinger."

The thirteenth season of "Texas" will run from June 14 through August 26, nightly except Sunday. There will be a performance on Sunday, July 2.

For tickets call "Texas", 806-655-2182, or write Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015.

The members of the company appreciate the many expressions we have received of concern over the flooding conditions in the Palo Duro Canyon. Knowing that the creek did sometimes overflow, the founders chose a site for the amphitheatre high above the water line, and the amphitheatre suffered no damage.

The paved road leading down to the amphitheatre is being cleared of debris, and will be ready for traffic in a few days.

Texas State Library Sponsoring Summer Reading Program

Young readers in 21 libraries in the 25-county area served by the Texas Panhandle Library System for which Amarillo Public Library serves as the Major Resource Center will participate in the Summer Reading Club sponsored this year by the Texas State Library and local public libraries. They will be among 140,000 young Texans taking part in the program. Since summer provides a time for recreational reading and for pursuing special interests, it is usually the busiest time of the year in children's departments in public libraries.

Libraries participating in this area are Amarillo Public Library, Hutchinson County Library in Borger, Hemphill County Library in Canadian, Gabe Betts Burton Library in Clarendon, Claude Public Library, Rhoads Memorial Library in Dimmitt, Killgore Memorial Library in Dumas, Friona Public Library, Gruver City Library, Deaf Smith County Library in Hereford, Higgins Public Library, Lovett Memorial Library in McLean, Carnegie Library in Memphis, Roberts County Library in Miami, Lovett Memorial Library in Pampa, Perry Memorial Library in Perryton, Shamrock Public Library, Hansford County Library in Spearman, Swisher County Library in Tulia, and Collingsworth County Library in Wellington.

Participants in the Summer Reading Club for 1978 will be invited to "Come to Chimera!" Their trip will take them to a fantasy land where any dream can come true. To mark their journey, they will receive a reading log that shows mountains, swamps, and castles inhabited by fantastic creatures.

Libraries will also be planning special activities. And while young readers are discovering the Reading Club and these activities, they will have an opportunity to find out that using the public library can be fun. In fact, it can become a lifelong habit that will continue to enrich their lives.

The theme for this year's Reading Club appeals to the imagination and spotlights imaginative literature available in public libraries. Librarians, however, know that reading will not be limited to that. Some boys and girls will read everything available on dinosaurs or horses or volcanoes or some other topic they become fascinated with.

Participants will receive recognition at the end of the summer. Most important, however, they will have discovered that the informal atmosphere of a nearby public library makes reading fun.

The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth with an arrangement using brown and blue. Crystal appointments were used in serving.

Kandy was assisted in registering her gifts by Darleen Sutton.

Special guests were the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. Herbert Kirk, and the mother of the prospective groom, Mrs. Bruce Gressett of Canyon.

Friday Luncheon keynote speaker will be Kevin Tracy. Ned Stutman, an attorney from the Philadelphia Public Interest Law Center will be the Saturday Night Presidents Banquet speaker. Both featured guest speakers, Ned Stutman and Kevin Tracy, signify the current directions and philosophy of TARC.

Ned Stutman an attorney from the Philadelphia Public Interest Law Center, is part of the legal staff who represented the Pennsylvania ARC in a suit against Pennhurst Center, a state residential institution for the mentally retarded. The Pennhurst case resulted in the ruling by U.S. District Judge Raymond Broderick that all admissions to state facilities, court-ordered or otherwise, infringe on fundamental rights and freedoms of mentally retarded persons.

Kevin Tracy, a mentally retarded young man from Milwaukee, will present the keynote address. Tracy is self-supporting and a strong self-advocate. He edits and writes the "Milwaukee Citizen," a newsletter for mentally retarded persons.

Friday and Saturday Convention workshops will cover a wide range of topics, including sex education for mentally retarded persons, genetic counseling, federal legislation affecting the mentally retarded, and the future role of The Association for Retarded Citizens. Presentors for the workshops are nationally recognized experts in their respective areas.

Friday night will be fun night. Buses for conventioners from Hilton Inn will transport them to Palo Duro Canyon for Bar-B-Q and to "Texas."

The convention is open to the public. For more information, contact Jo Curtis, 806-352-8527. Pre Registration is requested but registration "at the door" WELCOME (fees slightly higher).

FB Prexy Reacts To Beef Imports

WACO -- American cattlemen would view a suspension of controls on beef imports as "oppressive competition by our government," and the end result would be higher consumer prices, the president of the Texas Farm Bureau told President Carter Tuesday, June 6.

He also emphasized that higher beef prices are the result of inflation and not the cause.

Carrol Chaloupka of Dalhart, himself a livestock producer, expressed his concern in a telegram to the President, who is reportedly contemplating suspending import quotas and opening the door to more foreign beef as a means of holding down retail prices.

Chaloupka pointed out that the cattle industry is just now beginning to recover from four years of depressed prices.

"Cattle producers have accumulated massive debts to private and government lenders during this period looking forward to an upswing in the beef price cycle when our debts could be paid and we could again rebuild our dwindling herds," he explained.

"We would view an increase in beef imports at this time as oppressive competition by our government. Such imports may appear politically expedient as consumers complain of higher food costs. But the world supply of beef is limited and a significant reduction of retail beef prices through such import is questionable," he declared.

Chaloupka said producers would view such action by the government "as a signal not to invest in herd expansion" and the consequence would be "further beef shortages and higher beef prices."

"The agricultural sector of the economy has absorbed as much inflationary impact as it can, and the cattle industry is now rebounding. Higher food prices are the result of inflation and not its cause," he told the President.

In northern Norway, from May 12 to August 1, the sun never sets.

Hightower Stunned By Beef Import News

Washington, D.C.--Congressman Jack Hightower reacted with "stunned disbelief" to the news that the Administration was planning to announce tomorrow that they were going to renegotiate beef import quotas to allow around 200 million pounds of additional beef into this country, an increase of 15%.

Hightower was given this news at a 9:30 a.m. briefing by Stuart Eizenstat, the President's Domestic Advisor, and Robert Strauss, top trade negotiator and one of President Carter's top advisors in fighting inflation. The two advisors came to the Cannon House Office Building Wednesday morning to brief a dozen Congressmen from cattle raising and feeding areas. The advisors were met by a hostile group of Congressmen.

Hightower stated the action was "the wrong action, at the wrong time and has no possibility of doing what the Administration claims. It could, in the long run, cause producers to further reduce herds and provide even less meat to consumers."

"This will have the same effect as the Nixon price freeze of four years ago. That action turned the cattle market down and housewives realized little or no gain in the supermarket. We have seen three months of beef prices edging up and now this action could well kill the bloom the market is beginning to experience."

The cattleman has been the one sector of the economy that has not asked for federal help. They have gone through a depression in the industry that broke many producers and left the rest with debts that will take many years to pay off." Hightower went on to point out that this will have an additional negative effect on the nation's balance of payments deficit in world trade. "At a time when our currency needs help we are going to spend more overseas. The long range effect of this action will hurt producers and consumers alike."

Home Weatherization Program Gets Grant

DALLAS, TEXAS - The State of Texas has been awarded a grant of $966,600 to continue implementation of a home weatherization program for low-income citizens throughout the State, it was announced today by Curtis E. Carlson, Jr., Acting Regional Representative of the Secretary, U. S. Department of Energy in Dallas.

The grant will allow the State to weatherize an estimated additional 2,150 homes of low-income persons under a plan developed by the Texas Department of Community Affairs. Texas began the DOE Weatherization Program in October, 1977.

"The Texas Weatherization Program for the low-income citizens is a significant program that will not only conserve energy but will also assist greatly in lowering the energy costs of elderly and handicapped Texans," said Carlson.

Paramount's "Looking For Mr. Goodbar" Will Open June 18 at Holiday Drive-In

Diane Keaton in a scene from Paramount Pictures' "Looking For Mr. Goodbar," a Freddie Fields Production written for the screen and directed by Richard Brooks, based on the best-selling novel by Judith Rossner.

Paramount Pictures' "Looking For Mr. Goodbar," a Freddie Fields Production written for the screen and directed by Richard Brooks, will open June 18 at the Holiday Drive In. Diane Keaton, Tuesday Weld, William Atherton and Richard Kiley head the cast of the film based on the best-selling novel by Judith Rossner.

Richard Gere, Alan Feinstein and Tom Berenger also have important roles in "Looking For Mr. Goodbar."

With "Looking For Mr. Goodbar," director-writer Richard Brooks has merged forces with producer Freddie Fields, founder and president of the giant CMA (Creative Management Associates), who has forged into the motion picture industry after 30 years of solid credentials as an agent. It was Fields who acquired the novel and saw in it a unique entertainment, an explosive quality.

Two of Brooks' early film scripts were for "Brute Force" and "Key Largo." As director-writer: "Blackboard Jungle," "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," "Elmer Gantry" (for which his screenplay won Brooks an Academy Award), "The Professionals" and "In Cold Blood."

Diane Keaton was busy completing Woody Allen's "Annie Hall"

when she was signed by Freddie Fields for "Looking For Mr. Goodbar." She has been Allen's female partner in three previous Allen films -- "Play It Again, Sam," "Sleeper" and "Love and Death" -- and was Al Pacino's wife in both "Godfather" films. It was a demanding role for Diane that required her to work in front of the camera every day for 76 shooting days.

William A. Fraker was the director of photography for "Looking For Mr. Goodbar." Edward Carfagno was art director, and the film was edited by George Grenville. The title montage photographs are by Kathy Fields, and the music was scored by Artie Kane.

"Looking For Mr. Goodbar" is a film about people with a passion for life.

Here's how an Energy Checked Efficiency Home can save you money!

Attic Ventilation. During hot summer months, the temperatures in your attic can reach 150° or more causing your air conditioning system to work harder than necessary to keep your home comfortable. Gable vents, eave vents, ridge vents and mechanical ventilators all help qualify a home as Energy Checked because they help bring attic temperatures down in the summer, as well as helping to keep attics dry all year long. Look for the Energy Checked Efficiency Home sign before you buy -- it could mean years of lower home operating costs.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Fratris L. Duff, M.D., Commissioner

Don't let mosquitoes take all the fun out of your summer by turning up as uninvited guests at picnics and backyard cookouts, says the Texas Department of Health.
"It only takes a little standing water and some adult mosquitoes to bring on pain, discomfort, aggravation and sometimes disease from the pesky insects," said Kenneth C. Lauderdale, Director of the General Sanitation Division. "Water in which to pass their early life stages is a necessity for mosquitoes."
"Some mosquitoes lay their eggs in standing water where they hatch in a day or two. Other mosquitoes lay their eggs in old tires, tin cans, or other water-holding containers where they remain unhatched for weeks or months until they are covered with water."

With both types of mosquitoes, the wigglers or larvae grow quickly and turn into tumblers or pupae. Soon the skin of the tumbler splits open and out climbs another hungry mosquito looking for its victim.
In addition to being pests, says Lauderdale, mosquitoes can spread disease. Such diseases as encephalitis, yellow fever, dengue fever and malaria are common diseases spread by mosquitoes.

The largest number of cases of St. Louis Encephalitis (SLE) on record for a single year occurred in 1975 when a total of nearly 1800 cases were reported from 30 states, including Texas.
"While mosquitoes are a threat to health and bodily comfort, there is something that you as an individual can do to ease the situation and lessen the job of local and regional health organizations and mosquito control units," Lauderdale says.
The Ten Commandments of mosquito control are:

1. Empty, remove, cover or turn upside down any receptacle that will hold water—particularly old bottles and tin cans.
2. Change water and scrub vases holding flowers or cuttings twice each week—or grow cuttings in sand.
3. Discard old tires or store them indoors.
4. Screen rain barrels and openings to water tanks or cisterns.
5. Repair leaky plumbing and outside faucets. They may cause standing water in which mosquitoes can hatch.
6. Connect open wastewater drains to a sewage system, or construct separate sump or leach lines.

7. Clean clogged roof gutters and drain flat roofs.
8. Fill holes in trees with sand or mortar, or drain or spray them, as required.
9. Stock ornamental ponds with mosquito-eating fish.
10. Clean and drain evaporative coolers frequently.

"These tips will help you prevent mosquitoes from reproducing," says Lauderdale. "In addition, your local health department may have summer spraying programs to rid infested areas of the insects. You should also keep your window screens in good repair, screen fireplaces and other openings, and kill all mosquitoes inside your home with proper insecticides."

What if you're going into areas where mosquitoes may be prevalent? Lauderdale says there are several repellants on the market which can be used on exposed areas of your skin. Used on clothing, they might also protect you from chiggers and ticks, he said.

Remember, all mosquitoes need water for their early life stages. Adult flying mosquitoes frequently rest in grass, shrubbery or other foliage, but they never develop there. So, if there are any places around your home where water collects, get rid of them. Don't raise the mosquitoes that bite you!

A MEAL HE WILL REMEMBER—To make Father's Day extra special for that favorite Dad, treat him to this tempting Rolled Beef Rump Roast with Pear-Relish garnish, suggests Texas Department of Agriculture home economist Fran Gerling. Roasts offer some of the best beef values around today, she adds.

Delicious Beef Makes Special Treat for Father's Day

Smart Shopping Can Save Dollars at Meat Counter

AUSTIN—Despite rising prices, smart shopping can turn up excellent buys at the meat counter, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown notes.

"Many of the best values can be found in the less tender cuts of beef, which comprise about 66 per cent of the carcass," Brown said.

"A major Texas daily newspaper recently advertised bone-in chuck roasts and steaks at prices ranging from 99 cents to $1.19 per pound."

According to figures from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Americans consumed 154.8 pounds of meat per capita in 1977, Brown pointed out. Of this, 93.2 pounds were beef.

"Obviously, the American people are beef eaters," he said. "They can continue to be, and at reasonable costs, if they'll take the time to cook cuts that take a little more preparation."

Cuts from the chuck and round come from motivating muscles in the shoulder and rump, those that do most of the work. That is why an arm pot roast is less tender than a rib-eye which is cut from a sustaining muscle, one that does not get much exercise. This is also why pot roast takes longer, moister cooking to yield a savory meal.

The best buys in terms of price usually come from the chuck or shoulder, which is around 26 per cent of the carcass. Except for hamburger, however, much of what comes from the chuck contains bone.

Therefore, shoppers may get a better deal by figuring price per serving instead of cost per pound.

A boneless roast selling at $1.59 per pound may actually cost less for a family of four than a 7-bone chuck roast at 99 cents. The chuck roast will yield one or two servings per pound, depending on size of appetites, making cost per serving 50 to 99 cents. The more expensive roast, however, which yields three to four servings per pound, will cost 40 to 53 cents a serving.

Flag Day commemorates June 14, 1777, when the Continental Congress adopted the Stars and Stripes as the flag of the United States, according to The World Book Encyclopedia.

ROLLED BEEF RUMP ROAST

1 Rolled Rump Roast, 4-6 pounds
Salt and pepper to taste

Season meat with salt and pepper. Place roast, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so bulb reaches the center of the thickest part, being sure bulb does not rest in fat. Do not add water, and do not cover.

Roast in slow oven (300 degrees to 325 degrees) until thermometer reaches 150 degrees to 170 degrees, depending on desired doneness. Homemakers should allow 25 to 30 minutes per pound for roasting. Serve with Pear-Relish garnish, julienne potatoes, green beans, and cucumber, tomato and onion salad. A light red wine can be served, if desired.

PEAR-RELISH GARNISH

1 can (16 ounce) pear halves
1/2 cup drained sweet pickle relish
