Drug Problems Almost Non Existent In County!

The large scale use of drugs is no longer a serious social problem in Hansford County. Sheriff R.L. McFarlin issued this statement in response to some public comments made by some youth workers to the effect that the use and abuse of drugs was becoming a matter of concern in the area.

Sheriff McFarlin told the Reporter and Statesman that at one time, particularly in 1975 and 1976, a serious Drug problem did exist. That situation has long been cleared up according to the veteran Law enforcement official. The Sheriff told the newspaper that there have been two undercover agents in the county in recent months, each with extensive criminal investigation experience and each highly experienced in drug traffic surveillance. The two undercover agents have reported that there was no serious or major problems in the trafficking of drugs locally.

Sheriff McFarlin added "we stay on top of the problem and are kept well informed as to any usage of Pot or other drugs by Spearman students and parents. The Sheriff did add that he was well aware that there was some minor usage of marijuana in the County and that in many cases this drug was brought into the area by returning college students. Sheriff McFarlin stated that he and his staff had extensive faith in the young people and the parents of Hansford County... said "I don't intend to let a drug problem develop in Spearman for the sale of drugs from dealers in Guymon, Amarillo and Liberal.

78 Construction Near 1 Million!

Construction in Spearman in 1978 neared the one million dollar mark, according to Mary Lou DeArmond, City Secretary. The figures released today by the City Official reflect a growing confidence in Spearman and it's future.

Fifteen Housing units are included in the over all total... this item showing a total of $389,700.

The new Nurs a Nickle Motel, although not completed is included in the total amount of new construction; if weather had not been an impeding factor, the new $330,000 Motel, with 32 Units would probably have already been completed. It is included in this report because the permit for construction was issued in 1978, according to Miss DeArmond.

Almost $26,000 was noted for construction of new Non residential buildings, while alterations to existing buildings showed a total amount of $146,000.

The overall total as reflected in the City Secretary's report shows an impressive figure of $989,790.00!

Pseudorabies Test Required For County Show

All swine exhibitors in the 1979 Hansford County Stock Show must have their barrows or gilts tested negative in pseudorabies including gilts which will be in the breeding gilt show, according to Layton Barton, County Extension Agent and Secretary of the Hansford County Stock Show Board of Directors.

This is in accordance to the rules and regulations set forth in Proclamation No. 424 Section VIII by the Texas Animal Health Commission. This rule simply stated says, "That swine entering shows, fairs, and exhibitions that are not terminal (that is all swine selling and going directly to slaughter) must have a negative serum neutralization test for pseudorabies within 30 days prior to entry to the show."

That means all swine entered in the Hansford County Show must be tested and must be negative to be allowed on the show ground.

According to Barton, two days have been set up by the Stock Show Board of Directors in conjunction with local veterinarians to test the barrows and gilts. Blood samples from the swine will be taken on February 15 starting at 9:00 a.m. at the County Barn in Gruver. Samples will be taken at the County Barn in Spearman on February 16 at 9:00 a.m.

The approximate cost of the test will be $8.00 per head and will be billed to the exhibitor. All exhibitors should make arrangements to have their barrows or gilts at the barns on one of these dates for testing. Exhibitors should have the animals on their trailers as the samples will be taken without unloading the animals.

Barton suggests that exhibitors who have more than one barrow or gilt on feed and are not sure which they will show,

Court Rules In City's Favor

Judge Richard Countiss ruled in favor of the City of Spearman late Tuesday afternoon in a civil case dating back to 1976. The case involved allegations by a Dumas resident and junk dealer that the city should be held liable for damages he incurred when the city allegedly reneged on an agreement involving the removal of junk metal from the city junk yards.

The Plaintiff in the suit asking for $10,000 Damages stated that he, C.L. Getman had arrived at an agreement with a former employee of the City, Buck Jones who at the time was working at the Junk Yard allowing Detman to remove junk metal for a fee and then to resell the material to recycling dealers.

Detman alleged in the suit that he had purchased special equipment to remove the junk metal from the yard and that this special equipment had cost him $10,000.

Detman stated that when he arrived in Spearman to commence the junk metal removal he was advised by the City Manager Mark Neff that an agreement had been negated and that he had no authority to remove the junk metal.

The city was represented in the case by Attorney J.E. Blackburn and the defendant was represented in the case by Attorney J.E. Blackburn and the defendant was represented by Attorney Louis Dubuque of Dumas.

In ruling in favor of the City, Judge Countiss stated that he was so doing because of various legal questions that had developed during the course of the proceedings. A jury of four women and eight men had been seated to hear the case. The local jurist ruled in favor of the city and did not ask for a Jury decision.

Tractorcade in Blockade

Late word from Chalmers Porter, in Washington along with a number of other Hansford County AAM supporters, states that Washington police have essentially established a temporary blockade of the tractors including some from Hansford County. These tractors have been held in a security area established by the Washington police and only those persons with legitimate motel reservations are reportedly being allowed to leave the "Blockade".

Porter reports that it appears that an attempt is being made to subject the farmers to severe sanitation deprivation as well as to curtail apparently their supplies.

The situation appeared to be somewhat volatile as of Press time...with an apparent stand-off developing between the Law enforcement agencies in the Nation's capital and the Farmers there to protest the disaster

COLORFUL CHARACTERS ABOUND IN "THE BIG FIX"

Moses Wine, the private detective anti-hero of Universal's "The Big Fix" is a former '60s Berkeley radical who's now riding the string as best he can, trading wisecracks with his nicker and dime divorce case clients and falling ever more rapidly behind in his own alimony payments. So it goes in 1978.

The role has surely got to be one of the most colorful for Richard Dreyfuss, whose interest in the character of Moses Wine and the novel by Roger L. Simon began way back in 1973 when he and old friend Carl Borack began the odyssey of bringing it to the screen.

As co-producers of "The Big Fix," Dreyfuss and Borack realized that casting the inimitable characters who surround L.A. private eye Wine in a mystery that takes him from the high life to the lowest, would be both a joy and a challenge.

For instance, there's Lila, Moses' old girlfriend, a '50s political activist who reappears in the detective's life to tell him she's now working for the election of a middle-of-the-road candidate for governor. That prize role went to Susan Anspach, who first drew attention when she appeared opposite Jack Nicholson in "Five Easy Pieces."

Bonnie Bedelia plays Wine's divorced wife Suzanne, who has a very recognizable weakness for spiritual fads and pre-fab consciousness-raising. Long before she had made a major impact in films like "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?" and "Lovers and Other Strangers," Bonnie had a long list of stage credits in New York, including originating the leading role on Broadway in "My Sweet Charlie."

Mexico's number one film and stage superstar, Ofelia Medina, makes her American movie debut in "The Big Fix." The dark-eyed beauty, a three-time winner of the Mexican equivalent of the Academy Award, plays Alora Vasquez, the niece of a kidnapped farmworker's leader.

John Lithgow, a Tony Award winner for his performance on Broadway in "The Changing Room" plays energetic campaign coordinator Sam Sebastian in "The Big Fix." Lithgow made his movie debut in Brian DePalma's "Obsession." He makes his home in New York, where he appears frequently on stage.

Fritz Weaver, a Tony Award winner for his role on Broadway in "Child's Play," plays industrial millionaire Oscar Procaro, Sr. in "The Big Fix." Of his stage and screen career, Weaver remarks that he has played "everything — twice." Among his many film credits are "Demon Seed," "Black Sunday," "Fail Safe," "Day of the Dolphin" and "The Maltese Biopy." Most recently, he starred in the acclaimed television production, "Holocaust."

Michael Hersheve and Danny Gellis play Richard Dreyfuss' sons. Hersheve recently scored critically in his film debut as the son of Walter Matthau in "Casey's Shadow," and co-stars opposite Richard Gere in "Bloodbrothers." Gellis, the younger of the two, makes his film debut in "The Big Fix."

Other players prominently featured in the cast are: Rita Karin, F. Murray Abraham, Ron Rifkin and Nicholas Pryor.

SUSAN ANSPACH STARS IN FIRST FUN ROLE

"The Big Fix" is an important film for Susan Anspach. "This picture," she says "is my first thrust in really keeping my career out there. Up until now, I don't think I was ever committed to doing that."

She co-stars in Universal's "The Big Fix" as Lila Shea, Moses Wine's (Richard Dreyfuss) old Berkeley girlfriend whose one-time radical politics are now at work for a middle-of-the-road gubernatorial candidate.

Lila is a very special character to Susan. She feels a very strong identity with her. "Her determination, perseverance and idealism are the same as mine," she says, adding that she also felt close to her "combination of wryness, and enthusiasm in dealing with her sexuality. To me, that is really interesting. She was a free spirit of the '60s."

"Most people," Susan explained, "have given up and figure that the world is the way it is and that's how it's going to be, but Lila still believes that it can be changed, but in a more moderate fashion." Then, with a growing twinkle in her eyes she adds, "and furthermore, she's funny."

"I don't get to play too many funny women," she confesses, "the women I've played have been either really very emotional or very dry. And although I'm really a very funny person, it seems that every time I have tried to be funny in a picture, people make me calm down a bit. I don't know if they're right or wrong because I don't get to see myself, but it certainly has been fun playing an intentionally humorous character." Working with Richard Dreyfuss added to the excitement and importance of the role. When she was first considering the part she remembers, "I knew intuitively that working with Richard would be a really fun experience. He really strikes my funny-bone, too!"

Now, Lila Shea is another member of her colorful gallery of characters. If things move along with the same star-struck rapidity that they have following each of her past features ("Five Easy Pieces," "Blume in Love," "The Landlord," "Play It Again Sam"), her latest addition may stand out as a milestone in her cautiously measured career because this time she won't disappear. "If you get too much too easily," she points out, "it destroys you and you're not as good a person. I think that now my person is grown up enough that I have what I need to work with and not feel lost in it."

When "The Big Fix" was shooting in East Los Angeles' El Mercado, the predominantly Spanish speaking residents swarmed Mexican superstar Ofelia Medina, here making her American film debut. Recognizing her from her numerous Mexican television appearances, they hounded her for autographs and pictures. Meanwhile, "The Big Fix" star Richard Dreyfuss was able to walk through the crowd virtually undetected.

Sibling rivalry got the upper hand during filming of "The Big Fix" when twelve-year-old Michael Hersheve and seven-year-old Danny Gellis, both playing Richard Dreyfuss' on-screen sons, got into an off-camera spat. The only casualty of the fisticuffs was Gellis' slightly swollen lip, which director Jeremy Paul Kagan remedied with a frosty snow cone.

Poker playing star Richard Dreyfuss so inspired the card playing among the crew of his upcoming "The Big Fix" that a single game continued for twenty straight days — with time off for shooting and sleeping.

RICHARD DREYFUSS IS PRIVATE EYE MOSES WINE IN MODERN-DAY DETECTIVE THRILLER "THE BIG FIX"

Richard Dreyfuss, winner of this year's Academy Award as Best Actor, stars as private investigator Moses Wine in Universal's "The Big Fix," once again contributing to his gallery of screen characters, which have included starring roles in "The Goodbye Girl," for which he won his Oscar; "Close Encounters of the Third Kind," "Jaws," "American Graffiti," "The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz," and "Inners."

In addition to his recent Academy Award, the nomination for which came immediately following production of "The Big Fix," Dreyfuss has had a very good year, marking the first time the performer has won any type of awards. For "The Goodbye Girl," Dreyfuss also received the Golden Globe Award bestowed by the Hollywood Foreign Press Association, the Los Angeles Drama Critics Award, the Harvard Hasty Pudding Club Award, and Italy's Donatello Award — each award for Best Actor.

Now on the heels of this exciting year of recognition as a performer comes "The Big Fix," which in addition to offering Dreyfuss the challenging role of Moses Wine, also presented him with his first opportunity to co-produce a feature film.

The film, a detective thriller that combines a modern day murder mystery with some very contemporary comedy, is a project that was developed out of the energetic combination of Dreyfuss and his co-producer, Carl Borack, a longtime friend.

Together these two men worked to bring Roger L. Simon's novel of the same name to the screen with all the impact about the changing world around us that they initially envisioned. Dreyfuss and Borack selected a behind-the-scenes team that would realize "The Big Fix" in a highly creative blend of youthful verve and Wine and his family plunge headlong into the biggest case of his career. The whirlwind adventure takes him through the heights and depths of Los Angeles in 1978 — from the taco stands to the posh health clubs, from the Venice waterfront to Topanga and Laurel Canyons, from the mansions of Bel Air to the low-income housing developments of the Barrio.

Wine travels across the city in a race against time, meeting an unlikely gallery of interesting characters as the mystery continues to deepen. Producers Richard Dreyfuss and Carl Borack, both longtime Los Angeles residents, first met when they were sixth-graders at Beverly Hills' Horace Mann Elementary School. Nineteen years later, their strong friendship has resulted in their first joint production, "The Big Fix."

Unlike many other L.A. citizens, Dreyfuss and Borack are actually fond of their city. They both have found enormously appealing the idea of a film having as its background the color and confusion of contemporary Los Angeles. "The Big Fix," which Dreyfuss and Borack both read when first published in 1973, was an ideal choice to convey the kaleidoscopic disorientation of modern life as depicted in Los Angeles.

When it was first published, "The Big Fix" received Britain's prestigious John Creasy Award as well as a special prize from the Mystery Writers of America. Its look at a society still reverberating from the spasms of the '60s was presented with humor, irony, and a true compassion for its slightly bewildered characters. Mystery fans and the general public alike have responded to the subtle feeling of social vertigo felt by so many today, which is so accurately conveyed in Roger Simon's novel and screenplay.

In a recent Time magazine interview, Neil Simon said of Richard

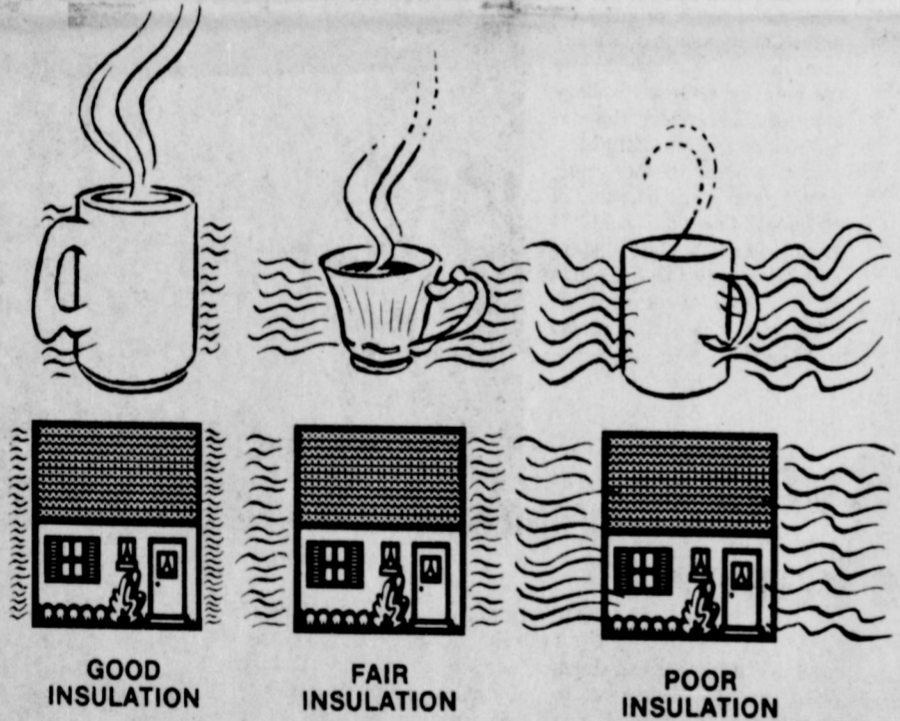

Dreyfuss: "He has an energy that just flies off the screen. He doesn't fall into any of the usual acting categories. He's not a handsome-man type like Redford or a dramatic-actor type like Pacino or DeNiro. Rick can do anything — and he is funnier than any of them." It is these very special qualities, which make Dreyfuss a distinctive screen personality, that are put to the test — as he is both dramatic and never better looking than he is as Moses Wine in "The Big Fix." If he in fact caught viewers completely off guard with his first bona fide romantic lead in the comical "The Goodbye Girl," it is certainly true that audiences will again be seeing a fresh side of Dreyfuss in "The Big Fix."

SUSAN ANSPACH and RICHARD DREYFUSS renew an old romance in Universal's exciting new murder mystery, "The Big Fix."

What could be better than a steaming cup of coffee on a chilly winter morning? But did you ever notice how a regular coffee mug keeps the coffee hot longer than a thin glass cup or tin cup? That's because the thin glass cup or tin cup has very little resistance to heat loss. A thick coffee mug acts as insulation and minimizes heat loss. Homes that are properly insulated to the recommended "R" value help prevent heat loss and wasted energy dollars. In your home, no matter what type of insulation you use — batts, loose fill, or foam — as long as the "R" value is the same, they will prevent heat loss equally well. Proper insulation can save enough on energy bills to pay for itself in a few years. But before you insulate your home, remember to check the "R" value requirement. Call Community Public Service for information on insulation and "R" value today.

Beta Sigman Phi Sweethearts Named

Deta Blodgett

Karen Blodgett

Mary Lou Mathews

The annual Valentine Ball of Beta Sigma Phi, Spearman Chapters, will be held Saturday, Feb. 10 at the Perryton Club. The Sweethearts this year are: Karen Blodgett, Rho Rho-Ritual of Jewels Chapter; Mary Lou Mathews, Xi Zeta-Exemplar Chapter; and Deta Blodgett, Preceptor Epsilon Zeta Chapter.

Karen Blodgett became a member of Rho Rho in the spring of '78 and is presently serving as Social Chairman. She has served on the Ways & Means Committee. Mrs. Blodgett grew up in Gruver and attended Texas Tech for one year and received her BS in Business Education from Oklahoma State University. She married Glenn Blodgett, a veterinarian in Spearman, in 1969. They have two children, Buffie, age 5, and Brandie, age 2 1/2.

She works part time at the Hansford County Veterinarian Clinic, and enjoys sewing, crafts and entertaining at home. Xi Zeta Upsilon's Valentine Girl for 1979 is Mary Lou Mathews, the wife of Steve Mathews. Mary Lou and Steve reside 15 miles southeast of Spearman. They are the parents of four daughters: Robin, Jana, Rhonda and Paige.

A lifelong resident of this area, Mary Lou is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cluck of Gruver. She attended the Gruver Public Schools, Baylor University and graduated from Texas Tech in 1969.

Beta Sigma Phi has played an important part in Mary Lou's recent life. She pledged Rho Rho in 1972. In 1974 she served as president and was elected Girl of the Year. A member of Xi Zeta for three years, Mary Lou has held the office of recording secretary and is currently vice-president.

As the busy mother of four girls, Mary Lou has little leisure time but does enjoy playing bridge and reading.

Deta Blodgett, sweetheart for Preceptor Epsilon Zeta, became an honorary member of Beta Sigma Phi in 1959, and has provided much friendship, joy and wisdom for the past 20 years to many members.

Deta is well known in our area for her beautiful china and oil painting. She came to the Panhandle as a young school teacher and taught in the Old Ochiltree School District and Blodgett School District South and East of town. She spent a large portion of her life farming, doing the work herself at the loss of her husband, and raising a son, Ralph Blodgett, who made his home in Spearman and married Johanne. They gave Deta two grandchildren, Marilyn (Mrs. Dennis Cline) and Dr. Glenn Blodgett. There are three great-grandchildren.

Deta moved to town in 1961 into a very lovely home. She has been active in many community organizations and clubs. She joined the Twentieth Century Club in 1958 and has been active in all areas of its organization. Most went to the dance but the few that stayed swam in the pool and had a really super time. I hear that J.B. got a little wet and her swim suit shrunk.

All members had a real good time and we're sure proud of all who participated. Our DECA club is really "The Top of Texas Area SJX DECA! State contest will be March 15-18 in Fort Worth. I'll follow up with who will be participating in a later date. GOOD LUCK to all who get to go!!

Presbyterian Church News

Major Mission Fund Training Session will be held at the First Presbyterian Church of Pampa on Thursday, February 8 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

There is a Sunday Church School for everyone every Sunday at 9:45 a.m. with a friendly teacher with a helpful Bible lesson.

"He Stretched Out His Hand and Touched Him" will be the subject of Pastor Edward D. Freeman's sermon at the service for the public worship of God at 11:00 a.m. on Sunday, February 11.

Pastor Ed Freeman will be the leader of the Daily Devotions program on radio station KRDF, Monday through Friday, February 12-16 at 10:30 a.m.

The First Presbyterian Church of Spearman remembers her own. Here they were named before God, and here they will be laid to rest. The significant events in the life of the congregation are recorded "before God and these witnesses," as we remind ourselves in the liturgy for marriage. Here individuals have prayed in times of personal crisis. Collectively, the congregation remembers the experiences that they shared, carefully stored away in memory. Significant people are remembered by the events they shared. Some events are dated by the pastor who loving served.

Valentine's Day

Despite popular conceptions in various sections of the country, there is no general agreement as to the origin of St. Valentine's Day as we observe it today. Perhaps the most logical explanation of how the name Valentine came to be connected with a day on which lovers send tokens to one another lies in its connection with a prevalent belief in Europe in the Middle Ages. Literature of this period, Chaucer's time, shows the popular conception was that birds began to mate on February 14th. Thereafter, English literature frequently mentions the day as a sacred one for lovers. The name itself could have come from either of three great Valentines. One was a priest in Rome, another a bishop in Terni, and there was a third, of which very little is known. The custom of observing St. Valentine's Day has grown into one of our most delightful customs. Young lovers exchange Valentines and presents and there's an air of romance about the day, especially for the young. (ems.)

"No one has ever been charged for the benefits provided by St. Jude Hospital," Kirwen said. "And that includes the extremely expensive total medical care provided to children enrolled in its research studies." "Over two-thirds of this year's 19 million dollar operating budget came from public support. Each year we rely on events like this to pay for the following year's costs." "Since Danny Thomas opened this institution in 1962, his dream of conquering the deadly diseases of childhood has continuously been brought closer to reality. Mr. Thomas is still the very active president of this organization and inspires us in this cause," Kirwen said.

Soil Conservation Ready To Help

Irrigation - George Odom & Upchurch checking infiltration on George Odom Farm

Have you ever purchased a piece of equipment which required assembly and discovered that the manufacturer failed to include the instructions? Then, after struggling for several hours to put it together you reach the decision that the job just can't be done properly without the necessary information. Well, it's the same in a farming or ranching operation. The more information you can accumulate about your operation, the more effective and efficient the operation will be. The accumulation of information is the function of a farm or ranch conservation plan. A conservation plan is used to record such information as: soil types, permeability rates, drainage patterns, slope percent, grass species, amounts of forage available and other physical features about the land. Besides recording the physical features about the land,

Besides recording the physical features of the land, the conservation plan also records the landusers decisions about such items as cropping systems, irrigation management, grazing systems, tillage operations and planned improvements. The Soil Conservation Service has assisted in the development of conservation plans on approximately 650 farms and ranches in Hansford County. The Soil Conservation Service assists the landowner in the development of a conservation plan by furnishing information that will allow him to make the necessary decisions about his operations. If you need more information about your farm or ranch contact the Soil Conservation Service in Spearman. We can provide you with the information you need to make decisions about your operation.

Federated Music Clubs History

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE TEAWY XEDERWION MQYC CLOBY
By Rubyo Wilbanks

March 21-23 of this year the Texas Federation of Music Clubs will hold their 64th Annual Convention, representing 98 Senior Clubs, 56 Student Clubs and 252 Junior Clubs, in Amarillo.

It would require many hours to give an oral report on the true history of the Texas Federation.

The events of our musical history travel back in time much farther than 1916 because the history of music in Texas is the history of Texas itself under six flags. Music has the power to reflect, portray and interpret the time in which it is created. In her book "Music in Texas" Dr. Lota Spell points out that to understand the present and to foresee the future we must know the paths of the Past.

One of the first records we have of formal music in Texas was in 1845 when the first of three pianos were brought to the town of San Antonio then population of 3,400.

Imagine if you will, the muddy streets, brooms made of weeds, flint and steel to light a fire. Although a peaceful band of Indians, the Coahuiltecan, were the first to dwell in the site of La Villita, a part of San Antonio. They lived in great fear of another tribe of Indians of a cannibalistic nature who came from the Texas coast searching for loot and know for eating human flesh. Since culture tends to develop the materialistic needs of life, the Indian who had led a hard life had not at this time achieved a high level of music. His music was primarily associated with ritual and magic.

As in all society the so called elite drew a line between the noble and peasant. In early day Texas the people of the San Fernando settlement (in San Antonio) seemed to think themselves noble and looked down on the soldiers and their families who lived across the river.

People from New Orleans and Mexico City came to San Antonio and the German settlers of Fredericksburg and New Braunfels have to this day kept their heritage. So it was with all this mixture of customs and cultures our music in Texas took shape. Just five years after Texas was admitted to the Union she furnished the birthplace of the first director of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. Frank von der Stuken was born in Fredericksburg and a descendant of a prince who was the first Commander General of the German Immigration Company to Texas.

Sidney Lanier came to San Antonio in 1872 for his health and spent many musical evenings in the homes of his German friends. He composed two numbers for wind instruments while in Texas. A typical Will Rogers of music was one Oscar Fox, whose grandfather brought the first piano to San Antonio. Oscar Fox captured the real spirit of the cowboy and has perpetuated him in song. He studied and wrote music in San Antonio before furthering his musical education in Switzerland and Italy.

So it seems that in settling of the early day Texas communities. Wherever there were settlers of German descent music remained in the forefront of things. Therefore, it's no surprise when we find opera in Texas as early as 1871.

When Galveston erected the Tremont Opera House, another small town known as Dallas was not to be outdone and a few short years later, 1875, their first opera, "Martha," was performed complete with orchestra. Another small town at this time, Austin, with a substantial German population was busy with such operation productions of the Mikado, Il Travatore and Faust.

Opera societies sprang up throughout the state in both small and large communities to sponsor light opera with local talent. A highly respected group was the Turner Society whose function was to promote singing among younger members and these performances offered a definite goal toward which to work.

The extension of railroads in Texas helped greatly for opera companies and other worthwhile musical groups of national fame to visit the larger towns as they grew by leaps and bounds.

As we are aware the National Federation of Music Clubs was formed in 1898 and in 1900 a Mrs. Robert Crosby founded a Musical Appreciation Group in Austin which developed soon into a music club. After six years as president of this club Mrs. Crosby devoted her time to the Austin Festival Association. This became an annual affair where large symphony orchestras and famous artists came to Austin from all parts of Central Texas. Then on April 27, 1915, a conference was held in Ft. Worth to decide whether there was a need for a Federation of Music Clubs in Texas.

A Music Club was already active in Ft. Worth and Dr. Carl Venth, Dean of Music at Texas Woman's College addressed the assembly on "The Advantages of Organization" followed by an informal discussion of the problems of the music clubs. (This is still a familiar topic of music clubs in the '70's, right?)

The music clubs of Texas at the time were almost all affiliated with the Federated Women's Clubs and it was the general consensus of opinion that a music federation was needed apart from the Federation of Music Organization and not harm in any way the activities of the Women's Federation.

At the annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs in November 1915, in Brownwood sixteen music clubs were represented. The first annual meeting of the music clubs was held in Waco in early May 1916. But it wasn't until the annual meeting in Houston of May 1918, that an application for a charter was drawn up by the Executive Board of the music clubs. The name of the organization was to be "The Texas Federation of Music Clubs," with its object to promote music and musical culture in the State of Texas and the formation of a body representing the musical organization in the state for mutual communication and help. There were twenty-two directors named in the new federation and thirty-one charter member clubs, one of which is the Philharmonic Club in Amarillo and is still active in our district and state federation. Galveston was also a charter club and has had an active club since 1892.

Since Texas is so large it was decided in 1921 to divide the state into seven districts. Even this created an immense travel burden on each district president. When our local club was federated we were in district seven and the travel area went as far south as Seagraves and back north to Dalhart. In 1961 the state was redistricted placing us in District I and giving the state twelve districts instead of seven.

We have many shining stars in Texas who have contributed to the musical heritage of our state.

David Guion did for the negro music what Oscar Fox did for the cowboy music. Dr. Guion was born in Ballinger and went to Vienna to study but returned to Texas. It's said he can sit in a saddle with as much ease as on a piano bench and we sometimes forget he was the composer of the lovely ballad, "Home on the Range." Julia Smith, the composer of our National Federation Invocation and a native of Denton is another of Texas shining star composers and don't forget William J. Marsh composer of our state song, "Texas Our Texas." (declared by the State Legislature in 1929.) Radie Brittan from Amarillo added her talents to these and many more illustrious composers. Other composers have found their homes in Texas having come from every state in the union. Something about the freedom in Texas, "The Freedom That Fills All Space 'Twixt the Earth and the Skies, Giver Nurture to Musical Stars."

The response of Mrs. Gentry Waldo to the welcome address of that first Texas organization for music clubs in Waco in 1916 can still be the keynote of our present day. She summed it all up when she said: "The (music) clubs have one common purpose in view: the advancement of music not so much as an art as we popularly accept the word 'ART' for with us it is the result of cultivation of music as an expression of life. Music exists whether we want it or not."

The first president of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs was Mrs. John F. Lyons of Fort Worth and the present president is Mrs. Erle Y. Quinn of Navasota, making a total of 33 state presidents since its organization.

FM Station In Perryton

Perrytonites are enjoying FM Stereo Radio music with the signing on the air this past week of KEYE FM, under the ownership of Perryton Radio Inc, Sharon Garrison Ellery, President.

The new FM 96 Station will program Middle of The Road and Easy Listening music for the time being, although various area surveys are under way to determine the final decision. Mrs. Ellery added that they would even experiment currently with Progressive Country and would at times program "Middle rock."

The trouble with life today is that there's too many people who recommend themselves too highly.

Pampered children who get everything they want develop into adults who want nothing that requires any effort.

Crude Oil Value Increases

Austin, TX.--State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday said the value of crude oil produced in Texas increased last year to an average of $8.95 per barrel, a 7.2 percent increase over the previous year.

Bullock said a study of oil production, prices and tax revenue was featured in the January issue of "Fiscal Notes," a monthly financial report published by the Comptroller's Office.

The Comptroller reported that production of crude oil during fiscal 1978 totaled 1,059.8 million barrels, compared to 1,112.2 million barrels in 1977.

This represents a decline of 4.7 percent, the largest decrease in the last five years.

An examination of quarterly price increases show that the price per barrel for crude oil jumped from $3.48 during the second quarter of fiscal 1973 to $6.77 for the same period of the following year.

Average Texas crude oil prices per barrel have steadily increased over the past five years to the current record levels.

Even though production of crude oil in Texas is on the decline, oil production tax revenues are expected to grow at a slightly faster rate during the next three fiscal years. Based on the Comptroller's December 1978 revenue estimate, receipts from oil production taxes will increase by 3.7, 4.0 and 3.1 percent respectively during fiscal years 1979, 1980 and 1981.

4-H Is Distinctly American Boy Scouts Observe 69th Anniversary

4-H is as American as baseball or apple pie! This American educational program for youth had its beginning around the turn of the century. In fact, it followed on the heels of a Corn Club organized in Jack County, Texas, in 1908 and has flourished ever since.

The nation boasts a total of some 5.5 million 4-H youth between the ages of 9 and 19. More than 137,500 of these are Texans. Youth enrolled in the 4-H program in Hansford County total 250, points out Peggy Winegarner, County Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The 4-H program continues to grow throughout the state and nation. Texas enrollment last year increased almost 25 percent.

More and more 4-H'ers are coming from urban areas. In Texas, about 27 percent of the 4-H youth now come from larger urban and suburban areas. However, well over half the Texas 4-H'er's live on farms or ranches or in a town of under 10,000 population.

Adult volunteer leaders are a valuable asset to 4-H as they give freely of their time and talents in assisting in the educational efforts of the 4-H program. There are more than a half million 4-H volunteer leaders across the country, and more than 22,500 of these are in Texas. Hansford County is proud to have the leadership of 68 volunteers who contribute much to the overall success of 4-H, says Mrs. Winegarner.

The 4-H program also receives widespread financial support from various businesses, corporations and foundations all over the nation. In this state, the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation garners support from the private sector, both individuals and businesses, to support many 4-H activities.

The 4-H program has enjoyed much success in the past, but the groundwork must be laid now to face challenges that lie ahead, emphasizes Mrs. Winegarner. Challenges are plenty as 4-H strives to assist youth along the road of life and to prepare them to be the leaders of tomorrow's America.

It will be celebration time for more than 153 Cub Scout Packs, Boy Scout Troops and Explorer Posts in this area when they observe the 69th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America from February 4 through 10.

More than 100 organizations that use the Scouting program will be honored during the 1979 Scouting Anniversary Week, Joe Chambers, Scout Executive, of the Adobe Walls Council, said.

In addition, there will be activities by the Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops, and Explorer posts for their chartered organizations, and the Adobe Walls Council will celebrate Thursday, February 8, 1979, with a rededication and Birthday party for all Board Members, Scoutmasters and Scout Commissioners, at which time all Scoutmasters and Scout Commissioners will receive a complimentary copy of the new Scout Handbook.

On Scouting's birthday, Thursday, February 8, all of the scouting units have been asked to hold a rededication ceremony when Cub Scouts recommit themselves to the Cub Scout promise, Boy Scouts to the Scout Oath, and Explorers to the Explorer Code, Mr. Chambers said.

With the theme, "Wonderful World of Scouting," the 153 units in the 15 county Adobe Walls Council will be holding many different special activities, including Cub Scout Blue and Gold Dinners, Boy Scout Parents' Nights and Courts of Honor for the presentation of advancement awards and Explorer Parents' Activities.

Other Council activities include a Kiowa District Scout Skills Show, Saturday, March 3, 1 p.m. to 7 p.m., to be held at the Pampa Optimist Boys Club.

An Adobe District Scout Exposition to be held Saturday, March 10, at the Dome in Borger, and a Pioneer District Exposition in Guymon with the date to be announced later on.

A Texas-Oklahoma Scouting Report to State will take place February 10, 1979.

The Boy Scouts of America began in February 1910 and was chartered by Congress in June 1916. There are now over 3600 youth members in the Adobe Walls Council.

WHO OWNS THE GOLD?

CHARLESTON, S.C. -- Nearly a million dollars in gold bullion sits in storage in Charleston three years after it was discovered Dec. 16, 1975, while seats were being removed from the cargo hold of an Overseas National Airways plane. No one claimed ownership of the gold until April 1976 when United Bank of Switzerland and the Swiss Bank Corp. filed claims with the Customs Service.

MORE ON BACON

WASHINGTON -- The Agriculture Department says that preliminary tests at 96 U.S. meat plants found nearly one in five producing bacon containing excessive nitrosamines, substances that have caused cancer in laboratory animals.

Gasohol: What Are the Facts?

AUSTIN--One of the products recently in the spotlight as an alternate energy source is "gasohol," a blend of unleaded gasoline and alcohol which can be produced from agricultural crops and by-products, advises Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

Here are some of the answers to questions often asked about gasohol, compiled by the Texas Department of Agriculture:

1. What is gasohol?
Gasohol is a type of fuel utilizing a blend of unleaded gasoline and ethyl alcohol—generally 10 per cent alcohol.
2. Can any automobile use gasohol?
Yes. In fact, cars with carburetor adjustments can be operated with 100 per cent alcohol. Researchers at Texas A & M University report that three test cars driven for three years with 100 per cent methal alcohol have shown no adverse effects. Economically, however, the 90 per cent gasoline, 10 per cent alcohol mix is the most feasible at present.
3. In those areas where gasohol is commercially available, does it cost more?
Yes. Present technology can produce one gallon of pure fuel ethyl alcohol for between 80 cents to $1.25 per gallon. The blended gasohol would cost around four to eight cents per gallon more than unleaded gasoline after tax exemptions, but there are definite advantages—improved mileage, less engine wear, and higher octane, therefore no ping.
4. How is this "fuel alcohol" produced?
Scientists can distill alcohol from any agricultural material which contains sugar or starch—corn, grain sorghum, below-grade fruits and vegetables, citrus peels, sugar cane, sweet sorghum, wood wastes, and on and on.
5. Isn't there a lot of waste, using corn for instance, just for alcohol production?
No. Residues produced make excellent livestock feed, since the protein in the corn is not destroyed or used in the distillation process. In fact, some operations could be almost "perpetual motion"

Windbreak Trees Available

Windbreak - Charles Brillhart home

A great deal of soil moisture is lost during wind storms. Windbreaks are designed to reduce the wind velocity and conserve soil moisture which is so important to farming in this area. This extra moisture at planting time can play a major part in getting that good stand that farmers hope for every year. Then, after the crop is up, the dense stand of trees will protect the plants from strong winds that could destroy crops in their early stages.

Farmstead headquarters is another area where windbreaks play an important role. The trees effectively block the wind to provide excellent working conditions within the perimeter of the windbreak on even the windiest days. It is estimated that a well-planned, established windbreak can also have up to 30 percent in heating and cooling costs. Two or three rows of trees not only protect the farmstead from high winds but also improve the beauty, privacy and overall quality of life within their boundaries.

One last benefit derived from windbreaks is their importance in providing good wildlife habitat. Strips of trees can provide year round cover for upland game bird species such as dove, quail and pheasant.

A windbreak consisting of two rows of evergreens such as Arizona Cypress, Eastern Red Cedar, Rocky Mountain Juniper, Ponderosa Pine or Colorado Blue Spruce can provide adequate protection. The beauty and effectiveness of the windbreak can be greatly enhanced by the addition of one or two rows of hardwood such as Green Ash, Russian Olive, Osage Orange and Plum.

The cost of establishing a windbreak is surprisingly small. Potted conifer seedlings cost 50 cents to one dollar each. Bare root hardwoods sell for about half that price. The trees grow rapidly and will begin offering protection in as little as five years.

Anyone interested in establishing windbreaks on their farm should contact the Soil Conservation Service office here in Spearman. We are taking orders for windbreak trees now.

Hardest!

"My hardest job always comes before breakfast."
"What's that?"
"Getting up."

Hope So

A small boy, visiting New York for the first time, went in an elevator to the top of a skyscraper. As he shot past the 62nd floor at breathtaking speed, he gulped, turned to his father, and asked "Daddy, does God know we're coming?"

A Steady Job

Beggar (at the door)—Please help a blind man.
Householder—Aren't you the same man who begged a dime off me yesterday?
Beggar—Impossible, sir! I've been born blind for the last seven years.

Obvious Conclusions

The city editor was lecturing the dub reporter again.
"You use too many words, Wadsworth," he said. "You say here that he was poor but honest. Why not just say he was honest?"
"Again, you say that he was without money or friends. You're wasting space. Simply say that he was without money."

The Right Doctor

He was dug out of the wreck of his automobile and carried to the nearest doctor's office.
"I can't do anything for this man," said the doctor. "I'm a veterinary surgeon."
"You're the right man, doc," said the amateur motorist. "I was a jackass to think I could run that machine."
