Bank Teller Says Part Of Ransom Intercepted In Twin Cities

OKLAHOMA, (AP)—Testimony relating to disposition of part of $200,000 with which Charles Urschel was named was admitted over objections counsel for seven Minneapolis and St. Paul defendants in the federal court kidnaping conspiracy trial Friday.

Ralph Hager, teller in the Hennepin State Bank of Minneapolis, told of interception of part of the ransom at his bank.

His testimony brought the Minneapolis and St. Paul defendants into the trial by name for the first time. The government sought to pin the conspiracy angle on these defendants. It was the last direct government offensive in the trial, which brings the first actual test of the new "Lindbergh" law.

5 Stage Chicago Hold-Up

Chicago Loop Scene Of Fast Robbery Fight

Policeman Killed In Fight After Bandits' Car Crashes

CHICAGO (AP)—Five gunmen staged a daring hold-up of four Federal Reserve bank employees in Chicago's loop Friday, and five minutes later shot and killed Policeman Miles Cunningham after their automobile collided with another a mile from the scene of the robbery.

The robbery, carefully planned and swiftly executed will probably not net much loot an official of the Federal Reserve Bank said.

W. C. Bachman, deputy governor of the bank said he believed the two bags contained only cashed checks. The employees were on the way from the postoffice to the bank when the gunmen appeared.

President Harriman of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has said publicly that NRA forbids closed shops. There are plenty of smart fellows who disagree with him. President Green of the American Federation of Labor referred to Harriman's statement when he declared that if the recovery act could get "half the support from employers that it has had from labor we would have double the number of newly employed."

All of which makes us glad the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce is not affiliated with the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The U. S. Chamber repeatedly has embarrassed and injured local chambers of commerce through public utterances of its officials. If it expects local chambers to remain affiliated with it the policy of the officials ought to be revised to respect the views of local chambers, as well as conditions under which the local organizations work.

No doubt Mr. Green is correct when he says that labor has given much more support to NRA than have the employers. One might answer that labor naturally would thus react because NRA calls for higher wages and shorter hours. We answer that if employers everywhere, in every case where it is humanly possible for them to meet increased payrolls, would actually abide by NRA and in no case dodge, cheat or openly violate its principles a few weeks would find many an employer who now feels

Boy Scout Board Of Area To Meet

Area Executive A. C. Williamson of the Buffalo Trail Council announced here Friday there will be an executive board meeting of council officials here Tuesday in the Settles hotel beginning at 6:30 p. m.

The meeting is being called at an early hour to allow out of town attendants to return home before the early hours of the morning. It will not be restricted entirely to council officials, other scouts being invited to participate.

Work of various committees will be discussed and plans for another year of operation will be formulated. It is understood from an unofficial report that Sweetwater has contributed more toward the upkeep of the council than all other towns combined.

Williamson said that he was making a special effort to have representation from every section of the council present at Tuesday's meeting.

He said he had received word from the First Christian Church that it was withdrawing as sponsor of Troop No. 2. Another local organization has indicated it would undertake to sponsor the troop.

Allred Opposes Repeal Of State Anti-Trust Laws In Senate Talk

Attorney General Expressed Desire To Cooperate With President's Reconstruction Program

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS: The National Whirligig

WASHINGTON By George Durno

De-Frosting

A faint whisper has just emanated from the New Deal laboratories that Dr. Roosevelt and his colleagues are working on a sensational new experiment designed to jolt us perceptibly along the road of recovery.

The idea is to liquidate all the closed banks and release about five billion dollars in frozen deposits. If they can work out the proper formula and apply it about a month from now a much-needed stimulant would be given business just at a time when approaching winter will be making things plenty tough.

The understanding is that the ambitious venture would be undertaken through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Details are valueless because the plan is still in the test-tube stage. The technicians want the remedy to be fool-proof before releasing it.

Approximately eight billion dollars of private money is owed up in under terms of the NIRA, the anti-trust laws of the United States and just as they were written.

"I have heard that NRA codes may be administered without conflicting with the anti-trust laws of Texas. It is my opinion they cannot."

He pointed out that under present state laws, damages are recoverable for certain code trade agreements and combinations not only by the state, but by business competitors as well.

Allred reviewed the three pending bills to revise anti-trust laws to enable this state's NRA participation. He pointed out that the bill submitted by the Ferguson administration suspends anti-trust litigation and penalties for the duration of the act.

"This presents a serious question. It is my judgment it will result in complete repeal of anti-trust laws. We couldn't even prosecute anybody for cheating," Allred said.

He objected to the wording in a section of the Woodward-Bradley bill. It would make code compliance a defense to any charge that "trade practices or agreements" "is or was" in violation of anti-trust laws.

Allred said that under the "is or was" phrase, most of the defendants in a pending $17,850,000 anti-trust oil suit "could walk out."

He also recommended the Vaughan bill be rewritten.

The problem of bringing Texas intrastate business under the same codes of fair practices as the federal government now prescribes for interstate business, Allred termed the "biggest problem that has ever come before this legislature."

Murray Hughes, chairman of the state recovery board, declined an invitation to address the senate on anti-trust law revision.

A message signed by Myron G. Jack, and Richard W. Blalock, Marshall, protested repeal or suspension of the anti-trust laws. They declared it was not necessary for NRA compliance.

Membership Reports To Be Called For At C O J C Board Meeting

All members of the board are urged to attend the meeting at breakfast. Several important matters will come before the meeting.

Cuba

One of the two gentlemen who were dispatched posthaste to Havana to give President de Cespedes the benefit of their financial and economic knowledge is back and has reported to the State Department.

He is John G. Laylin, special assistant to the Undersecretary of Treasury. About the time he arrived in Cuba the de Cespedes regime was booted out of office and Grau San Martin installed.

Sugar

The other advisor remained in Cuba. He is Prof. A. A. Berio, the Brain Trustee, who had been trying to iron out a disagreement over the sugar marketing agreement at the time he and Laylin were dispatched on their mission.

There is strong opinion here that Berio was left in Havana deliberately. It will be remembered the sugar people demanded he be made ineligible to preside over their marketing agreement hearings because of his connection with the American Molasses company.

He is expected back shortly now that the troublesome problem of the marketing agreement has been ironed out. The next move for him will be worth watching.

229 Take Part In Fourth Evening Activities At First Baptist

The First Baptist church B.T.S. revival went through its fourth evening Thursday with another gain in enrollment. The figure was 229 as against 204 for the previous night.

Original attendance goal was 150. All classes combined have fallen short on their drive to obtain promises from 1,000 persons to read at least ten verses of the Bible daily for one week. Only 584 had been enlisted Thursday evening.

The training service revival will end Friday evening. Those taking the tests successfully will be in line to receive a diploma for their work.

T. C. Gardner, state secretary of the B.T.S., has been in charge of the revival this week and has conducted a school on "Modern B.T.P. U. (B.T.S.) Methods."

Reduction In 1934 Acreage Part Of Plan

Wallace, Peek And Bankhead Summoned For Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration plan to advance ten cents per pound on this year's cotton crop to farmers who will conform to next year's acreage reduction program, was predicted Friday by Senator Bankhead of Alabama after a call at the White House.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt Friday summoned Secretary Wallace, George Peek, administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Act and Senator Bankhead of Alabama to consider a cotton purchase plan submitted by a conference of southern representatives.

The cotton states proposed that the government purchase half this year's crop held by producers—about five million bales—at 15 cents per pound, with the understanding for every bale the government purchased producers will cut next year's crop that much.

There was reason to believe the president favors a price nearer 12 cents for government purchases.

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt Thursday night ordered the purchase of surplus food stuffs and staples by the government to be turned over for relief work.

The program called for federal purchase of surplus beef, dairy and poultry products, cotton and cotton seed, among other things.

A rough estimate places the amount of purchases at about $75,000,000.

The government will buy at market price.

Two Fold Object

Personally announcing this gigantic proposal to furnish the surplus to needy persons, Mr. Roosevelt emphasized its twofold object:

First, to improve relief particularly in those areas where he considers present relief to be totally inadequate to aid in reducing surplus and thereby stabilize markets.

The cotton to be bought will be manufactured into cloth.

The undertaking will be directed by the administrators of federal relief and of the agriculture adjustment act.

The funds will come from the department of agriculture and from the federal relief administration.

Plans Outlined

A statement by Stephen T. Early, one of the president's secretaries, outlined the plan as follows:

"The president today announced a program to help correct one of the most flagrant maladjustments of American economic well-being. Through his action much of the overabundance of important foodstuffs and staples will be placed in the hands of the destitute unemployed who are living on the short skirts of public unemployment relief."

"Following conferences with Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, George N. Peek, agricultural adjustment administrator, and Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, the president announced that the agricultural adjustment administration is preparing to make further purchases of surpluses for distribution by the federal emergency relief administration to unemployed in various states."

"The announcement followed the recent allocation by Mr. Hopkins of 100,000,000 pounds of cured pork which had been processed recently from million of hogs purchased from surpluses by the agricultural adjustment administration. The meat will go to various state relief administrations for distribution to unemployed on their relief rolls."

"Additional products under consideration for similar handling include, among others, beef, dairy and poultry products, and products of cotton and cotton seed."

"There are approximately 1,500,000 families now on relief rolls throughout the country. It is known that even with recent improvements in relief administration resulting in higher standards of relief, the amount of food and clothing given the destitute are still inadequate."

"On the other hand, in large part, because these million of potential consumers are not able to purchase a normal amount of commodities, huge surpluses of commodities are being produced."

Scrimmage Between Steers And Lamesa Ends Scoreless

Ole Cordell Bears Brunt Of Work In Backfield; Schedule Opens Next Week With Lubbock In Night Game

For the second straight year the Big Spring Steers wound up in a 0 to 0 battle with the Lamesa Golden Sandstorm club at Lamesa. Bristow took the Steers to Lamesa for a practice game Friday to get a good line on his coming stars. No publicity was given the game after officials of both clubs requested that it not be any.

reach a battle stride until well in the last half. Most of the downs were made on passes which indicated the young hopefuls were rapidly improving in their work. The line stood up much better than expected with Sam Flowers and Good Graves bearing the brunt of the line duty. Ole Cordell, the big hope in the backfield, made a number of good punts and carried the ball on the longest single dash, twenty-five yards. Ole is the happy youngster that galloped the 70-odd yards down the field at Amarillo last year for the Bovines lone counter.

Sharkey Appears Through After Licking Administered By Levinsky

Fish Peddler Floors Ex-Champion In First Round And Has Him Reeling Repeatedly

By CHARLES WILLIS DUNKLEY Associated Press Sports Writer COMISKY PARK, CHICAGO.—King Levinsky, Chicago's ex-fish peddler, Monday night scuttled Jack Sharkey, perhaps forever, as a heavyweight threat. Levinsky, to the acclaim of 20,317 spectators, was awarded a unanimous decision over the former world's heavyweight champion in their blistering ten-round battle fought in Comisky Park, home of the Chicago White Sox. The verdict of the two judges and referee "Little Phil" Collins gave Levinsky a wide margin. The Boston star was credited with winning only one round.

storb. A heavy right hand blast to the jaw had him teetering on his toes but ring experience and generalship enabled the ex-sailor to dance around until he got his bearings. Sharkey, regarded as a master heavyweight boxer and figured in the betting to outpoint Levinsky, set out instead to outlug the roun and tough youngster from Chicago's Ghetto and this brought his downfall. Levinsky piled into him with a charge of dynamite lurking in right hand swings in some spots of the battle the lumbering Levinsky put on speed and actually out-boxed the former champion.

Sharkey, opening a campaign which he hoped would culminate in his regaining the heavyweight championship he lost to Primo Carnera three months ago, came dangerously near being knocked out in the first two rounds. Levinsky after rocking Sharkey with the first right hand punch he landed, followed up his advantage with an other right hand blast that knocked the flat on his back. Sharkey got up at the count of seven but was wildered and dazed but managed to last out the round. Levinsky, with a little more alertness, might have finished him but when Sharkey was swaying Levinsky failed to charge in.

When it appeared Sharkey was on his way to score effectively, Levinsky would tag him with one, sometimes several, shots to the head and Sharkey needed all his defensive skill to ward off a knock-out. At the finish of the third round Sharkey was so dazed from hammering he received that he walked to a neutral corner instead of his own, looking for a place to sit down. Sharkey received a guarantee of $25,000. The battle drew gross receipts of $52,996.40. Levinsky probably will receive $8,000.

Master Code For Retailers Next Big Job Before Johnson; Prices Present Principal Complication

Deputy Administrator Favors Stopping Sales Below Invoice Cost Plus Percentage; Consumers Advisory Board Opposes Such A Basis

By H. O. THOMPSON United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—Proposed regulation of prices in the nation's 1,500,000 retail stores commanded attention of recovery officials as the soft coal code was signed by President Roosevelt. The master code for retail trades has been awaiting action by Administrator Hugh S. Johnson for several days. With the coal compact completed, Johnson and his aides expected to swing into a thorough study of the retail proposals.

ent provision forbidding stores to sell goods at less than invoice prices plus a certain percentage. The percentages vary from 7 to 10 for various types of stores. Deputy Administrator A. D. Whiteside has recommended that Johnson approve the price control provision, but the Consumers' Advisory Board opposes it. Whiteside contends price control is necessary to stop ruthless competition, especially against small merchants. He is desirous of stopping the practice of some stores of selling a few items at cost or less in order to draw crowds.

District Football Bosses To Meet In San Angelo For First Rag-Chewing Of Year

Chairman McLain Of Sweetwater Calls Body Together; No Special Cases Of Eligibility To Come Up, According To Present Beliefs

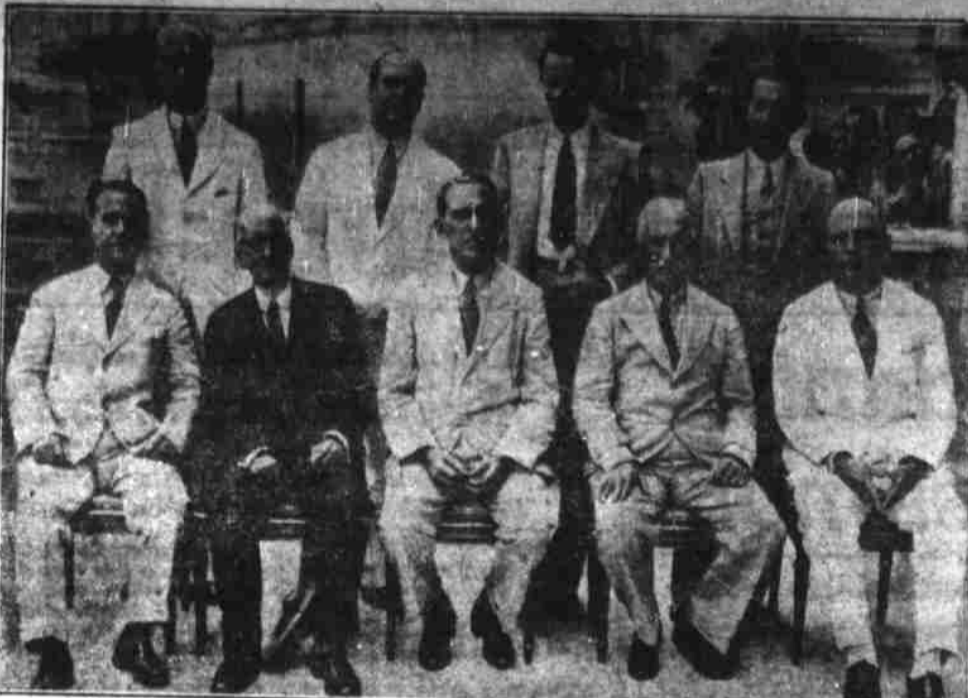

The big moguls of District 3 football will gather round the conference table for the first time in the new season at a meeting called for San Angelo on Saturday, September 23, it was announced this week by H. H. McLain, district committee chairman.

son's games and prices to be paid for officiating. There are no particular changes in eligibility rulings to discuss. A minor change is the modification of the first year rule which permits a boy to play football if he lives fifteen miles from school but goes to school in that town.

Nothing of particular importance is to come up at the session. Mr. McLain said, unless eligibility arguments make an unexpected appearance as they have been known to do in the past. At the present, it appears that the committee will have smooth sailing on all matters. The session was called for San Angelo by Chairman McLain on the day that the Bobcats met Brownwood, in the first game of the year. To Study Eligibility School superintendents of San Angelo, Colorado, Big Spring, McCaney and Sweetwater, members of the committee, will look over each other's list of players with an eye for eligibility, at this meeting. They already have a line-up on the lists because they exchanged cards with each other last spring showing the grades and records of their respective football players.

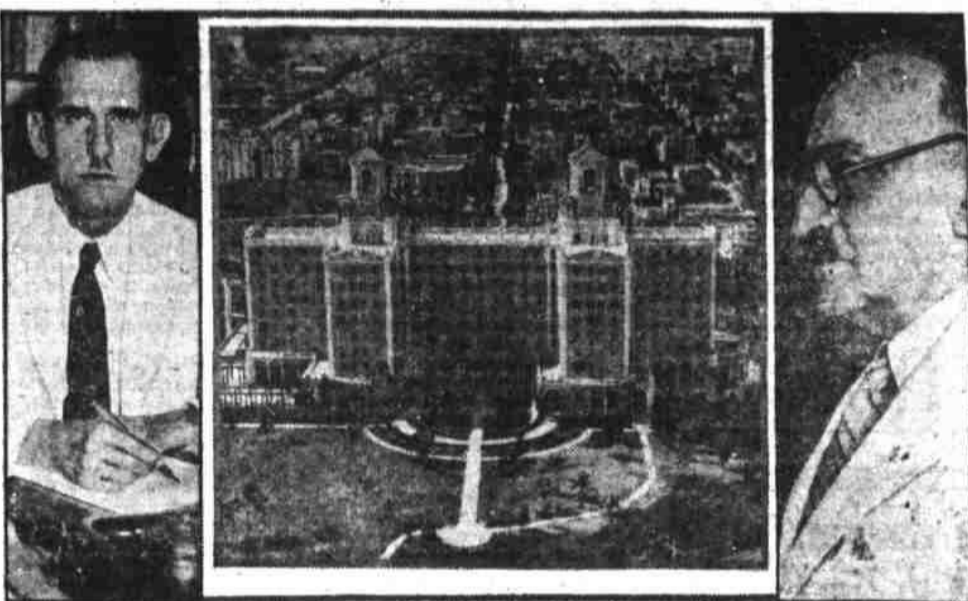

Prospects are that the district committee will have much less to worry about this fall than they did a year ago when the season started off with the explosion of the now-famous "Rooster" case in which an eligibility ruling on Red Sheridan and other Mustangs was for a while in doubt.

Children Who Will Be Six By January May Be Entered In City Schools

Geary, Okla. Bank Robbed Of $1200 By Three Men

Children whose sixth birthday will occur by January 1, 1934 will be taken in the first grade in the local schools provided tuition of $3 per month is paid for them thru the entire season, Supt. W. C. Blankenship announced Friday in answer to numerous inquiries as to whether kiddies under the legal school age would be received.

GEARY, OKLA. (UP)—Three men held up the First National bank of Geary soon after it opened Friday and escaped with approximately $1,200.

Mrs. W. T. Hiltson of the Lettes Hotel has as her guest, Mrs. Leo McCarrall of San Angelo. Bud Hall, townwide star gridiron in 1932, was a visitor in Big Spring Saturday.

Aky was practically reared on the Meadowbrook course in Fort Worth. Beginning as a caddy he became saddy captain and then began building golf courses. He is a fine golfer in his own right. The grass on the greens is thick and smooth. Aky said Saturday morning the putting surface would be good Sunday afternoon and that a week or ten days of play on the greens would materially improve them.

The Municipal Golf course is a testimonial to the public spiritedness of a group of young business and professional men who organized the Junior Chamber of Commerce here two years ago. The leaders, under direction of Dr. W. S. Hardy, with cooperation of city officials, have worked for almost two years to get the course in its present splendid condition, and surprisingly low cost. The young men who helped provide the course believe it eventually will pay for upkeep of the entire city park.

The chief address at the Girl Scout Hut program will be Miss Abbie Nell Rhoton, who has finished training as a scout leader in New York City and has directed Girl Scout organizations and camps in various parts of the East. The program will be held inside the Hut which will be open to visitors. All members of Girl Scouts and past members are asked to present and also all parents who are interested in Girl Scouting. The program will be as follows: "Hello Song" by Girl Scouts. Dedication speech—Mayor J. B. Pickett. Acceptance speech—Mrs. Koberg. Talk, "Girl Scout Ideals and What Scouting Can Actually Do for Girls" by Miss Abbie Nell Rhoton. Reading of Scout Poem—Betty Jean Fisher. Pledge to the Flag—Girl Scouts. Tapes.

Dedictory Exercises At Five; City Park In Most Brilliant State

Big Spring this afternoon will open two additions to the facilities for recreation in the City Park property and city officials issued an invitation to the public to participate. The Municipal golf course, with improved grass greens, a sporty lay-out, and many other features that are expected to make it one of the most popular courses in West Texas will be opened with an exhibition foursome beginning at 2:30 p. m. Obie Bristow and Shirley Robbins, the latter this year's champion of the Big Spring Country Club invitation tournament, will oppose E. C. Nix of Colorado and Frank Rose of Lamesa, two of the finest golfers in West Texas. The Texas Electric Service company and the Crawford Hotel will present prizes to the two winning golfers. At 5 o'clock this evening the Girl Scout Hut in the City Park will be formally dedicated and the large crowd expected to follow the golfers is also expected to attend the dedicatory program. Mrs. Charles Koberg, chairman of the local executive committee in charge of the Girl Scout activities, last night announced the program. The Girl Scout Hut is in the old waterworks building, next to the golf course, which until recently was used as a storehouse by the city. The change wrought in it at small expense will surprise the visitors. The girls will have one of the best arranged club houses of any group of girl's troops in the southwest. Woodwork has been stained in walnut, there is a stairway leading to a balcony, and there are rooms for lockers and other conveniences. The building also houses the club house for the golf course and headquarters of the caretaker, Charles Aky, formerly of Fort Worth.

Robbins And Bristow Take Low Ball Foursome From Nix And Rose 1 Up In 21 Holes To Open Muni Golf Links

Obie Bristow, renowned on the golf links for his terrific hooks, into his own as a putter Sunday to save himself and his partner Shirley Robbins from defeat, and then to win the match over Frank Rose, Lamesa and E. L. Nix, Colorado, on the third extra hole of their low ball foursome match opening the Municipal course. Robbins' steady play in the fairways had saved the local pair in the early stages. A splendid gallery that followed the quartet over the first nine holes of their scheduled eighteen hole play dwindled on the second nine and consequently missed one of the most interesting matches ever played here. When the match went to three extra holes the gallery suddenly swelled again until Bristow's long putt stopped barely six inches from the pin on No. 3 for a par four and the match. Playing the new Municipal course for the first time, the foursome encountered no little trouble but an even eighty for Robbins and Rose and eighty-two for Bristow and Nix kept the match from dragging. The course, featured by adroitly placed bunkers and traps, was in good condition and the grass greens putted well. After opening remarks by Wendell Bedichek, president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce who was introduced to the gallery by City Manager E. V. Spence, Harry Lees, who officiated, instructed the gallery. Frank Rose stepped to the tee and slipped his ball straight down the fairway in a beautiful drive. Nix followed with another, but Bristow's mighty drive hooked into the rough. Robbins got off a beautiful drive. Bristow furnished the feature for the hole in a beautiful recovery shot that landed him square on the green. Rose, Bristow and Robbins were in for par four and a half. Robbins and Bristow both got par fours on the second hole to go one up and halved the next hole when Robbins sank a short putt for a five.

from every angle, then calmly stroked his ball to a dull plank in the cup. For the second extra hole, Obie again came to the rescue with a par four after Robbins had rolled into the trap and his first hole shot arched his ball just below the top of a bunker and it rolled back. One after the other, they got off long drives on No. 3, but Robbins and Rose were in the rough. Nix snuffed his second shot into the shrubs and Rose's took a poor roll while Robbins bounced his against a cedar. Bristow was barely on in two, after each of the other three had taken four to get near the pin. Bristow waved his magic putter again and lined his ball within six inches of the cup. The winners were awarded prizes by Texas Electric Service and Crawford Hotel. The gallery trailing the players expressed pleasure with the new course and especially praised holes No. 8 and No. 9. All greens were in good condition and need only a bit of playing to make them better. Fairways though a bit rough, are much improved. Although not as long as many courses, the Municipal links is laid out in such a manner as to present difficult hazards. Many played the course Sunday before and after the foursome. Par (out) 444 534 434-35 Rose 455 535 445-30 Nix 555 535 435-40 Bristow 445 545 545-42 Robbins 445 545 544-41

Third Hole Bristow came back on the next hole with a five and a half when Robbins had trouble in getting in with six. Like Bristow, Rose and Nix were easily in for par fives. The visitors then started a grueling series of shots that parred hole No. 5 and squared the match, then Nix took a par four on No. 6 to go one up. On the next hole Rose made it two up with a par four and Nix ran the lead to three up on No. 8 when he sank a beautiful putt for a par three. With matters looking bad, Robbins took a par four on No. 9 to whittle the visitor's lead to two at the turn. Robbins' steady play which carried him to the championship of the recent country club invitational tournament again flourished for a birdie three on No. 1 on the second round. Bristow was in with a par four on the next hole to square the match. The next hole was halved when both Rose and Robbins took par fours. On No. 4 Rose, Nix and Robbins parred with a five and a half, but Bristow was wild and took a six. One Up With good drive and well played approaches, Bristow and Robbins were on No. 5 green in two and two putted to go one up on the visitors. All went one over par on the next hole with listless fives, then wild on the next hole to go one and two over par. Bristow and Nix, however, halved the hole with fives. Robbins lost a chance on No. 8 to sew the match up when his short put rrimmed the cup and perched itself perilously on the edge. Rose took advantage of the break and slanted his way in with a par four that knotted the match. Robbins, whose play had staid the match throughout, lost his points and was continuously in trouble thereafter. Rose and Nix were both on in two and Bristow was ten feet from the pin with a three. Both the visitors shoved their balls up to eighteen inches of the cup and left a stiff proposition staring Bristow in the face. Obie Heals Out Amid a hole's silence, the high school football coach sized the putt

Four Young Women In Houston Busy Reading 28,033 NRA Questionnaires Collected In Sales Army Campaign

Houston, (UP)—Four pretty young women, calm as the Fates casting their shuttle of destiny, sit in an office here reviewing pages of a story of might proportions. It compares with the novels of Hugo, Gorky and Tolstol. Grim, courageous, noble, faint, and hopeless with occasional facets of humor, it offers the broad sweep, the wide play of emotions, the quality of universal appeal found only in works of the masters. Unlike these works, however, it will never be given the public. Its pages are the 28,033 questionnaires answered by the unannoyed of Houston during the NRA volunteer sales army drive in August. Thus far the young women compiling statistics have read only about 4,000 pages of the voluminous manuscript, but the story is majestic in outline. Five ministers, two dentists, two lawyers and a circus clown reported they were out of employment. A man of 85 and a youth of 15 filed their petitions for work. Both said they were able-bodied and willing. "Hunting for work," replied a young ex-shipping clerk. "A woman of 50 wrote, 'married but deserted without funds.' A man answered the question as to his previous occupation by writing: 'Pipe liner at the rate of a lousy 25 cents an hour.' As to his marital status he added: 'Single and glad of it.' A 27-year-old college graduate wrote he was an accountant and once held a responsible post. 'Since February I have been at the social service bureau, working free for groceries,' he added. Another blank was filled out entirely in Spanish, while another bore a street address and "Can't speak English." A professional baseball player asked work because his wife and two children were needy. A man of 54 carefully filled out the entire blank, stating he was formerly employed in a lumber yard, and then added, as an after-thought: 'I am totally deaf, crippled and without income.' 'If you are employed part time 'What are you doing?' is one of the questions on the blank. 'Hunting for work,' replied a young ex-shipping clerk. To the question, 'married or sin-

Retail Code Provisions Designed To Quell Extreme Price-Cutters

WASHINGTON (UP)—A revised code of fair practice for the retail trade, providing price protection and stop loss provisions, was made public by NRA officials. Officials who prepared the code, which will be discussed further before being presented finally to President Roosevelt for his approval, said the document could not be considered a price-fixing measure. It controls prices, however, to the extent of checking predatory price cutting.

The code in its new form prohibits the selling of any merchandise, with certain exceptions, below a minimum price which is described as "The wholesale delivered price x x x with the addition of a charge of 10 per cent."

"Wholesale delivered price" was defined as "the lowest gross billing price, as of any date within 30 days prior to the date of resale, made to any retailer in the given market area less only such discounts as are extended to all retailers and plus delivery costs paid by the retailer."

Drugs Separate

A separate code for the retail drug trade was made public at the same time. It is similar to the retail code but was put in a separate document at the request of the drug trade.

The provisions of the retail code would apply to department stores, furniture stores, general stores, hardware, limited price variety, mail order houses, men's clothing and furnishing, music, shoe and women's specialty shops.

The effective date of the code would be the second Monday after its approval by the president. The proposed code would prohibit employment of children under the age of 18 except that children of 14 and 15 could be employed three hours a day for six days a week or for one day of not more than 8 hours per week.

The code would prohibit transactions in prison made goods except that present contracts would not be disturbed. The code carried a provision for relief for retailers who would be subjected to undue hardship by strict application of the code and provided for modification where necessary to avoid pinching individual store owners.

When the code becomes effective retail stores shall elect to operate upon one of the following schedules of store hours and hours of labor:

Provisions

Group A. Any establishment may elect to remain open for business less than 56 hours but not less than 52 hours per week, unless its store hours were less than 52 hours prior to June 1, 1933, in which case such establishment shall not reduce store hours; no employee shall work more than 48 hours per week, nor more than six days per week.

Group B. Any establishment may elect to remain open for business 56 hours or more per week but less than 63 hours per week; no employee of such establishment shall work more than 44 hours per week, nor more than nine hours per day, nor more than six days per week.

Group C. Any establishment may elect to remain open for business 63 hours or more per week; no employee of such establishment shall work more than 48 hours per week, nor more than 10 hours per day, nor more than six days per week.

No employee shall work for two or more establishments a greater number of hours, in the aggregate, than he would be permitted to work for that one of such establishments which operates upon the lowest schedule of working hours.

"No employee not included in the foregoing paragraphs, and not specifically excepted hereinafter, shall work more than 40 hours per week, nor more than eight hours per day, nor more than six days per week."

The proposed code contains the following basic schedules of wages: "On and after the effective date of this code, the minimum weekly rates of wages which shall be paid for a work week as specified in article V shall be as follows: "(a) Within cities of over 500,000 population, no employee shall be paid less than at the rate of $14.00 per week for a 40-hour work week, or less than at the rate of $15.00 per week for a 44-hour work week, or less than at the rate of $16.00 per week for a 48-hour work week.

"(b) Within cities of from 100,000 to 500,000 population, no employee shall be paid less than at the rate of $13.00 per week for a 40-hour work week, or less than at the rate of $13.50 per week for a 44-hour work week, or less than at the rate of $14.00 per week for a 48-hour work week.

"(c) Within cities of from 25,000 to 100,000 population, no employee shall be paid less than at the rate of $12.00 per week for a 40-hour work week, or less than at the rate of $12.50 per week for a 44-hour work week, or less than at the rate of $13.00 per week for a 48-hour work week.

"(d) Within cities, towns, villages from 2,500 to 25,000 population, the wages of all classes of employees shall be increased from the rates existing on June 1, 1933, by not less than 20 per cent, provided that this shall not require an increase in wages to more than the rate of $11.50 per week and provided further that no employee shall be paid less than at the rate of $10.00 per week.

"(e) Within towns, villages, and other places with less than 2,500 population, the wages of all classes of employees shall be increased from the rates existing on June 1, 1933, by not less than 20 per cent, provided that this shall not require an increase in wages to more than the rate of $10.00 per week.

"The minimum wages of professional persons, outside salesmen, outside collectors, watchmen, and store detectives shall be upon the basis of a 48-hour employe work week. The minimum wages of maintenance and outside service employes shall be upon the basis of the basic employe work week upon which the establishment by which they are employed has elected to operate.

"In the south all minimum wages specified in the foregoing sections may be at the rate of $1.00 less per week."

The section relating to advertising said:

Senate Private Bank Probe Leaders Hurt In Motor Accidents

WASHINGTON (UP)—The superstitious might well force a dismal end to the senate's inquiry into private banking firms, due to retire Oct. 3.

The two chief figures in the inquiry, Ferdinand Pecora, counsel and Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, chairman of the senate banking and currency committee, have recently been injured in automobile accidents.

A few days ago it was whispered around the department of agriculture that Charles J. Brand was about to retire as co-administrator of the agricultural adjustment administration.

The retirement it was said would be because of complaints that he was functioning as secretary-treasurer of the National Fertilizer Association while holding his government post. But agricultural officials wanted to hush up any mention of the retirement. They whispered that Brand simply wouldn't quit under fire. The United Press reported the impending retirement, anyway. Thirty-six hours afterwards Brand's retirement was announced.

Food products are glutting markets and making their production unprofitable to farmers.

"By using funds of the agricultural adjustment administration, supplemented by those of the federal emergency relief administration, and the nationwide network of state and local relief administrations for distribution, a real effort to bridge the gap between supplies and consumption will be made. In this way two major objectives of the recovery program will be promoted—feeding and clothing the unemployed more adequately and hastening the agricultural recovery."

"It was emphasized that commodities given unemployed will be in addition to amounts they are now receiving, wherever they are now inadequate, for the purpose of giving them reasonable standings of sustenance. They will add to and not replace items of relief already provided."

"In removing the surpluses from the market, carefully applied safeguards are being placed against disturbance of the regular channels of production, processing, and distribution."

"The president said he considered the program arranged between the agricultural adjustment administration and the federal emergency relief administration one of the most direct blows at the economic paradox which had choked farms with an abundance of farm products while many of the unemployed have gone hungry. He has directed departments concerned to expedite in every possible way their combined attack on the food-surplus and hunger problems."

"While this joint effort is being made to increase domestic consumption of surplus farm products, the agricultural adjustment administration will intensify its program of preventing accumulation of farm surpluses so great that they cannot be consumed, but result only in ruinous prices to farmers, destroying purchasing power and ag-

Plenty Of Cotton Pickers Available Here Says McNew

In his effort to aid every man who possibly can to find a job, Homer McNew, county relief administrator, has asked that all those who wish to hire cotton pickers call on him at his office at First and Main streets, in the old express company building.

Mr. McNew said he would be able to furnish cotton pickers for a large number of farmers and he is anxious to place families with farmers in order to help them to earn their own way.

he can not meet higher payrolls not only higher but making more profit than he is making today.

Heard a banker say the other day that if inflation does not come soon NRA will mean absolutely nothing in the long run. His view was that currency inflation is an essential part of the president's effort at re-employment.

Since most bankers are opposed to further inflation this individual's expression is noteworthy. It at least shows that all the bankers do not agree on everything.

Coal—

The coal operators like their nice new code as a small boy likes a cat-o'-rhat.

The code in its final form was drafted by the NRA, with an assistant from United Mine Workers. The operators had about as much voice in the matter as the Republican Old Guard has in the New Deal. It had to be done that way or not at all. The President and General Johnson were out several decks of cards playing patience while waiting for the mine owners to do their stuff. Finally it became clear that patience had ceased to be a virtue. Then the whip cracked.

Only a few days before the final showdown quite a few operators were talking big among themselves about going home and to heck with it all. But when the dotted line was presented they signed.

How come the surrender? For one thing, the northern mines got a fairly good break. Their costs will go up but those of the southern mines will take an even bigger jump. So they get a better competition differential. That soothes their blistered feelings. Then there is the hope that the code will be abandoned in January if it proves a failure and meanwhile they might as well ride on the bandwagon.

An effort will be made to establish nine-month prices at $1.50 a ton. It's a good trick if it works. But local experts say that Houdini himself couldn't put that across. The offstage chuckles you hear come from oil and natural gas people.

John L. Lewis of the Mine Workers got about everything he wanted and is now sitting pretty as a labor leader who goes places and does things. His success may have a bearing on internal developments in the Federation of Labor.

Wheels—

There were wheels within wheels in the sudden decision of the Frick mines to unbend and talk amicably with the United Mine Workers. The Frick properties are controlled by U. S. Steel. Word got around that Big Steel had better induce its subsidiaries to behave if it wanted its normal share of luscious contracts for public works. Apparently the advice was heeded.

Slap—

Some of the steel boys are headed for more than a slap on the wrist if they don't tone down on the berish propaganda that has issued so artlessly from certain trade publications. Broad intimations have been passed that concessions made to labor by the steel industry will be ruinous.

New York insiders hear that Washington is pretty sore about these undermining tactics and is considering a counter barrage of Toilers of the State of Texas Again the Vicious Sales or Consumers' Tax Threatens!

The "special interests," the owners of many acres of land and other real estate properties, the tricky political proponents of "more revenue," are again planning a drive to shift the chief burden of taxation on the already-heavily-tax-laden shoulders of the men, women and children of this State!

And the home owner, the farmer, the wage earner, again face intensified hardship and suffering... again face the test of defeating the powerful interests behind the plan to impose a new and increased tax levy on our toiling masses during the Special Session of the Texas Legislature

Are we going to stand by and be hoodwinked by political trickery, only to swacken and find we are paying unneeded millions of dollars into the coffers of the State?... paying an additional heavy tax on the very necessities of life—the food we eat and the clothes we wear—our small luxuries and amusements—practically everything that is needed for the happiness and very existence of ourselves and our families?

Your Help Is Needed!

Talk to, write, phone or wire your Senator or Representative that you do not want a Sales or Consumers' Tax of any kind! Urge him to vote AGAINST any proposals for new or increased taxation... tell him emphatically that our government costs must be kept within the amount that is necessary to meet its present income. Tell him that you know that Texas is in need of no major revenue measures at this time. DO IT NOW!

Sign the Slip Below

... and mail in your opposition to your Senator or Representative NOW! Help defeat this disaster that threatens us all!

Senate May Ask For New Commission; House Call For Data

AUSTIN (AP)—Both houses Friday moved to forestall excessive expenditures for administration and distribution of unemployment relief funds supplied by the federal and state governments.

The house adopted a resolution that requested Governor Ferguson, former Governor Sterling and Lawrence Westbrook, director of the Texas rehabilitation commission, to furnish detailed data on expenditures made from relief funds since the work was started in Texas.

R. F. C. Will Lend At Three Per Cent If Banks Agree To Re-Lend To Help Merchants Meet Payroll Under NRA

Billion Dollars Of Government Money Made Available Under Direct Authority Of President; Basic Rate Set At 4-1-2 To 4 Per Cent

WASHINGTON — A liberalized credit policy under which one billion dollars of government money will be made available for industrial expansion under the NRA through loans at new low interest rates was announced by Chairman Jesse Jones of the reconstruction corporation.

With the full approval of President Roosevelt, Jones said in a formal statement that the corporation would lend to banks and trust and mortgage companies at 3 per cent interest for any period up to six months if they agreed to re-lend the money to industry to purchase of materials and payroll costs and to assist merchants, especially affected by the NRA.

Furthermore, he announced that effective October 1, the corporation's basic lending rate to banks, mortgage and insurance companies and other borrowers would be reduced from 4-1-2 to 4 per cent. This is the fourth cut in interest since the corporation began business, first loans being made at as high as 6 per cent.

Jones said a special department would be established in the Washington office to give attention to the emergency loan applications. Bulletins are being sent to all RFC agencies notifying them of the plan, and Jones said the cooperation of those authorized to bor-

He believed the new interest rates would induce the banks to "become a little more enthusiastic about loaning money."

"It is the opinion of the directors of the RFC," he added, "that much needed relief can be had by the organization and use of local mortgage companies of substantial nature to supplement bank lending where loans are of a sound character, but slow."

"A liberal use of the above plans, coupled with widespread cooperation by banks in supplementing the issuance of 5 per cent preferred stock to be sold to the RFC, will naturally bring the banks in more effective assistance in the president's recovery program."

Borrowers under the short term, 3 per cent interest plan will be required to re-lend to manufacturers and merchants at a rate not exceeding 5 per cent, thus allowing the bank a margin as high as 2 per cent.

"Such loans by the RFC may be collateralized," Jones said, "by the short term note of the manufacturer or merchant, secured by a valid assignment of an unconditional order for the finished product, or mortgages, real or chattel on plant equipment, real estate, raw materials or finished product, or in any other manner acceptable to the banks and to the RFC."

Just when grading and drainage construction will begin lies with the state highway department.

County Judge H. R. Ebenport said Friday the court would continue its efforts to obtain right-of-way on the west project, but that enough funds would be held in reserve to assure the opening of the rerouted No. 9 north to the Dawson county line.

Crews were put to work Thursday and Friday in fencing in the property already acquired by the county in a three-day campaign for right-of-way.

Beyond the railroad track much of the rerouted road has been opened.

18-Year-Old Dallas Boy Plays In Semi-Finals Of National Amateur; Somerville Out

KENWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, CINCINNATI.—The forward surge of American golf youth brought the national amateur golf championship back home Friday as William Lawson Little, Jr., of San Francisco, son of a United States army colonel, defeated C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville of Canada.

As the climax of a day of astounding golf, punctuated by a cloudburst that nearly washed the competitors off the Kenwood course, the 23-year-old western star eliminated the defending champion 2 and 1 in their 36-hole quarter-final match.

Little's victory furnished the crowning upset as three American youths, averaging less than 22 years of age, fought their way into the semi-final round along with a sole survivor of the "old guard."

Max R. Marston, 41-year-old champion from Philadelphia, who held the title back in 1923, along with the youthful onslaught over the rain-soaked course as he conquered Sidney W. Noyes, Jr., of New York, former Yale star, one up, in a spectacular match that went to the 38th hole for a decision.

Marston's comeback, after being nearly counted "out" as a championship contender carried him into the semi-finals Friday against 18-year-old Jack Munger of Dallas, Texas, school junior and son of a wealthy oil man.

Munger sprang the day's second major surprise by taking the measure of the seasoned Jack Westland of Chicago, 1929 runner-up 3 and 1. Little vs. Dumlap.

Little's semi-final opponent will be George T. Dunlap, Jr., of New York, the slim Walker cup star who registered the day's only one-sided triumph by ousting Eddie Held of New York 6 and 5, with a par shooting exhibition. Dunlap thus achieved the distinction of reaching the semi-finals of both the British and American amateur championships within the same season.

West Texans, Continuing Fight In Face Of Much Disappointment Again Plan To Urge Bollworm Repayment

Watson To Attend Midland Meet Called For Saturday

Exhibiting bulldog tenacity, representatives of West Texas involved in several unsuccessful attempts to obtain reimbursements for losses suffered from pink bollworm quarantine will gather in Midland Saturday to prepare for a "last stand."

Disappointed three times, these representatives plan to force the issue with James E. Ferguson in an effort to have his wife include it as a part of her special session legislation.

Twice the claim got through one but with an amendment tacked on which caused the ultimate veto of the measure, or refusal of the other house to concur in amendments.

Other times it has died in the legislature.

C. T. Watson, local chamber of commerce manager, will attend the meeting Saturday beginning at 2 p. m.

"The claim is just, right, legal, and if paid will be most timely in that it may prevent several farmers from falling back on relief agencies," said Watson.

Trouble For Americans In Cuba Nearer

State Department Will Not Comment On Delicate Problem

The state department received word of violence in various sections, coupled with a threat of wide spread strikes, but officials declined to speak publicly on the delicate situation.

State Oil And Gas Commission Again May Be Urged For Texas

AUSTIN (UP)—New efforts to create a separate oil commission for Texas were being discussed here on the eve of the opening of a special session of the Texas legislature.

Rep. W. C. Holloway, Longview, head of the group which sought such a bill at the regular session said that the movement will be delayed pending Washington developments.

The movement contemplates taking oil supervision out of the hands of the state railroad commission. Such a bill passed the house at the regular session and was killed in the senate.

Repeal of the state boxing bill, amendment of the race track betting bill, beer taxation and regulation, revision of the trust laws, and the amount of state bond funds to be issued at once were topics discussed by early arrivals for the session. Rep. Pat Jefferson, San Antonio, is drafting a bill to free new buildings from taxation for five years.

Sixteen senators already were here today. Less than a majority of the house members had come in but letters to Chief Clerk Louis Snow Phinney indicated there will be a quorum at noon tomorrow.

Speaker Coke Stevenson was expected to arrive late today. He will be presented a picture of himself during the session, painted by a house member, H. L. McKee, Fort Arthur. Presentation ceremonies are being arranged.

Frank D. Stubbeman, Midland, arrived this morning with his credentials as successor to the late Rep. B. Frank Haag. Stubbeman was Haag's law partner and will occupy the same house seat. The electric voting board was being received to change the name.

Among early arrivals was Rep. Lonnie Alsop, Carthage, author of the act repealing the "gin marriage law." He said the change has proven satisfactory and he will offer no amendments.

A block against increased beer taxes was steadily growing. Opponents of the higher tax claim it would encourage a continuance of bootlegging, which the legalized beer sales were counted upon to stop.

Revision upward of state salaries, which were cut 25 per cent at the regular session, seemed doubtful. Senator T. J. Holbrook, Galveston, chairman of the senate finance committee, announced opposition because of lack of available funds.

An early resolution is being prepared by Senator Margie Neal, asking that work projects under the national recovery program be speeded up and unnecessary red tape eliminated. Projects first reported to the state relief commission have been re-referred to a federally appointed commission. No single loan for such work has yet been made in Texas.

New Hearing September 30 Is Announced

Railroad Commission Calls Meeting Without Issuing New Orders

AUSTIN (AP)—The railroad commission Monday called another statewide hearing of oil operators for September 30.

The commission concluded a statewide hearing last Saturday but an order based on testimony adduced then has not been issued.

Commissioners indicated the temporary order, issued prior to last Saturday's hearing, allocating the 975,200 barrels daily state allowance to respective fields would continue in effect.

Railroad To Suspend Disputed Wage Plan By President's Wish

KANSAS CITY (UP)—President C. E. Johnston of the Kansas City Southern Railroad announced that his company's disputed wage plan would be placed formally in effect Friday and then suspended until March 1, 1934, in deference to the wishes of President Roosevelt.

The plan, first promulgated in January, would simplify working rules for conductors and engineers. Representatives of the Four Brotherhoods attended conference on the plan and it was expected eventually to be extended.

Rail unions were unwilling to accept the plan, which Johnston said would pay as much or more money to the groups but "would level existing inequalities" and improve service. The plan would junk or revise the fabric of working conditions built up through decades, union representatives said.

The controversy was carried to Washington and through an arbitration board approved by the president and a conference between Mr. Roosevelt and Johnston.

President Roosevelt asked that existing rates of pay and working rules be left undisturbed while the country concentrated upon the revival of business, without prejudice to either side.

Farris Bass, brother of Mrs. Shirley Robbins, of this city, is a new member of the faculty at Junior High.

Hundreds "Watch The Beer Year In", Many Quaffing

One Arrested During Night For Being Drunk Got That Way On Corn Liqueur Beverage Legally First Time! Demand Here Is Heavy

Several hundred Big Spring people, joined by a large number of visitors, waited until after midnight Thursday to see the Beer Year in as one person put it, and spent a couple of hours either driving about to see the strange spectacle of legal sale, or consuming of 32 per cent beer.

Two dozen men labored through the night delivering supplies of two score brands to about two dozen places here where permits had been obtained for sale of the newly-legalized beverage.

Police reported one man was arrested during the night for drunkenness and that his source of intoxication was corn whiskey.

Bottled beer of all the better-known brands was in the ice boxes and cold a few minutes past midnight.

Promptly at midnight applicants lined up at the office of the city tax collector and were issued their permits, for which they already had posted the necessary fees. They staged a sort of "tag" race for a few minutes, rushing from one tax office to another and one to their places of business.

One cafe operator, who had five new employees busy during the morning said he had not seen so many strange faces in many months.

Another place sold 60 cases before dawn.

About 12:45 a. m. Friday a large truck loaded with keg beer lumbered into town and started deliveries.

In several places on the highways in the outskirts of town, where combination beer parlors and sandwich shops had been made ready, scores of automobiles were parked. Some came to drink, others to watch what one citizen called "just another step in the New Deal."

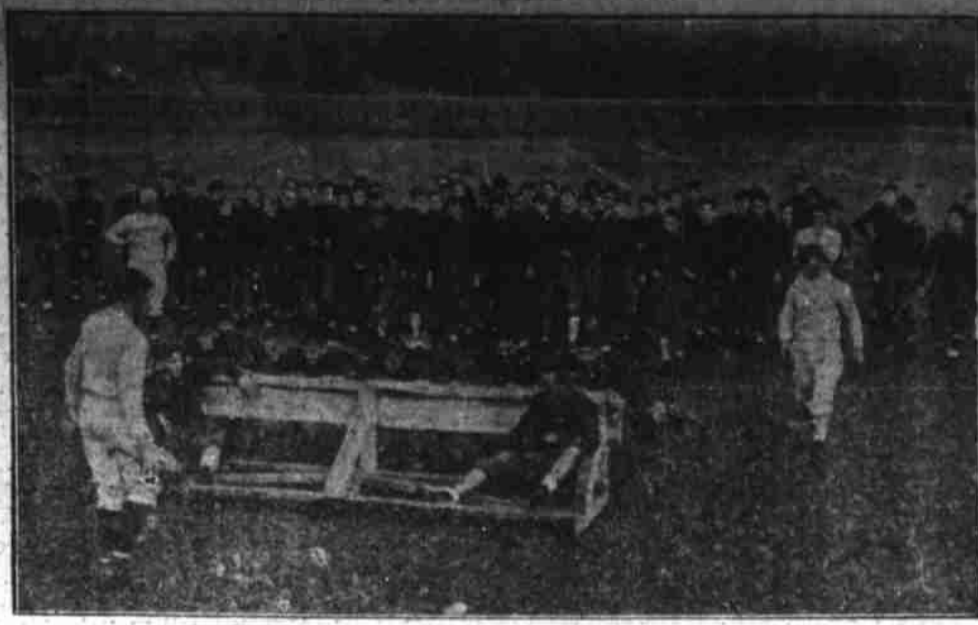

Sheriff Jess Slaughter, Deputy Andrew Merrick and the city police force were hailed on all sides by cheerful invitations to "have a bottle on us."

Personality Of J. Frank Dobie Stands Out As Fitting Tribute To State And To University, Where He Is Professor

By CAPITOLA CANNON AUSTIN—The picturesque figure of J. Frank Dobie, author of "Coronado's Children," and associate professor of English in The University of Texas, stands out as a fitting tribute to that institution and to the history of the colorful state of which he is a part. In appearance Dobie is the Texas figure and his friendly ease of manner bespeaks the people of the plains. Many people would take him for a ranchman, a capacity in which he has served for part of his life. He stands and walks with the easy attitude and gait of the man used to long rides on the range; he is of average height and has a tanned mane of tending hair, usually wears a sombrero of large hat, and nearly always chews a pipe, even if he isn't smoking it. The pleasant friendliness of his greeting is reflected in his frank grey eyes. Because he speaks the cowboy's language in the drawing pleasant of that type, he easily makes friends of the people who help him in his constant search for the legends of Texas. In the past ten or twelve years he has travelled far and talked with hundreds of men of the soil from whom he has learned facts, the lore of animals, anecdotes of frontier life, and legends. Immediately upon learning a story, he writes it down and files it for future reference. It may take years to acquire all the threads and data of background necessary for the full relation of one of his tales. Always Interested Writing and an interest in literature began early for him, for he says he can remember that when he was a child riding about the ranch on his pony he used to love the supply of words and make phrases of the thoughts that came to his mind. It still comes no easier to him than to any other man of his trade, and he often revises a sentence many times trying to make it, as he says, "sing like a fiddle." Since his under-graduate days he planned to write but did not turn to folk-lore until after the World War when he resigned from the University of Texas faculty to manage a large ranch in the brush country. The human side of folk-lore interests him most. There seems to him to be something about the search for folk-lore which keeps men's hearts young. Tales of fabulous wealth and of buried treasure are the stories of the new world. Perhaps because of this appeal, the Literary Guild chose "Coronado's Children" in February, 1931, as its monthly publication, and this choice was of significance both to Texas and to American literature in general. Two years earlier, "A Vaquero of the Brush Country," which is typical of South Texas, the section of the state where he was born, had been published. James Frank Dobie was born on a ranch in Live Oak Country, Texas, the eldest of a family of six. There, as a boy, he rode the range, and says he doesn't remember when he first learned to ride. At 15 years of age he helped fight a stamped e of cattle. His mother was a teacher and gave him his first lessons; later the children had a governess, and after that, he went to the neighboring school. The family library was the largest in the community, a factor which doubtless contributed to his early love of literature. To Alice, Texas When he reached high school age, he went to Alice, Texas, to school, and at last to Georgetown for his college training. Here he indulged his literary talents through the medium of university publications. In 1919, he received his bachelor of arts degree. The following summer was spent reporting criminal and morgue cases, and fire and other news events for the San Antonio Express. Before going to Columbia University where he received his master of arts degree, Dobie spent two years teaching in secondary schools in Alpine, Texas. He taught English and was secretary to the president of Southwestern University. His master of arts degree was conferred upon him in 1924. The next fall he came to Austin as an instructor in English in The University of Texas. His teaching career was interrupted when he joined the United States forces for the World War, and was made a first lieutenant of the Field Artillery, reaching France shortly before the Armistice was signed. Returning to Texas,

Ability Of Few Players TCU Problems

Horned Frogs' Success Depends Upon Line And Fresh Material

By W. Winston Copeland United Press Staff Correspondent FORT WORTH (UP)—The success of Texas Christian University's football team this year appears to depend on its line and how well young players hold up under severe fire. The performance of several newcomers in the victory last Friday over Austin college heightened the Frogs' outlook for retaining the Southwest conference crown and brought smiles to Coach Francis Schmidt. Schmidt, however, is not holding out any false hopes. He realizes this year's squad so far does not measure up to last year's champions. Particularly pleasing to Schmidt is the accurate passing of left-handed Dan Harston of Dallas. Harston is considered the "find" of the year and may push the veteran Johnny Kitchen out of the full-back job unless Coach Schmidt finds a place for both of them. The aerial attack used in the first game, is taken as an indication Schmidt will resort to an open game this year. Most of his backs are light and fast, offering promise of a powerful broken field game. Jack Wallace, Texarkana, Charles Casper, San Antonio, and J. Coleman, Waco, all veterans, are light and speedy backs. Once in the open either of the three are dangerous ball carriers. An efficient short passer designed to enable his speed merchants to get through the first line defense is one of the angles on which Schmidt is expected to concentrate. Kitchen, a good passer and a capable plunger, with several inexperienced but capable men make up the rest of the backfield material. With two star ends, Captain Jack Graves of Beaumont, and Jack Langdon of Cleburna, as regulars, and W. Myers of Jackboro, with two varsity letters to his credit, and J. Jacks, Fort Worth, an experienced man, as substitutes, that department seems qualified to give a good account. Subsequently Schmidt is expected to give much attention to the line. In the one-sided game with Austin college the line play was ragged with the opponents breaking through repeatedly to smear ball carrier Perkins of Olney, a veteran and strengthens one side of the line at tackle. At the other tackle there are several promising candidates but none with very much experience. Of these R. Allison, Dallas, is the most experienced. He has yet to make a letter. His chief competition is from three new men, Willis Cannon, Fort Worth, Judy Truelson, Dallas, and M. Godwin, Hot Springs, Ark., each weighing around 230 pounds. Two letterman guards, L. Basinger of Fort Worth, and Bud Taylor, of Austin, got first call against Austin college. Each weighs around 180. P. Hill, 220-pounder from Panola, is a promising line backer for a guard post. If the tackle problem is quickly solved, Schmidt may be able to shift one of the heavier tackle candidates to a guard post. Darrel Lester, a 200-pound Sophomore from Jackboro, looks like the best bet for center, although Heard Frobs, a Fort Worth player, has the square head and strong contender. Both lack polish and need experience. With his first conference game set for October 7 against Arkansas university, Schmidt will have much time to experiment with his men. His first two games of the conference schedule are against Arkansas and Texas A. & M., rated as the best teams in the conference. These games will be the real tests of his 1933 team, Schmidt believes.

Geological History Of Texas Compiled

AUSTIN (UP)—Studies of geological Texas, which date back at least 400 years to a crude map purporting to show some of the physical features of what is now Texas, have culminated in a 1,007-page volume prepared by D. H. Bell, and two assistants. Studies of Texas geography and geology began as early as 1520 when Pineda coasted from Florida to Vera Cruz and back again, and mapped the Gulf Coast. More than a decade later, Cabeza De Vaca, who was shipwrecked near Galveston, journeyed across South Texas and into Mexico, making notations of the terrain as he traveled. mental objects. Many pieces are beautifully decorated and meticulously carved. Some are inlaid with mother-of-pearl. One powder horn is carved to resemble a red fish, another has "houn daw" head to finish the mouth. Many have huntmen and hunting scenes carved so as to show the tiniest detail of the hunter's clothes. Most curious of all these is the symbol of Mexico—the carved figure of the screaming spread-egg. All his body, from back to toes is carved of one horn, his wings and the snake coiled about his legs being the only joined pieces. This and his other collections grow with every trip. Everything about the piece, as well as the man, spells Texas and the range. And one cannot leave this suburban home and its genial, unspiced host, without a feeling of confidence in the "realism" and genuineness of his writings.

Plan To Obtain 75 Millions More Federal Funds For Road Building In Texas Outlined To Group Here

Texas Good Roads Association Representative Is Heard

Less than a score man assembled in the Settles hotel Wednesday morning to hear J. C. Watson of the Texas Good Roads association explain a move to obtain $75,000,000 additional public works funds for highway construction in Texas. Watson told of the association's part in procuring for Texas a similar allotment of $24,000,000 and pointed out that the sum was fast being reduced by contract lettings. Careful estimates by the association has led to the belief that seventy-five millions are needed to care for all designated state and federal highways which now need attention, he declared. Experience, he explained, has shown that public works money can best give relief in employment through highway construction. Moreover, he revealed, Texas is falling far short of her allocation for public works money. Highways running through Howard county are vitally dependent on the success of the move now on foot. The highway commission has no other funds available to work with just now than that which is left of the $24,000,000. If all projects needed were financed purely out of state funds it would take fifteen to twenty years to pay for them, he said. A committee composed of E. F. Robbins, Victor Flewelling, T. C. Thomas, and G. C. Dunham was appointed to work out a campaign whereby more memberships can be procured in the association here. At the present time only twenty Big Spring people hold membership in the Texas Good Roads association.

Prosecutor Warns Of Fee From Ransom

Courtroom Filled With Armed Guards As Jurors Examined

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—In a courtroom filled with armed guards, the first panel of twelve jurors was called to be examined for service in the kidnap trial of Harvey Bailey and 11 others accused of participating in abduction of Charles Urschel of Oklahoma City. As the trial opened, Joseph B. Kennan, assistant United States attorney general, warned that lawyers accepting any part of the Urschel ransom money as fees would be prosecuted to the full extent of the federal law.

Testimony In Kidnap Trial Being Heard

Mother Of Mrs. Shannon First Witness; Government Case Outlined

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A report of trial Tuesday of Harvey Bailey and eleven other defendants for abduction of Charles Urschel, Herbert Hyde, United States district attorney, detailed at length the government's case. Bailey, called the "brains" of the kidnapers, and Albert Bates, "strong-arm" man of the ring, sat quietly beside attorneys. Earlier, Hyde announced two farm youths, one related to three of the defendants, had "fittily" identified Bates as one of two men who boasted July 22 they were "going to kidnap a guy." Mrs. T. M. Coleman, mother of Mrs. R. G. Shannon, one of the defendants, called as a witness, pointed at Albert Bates as one of two men who plotted a kidnaping while staying at her farm home near Stratford, Okla. The government alleges the kidnaping was that of Charles Urschel.

Twenty-Five Baptized At Tabernacle Evening Service; Others Added

Dr. A. R. Copeland preached to three large crowds at the Fundamental Baptist Tabernacle Sunday. At the morning service his text was Matthew 10:25. "It is enough for the disciples that he be as his Master." He declared that God expects every newborn son of His to show forth the will of God as Jesus did, through the Holy Spirit. At the afternoon service Dr. Copeland reviewed the history of the Jewish race and reviewed the prophecy that revolves about the Jew. "Dominant world events of today center about the Jew," declared the speaker. "God deals with the Gentile nations through his 'national people,' the Jew," he declared. A crowd that filled the large tabernacle gathered for the evening service. "The Supreme Sacrifice for all Sins" was the sermon subject. The setting for the sermon was taken from the twelfth chapter of the Book of Exodus, a record of observance of the Passover. "The lamb slain at Passover was a type of the slain Lamb of God in the person of Jesus on the Cross," declared the preacher. "All who would be saved from the wrath of God must be under the blood of Christ as the first born of Israel was under the blood of the lamb placed on the door post lentil. It takes the blood of the innocent to justify the guilty." There were 14 additions for baptism during the meeting. The revival services will continue through this week, with services at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. The evangelist will speak each morning on "The Spirit-Filled Life." In the evening prophecy will be dealt with in his messages. His subject Monday evening will be "History As Seen in the Dream of a Heathen King."

PARIS (UP)—Hats. What a subject these days when anything from a wooden Happy Hooligan peg to a cartwheel-ten-gallon affair comes under the heading. You just have to sort 'em out and take 'em as they come. Here's Chanel's hat notions:

The new Chanel hats, an inspired collection of seventy samples, are individual creations. Instead of merely accessories after the mode, the lines are good—which means they are flattering; the materials add lustre by their sheer strength a new type of frame. There are of quality; the shapes, they may really be called such, beautify the head and face and frame it in a new type of frame. There are felt and feathers, cloth and silk, velvet and fur embellished with flashing sequettes and cross, languorous, enchanting plumes, smart wings and tiny clustered feathers.

While the felt shapes embody the chic set of mannish hats, the ornamentation of plumes, feathers and ribbon is ravishingly feminine. There are jewels holding in place a smart, simple but sophisticated knot or bow of ribbon. In some models, the selection of the choicest fur skins magically transforms the heretofore severe sports берет into a hat of infinitely feminine elegance—something you wouldn't believe possible unless you saw it, and even then you wonder how it was done.

Chanel is a little hat lover. The

Custard Pie
In order to have meals that are well balanced and that will supply the minerals and other valuable food elements necessary to health, salads should be served at least once a day. It is easy—even in late fall or winter—to procure fruits and vegetables that may be used to create salads fit for an epicure.

A Sweet Salad
Take one pint of shredded cabbage, one can of white cherries, one can of sliced pineapple, one pound of blanched almonds, one-half pound of fresh marshmallows and pint of whipped cream. Cut the cherries into halves. Dice the pineapple, shred the almonds, quarter the marshmallows and mix all together with the whipped cream. This has been combined with a few tablespoons of any good mayonnaise. Serve on crisp lettuce nests.

Piquant Salad
12 pear halves.
2 lemons (1-4 cup juice).
1-2 package of cream cheese.
1 tablespoon orange or lemon juice.
2 tablespoons minced candied ginger.
Lettuce.
Stuff the pitted dates with the cheese which has been moistened with the pear syrup or with French dressing. Sprinkle surface of cheese with minced candied ginger. Put a stuffed date in cavity of each pear.

Mr. Forsythe Endorses ALL-BRAN for Constipation

If you suffer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this voluntary letter: "After taking pills and tablets for about thirty years for constipation, I started to take your ALL-BRAN three times a day according to directions. Today I can eat cheese, and that is binding, and certainly feel fine."—Mr. Ed. Forsythe, Box 219, Youngstown, N. Y.

Science says ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal" way far more healthful than using patent medicines—so often habit-forming? Just eat two tablespoons daily. In serious cases use with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
