Suspect In Kansas City Massacre Believed Death Victim

DETROIT (UP)—Detroit police announced Wednesday night that a nude body of a man found in a ditch on the city's outskirts had been tentatively identified as that of Verne Miller, 37, suspect in the shooting of a group of federal officers and their prisoner at the Kansas City union station last summer.

Treasury Plans Offering U.S. Bonds For Cash Following Mid-December Statement; Gold Policy Is Pushed

Steers Renew Rivalry With Wolves Today

Colorado Game Traditional Affair, Cantrell's Men Not Easy

When Jim Cantrell brings his red and black Colorado Wolves over this afternoon to do battle with Bristow's Steers and pull down the curtain on the '33 season, the two teams will be waging a clean desperate struggle for No. 3 berth in district three of the State Inter-scholastic League.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Mindful of sums which must be spent in the next six months, Treasury officials are considering desirability of accompanying or following the usual mid-December financial statement with a new offer of bonds to be sold for cash.

Yellow Fever Scare Leads To Different Route For Flight

PORTO CRAIA, Cape Verde Island, (UP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was told by a governor's adjutant Wednesday night to be planning a flight either to Bathurst, capital of Gambia, or Portuguese Guinea, both of which are on the West African coast.

Pecos Junior Team Beats Calves 13 To 0

PECOS—The Pecos Junior Eagles defeated the Junior High Calves here Wednesday afternoon 13 to 0. The Calves rallied to bring the ball to the Pecos two-yard line in the final minute of play, but were unable to score.

Whisky Manufacturers Learn Law Has Teeth

FOR TOWTH, (UP)—Whisky manufacturers here are learning rapidly that the "Moonshiners Act," a Federal law enacted in 1868, has teeth, perhaps as sharp as the 18th Amendment.

Rabbit Of Bi-Sexual Nature Dead Victim

EDINBURG (UP)—A rabbit that was the sire of two litters and the mother of seven, is dead. For three years the Chinchilla rabbit attracted United States and European attention because of its bisexual qualities.

Thanksgiving

TURKEYS, cranberries, pumpkins make a festival of the harvest time. . . The blue haze of late autumn hangs in the valley. . . Grass brittle with frost crunches under foot. . . It is Thanksgiving Day. Feasting and good cheer are in order. The year's work nears its end. A fertile soil has yielded its bounty. The time, for many, is one of celebration, of merry-making.

SO WAS the first Thanksgiving Day in America observed. That spirit, continuing, was, in 1864, to inspire the proclamation which made the observance of Thanksgiving in November an annual holiday from that time on.

Washington By George Durno

President Roosevelt said in his Thanksgiving proclamation the nation should give thanks because the darkest days have passed. What F. D. R. should be giving thanks for is the fact his personal hold on the country's imagination remains so strong.

Reports from all sections indicate a growing unrest. Men who whispered their opposition in dark corners a month or so ago now find courage to speak for publication. But those same reports says the people are still strong for Mr. Roosevelt.

Thanks

At the State Department they are giving thanks for Russian recognition, although the President personally arranged it.

This is about the only accomplishment which transpired in the field of diplomacy since March 4, unless you want to count the London Economic Conference—which died the death.

Core Of Boy Scout Leaders Have Outing

Out in the great open spaces, more than a score of leaders held their fifth meeting of a current training course Tuesday evening.

Each scout leader had to cook a cut of steak over his patrol fire, and what was more dangerous, eat said steak. Potatoes roasted in coals completed the menu which scouts were forced to cook and eat.

After trailing consistently throughout the course by more than 100 points, Walton Morrison's Hounds made a phenomenal jump to land four points behind the second place Flying Bulls.

To decide who would fall into the lower bracket and help the Krowses to the two high patrols, contests were resorted to. The Flying Bulls then took a heated game of Crows and Cranes from the Hounds then whipped them soundly in St. Paul.

A compass game built on the order of Hot-tail taught scouts the fine points of calling directions.

In a singing contest, honors were about even except for the inability of the Jackass patrol to use the correct tune.

Jackass Tiny Reed was way out in front in a lying contest until Senior Leader Williamson, who is area executive, spun his yarn and then Jackass Reed was way behind.

The school will be concluded this evening in the basement of the Methodist church.

Attendance by patrols follows: Hounds—Walton Morrison, Steve Ford, Jr., Bass, and Robert Stripling; Krows, Jack Cummings, Dr. Lee O. Rogers, Nat Shick; Flying Bulls, Joe Pickle, William Wright, John R. Hutto, Tom Beasley, Juan Garcia; Jackasses, D. H. "Tiny" Reed, George Brown, A. A. Porter, Clyde Wait, D. F. Bligny, R. L. Baber, John A. Coffey, O. R. Bolinger, H. N. Robinson, Harold Blue, George Gentry, Scoutmaster, and A. C. Williamson.

new task as acting head of the treasury department.

The resignation of Prof. O. M. W. Sprague as an advisor in the treasury department removes from that department an economist listed as a "hard money" man.

Professor Sprague's resignation is deplored by the "hard money" people and welcomed by the inflationists, by whatever name called. It probably will not make a great deal, if any, difference either in the policy or its outcome.

High School P.T.A. Given Physics Exhibit

The High School Parent-Teacher Association was treated to an unusually interesting program Tuesday afternoon by J. A. Coffey, teacher of physics.

Mr. Coffey prefaced his program with an explanation of why science was taught in high schools. A pupil, Delmo Pearce gave a talk on oysters, using them as a sample of biology learning.

The members were then invited to Mr. Coffey's laboratory to see a demonstration put on by the following pupils: Ralph Cathey, Herman Applton, William Gray, Dave Mims, and George Miller.

An interesting feature on the program was the talk made by Mrs. W. F. Cushing on "Why a P.T.A.?" from a mother's point of view.

This was in reply to a speech made by Principal George Gentry at last month's session.

A large number of mothers were present. It was announced that these interesting programs would be continued for the next meeting.

Personally Speaking

A. R. Collins, Dr. T. W. Collins and Geo. Handley and O. C. Collins of Midland and Joe Adams of Comona returned empty-handed Tuesday evening from a five-day deer hunt in southern Brazos county in the Davis mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Liberty and family will spend Thanksgiving visiting friends in Wink.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Schwartz are spending Thanksgiving Day as the guest of relatives in Abilene.

AN UNWISE RULE

Aside from any question of the imposition of a "rag" rule on the press, the new treasury order which forbids any official or employee of department to give any information to correspondents, or to make a speech or write for publication, without first having his interview, article, or speech approved by the undersecretary designated for the purpose—the new rule is quite likely to backfire.

In the first place, correspondents cannot give an intelligent account of what is taking place in the capital city unless they are permitted to talk with numbers of larger and lesser fry in officialdom. These interviews are necessary for background or information which makes the cold and colorless press hand-outs intelligible to the correspondents. Not even crack correspondents can write an intelligent interpretation of what is taking place if they are denied the privilege of gathering background material.

In the second place, the government is engaged in a rather delicate experiment through which it hopes to bring the country out of depression. That task will be handicapped if not aborted if the public is suspicious of goings-on in Washington. The best preventive of suspicion is to give the public full information, and the best way to give that full information is to open up the channels of communication and give the correspondents complete cooperation.

"Gag" rules is never wise, and at this posture of our united effort for recovery it well might prove disastrous.

President Roosevelt has found that he can trust the correspondents and newspapermen generally. Young Henry Morgenthau should liberalize his attitude toward the press, if he hopes to succeed in his

Frog Fans Fearful Lest Mustangs Put Stop To Six Year Win Streak

FORT WORTH—It has been six years since a Southern Methodist football eleven tasted victory over a Texas Christian team. It has been four years since the Methodists scored on the Christians.

Frog fans are fearful lest the Mustang pick next Saturday for their day of revenge. Stranger things have happened, for when these traditional foes meet, past showings go for naught.

The two schools have met on the gridiron 15 times, in a series inaugurated back in 1915. Seven times the Fort Worth school has emerged on the long end of the score, five times the Dallas institution has been victorious, and three contests have ended in ties.

The all-time score totals: T. C. U. 188; S. M. U., 105.

The Mustangs were playing their first season of football when they came to Fort Worth and took a 42-0 drubbing at the hands of the Frogs.

T. C. U. won by one-sided scores the next two years and then was forced to forfeit the 1918 contest because the bus in which the squad was making the trip to Dallas got stuck in the mud at Grand Prairie, with the result that the game never was played.

No games were played in 1919 and 1920, but relations were resumed the following year, and again the Frogs were victorious, 21 to 0. In 1922 the teams played their first

SPORT SLANTS By ALAN GOULD

While all the baseball clubs are scrambling to re-organize or strengthen for 1934, it is interesting to note that no American League pitcher during the past season succeeded in capturing his series from each of the seven rival clubs. Probably this is the tip-off on a somewhat general decline in the pitching power of the junior circuit, a fact that was emphasized when the curving corps of the Giants emerged with the honors in the world series duel with the best staff the American League was able to muster.

Lefty Bob Grove and the equally left-handed Earl Whitehall of the Senators, both veterans, came the closest to getting the upper hand over all rivals in 1933. The unique feature of their records, as tabulated by Henry P. Edwards, is that the two tail-end clubs were toughest for them to beat. Grove compiled a margin over every club except the Red Sox, who broke even with the ace of the A's in six games against the Browns. Grove was not defeated by the Browns, White Sox or Indians sweep in four games with his old Detroit teammates.

ZUPPKE'S MELANGE Ohio State observers insist that Illinois is the toughest football team to scout in what Clark Daniel Shaugnessy describes as "the toughest league in football."

The answer seems to be that Bob Zuppke, the artistic and resourceful head coach of the Illini, uses a little of nearly every known "system," with a few dashes of his own ingenuity. His team has run from five formations this year: the famed "Z" or Grange; the short punt, similar to Michigan's; the close double-wing back, characteristic of the Warner plan of attack; the open double wing-back; and the long punt formation, which used to be popular when Harvard was on top under the late Percy D. Houghton.

Zupp also uses three different line shifts, plays his ends close or wide and resorts to either the balanced or unbalanced line, as a final measure calculated to baffle the opposition.

MID-WEST MARKSMEN The mid-western argument as to whether Doug Nott of Detroit or Jack Beynon of Illinois is the better passer continues to rage. It probably will get nowhere, like most football arguments, but that doesn't seem to stop the adherents and admirers of each from presenting their views.

Nott has achieved more spectacular results, measured by touchdowns resulting from passes, but Beynon's heaving has featured the attack of the Illini all year. Eight of the first downs gained by Illinois against Army were on passes, of which 19 out of 37 were completed, and it wasn't Beynon's

EAST OF SUEZ --AND WEST

COLOR and stir of the bazaar . . . beat of the tom-toms and wail of the pipes . . . pungent dust of the passing caravan . . . flash of silver and crimson and jade . . . sing-song invitation of the tradesmen!

If you ever travel in the Orient you will feel the fascination of the bazaar—once. Afterward, when you return from a frenzy of haggling and sleight-of-hand, and spread your tawdry purchases on the hotel bed, you will feel differently. You will appreciate as never before the advantages of living in a country where goods are advertised in the daily press . . . where you can sit down with your newspaper and decide exactly what you will buy today, what price you will pay, and where you will find the greatest values. Best of all, a country where buying an advertised article means getting your money's worth, without matching wits with unscrupulous traders.

Perhaps you'll never voyage East of Suez. But right now, right at home you can discover the convenience and sound economy of reading the advertisements before you shop. Here is a leading merchant who has combed the markets of the world for quality merchandise at a price his name guarantees to be fair. Here is a great manufacturer who has exhausted science to improve the worth of his product. Here is a little shopkeeper offering unusually attractive prices.

Study the advertisements. Know what is being offered to your advantage. Then do your buying with assurance.

Facts About Your Chamber Of Commerce

THE HONOR ROLL On this roll will be inscribed the names and subscriptions of all those who enlist in the chamber of commerce army. It is right that the progressive people who support a useful organization with their faith and money should know each other. Like seeks like. Whether your interest in the chamber of commerce is purely selfish, because of its influence on your own business, whether it is purely altruistic, because of your belief in the work it is doing for the city as a whole; or whether, as in most cases, your support is out of a combination of civic service and enlightened selfishness—no matter what the motives that prompt your support, enlistment in the chamber of commerce army is a stroke for the greater good of this city. On the other hand, a failure to enlist now on the part of any one who can afford it is a confession of business and civic indifference. This is no time for the evasion of a duty that is not only of general service but of personal benefit. It is a time for united action. BIG SPRING CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

But a prominent New York lawyer says: "Thank God for a President who has the courage to experiment." Only a small minority here feel that way about it but those that do are fervent.

And most local industrialists will loosen up with a smile if sufficiently urged. No matter what they think about money or codes they do recognize the enormous improvement in their affairs over a year ago. They are still wary about its permanence but almost a majority are beginning to believe that it has come to stay.

Banks—

The New York State Banking Department has been toying with a revolutionary idea. It calls for the merger of all state institutions which do not belong to the Federal Reserve into a species of super-bank which could apply for deposit insurance as a unit. The combination of resources would save such smaller banks as might not be able to qualify for insurance individually.

The idea is not new with the state banking authorities. They felt it out about a year ago with the non-member banks in New York City but it was a flop. Most small bankers opposed it strenuously because they had no wish to lose their identity and sacrifice their power and possibly their jobs. Insiders predict the same objections will stall the broader project.

The big banks will probably take a crack at it also if it comes out in the open. They are not allowed to branch bank outside of city limits and here would be one of the biggest branch banking systems on record. Unfair competition, that's what.

Alpha—

The former security sales organization of Cities Service has been transferred to Alpha Distributors and the latter has evolved a neat plan.

It is working with a fixed trust set up called Alpha Shares. The portfolio contains a balanced relation of stocks and bonds. The stocks are those of top-rank corporations listed on the New York Exchange. The bonds are those of Cities Service units ranging in current market price from 29 to a maximum of 80—mostly in the lower 20's. Presumably the sales appeal will be centered on the stocks.

Utilities—

Utility interests are planning an effort to win exemption from the Securities Act for the mortgage bonds of operating companies. They claim these are at least entitled to the same rating as municipal and rail. The exemption would apply only to bonds which had been approved by State Public Service Commissions (corresponding to I. C. C. approval in the case of railroad issues). Few of these Commissions are troublesome.

Their argument will be the employment angle. More operating company bonds means extended service means more sales of electrical appliances. Most of the cost of electrical appliances goes to labor. Q. E. D.

Operating company needs are estimated at $500,000,000 a year for electrical construction, $200,000,000 for gas and natural gas and $200,000,000 for refunding for the next four or five years. That last is the nubbin.

Nazi—

Sponsors of the American anti-Nazi movement are working on plans for a Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi Committee for Human Rights. The idea is to get away from the strictly Jewish angle and include a counter-attack on Nazi measures against Catholics and Protestants. An effort will also be made to sidetrack Congressman Dickstein and spur an official Congressional investigation into Nazi activities in this country with the chairman and counsel for the investigating committee to be preferably non-Jewish.

Toys—

An anti-Nazi boycott movement has now been organized in thirteen countries besides the United States. Curiously it is most effective in Egypt where trade is concentrated in the hands of a small group.

It has been most felt here in the toy field. Several New York department stores are refusing to buy German toys. A large toy house finds itself somewhat up a tree in consequence.

Hangstaengl—

New York is watching the activities of Dr. "Puzzi" Hanfstaengl who was sent to London to patch up the failure left there by Alfred Rosenberg. The main points of Hanfstaengl's propaganda are (1) Hitler is saving the world from communism. (2) There is a Jewish conspiracy against Hitler. (3) Hitler is giving German people—especially German youth—an ideal. Hanfstaengl once composed a tune that caught the fancy of Goering's cock and was afterwards developed into a big Nazi song.

Vera Debenport, Fred Koberg and Thomas Joe Williamson are among local students in the University of Texas, who came home for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Southwest teams whose teams this year have raised End Paul Geisler, Quinn Manning Smith and Harry (ty) Olin, 145 pound halfback, the finest players their men faced. Geisler, six feet, two inches tall and weighing 185 pounds was recognized as the best player on the Centenary team. He was named on the New York Sun second all-American team last year.

The Gents ended this year's season with a 7 to 6 victory over the University of Mississippi, playing two years without a defeat and were undefeated in 19 consecutive games.

Geisler was recognized as both an offensive and defensive star. Biff Jones, former West Point coach and now football coach at Louisiana State University, described him as "the greatest end ever saw" including Dalmrype, all-American end of Tulane.

He played an unorthodox game, following the ball with sledge hammer attacks. On the offensive,

Nimble, shifty and able to stand hard knocks, Olin was the leading scorer on Centenary's team for the past two years.

Olin was rated by Norton as the "fastest man in college football today." He stands five feet, five inches tall and has run the 100 yard sprint in 9.5 seconds. To the surprise of opposing players, he was an effective blocker.

Louisiana Political Show Is Increased To Two Rings

Citizens Determined That 'Fake' Election For Congressman Shall Not Be Held, As Ordered By Long

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Louisiana's political side-show boosted two rings Wednesday instead of one—the senate sub-committee inquiry into Huey P. Long's regime here, and a spectacular revolt against him in the sixth congressional district at Baton Rouge.

The senatorial inquiry here was derailed into comparative insignificance by the top-tom beating at the state capitol, where thousands of irate democrats met Tuesday night and defied Long-backed Gov. O. K. Allen in the matter of a special election to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Congressman Bolivar E. Kemp.

It was a noisy gathering at Baton Rouge. Speakers were interrupted by cries from the floor of "lynch 'em" and "give 'em the rope." A movement to institute impeachment proceedings against the Allen administration was launched at the meeting by E. M. Whitman, anti-Long leader, who demanded federal intervention.

The federal government can, if necessary, declare martial law and maintain it until a representative form of government has been restored to Louisiana," Whitman said.

Only One Name
 The proceedings at Baton Rouge resulted when Gov. Allen swiftly set the special election for next Tuesday, and allegedly caused to be printed a set of ballots showing only the name of Kemp's widow as a candidate. In defiance of this action, the meeting here formed a citizens' election committee to assume the powers delegated under state law to the governor, secretary of state and attorney general.

In support of its action, the citizens' committee obtained from District Judge W. Carruth Jones a temporary injunction prohibiting the secretary of state from placing the name of Mrs. Kemp on the ballot as the regular democratic nominee. Resolutions adopted by the meeting branded the governor's election call a "pretended call reeking with fraud and a palpable attempt to handpick a representative."

The charge was made that the district democratic executive committee met secretly here after the governor's surprise call, and named Mrs. Kemp, stipulating that no other names should appear on the ballot next Tuesday. The Long forces were expected to make every effort to carry through their Tuesday election, despite the Baton Rouge revolt.

Mrs. Kemp, of course, is backed by the Long faction. Several other strong anti-Long candidates were in the field but after the action of the governor and democratic committee had no chance to get their names on the ballot.

Meetings By Sections On TSTA Program

Program-Planners Go Far Afield For Some Speakers

AUSTIN, (UP)—Programs for sectional meetings of the 58th annual convention of the Texas State Teachers' association here show that school teachers have been "teaching Texas" as well as the "Three R's."

Program-planners went far afield for some of their noted speakers on education theories for the convention which opens here Thanksgiving day.

The sectional meeting on Geography of the program is an example. After Dr. J. E. Johnston, University of Minnesota, has discussed "The Curriculum and the Adjustment of the Pupil to Life," there follows an address on "The Central Mineral Region of Texas"; the Llano-Burnet Country" by Dr. William T. Chambers of the State Teachers' College at Nacogdoches.

"Folk music of Texas that school children should know," cowboy songs, Spanish dances, Indian songs and dances, and other features peculiar to Texas and the Southwest abound in the programs for the 42nd sectional meetings.

There will be touches of sad irony: pupils from the State School for the Blind will give a playlet on "Children of Other Lands" whom they have never seen.

The business world will not be excluded from the pale of the teachers' convention. M. M. Reed, Austin financier, will tell a sectional meeting on Commercial Instruction "What the Business Man Wants and Doesn't Get."

Increasing enrollment of young men in Home Economics classes has prompted teachers of that subject to broaden the program of their sectional meeting here. Here-

What is the message
 The bugler brings
 To us
 Who rest all day.
 What are the words
 Of the bugler's song
 With its melody
 So gay?

Each day at rest
 Is a day well-spent
 Each resting heart
 Is a heart content
 Each heart content
 Is a happy heart
 And happy hearts
 Win through.

These are the words
 Of the bugler's song
 With its melody
 So gay:
 This is the song
 Of the Christmas Seal
 For us
 Who rest all day!

The two-story brick building which the tailor shop is located was considerably damaged. The structure is owned by Judge W. R. Chapman of Abilene. The rear wall, against which the boiler crashed as it exploded was partially undermined, glass was shattered throughout the two stories and ceilings were damaged. Equipment of the telephone company, which occupies the second story of the building, was also damaged.

With fragments of glass and crumbling plaster falling about her, Miss Verta Winters, telephone office manager, remained at the switchboard throughout the din and confusion, using such lines as were available to give a fire alarm and summon assistance to the building.

She was unhurt.

Three Escape Injury
 Three employees of the tailor shop, Bill Bartlett, Bill Neville and Orville McKeever, who were at the front of the building when the explosion occurred, received minor scratches from falling materials.

Equipment and furnishings in the Womack barber shop, which occupies half of the ground floor of the Chapman building, were considerably damaged.

Damage was also reported to J. P. Hauk's man shop, Knox Pittard's drug store, and the Palace theatre, all located near the Chapman building, at the southeast corner of the town square. Intensity of the explosion was so great that windows were shattered in the courthouse, at the center of the square.

You, too, can be a D U C H E S S

IN THE grand old days of the grand dukes, Her Ladyship held a "little court" for tradespeople every morning in her own apartments.

It was usually while her hair was being powdered. In would troop lace-makers and portrait-painters, a poet with a roll of verses and a peasant who might offer anything from a yellow puppy to a pot of honey. All the wares of the realm were spread before the duchess for her discriminating purchase, and without her putting the toe of her shoe outside the door.

Have you ever thought how much like her you are?

Every day, as you linger over your newspaper, the wares of the world assemble before you in the advertisements. Exciting new fashions from your favorite small shop. Household essentials from the great department stores. Everything for the menu . . . the motor car . . . the mode in make-up, offered to you for your choosing and deciding.

And many of these purchases you'll negotiate with more satisfaction than the duchess enthroned at her dressing-table. For, where the duchess had to judge of quality for herself, you have the word of the merchant and the word of the manufacturer for integrity, correctness and cost.

100 Stockyards Closed As Employers Refuse Rates Of Pay

Conclusion of the strike came just in time to prevent the enforcement of an order of stockyards officials to close the yards for trading after 3 o'clock Tuesday.

Late Tuesday, news that William J. O'Connor, assistant general superintendent of the Union Stock Yard and Transit company, estimated caused $75,000 damage swept over a square block of hog pens and loading chutes at the yards.

Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan said an investigation would be made to determine if the blaze was caused by incendiaries.

Burma Barley And Loraine Read Wed

Miss Loraine Read and Burma Barley have just announced their wedding, which took place October 7 in Stanton. They were married by Rev. Vaughn, pastor of the Methodist Church of that city.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Read, and has made this her home for the past ten years. Since her graduation from the Big Spring high school in 1930, she has been employed at L. C. Burr's, where she is office assistant.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Barley. He finished with the local high school seniors of 1930 and was captain of his football team that year. He attended Texas Technological College for a year and is now employed by the Dairyland Creamery.

Urschel And Aid Given Right To Carry Guns

OKLAHOMA CITY, (UP)—Charles F. Urschel, millionaire ransomednap victim, and his chief aid, E. E. Kirkpatrick, Tuesday were special officers, empowered to carry guns.

Police yesterday issued them special commissions, signed by Mayor Tom E. McGehee.

Kirkpatrick paid the $200,000 ransom to George (Machine Gun) Kelly in Kansas City.

Within a few minutes after agreement was reached pickets were withdrawn and the strikers started back to their jobs.

A parley, beginning at midnight Tuesday night, arranged by Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago and chairman of the Chicago regional board of the NRA, brought about the agreement, which was regarded as a partial victory for the stockyard workers, who had demanded a return to the 1929 wage scale, an increase of about 50 per cent over the pay they have been getting in recent months.

The agreement provided among other things that all men are to be reemployed without discrimination, and that while further negotiations are in progress any points on which the affected parties are unable to agree are to be submitted to the regional labor board for mediation.

Other points in the agreement provide for the launching of negotiations by the Union Stockyard and Transit company with representatives of the men for a settlement of points of dispute, and the naming of an arbitrator if steps toward mediation fail.

In regard to disputes involving wages the agreement provides that any increases are to be made retroactive from the date the men return to work.

Present at the conference with Hutchings were O. T. Henkle, general manager of the Stockyards company; John Gorman, president of local 517 of the Livestock Handlers' union, the organization that led the strike; and other union officials.

Conclusion of the strike came just in time to prevent the enforcement of an order of stockyards officials to close the yards for trading after 3 o'clock Tuesday.

Late Tuesday, news that William J. O'Connor, assistant general superintendent of the Union Stock Yard and Transit company, estimated caused $75,000 damage swept over a square block of hog pens and loading chutes at the yards.

E.S.A.'s To Meet Friday At Douglass

The Epsilon Sigma Alpha Literary Sorority will meet Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Room 223 of the Douglass Hotel. All members are asked to remember this.

Mrs. S. J. Davis will be program leader and Mrs. Glen Paul hostess for the day.

The roll call will be Christmas quotations. Miss Owen will talk on Byron and Poe; Mrs. Dahme on Thackeray; Mrs. Fox Strippling on Charles Dickens; Miss Wingo on George Elliott; Mrs. McAdams will outline the life of Sara Teasdale and give some of her poems. Mrs. Paul will tell the story of "The Other Wise Man," and Mrs. C. C. Coffey will give a special Christmas number.

Dallas Filling Station Man Arrested For Violating NRA Code

DALLAS, (UP)—Jim Leto, operator of a gasoline filling station here, was arrested by United States Deputy Marshal Charles Becke on charges of allegedly selling gasoline below the posted price in violation of the NRA code of the Petroleum industry.

The arrest was the first for NRA violation in the southwest. Federal officers said it was the second in the country in connection with the petroleum industry.

The complaint against Leto was sworn out by Laverge F. Guinn, special federal prosecutor for the oil code violations. U. S. Commissioner Lee R. Smith was told when he accepted the complaint that four others would be filed with him this week. The prosecutor said information in his possession would lead to charges being filed against refiners as well as retail distributors of gasoline.

The proposed local option law could be enacted at the same session that submits repeal to popular vote. It could be passed to take effect next year if the constitutional amendment carried. Beer regulation was enacted in that way. The validity of such conditional legislation now is before the state court of criminal appeals.

Marie Dunham Gives Thanksgiving Dinner For Little Friends

Little Miss Marie Dunham was hostess Thanksgiving Eve to a number of her little friends for a very jolly and hilarious dinner at the Club Cafe.

The centerpiece was of yellow and lavender chrysanthemums flanked with trunks of real trees on which were turkeys and hatchets. To these trunks had been pinned the small turkeys that were favors. The place cards were pictures of turkeys and were hand-painted.

The guests enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner.

Present were: Jenetta Dodge, Grover Cunningham, Mary Evelyn and Raymond Earl Lawrence, Betty Mary, W. D. Cornelison, Jr., Billie Welch, Bill Inkman, Jr., Champe Phillips, Justine Doe, Elvora Henry, Calvin Boykin, Jr., Wesley Deats, Jean Porter, with the little hostess presiding at the head of the table.

Misses Anna Pauline Jacobs, Margaret Wood and Jeanette Pickle are spending the Thanksgiving holidays in Austin.

The Life Story Of Mae West

CHAPTER III
Between 1918 and 1920, Mae West brought to the American public two original innovations in entertainment. One was the "shimmy." The other was what is now known as "the Mae West walk."

Both of these startling contortions have been widely imitated than any now amusement routine in many years.

Mae introduced the wriggling, writhing, sensuous shimmy dance in a vaudeville act. It was an immediate sensation. Until then, dancers had danced with their feet instead of with their hips, torsos and shoulders. Mae danced with everything she had, which was plenty, and hundreds of professionalists followed her lead.

Bee Palmer and Gilda Gray were among those imitators. They specialized in the shimmy, however, whereas the wild West girl demonstrated her versatility by singing and acting as well.

In the public mind, Gilda Gray and Bee Palmer are stamped as the originators of the shimmy, because they used it for many years and were exploited as dancers, but the show world knows that Mae West was first to dance the jelly-like quiver on the stage.

The distinctive and disturbing Mae West walk, really more of an undulating strut than anything else, which captivated movie audiences in "She Done Him Wrong" came into existence when she was appearing in New York musical shows with such veteran laugh creators as Ed Wynn and Frank Tinney.

Those comedians, Miss West found, had so many funny lines and such amusing pantomimic business, that a girl appearing with the mews simply a beautiful background for their capers. That was something Mae West definitely did not intend to be—background for anybody.

So, she offset their laugh provoking remarks with the hip rotating, insinuating, slouching walk which seems to say in effect, both "you can be had" and "why don't you come up sometime?"

Needless to say, audiences centered their eyes a goodly part of the time upon the intriguing blonde counterpart of Venus de Milo, rather than upon the comical but less decorative faces of the comedians.

Miss West has made use of her walk ever since, in her dramatic shows and in her two pictures, "Night After Night" and "She Done Him Wrong."

On one of her many successful vaudeville tours, Mae had as her partner a young pianist and singer named Harry Richman. He later won fame in musical comedy and as a night club owner, but he got his start and learned to put over a song while he was appearing in "Vodoo" with Mae.

While she was co-featured in the musical play, "Sometime," with Ed Wynn, Miss West made acquaintance of a man who has played an important role in shaping her professional career ever since.

He was James A. Timony, already a successful lawyer, with an intimate knowledge of show business and politics, and an acquaintance that included hundreds of men prominent in New York life. Miss West's affairs had arrived at the point where they needed special management. James

IT-PAYS-TO-BE UNSELFISH

The president in announcing the recovery program asked a truce on unselfishness in order that you and I working together in business might bring more PROSPERITY and greater happiness to all the country—To all individuals. He asked us to play our part fairly, to deal squarely with one another, to co-operate in the new deal that is the square deal.

In doing this we find that it pays to be unselfish! It pays in the higher wages and shorter hours of labor established under the N. R. A.

It pays in the larger volume of business already coming to stores and factories which enables them to pay out more money to more workers.

It pays in greater consumption of manufactured goods and raw materials and its products of the farm, which starts flowing more rapidly, more money to more workers, largely increasing the buying power of the country.

Increased buying power brings increased factory and farm output, more wages to more people, and a return of "PROSPERITY."

It's up to you and to me to do our part; and we will find that it pays!

Be Fair—Be Unselfish—Keep The Blue Eagle On The Wing—It Is Flying In The Direction Of Prosperity.
