Certification, Measurement Deadline Near

Danny Noble, ASCS County Executive Director reminds that "Time Is Running Out" for certification of crop acres or for aerial measurement service for wheat, rye, barley, and oats (regardless of use). He said May 15, Tuesday, the final date for the certification and aerial measurement is also the final date to certify to zero acreage planted if the farm has a base of any of the above mentioned commodities.

"As soon as we get your farm measured, you will be notified of the acreages and only have five days in which to adjust (if any) and certify your crops to this office," reminded Noble.

"Don't let the time slip up on you and go by without completing your certifications and measurements," urged the executive director.

Alzheimer's Disease Meet Scheduled Here

Rebecca 'Becky' McGee, of Amarillo, will be in Muleshoe on Tuesday, May 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Bailey County Civic Center meeting room to talk about Alzheimer's Disease. The program is being sponsored by the Bailey County Extension Home Economics Advisory Committee and is free of charge to the public, according to Linda Mullin, County Extension Agent.

Ms. McGee will show the film "Someone I Once Knew" and bring free literature on the subject.

The film, hosted by Dr. Tim Johnson, corrects the long-held belief that senility is an inevitable result of aging. Doctors and scientists now know that senility is a disease - Alzheimer's Disease - limited to approximately 15 percent of senior citizens.

It is important, yet difficult, to distinguish between Alzheimer's Disease victims and others who exhibit similar symptoms caused by depression, drug overuse or a physical ailment that affects the brain.

McGee learned about Alzheimer's Disease through family experience, but her own mother, who bore 16 children and reared nine by herself, was "sharp as a tack" even on the day she died at the age of 94.

When Becky Fogg married Welford E. McGee, she gained both a fine husband and a fine father-in-law. She developed a close relationship with her husband's family, and, since her job with a school district gave her free summers, came each summer to help care for her husband's father.

Soon she observed something was not right with her father-in-law. Doctors told her he was just getting senile or getting old early in life. McGee could not accept this as a natural part of aging because of her own mother's activity and mental clarity.

About five years after her father-in-law's death, the McGees visited relatives in Hannibal, Mo., and found

May Designated 'Law Month' To Honor Police

In case you were not aware of it, the month of May is designated as Law Month. It is set aside to pay tribute to all the law enforcement officers with all agencies across the United States.

Tuesday, May 15, is a special day for Law Enforcement Officers. It has been designated as Memorial Day, a day set aside each year to commemorate the memory of all officers who have lost their lives in the line of duty.

Local officers suggest you pause and reflect Tuesday, and remember not only the officers who have lost their lives, but what life would be like if we did not have those men, and women, who are dedicated to protecting our lives and our property.

No local recognitions are planned at this time, according to officers in Muleshoe.

571; Nicki Hagins, 2.529 and Jeff Hamilton, 2.508.

This year, with the graduation ceremonies moved back to the auditorium, each senior is given eight reserved seat tickets for family and friends.

The reserved seat tickets will be held until 7:50 p.m., and at that time, seats will be opened to the public. In addition to the reserved seat section, there will be approximately 400 seats available for the general public to watch the graduation exercise.

If necessary, according to MHS Principal Wayland Ethridge, a live video broadcast will be set up at the cafeteria for persons not able to get into the auditorium. He also suggests that small children perhaps be left at home in order to leave seats available for the adults.

Evaluating Long Distance Service

Selecting a long-distance telephone service may not be the biggest consumer decision you have to make this year, but it could be the most confusing.

More than 17 long-distance companies provide service in Texas and that number is growing, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist Nancy Granovsky. Some Texas communities are served by several long-distance companies and others by their regular telephone carrier only.

"Even where long-distance services are available, not everyone needs to subscribe, says Granovsky, who specializes in family financial management. If your present long-distance bills don't exceed $5-10 each month, you probably will not benefit by a special service, she explains.

When and where you make most of your long-distance calls are key indicators of whether you need a service, says the specialist. If you make many calls during business hours, or between 5 and 11 p.m., the service can save you money.

If you often call home from out of town or receive collect calls, rates from the alternate companies will also be cheaper, she adds.

But many variables will affect how much you actually pay. Granovsky suggests using the following questions to compare cost and features of long-distance services:

What is the range in costs for calls of 100-3000 miles in cents per minute? What are the rates for day, evening and night calls? Make sure you get these figures in cents per minute so you can make comparisons between services.

What are the basic fees? Is there a monthly subscription fee? What is the monthly minimum charge regardless of the number of calls made? Is there an initial set-up charge?

What billing unit is used? In general, the smaller the unit the better.

For example, a company that bills in 6 second increments might charge 4 cents for a call that lasted one second into a new minute, but a company that bills in 60 second increments might charge 42-50 cents for the extra second.

May calls be made to any interstate phone in the United States? To any phone in Texas?

What about "special" calls? May collect calls be made? Can operator-assisted calls be made? Are there extra charges for calls made away from home?

Are there any differences in rates (except those differences resulting from calls made at different times of the day) for calls made from home, collect calls, calls made out of state and calls made in state?

Are there any times during the day when calls are not permitted for the service option you are considering?

How will billing and billing errors be handled? Some companies will bill directly to a major credit card and others will send a separate bill. With some services, a very short call may go unbilled while an unanswered call may be billed to you if the phone rings for a long time.

"Consumers should weigh the pros and cons of alternate long distance service and compare options to select the one that best meets their needs," advises Granovsky. Since even a small savings on your monthly bill can add up over the years of telephone use, however, careful evaluation can be worthwhile, she adds.

International Sorority Celebrates 53 Years

On April 24 here in Muleshoe, the three chapters of Beta Sigma Phi, in concert with 12,500 chapters of 250,000 members throughout the world, celebrated Founder's Day.

During the depression, Walter W. Ross thought that young women needed more in their lives than work, responsibility and hardship. He thought a social and cultural outlet was needed and that he was the man to see that it was provided. His efforts brought seven young women in Abilene, Kansas, together on April 30, 1931, to form that sort of organization. Beta Sigma Phi began, and time proved Ross's idea a good one. Because Beta Sigma Phi has continued to meet their needs, on April 30 Ross was remembered by this largest Greek letter sorority in the world.

A typical year finds the chapters donating over $3,000,000 directly to charities, reflecting over 2,000,000 work hours. The chapters created their own international funds for purposes they selected. Their International Endowment Fund has donated over $1,000,000 to health research groups, to homes for underprivileged children and many other worthwhile causes. Their Exemplar Fund helps support Literary Village in India and through their international loan and scholarship funds, members themselves and their families are helped.

Members of the Muleshoe chapters share in both cultural and social activities. Members plan socials throughout the year, including traditional events like Founder's Day, the Valentine Ball and the Mother's Day luncheon at which the First Lady of the Year, an outstanding member of the community, is honored.

Alpha Zeta Pi, Xi Omicron Xi and Zeta Rho chapters met this year at the Muleshoe Country Club to observe Founder's Day. The mistress of ceremonies for the evening was Janelle Turner, president of the Beta Sigma Phi City Council. She installed the new city council officers for the coming year. They are president, Kristi Phelps; vice president, Barbara Finney; recording secretary, Tammy Black; corresponding secretary/social coordinator, Janelle Turner; treasurer, Gayla Toombs; and service coordinator, Lindy Schuster.

Each chapter president presented the officers for next year and the pledges to be installed as new members were introduced.

The highlight of the banquet was the presentation of special awards by each chapter. Alpha Zeta Pi honored Barbara Young as Pledge of the Year and Peggy Pohlmeier as the Woman of the Year. Xi Omicron Xi chose Vickie Black as their outstanding Woman of the Year and Sharon Agee was chosen by Zeta Phi to be honored as their Woman of the Year.

1984-85 CITY COUNCIL OFFICERS—(L-R) Kristi Phelps, president; Barbara Finney, vice president; Tammy Black, recording secretary; Gayla Toombs, treasurer; Lindy Schuster, service coordinator; and Janelle Turner, corresponding secretary / social coordinator, were installed as the 1984-85 City Council Officers for the three Beta Sigma Phi chapters in Muleshoe.

an uncle acting the same way. Then around seven years ago, another uncle in Denver began showing the same symptoms.

Fortunately for the Denver man, his family took him for extensive tests and were given the diagnosis of "senility of the Alzheimer's type." His doctor took names and addresses of all family members and forwarded them to the national organization.

In 1981, the national group contacted the McGees in Amarillo and told them about meetings in Texas on Alzheimer's Disease. But the nearest group was in Houston. So as a tribute to her father-in-law, Becky McGee agreed to hold six monthly meetings in Amarillo to find out if people were interested in knowing about the disease.

The gradual rise of interest as persons realized they were not alone in caring for someone with Alzheimer's Disease resulted in the formation of an Amarillo chapter in 1982.

Since then, Becky McGee has visited 27 Texas counties to explain Alzheimer's Disease and its symptoms, sent literature, and made personal visits to nearly 100 family groups, helping them to learn to cope with the disease.

In the film, "Someone I Once Knew" Beth Israel Hospital's Dr. Marsel Mesulam explains, "The problem in making a diagnosis of Alzheimer's Disease is very simple: there is no diagnostic test for the disease. And, so, obviously, we are dealing with an educated guess until we get to see the brain." Bill Stanek, former supervisor in a large corporation, is a 61-year old victim still physically active. Stanek's appearance is deceiving.

His wife, Betty, said, "Even the most simple tasks are beyond him... He is very aware of his shortcomings, that's why he becomes so depressed... I think about the saying, 'Come along, grow old with me, the best is yet to be,' but in my case, the best has already been."

The program also focuses on Priscilly Revley, wife and mother whose first Alzheimer's symptoms were trouble with speech. Her husband, Jim, explains the development of her condition as "a gauze-like veil diminishing memory slowing things down." Revley participates in a study of experimental treatments to alleviate Alzheimer symptoms.

The camera focuses on the dilemma of Ann Martin, 35, whose mother, Selma Martin, 76, is an Alzheimer victim in advanced stages of the disease: fulltime home care or a nursing home?

Winthrop Farrell, Harvard graduate and former bank executive, is visited regularly by his wife, Marie at Veteran's Administration home where special care is given to Alzheimer's victims. The camera shows her in a group therapy session, sharing her situation and the emotional pain of "a very long goodbye."

"Someone I Once Knew" also looks at the life of Joseph and Lillian Paradise, Rye, N.Y. The husband-wife team has had a drastic change in lifestyle since Lillian developed Alzheimer's disease. She exhibits some of the most common symptoms of this mysterious disease -- the past becomes more real for the victim.

Combined with these personal profiles are explanations of possible causes, treatments and cures, and resources for those who have contact with the victims.

This year, Welford and Becky McGee will spend their spring vacation at the fifth annual conference of the Alzheimer's Society of Canada in Calgary, Alberta.

The Amarillo Chapter meets at 7:30 p.m. the third Thursday of each month at Texas Tech Health Services Center, 1400 Wallace Blvd., Amarillo. The meetings are free of charge and are open to the public.

In addition, Mrs. McGee is working on starting nearby support groups that are chapter branches but more informal, meeting in homes to share both trials and tribulations and suggestions for care of an Alzheimer's victim.

Home Improvement Scams Affect Elderly

Now that spring is here, it's time to be on the watch for this year's home improvement scams.

While consumer frauds are widespread and pervasive, the elderly are special targets for these abuses, says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

According to recent research conducted by the U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging, home repair and improvement frauds were the most frequent type of frauds committed against the elderly, she explains.

Nationwide, 71% of the elderly own their own homes. The majority of these homes were built before 1940. This combination of the number of elderly who own homes and the age of the dwellings is especially attractive to phony repairmen, notes the specialist.

Some of the common scams include itinerant repairmen who operate on a "hit-and-run" basis, cautions Granovsky. They may use scare tactics to persuade the elderly person that the chimney will collapse, the roof will leak or some other drastic problem needs immediate attention.

The elderly person winds up paying high costs for poor workmanship, and sometimes for no work at all. Often the con man will ask for the money for paint of materials and then simply leave without doing any repairs.

The driveway resurfacer promises a first class job at a "bargain price," says the specialist. The resurfacer may claim to have some leftover asphalt from a construction job in the area which is too much trouble to haul back to the plant.

But you will usually get a driveway that is poorly laid or coated with material that will wash off with the next rain. Then when you try to locate the person to complain, you may discover that the name and address on the business card are phony.

Itinerant exterminators may offer a "free" termite inspection that will create a termite infestation, quickly treats it for a fee and then leave town.

Fake tree surgeons may also prey on elderly homeowners, offering to chop trees and bushes and rid them of any disease, she cautions.

Senior citizens -- or people of any age -- can avoid being taken in by these scams, says Granovsky, if they will do one or more of the following:

Call or write the Better Business Bureau for information about any unknown firms or individuals.

Ask the salesperson for name of local customers; then call them to find out about their experience with the company.

Does your community have a requirement that all door-to-door salespeople register with a local agency such as the police, mayor's office or chamber of commerce? If so, ask the salesperson to show you their registration cards -- tell them they will think about the offer, call the registration office, and then get in touch with the seller if you are still interested.

Stay in control. It is your house, your yard, your money and your time. Never sign a contract until you read every word and understand it.

SUDAN LITTLE DRIBBLERS—Jarod Bellar, Kyle Maxfield, Justin Holley, Jay Harrison, Bryan Baker, Gary Boyles, Monty Edwards, Charlie Smith, Quincy Lee, Quinton Lee, Tray Baker, and Jeremy Miller are all members of the Sudan Little Dribbler basketball team, who has not lost a game in tournament play in four years. Their coaches are Joe Bellar, Corley Baker and Rodney Maxfield.

Sudan Little Dribblers Win National Championship

Sudan boys Little Dribblers started their journey to a National Championship with a best two out of three series in Plains, for the Regional Championship.

Plains, the defending National champions, were determined to defend their title, but ran into a hustling team of players led by Kyle Maxfield with 12 points, Jay Harrison, 6, Gary Boyles, 6; Bryan Baker, 4; and Jarod Bellar, 3 points to clinch a victory for the Sudan team.

Justin Holley has a great game on defense pulling down 10 rebounds. The final score was Sudan 31 and Plains 26 to take a one game lead in the series.

The next night saw the defending National Champions roaring into Sudan more determined than ever to defeat the Sudan team. The game was nip and tuck all the way til the fourth quarter. Sudan put on a warming man to man defensive press to stifle the Plains offensive machine.

Sudan was led by Jarod Bellar with 11, Justin 11, Kyle with 7, Jay 3, Bryan 3, Gary 3 and Monty 3. The final score Sudan 41 Plains 30 and a trip to the National Little Dribblers Tournament.

The National Little Dribblers Tournament attracts teams from different regions of the United States including Illinois, Louisiana, Minnesota, New Mexico, Texas, Washington and one foreign country, Juarez, Mexico.

Denver City hosted the tournament.

Sudan drew Centerville, a team from East Texas for their first game. The Centerville team was big and quick and Sudan had their work cut out for them to win this game. Sudan took control of the game early behind the scoring of Kyle Maxfield with 21; Justin 8; Jarod 5; Quinton Lee 2; and Jay 1. The fourth quarter almost spelled doom for Sudan, turning the ball over eight times to Centerville but held on to win Sudan 37-33. Edwards, Baker, Boyles, Bellar, Maxfield, and Holley had a good defensive game. Next day, Sudan met Crowell, the winner over Southwest Louisiana. Crowell had a team built around an outside shooter and a big inside man. To win this game, Sudan had to play pressure defense and control the boards and inside game. This they did, with great defensive play by Harrison, Edwards and Holley inside on Crowell's big man, and Boyles, Maxfield, Baker, and Bellar putting pressure on their outside game. Scoring for Sudan were Maxfield 12; Bellar 8; Holley 6; Harrison 4; Baker and Boyles 2 and the final score was Sudan 34 Crowell 20. This gave Sudan a berth in the finals of the tournament.

Sudan again met Crowell in the Championship game, because of their victory over Centerville in the semi-final game.

Again Sudan stuck with what got them to the finals, their swarming pressure defense! Sudan just frustrated the Crowell offense to take a 49-21 victory, and a first-ever Little Dribblers National Championship for Sudan and the end to their intended journey! The leading scorers were Maxfield 24; Bellar 11; Holley and Harrison 6 each and Boyles 2.

These young men are true champions on the basketball court as well as off the court. The team broke three records during the tournament: Individual High score one series by Maxfield with 57 points; Aggregate High Score 70; Sudan 49 and Crowell 21 and Aggregate High Score in Championship game 70-Sudan 49 and Crowell 21.

Dribblers Win Trophies At Sundown Tournament

Four Sudan Little Dribbler teams fought to Sundown this past weekend and came away with four trophies. The teams played very impressively and were continually complimented for their play.

The minor league girls, after losing to Tatum, N.M. were also able to fight back to beat Whiteface for third place. On Friday night, the girls had to adjust to new rules but were able to keep on trying before they fell short at the final gun.

Then on Saturday morning, the girls had made all the necessary adjustments and were able to defeat Whiteface for the trophy and individual ribbons. They beat Whiteface girls 14-12. In the Whiteface game, Griggs made 6; Williams added 3; Reid 2 and McKillip 1. Other members of the team were Gayla Rasco, Elizabeth Cervantez, Kay Lynn Gordon, K'Lynn Welch and Mechelle Weaver.

Retired U. S. Army Clark dies at age 87.

Now Temik for sorghum.

You can now get solid protection against sorghum pests above and below ground, with TEMIK® aldicarb pesticide.

Below ground, TEMIK, applied at planting, controls nematodes in the soil on contact. The developing root system is protected from nematode damage that can stunt seedling sorghum and often severely damage an entire crop.

Then, as the plant grows, TEMIK aldicarb is absorbed through the root system and spreads around-the-clock protection throughout the plant.

Above ground, TEMIK aldicarb reduces damage from sucking insects for 30-45 days. Foliar sprays often do not reach chinch bugs that cluster on lower parts of the stem or greenbugs that feed on the underside of leaves. TEMIK, with its systemic action, spreads protection throughout the plant. One in-furrow application of TEMIK aldicarb pesticide can do the job of 1 to 3 applications of foliar sprays on seed sorghum and 1 to 2 applications on commercial sorghum.

With the protection of TEMIK, sorghum plants start strong, develop fast, and yield big. Systemic protection above and below ground, for healthy plants, bigger yields, with fewer trips over the field.

"In 1984, I intend to plant 110 acres of cotton, and I intend to use Burst on every acre!"
-Larry Stokes Plainview, TX

Burst® Yield Booster™ is here — and High Plains cotton farming will never be the same again! Burst is a plant bioregulator which promotes increased yields of lint and seed through hormone activity. What kinds of yield increases? We asked Burst user Larry Stokes:

"In 1983, I treated cotton with Burst at ½ pint per acre at about ten to 15 percent bloom stage. The test plot was treated exactly the same as the rest of the field — watered the same, plowed the same and harvested completely separate from the Burst-treated and ginned completely separate. My Burst-treated cotton yielded approximately 80 pounds more lint per acre than the check plot. The root system of the Burst cotton was noticeably better, and the fruiting of the Burst cotton was somewhat closer together."

And Burst will make a believer out of you, too — just prove it to yourself!

Your Burst Authorized Distributor is ready to show you how to significantly increase your yields through Crop Physiology Management (CPM)™ and the use of Burst Yield Booster!

FOR COTTON

Peak production, cost control, profit, loss—they're part of any business, including a successful cotton farming operation.

These days, a farmer has to follow good business practices to stay ahead. And one product that keeps him ahead is TEMIK® aldicarb pesticide.

TEMIK® improves the bottom line because it does so much to improve cotton. Controls thrips, plant bugs and mites for 10 solid weeks. Protects developing roots from nematodes. Improves plant vigor. Returns high yields of high quality cotton. And consistently outperforms any other single product.

It may seem to cost more per acre. But all TEMIK® aldicarb does, it actually lowers the cost of producing each pound of cotton. And that means a better return, no matter what the market price.

For dependable crop protection and top return on investment, cotton growers stay with products they can count on.
