Child Safety Is Everybodys Business

National Child Safety Week - and then apply the lessons for all the weeks that are to come.

With the opening of another school year, it's time to recall once again the danger, of bicycle riding.

In recent years, from 500 to 700 deaths and 30,000 to 40,000 injuries a year have occured in collisions between bicycles and motor behicles. By far the greater number of these deaths and injuries were suffered by children from five to fourteen years of age.

As we said before. parents must assume ; the major responsibility for the safety of their children. Parents must see that their young riders are taught when and where bicycling . is gere we they must help safe condition; they must promote a friendly and cooperative spirit toward the law enforcement officers; they must held the child develop an understanding of the purpose of traffic . gulations.

Here are some important rules to help your child work out for safe bike routes to and from school, or any other place he might customarily ride Bike Riders using the roadways are subject to the same regulation responsibility, and privileges as motor vehicle drivers: & Observe all traffic regulations - rod and green lights, one way streets, stop signs. teep to the right & ride single file. Leep a safe distance behind all vehicles. Have a headlight on front and a danger light on the rear of your bicycle. Wear white or light-colored cloting, if you ever ride at night. (Many cities, including Spearmen, prohibit night bicycling!) Have a bell or horn to warm of approach. Always ride at a safe speed. Cive pedestrians right of way. Avoid sidewalks, if possible; use extra care when riding on walks.

Look out for cars pulling out into traffic. Leep sharp lookout for the sudden opening of car doers. Ride in a straight line. Do not weave in or out of traffic or swerve from side to side.

Slow down at all intersections and look to right and left before crossing Be sure your brakes work properly, and keep your bicycle in perfect running condition. Never carry other riders - carry no packages that obstruct vision or prevent proper control of your bicycle. Never hitch on another behicle, stunt or race in traffic. Never ride two on a bike. If your child plans to ride to and cycle this fall, take the advice of Junior "igh Principal, James Penderghaft, get a short length of chain and a padlock for your youngster so it will help prevent someone else stealing
