Wagon Train Off To Muleshoe

Members of the Rolling Plains Wagon Train returned to Spearman Monday from their 16 day trek to Oklahoma City and the dedication of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and the Western Heritage Center.

The trip was enjoyed by all who participated. They attended many celebrations along the way. Following a few days rest, the members will load their wagons and haul them to Muleshoe, Texas to take part in the unveiling of the world's only memorial to the mule.

The mule's name is Old Pete, an unpretentious Muleshoe mule who has come to symbolize all the fond memories and the tributes of those who once feared the rabbit-eared animal would fade into the past with nary a kind word said.

Not a real mule, of course, but a life-sized replica of the cussed antankerous beast that helped build America, Old Pete will be taken from the wooden crate he has been hidden in and placed in a pedestal in downtown Muleshoe. When the curtain is drawn away on July 3, it will unveil the mule.

Making the dedication address at the unveiling of memorial to the mule will be Texas Attorney General Waggoner Carr.

Since 1961, more than 700 people from 28 states and two foreign countries have contributed money toward the establishment of the statue. It was made by Fiberglass Menagerie a California firm who delivered it to Muleshoe Memorial wagons and Cadillacs mingled in the parade through downtown Oklahoma City.

The dignitaries and guests gathered at the northeast edge of the city atop Persimmon Hill for the formal opening and dedication of the $2.5 million museum memorializing the frontiersmen who settled the West.

The dedication marked the end of a 13-year drive to build the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center.

It began when the late Chester A. Reynolds, Kansas City garment manufacturer, visited the Will Rogers Memorial in Claremore, Oklahoma. He thought other great Westerners should be honored, too. Reynolds, who died in 1958, contacted the governors of 17 states in the West and persuaded them to appoint trustees of an interstate commission to build the museum.

The shrine, on a overlooking the City, is expected to attract ial Association whose president, Gil Lamb estimated it to cost at about $5,000.

Old Pete spends most of his time working in the Bailey County tomato patches. He was chosen as the model for the statue late last year.

The pedestal for the statue is located in the center of a 20 by 70 foot plot two blocks from the heart of Muleshoe. The land was donated to the city by the Santa Fe Railroad.

Under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce, the city will have a three-day celebration built around the unveiling ceremonies. At non the mule memorial will be unveiled in a brief ceremony followed by a parade headed by the 15 wagons of the famous Spearman Rolling Plains Wagon Train which are pulled by the famous mules.

Zebbie's barbecue will cater to the train while at Muleshoe and will also serve a beef and buffalo barbecue July 3 on the grass of the football stadium. During the barbecue, a historical pageant will be held, followed by a brief fireworks display.

A campaign to preserve the memory of the mule began in 1961 when a Marlin, Texas man, Dr. J. B. Barnett became disturbed over the prospect of mules disappearing from the American scene. Dr. Barnett began searching for a place to construct a memorial to the mule and Muleshoe civic leader quickly offered their town. The life-sized fiberglass statue stands five feet, four inches high, and will be placed atop a base of Arkansas stone near the intersection of U. S. 70 and 84. It is described as a "contemplative pose" of a mule, recalling the remark of George Washington more than a million persons during the next year.

The three sided structure is composed of a series of high, peaked concrete roofs, soaring 80 feet. Glass walls add to the feeling of "wide open spaces" the designers sought.

Dean Krakel, director of the museum, describes a 45-40 foot relief map of the United States as the "hub of the institution." It's displays also include paintings and statues, stereo-recreated sounds of the west and a hall of fame for western movies.

In the open area in front of the museum wave the flags of the 17 participating states.

It is estimated the colorful parade which included the Rolling Plains Wagon Train, drew up to 100,000 spectators.

Of all the celebrations in which the train has participated, the trek to Oklahoma City will certainly be the most remembered up to this date.

Carver who said he never saw a mule "that didn't look like he was thinking."

They will leave Spearman Thursday for Muleshoe and take part in the events Friday and Saturday.

When the Rolling Plains Wagon Train members complete the Muleshoe celebration they will return to their homes in Spearman, rest up and begin planning another trip for the future.

The Way I See It

God works through His Holy Spirit, using the Word and Sacraments. The purpose is to get man, dead in trespasses and sin, to see his lost condition, to accept God's grace and be saved. Then the Holy Spirit helps the child of God to grow in grace.

First, the Holy Spirit must awaken the sinner and call him to repentance. Unless a person sees his lost condition, he will not look for help in Christ.

So the Law must be preached for in the Spirit tries to awaken man's conscience. When the sinner sees his lost condition because he has broken God's Holy Law, he becomes alarmed. It is then that the Spirit calls us by the Gospel. The Spirit invites the sinner to seek the grace or forgiveness in Christ.

ing are wrong. Actually the Bible doesn't say these areas. But the Bible does state when we think and do evil thoughts and deeds, we cannot be with God unless we are cleansed.

So God in His Law awakens us as sinners and we obey the call of God to repent. We admit our guilt. We feel sorry we have offended God. We confess our sin to God and ask for forgiveness. We believe that God, for the sake of Jesus Christ, forgives all our sins. Thus we want to live a different life. We thus are converted by the Spirit. This is not the work of man. We often forget this and try to change our own life.

Thus we have had a new change take place in us, the new birth. It is done by God's Word alone. More on this next time.

New Officers Are Installed In Club

Mrs. Ruth Graham, outgoing District Director of the Business and Professional Women's Club, installed the new officers for the Spearman Club, Thursday, 7:30 p.m. in the Hospitality room of the First State Bank Building. Using the theme "Club Must Be Like a Garden," during the installation, Mrs. Graham used flowers to be placed by each new officer in the club garden as she gave a very inspiring speech.

In the speech, Mrs. Graham said "Each member must have faith an courage to make the club as a beautiful garden this year. Patience is a flower you must have and also hope, service, kindness, and thoughtfulness then you will have a lovely garden but it will not grow increasingly unless you show some progress. Progress is the activities of today and the assurance of tomorrow. It's everybody's business in this old world of ours to pull up all the weeds we find to make room for the flowers; so that every little garden no matter where it lies will look like one God made, and called it paradise."

In closing the installation, she said "It has been a privilege to work with the Spearman club and it is also an obligation for members to serve as officers of the club and to fulfill and share their duties."

The program was presented by Miss Pat Massad who gave a reading "The Snow Goose" by Paul Gallico. The very talented Pat kept the audience hypnotized as they lived the experience of Snow Goose. Pat was sent a gift of appreciation for her fine program.

Deadly Errors Made By Boaters

The Texas Safety Association today urged Texas boating enthusiasts to join in observing National Safe Boating Week, July 4-10, by brushing up on boating safety.

Veteran sailors as well as unseasoned sailors are often guilty of safety violations," J. O. Musick, TSA General Manager, said. "Safe Boating Week is a good time for all boaters to brush up on safety precautions."

The Association director said that education in the safe equipping and operation of boats is a fundamental necessity in keeping boating fatalities to a minimum.

Across the nation, 1,000 persons were killed and 2,000 were injured in boating accidents during 1964. The National Safety Council has found that most mishaps involved the average boater the one with the small outboard engines.

Most of them made one or more of the following deadly errors:

1) NO LIFESAVING DEVICE. This is the number one deadly error for boaters. If the hundreds of persons who are thrown or fall overboard every year were wearing lifesaving devices, 90% of them would survive.

2) OVERLOADING. The U. S. Coast Guard has a simple rule: "If the boat looks or feels overloaded, it probably is, so don't take it out."

3) OVERCONFIDENCE. More than 40 percent of accidents last year involved operators ages 26 to 50 with more than 500 hours of operating experience. The safe boater, no matter how expert he may be, enters new situation cautiously and recognizes both his own and the boat's limitations.

4) EXCESSIVE DRINKING. The hazard of drinking and driving belongs to the waterways as well as to highways. Their judgment impaired, boaters take fantastic

5) OUT IN BAD WEATHER. Some skippers get caught in storms because they do not keep an eye on changing weather or refuse to appear. Even worse, some set out during bad weather or when it is predicted. All skippers should check the weather forecast before starting out, know where storm warnings are posted, and most important, always obey them.

6) INEXPERIENCE. Too many novice sailors jump into their new boats without a whit of knowledge about boat-handling. No one should take the helm who has not had lessons in proper boat handling.

7) RECKLESSNESS. Speeding, sharp turns, and lack of attention all take their death toll. Negligent operation of a boat is inexcusable and illegal.

8) CARELESSNESS IN MAINTENANCE. The main danger comes from faulty engine and fuel systems, especially in inboard gasoline-run vessels. To make sure your boat is in tip-top shape ask the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary to give it a safety inspection.

9) VIOLATING RULES OF THE ROAD. Boats are subject to traffic yielding right of way, speed laws that govern such things as lights. These laws vary according to the body of water-lakes, rivers, oceans. A skipper must know and obey laws applying to the area in which he is operating. It will keep him alive and out of a lawsuit.

10) LACK OF COMMON SENSE. The seaman who wants to stay alive knows he can't depend on others to do his thinking; he must take extra precautions just because they're common sense.

Ninety-one Hereford breeders were placed on the Association's official roster during May. The Association maintains active accounts for more than 60,000 breeders of registered Herefords over the nation.

The Hereford Association, during the last fiscal year, recorded 493,160 purebred calves. The year's total recordings were the seventh highest on record and almost twice the combined registrations of other major beef breeds.

Ruth Miller's Son, Major Robert Ley To Come Home From Overseas Duty

By IAL BOYLE of the Associated Press

In a few weeks now the American major whom the Vietnamese call "Tiger Eyes" will be coming home, and he is counting the days. The major is the son of Mrs. Ruth Miller of Spearman. "The bullets seem to hit closer all the time," said Major Robert E. Ley, 34, McAlister, Oklahoma, whose wife and four children now live in Edgewater Park, New Jersey. "But you can't afford to get overcautious. That's more dangerous than being reckless." The major, a slender former Army tankman won his nickname because of his piercing green eyes. He wears a bright orange scarf into battle and comes from a family of warriors. His great-grandfather, a Choctaw Indian from Georgia, lost his leg at the age of 13 while fighting for the Confederacy in the Battle of Chickamauga. The major is a 1954 graduate of West Point. Ley is operations officer of the Da Nang special sector. He and the senior sector advisor, Lt. Col. Charles H. Brown, El Paso, Texas, also an ex-tank officer, have rung up a record in South Viet Nam that will make them remembered in that country for a long time. Last October their advisory team, consisting of three officers and eight enlisted men, was given the task of helping organize the safety of a 150 square mile sector. It included the city of Da Nang and its air base. "We didn't even have a desk at the start," said Ley.

They had six Vietnamese companies strung around the perimeter and two in reserve. Against them was an enemy force roughly equal in number but more experienced—four "main force" Viet Cong companies and 750 guerrillas. "The only way we could beat them was to go out and fight them," said Ley. "We didn't curl up and wait for them to hit us. We took the initiative. We surprised them."

The team organized innumerable patrols and 42 assaults of company size or larger. In one operation they flew 700 men in helicopters to smash an enemy grouping. Their aggressive record speaks for itself.

"We've killed 400 Viet Cong, captured 400, and taken about 100 weapons," said Ley. "We've had only 25 men killed and 60 wounded. We've never had a man taken prisoner, or one who defected. We've never had an American killed or wounded. Our troops have stood a fought. Men won't fight unless they are well led. Our Vietnamese officers are fine."

Twice the Viet Cong made attacks on the air base but failed to reach it. The arrival of U. S. Marines in March left the special sector force free to step up its attacks.

"Now there are only about 2 guerrillas left in the area," said the major. "We figure it is only a matter of hunting them down and shooting them."

Ley likes to go on the operations as well as plan them. He has killed three Viet Cong and been awarded the Vietnamese Gallantry Medal with Silver Star.

Ley's mother, Ruth Miller, is counting the hours until her son returns.

County Agents Report

- Robt. Adamson -

It is not the load that weighs us down, it is the way we carry it.

YARD CLINIC Robert Berry, Area Plant Pathologist, will be in Spearman Tuesday, July 6 to help you with your disease problems. Mr. Berry will be in my office, in the basement of the Courthouse from 10 to 12 on Tuesday morning for anyone who would like to bring plant specimens by or consult with him. In the afternoon, beginning at 1:30, we will have a tour of some homes here in Spearman to look at some lawn diseases, etc.

HOT WEATHER & EGG SHELLS Hot weather always brings many problems for the egg producer. A condition that often causes eggmen concern is thin or weak egg shells.

Shell texture becomes weaker as the hen's laying year progresses. Thus, as the flock ages it will produce larger and larger percent of poor quality shells.

Also, the amount of calcium that the bird takes into her body has a definite bearing on the quality of shell she produces. Since the warm weather reduces the amount of feed eaten by the birds, the calcium content of the ration should be increased.

April through September the laying ration should contain 3.00 to 3.5 percent calcium. All calcium should be given to birds in the laying feed. Layers which are given free choice calcium supplements, such as oyster shell and ground limestone, will often overeat on this supplemental calcium, thereby reducing their intake of essential nutrients and egg production.

Since summer heat seems to impair the bird's calcium absorption mechanism, anything that can be done to reduce the temperature in the laying house will not only improve the bird's comfort resulting in more eggs, but also will keep shell quality deterioration to a minimum.

CATTLE OUTLOOK Cattle prices during the last two months have averaged well above those of the same period a year ago, reveals John G. McHarey, Extension Economist, Texas A&M University.

"With few exceptions, range and pasture grasses are in good condition in Texas, and grazing prospects through the early part of the summer are excellent," he explains. "Range feed is generally showing good growth over the Western range area of the United States."

This is favorable from a price standpoint because it permits producers to hold feeder cattle on the range longer. This produces orderly marketing.

Although feeder cattle prices remained low through February, they increased in March and April. The recent rise of feeder cattle prices can be attributed to the increase of fed cattle prices, strong demand and a smaller seasonal supply.

McHarey says that feeder cattle prices will likely stay above year-earlier levels through the rest of the second quarter and into the summer of 1965.

During this period, it is anticipated that cattle feeders will continue to place large numbers of cattle on feed. At the same time, good grazing conditions will enable ranchers to hold more feeder cattle on the ranges. This will restrict available supplies of feedlot replacements and will tend to strengthen feeder cattle prices.

A further increase of cattle prices would probably curtail the slaughter of non-fed animals as feedlot replacements and will strongly with packers for these cattle, the economist explains.

Feeder cattle prices in the fall and early winter of 1965 will depend largely upon range conditions at that time, McHarey adds.

He points out that fed cattle prices were steady through the winter, averaging $2 to $3 above those recorded a year earlier. In late April, they were about $4 above prices in the early spring of last year.

These prices may decline slightly about mid-year 1965, but in the third quarter, July, August and September, they are expected to average about the same as those of a year earlier.

HOMEMAKING NOTES

By Linda Webb
Lawn disease problems have increased in several areas of the state due to heavy rains and cooler weather this spring, although lawn and garden diseases (and insects!) are problems all year long.

Robert Berry, will be in Spearman, Tuesday, July 6 in the County Agent's office. He will be there to hold individual consultations with you about problems you may have in your lawn care landscape plants, to help you solve these problems. He will have available information particularly on disease and insect control.

The consultations will be held 10:00 to 12:00 noon. Anyone is invited to come in and visit with Dr. Berry.

At 1:30 p.m., a tour of some lawn problems will be conducted in which all interested persons are invited to participate. The tour will leave the courthouse.

People faced with decisions of what to give the bride-to-be can use this helpful kitchen equipment list.

Pieces of equipment used most often in the kitchen are one set of measuring cups, a set of measuring spoons and a set of mixing bowls. Oven glass mixing bowls can double as refrigerator dishes, baking dishes, or salad bowls.

Other necessary equipment includes one each of these items: a perforated mixing spoon, spatula, butter knife, vegetable peeler, and vegetable brush. Also, one small strainer, a large strainer that can substitute as a sifter, an egg beater, rolling pin, can opener, pancake turner, long-handled fork, and a grater.

After the basic essentials have been provided, you will find these first additions helpful: a cookie sheet, cooling rack, cake tube pan, two nine-inch pie plates, two round cake pans, a muffin pan, teakettle, salad or pudding molds, utility knife, and carving knife.

Additional possibilities include an apple corer, egg slicer, knife sharpener, doughnut cutter, pastry blender, and a pastry canvas. Also a fish mold spice cabinet, pressure saucepan, individual mold, spice cabinet pressure saucepan, individual molds, slicing knife, melon ball cutter, kitchen shear, cookie cutters and a cookie press.

Further equipment includes a breadbox, cake box, canister set, tear, portable oven; meat, deep-fat and candy thermometers, and a French chef's knife.

A breakfast idea for something "different" - stir sugar coated cereal in vanilla ice cream, top with banana slices and blueberries. That should wet anyone's appetite!

THE LAST NOTE: - Most of us can stand an occasional crisis. What winds you down is the frequency of the occasions.

Independence Day will soon be upon us. And many a person will nostalgically wonder, "What became of the old time Fourth of July?"

There are various answers. The organization of the country is a mobility which, whatever its attractions, makes for family rootlessness. Another, the enormous distractions of the present are still another. And so is the preoccupation with material things which tends to obscure the older and often more profound

At any rate, the Fourth of July is a special and a happy occasion. It was a happy occasion of fun and reverence for the men and principles that made up our rich history. The flag flew everywhere. The speakers' stands in the town squares blazed with bunting, and the hands tirelessly played patriotic airs. Fireworks exploded endlessly, ranging from the ubiquitous firecracker to stunning set pieces celebrating great events of the past. It was a wonderful day.

Not the least of its attractions were the fire addresses, made by well-known public figures of the time. Some of these, needless to say, were of a low oratorical level. But all of them had one thing in common. They paid tribute to freedom, and how it was to be maintained and defended. The theme of patriotism, dedicated, unabashed. And every listener went away with a little better knowledge of the inheritance as a people and a little more determination to keep the spirit of the founders.

The old-time celebrations will be few and far between this year. But, whatever we do, wherever we go on that day, let us have a moment to think what freedom and independence, in the best sense of those words, mean. Let us determine that our heritage shall never be lost.

Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Ashbill and family have returned from a two-week vacation in Salinas, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Boatwright and Mrs. W. T. Boatwright, of the family of Denver, Colorado, are in Mrs. J. L. Francis Kress, Texas.

Province and enjoyed their sightseeing trips of national parks. Before returning home they stopped to see Custer's Monument in Billings, Montana.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilmett were her parents from Streator, Illinois who visited for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Baggerly and children took a trip to Taos, New Mexico for a retreat at their cabin. Max and Steve fished for a few days and returned home, but Dorothy Faye and Camille relaxed all week.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Clark for a Saturday night dinner were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Brown from Darrouzett.

Put Safety First
Over 4th Holidays

The Texas Safety Association today recently issued its annual "Accidental Death Alert" for the July 4th holiday period and called on Texans to put safety first in all activities.

"Holidays can be a time to remember, or a time of tragedy," S. Ross Carr of Houston, TSA President said. "It often depends on knowing and using your safety rules - whether you are driving on the highways, spending the weekend at the lake, or just relaxing at home."

The TSA "Accidental Death Alert" begins at 12:01 a.m. Friday and ends at 11:59 p.m. Sunday. It coincides with the Department of Public Safety's traffic accident watch - "Operation Motorcade."

The Association is coordinating its traffic safety program with the DPS and other state agencies. Subject for the TSA safety promotion is "Courtesy and Caution."

"Adding courtesy to caution can take you a long way in traffic. Your attitude about your driving and that of other drivers has a profound effect on the possibilities of your being involved in an accident," Carr said.

"Treat other drivers the way you want to be treated - with courtesy," the Association has urged, especially those associated with water.

"Boating enthusiasts should take all safety precautions when putting their crafts into crowded waters. Carry a life preserver for everyone on board. Don't overload your craft with too many passengers, and watch for swimmers, water skiers and other boats," Carr advised.

He reminded homeowners to be on the alert for the backyard variety accidents and advised parents to be on guard for fireworks accidents.

"If your celebration calls for a backyard barbecue, be sure to use caution in handling starter fluids. Treat fires with respect. Keep a water hose handy to put out any fire that gets out of control," he said.

"Parents should take charge of small children at a safe distance and supervise the handling of fireworks by older children. "Even those harmless looking little sparklers can be dangerous. They burn at a temperature of 1,650 degrees, which is nearly hot enough to melt copper."

In concluding, Carr stated that each year many lives are lost during holidays simply because people put away their safety rules for the occasion.

"But, the fact is," he said, "there just aren't any holidays on accidents!"

Seminar On Cattle
Futures To Be Held In Gruver

A. G. Edwards & Sons, one of the oldest New York Stock Exchange member firms, will present a seminar on July 17, dealing in the advantages of hedging the use of cattle futures.

The purpose of this meeting is to explain the fundamentals, objectives, and functions of cattle futures. This will be discussed thoroughly with complete examples from the day cattle are delivered and the contracts are repurchased. The meeting is designed to help with personal situations and all questions that arise will be gladly discussed and answered.

Mr. Billy Bob Harris, registered representative of the firm in the Dallas office and former resident of Gruver, has recognized the need for cattlemen of this area to be informed of the opportunities of a sound commodity analyst specializing in cattle futures. These gentlemen are Mr. Les Lagoni of Dallas, and Mr. Jack Kowalski of Wichita, Kansas, who is head of the Commodity Department. Mr. Don Raskom, Senior Commodity Analyst, has been very active in the program since its beginning, and is one of the leading authorities in cattle futures.

The panel discussion, consisting of these four people, will discuss at full length the benefits and operating structure of this program. All are urged to attend the meeting. Coffee and donuts will be served.

Walter Rogers'

Archie Brown, an open and avowed Communist for more than a quarter of a century, served on the executive board of Local 10 of the ILWU in 1959, 1960, and in 1961. In 1961 he was indicted for "knowingly and wilfully serving as a member of an executive board of a labor organization while a member of the Communist Party, in wilful violation of Title 29, United States Code, Section 504."

A jury found Archie guilty and he was sentenced to six months imprisonment. The Court of Appeals held that Section 504 of Title 29 USC violated the First and Fifth Amendments to the Constitution, and reversed the conviction. The case was presented to the Supreme Court. That Court in an opinion written by Chief Justice Warren on June 7, 1965 held that the statute was a bill of attainder and therefore violated Article I, Section 9, of the Constitution, and affirmed the decision of the Court of Appeals setting aside the conviction and four dissenting. The following Justices: White, Clark, Harlan and Stewart, disagreed with the conclusions of Chief Justice Warren and the other four members of the Court.

The Archie Brown decision will in my opinion, go down in the history of this country as one of the most infamous decisions rendered by the Supreme Court. It will, I hope create enough furor throughout the country to force remedial action.

Those of us in the Congress who have long challenged the advisability of the absolute power in the Supreme Court to declare acts of Congress unconstitutional look upon this decision as a perfect example of the tragedy against which we have long warned. The decision in this case, to set free a well-known and avowed Communist who had openly and flagrantly violated a Federal law, was based primarily on a misconstruction and a misinterpretation of the term "bill of attainder." I have long argued that, if this can be done, there is no limit to the power of the Supreme Court of the United States. Such decisions are final and not appealable.

It is interesting to note that the Court held in Lovett that subduing that Congress cannot weed dangerous persons out of the labor movement, any more than the Court held in Lovett that subversives must be permitted to hold sensitive government positions. Rather, we make again the point made in Lovett: that Congress must accomplish such results by rules of general applicability. It cannot specify the people upon whom the sanction it prescribes is to be levied. Under our Constitution, Congress possesses legislative authority, but the task of adjudication must be left to other tribunals.

The difficulty lies in the fact that every time Congress exercises its legislative authority in this field, the Supreme Court declares it unconstitutional.

This problem can be solved by the people, through a Constitutional Amendment limiting the power of the Supreme Court with regard to declaring legislative acts unconstitutional. In the meantime, those of us who have long sought a solution short of amending the Constitution, will continue to search for means and methods through statutory provisions to stop the dangerous course represented by the decision in the case of the United States V. Archie Brown.

Post 154 Re-elect
Legion Officers

All but one of the officers of the Hansford County Sullivan R. Spivey American Legion Post 154 have been re-elected.

The only new officer is Paul Gurfury who was elected vice commander.

Other officers are Glen Truax, commander; Tom Spivey, adjutant; Elmo McClellan, Sr., chairman; Elmo McClellan, Jr., finance officer; Lloyd Stavlo, sergeant at arms; O. V. Walker, Jr., past commander and Pete Vernon, service officer.

Attorney General Waggoner Carr has announced the appointment of Mr. R. D. McClellan of Gruver to serve as official representative for Hansford County, for the 196 ATTORNEY GENERAL'S YOUTH CONFERENCE ON CRIME.

This third Annual Conference will attract more than 1600 outstanding youth leaders from throughout Texas to study projects for the prevention of delinquency that can be implemented in Texas communities.

Many outstanding programs have already begun in Texas as a result of the first two conferences including youth juries, programs for tutoring students to prevent drop-outs, and various other community service projects. Civic clubs, churches and other organizations or interested individuals will sponsor delegates, and individuals interested in participating should contact Box 158.

The conference will be held in Austin August 20-22.
