Chamber Sect'y. Relates Need Of 3 Bedroom Homes

A Great big Thank You to Brad Beedy He is doing a marvelous job as Chairman of the Retail Merchants Activity Committee. Anyone who can get all of those plans made with only seven people attending must be doing a fine job. Crazy Days should be a huge success from all the reports on the different projects. Sounds like fun.

The Way I 'C' It!

"The Churches Impact" Let's get America moving was a late presidential campaign. The Church hasn't always sensed the need of movement. The Church is often the last to accept world changes and how we will meet them or use them.

The laypeople, and clergy, often want Status quo. and are afraid to go on paths untrodden. To resist the movement church members often are like Alice in Wonderland--the knight on back of a horse facing one direction and being carried in another.

"Pray for us brethren that the work of the Lord may speed on" said Paul.

The Church should be stirred up like hot horns. We often buzz-no impact. World missions dribble along at a horrible slow pace. Our education from the cradle to the grave should use the best methods, and tools. The TV hasn't been used by the church (Too costly)? Or do we need to present a united front instead of battling each other's denomination?

It's going to cost the Church to move. Will the church cut back when the rest of the world is on the move? Do we take the Gospel as a myth? When it really is the power of eternal life and can change destinies of men.

A man was operated upon. When he came to, the shades were down in the room. Why he asked? The nurse said "We had a big fire outside and we were afraid you'd wake up and think you were in hell."

God's Kingdom will come to people's lives. --even without our help. But it is for us His own Son died and we are called to be witnesses of this message of hope to the world. There is work, money and risk involved. We are aware of that. But is this the time to sound retreat?

Never flag in zeal. Why might we? Why should we not?

O Church (The broad Christian church awake---lift up your eyes and see the challenge of humanity stumbling through life with no eternal hope.

The Church is a sleeping giant. We must stir--begin to move more dynamically than we have. Go--preach the Gospel.

I don't believe God ever thought it would take so "cotton picking" long.

HANSFORD CO. USO
Hansford county has been assessed a quota of $200.00 for the national United Service Organization fund, according to Jay Taylor regional director. The name of W. J. Miller has been submitted and accepted as chairman of the USO organizational of Hansford county. Miller stated that committeemen for a drive to raise the funds assigned as a quota for this county would be announced soon. The drive for funds was begun in most places in the nation June 3rd and is scheduled to end July 5th.

WHEAT QUOTA VOTED ON
Hansford county voted 385 to 1 for wheat referendum. Wheat farmers turned out en-masse to insure an 85 percent parity and near dollar wheat by voting for the wheat quota.

According to a telegram received by Joe Hatton, County Agent, wheat loans under the terms of the new wheat quota regulations will average 98c per bushel over the state of Texas.

The parity payment means literally thousands of dollars additional revenue for Hansford county on the 1941 wheat crop.

We are glad that President Roosevelt has seen fit to change Thanksgiving back to the old date, following this year. The experiment was an admitted failure as far as improving retail business, and most people will approve the return to the traditional date.

County Agent's Report

IRRIGATING GRAIN SORGHUM

Grain sorghum irrigation is important when planning the irrigation schedule on most area farms.

Grain sorghum uses less than one-tenth of an inch of water per day up to about the seven leaf stage and then the use rate increases rapidly. The peak water use of more than 3 inches per day comes between the boot and bloom stage.

Research indicates the best grain sorghum yields are produced when available soil moisture is kept at or above about 45 percent of capacity from the pre-boot to the soft dough stage.

But this watering schedule is seldom the most profitable and results in extremely inefficient water use.

The well-timed seasonal irrigations will generally give good yields and probably near maximum net returns on grain sorghum. These two irrigations ideally should be applied at pre-boot and at the late-bloom stage.

As with cotton, research indicates one irrigation on grain sorghum gives the most efficient water use. If rainfall is short the boot stage is the approximate time to apply the one irrigation.

However, if conditions allow delaying this irrigation to the milk stage, research shows yields will be better even though earlier moisture stress may shorten the plant more than a foot.

No matter how many irrigations are applied, excessive early moisture stress should be avoided on grain sorghum if possible.

No matter how many irrigations the boot stage followed by moisture stress during grain development is likely to cause lodging as a result of charcoal rot.

This irrigation research information may not always work as expected on any one farm. But local farmers can consider the basic ideas and apply those that fit into their water and crop situation.

GRAZING BERMUDAGRASS
The following article concerns Coastal Bermudagrass but some of this would apply to grazing Midland Bermudagrass. It's something to think about.

An old-time cattleman would be shocked if researchers at Texas A&M University's Coastal Bend Experiment Station feed grain to cattle that are knee-deep in grass.

The idea, according to Ed Neal and Bill Conrad, A&M researchers in charge of the recent tests, is to eliminate the big drop in gains that comes during the hot summer months.

During hot weather and short moisture periods, grass loses some of its nutritive value, and an animal's forage intake decreases. The result is a drop in gains.

In the A&M experiments, steers averaging about 500 pounds each were grazed on Coastal Bermudagrass. Half were given five pounds of sorghum grain each day and the other half got none.

Gains of the steers on Coastal without supplemental feed began to drop about the first of July and continued down, reaching a low in August. During one period in late August and September, these cattle lost weight.

Those on Coastal without the grain supplement gained 1.2 pounds a day from April 28 to July 7 and averaged 1.1 pounds a day from July 7 to September 15.

The steers getting supplemental grain averaged 1.7 pounds per head a day from April 28 to July 7 and averaged only .4 pound per day from July 7 to September 15.

U. D. Thompson, Extension animal husbandman at Texas A&M University, figures on the basis of this test it may pay cattlemen to feed supplemental grain during the summer. It would be well to consider feeding grain or other high energy feeds during periods of short moisture, Thompson said.

At the end of the grazing season, the cattle on Coastal without supplement were rough and had a general unthrifty condition, but the steers on Coastal plus supplement were slick, alert and appeared thrifty.

HOMEMAKING

Summer officially began last week, so can Autumn be far behind?

Evidently not if you take the word of clothing manufactures across the country. Fall fashions and fabrics are already being seen in shops across the country. Any-one looking for a summer wardrobe now, will find the pickings pretty slim.

Although I am no more inclined to think of a fall wardrobe right now than most of my readers, I will pass on the fall fashion news to you before it gets much older. Colors are no longer seasonal, as many of the sunny brights from spring find equal emphasis this fall. Colors combine and clash so get set for some combinations even more wild than we've seen the past season.

The "In" colors - reds of all shades; pink to purple, from sharp accents to regal darks; blues covering the entire range of blue, plus tints with other colors; greens, both yellowed and blued as well as other shades; gold-orange, in quite a variety of shades; and of course the neutrals - brown and greys, plus pastels to lighten the season spirits.

Power packed plaids come on strong for fall and this is the "in" season for the square cube and checks of all types. Brilliant stripes emphasize the brazen use of color in multiple monotone or clash combinations.

Petite prints, paisleys, tapestries, and art gallery prints add to the dashing display of spectrum colors. Wool fabrics have taken on many new looks, too, to enable even the non-expert to tailor a high-fashion seam. You can find variety upon variety of firm tight weaves; heavy coatings and suitings; crisp twills; heathered or solid flannels; meltons and fleeces; deceiving tweeds weaves that appear to float or wander carefree (those often bonded for stability); and many more.

Bending bonding and more bonding. There is hardly a fabric left untouched. It started with laces and knits and expanded in every direction - flannel, linen, crepe, gingham, almost any bondable surface. The purpose of bonding are diversified - to stabilize to lines, to add weight to add reversibility. It is here to stay, so don't be afraid to use it.

Other fabrics out in front are the classics (homespun, denims, synthetics, and blends) with sporty touches; challis and crepe to add a slowing quality; corduroy with in different versions from plushy in different versions from plushy pile to slinky luxury; and knits in varieties of types and colors.

So, here comes fall, ready or not!

THE LAST NOTE - Time is the only thing that doesn't fly when you are trying to kill it.

Mrs. Bob Hohertz and children, went to Canadian Sunday to bring home Jeff Hohertz, who has been visiting his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Van Petree.

KEZZIE MAE SEARIGHT

The hospitals in the service area of the Pampa Social Security Office that have met the Civil Rights requirements are listed below. This represents 100 per cent of the hospitals in the Pampa Area: North Plains Hospital - Borger; Hemphill County Hospital Canadian; McLean Hospital - McLean Texas; Worley Hospital - Pampa, Texas; Highland General Hospital - Pampa; Sanford Hospital - Perryton; Hansford Hospital - Spearman.

Always Look Up
By Kathy Jenkins

"I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." Phillipians 3:14. In order to climb a mountain, one must look ahead. He must see the outstretching rock, how strong & secure the handhold. He must watch the narrow ledge and move cautiously with feet seeking the firm crevice. He must be always looking up not back or down. He must not look at the vast blur far below that speaks of peril. It will create doubt and despair. What is behind cannot help new but can only endanger the present.

Life is a mountain, and we are all climbers. Each of us has our own peculiar way of walking, or grabbing, or driving forward. But we all share one common urge--to look back and down. And in looking down, we fear.

Paul knew of these fears. But he tried to forget what was behind, and to press forward to the prize that was before him, the prize of the high calling of God.

Faithful Christians are mountain climbers like everyone else. But one thing distinguishes them--they always look ahead. They have their eyes fixed on a goal and they witness, work, and serve God. Nothing swerves them from pressing on.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY: Aim High. Success lies, not in achieving what you aim at, but in aiming at what you ought to achieve, and pressing forward sure of achievement here or if not here, hereafter.

Stubble Burning Cost Is High

Stubble Burning is considered by conservationist to be a practice that defeats the purpose of the Conservation Program. Here is a list of costs you should consider if you are thinking about burning stubble.

1. Cost shares drawn for ACP practices would be forfeited.
2. Ineligible for cost share under Great Plains Conservation Program.
3. Fertilizer value in stubble is lost.
4. Organic Matter from stubble is reduced. Our tight soil needs all the organic matter you can get to improve water intake. You can never get too much.
5. Erosion hazard increased from both wind and water.

These are some of the cost of burning and now for some positive ways to handle heavy irrigated wheat stubble. A shredder can be used to take the place of one plowing. This should be done before the wheat stubble is plowed. This breaks up the stalks for a faster decay rate. Usually 3 more discing jobs are required to complete the job. The stubble should be left on or near the surface of the soil for at least 6 to 8 weeks. It will decay faster than if turned under and also protect the soil from high summer temperatures and also hold any late summer rains more efficiently.

There are no immediate disastrous results from stubble burning, but over a period of years it can reduce your soil to the consistency of concrete. Tests at Nebraska showed no immediate effects, but then after a few years the yield dropped drastically and then took several years to bring it back to production. These tests were on lighter soils than we have in this area. Our heavier soils already have a moisture penetration problem which could be greatly accelerated by the practice of burning.

In summary the short term saving of labor is more than off set by the cost to you in loss of payments and long time damage to your land.

HOMEMAKING NOTES

By Linda Webb

Planning to diet this summer and shed a few pounds? That's fine. How do you plan to do it?

No matter what you have heard, or from whom you heard it, there is really one ONE successful way to lose weight for the majority of "over-weights". That is to cut down on your eating.

Yes, it takes a lot of will-power and self determination but dieting always does - any kind of dieting. So, the best advice I can give you is to direct your determination into the right channels at the very beginning.

Fad diets of any kind you should never try. Oh, sure, people lose weight through some of them, but they are not nearly as successful as the old basic reducing plan recommended by doctors and nutritionists the world over.

Good health is your most important consideration in planning a reducing diet. Choose a wide variety of foods and eat at least three meals each day. These foods should satisfy your appetite but be low enough in calories to force the body to use stored fat. They should provide the following: Enriched or whole-grain products - 4 or more servings. Baked goods, breads, cooked or ready-to-eat cereals, macaroni products. Potatoes may also be counted in this group.

Fruits and vegetables - 4 or more servings. One serving should be a food that is high in vitamin C (citrus fruits, tomatoes, green cabbage, strawberries, cantaloupe). At least every other day select a dark green or deep yellow vegetable so that you will have enough vitamin A in your diet.

Meat, poultry, fish, eggs and cheese - 2 or more servings. Dried peas, beans, or nuts may be used as an alternate for one serving. Milk - use whole milk, skim milk, or buttermilk. For adults, 2 or more cups; for children under 9 years old, 2 to 3 cups; for children 9 to 12, 3 or more cups; for teenagers, 4 or more cups.

WHAT TO AVOID - Foods that are high in energy but low in protein, vitamins, and minerals. Although sweet, sticky, and greasy foods produce energy because they are high in carbohydrates or fats, or both, they may be low in other important nutrients. For this reason, spend your calories on the foods listed above first. Adding "extra calories" - sugars fats, oils, nuts, salad dressings, cream, and other foods that are frequently added to food increase calories quickly. That lump of sugar you drop in your coffee or tea adds 25 calories to your diet and two tablespoons of cream add another 60. One tablespoon of butter means another 100 calories. So be sure that you count the number of calories in every food you add to other foods as well as the number of calories in the food itself.

For some cool, refreshing low calorie dessert teas, try these new recipes:

STRAWBERRY ICE MILK
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups skim milk, scalded
3/4 cup nonfat dry milk
2 Tablespoons artificial sweetener
1 Tablespoon lemon juice
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 cups strawberries crushed
Softens gelatin in cold water. Combine scalded milk, dry milk, Sucaryl, lemon juice and vanilla. Add softened gelatin, stirring to dissolve. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in crushed berries. Pour into electric ice cream freezer. Freeze, using 8 parts ice to 1 part rock salt. Freezer will stop when ice milk is done (about 20 minutes.) Makes 2 1/2 pints or 5 servings, each 143 CALORIES.

CHOCOLATE ICE MILK
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups skim milk, scalded
3/4 cup nonfat dry milk
2 Tablespoons artificial sweetener
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 ounce unsweetened chocolate, melted

ORANGE SHERBET

2 Tablespoons artificial sweetener
orange juice concentrate, thawed
1 6 ounce can unsweetened frozen Beat chilled evaporated milk until stiff. Gradually add sweet-ner and thawed orange juice, blending well. Spoon into 3 1-pint plastic freezer cartons, and freeze. Makes 6 servings, each 148 calories.
