3 Accidents During July

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 3 accidents on rural highways in Hansford County during the month of July, according to Sergeant W. J. McLean, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in two persons injured and an estimated property damage of $5,475.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first seven months of 1966 shows a total of 9 accidents resulting in 1 person killed, 8 person injured, and an estimated property damage of 11,350.00.

"School days" are almost here again. The familiar yellow school buses will soon be back on the highways. The Sergeant reminds all motorists of the State Law regarding traffic in regard to school buses. The drivers of a vehicle upon a highway outside the limits of any incorporated city or town upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging school children shall stop the vehicle immediately before passing the school bus, but may then proceed past such school bus at a speed which is prudent, not exceeding (10) miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children.

August Rainfall Totals To 1.25

The mercury has been slowly creeping upward to the "hot" mark during the past week. The evening temperatures have been quite comfortable however with the highest night-time reading being 66 degrees.

So far in August Spearman has received an official 1.25 in. of rain. The country side and pastures which remained brown so long this spring and early summer, are now lush and green.

This is just another typical "freak" in the Panhandle weather pattern. August is usually the hot, dry month when all the vegetation turns to brown hay. Not so this year.

The week's weather chart follows:

Date	hi	lo	Rn.
Aug 10	97	62	.60
Aug 11	82	62
Aug 12	90	64
Aug 13	83	61	.25
Aug 14	90	61
Aug 16	96	66

Vocational Nurses Training School To Begin September 12

Hansford Hospital was notified this week that this institution has been officially approved by the State of Texas, to conduct a school to train Vocational Nurses. This will be one of 152 Vocational Nurse programs active throughout the state of Texas. Hansford Hospital was one of 8 new schools to be granted approval for one year's training of vocational nurses.

Hansford Hospital authorities have been working toward this goal for several years. Last year the class room was made ready for training, and the instructor, Mrs. Wilson (Joan) McClellan, attended the two-weeks training course for instructors held in Austin. Other qualifications were met, and the Hospital applied for their approval.

Twenty-five applications have been turned into the Hospital from ladies interested in taking the course. However, only 15 of these took the test which has been sent to the Texas employment commission.

Since the school is set up to handle only seven students, the school's advisory committee will meet soon to interview the 15 applicants. Everything will be taken into consideration in choosing the seven, including ability, personality, aptitude test, etc.

Members of the advisory board include S. M. Anderson, Elsie Renner, Joan McClellan, Darrin Gregg, M. D., Rev. Wesley Daniel, Dr. Bill Reeves and Mrs. Bill West.

The school, which will consist of 20 weeks of class room work, 6 hours daily 5 days per week, and 32 weeks of Hospital floor duty, will begin September 12.

Gala Events Highlight Reunion In California For Cluck Family

Approximately 200 people attended the Davidson Family reunion at the Newport Inn, Newport Beach, Calif., coming from various parts of California, Colorado, Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, Washington State. This is the first time the reunion has been held in Calif.

The reunion was held from August 11 to August 15. The family of Mrs. Homer Cluck (52 in all) arrived in their two-car special pullman aboard the San Francisco Chief at Fullerton Train Station just about noon.

The children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren are from the family of Mr. & Mrs. George Davidson (1840-1948). They are as follows: Pearl Cluck and 10 children (6 boys, 4 girls) 32 grandchildren & 20 great-grandchildren.

Minnie Sprat (no longer living) daughter and 3 grandchildren and 6 great grandchildren. Peggy Ralph, 2 children and 5 grandchildren. Earnest Davidson, 1 daughter, 2 sons and 2 grandsons. Elmer Davidson (not living) one daughter. Icy May Davidson and one son. Okla Davidson, daughter and 2 grandchildren. Homa Davidson (not living) daughter and 2 grandchildren. Terry Davidson, daughter and 1 grandchild. Tory Davidson. Georgia Miller, 2 sons and 5 grandchildren. Louie Davidson (not living).

Four Davidson brothers are named Okla, Homa, Terry, Tory. All were born in Oklahoma and later moved into Texas. This item appeared in Ripley "Believe it or not."

The schedule for the festivities ran something like this: Aug. 11: Cocktails in the Newport Inn Villa and dinner at the restaurant. Aug. 12: Disneyland park. Aug. 13: Dinner dance at the Newport Inn in honor of Mrs. Pearl Cluck, oldest living member of the Davidson family from Texas. Aug. 14: Buffet breakfast farewell at the Newport, followed by a Harbour cruise of Newport Bay. Dinner at the Balboa Pavilion. Aug. 15: Departure.

The Cluck families are prominent ranchers and farmers in the Gruver-Spearman area. Dr. D.E. Heckley, son-in-law of Mrs. Homer Cluck, was official escort for the group.

The following story appeared on the front page of the Los Angeles Times of Friday August 12, with 4 and 5 column pictures showing men of the Cluck clan wave their hats Texas-style, with Bob Cluck leading the entourage. The title of the newspaper spread was "Typical Texas Turnout."

Everything, they say, is big in Texas—distances, ranches, hats, stories and family reunions.

So when Mrs. Homer Cluck, of the Gruver-Spearman area of Texas, arrived at Fullerton Thursday to visit the California branch of the family, she brought 53 members of her clan with her.

They came by train—in two chartered Pullman coaches and carrying a couple of hundred suitcases and assorted other luggage.

But the Californians were not to be outdone. There are 65 of them, and most of them were at the station as the train pulled in.

It was a reunion Texas style. There was hootin', yellin', and kissin' and huggin' that threw the small station into happy turmoil. There were brothers and sisters and cousins and aunts and uncles. Many of them had not seen each other for 10 years, and some had not met for 30.

There were some newcomers, of course, and some new names—men who had married into the family.

There were the Nollners, the Parsleys, the Mann-Clarks, the Millers and the Shortleys. But they all belong to the original two, the Clucks and the Davidsons.

Mrs. Homer Cluck, a widow, organized the meeting. Mrs. Cluck "just say I'm still in my 70" wrote to her youngest sister, Mrs. Georgia Miller, of Gardena, and asked her to try to get all the Californian members together.

County Agent's Report

Wheat Producers Reminded To Submit Soil Samples Now

Submitting wheatland soil samples now will insure getting soil test recommendations in plenty of time to plan the most profitable fertilizer application for the fall planted crop, says Extension Soil Chemist James Valentine, of Lubbock.

Valentine, who heads the soil testing lab at the South Plains Research and Extension Center, says 50 bushels of wheat grain contain 50 pounds of nitrogen and 25 pounds of phosphorus.

Additional nutrients are used up producing straw and forage, he said.

An early soil test is particularly helpful when a field is found to need phosphorus or when the wheat will be grazed.

Nitrogen should be applied pre-plant to stimulate early growth if the wheat will be grazed. When wheat is grown only for grain, research shows that time of nitrogen application is of little importance.

Phosphorus, if needed, should be applied before planting. Wheat, like other crops, uses it while it is young and phosphorus is not moved into the soil by moisture.

Valentine said fertilizer recommendations for wheat are based on the nutrients available in the soil and on producers' statements about yield goals and anticipated grazing.

The fertilizer recommendation will be most meaningful when the sample is highly representative of the soil and when the information sheet gives accurate details on crop history and production intentions.

County agents can be contacted for sample containers, soil information sheets, mailing instructions and more complete information on soil testing and fertilization.

Adequate Electric Wiring

The increased use of labor and time saving electrical devices in homes and on farms has made adequate electrical wiring a must. Its importance can't be over emphasized, especially in building and remodeling plans. The efficient and safe operation of all electrical appliances and equipment depends on it.

The electric service entrance, more commonly known as the fuse box, should have a capacity large enough to handle the electrical needs of the home, and it needs to provide enough circuits for the necessary wiring to be connected. In most modern homes, a service entrance with a 100 ampere current capacity is the minimum.

A separate circuit from service entrance should be provided for all major electrical appliances and special equipment. These appliances include water pumps, washers, air conditioner, freezer, dish washer, and garbage disposal.

The correct number of circuits should be available to handle lighting and small appliances. A 20 ampere circuit for each 500 square feet can supply all lighting circuits throughout the house, and all convenience outlets except those in the kitchen, dining area, and laundry. A separate circuit should be provided for the kitchen and dining area, and one for the laundry area.

When considering changes in your electrical system or when you have problems with it, your power supplier representative or a reliable local electrical contractor will be glad to help you. A reliable local electrical contractor will be glad to help you.

Watering Facilities For Livestock

Livestock should have watering facilities without traveling over one mile, or two miles round trip.

In excessively steep, rough country, water should be available within one-half and in flat country could be up to two and one-half miles. Cattle can move greater distances for water than sheep and goats. Earthen tanks should be planned to catch excessive run-off and obtain better grading distribution of Livestock. Permanent running water should be used fully to reduce the need of building other watering facilities.

One watering place is considered sufficient for 1,000 to 1,500 acres of grazed land.

Salt should be placed about one-half mile from water to obtain moderate use on the entire pasture particularly on under-used sites. As much as eight hours may elapse between the time animals eat salt and drink water. It has been found that granulated salt gives the best results. Minerals and salt should be fed free choice.

Visiting with Mrs. W. L. Mackie last Thursday were her nephews, Mack and Danny Keller of North Carolina. They came through here with four other friends who all attend college together and were touring the west.

MONEY FOR MILITARY STRENGTH SECOND-TO-NONE
The House of Representatives recently voted overwhelmingly to approve what most of us believe should be termed the most important single bill to come before us this Session -- the appropriations bill to provide funds for military activities in the 1967 fiscal year, which began July 1. It is the largest activities in the 1967 fiscal year, which began July 1. It is the largest defense appropriations bill since World War II.

Defense expenditures must come first in any consideration involving Government spending. The old "guns versus butter" argument is not an either-or proposition. The maintenance of our security is the paramount problem for the United States -- the principal responsibility of the Congress and the Administration -- and unparalleled military power is an absolute necessity.

The defense appropriations bill passed by the House called for additional military spending authority of $58.6 billion. The Defense Department had on hand, when the last fiscal year ended June 30, approximately $42 billion in unexpended funds, most of it earmarked for specific obligations in weapons procurement, research and development, and the variety of other commitments entailed in our defense program. Therefore, there will be available for defense purposes in the current fiscal year (assuming the Senate confirms the House action) a total of $100 billion although, again, part of this money will not have been expended by the end of the year. Some is for "leadtime" items, such as ships.

Our defense cannot be conducted in this modern age without huge outlays of money. We cannot economize where economy brings risks of disaster and defeat. Despite the unformed statements of persons who, for their own devious reasons, would seek to have their neighbors believe that disarmament is imminent, the Congress has held unwaveringly to the position that defense comes first -- and annually acts accordingly by voting military appropriations bills by majorities such as the House recorded on the current measure: 392 to 1. There is nothing new about this. For the four fiscal years 1962-65, the Congress provided for the military functions of the Defense Department a total of $198.2 billion, compared with $156.8 billion provided for the four fiscal years 1957-60. (Fiscal Year 1961 is omitted from the comparison because it was the transition year between administrations and 1965 is used as the terminal date because it immediately preceded the major deployment of U. S. troops to Vietnam.)

The United States spent $41 billion more for defense purposes in the 1962-65 period than in the 1957-60 period. The fact that we have spent more money for military purposes at a high level over recent years has permitted us to avoid having to go into a "crash" program to meet increased requirements brought on by the war in Vietnam. We are spending billions more because of Vietnam, but the impact on the economy -- and the taxpayer -- has been lessened because of the steady preparations made through heavy expenditures of earlier years.

The men and women who serve in the Congress are determined to keep this Nation strong, the strongest in the world.

The bill voted by the House contained a variety of provisions. One provision of particular interest to the Panhandle area, because of B-52 Strategic Air Command operations at Amarillo Air Force Base, called for the retention of 45 of the huge B-52 bombers originally scheduled to be phased out in 1967 and to maintain our B-52 fleet at the 600-bomber level. The bill also provided funds to support additional development work on an advanced manned strategic aircraft, the possible successor to the B-52 as our big manned bomber.

Dick Rosson Helps Plan Structure

Spearman friends of Virgil (Dick) Rosson of Fallbrook, Calif. will remember the story this newspaper carried on him a few years back about the huge golf course he designed and laid-out. The story was carried in the National Golf magazine. This Pala Mesa course is fast becoming the hub of social and recreational life in Northern San Diego County. Dick and his family live in a beautiful home right in the middle of the golf course, which is near Fallbrook, Calif.

Dick keeps a standing invitation open to all his Spearman friends who love to play golf, to come and visit with them at the beautiful Pala Mesa Country Club, Fallbrook, Calif.

Visiting in the home of the Lutter Berry family recently were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Crittenden & Rita, and their daughter and grandson, Mrs. Pat Crittenden and Brian Keith, all of Shawnee.

Pala Mesa Country Club (Dick) Rosson of Fallbrook, Calif. is golf course Supt.) opened 3 years ago and has become one of Northern San Diego county's most popular golf courses. Interest in the course by golfers from all parts of California and beyond has been an important factor in development of the entire out-lying Fallbrook area, which long has been famed for its sprawling avocado and citrus ranches.

Dick and his family live in a beautiful home right in the middle of the golf course, which is near Fallbrook, Calif.

This week's Fallbrook newspaper carried another big story of Dick, in conjunction with the newly completed half-million dollar club house at Pala Mesa. It is now open. This large building is one of the finest structures were built in Northern San Diego county, and all for one purpose; to provide appropriate facilities for local and visiting golfers and at the same time to meet very definite social needs for residents of that area. The club house has nearly 7500 square feet under roof and a partially covered terrace totaling 2500 square feet.

School Lunch Room Manager Lists Changes In Food Service

High School students may not "charge" for their lunches. One (1) "charge" will be permitted in grades one through eight, age of the students the reason.

Some reasons for serving Type A lunch.

1. A well nourished child can function better than a poorly nourished one.
2. The food children eat make a difference in the way they look and in the manner they behave.
3. The food children eat each day should provide the many kinds of nutrients in the amounts needed.
4. Learning to eat and enjoy a Type A lunch is an easy way to influence good food habits for life.

High School lunchroom will have available for students, iced tea with a choice of chocolate or white milk. Ice cream novelties will be available also. Extra cartons of milk, other from the one served with the lunch, may be purchased for three (3) cents a half-pint.

Due to the crowded conditions the age of the students at the Elementary-Junior High lunchroom, serving will be limited to the Type A lunch. Each lunch will contain as a minimum: Milk; one-half pint, Meat or meat substitute - 2 ounces, Vegetables and fruit: 3/4 cup, a fruit or vegetable rich in vitamin C will be served each day and a fruit or vegetable rich in vitamin A will be served twice a week. Bread: A slice of enriched bread, hot rolls, cornbread or butter bread (a bread made of whole wheat flour, corn meal and enriched white flour). Butter: Two teaspoons each lunch.

One may readily see that the five food groups serve as the foundation for this lunch. And by adjusting the amounts of these foods necessary to satisfy the appetite, will meet the nutritional needs of our students.

Teaching students to eat and enjoy a well balanced lunch is a very important part of the learning process. In our nation of plenty of good food, statistics show that six out of ten teenage girls eat an inadequate diet and four out of ten teenage boys eat a poor diet - the difference being in the amount of food the boys eat.

Prices of lunches will be: Grades one through Eight - 35 cents, Grades nine through twelve - 45 cents, Faculty and visiting adults 50 cents. (No state help is given on adults' lunches).

Three types of lunchroom tickets may be purchased: five lunches, ten lunches and twenty lunches. These tickets are for convenience & are not refunded if lost. A refund will be made on tickets presented to the lunchroom manager at the end of the school year or when a student needs to withdraw from school.

B&PW Planning Crazy Day Skit

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club met August 11 at the Home Demonstration Clubroom for a luncheon. Ladies of the Assembly of God Church served the meal.

"Free" School Lunch Was Myth

During the depression days of the 1930's when farmers were producing food which our people did not have the money to buy, considerable activity was generated in school food service. In many instances, full and well-balanced meals were not even attempted but a lunch of some sort was provided from the Government commodities for children of distitute means. In these beginnings we find the origin of the term, "the free lunch." Both the concept and the terminology have remained with us to some extent ever since.

The National School Lunch Program as we have come to know it in the past twenty years has been and continues to be a far cry from a "free lunch." The average cost of a Type A meal across the nation is 47 cents. Of this amount federal cash reimbursement is currently averaging about four cents and the value of commodities fluctuates widely from year to year. It is perhaps well that we explore some misconceptions concerning the commodity distribution program as much.

First let us briefly review the history of the distribution of commodities to school lunch programs. The first of such distributions came about with the Amendment to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1935, which authorized the use of 30 percent of the annual customs receipts "to encourage the exportation and domestic consumption of agricultural commodities." The welfare programs and the school lunch programs seemed a natural outlet for domestic consumption of these projects. The authority for the distribution of these commodities to the schools was known as Section 32.

These commodities were made available to all schools serving school lunches. They were distributed on a nation-wide basis. It made no difference if the schools were part of the Federal School Lunch Program or not.

It soon became apparent that certain food could not be issued on a nationwide basis because of their perishability. Thus Section 416 of the Agricultural Act of 1949 was created. This provided the authority for the distribution of commodities within a local area on a "where is, as is" basis. Thus, conceivably schools in the Southeast area of the United States might have other foods which were grown in surplus in their particular area.

The third authority for distribution of commodities was Section 6. This section came under the National School Lunch Act of 1946. The food purchased under this authority were not necessarily surplus commodities but rather food items which were needed to make the school lunch a well-balanced diet. Foods high in protein, high in Vitamin C and or high in Vitamin A would be purchased and distributed to those schools operating under the National School Lunch Act only.

Since 1935, billions of pounds of food have been distributed to schools through these various programs. Yet this quantity represents just a small fraction of the total food consumed. The Marketing Research Report No. 702 published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture bears out this point.

During 1962-63, foods with a wholesale value of over a billion dollars through the schools. This represents about $264 per child. Of the one billion dollars spent on food, approximately $780 million was spent through the commercial channels - a fact that points up very vividly that the "free" donated foods represent a very small part of the food consumed by the total school lunch program. For example, over $372 million worth of milk and milk products were delivered to the schools. Of this, $341 million were purchased on the open market. Likewise of the $215 million spent on meat, fish, and poultry, 70 percent was purchased locally. And of the $140 million spent on fruits and vegetables, $132 million were purchased at the local market.

In short, the commercial suppliers furnished more than 77 percent of the total value of the food used in the school lunch program in 1962-63. Conversely approximately 23 percent of the foods used were donated foods.

Let us go back to our original statement, that foods made available to the school lunch program under Section 32 and 416 are foods grown in surplus. This brings up an interesting point that there is a great variation in the foods which are available to the schools from one year to the next. One year fresh pears would be issued as commodity while the next year it might be fresh pears while the next year it might be issued as commodity while the year it might be fresh apples. One year it would be canned olives and the next year there would be none whatsoever available to the schools. One year there would be no ground beef or there might be many turkeys and the next year is no consistent pattern of commodities on the whole.

However this great variation can serve to the advantage of the food supplier. Once a food habit has been established in a school and these foods are no longer available through commodity distribution, they certainly would be purchased on the open market from the local purchasers. In other words, the Government has provided us with a built-in market for food distribution that has never been available before.

The school lunch market is growing by leaps and bounds. In the period from 1957 to 1962 there was a 50 percent growth in participation in school lunch and approximately a 50 percent increase in dollars spent on food for school lunch. It is anticipated that within the next decade there will be an increase of about 25 percent in the school food market.

Two rather important factors may be noted from the above discussion. The first is that a vast majority of foods consumed by school lunch will be purchased foods. The second factor is that foods donated would vary greatly from year to year. School lunch programs, like people, have developed food habits. Once these habits are established and these foods are not available through donated commodities, they will be purchased on the open market.
