

British Eighth Army On Move Toward Tunisia

LONDON, Feb. 1. (AP)—The main body of the British Eighth army was rolling forward again today less than 35 miles from the frontier of Tunisia while allied troops battled within that French protectorate against a German column apparently stalled after a deep thrust toward the highlands west of Sfax.

A Cairo communique announced the occupation of the Port of Zuara, 65 miles west of Tripoli, and a British push westward to reestablish contact with Marshal Rommel's rear guard.

Apparently the Germans put up considerable resistance at Zuara, where Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery had to move up artillery to blast out the suicide groups assigned to the delaying action there.

United States troops were fighting at German positions in central Tunisia sectors in the operations that led to the long-awaited offensive and the final North Africa.

At Allied headquarters in Africa told of the attacks, one a German force to regain Faidon of Sfax, and another from north and west, German forces were reported to have been driven south, 33 miles from Gabes.

and fighter planes at axis centers in Sicily. The operations of both sides were reported to be a show-down in Tunisia, where the German forces were to join forces with the German army and 19 enemy divisions were declared defeated.

boarded again over the sea base on Sicily. The Italian cargo ships were being challenged by the German forces. The communique said all the ships were badly damaged.

Against the Allied reports of a total of eight planes missing from the operations over North Africa, Sicily and Italy, the Rome bulletin said a total of 29 British and American aircraft had been destroyed.

The tank-supported German assault in central Tunisia was aimed at the Faidon Pass at Sidi Bouid, west of Sfax, apparently to break Rommel's escape corridor and control of the uplands. The German forces were reported to have been defeated.

On the other hand, the German high command announced today that its Sixth army commanded by Field Marshal Friedrich Paulus, long encircled in the Stalingrad area, had been "overwhelmed" after more than two months of heroic defense against superior forces.

Its communique, broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press, said another German group in the northern part of Stalingrad still was holding out. On other sectors of the Russian front the communique asserted, "fighting continues with undiminished violence."

Another Berlin broadcast said it was announced authoritatively that Paulus was severely wounded. The German propaganda machine is struggling desperately to soften the effect of the Stalingrad catastrophe on the German people.

Berlin broadcasts sang the praises of "the army of the dead" and maintained that his sacrificial stand had taken a great Russian breakthrough by tying up Soviet divisions needed elsewhere on the front.

Adolf Hitler himself promoted Paulus to the rank of field marshal and raised Artillery General Heits of the Second army corps to colonel general.

Ration Book No. 3 Ready—For What? WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP)—War ration book No. 3 is ready for printing but what it will be used for no one knows as yet.

Book No. 2, first of the point rationing books, will be distributed this month and used for canned goods and meats and possibly some other foods, such as butter and canned milk.

WASHERINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP)—Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers told congress today that "the job of the army and navy is to fight and not to run business and direct the civilian economy."

Denying that he had called army and navy men "losers," Jeffers charged that service officials had projected themselves into the rubber program, for which he said neither the army nor the navy was responsible.

Jeffers was called by a joint house military-aval committee to explain statements attributed to him in a speech in Baltimore last week to the effect that army and navy officials were impeding production in synthetic rubber plants.

Commander, 15 Generals Are Captured

By HENRY C. CASSEIDY
MOSCOW, Feb. 1. (AP)—The powerful German siege force of 330,000 men which Adolf Hitler boasted never would be ousted from Stalingrad has been almost completely liquidated and its commander, Field Marshal Friedrich Paulus, with 15 generals, has been captured, the Russians announced today.

Of the 330,000 Nazi soldiers who pushed so confidently and swiftly across the Don river last summer to seize Stalingrad for Hitler, at least 240,000 are buried in the frozen sod between the Volga and the Don and 46,000 more are under guard of their Red army captors, a special Soviet communique said.

The figure of 330,000 itself was a revision upward of the size of the siege force, the previous estimate being 250,000.

Field Marshal Paulus, whose promotion from the rank of colonel general was announced only yesterday by Berlin, thus was the commanding officer at the worst defeat Germany has suffered in Russia. He likewise was the first German field marshal in this war to break the proud tradition of the German army that generals and their superiors are never captured.

(The mid-day communique of the Soviet information bureau recorded by the Soviet radio monitor in London said more than 8,000 of these 44,000 Germans were killed last night as the Red army circle was drawn more tightly around them. In addition, more prisoners were captured, the communique said, and larger quantities of war material taken.)

(Further progress was reported from other sectors of the far-flung Soviet winter offensive. The Russians said that more units of the encircled German and Hungarian divisions west of Voronezh were wiped out. Southeast of Kozlovskaya, some 80 miles east of the important German base of Kursk, many axis troops were killed and 1,700 were captured, it was announced.)

Thirty Are Fire Victims In Sanatorium

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 1. (AP)—A match head flying from the hands of a stove repairman started flash flames surging through the frame structure of a private, suburban sanatorium and brought death to at least 30 persons in the worst disaster of its kind this area ever has known.

Twenty-eight bodies have been recovered from the mucky ruin that was a refuge for old age pensioners, aged 61 and a few mental cases. One other inmate died in a hospital and 17 were under treatment today and brought death to at least 30 persons in the worst disaster of its kind this area ever has known.

The first tongues of fire, licked at a lower floor of the Lake Forest Park sanatorium shortly after noon yesterday. Almost in a matter of seconds the entire structure was a mass of flames.

The repairman, M. R. Baird, told Prosecuting Attorney Lloyd P. Shorett, that as he finished his task of connecting an outside tank to an oil heater, he lit a match. The head flew off, he said, landing in a pile of waste near the heater.

"In 15 seconds," Baird added, "the whole room was in flames." Many of the aged were trapped in their beds. Some had fallen against doors and beneath windows as they sought to flee.

Contraceptive Case Dismissed
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP)—The supreme court dismissed today an attack upon Connecticut legislation which prohibited physicians from prescribing contraceptive devices to married women when such action was deemed necessary to preserve life or health.

Chief Justice Stone read a brief order on litigation brought by Dr. Wilder Teleson, a professor at Yale medical school and a practicing physician at New Haven.

He sought a ruling as to whether the statute prohibited him from prescribing contraceptives to three specified married women when he thought this procedure was essential for their welfare.

Dismissal was ordered on the ground that Doctor Teleson has "no standing to litigate the constitutional question which the record presents."

Jap Soldiers In U.S. Army Make Good Men
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP)—There's a whole battalion of Japanese soldiers in the United States army and "I've never had more wholehearted, serious-minded cooperation from any troops," their commanding officer, Lt. Col. Farant L. Turner said today.

Flynn's Name Removed From Nominee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP)—President Roosevelt withdrew today the nomination of Edward J. Flynn to be United States minister to Australia.

The action came in the face of mounting senate opposition threatening confirmation of the former national democratic chairman, and marked the administration's first major rebuff in the new congress.

Flynn had announced last night he was asking Mr. Roosevelt to withdraw the nomination to avoid a partisan political squabble in the senate.

The withdrawal message was at the bottom of a long list of nominations transmitted to the senate. It merely said: "Withdrawal. Edward J. Flynn, New York, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States of America to Australia, at the request of Mr. Flynn."

"Dear Ed," the president wrote in a note dated today: "Reluctantly, I am complying with your request and have withdrawn your nomination from the senate."

"I wish you would come to see me today or tomorrow." "As ever yours," "Franklin D. Roosevelt."

The president received this letter from Flynn this morning: "I am requesting you to withdraw my nomination as minister to Australia from the senate."

"I can't let this opportunity pass without telling you how thrilled I am and the whole country is at your brave and successful trip to Africa. It is a source of great comfort to all lovers of freedom throughout the whole world that you have returned safely."

Senator Bridges (R-NH) who led the republican on the nominee, said Flynn's announcement was "a victory for integrity in government and decency in American diplomacy."

"The reason for the withdrawal is obvious," Bridges said in a statement. "The senate would have refused to confirm Mr. Flynn's nomination by a decisive majority."

The boy, who was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Pontremoli of Odessa, was brought here Saturday afternoon for treatment.

Missing Navy Plane Found, All 19 Dead

UKIAH, Calif., Feb. 1. (AP)—Shattered and burned almost beyond recognition, the wreckage of a naval transport plane lost with 19 aboard on a flight from Pearl Harbor to San Francisco, was found yesterday at the foot of a cliff in southern Mendocino county.

It crashed there, in a wild mountainous region, 100 miles north of San Francisco, during a storm of Jan. 21. "There were no survivors," the navy said.

For the navy, it was a heavy loss—ten officers, including Rear Admiral Robert H. English, commander of the Pacific fleet submarine force, and three naval captains.

The other nine victims were civilian personnel operating the great, four-motored seaplane. Bodies were brought out on pack horses, and in army jeeps. It was a 7-mile trip through roadless brush land to the highway.

Among the first bodies identified were those of Admiral English and of the only woman aboard, Navy Lieut. (JG) Edna Owella Morrow, a nurse, of Pasadena, Calif.

Senate Group OKs Rutledge

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP)—The senate judiciary committee voted 11 to 0 approval today of the nomination of Judge Wiley Blount Rutledge as an associate justice of the supreme court with four senators withholding their votes, apparently until they could determine Rutledge's stand on President Roosevelt's court enlargement bill in 1937.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) chairman of a subcommittee which previously had approved the Rutledge appointment, said Senators Wheeler (D-Mont.), Langer (R-SD), Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Revercomb (R-WVa) withheld their votes.

Ferguson told reporters that he had raised the question of Rutledge's stand on the court enlargement bill and had not received a "satisfactory answer."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP)—The senate confirmed today President Roosevelt's nomination of Josh Lee, former democratic senator from Oklahoma, as a member of the civil aeronautics board.

The appointment was approved 48 to 31 after two "freshmen" republicans—Senators Moore of Oklahoma and Robertson of Wyoming—had led a brief, unsuccessful fight to defeat the nomination.

Good Prospects Of Attack On Tokyo, — Knox

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 1. (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox has returned from an inspection of far-flung Pacific outposts with the prediction that "there are darn good prospects of an air attack on Tokyo" and that "within 30 days all organized resistance on Guadalcanal will disappear."

The secretary, who stopped here briefly yesterday en route back to Washington on his 20,000-mile inspection trip, twice within the past few weeks was under Japanese air attack. The first attack was a short one at Espiritu Santo in the New Hebrides and the second, a much heavier one of seven hour duration, was on Guadalcanal. No casualties were reported in either attack.

With Secretary Knox during the attacks were Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, and Admiral William F. Halsey, commander of the South Pacific force.

Leaders Shaping In Cage Races Over The Nation

By HAROLD GLASSER

BIG TEN
Indiana and Illinois, both unbeaten in the league and tied for the top, return to action this week. The Illini, after a two-week scholastic hiatus, took Northwestern tonight and are at Ohio State on Saturday. Michigan is Indiana's guest Saturday. Northwestern, winner of only one Big Ten game, ranks with Illinois, however, as the only teams to have beaten Great Lakes.

SOUTHEASTERN
Louisiana State was idle all last week but bounded into first place in the won-lost column when Alabama surprised previously unbeaten Kentucky Saturday, 41 to 32. Kentucky, however, isn't idle and could move back into a tie for first tonight by winning at Vanderbilt.

PACIFIC COAST
Southern California, called the best team in the school's history, already has clinched the Coast conference's southern half crown while Washington is out in front in the northern race.
The Trojans won from University of California at Los Angeles Friday for the 42nd consecutive time, 51 to 39, to take over the divisional throne occupied last year by Stanford.

EASTERN SECTOR
Basketball resumes its high powered action, with 18 college games and 17 service camp tussles occupying New York City gyms in the next six days.

Dartmouth, topped by Princeton Saturday, 44 to 39, begins its drive to regain the Eastern intercollegiate league lead tonight at Columbia. Penn now is on top and visits Cornell Saturday.

BIG-SIX-MISSOURI VALLEY
Big Six became strictly Kansas-Oklahoma affair as Sooners defeated Nebraska, 56 to 33, Saturday night. The Oklahomans, now tied for second behind Kansas, are at Iowa State tonight and may find the going difficult. The Cyclones also play Kansas, going to Lawrence Saturday.

Craighton has its biggest Missouri Valley conference test Friday when it invades Oklahoma A. & M.

SOUTHERN
Dukes climbed into second place behind George Washington with victories over North Carolina State and Wake Forest last week while the Colonials were idle. The leaders are inactive again all this week.

ROCKY MOUNTAINS
Wyoming and Brigham Young top eastern and western halves of Rocky Mountain Six conference.

SOUTHWEST
Loop makes timid approach to resumption of play with four league games on the docket, two of which bring last place Baylor to Arkansas for a weekend doubleheader.

Texas, surprise leader, collides with Corpus Christi Flyers, unbeaten in four tussles with conference teams, in charity game Wednesday night.

TEXAS PACING Loop, Hogs Coming Up

By The Associated Press
Southwest conference basketball teams start the drive down the stretch this week with the entire field still in the race but with Texas at the outfit to beat.

Nones gets a chance to overhaul the Longhorns at this time because Texas doesn't play a conference game, resuming the mid-term layoff with a charity tilt against Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, but Arkansas, moving along in second place, will have an excellent opportunity to improve its challenging position.

The tall Razorbacks play last-place Baylor at Fayetteville Friday and Saturday nights.

Baylor may get out of the cellar because the Bears battle Texas A. and M. at College Station tonight and by winning the game could move into a tie with Southern Methodist for fourth place.

The only other conference game on this week's schedule sends Texas Christian against the Aggies at Fort Worth Saturday night. T.C.U. is tied with Rice for the third spot.

There will be four games with service teams in addition to Texas' clash with Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, scheduled Wednesday night at Austin. Tuesday night Texas Christian meets Grand Prairie Naval Air Station at Fort Worth, Friday and Saturday nights Rice plays Corpus Christi Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi and Saturday night Southern Methodist engages Grand Prairie at Dallas.

Club Collection Proves That Divot Digging Of Strictly Modern Origin

CHICAGO, Feb. 1 (AP)—A collection of 1,000 rare, ancient and eccentric golf clubs, rounded up in the last eight years by Robert F. Zeddes of Chicago, will be placed in museums to show the divergent what fun he's missed.

A part of the family tree of golf, missing links and all, will go to the Chick Evans caddy scholar house at Northwestern University as a basis of a Chicago shrine for golf. The remainder will be shipped to the U.S.G.A. museum in New York.

The collection proves a historic point—that the modern diver thought up divot digging all by himself. The first duffers, wielding a 15-pound weapon resembling a hockey stick, slapped a goat-skin ball as big as a grapefruit over the ice of Holland's canals 200 years ago. You just can't cut a divot from ice, mister.

Three of these antique clubs were sent to Zeddes Vflite Amsterdams Athletic club before the naval army marched into Holland.

There'll Still Be Baseball, Asserts Vito Tamulis

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 1 (AP)—Vito Tamulis, former major league hurler who traded his baseball uniform for the Army khaki some time ago, doesn't think the war will prevent the major leagues from finishing their schedule this year, and more than that, he likes the chances of the St. Louis Cardinals repeating.

"Sure they'll play baseball this year," said Vito in between the potatoes he was peeling while on KP duty at Drew Field.

"It should be an interesting race."
"If the Cardinals haven't been too hard hit by loss to the services," said Tamulis, "they'll win again."

Tamulis hurried for the New York Yankees in 1934 and 1935, and after a couple of seasons with Newark in the International league he went back to the majors with the St. Louis Browns. He joined Brooklyn in 1938 where he stayed until 1941 when he joined the Philadelphia Phils. He played with Nashville of the Southern association before going into the Army.

Willie Pep Is Hailed As Amor Top Featherweights On Record

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (AP)—Last Friday night, James Joy Johnston didn't show up in Madison Square Garden, and since Mr. Triple-J had been around for days shuffling for Wee Willie Pep over Allie Stola, the boys thought he stayed away in fear of what was going to happen to Willie that night.

It turned out, however that Pep punched the ears off Allie, and today, James Joy phoned to say he was absent because a cold prevented him from talking.

Now that he can whisper loud enough to rattle the windows again, the derby hat wants it strictly understood he not only thinks Wee Willie is good—but that he's just about as great a featherweight as has come down the pike since Abe Attell ambled out of California. That would put Pep above fellows like Tony Cantosini and Henry Armstrong and Kid Chocolate, who were pretty fair country clouters.

More than a handful of the old timers tell you that during Abe's 15-year run from 1930 to 1931 was the greatest fighter, pound for pound, who ever lived.

LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP)—Premier Mussolini told an audience of fascist militiamen today that victory in this war would go to the side which "is able to hold out a quarter hour longer than the enemy and that 'it is the last battle that brings victory.'"

Il Duce spoke "somewhere in Italy" in observance of the 20th anniversary of the fascist militia, according to a broadcast by the Rome radio recorded by the Associated Press.

Referring to the loss of Libya, Mussolini said it had taken Italy's chief enemy (Britain) 22 months to register its first success and declared that Italy would return North Africa.

Masters' Magneto Shop Rated Best In West Texas

War shortages in materials and skilled hands have combined to make the Masters Electric Service magneto department one of the most vital shops in this area of the state.

It is doubtful if there is a more complete stock of magnetos on hand in any West Texas shop today, and it is equally doubtful if there is any place where the skill of work by E. C. Masters, operator of the business, can be surpassed.

Masters has 12 years' experience in the business here and back of the 37 years dealing with the theory and practice of electricity while with Bell Telephone Co. In between the time he was with the telephone unit and opened his business here, he had occasion to keep his skill in the craft on edge.

Today, Masters has more than a thousand dollars worth of new magnetos—more than two score of them—in stock. This does not include the many others he has overhauled, rewound and converted into durable and serviceable units.

He is agent for Bosch, Bendix, Case, Fairbanks-Morse, Scintilla, Splittorf and Wico magnetos. He has on hand $4,000 in complete parts for these various makes—and the necessary knowledge for restoring any magneto to usefulness if possible.

This accounts for the increase in an already big volume of farm tractor magnetos brought to him. Masters also does a big oil field magneto business and has an extensive following in regular industrial channels.

Only recently he added a new piece of equipment, a magneto tester, to his shop at considerable expense. The unit, specially designed by the Auto Electric Supply Co. of San Francisco, will test even vertical Wico models and the few Wico mags which it will not test are checked on other special machines in the shop. Up to the minute, the new machine has the necessary gearing to test airplane motors.

Trained Staff—Experience and proven skill as operators goes to make the trained staff of the Settles Beauty shop one of the best in this area, and thus account in a large measure for quality work. Modern equipment, the counterpart of an efficient staff, add to the effectiveness of the Settles work. ## Ford Men Set New Record In Engine Tests

DEARBORN, Mich.—Ford engineers who are setting many new records in speeding production of Pratt and Whitney airplane engines now have come up with another—only 29 1-4 minutes to place an engine in a test cell, couple it to many connections, and have it turning over at 600 rpm. Not long ago four or five hours was considered fast for such an operation.

The volume on-schedule production of the engines at the Aircraft Building at the Ford Rouge plant makes the saving in time in the test cells of utmost importance.

The test cells operate on a straight 24-hour basis. The coupling operation consists of connecting oil, pressure and fuel lines, and dropping the shroud over the engine.

Unique arrangement of the primary feed lines, plus expert handling by the various test cell crews make the saving in time possible.

Furniture Repair Stressed By Rix As War Necessity

Furniture stores, like many other establishments, are feeling the effects of the war, and are almost hesitant in selling precious furniture for fear there will be no shipments to fill the empty space.

The Rix Furniture Store opened for business in Big Spring in 1902, and since that time has been recognized as one of the more prominent furniture houses in West Texas, handling the latest in modern furniture during their 41 years in the furniture business.

Glancing over the store, Lewis Rix, owner, pointed out some of the changes which altered the general appearance of furniture display rooms.

Cedar chest manufacturers have stopped commercial production and are making fabricated houses for defense workers; chair cushions and seats have been replaced with webbing and cotton, and substitutes are being tested for bed springs which contain metal needed in defense production.

Forecasting the restrictions on wholesale furniture buying, the Rix company moved to their new location, 401 E. Second, where they opened a second-hand furniture repair shop. Covering a floor space of around 10x30 feet, the remodeling shop adjoins the furniture display room and office.

Broken furniture formerly traded in for new, is repaired for continued service since the war, and Rix features a special service repair for broken radios.

Kitchen ranges, heating stoves, chairs, rockers and tables are examples of the many furniture items, repaired for continued use at the Rix Furniture Company's second hand shop.

Borum Photos Fit All Pocketbooks

Everybody loves to see pictures of themselves and of other people and thus the photographers have thrived for years. But seldom have photographers been as able to please pocketbooks and tastes alike as the Borum studios do.

Located next door to the Lyric theatre is the Quick Finish studio which opened here November 1. For novelty pictures, snapped and completed within five minutes, the Quick Finish place does a land office business.

But, if you are looking for a studio for completely finished pictures, bought in quantity, the Borum Studio located in the Lester Building above the old Penney location, can fill the bill here.

Mrs. E. T. Borum is in charge of the studio while Mr. Egrum handles the Quick Finish place and so no matter what your request is for pictures the Borums can please. Mr. Borum pointed out that the Quick Finish pictures, of course, will in no way compare with the studio pictures for quality but are simply novelty features that have gone over in Big Spring especially where army camps are located.

Soldiers down town on Saturdays, or arm in arm with visiting wives and girl friends, are the biggest customers for the quick photos. It's fun to stop for five minutes and record a visit or a date with a snap shot and evenings and Saturdays the little shop is full.

The new shop was opened when film rationing cut down on the volume of pictures to be made in the studio. War had made people picture conscious and the small shop was opened to fill the need for cheaper pictures no longer available with rationed film.

Mr. Borum, who has been in the photography business for 17 years, located in Big Spring four years ago this month, and is enjoying a good business and invites his customers to visit either of his places for the type of pictures they wish to purchase.

West Texas And Synthetic Rubber

West Texas has some of the raw materials and the productive capacity to contribute much to the solution of the synthetic rubber program.

Assurance from Rubber Car Jettors that he would ask the War Production Board to send chemical engineers to West Texas to inspect sites for grain alcohol plants is a welcome indication that we have a chance to be in the war picture in a bigger way. There is no limit to the possible expansion of grain sorghum acreage. It is a crop that fits the climate and the soil and the will of the citizen-ship.

The synthetic program has not been advancing as speedily as the country needs. Maybe there is some political jockeying relating to the group that will be allocated the chance of making the money—the agricultural interests or the oil crowd. Maybe the program has been held up due to priorities on critical materials being accorded to the Army and Navy. At any rate the time has come to draw a line of action and then pursue it with the vim and intelligence of the American people.

A proper decision on rubber is a test case. We ought to do the things on the civilian front to maintain our economy and a proper balance in the war effort. If we confine ourselves to the guns and tanks and airplanes that are first requirements, we may endanger that effort through being unable to bolster it with food and rubber when those things become as much an emergency as the tools of war have been up to this time.

At least West Texas welcomes an opportunity to sell itself to the planners of plants to solve one of the nation's first problems as it pursues the war effort.

Fight In Congress—Trade Pacts To Be Hotly Debated Question

WASHINGTON—One of the bitterest fights coming up in the congress is sure to be over the proposal to give the Administration permission to renew the reciprocal trade pacts the United States has signed with 25 nations.

The authority, first granted in 1934, and renewed in 1937 and 1940, now must be granted again for another three years if Secretary of State Hull is to continue spinning the world-wide commercial web which he began in the hope that it would keep the world at peace.

As a building block in history, the pacts fit into the traditional Democratic party principle of low tariffs. The party in the past drew its greatest membership from the agricultural South. The South shipped its cotton, principally, to England. There it was made into cloth, some of which came back to this country. England sent many other varieties of manufactured goods here. The South, which bought these goods, naturally didn't want them to be subjected to a tariff which would raise the price in the store.

The Industrial North, in the main, was represented by the Republican party. The North, which also manufactured cotton goods, wanted a tariff on British cotton goods so that it could compete more favorably. It wanted a tariff on all manufactured imports, in fact.

In 1934, as is well known—and right up to this term of Congress—there weren't very many Republicans on Capitol Hill. So Secretary Hull's proposals found a ready welcome. At present the pacts cover some 60 percent of America's normal foreign trade.

Here's how reciprocal trade agreements are set up: U. S. representatives approach those of the other country and tell them, in effect, "Look, we'll reduce a few tariffs—or throw them out entirely—and you reduce a few. That way, our people can get your goods cheaper and yours can get our goods cheaper."

So they waded through heaps of import and export figures and come out with a list of tariff cuts. In the case of the treaties with Canada and the United Kingdom there were hundreds of individual items.

Then—and this is a most important part of the Hull plan—the U. S. representatives insist on this provision: that both countries share the privilege of the reduced tariffs with any other country not discriminating commercially against them. This is called the "most favored nation" policy. Before the war, Germany was the only country with which the U. S. refused to sign a reciprocal agreement. The Nazis insisted on "bi-lateral" agreements under which commerce between the two their famous barrier system, under countries would balance. This was which Czechoslovakia got aspirin tablets in return for machine guns.

Opposition to the pacts since 1934 has not stuck particularly to party lines, but rather has reflected sectional and industrial interests. Dairy farmers, for instance, have assailed the Canadian agreement because it permits Canadian dairy products to enter the country at lower tariffs. Western copper miners have written their Congressmen denouncing the agreement with Chile, a big copper producer. Manganese producers tag the Brazilian agreement "a $2,500,000 gift to the steel industry."

To all critics Secretary Hull's steadfast reply has been that without commercial competition leads to economic feuds, eventually to war.

Problem of the WIRE CAGE

Chapter Five

Nick's pause was broken by a sharp noise as Hadley struck a match.

"That's very interesting, Dr. Young," he said, and lit his dead cigar. "Excuse me: I've got reasons why I'd like to ask you a question about it."

"Question? What question?"

"What do the young people think about this arrangement? Do they think it's all right?"

"All right?" repeated Nick, bristling instantly. "Of course they think it's all right. They're in love with each other; or as much in love as they need be. What exactly do you mean?"

"Nothing at all. I was only asking."

"You had a funny kind of look on your face," persisted Nick, turning a sinister spectacle-lens. "What are you getting at? Do you know anything to the contrary?"

He reflected. "There's a young fellow called Rowland, Hugh Rowland. He's been making calf's eyes at Brenda, unless I'm much mistaken. I don't anticipate any trouble there. By God, though, if I thought—"

"There's no need to get excited, Dr. Young. Rowland? Rowland, Rowland. Hold on: is that the son of the solicitor? Rowland and Gardesleeve?"

"Yes, he is," said Nick suspiciously. "What about it?"

Hadley's tone was dry. "Well, sir, it's no business of mine, but if you're up against him in the way of business, I shouldn't take things too much for granted. He's a very clever young man."

Nick made an incredulous noise like compressed air coming out of a tube.

"Young Rowland? Clever? Bosh! Clever!"

"Well, he's beaten us, whatever that amounts to," said Hadley. "You probably remember Mrs. Jewell, the poisoner. I still think she was a poisoner, in spite of the verdict. We had a practical certainty of a case against her, but she was acquitted. That was due to the efforts of Rowlands senior and junior—principally junior."

"Nonsense!" said Nick. "I know the case. Gordon-Bates got her off."

"Yes: it's customary to give all the credit to the barrister. But don't. The barrister only goes by his brief. Your young friend prepared his brief; and even the pathologist took a licking! However! What happens if either Miss White or Mr. Dorrance refuses to marry according to this agreement?"

Nick sat back. There was an almost audible note in his voice.

"See here," he said. "What do you mean by coming here and worrying me like this? What do you mean by sitting in my chair, and smoking my cigars, and playing the heavy policeman as though you'd got a pair of handcuffs up your sleeve? What business is it of yours, anyway? Of course Brenda and Frank are going to marry. If they don't, every penny of Jerry's money goes to charity. They wouldn't let that happen, you can bet!"

"I don't imagine they would. What happens, Dr. Young, if your young Dorcas should die before the marriage?"

There was a silence.

Outside the windows, the thick dark air stirred with faint lightning. There was no thunder except a faint vibration as though the air itself were being shaken; but a warm breeze began to thrash the curtains at the window. Even at that distance they clearly heard the thud of tennis rackets.

Nick suddenly chuckled. He was himself again.

"Oh, I don't think that's very likely. Frank's a pretty healthy specimen, you know. If either of 'em dies, the survivor inherits the lot. But I think Lloyd's would give you pretty long odds on Frank's continued health."

"I wouldn't," said Hadley.

Again the electric fan hummed loudly.

"Come on: cards on the table," snapped Nick. "You've been beating back the bush with something for the past ten minutes. What is it?"

"It's this. Did you ever hear of a girl called Madge Sturgess?"

Nick whooped with relief.

"Oh, Lord, is that all? By the look of you I thought you were going to say he'd robbed the Bank of England and murdered the watchman. So he's got tied up with a girl called Madge Sturgess, has he? What is it? Breach of promise?"

"No."

"Then that's all right," said Nick, still more relieved.

"Just a moment, Dr. Young. You've told me a little story, now let me tell you one. Listen to the facts in the case of Madge Sturgess. About two months ago, your young paragon Mr. Dorrance met Madge Sturgess at the Orpheum Music Hall—"

"A pick-up," said Nick.

"You could call it that, yes. At this time she had a job as a clerk at a dress shop, or whatever they call it, in Kensington. She went out

Hollywood Sights And Sounds— Meeting Writers Who Look Like Film Stars

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Sooner or later you meet all kinds of celebrities in Hollywood. You even get to know what writers look like.

Naturally, they don't look like writers. Not in the least.

I had a chat today with William Makepeace Thackeray and with Charlotte Bronte. Mr. Thackeray looked, for all his bushy white hair and his dandified attire, like Sydney Greenstreet. Miss Bronte's resemblance to Miss Olivia De Havilland was startling. Dr. Charles Dickens was around somewhere—probably finishing up a chapter to catch the next boat to America—but I couldn't find him. He looked, I was told, like Reginald Sheffield.

Mr. Dickens and Mr. Thackeray were scarcely speaking. They had a feud on. Mr. Thackeray told Miss Bronte, in fact, that he would never think of presenting that fellow Dickens to her. Miss Bronte, an old-English picture lip poke beauty and billowing red velvet gown, protested that she found Mr. Dickens' work most interesting.

I do not know what Miss Bronte really looked like, but I think that had she looked like Miss De Havilland she would certainly have had more suitors. Miss De Havilland, you know, has a fetching wink as in "Strawberry Blonde" and also, if coaxed, can bark like a dog—two parlor tricks in which Miss Bronte certainly never indulged.

These assorted literary characters are in the movie "Devotion," along with Ida Lupino's Emily Bronte. None of them look any more like writers than did Emile Zola, whom I met several years back on another Warner stage. Mr. Zola, you will recall, looked like Paul Muni. When Mr. Zola grew a beard, he looked even more like Paul Muni.

With Mr. Mark Twain, who was around recently, it was different. Mark Twain looked like Mark Twain, and very little like Fredric March. That, as you may guess, was because Robert Browning, in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," had already spoken for March's face, and even Hollywood can't have Mark Twain and Browning going around with the same face.

Another writer I met here was Edgar Allan Poe. Even with make-up, and brooding, he looked like John Shepperd. When I saw him Shepperd was brooding, not about Poe or love, but about the kind of picture Poe's life was going to make. He was right. Poe's shade is probably still brooding about it.

When we get down to cases, I suppose Bette Davis and Miriam Hopkins are the only pair of writers in the current cinematicity crop who really look like writers. That's because in "Old Acquaintance" they're modern scriveners—and modern writers can look like anything.

These writers in pictures seem well fed, not at all as if they've been starving in garrets. Some day they ought to make a movie about all the unsuccessful writers in the world, and let John Carradine of the lean and hungry look play it. There's a man who really looks like a writer.

A Simple Proposal For Changing Tax Payments

(Whether it passes or doesn't you are going to hear a lot in the next two months or so about the pay-as-you-go income tax bill. In a series of three articles, Jack Stinnett, Washington correspondent for The Herald, explains what it is, why it has been proposed, and the objections being raised to it. Here is the first.)

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The new Congress is America's mine-field. There are potential explosions almost any way you turn. But one that is almost certain to come off is the proposal to black out 1942 personal income taxes and start over on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Storm center of this proposal is the Capper-Carlson bill, now already in committee pigeon-holes in both the House and Senate and assured of immediate action because both chambers are aware that something must be done before March 15—if anything is to be done at all.

Rep. Frank Carlson (R-KAN.), in introducing the bill in the House, emphasized his debt to Beardsley Ruml, New York City financier, author of the "Ruml plan." Senator Capper introduced the same bill in the Senate. The Capper-Carlson bill is the Ruml plan in legislative language.

It is essential to get the taxpayer on a current basis, Mr. Carlson said. "There are only two ways of accomplishing that," he continued. "Either we can advance the tax payments one year—in other words move the clock ahead—or secondly, we collect two years' taxes in one year or over a period of years. There are legitimate objections to either of those plans."

The Capper-Carlson bill would move the tax clock ahead—abolish the 1942 income tax indebtedness entirely and start the taxpayer's new 27,000,000 income tax payments on a current payment basis.

"Unfortunately," says Mr. Carlson, "many of our people have been led to believe that by setting the income tax clock a year ahead they wouldn't be obligated for payment of current taxes. Everyone must realize that our federal treasury must have more tax revenue, not less."

The Capper-Carlson bill is simplicity itself, so far as the taxpayer is concerned. It provides: (1) Forgetting all about tax payments on 1942 income; (2) Starting immediately this March 15 on nine-year installments on taxes on income earned in 1943; (3) making income tax payments on a tentative basis, with a year-end adjustment; (4) Giving relief provisions for those whose income varies from year to year (and providing for relief to those whose income status changes radically during the year); and (5) Giving fair treatment to all by making the new bill a blanket measure for all income taxpayers (rather than exempting merely the lower brackets as has been suggested in some circles).

Action Scheduled On Major Bills By Solons This Week

By The Associated Press

AUSTIN, Feb. 1.—The 48th legislature embarked on its fourth week today with action scheduled on a number of major bills, including measures to revamp the state's antiquated election laws and to supplement old age pension payments.

Stamped with committee approval, a bill to increase old age assistance allotments with the $1,154,000 surplus accumulated in the fund during the last fiscal year was docketed for house debate.

Legislative approval would permit a $3 boost in old age payments, beginning next month.

In the senate, proponents of Sen. Karl Lovelady's election reform bill planned to request immediate printing of the measure to expedite floor consideration.

Members of the two houses will pause in their legislative routine to hear State OPA Director Mark McGehee address a joint session today on rationing.

On file with Speaker Price Daniel and slated for early submission to the house was the report of an investigating committee condemning alleged cruelties and waste in state eleemosynary institutions.

The allegations were tempered by a statement from Chairman Weaver Baker of the board of control asserting that many of the complaints had been remedied.

A hint that the senate committee on privileges and elections might jettison certain provisions of Sen. Lovelady's election bill came when the group balked at issuing an immediate report.

Though sentiment favorable to election reform was believed to have congealed in both houses, the senate committee's action was interpreted as foreshadowing a battle over the details of tightening election regulations.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1. (AP)—The cream colored door to the blue bedroom of Sportman Fred McEvoy's home, where juvenile Betty Hansen alleges Errol Flynn violated her, barred the way to progress today in the screen actor's trial on charges of statutory rape.

Prosecution and defense were involved in close questioning of C. D. Pope, Los Angeles county locksmith, who said there was evidence the lock to the door had been tampered with. Flynn's lawyer, Jerry Giesler, brought out, however, that Pope didn't know whether file marks on the lock shaft were made recently or some time ago.

Only Four Apply For Auto Tags

Only four had applied Monday morning for their Texas 1943 streamlined automobile licenses, the county tax collector and assessor's office reported today.

Of the four, three were for Texas cars and one for a former Nevada resident now living here.

The office made clear today the fact that out-of-state residents, now living in Howard county, would be required to buy a 1942 Texas license plate at the expiration of their out of state license until April 1st. The new tags will be affixed over the 1942 larger plates.

The Herald was in error Sunday when it stated that out of state residents would not be charged for 1942 plates secured at the expiration of their out of state license.

The only states whose expiration date, March 31st, coincide with Texas are Delaware, District of Columbia, Idaho, Maryland, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont and Alberta, Canada.

Although the 1943 tags are now available for purchase they cannot be attached to the old plates until March 1st.
