

Sen. Johnson Hits 'Fat Cat' GOP Policies

By DAVE CHEAVENS
WHITNEY, Tex. (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson had sharp words here last night for Democrats who won't fight for their presidential nominees and for the Republican party, which he charged "is more responsive to fat cats than the folks."

An overflow crowd of 1,600 pounded the tables and shouted approval when Johnson demanded a Texas Democratic delegation that would come home from the national convention next summer and make war on the GOP.

Not once did he mention Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas by name as he called on Texas Democratic leaders to follow the majority decision in naming the presidential ticket without any "ifs, ands or buts."

The reference seemed obviously aimed at Shivers, who bolted to support the GOP presidential nominee in 1952. The Texas governor has refused to promise advance support of the convention's choice until he knows who the nominee is. He recently has hinted he might support President Eisenhower again, if he is the GOP candidate. He has stated flatly that he will not support Adlai Stevenson.

The big crowd at an appreciation dinner for Johnson in this central Texas resort town interrupted him 21 times with often prolonged applause.

The senator said "the smell of victory is in the air," and predicted the Democratic party could solidify political gains that have mounted since 1952 if they will work at the job, and present a "program with a heart."

Not even Mr. Eisenhower can carry the "dead weight" of the present Republican party to win in 1956, Johnson said.

"We can lose in 1956 only if we permit the Republicans to divide us or if we divide ourselves," he said.

"Even the most rock-ribbed Republican will have to admit that his party responds a little faster to the fat cats than to the folks," Johnson said.

Johnson's brief, pointed thrusts on party loyalty brought the crowd to its feet.

Johnson and other speakers called for unity aimed at unseating the Republicans and in bringing Texas back to the Democratic fold. Under Shivers' leadership, many top Democrats supported Eisenhower in 1952 when he carried the state.

Johnson asserted he was not a candidate for any office, although Rep. Jim Wright of Weatherford, who introduced him, suggested he would make a fine presidential candidate. Most of the crowd applauded.

Johnson, making what he said would be his only major political speech during the rest of 1955, spoke at a $10 fund raising affair sponsored by the Texas Democratic Advisory Council, formed in 1952 after the regular state party organization bolted to Eisenhower.

Johnson said "I do not question his (Eisenhower's) integrity or his patriotism. But I do question his taste in political parties."

The senator outlined a tentative program for Congress which he said he hopes the party can shape into a winning platform in 1956. It included tax revision to benefit low income groups, broadening of the social security program, a farm program restoring 90 per cent of parity supports, aid to school construction and public roads, and abolition of the poll tax.

The program included also a natural gas bill "to preserve free enterprise and accord legitimate protection to consumers."

A water resources program with specific consideration to the Fryling Pan project in Arkansas, the upper Colorado basin storage project and the Washita project in Oklahoma.

He proposed also a program to relieve critical depressed areas on the basis of federal and state co-operation, including tax measures to encourage industry; more public works; more unemployment insurance and surplus food grants.

He asked for amendments to the immigration and naturalization laws "to insure that they are fair laws."

He plugged for disaster insurance to protect the American people from nature.

"I want to make it clear that this list is not all-inclusive. Some of the measures—after due consideration—may not be passed, others will be modified," Johnson said.

The new Democratic national committee, L. Gov. Ben Ramsey, was appointed when he said that while unity does not necessarily mean unanimity, it "does require readiness to submit to majority rule once a convention has reached a decision."

Johnson brought the crowd to its feet when he declared "Texas Democrats must be prepared to fight for the election of the nominee without any ifs, ands or buts. We need a Democratic delegation that will come home and make war on anyone who supports the GOP candidate in 1956."

Earlier, the senator was asked if that phrase in his speech meant he wanted a "pledged delegation" from Texas, and he replied, "It is clear enough to me."

At one point in the speech, Johnson said:

NOW YOU CAN SEND LETTERS IN PACKAGES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just in time for Christmas, the Post Office Department is relaxing its rules to permit inclusion of personal messages in packages and second-class mail. But you still have to pay the extra postage.

Heretofore putting a letter inside a package made the sender liable to as much as a $100 fine. The new arrangement is effective Monday.

All that's necessary is to note on the outside of the package that a letter is enclosed and put an additional stamp on the package.

Harriman Hits Handling Of Foreign Affairs

SEATTLE (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman of New York said last night "our alliances are creaking" because of what he called Republican "incompetence and shortsightedness" in the field of foreign relations.

Speaking at a $7.70-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner, the New York governor described the summit conference at Geneva last July as a "great Communist victory."

He said the victory resulted from "confusion and contradiction in Washington."

He said while he favored holding the conference, he later found it "unexcusable" for the President and his advisers to give the impression that they believed in the sincerity of the Kremlin words in advance of deeds.

Mrs. Worden Meets With Grand Jury

KINGSVILLE (AP)—Mrs. Sunny Canales Worden told the Kieberg County grand jury today her story of the eerie Padre Island slaying of her husband Oct. 22.

Dressed in black, Mrs. Worden, the stylish woman, went into the grand jury room about 10:30 a. m. Ranger Walter Russell was with the grand jury for a few minutes earlier.

Mrs. Worden, 42, was at the courthouse yesterday as the grand jury started hearing witnesses but she was not called.

Most witnesses were officers. They included Rangers Zeno Smith, Joe Bridge and Walter Russell; Kingsville, Corpus Christi, and San Antonio officers; Dee Wheeler of the State Department of Public Safety, who gave Mrs. Worden a lie detector test; and Sgt. Robert Worden, son of the dead man.

Christmas Tree Goes Up Today For Santa Visit

The community Christmas tree was set up this morning on the east side of the courthouse square, and workmen prepared to put the finishing touches to the city's Yule decorations.

All of the decorations are being concentrated on the square this year.

The tree, set in the memorial recess, is to be flanked by streamers of colored lights from the top of the courthouse toward the corners of the block. Lights also are being installed around the top of the building, and streamers will extend from the top of the courthouse toward the southwest and northwest corners of the block.

Christmas bells dangle from the streamers on the building's perimeter and the top of the courthouse has a 12-foot star facing the east and a nine-foot star on the west side.

A giant "Season's Greetings" sign in neon—32 feet long—is being displayed above the Christmas tree on the east rim of the courthouse.

The decorations are under direction of the Big Spring Garden Club Council, and installations are being made by crews under the direction of Sig Rogers, local sign man, and Johnny Garrison, veteran Texas Electric Service Company electrician.

Dub Caldwell, heavy equipment contractor, put the 40-foot Christmas tree in place this morning. The tree, given by C. A. Eiland of Lamesa, was brought here yesterday from New Mexico by R. O. Fielder, Caldwell's "boom" loader lifting the giant evergreen upright and stood it in a hole which was eased earlier.

Garrison said decorations will be placed on the tree this afternoon and Wednesday. Rogers today was completing the installation of decorations on and around the courthouse.

The area around the tree will be the stage for Santa Claus' first visit of the season to Big Spring next Monday at 7:30 p. m. The program will include carols by children from various churches, combined with the Community Chorus.

The main feature of the pre-Christmas activity will be Santa's visit with local youngsters, to hear their Christmas requests in order that he may hurry back to the North Pole to put finishing touches on his Yule cargo.

Texas Long Staple Cotton Quota Listed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas will receive 15,770 of the 45,305 acres to be allotted in 1956 for the growing of extra long staple cotton. Next year's quota represents a drop from the 15,964 acres allotted Texas in 1955. The national quota this year was 46,154 acres. New Mexico got 8,424 acres.

Students Placed On Probation In Auto Ban Violations

AUSTIN (AP)—A crackdown on violators of the freshman auto ban has brought probation of seven freshmen, University of Texas officials said today.

Fight With Sister Told In Clark Trial

Tiff Described As Following Pinball Game

FORT WORTH (AP)—A fight between Mrs. Mary Clark and her sister in a North Side bar was disclosed in court today in the trial of Mrs. Clark, charged with hiring gunmen to kill her wealthy oilman husband.

Both sides agreed after talking to Judge Willis McGregor the case will not be concluded by this week-end and the jury will be out another Sunday.

The testimony was given through depositions taken from Mrs. Clark in a civil suit.

McGregor overruled two defense motions for mistrial and other motions to bar the testimony, to have the jury withdrawn and to have the testimony of former convict Harry Huggins stricken.

The deposition showed: Mrs. Clark; her sister, Mrs. Hazel Hickman; and her sister's husband went to the bar. There, Mrs. Clark met Doc Slaughter, a truck driver.

A little girl asked Mrs. Clark to play a marble machine with her and later pointed to Mrs. Hickman and said, "I don't like that woman."

Mrs. Hickman cursed Mrs. Clark, the deposition showed. Mrs. Clark slapped her sister twice. Mrs. Hickman swung and missed. Then Hickman and Slaughter intervened.

Defense attorney Arthur Moore objected nine times in four minutes to questions to Mrs. Clark about how much she went with Slaughter.

The final answer was "We went dancing two or three times."

The prosecution introduced the petition of an amendment suit which William Clark filed 10 days before he was killed in their 23-room mansion in 1953. He accused Mrs. Clark of unfaithfulness.

The defense charged Clark was suffering from a general disease when he married the defendant, a divorcee.

The state sought to prove Mrs. Clark married for money alone, and then hired gunmen to kill her husband.

Mrs. Clark and three men were indicted. Tincy Eggleston and Cecil Green have been killed in gangland slayings since the indictments were returned.

Hagler Gives Up In Torch Case

THACKERVILLE, Okla. (AP)—David Hagler Jr. of Fort Worth, surrendered to Oklahoma authorities today 100 yards north of the Red River.

Hagler, accused of an Oklahoma torch slaying 13 months ago, was driven to Gainesville last night by Fort Worth attorney Ronald Aultman.

They conferred there with Dave Tant, Hagler's Oklahoma City lawyer, and O. K. Bivins, director of the Oklahoma Bureau of Investigation.

The group left Gainesville in a four-car motorcade.

Hagler, who appeared relaxed and happy, rode with Tant and Miss Lucille Harris, representative of an Oklahoma City surety company, in the lead car.

Tant stopped his car 100 yards north of the Red River bridge. Hagler, in a grey gabardine suit, stepped out and got in Bivins' car at 8:15 a. m.

That was an apparently well-rehearsed surrender.

The motorcade set out for Sulphur, where lawyers said they would file an application for a writ of habeas corpus in an effort to have Hagler freed on bond.

Tant said he expected no difficulty in making bond. Miss Harris was present to post it.

Hagler's attorneys had offered earlier to turn him over to Oklahoma authorities if they would allow him to make bond and promise he wouldn't be abused physically. They replied "no deal."

Sealed Indictment Returned By Jury In Sainburg Case

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—A grand jury, handed up today a sealed indictment after it was reconvened, the district attorney said, to hear evidence against a Texas charged with kidnaping his own son.

Dr. Frank Sainburg of Big Spring was arrested there Friday and released in $2,000 bail.

Dist. Atty. Frederick Bryant won permission in the state Supreme Court to reconvene the grand jury.

Thursday Tables Due Heavy Loads

Housewives were beginning their big push on food stores today, and prospects were for a real rush on Wednesday.

Of course, interest centers around meat for the table, but all the "fixins" were fattening the purchase list, too. All indications pointed to burdened tables on Thanksgiving Day. Even the projects of gathering food for the poor had produced a mild wave of buying, for there were hundreds of cans of fruits and vegetables along with fresh fruits, potatoes, onions, etc. stacked up in church offices.

This year's piece de resistance bird, will come at a reasonable figure. Quotations on turkey hens, from 53 to 59 cents a pound, while those for turkey toms range from 49 to 53.

For those who lean to a plump juicy chicken hen, the range is 43 to 45 cents a pound.

Hams run all the way from 49 to 59 cents a pound, but the real buy is pork roast, now going at 39 cents a pound. Beef roast ranges all the way from 35 to 39 cents a pound, and those who want to shoot the works on a steak dinner will find quotations all the way from 69 to 80 cents a pound on most cuts.

Many of the stores have Long Island duck and geese for those who like a little something out-of-the-ordinary in a fowl for the feast.

PARADE BSHS Homecoming Starts Wednesday

Homecoming festivities for Big Spring High School will begin tonight in succession Wednesday afternoon.

And former students are urged to join with current pupils in hearing the poppin'. The train of events is strained in the middle by the hard fact that the game with Sweetwater is in Sweetwater, but all other affairs of the homecoming are scheduled at home.

Opening round will be the homecoming assembly at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the high school auditorium. After the organ prelude by Julie Rainwater, Tom Henry Guin, student council president, will introduce Roy D. Worley, principal, for the welcome. Response will be by Dr. Lee Rogers.

Skits, popular dances and other activities in vogue at the various times will be arranged for the class of 1925 by Mrs. Lee Rogers; 1945 by Mrs. Glen Brown; for 1953 by Gary Tidwell. James B. Frazier will give "an ex-student's idea of homecoming." Mrs. Bob Satterwhite ('35), Mrs. George T. Thomas ('36), and Mrs. Zollie Boykin ('28) will join with the 1955 cheerleaders in the school songs and cheers.

The parade, at 4:30 p. m., will start at Second and Nolan, proceed south to Third, west to Gregg.

A Guide To Christmas Giving

Talent Tea Given By Episcopal Auxiliary

Members of St. Mary's Episcopal Church Auxiliary, joined by the St. Cecilia Guild as guests, gave their Talent Tea Monday evening in the parish house.

The tea is an annual event for the auxiliary and is the climax to a project which is carried on throughout the year.

At the beginning of the work, each member participating is given a silver dollar in token of the talents spoken of in the Biblical story of the talents.

The individual projects include such activities as cake baking and decorating, pie making, flower arranging, baby-sitting, house decorating, jury duty, making salad dressing, candle-making, notary work and other work that can be sold to friends and acquaintances.

Monday evening, the group returned the dollar along with the money collected from their industry. An incomplete count showed over $800 turned in to the treasury. The highest sum made by one person so far is $80.

Mrs. E. V. Spence was in charge of the program for the evening.

during which, Mrs. H. M. Compton reported the work of St. Mary's Auxiliary, and Mrs. Fred Deelp told of the activities of St. Cecilia's Guild.

Reports were given of the diocesan conference recently held in Odessa, Mrs. William Boyd, Mrs. Compton, Mrs. M. W. Talbot, Mrs. R. P. Jordheim, Mrs. Allen McShane and Mrs. D. M. Penn were among those telling of the meeting.

Members voted to continue the work of the talents throughout the year to come. Various services will be announced by the group at a later date.

Mrs. Lee Hanson and Mrs. E. L. Powell registered guests. Mrs. Penn offered the opening prayer. Tea arrangements, made by Mrs. Spence and Mrs. Penn, included a white Madeira cloth on a table decorated with a harvest grouping of fruits and vegetables combined with bronze and white chrysanthemums. White tapers in a three-pronged candelabrum completed the setting.

Mrs. Compton and Mrs. Boyd presided at the table, where about 30 guests were served refreshments.

'Be Thankful'
Such is the greeting extended to passersby from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nat Shick, 510 Gregg, during the Thanksgiving season. The harvest group was arranged by Mr. Shick, who has as one of his many hobbies, the making of scenes appropriate to special holidays.

Lamesa Study Club Will Hear Reports On New Clubhouse

LAMESA — An important meeting of the Women's Study Club has been set for 4 p. m. today when reports on several committees will be heard concerning the new clubhouse.

Mrs. Elmer Cope, finance chairman, is to check on the financial standing of the project and on pledges made by club members. The committee on rules and regulations for use of the clubhouse will be heard also.

The club is due to reach decisions on landscaping after Mrs. T. L. Higginbotham's committee reports, which will be held jointly somewhere around the middle of December.

Mrs. Buster Reed, in charge of the building committee, said that painting of the interior was due to be completed this week. The plastic floor covering is due to be in place next week and the completion date is pegged tentatively for Dec. 2 if interior hardware arrives.

First Baptist Group Has All-Day Meeting

A book review, "A World Within A World," was given by Mrs. Clyde Angel at an all day meeting Monday of the First Baptist Woman Missionary Union at the church.

The meeting opened with a song, "Come, Thou Almighty King." Mrs. W. B. Younger gave the opening prayer.

Preceding the book review, Mrs. Angel read the 100th Psalm and gave a brief devotion. She emphasized "the magnitude of our gratitude, attitude of our gratitude and personal gratitude for salvation."

Then she read a poem, "The Moslems are Waiting for Us."

The book was written by Elwyn Lee Means, native of Big Spring, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Walling, 906 Runnels. While she was in Big Spring, the author was active in the First Baptist Church. She is now a teacher of social science in Virginia.

This mission book, now being reviewed by missionary unions throughout the South, tells of the missionary work among the Moslems. Mrs. Means stated that Mohammedanism is the third largest religion in the world and there are over 315 million people who follow this faith.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor, said the invocation before the covered dish luncheon.

Closing prayer was by Mrs. Horace Reagan. There were 21 present.

'Happiness' Discussed By Mu Zeta

"Happiness and Environment" was the subject of a discussion brought by the Rev. Gage Lloyd for members of the Mu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Monday evening. The group met in the home of Mrs. Elmer Giles.

Want A Good Use For That Old Bedspread?

A worn cotton bedspread may still have some good sewing material left in it.

Useful and attractive "television squares" can be made with some of the fabric. Buy a roll of cotton batting for cushioning material. Make the squares 4 inches deep by 30 inches wide. Cover the cotton cushioning with the bedspread fabric and add a snowy moss fringe or bright piping for trim.

These cushions also can go outside to terrace or yard for picnics and barbecues.

Spanish Influence

Colorful cotton "at home" separates show their Spanish influence with ruffled braid trim on the pants and rows of ruffles on the blouse. Trim fitting pants are in cotton velveteen and the blouse is of lustrous cotton. They are designed by Serbin of Miami.

Simplicity Of Design

The sheath is again one of fashion's favorite designs, the National Cotton Council reports. A slim cotton sheath by Helen Whiting features lace trim on the scoop neckline and short sleeves.

Versatile Cottons

Water-repellent and water-proof processes make cottons for raincoats, outdoor furniture, uniforms, and sports clothing that are impervious to rain and dampness.

Committee chairmen for the dinner party are Mrs. Harvey Wooten, food; Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, entertainment; Mrs. Commodore Ryan publicity.

The Jaycee-ettes will have a party for the patients at the State Hospital Dec. 8.

Twelve members and one guest, Mrs. Opal Brown, were present.

Presbyterial Reports Heard; Luncheon Held

Reports from the Presbyterial recently held in Hobbs, N. M., were heard by members of the First Presbyterian Women of the Church Monday morning. The group met at the church.

Mrs. Gage Lloyd and Mrs. Bob Eberly told the women that 25 churches were represented, with 157 in attendance. Of this number, 43 were delegates. Mrs. Cecil Wasson and Mrs. Tommy Jordan also attended.

Nine life memberships were awarded at the meeting, and a collection was taken for furnishings to be used for the returned missionaries of the church.

The 1956 Presbyterial was scheduled for Westminster Church in Midland.

Mrs. Darel Highley was the leader for the Bible study for the morning, and her subject was taken from

Bridal Pair Of Lamesa Given Dinner

LAMESA — Mrs. Fred Henderson was hostess Monday evening at her home at 801 N. 12th Street to the rehearsal dinner honoring Judith Ann Allen, who will be married to Russell Wayne Noland.

The wedding is to take place today at 8 p. m. in the First Methodist Church.

Silver and white decorations were used, and the centerpiece was a wedding ring of styrofoam with a bridal bouquet. Satin streamers extended the length of the table. The cloth was white Irish embroidered linen, and place cards contained jeweled engagement rings. Silver and white appointments were used.

There also were individual tables, which carried replicas of the main centerpiece.

Gifts to the bride's attendants were white leather gloves and jeweled combs. Male attendants received cufflinks.

Hostesses were Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. W. T. Webb, Mrs. J. P. White, Mrs. A. G. Barnard, Mrs. Pete Parker and Mrs. George Weiss, Brownfield, and Mrs. George Howell, New Orleans, La.

East Fourth Circle Fills Basket Monday

Members of the Ruth Circle of the East Fourth Baptist Church brought food for a Thanksgiving basket to be given to a needy family Monday morning when they met in the home of Mrs. C. A. Tonn.

The study was on mission work, and Mrs. Ernest Richters discussed "Guide For Community Missions" for the group. Mrs. Richters also offered the opening prayer. Six members were present.

'I'm Mistreated' Runaways Claim

By DON HENRY

Some come alone, some come in pairs, and some come by threes, but whatever their alignment, some 25 youths have been picked up here in the past year either having run away from home. And that doesn't include those who have run away from Big Spring and were taken in the general vicinity.

Juvenile Officer A. E. Long has picked up, within the past year, youngsters ranging in age from nine years on up and he finds that the runaways usually travel in two's and three's. Some slip away alone, but not as many as go with someone else, Long noted.

And amazingly, about half of the runaways are girls. Whether girls or boys, Long said that usually they are picked up either on the highway hitchhiking or in some cafe. Cafe owners usually know their customers and they report a any juveniles they do not know, the juvenile officer said.

The largest number of runaways usually fall in the 14, 15, or 16 year age group.

Most of the excuses for running away are in the "I'm mistreated" category. This of course runs to many reasons, but among the most common are (1) trouble with step parents, and (2) not wanting to go to school. Related to the first reason is the excuse of no home life. The ones not being able to get along with their step mother or dad constitute the largest group, Long said. And he noted that many times — as many as not — the step parent would appear as the youngster had said when the parents come to claim their child or when contacted that their child had been picked up.

About four or five times this year parents have told Long either on the phone or through police officials "to just let the kid loose. If he wants to run away, just let him stay. It's okay with us."

A few just send money enough to buy the youth a ticket home — in many cases home has been as far away as Minnesota or Oregon — and tell Long to release the child. And, Long says he has yet to hear from parents that the child did not return.

A major part of the time, the girl or boy will be ready to return home when picked up here. Very few times have runaways given Long the wrong address; in fact, he said that they seem very willing to give the entire street and town address. As if they are ready to go back home.

When parents come to Big Spring after their charges, Long said, they don't seem surprised the child has run away from home. They feel that it was the child's fault, and that they (the parents) were not to blame in any way. No one would admit ever mistreating the youngsters or not giving them a good home.

"We do what we can while they (the runaways) are in our custody, but when the parents arrive and seem not to care except that it's costing them to come after the child, there is nothing we can do. The job belongs mainly to the parent," Long admitted.

Bride's Mother Drops Charges Of Kidnaping

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Joseph McGuane yesterday withdrew charges that 22-year-old Gary Pounds had kidnaped her recently married daughter and held her for four days.

The mother had identified Pounds as a former suitor of her 19-year-old daughter Maureen, who married Albert Maga Jr., 28, a soldier, last week.

Police Chief Enoch Matthews of nearby McDonald, where Mrs. McGuane lives, previously had advised the mother not to file the charges. Matthews said he had heard several conflicting stories and advised Mrs. McGuane to wait further investigation before taking any action.

The young bride said Pounds offered her a ride home from the McDonald business section last Wednesday but drove to West Virginia. She said they stayed with an aunt and uncle of Pounds at Warwood.

She was not harmed but Pounds refused to let her telephone home, Mrs. Maga related. Pounds was not available for comment.

Pounds and Mrs. Maga returned separately to McDonald Sunday night. Pounds' brother William returned the girl to her home. Mrs. McGuane then swore out a warrant charging Pounds with kidnaping. It was issued by a justice of the peace.

The bridegroom was given an emergency furlough from Camp Rucker, Ala., when his wife was reported missing.

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandow

Teen Age Loyalties

When there's a choice between spending the evening with an old pal or a member of the opposite sex, who gets the priority?

This is one of the major social problems of the teen years. To solve it requires the wisdom of a true diplomat, and often the conflict results in loss of friends and popularity.

Is there an unwritten law made especially for the teen years which allows old loyalties to friends and plans made with them to be canceled at the ring of a telephone when a member of the opposite sex puts in an appearance?

The general opinion seems to be that there is. Because most people like to date, they generally understand when you explain you'd rather cancel your plans with them in favor of a date. However, no one understands forever and there is a limit to everyone's generosity in allowing themselves to be cast aside.

When dating is new it is a great thrill and quite else in the world seems nothing as important. Friends who have been true blue since kindergarten seem boring and dull when measured against the excitement of being with a member of the opposite sex.

Does this biological change that stirs us with a new interest constitute our breaking promises, changing plans and being generally unreliable to old stand-bys who have long ago proved their worth? No, it does not! Dating is fun, but it is not the only fun. It has value and enriches our lives, but it is not the only thing of value which enriches our lives.

If our entire social life were composed only of dates, and if our friends were all of the opposite sex, it would not be the paradise some teens imagine.

It would be lonely and lopsided and after awhile, quite unsatisfying. Happiness is the outcome, not of one relationship, but of a variety. Though friends of one's own sex are not the same as dating, they are just as important. Friends, however, cannot be put on the shelf and expected to stay friendly. They must be treated with respect and loyalty and reliability. Prospective dates frequently judge you according to your faithfulness to your friends. If you are willing to sweep aside old friends in favor of new, and break dates in order to make more exciting ones, they suspicion you may come to treat them in the same manner.

The boy or girl who foregoes a wonderful evening now and then to keep a dull promise previously made finds many friends and dates as well.

Texas Weather Picture Mixed

By The Associated Press

Two different northers pressing down on Texas confused the weather picture Tuesday.

One cold front—an "upper cold front" stretching from El Paso through western Kansas—was to complete its sweep across the state during the day.

A second colder front stretched from Arizona to South Dakota Tuesday morning and weathermen estimated it would hit Texas Tuesday night or Wednesday morning.

The second front was expected to bring a low of 18 to 28 degrees for the Panhandle, with 28 to 40 degrees elsewhere in West Texas. A low of 32 to 42 degrees was forecast for the northern portion of East and South Central Texas.

Early Tuesday morning, skies were clear in the Panhandle and West Texas but cloudy over the rest of the state.

Uncle Ray: Night Travel Solves Problems For Birds

By RAMON COFFMAN

Yesterday I spoke about the various routes which birds take to southern places, where they go to enjoy mild winters.

Q. How fast do birds fly during migrations?

A. Their speeds differ a good deal. Smaller birds — such as warblers and thrushes — often fly at the rate of only 25 or 30 miles an hour. Some of the larger birds make a mile a minute or even more.

Q. If a bird traveled 30 miles an hour, it would cover a distance of 720 miles in 24 hours. Is that a common distance for small birds to go in a day and night during a migration?

A. Far from it! Most birds average hardly one hour of southward flying during a 24-hour day. They stop to rest and to eat. To go 1,000 miles southward, a bird usually takes at least a month, sometimes more time than that.

Q. What about the journey across the Gulf of Mexico?

A. The birds which make that trip speed up their flying a great deal. Even the small ones often average 40 miles an hour while crossing the gulf. Starting at about sunset, the migrating birds usually reach Yucatan the next morning.

Q. Do many birds make night flights?

A. Yes, darkness is the favorite time for long flights during a migration. Orioles, tanagers, thrushes, shore birds and others fly across the Gulf of Mexico at night. If they could explain, they might say: "One reason is the coolness of the air, but more important is food. We get most of our food during daylight. If we started in the morning, our stomachs would be empty during the long stretch of flying. In the evening, on the other hand, the situation is good. We have spent the day getting plenty to eat. By the time we reach southern Mexico, it is daylight again and we can start eating at once."

Gay Hill Board Votes To Require Vaccinations

Gay Hill's school board unanimously voted at their meeting last Friday night to require all students entering the school next year to have both smallpox and diphtheria shots.

The students must have the shots prior to Sept. 1, 1956.

In other action, the board elected to charge for the Gay Hill basketball games this winter and give the money to the seventh and eighth grades for their annual end-of-school educational tour.

Prices charged will be 10 cents for children and students below high school. Adults and high school students will be admitted for 15 cents.

Six games and two tournaments are currently on the schedule for the Gay Hill School. The season will be opened Tuesday night at Gay Hill with Midway. Nov. 29 Gay Hill plays host to Vealmoor and goes to Vealmoor Dec. 6. Coahoma hosts Gay Hill Dec. 15, and Jan. 5, 6, and 7, a tournament will be held at Gay Hill.

Teams entered are the host school, Vealmoor, Elbow, Midway, Center Point, Coahoma, Flower Grove, Grady, Gail, Union, Westbrook, and Knott.

Following the tourney, two games will be played at home, with Elbow Jan. 10 and Coahoma Jan. 19. A tournament is tentatively slated at Midway Jan. 26, 27, and 28.

Dallas Will Still Get Road Money

DALLAS (AP)—Money will be available next year and in the future even if Dallas County loses its 16 1/2 million dollar state highway allocation for this year, E. H. Thornton Jr., state highway commission chairman, said yesterday.

Dallas County voters rejected a car tax proposal Saturday that would have provided funds for the purchase of right-of-way for state and federal highway construction. Without right-of-way, the fund cannot be used. The issue was defeated by 395 votes.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:
TENZING, the mountain climber, who with Sir Edmund Hillary, conquered Mt. Everest:

"And so the truth is told. I am ready to be judged by it. We stepped up. We were there. The dream had come true. What we did first was what all climbers do when they reach the top of their mountain. We shook hands. But this was not enough for Everest. I waved my hands in the air, and then threw them around Hillary and we thumped each other on the back until, even with oxygen, we were almost breathless. Then we looked around. It was 11:30 in the morning, the sun was shining and the sky was the deepest blue I have ever seen. Only a gentle breeze was blowing, coming from the direction of Tibet, and the plume of snow that always blows from Everest's summit was very small."

IVY WILLIAMSON, Wisconsin football coach:
 "Michigan State, Michigan and Ohio State all have great young teams now—good ones. They all have top fresh squads. The rest of us will be fighting for fourth place for the next few years. Southern California and Ohio State had us outmanned. I'd say SC and Ohio State are on a par. But Michigan State is better than either."

BURT INGWERSEN, Illinois line coach:
 "How misguided can alumni get? I hear they now want to fire Don Faurot at Missouri, yet it was Faurot who taught the split-T to Bud Wilkinson (Oklahoma) and Jim Tatum (Maryland) when they were his assistants at Iowa Pre-Flight. Do you think either Tatum or Wilkinson could beat Faurot if he had either one of their teams and they had his?"

JOHN CONLEY, the Snyder coach, to Coach Carl Coleman of Big Spring, immediately following their game recently in Snyder:
 "These teams always hit each other hard, don't they?"

MIAMI HERALD:
 "Put Hugh Pitts (TCU) and Notre Dame's Pat Bisciglia on the same club and the enemy would have to close up offensive business."

TERRY BRENNAN, Notre Dame mentor:
 "You can't scrimmage and take a chance if you have only 15 or 16 players you can depend on. Failure to scrimmage doesn't hurt too much if you miss a week, perhaps two weeks, but eventually if you don't have it the players lose their timing and also their edge. One of the secrets of successful coaching is knowing when to scrimmage, and how much, and when not to scrimmage."

WILL CONNOLLY, San Francisco scribe:
 "We live in dread of the inevitable day when two masked footballers will collide head-on. Their protective devices are not of the same manufacture. One is a thick steel bar covered with rubber. The other is a broad and transparent plastic strip. If there is a discrepancy of half an inch, varying with the sporting goods houses, the footballers are liable to lock horns in a frontal attack. This has happened to Canadian moose in the mating season. The poor, dumb creatures have been known to die because they couldn't free themselves from interlocked antlers. Conceivably, we may one day find the bleached bones of two footballers on the floor of the Coliseum or Kezar Stadium. This is one of the vocational risks of wild life in the boondocks. Between the 20-yard lines."

JOHN LUCADELLO, the former major leaguer (who may manage Roswell next year):
 "Bob Feller is the best pitcher I ever faced. He had everything. He was the fastest by far, had the best curve and he never let up on a hitter. Spud Chandler was my jinx, though."

HAMPTON POOL, one-time coach of the Miami Seahawks, on his fortunes with that team:
 "It rained so much on us, we could have had the best swimming team in the All-America Conference."

IN SWEETWATER

Steers Face Big Task Thursday

If the Big Spring Steers were outlooking Plainview for their upcoming Thanksgiving Day date with Sweetwater, they could hardly be blamed.

The Ponies started slowly enough, failing to win any of their first three games. Since that time, however, they have become one of the highest scoring teams in Sweetwater history.

Elwood Turner's team has scored a total of 302 points in nine starts for an average of 33.6 a game. The Cayuses topped all previous efforts last week when they belted hapless Palo Duro of Amarillo, 61-0.

Big Spring has its work cut out for it, since it hasn't won a game in Sweetwater since 1935.

Fancied Sweetwater stepper is Harrold Hobbs, who as a sophomore two years ago led the Ponies to a surprising 14-13 upset over the Steers, then bound for the state finals.

Hobbs has scored 139 points to come within 29 points of Marion Flanagan's all-time Sweetwater record. Needless to relate, he'll try to score that many against the Longhorns.

Hobbs is one of Dan Aiken's favorite targets on passes. He is also a great outside runner and kicks goals for the Ponies.

The Steers went through an extended defensive and offensive drill Monday and will wind up their heavy work for the year today.

The Longhorns need a win over Sweetwater to finish above the 500 mark in games won and lost. It looks like a large but not impossible order.

Was It Legal?

Quarterback Jim Contratto (12) of Southern California tosses a lateral to halfback Jon Arnett as he goes down on a tackle by fullback Bob Davenport of UCLA in Los Angeles, Calif., thereby gaining a couple of more yards just before SC scored its only touchdown. But judging from Contratto's knee on the ground in this picture, the officials might have missed one in not calling the ball dead at that point. Television viewers were told that Contratto fumbled and Arnett recovered. UCLA won 17 to 7. (AP Wirephoto).

'We're Not Bowl Bound,' Says Army's Earl Blaik

By ED CORRIGAN
 WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Army Football Coach Earl Blaik, who has spent almost as much time ministering to his athletes in the hospital as on the field, announced today that:

1. Army has a better defensive team than Navy.
2. He doesn't think Army will be invited to a bowl game.
3. "This has been a trying season."

Blaik leads his three-times-beaten forces to Philadelphia Saturday to play once-defeated, once-tied Navy in the 56th meeting of the service schools. Navy is a slight favorite.

"I think we've got a better defensive team than Navy," said Blaik before sending his Cadets through a real two-fisted workout. "And I'll be surprised if we don't show it Saturday."

"I know Navy is even more dangerous than last year (the Middies won that one 27-20) because their passing has improved, but they'll have to touch all the bases to beat us."

Blaik apparently is in no position to say what action Army would take on a postseason game if the Cadets lick Navy. While nothing official has been said, there doesn't seem to be much doubt that either the Sugar or Cotton Bowl would like the winner.

Army prohibits postseason play, but Navy broke its rule against bowl games last New Year's when it plastered Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl.

"We've lost three games," said Blaik. "and I don't think anyone would consider us. Would we like to play one more game after Navy? One more game of what? This has been a very trying season."

Right now, Army is in about as good shape as it has been all season.

"With one thing and another," said Blaik, "we never have been able to put a backfield together that we could call our own even though Pat Uebel has played well all season and Don Holleder, to my mind, has done remarkably well."

Yearling Cagers Launch Workouts

Junior High basketball teams have started workouts in the Yearling Gym.

The Seventh Graders are working out under Dan Lewis while both the Eighth and Ninth Graders are temporarily in charge of Charles Caraway.

The Seventh Graders work out at 6:30 a.m. daily. Eighth and Ninth Graders report at 3:30 p.m. All three teams open their season Dec. 2, at which time they meet Snyder.

Hobbs Breaks Scoring Mark

Harrold Hobbs, Sweetwater halfback, has established a new scoring record in District I-AA football play with 139 points for the campaign.

Hobbs still has one game to play, against Big Spring on Thanksgiving Day.

Hobbs has scored 18 touchdowns and kicked 31 extra points.

Second in the race is Joe Kennedy of Levelland, whose aggregate is 86 points.

Big Spring's Jerry Barron is a strong fifth in the race with 62 points. Barron has counted ten TD's and added two successful conversions.

Pitt Panthers Selected To Play In Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Pittsburgh, shunted from football bowls for 19 years, will flaunt its revitalized power in the 1956 Sugar Bowl Jan. 2.

Pitt, ranked No. 13 in the nation by this week's Associated Press poll, has a 7-3 record. Defeats have been at the hands of top-ranking teams.

Fred Digby, general manager of the Sugar Bowl Committee, announced Pitt's selection today. He said the Panthers' opponents will be either Georgia Tech, Auburn, Vanderbilt or Mississippi.

That will be decided, he said, after the four Southeastern Conference teams play their final games Saturday.

If Pitt's substitute fullback Bob

Grier is sent into the game by Coach Johnny Michelosen, he will be the first Negro to play in the Sugar Bowl.

Digby said the invitation to Pitt was made "without conditions." He said Pitt may play Grier and may sell tickets to Negroes if it wants to.

The Panthers closed their season last Saturday with a convincing 20-0 victory over Penn State. Pitt conquerors include Oklahoma, No. 1 team in the nation, Navy, No. 11, and Miami of Florida, No. 14.

Pitt's victims have been California, Syracuse, Nebraska, Duke, Virginia, West Virginia and Penn State. The 26-7 victory over Duke came a week after the Blue Devils upset Ohio State, the Big Ten champions. Pitt's 26-7 victory over West Virginia knocked the team out of the undefeated class and the Sugar Bowl picture.

In its last bowl appearance, Pitt routed Washington 21-0 in the 1937 Rose Bowl.

Until this year it has not been able to build another powerhouse. This year's 7-3 mark is Pitt's best since 1938, when the Panthers won eight and lost two.

Pitt began its resurgence in recent years under Lowell (Red) Dawson, who resigned last season because of illness.

Michelosen mainly uses the traditional Pitt single wing pops up frequently.

The ducats, priced at $1.25 each, will remain on sale at the School Tax Office through Wednesday. All are choice locations near the 50-yard line on the east side of the field.

An additional 600 student tickets were sent here for sale from Sweetwater and they, too, will remain available through Wednesday.

Jackie Richbourg On Top Of Tennis Ladder

There are 10 names on the YMCA "tennis ladder" now. Jackie Richbourg has the top step but he is liable for challenge from the other boys on the ladder. Anyone is invited to put his name on the ladder and try to climb to the top by beating the other participants.

Besides Richbourg, the others on the ladder are, in order, Bobby McAdams, Buddy Barnes, Frank Powell, Gary Tidwell, Tom Guin, Bill French, Bobby Thrast, Roy Brown, and Franklin Williamson.

PARTY LEADER

Johnson Ranch Has Become Watering Spot For Politicos

By DON WHITEHEAD
JOHNSON CITY (AP)—From a political base deep in the hills of central Texas, a strong influence is developing to present the Democratic party to the voters in 1956 as a "party of moderation" which rejects extremes.
This base is the ranch home of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson whose heart attack last July has not stopped him from charting in his convalescence the broad outlines of a course of action for his party.
Johnson is lean, tanned and fit. He seems to be almost bursting with an energy which he tries to control while regaining his full strength. Medical signs point to his return to active duty as the Senate majority leader when Congress convenes in January.
At first glance, his ranch on the Pedernales River would seem an unlikely place for the evolution of a movement which—if successful—would have the end result of placing the "moderates" in firm control of the 1956 Democratic National Convention. This could negate the liberal and conservative "extremists" (as they are being called) to the party's outer fringes.
But the Johnson ranch is an unusual place. It is an important political center right now. In addition to the cattle and the sheep roaming its acres, the ranch has become a sort of watering place for Democratic leaders who don't just chance to find their way there while wandering through the mesquite and the wind-swept fields. Despite protestations of "no politics," there is an electric air of politics about the place.
A visit to the ranch and talks with people who are close to the Texas political situation leave the indelible impression that Johnson is moving into the role of a counselor of moderation because he sees this course as best for the Democratic party and as offering the widest appeal to the voters.
His friends believe the emphasis on moderation would strengthen the party's chances at the polls next November by appealing not only to the great bulk of Southern Democrats but also of the party's "moderates" in other sections. Thus the base of appeal would be far broader than any sectional alignment.
They argue that President Eisenhower's sweeping victory in 1952 reflected the temper of the nation and the people's desire for a steady course, neither too far to the right nor too far to the left. In its fundamentals, the course they favor would roughly parallel the Eisenhower course in the sense of avoiding extremes.
These friends insist Johnson is seeking no sectional coalitions or alignments. They repeat earlier statements in which Johnson has said: "I'm not going to turn the Senate floor into a nominating convention or senators into precinct captains, even if I could."

But they concede that in taking the leadership in a move toward moderation, Johnson may become a rallying point for the "moderates" at the national convention.
Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) already has said it is a "reasonable assumption" that Western and Southern Democrats may join forces on a presidential candidate and platform in 1956 and then he added he would not disagree the possibility that Johnson "might become a figure around whom Southern and Western Democrats could rally."
What effect would such a development have on the choice of a nominee? Would it become an effort to stop Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic nominee, or Governor Harriman of New York?
Johnson disclaims any interest in stopping anyone, and Southern politicians generally agree its too early to say what might happen at the convention. But there is a growing tendency visible in the Democratic party toward a neutral position with a "wait and see" attitude by many party leaders.
Talk of Johnson going to the convention as Texas "favorite son" candidate has touched off speculation that he may have reached some sort of accord with Gov. Allan Shivers. It was Shivers who led Texas into the Eisenhower camp in 1952 and he is now fighting for control of the state's delegation to the national convention.
The Shivers fight is against the "loyalist" (liberal) Democratic forces led by House Speaker Sam Rayburn who in turn is regarded as the political mentor of Johnson's political mentor in Washington.
But then some strange events have taken place in Texas politics in recent months.
After the Texas bolt to Eisenhower, the Democratic National Committee refused to recognize Texas' National Committeeman Wright Morrow because of his support of Shivers and his supporters ousted Morrow as a chairman. Paul Butler made it clear that Morrow would have to go. He also let it be known that any replacement for Morrow would have to be acceptable to Rayburn and Johnson.
Last July the Texas State Democratic Executive Committee, controlled by Shivers and his supporters, ousted Morrow in a sudden move which the "loyalists" gleefully called "goldbusted and ruthless."
The man chosen to succeed Morrow was Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, a conservative whose record on labor laws and other issues had made him unpopular with the "loyalists." But Ramsey had refused to bolt to Eisenhower and he had voted for Stevenson.

Johnson's friends say he engineered the deal in which he, Rayburn and Shivers agreed on Ramsey as the national committeeman. Shivers said the shift from Morrow to Ramsey was necessary in order to give Texas a full voice in national Democratic affairs.
There are some in these parts who think Johnson now is calling the signals and that he and Shivers are "working together pretty closely."
One source said: "When Shivers came back from a conference with Paul Butler in Washington last spring, he was really plugging Lyndon, saying he was the leader who gave the Democratic party new hopes of becoming a national rather than a regional party—and he hinted that he thought Lyndon would make a fine president."
Johnson's friends explain this relationship by saying he and Shivers have been personal friends from the time they entered politics as young men—and that their friendship is something apart from their politics.
Control of the Texas delegation to the Democratic National Convention will be decided next May when the "liberal" and "conservative" forces clash in precinct conventions and then in the state convention.
Some political observers see the Johnson-Shivers-Rayburn agreement on a national committeeman as an effort to bring the party factions back into some kind of working agreement before the national convention.
Texas newspapers speculated freely on this situation after the "liberals" raised $30,000 last summer for an announced grass roots campaign to whip Shivers in the conventions; a campaign manager was hired; then the money was turned over to the Democratic National Committee; and talk of an all-out drive against Shivers subsided.
Whatever the top-level strategy may be behind the maneuvers in Texas' internal politics, the fact remains that Johnson is in a key position both at the state level and at the national level.
Prior to his heart attack, Johnson often was mentioned as a likely candidate for the presidential nomination but he doesn't discuss his personal ambitions with casual visitors or what effect his illness may have had on his future plans.
However, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) let the Johnson ranch recently and remarked to reporters: "Don't count Sen. Johnson out of the race."

MONOPOLY HEARING

GM 'Rider' On Heaters Charged

WASHINGTON (AP)—An automobile heater manufacturer testified today that certain General Motors zone and district managers refused to approve dealer orders for 1955 Chevrolet without factory installed heaters.
E. L. Schofield, president of E. L. Schofield, Ind. of Rockford, Ill., contended that the practice of forcing sales of heaters listed as optional equipment on cars, is a violation of antitrust laws.
Schofield testified before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee looking into the operations of General Motors. Chevrolet is one of the cars made by the company.
Schofield said he complained to General Motors which insisted dealers could order cars and trucks, with or without heaters. He said he also complained to the Federal Trade Commission which conducted an investigation in the Chicago area in August and reported that all Chevrolet dealers denied they could not order cars without heaters.
Schofield said his sales of heaters dropped most in the Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis and Boston areas, while sales volume remained high throughout the year in the Philadelphia and Baltimore areas.
One wholesaler, Henry Trauscht of Evanston, Ill., told the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee yesterday that three major automobile manufacturers—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—as well as the major oil and rubber companies, violate the Clayton antitrust law "myriads of times each year."
Trauscht, secretary and general manager of the Evanston Auto Supply Co., said the big companies show the same disregard for the laws against coercion in business.

As the American people once did for the prohibition laws.
Trauscht and G. C. Morris, executive director of the Automotive Wholesalers of Texas, both contended that car dealers admit privately they are coerced, under penalty of losing their franchises, into buying replacement parts from factory sources.
As the Russians left New Delhi, most diplomatic observers felt their four-day stay in the capital had been definitely triumphant. There was some criticism, however, of the bitter attacks Bulganin and Khrushchev launched at the West in their speeches to the Indian Parliament yesterday. Some Indians thought the Parliament a country proclaiming nonalignment in the cold war wasn't the place for a blast from one side or the other.
The Russians' itinerary calls for their tomorrow to fly to the nearest spot in India—Bombay—where 12 persons were killed and 250 injured yesterday in riots led by Communists and extreme left Socialists. Authorities in the big port, India's second largest city, imposed a citywide ban on the assembly of more than four persons and last night had arrested 1,000 demonstrators.
The leftist riots, in which more than 200,000 persons participated, protested the central government's decision to make the City of Bombay a separate state and divide the rest of Bombay State into two states. The Communists and socialist extremists are backing the Marathi-speaking 45 per cent of Bombay City's three million residents, who are demanding that the city join the proposed Marathi state.
Prime Minister Nehru personally sped Bulganin and Khrushchev off on the tour of what he calls "The New India."
Nehru served notice on his Kremlin guests at a state banquet Sunday night that he does not intend to let them woo India from its policy of neutrality. He said his country is "in no camp and no military alliance" and seeks only the camp of "peace and good will."

City Commission To Meet Today

The Big Spring City Commission will meet at 5 p. m. today in the commission room at the city hall.
The regular meeting will probably include discussion on a telephone rate hike, consideration of plans and specifications for new fire equipment, among other matters.

Five Russian Executions Announced

LONDON (AP)—The Tiflis (Thbilisi) radio announced today five former security officials in the Soviet Georgian Republic have been executed for high treason and other crimes against the Soviet Union.
The broadcast did not link those executed specifically with Lavrenty P. Beria, Soviet security and police boss purged and executed in 1953 for alleged treason. However, Beria got his start in the Georgian security organization and kept tight control over it even after he went to Moscow. After his purge, the ax started falling right and left among Georgian officials.
The Tiflis broadcast identified those executed only by their last names. Radio monitors here said a sixth official might have been included in the group executed. This was not certain, due to the indistinctness of the broadcast.
Those definitely identified as executed were:
Rukhadze, former minister of internal security and one-time chief of the prosecution department in the Ministry of Internal Affairs. He apparently was the same man mentioned in a Moscow broadcast shortly after Beria's downfall as having been arrested on charges of persecuting innocent workers and plotting to arouse dissatisfaction among the Soviet people.
Rokava, former commissar of internal affairs; Tserteli, former deputy commissar of internal security; Stavitsky and Khazani, former prosecutors.
The sixth man who may also have been executed, was identified only as Riarmi.
The broadcast said two other former prosecutors got prison sentences. One of them, Paramonov, got 25 years. Another, Nadaraia, also was sentenced but faulty reception made the length of his term unclear.
Treason executions in Russia are always carried out by shooting. Georgia, birthplace of Beria and Stalin, has a population of about 3,600,000. Many of the people are descendants of fierce mountain tribesmen who fought the Communists fiercely in the civil war that followed World War I and the Bolshevik revolution.
There is no question the army is continuing to move in steadily on the old secret police molded into a potent political force by J. V. Stalin and his police boss, Lavrenty P. Beria. All indications are that the army, growing in influence and power, has been exerting increasing control over the internal police and providing the balance of power which prevents a new struggle for one-man dictatorial supremacy in Moscow.
There is no reason to believe the men listed as executed in Tiflis were only recently sent to their doom.
Beria headed the first batch of Stalin's police leaders executed in 1953. The announcement was made in September of that year, although the executions more probably took place in the previous month. In December, 1954, Most's resurrection, Khrushchev and Bulganin can feel safe in traveling off to Asia and other distant places for long periods at a time. Obviously by a firm agreement, the army stands on guard at home.

Ike, Cabinet Hold Session

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower had a two-hour session with his Cabinet at Camp David, near Thurmont, Md., today, and then returned to his farm home near here.
Harold E. Stassen, the president's special assistant for disarmament problems, rode with Eisenhower on the 22-mile automobile drive from Camp David.
There were indications the Cabinet session was concerned with the State of the Union message which Eisenhower will lay before Congress in January.

Fresh Political Crisis In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—A fresh political crisis afflicted Brazil today in the wake of an unsuccessful bid by Joao Cafe Filho to resume the presidency from which he took leave of absence two weeks ago.
By sizable majorities after an all-night debate, both Houses of Congress adopted a resolution that Cafe should remain out of office until Congress decided otherwise.

Russ Leaders View Indian Power Project

BHAKRA DAM, Northern India (AP)—Premier Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev toured India's $57-million-dollar irrigation-power project today with American dam builder Harvey Slocum as their guide.
Spirited conversations between Khrushchev, the Soviet Communist party chief, and Slocum, chief consultant on the dam, enlivened the tour in which the Russian party of more than 100 was guided through miles of construction work.
As Slocum showed the top Soviet leaders a view of the projected 680-foot concrete dam—the second highest in the world—the stocky Khrushchev turned to the American engineer and said: "American engineers were helpful to Russia in the early days. We learned a good deal from them, but now we are in competition and soon we will pass them."
"Competition is a good thing. It helps progress," Slocum replied. "It is very good," Khrushchev echoed.
"It's a case of you work for me and I'll work for you," Slocum remarked.
Slocum wouldn't let me in (to the United States)," Khrushchev joked with the American engineer. "They wouldn't give me a passport."
The Bhakra-Nagal project was the first stop on a 10-day, 5,000-mile swing around India by the Kremlin leaders.
As the Russians left New Delhi, most diplomatic observers felt their four-day stay in the capital had been definitely triumphant. There was some criticism, however, of the bitter attacks Bulganin and Khrushchev launched at the West in their speeches to the Indian Parliament yesterday. Some Indians thought the Parliament a country proclaiming nonalignment in the cold war wasn't the place for a blast from one side or the other.

SWEETWATER TRAIN SET

From now on, those wanting to ride the special train to Sweetwater on Thursday will have to get their tickets at the T&P passenger station.
Elmo Phillips, co-captain of the sponsoring Quarterback Club, said that the 250 tickets which the club bought to insure the train had been sold. Requests were still coming in, but these were referred to the ticket office. The roundtrip fare is $2.05.
W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, contacted Sweetwater school authorities who said Sweetwater people would be happy to see that those on the train had transportation to and from the football field. Cafes were alerted also to the fact that a large number of fans would be arriving at noon.
The train leaves here at 10 a. m., arrives there at 11:40 a. m.; leaves there at 6 p. m., arrives home at 7:40 p. m.

Mangel's Store Is Opened Here

Another of the long line of Mangel's women's stores has opened here.
Featuring clothes for women and children, the store will maintain Mangel's famous satisfaction guaranteed or your money back program. The local store is located at 215 Main and under the management of Big Spring personnel, with Mrs. V. Phillips in charge of the store.
The store will feature hosiery, lingerie, sports wear, dresses, coats, suits, and children's wear, with two types of credit available to customers.
The first plan is a 30-day charge account and is self-explanatory. The other is the budget account, and customers are permitted to pay as they wear the items. Heading the credit department is Mrs. Mary Starnes.
Mangel's building at 215 Main has been completely remodeled with the walls and furnishings finished in pastel shades.
The store was opened Thursday with prizes being given. In keeping with their program of getting the top fashions, Mangel's maintains buyers in New York and other principal cities with an eye for customers in various sections of the country.
Attending the opening of the store were officials from the New York departments and Mrs. Augusta Barfas, district manager of the Northeastern Texas district.

Federal Charges Filed At Abilene

A. D. Lipscomb, held in county jail since last Thursday on a no-driver's-license charge, has been charged in federal court in Abilene with transporting a stolen automobile across a state line.
Sheriff's officers said the 1949 Pontiac Lipscomb was driving at the time of his arrest was reported stolen in Hobbs, N. M., Nov. 13. Deputy Tommy Cole said New Mexico license plates had been exchanged for Arkansas tags.
Red Williams, U. S. marshal from Abilene, was to assume custody of Lipscomb today.

Judgments Entered In Wreck Suits

District Judge Charlie Sullivan yesterday entered judgments in three suits for damages against Joseph M. Loner, formerly of Stanton, during a day that saw more than 50 cases lopped from the 118th Court docket.
Judgments for Charlotte F. Webb and her two children, and for Joel Lee Kirkpatrick and Harry Howard Rogers were entered against Loner, whose present address is unknown.
Loner was driver of a car which collided with a vehicle driven by Hershel E. Webb of Odessa on June 27, 1953. The crash which killed Webb and injured his two passengers, Kirkpatrick and Rogers, occurred on Highway 80 about 10 miles west of Big Spring.
Mrs. Webb received judgment for $30,000 yesterday, and her daughters won judgments of $5,000 and $4,000. Kirkpatrick was awarded $2,000 and Rogers was awarded $1,000 in their suits.
Judge Sullivan was hearing arguments in other non-jury cases today. Forty-eight cases were dismissed Monday as the non-jury week got under way.

Accident Victim Services Set

LAMESA — Funeral for Clyde Wesley Meeker, 39, one of three victims of a head-on automobile collision north of Ackerly Sunday morning, was to be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in Higginbotham Funeral Chapel.
Meeker died several hours after the crash which also claimed the lives of Estaban Gutierrez and his wife, Rosa Castillo Gutierrez, 47, of Kerrville. Their son, nine-year-old Santos, was removed from the Lamesa General Hospital and returned to Kerrville by relatives.
His condition was described by physicians as "pretty good."
Elmer B. R. Howze, Big Spring, was to officiate at the rites for Meeker, and burial was to be in Lamesa Memorial Park.

'Domestics' Now Seek Employment

The wind-up of the cotton harvest is increasing the availability of domestic workers, Leon Kinney, Texas Employment Commission manager, said today.
Kinney said several maids and other domestic workers have filed applications for employment. Job openings are needed in this category.
In addition, Kinney suggested that merchants planning to employ extra help during the Christmas season turn in lists of openings they will have to fill.
Workers available for the Christmas shopping season also are being urged to contact the TEC. Delivery people, package wrappers, sales personnel, etc. will be needed, Kinney said.

Water Celebration Is Postponed Again

COAHOMA—The celebration of a new water supply for Coahoma and Sand Springs has been delayed once again.
Further tests indicated the line is not yet ready for use, so the observance set for 3 p. m. Tuesday was cancelled. No new date has been set, but possibly service will begin in Coahoma sometime this week. Through facilities of Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1, Coahoma and Sand Springs will receive water from Big Spring.

New Shooting Charge Filed

Another Latin American has been charged in the shooting of Tommy Pool, Big Spring man who was critically wounded at the Jumbo No. 2 Cafe, 305 NW 4th, Saturday night.

The latest person charged is Francisco Hernandez, who was reported in custody in Midland.

Charges were filed earlier against Antonio Sandate, who is in jail here and Henry Tucker and Pablo Olguin, both reported in a Midland jail.

All four are charged with assault with intent to murder, but police said the complaints were filed primarily to secure the arrests and make the defendants available for questioning. Detectives Jack Shaffer and Bob West were in Midland this morning to talk to the group held there.

Pool was shot Saturday night after police had arrested two youths accused of stealing some paint and other items from Pool's car. The car was parked in front of the cafe where Pool planned to do some painting. He was struck by three bullets.

All Groups Endorse B-E Day Program

Business-Education Day, a project of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Education Committee, has won enthusiastic endorsement from teachers and businessmen alike.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, said, "I have yet to talk to a teacher who didn't say the day was a very profitable one."

And from the other side, J. E. Wington, chairman of the merchants committee and one of the key figures in the project, declared that "we will make a great mistake if we don't continue this."

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of Big Spring schools and who himself was assigned with teachers to spend a day in business, told Chamber directors Monday that "I don't think I've ever seen anything about which our teachers were more enthusiastic, or which gained so much approval and enjoyment. Some teachers who didn't get their preferences in visiting during the day came back the most enthusiastic of all."

Expressing thanks to the board for inviting us, Blankenship pleaded that "when the time comes to repay the visit, you will work as hard at it as we did."

Approximately 230 teachers and administrators visited 43 businesses, institutions and offices last Friday on the first B-E Day. Plans to repay the visit by spending a day in class next March during Texas Education Week.

Chamber directors also got a report on the campaign to block a proposed formula for distributing the state's reserve cotton acreage.

J. H. Greene, Chamber manager, said that it would cost West and South Texas 200,000 to 257,000 acres not only above 1955 levels, but also above the pre-control record of planting. The board approved support of the campaign against the formula and voted financial support to move to forestall it.

Wington appealed for aid, both in manpower and in gifts, for the Christmas shopping season decorations. He said that the concentration of decorations on the court-house square would not lessen the budget; actual outlays will be around $3,000, he predicted.

Greene told the board that representatives from several points in this area would be in Austin on Nov. 30 for a hearing before the State Highway Commission on a request for paying the lateral road from the Big Spring-Snyder highway to a lateral road south of Knapp, via Lake J. B. Thomas dam. He also reported on the recent Chamber of Commerce Managers Association of West Texas meeting in Midland. Keynote, he said, was "work or rust."

Theatre Renamed After Noted Actress

NEW YORK (AP)—Helen Hayes, an actress for 50 of her 56 years, last night was given a rare theatrical honor—a Broadway theater was named for her.

In simple ceremonies, the old Fulton Theatre was renamed the Helen Hayes Theatre.

C-City Negro Hurt In Wreck

Willie Dawson, Colorado City Negro, was injured this morning near the railway overpass east of Coahoma when his pickup was in collision with a truck driven by Chester D. Copellin of Big Spring.

Dawson was taken to the Colorado City Hospital for treatment of cuts on his hands and arms. His pickup was almost demolished when it struck the side of the oil transport, said Rufus Davidson, local deputy sheriff.

The Negro was en route to Coahoma from Colorado City, and the truck, owned by Oil Transport Company of Big Spring, was headed east. The collision at about 7:30 a.m. occurred on dew-slick pavement on the curve just north of the overpass in eastern Howard County Damage to the truck was not extensive.

Fund Raising Starts For Yule Decorations

The Chamber of Commerce Merchant's Committee will start a fund raising campaign today to finance the Christmas decoration plans of the courthouse. The decision was made at a meeting of the group Monday afternoon.

J. B. Wington, chairman of the committee, called the meeting.

Greene said approximately 20 merchants would be contacting the other businessmen downtown to obtain pledges toward the cost of the Christmas decorations. Ten volunteers started to work today on the project.

Requests Pour In For Webb Singers

Everytime the Webb AFB Choraleers make an appearance, more requests for their services pour in. Locally, the group comprised largely of student officers at Webb has been booked by the Kiwanis Club, the First Baptist Church and the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Out-of-town calls have been received, too, especially after the recent appearance of the Choraleers at the First Methodist and the Oaklawn Methodist Churches in Dallas.

"I hope they will be available for one of our interclub Kiwanis meets here in Dallas," wrote Russell Sheppard, director of Crown Hill Memorial after hearing the young men at Oaklawn. "They were magnificent," he wrote Col. Young. As for Lt. Charles Webb, the director and who also is personnel services officer at Webb, he regarded him as "a genius" and as one who "will stay abreast of the best of our metropolitan directors."

Melburn T. Meeker, activity director of Highland Park Junior High in Dallas wrote Col. Charles M. Young, base commander, "to send them back... students and teachers alike were impressed and amazed." And from the Rev. Charles E. Fike, Oakland pastor, came the appraisal of a "great job for God and country."

Another glowing tribute came from E. P. Onstot, secretary of the Advance Management Society of Dallas.

"One of the nation's top Glee Clubs on a national TV hookup sounded dull and flat after hearing the Choraleers from Webb under the leadership of Lt. Charles Webb." William M. Gilker wrote simply that "the people of Dallas like the Choraleers."

The tributes were all the more impressive because the Choraleers sing only as a leisure-time activity. Most of the personnel is busy learning to become jet pilots, and quite time devoted to practice is quite limited. This goes for the direction, too, for Lt. Webb's assignment keeps him busy with a host of other off-duty recreational activities for the base personnel.

Pleas Entered In Knife Cases

Three charges of carrying "knives manufactured for offense and defense" (switch blades) were heard in County Court Monday and today, with one being dismissed, one resulting in a fine, and one person pleading not guilty.

Upon the motion of County Attorney Harvey Hooser, a complaint against George Mulkey Burns for carrying a switch blade knife was dismissed by R. H. Weaver, county judge. George Salls plead guilty to a like charge and was fined $100. Both cases were heard Monday.

In county court this morning, Henry Garcia entered a plea of not guilty to a knife-carrying complaint and was fined on $500 bond. Elvorio Cavazos was fined $75 and was given three days in jail after entering a guilty plea to a driving while intoxicated complaint. A like penalty was given Olguin Morales on a DWI charge.

Two guilty pleas were entered to two aggravated assault complaints.

Lupe Martinez was fined $50 after pleading guilty to aggravated assault on Maria Martinez, his wife, last Sunday. The complaint was filed by B. M. Palanca.

A fine of $40 was assessed against Billy Eugene Crabtree after he entered a plea of guilty to aggravated assault on Mrs. Billy Crabtree.

3 Traffic Mishaps Reported Monday

Three minor accidents occurred in the city Monday. Mrs. J. W. Hughes, 1500 E. 5th, reported her car "got loose" and rolled into a street sign at Sycamore and Circle Drive.

Murray Lee Petty, 1800 Lancaster, and Joseph Tabor, 611 N. Gregg, were in collision at San Jacinto and Fourth.

Dewey Martin, 800 E. 13th, was involved in a mishap in the 900 block of Johnson with a car driven by Angie B. Merrell, 1002 Sycamore.

TV Station Hopes To Air Yule Program

Christmas is still the target date for KBST-TV getting on the air, Jack Wallace, president of Big Spring Telecasting Company, told Chamber of Commerce directors Monday.

If, however, there should be a slipup, the debut will be planned as a "New Year's party."

Wallace had been asked for a report by C. H. Rainwater, past president who presided over the regular board meeting. Rainwater told the group that "we owe a lot to Jack Wallace and all those who have worked with him to bring television to Big Spring."

The building room will go in place this week, explained Wallace, and perhaps installation of equipment may start next week. He said that practically all equipment was on hand. The antenna arrived Monday and the transmission equipment is in storage.

Work is to start on the 500-foot steel tower in a matter of days and is due to be completed by Dec. 5. The structure will be topped by the 40-foot antenna.

Although network arrangements have been made with CBS, the AT&T agreement to install microwave relays does not call for this to be in service before Feb. 5. Wallace said that film from network shows or on features would be used in the interim.

Area of coverage for the station is due to extend from near Odessa on the West to Sweetwater on the east, from O'Donnell on the north to the southern Glasscock-Sterling lines on the south.

Wallace introduced Bob Lindley, who was on the KBST staff here six years ago, as production and program chief for KBST-TV, and Bob Nash, Abilene, as coordinator for getting the station going.

Motor Burns

Harold Washem, 1008 Wood, reported a fire at his residence Monday morning. Firemen answering the call said the blaze was caused by a washing machine motor that was stuck. Damage was limited to the motor which was burned up.

New Moves Made Against Peronistas

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The 10-day-old Argentine provisional government of Maj. Gen. Pedro Aramburu moved swiftly today to meet a second threat by Peronista labor leaders. Troops moved out of their barracks to guarantee the "freedom to work," the government said.

The government warned both labor and management to keep the peace or be punished for "grave sabotage against the liberating revolution" that toppled Juan D. Peron from 10 years of dictatorship.

Unofficial reports said the old Peronista labor leadership, which appeared to have been discredited thoroughly last week when the government faced down an unsuccessful general strike, had furtively ordered another general walkout "in principle."

Other reports said railroad, metal and textile workers were threatening to strike.

An anti-Peronista labor leader, quoted in the Argentine press, said a strike "in principle" apparently would be a war of nerves designed to promote unrest among the people and thereby undermine the government.

This source said the workers would be in a technical state of strike even though staying at their jobs. But at a nod from their union leader—presumably acting on higher orders—they would drop their tools and walk out.

The secretive nature of the reported strike call appeared due to the fact that the old Peronista bosses of the General Confederation of Labor (CGT) were technically without authority to act. They were fired last week when the government seized CGT headquarters during the general strike and put a government administrator in charge.

A Labor Ministry communique said the armed forces "will guarantee the freedom to work which irresponsible agitators are trying to deny in their continued anti-revolutionary and sabotaging campaign. For that reason, and no other, arises the movements of troops."

The Labor Ministry warned "employers that an unjustified firing or any other persecution measures will be considered grave sabotage."

A Labor Ministry communique said the armed forces "will guarantee the freedom to work which irresponsible agitators are trying to deny in their continued anti-revolutionary and sabotaging campaign. For that reason, and no other, arises the movements of troops."

The Labor Ministry warned "employers that an unjustified firing or any other persecution measures will be considered grave sabotage."

The statement was issued last night by Glenn L. Archer, executive director. The organization, composed mainly of Protestants of various denominations and some Jewish groups, is opposed to use of public tax funds to aid students at religious schools.

The Catholic declaration to which 208 members of the U. S. Roman Catholic hierarchy subscribed, said private and parochial schools "exist by right" in the United States. On that ground, the statement said, "discriminatory treatment of them is unfair."

The counter statement said the Catholic bishops were trying to justify a "demand for government aid and legal recognition of parochial schools as 'an integral part of the American education system.'"

"The kind of 'recognition' which the Roman Catholic prelates today seek for their schools," the statement said, "is the same kind of 'recognition' which made for torture and oppression in the name of 'God' in the period before church and state were separated in America."

Catholic Protest On School Funds Termed 'Nonsense'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A largely Protestant organization takes exception to a Roman Catholic declaration that private and parochial schools, should share in government benefits.

The organization, Protestants and other Americans United for Separation of Church and State, said the Nov. 19 Catholic pronouncement on the issue was, among other things, marked by "studied nonsense."

Stewardess Shot Down At Post By Love-Crazed Former Suitor

SEATTLE (AP)—An airline stewardess was shot to death by her former boy friend last night as she was greeting passengers filing aboard a Los Angeles-bound plane.

Then the love-crazed young man, breaking away from an Air Force lieutenant who attempted to subdue him, ran from the plane and shot himself. He died three hours later in a hospital.

The United Air Lines stewardess, Sally Shedd, 25, was struck in the chest by two bullets.

Mrs. Herman Loesch of Portland, Ore., her voice quavering, told how Robert Clendenin, 26, a trainee with the New York brokerage firm of J. A. Hogle and Co., sat down beside her and drew a pistol from his briefcase.

"I thought it was a cap pistol," she said. "Even after it went off I thought it was a cap pistol. It just kept on going off. Bang. Bang. Bang."

Clendenin was one of the last of some 40 passengers to board the DC-6B.

He nodded and spoke to his former girl friend before taking his seat next to Mrs. Loesch at the front of the plane.

briefcase, he rushed down the aisle and confronted Miss Shedd. He pushed her into a seat on top of Air Force Lt. Norman Stout of Portland, Ore., and fired four shots.

Two of the shots struck Miss Shedd.

Stout said: "She was laying almost across me. Then he shot her point blank three or four times. I couldn't tell which. She lit on me, uttered a gasp and then he shot her."

"I couldn't get loose from my safety belt until he had shot her." When he did free himself, Stout leaped from his seat and grabbed Clendenin. A fifth shot, which plunged harmlessly into the plane's side, was fired as they grappled.

Stout finally tumbled Clendenin through the door of the plane and down the ramp to the concrete field.

Clendenin, the son of Beverly Clendenin of Salt Lake City, ran about 25 yards and fired the one remaining bullet in the gun into his neck.

Blood streamed from the wound but he remained standing. He reloaded, ran another 25 yards and fired a bullet into his head.

Miriam K. Garland, the dead girl's roommate and the second stewardess aboard the plane when the shooting occurred, told Sheriff's Detective Jim Graddon of Miss Shedd's tempestuous romance with Clendenin.

She said they met in New York several years ago.

They attended the World Series together in New York last September, she said. Later Miss Shedd attempted to break off the romance, she said.

Last Monday, she said, the victim met Clendenin in Chicago and told him they definitely were through. The next day, she continued, Clendenin showed Miss Shedd the same .38-caliber revolver he later used to kill her.

Last Friday morning, while Miss Shedd was visiting a friend, Miss Garland said, Clendenin burst into her bedroom and "demanded to know where Sally was."

Miss Garland, who was at the door of the plane when Clendenin boarded it, said she couldn't "help feeling that I could have prevented it—if I had just shoved her (Miss Shedd) off the plane the minute I saw him."

Basis Already Set For Pope's Canonization

VATICAN CITY (AP) — More than for any other pontiff of modern times, a basis already has been established for the eventual canonization of Pope Pius XII.

Vatican sources believe that the elevation to sainthood of Pius following his death may be among the quickest in the history of the church.

The most dramatic miracle attributed publicly to the 79-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church came with the Vatican announcement this week that Jesus Christ appeared to him in a vision during his grave illness last December.

However, well-informed Vatican sources long have said that the Vatican secretary of state has a voluminous file of letters and messages from persons telling of "prodigious facts" — miracles — that have helped them as a result of the Pope's intercession.

No official word has ever been issued on this file, of which one source close to the pontiff once remarked: "These things will be made known after both he (the Pope) and I are dead." Such miracles normally are necessary for both beatification and canonization.

Many appearances of the Virgin Mary have been reported in the history of the church. But a member of the Vatican's Holy Congregation of Rites—the church body responsible for the processes of canonization and its preliminary beatification — said he could not recall a previous appearance of Christ to a pontiff since Jesus appeared before St. Peter after the Resurrection.

Of the church's 260 popes, 78 so far have been made saints. These include Peter and the 24 who followed him to the papal throne, many of them martyred. But in the last 1,000 years only 12 popes have been beatified or canonized. The process, begun usually many years after the subject's death, often takes hundreds of years.

Rabbi Terms Immigration Act As 'Immersed In Racist Feeling'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rabbi Abraham J. Feldman described the McCarran-Walter immigration act today as "immersed in racist feeling," and Sen. Lehman (D-NY) said it represents "a pyramid of unfounded fears."

Rabbi Feldman, president of the Synagogue Council of America, assailed numerous provisions of the law as "harsh" and said its "racist formula" for fixing immigration quotas was compounded of bigotry and ignorance.

He told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee, in his prepared testimony, that he was appearing for organizations that "represent virtually every phase of organized Jewish life in the United States."

Lehman, long an outspoken critic of the act, said that it "adopted most of the worst features of pre-existing law and added scores of new evils."

"The drastic revision of the law can be correctly described as a public mandate, long overdue in being carried out," said Lehman, called as the first witness by the subcommittee's second day of hearings.

The act was passed in 1952 over former President Truman's veto. President Eisenhower has called some of its provisions unjust and discriminatory and has asked Congress to reconsider it.

Rabbi Feldman said the law's "most serious shortcoming" is its retention of the national origins quota system under which the immigration quota assigned to each country is based on the racial makeup of the U. S. population in 1920. It was first adopted in 1924.

This permits the admission of 154,657 quota immigrants a year, but the rabbi said that over 70 per cent of the total is allotted to northern and western Europeans.

Rabbi Feldman said he did not propose a return to unrestricted immigration, but he advocated "distribution of visas on a first-come, first-served basis, with preferences for relatives of citizens or legal residents and for victims of racial, religious, or political persecution and those who possess special skills."

Suspended Sentence For False Entries

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Marvin Patterson, 40, former Wichita Falls National Bank cashier, received a five-year suspended sentence yesterday after pleading guilty to making false entries amounting to $85,601.

Federal Judge James Allred said, "It looks to me like the only job is living up to the fine show of friends in this court." Friends of Patterson aided him in making complete restitution.

Lehman too said the present law rests on a "racist theory" and that, according to it, "a person of 'Anglo-Saxon blood' is 20 times more desirable as an immigrant and as a citizen than a person of 'Italian blood.'"

HOUSE HEARING

Federal Aid Urged In Luring New Industry To Jobless Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-Economic subcommittee was told today that the "greatest single aid" the federal government could offer toward solving area unemployment would be to help those communities build plants to attract industries.

William L. Batt Jr., executive secretary of the Toledo Industrial Development Council, described what that private group did to offset unemployment in the Ohio city.

He said in prepared testimony that an 89-acre planned industrial district was created, and an "ever-available plant" program put into effect. It resulted in 6,000 new jobs in 18 months, he said.

"The experience we have had in Toledo and that other communities have had throughout the nation indicate that the greatest inducement for a company to locate in a community is the availability of modern, one-story plant space at a low price," he said.

He said that there is a severe shortage of such plant space throughout the country, "and the pressure on manufacturers to cut production costs and improve efficiency with straight-line production is steadily increasing the demand."

He said that with perhaps 10 million dollars in loans and loan

Crippled Vet Dies In Crash

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Sammy Gregorio's determination to live normally despite paralysis cost the brave Marine veteran his life last night.

The car he had laboriously learned to drive crashed into a tree in scenic Byrd Park with Sammy at the wheel. He was instantly killed.

Sammy, 28, from Philadelphia, suffered paralysis of both legs and both arms in a landing craft accident off Hawaii while serving in the 4th Marine Division.

At McGuire Veterans Hospital here, he never gave up. Not only did he learn to drive his specially equipped car — he learned to fly. Two years ago, he became the first quadriplegic ever known to fly solo. He piloted a single-engine plane for half an hour at a Richmond airport.

Last night he and a friend — another quadriplegic — took a spin in Sammy's car over the winding roads around the park reservoir. The car left the narrow street and plowed into a tree.

Sammy was pinned between the steering wheel and the seat. His companion, Hubert Ware, 30, of Webster Grove, W. Va., was injured.

guarantee authority, the federal government could stimulate a private investment of 35 million dollars initially in new plant and equipment and the creation of approximately 3,000 jobs where they are most needed.

The objective, he said, would be to keep the funds revolving, the plants going up, and the manufacturers going into them, until these areas reached the full employment levels being enjoyed by the rest of the country.

A measure of agreement came from another witness, Stanley H. Ruttenberg, director of the CIO Department of Education and Research.

"Direct loans on favorable terms should be provided by local redevelopment organizations to build facilities for prospective employers," he said in prepared testimony.

"Federal loans should also be made directly to qualified employers for plant construction purposes."

But he cautioned against what he called "plant piracy" — primarily the southward movement of Northern industrial firms which he said are "enticed solely by the prospect of low wages, free plants, tax avoidance and submarginal social welfare systems."

Shopping No Chore At All

In our mind's eye, we got most of our Christmas shopping tidily out of the way in a matter of minutes by thumbing through the advertising pages of the New Yorker magazine one evening recently.

We picked up an ounce of perfume for $75, studied it for a moment, and finally decided against it. Too common. We settled finally for a little item marked $200. What sold us on this was the thoughtfulness of the importer, who promised to pay the federal tax.

Cuff links gave us more trouble than anything else. There was an item for $1,052, in sapphires, that held our attention, but only for a moment. We stumbled on a pair, inconspicuously advertised in one of those old-style "reader" notices, that sold itself to us immediately. These cuff links were of jade, and the price tag was a mere trifle — $30,000.

Straight from France by air express we picked up a bargain in a toothsome delicacy — parfait de foie gras at $18 the pound. It was guaranteed fresh, and of course that was the clincher.

Next came a pair of shoes at $55 and a hat at $100. For the mantel we picked up a choice clock right out of France for $1,600. A combination phonograph and AM-FM radio was quickly added to our shopping list for the same figure.

Cigarette lighters and cases gave us a bit of trouble. The bargains were so intriguing that we had a hard time making up our mind. There was a lighter at $175 and a cigarette case at $1,350 that proved irresistible, so we added them to our list. To go into the case we ordered several cartons of cigarettes in rainbow colors, with filter tips of course, for only 75 cents per pack of 20. There is no sense half-doing anything.

A penknife with file and scissors attachment at $79 and 7 ounces of toilet water at $10 completed our personal list. For the little woman we chose a clip-brooch for $7,000, a bracelet for $3,700 and a dinner ring for a song — $4,700.

Of course, mentally this is the way we would have got all our Christmas shopping behind had we been old-rich like people outside Texas seem to think all Texans are.

Right To Belong Or Not To Belong

Back in the early days of World War II a couple of craftsmen decided to move from this area, where employment was momentarily slack, into a neighboring state where workers were in great demand. Both belonged to their craft union, both were veterans of World War I, and one had been a union worker for more than thirty years.

When they applied for jobs in the neighboring state they were told they'd have to ante up a special fee to the local union for the right to work in that area.

The Rocky Mount (N.C.) Evening Telegram says a local man informed it recently that when he went to Pittsburgh in search of employment he had to fork over $50 for union membership in addition to checking off part of his salary to the union before he could get a job in a factory.

Recently the Nebraska Supreme Court handed down a momentous decision bearing on the right to work. It pointed out that compulsory union membership would in some instances "compel support, financial or otherwise, of policies which an employe might deem objectionable from the standpoint of free government and the liberties of the individual under it." It added: "To compel an employe to make compensation, for such purposes is a taking of his property without due process of law. An employe not only has a right to work, but he has the guaranteed right to have his earnings protected against confiscation against his will."

As cited in the first two paragraphs above, it is not only the non-union man who is made to fork over in order to work, but in some instances members as well.

The 17 states that have right-to-work laws, as the Carolina paper points out, "have simply affirmed that every man has the privilege of joining or not joining a union. It guarantees that the worker has a freedom of choice. Both employers and labor unions are forbidden to infringe on that privilege."

Mortal Combat, Even If Non-Military

NEW DELHI, India. — The two top salesmen of communism, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev, First Secretary of the Communist party of the Soviet Union, are here in India in the course of a concentrated swing through Asia. Nothing could more aptly illustrate the tremendous change that has taken place in Moscow than that the Soviet's No. 1 and No. 2 men — in whichever order you care to rank them — should be out on the road working hard at winning friends and influencing peoples.

Nor could anything demonstrate more clearly the challenge to the West than the Asian tour of Khrushchev and Bulganin. From India they go to Burma and Afghanistan. In Afghanistan the ground has already been prepared and the seeds of disaffection sown. A Communist offer of arms to Afghanistan threatens to create the same situation that resulted from the deal between Czechoslovakia and Egypt. The long arm of Communist power and persuasion is thrust out beyond the Middle East into this area of new states where the inheritance of colonialism is still a dark shadow on the land.

India and Burma are uncommitted. Their leaders have both said repeatedly that they do not want to become part of either of the two power blocs. But the effect of this visit on a people sensitive to every current of opinion and eager for approbation and for cooperation in equal partnership cannot be discounted.

The government of India had hoped, this reporter has learned here, that President Eisenhower would visit India. The invitation from Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru was conveyed to the White House informally by Indian Ambassador G. L. Mehta in Washington. This was prior to the President's illness.

Eisenhower aides explained that such a visit would scarcely be possible. The President is, after all, under the Constitution the head of state and he cannot leave the country except for short periods of time, as he did in July during the summit conference at Geneva, when Congress is in session.

The current mission of Khrushchev and Bulganin must be put in the perspective of Indian attitudes, Indian hopes and fears, the almost-abnormal sensitivity of a people who have been independent for less than 10 years with their independence trembling in the balance of internal disorder and economic dislocation. While the need for economic aid is great, with the second five-year plan for development of dams, irrigation projects and industry putting an almost intolerable strain on the economy, it may be that the symbol of the Soviet visit is more important. It is such a flattering tribute to Indian pride that the Russians should have returned so quickly the visit that Nehru made to Moscow in May.

Sooner or later during their scheduled stay of 17 days the Russians are almost certain to hold out the promise of assistance in one form or another. The combination of the visit and the proffer of help will have an immense influence.

If, as Americans, we think back to our own early past immediately after our revolutionary struggle for freedom, we can get some idea of the impact of this visit. We were a young, struggling people, menaced from various quarters, deeply resentful of adverse criticism and almost pathetically anxious for flattery and approval. Distinguished foreigners who came to our shores and said kind things we took to our bosom.

Imagine if in that stage of our development Napoleon, let us say, had come to America at the height of his power to tell us that we were a great people with a great future and that France wanted to do everything in her power to help us. This analogy may not be altogether apt. India had a long and fabulous history prior to the colonial era. But it may nevertheless be illustrative.

No ostrichism should conceal what it means for the free world. It is well put in an editorial in the current London Economist:

"What the free societies of both the West and Asia now face is a challenge to mortal combat — no less mortal for being non-military."

That is surely not an exaggeration.

More Money For India?

WASHINGTON (U) — The United States, which has helped India economically to the tune of almost 500 million dollars in the past six years, apparently has set to coast a bit when the Russians stepped in.

Now this country may have to open its pocketbook a little wider. Russia's Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Khrushchev, now visiting India, have offered to "share" Russian experience in atomic energy, industry and electric power.

India, with a population of more than 350 million, is the largest non-Communist country in Asia. Like Communist Yugoslavia in Europe, India claims to be "neutral" in the power struggle between the West and Russia.

Last February India's Finance Minister C. D. Deshmukh said his country expected the "active assistance and interest of our friends" to provide over 150 million dollars in foreign aid in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Both sides in that cold war want the friendship of the Indians and the Yugoslavs. Both countries are in a position — because their friendship is so valuable — to watch the two sides bid against each other with help, actual or promised.

The United States and some of its Western allies have been giving India economic help. The United States has been doing it for years. For the present fiscal year, the one Deshmukh talked about, the Eisenhower administration asked Congress for 70 million dollars for India.

Congress approved only 50 million in thinking of spending only 40 million and keeping the other 10 in reserve. But the Russian visit and their offers of help may induce the administration to boost, not decrease, its help.

Between 1949 and last June 30 — a six-year period — this country has helped India with 479 million dollars in grants and loans. Of that total about 275 millions was in technical assistance and other economic aid.

The Indians also got a 100-million-dollar loan to buy American wheat.

The only important economic agreement between Russia and India so far was made last February when the Soviets arranged to give the Indians a loan of 190 million dollars to build a one-million-ton steel mill.

Recently Communist Czechoslovakia offered to build another one-million-ton steel mill at a cost of 210 million dollars. The British had been studying a proposal to build such a plant when the Czechs made their bid.

In a weeked speech, before cheering crowds, Bulganin told the Indians:

"We are prepared to share our experience in the construction of industrial enterprises, electro-power stations, hydro-projects, and the utilization of atomic energy for peaceful purposes."

Many important Indians, reportedly, do not think the Russians can give much economic assistance since they have quite a problem putting their own economy on a solid basis. That thinking may be wrong. The Russian dictatorship, where and when it thinks necessary for its long-range purposes, can skip at home to send abroad.

'Color' Is Important Word

NEW YORK (U) — Today's success already between 30,000 and 50,000 color sets in use, and one firm alone is now turning them out at the rate of 1,000 a week.

Color is only one of the head-aches the young executive has to deal with. Across his busy desk pour the problems of hundreds of radio and TV network stations, the queries of sponsors, the complaints of high-priced stars.

Sarnoff believes that in another decade television will be even more important than it is now.

"It will have become the actual fountainhead of most creative effort in America," he predicted.

"Operas are already coming out of it. Movies and plays will spring from it, too. It will create the stars of tomorrow as it already is creating new writers."

"In another 10 years live international TV will become commonplace. This should cut down much misunderstanding between nations, as people really see first hand how the peoples of other lands live."

Television mushroomed in a few short years into a billion-dollar-a-year industry. It still is growing so rapidly its executives find difficulty keeping up with it.

One of Robert W. Sarnoff's hobbies is collecting dictionaries. And to him the most important word in any dictionary right now is the word "color."

At 37 Bob, son of Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, head of the RCA communications empire, has risen to the post of executive vice president of the National Broadcasting Co.

The job wasn't handed to him on a platter. He worked his way up in the company, and had to take his lumps along the way.

To the younger Sarnoff has fallen many of the chores of supervising the spending of 12-million-dollars within the next year in NBC's gigantic expansion of its color-television facilities. This will bring to more than 75 million the amount spent by RCA and NBC to promote color television.

The 12 million is only a drop in the bucket to what NBC will spend on color TV in the next few years," said Bob. "We believe television will be an all-color industry in less than 10 years—and it could be a lot sooner than that."

Young Sarnoff doesn't regard color television as a gamble. He looks on video's rainbow future as a sure investment, an inevitable step that has to be taken.

He is impatient of critics who feel color is being rushed.

"The mass production of color sets will put them within reach of the mass buying public," he said, adding:

"A 21-inch color set today is relatively no more expensive than a 19-inch black and white set less than 10 years ago. There are

No Hurry

BENTON, Ky. (U) — Marshall County Clerk Toad Brien resigned when a newly recorded deed for the sale of a farm was pointed out. The sale was dated Aug. 8, 1903.

Nothing unusual about that around leisurely-living Benton, he said.

"It's commonplace for deeds to be recorded 40 to 50 years after the transfer of property."

Thoughtful Thieves

JEFFERSONTOWN, Ky. (U) — To the thieves who lugged away the big safe at the Jeffersontown Pharmacy, the owners would like to say "thanks."

The safe hadn't been used for years. It was empty. And the owners had been wondering how to get rid of it. They needed the floor space.

Nothing Sacred

PHOENIX (U) — A traveling salesman reported this theft to police with mixed feelings:

One Bible, three books on religion and some blanks to be used in ordering religious articles. The articles were taken while he left his car in a parking lot.

Long Wait

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla. (U) — City Council has repealed an old law requiring the town marshal to meet each incoming train.

This doesn't lighten the marshal's chores, however, as Jacksonville Beach hasn't been on a railroad for 20 years.

Around The Rim

Step In The Right Direction

Safe Driving Day would be a better idea if it were an every day affair, instead of just each December 1. But even one accident-free day is a step in the right direction. In 1954, there were 36,000 lives snuffed out in motor vehicle accidents.

A lot of those people were just out for an afternoon drive, or maybe a trip to the grocery store. There were another 1,250,000 persons injured. And if the value of lives is not enough, these accidents cost $4,400,000,000.

"Kill a man with a gun and we'll not think of it. Run him down with a two-ton steel machine and we call it an accident." The governor of Washington, Arthur B. Langlie, summed it up pretty well.

Several times I have heard people say: "This is a free country and I'm going to drive my car just like I want to drive it." Certainly it is a free country and everyone has the right to drive a car. But freedom carries with it the added burden of responsibility.

The man who owns a car also has the right to some degree of assurance that he and his family are safe when they are out for a Sunday afternoon drive. As James S. Kemper said, "Without question, automobile accident prevention is fundamentally a moral issue. Behind the wheel of an automobile, each of us is truly his brother's keeper. Society recognizes the moral issue and defines it in practical terms through law."

Responsibility appears to be the problem where traffic safety is in question. The automobile manufacturer's are installing safety devices one after another, but it is still up to the driver of the car. Few safety devices I ever heard of will save a car-load of kids when involved in a head-on collision with a truck.

"We have cars that will go 120 miles per hour. But where are they going? They are going to the courthouse to answer a charge, or maybe to meet their Maker." Andrew J. Sordani, president of the American Automobile Association was speaking. A good policy to follow would be "Drive so that your driver's license expires before you do!" it seems to me.

And I doubt that the "drag races" on Main Street almost every night are contributing anything toward traffic safety.

I am in debt to George Oldham, executive secretary of the Citizen's traffic Commission, for the quotes here. Oldham, incidentally, does an excellent job of keeping the community traffic safety conscious.

Middle-Ground Candidates Most Popular

If we make two assumptions, it is possible, so it seems to me, to see what will be the crucial question in the presidential election. The first assumption is that there will be no change for the worse in the level of employment and prices. The second is that the United States will not become involved in a war, even a small one.

If these two assumptions hold, the crucial question will be which candidate is the more likely to occupy the ground on which Eisenhower has stood since the mid-term election of 1954.

What is that ground? It is the ground in the middle — the area, if one likes to put it that way, of me-tooism — where on the basic questions of war and peace, economic stability, welfare measures, human rights and government under the law, the two parties differ in degree and in detail rather than in substance and on the fundamentals.

During his first two years, Eisenhower was in serious trouble and far from being a happy and successful President. There were indeed ominous similarities with the administration of Gen. Grant. One of the most significant political facts of these times is that Eisenhower's enormous success and popularity as President began after the extremist factions of his party were defeated in the mid-term elections of 1954. Only since then has Eisenhower been able to occupy that middle ground on which he is now standing.

The situation could be changed by a war or a depression. But given prosperity and no war, the winning ground is this middle ground. The battle inside both parties and between the parties is for the possession of that ground. The question for the Republicans is whether they can have Eisenhower himself or a replacement who can hold the ground where Eisenhower stands. The question for the Democrats is whether they can seize that ground.

All this is not to say that there are no important differences in the political and social philosophies of Eisenhower and Stevenson. There are. Eisenhower, for instance, is strongly disposed to let things alone, and to let what is remain what it is. Stevenson is more conscious that the world is moving and that to preserve the essential things, it is necessary to reform and improve the means and the measures of government. This difference of outlook can have great consequences in the long run. It would have great consequences in time of crisis.

But for 1956, assuming that nothing happens to arouse popular passions, the Republicans and Democrats will struggle for possession of the middle ground.

There is strong evidence in both parties to support the thesis that the middle ground is felt to be the winning ground. If Eisenhower does not run again, Warren is by a large margin the second choice not only of his many admirers but of professional politicians who are looking for a winner. Why? Because Warren appeals to the great middle mass of the voters which includes the Eisenhower Republicans, the independents, and — outside the South — the Eisenhower Democrats. Both Eisenhower and Warren are opposed to the extremist factions. Neither has ever stooped to cut-throat politics, to the notion that politics is a dirty game which should be played by dirty means, to the notion that in the name of Americanism it is good politics to spew forth innuendos of treason.

Both Eisenhower and Warren believe, one might say, that there is such a thing as the brotherhood of man, indeed that there is such a thing as the brotherhood of Americans, and that it matters much more than who wins the next election. And that in the final analysis is the moral faith of those who stand on the middle ground.

When the Democrats took over the control of the Senate after the 1954 election, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, with sharp discernment, seized the middle ground. He set out to demonstrate to the country that the Democratic party is as well able as Eisenhower to stand on that middle ground. Sen. Johnson may even have done better than that. He may have proved that Eisenhower never had a solid stance until he supplanted Sen. Knowland as leader of the Senate.

Sen. Johnson's policy in Congress did much, it seems to me, to prepare the way for a renewal of Stevenson's political popularity. Stevenson stands naturally on the ground that the Congressional Democrats chose to make their own.

It is very significant indeed, it seems to me, that the three men who have the widest popular support for President are Eisenhower, Warren and Stevenson. For what this signifies is that there is no important political, much less ideological, division among the preponderant mass of Americans, and that what they will be looking for in 1956 is a man who reflects faithfully what is common to them.

Television And Radio

He's A Real Homebreaker

NEW YORK (U) — A girl friend of mine has a favorite television program which she enjoys watching while lying on her side drinking from a bottle. Her sultry expression when she watches the fellow in charge of this program finally has moved me to get in touch with the guy and try to learn what he's got that I haven't.

When this heartbreaker comes on the TV screen he very cleverly uses another name and disguises himself with drooping mustaches. He has taken the name "Captain Kangaroo."

All right, Captain, it's time we exposed you. Your true name is Bob Keeshan and you have a nice wife and three children at home in West Islip, N. Y., and what are you doing breaking hearts at 8 a. m. every Monday through Friday over CBS-TV?

Here's the way this guy operates: My girl friend, an early riser, insists on stretching out in front of the TV set and gazing at the captain with eloquently liquid eyes as he points out this thing and that. Her eyes fasten on an object and, as if Captain Kangaroo knew her unvoiced question, he says: "What? The name of that funny little animal? Why it's a honeybear — from South America."

The fact my girl friend is just 2 years and 3 months old and the fact her drink is milk has nothing to do with the situation. I'm jealous.

On the other hand, my girl friend's mother is crazy about Captain Kangaroo. What a homebreaker this character is. It used to be that her youngest daughter was always under foot at that crucial morning hour when she was trying to shove Pa off to the office and get the older kids off to school.

My girl friend's mother says that Captain Kangaroo is a wonderful influence on kids aged 2 to 8.

In person Captain Kangaroo explains that he rises at 4:30 a. m. every morning to drive 40 miles into town to keep his date with my girl friend. He's a pleasant, relaxed fellow without any fancy theories on what kids are or should be. Instead of theories he has three children, aged from 9 months to 4 years.

"I just tried to hold one child — any child — in mind," he says. "I want to entertain and maybe instruct him or her a little. I merely try to be a friend who comes in the door."

Well, Captain, you win. You are a friend and the door is open every weekday morning to you.

Pot & Kettle Driving

LAKELAND, Fla. (U) — A motorist reported to police that a reckless driver had been following him, trying to hit his car. He gave the license number of the offender. About the same time, another motorist reported a case of reckless driving. He said he had chased the man to warn him not to drive so recklessly, but couldn't catch him.

Canoe On The Move

GALVESTON (U) — A 12-foot dugout canoe washed up on the beach. It was believed the canoe, hand-carved of red mahogany, was blown across the Gulf from the West Indies, sped on its way by the late summer hurricanes.

Mild Weather Is U.S. Outlook

By The Associated Press

It was colder in sections of the Northwest today but fairly mild November weather appeared in prospect for most other parts of the country.

The cold air sent temperatures down as much as 23 degrees in the northern Rockies and the Great Basin region. Readings generally were in the 20s and 30s with lower marks in some areas, including Butte, Mont., which reported 8 above, a drop of 21 degrees.

It was warmer over the Mississippi Valley with biggest rises in temperatures in northern Minnesota and parts of Louisiana and Mississippi. Readings ranged from the mid 20s in Minnesota to around 60 along the Louisiana coast. Not much change in weather conditions was reported in other areas.

Light snow or flurries fell along the northern border from New England westward through the upper Lakes region, Minnesota, the Northern Plains and the northern Rockies.

Adlai Wastes No Time In Getting Down To Business

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson appears to be wasting no time in getting right down to business in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Yesterday, in the wake of a busy week in which he announced his candidacy and became one of the principal figures in a huge Democratic rally in Chicago, he formed the "National Stevenson for President Committee."

He also held a brief news conference at the opening of the committee's headquarters in which he said there is "greatly increased" support for his candidacy.

Barry Bingham, president of the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times Co., and Mrs. Edison Dick, wife of a Chicago industrialist, are co-chairmen of the committee.

Archibald Alexander, Democratic national committeeman for New Jersey, will serve as director.

Stevenson, the only announced candidate for the Democratic nomination, told newsmen he was "reassured by the state of mind of the party" as he found it during last week's Democratic rally.

Asked if his use of the word "moderation" in his speech Saturday night wasn't contrary to former President Truman's "liberal progressive" view, Stevenson said: "I hope mine was a liberal progressive program. It speaks for itself."

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic nominee, told newsmen the committee was designed to reach voters who would not normally be reached through Democratic party organizations.

The committee said its job will be to coordinate state and local Stevenson volunteer groups and solicit "financial support."

Minister, Brother Save 6 Children

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—An alert Assembly of God minister and his brother were credited today with saving the lives of their six small children when a fire of undetermined origin destroyed their church and home in the northwest part of the city.

The Rev. T. C. Hurley said he was awakened before midnight and discovered the living quarters, located above the church, in flames.

"I jumped out the window and shouted for my brother to throw my wife and children out," the minister said. He sprained his hip in the fall.

W. A. Hurley grabbed his own son Clyde, 6, and the minister's daughter Sue and tossed them out the window to the minister. He next gathered the other children, ranging in age from 2 to 10, and threw them to the minister just before flames swept through the second floor of the building.

The church, known as the Oneness Church of Jesus Christ, was destroyed. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

Dionne Quint's Condition Of Anemia Is Confirmed

MONTREAL (AP)—A spokesman member of the Dionne quintuplets' family confirmed today that Marie, frailest of the famed sisters since birth, is being treated for anemia in a suburban hospital.

He reported her condition is "not serious," but it was believed she would not return to the Quebec City convent she has left twice since she entered it two years ago to become a nun.

The spokesman said doctors at the Notre Dame de l'Espérance Hospital—where two other quintuplets are studying nursing—had told Marie her life in the cloistered convent "was too hard for her frail health." He said they had "ordered a month of complete rest" for the 21-year-old girl.

The spokesman declined to be quoted by name but made his statement after a telephone conference with other members of the family. He said the girls' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, would come to Montreal over the weekend from their home in Callander, Ont.

"Marie has chosen to go where she can be near her sisters," the family representative said, adding: "We sincerely hope our wishes she be let alone will be respected."

Marie first left the convent because of ill health eight months after entering it. She went back following the death of her quintuplet sister Emilie in August 1954.

Tongay Gives Up After Escape In New Orleans

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Russell Tongay, swimming instructor imprisoned in Florida because of the diving death of his 5-year-old daughter, has surrendered here after escaping in New Orleans Nov. 13. Florida authorities said the State Cabinet there is expected to decide today on what action to take in Tongay's case. The ex-swimming coach has asked that he be allowed to remain here to obtain treatment for a long ailment. Tongay told reporters last night at police headquarters that he walked out of a New Orleans restaurant while a prison agent was paying the bill and hitchhiked to the West Coast. He said that two hours before his escape the prison car had been in an accident and he incurred a head injury that caused temporary amnesia. He claimed he did not remember anything prior to the accident and did not even know that he was escaping.

Mrs. Woodward Goes Through 3-Hour Quiz In Husband's Death

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. William Woodward Jr., haggard and tearful, went through a three-hour police quiz last night after leaving a hospital for the first time since Oct. 30, when she shot her millionaire husband to death. The 39-year-old widow, Ann, broke into uncontrollable sobs three times during the questioning. She stated again that the shooting was a tragic accident. After the interrogation, authorities unofficially let it be known that it still looks like an accident to them. However, Nassau County Dist. Atty. Frank A. Gulotta and Detective Chief Stuyvesant Fennell said they would make no official comment "in view of the fact that all evidence will be presented to the grand jury."

Navajos Report Signs Of Tiger

GALLUP, N.M. (AP)—A tiger may be roaming the Navajo reservation in western New Mexico and eastern Arizona. Drivers for the General Services Administration and Navajo Indians say they have seen large cat tracks which a professional government hunter says are not those of a mountain lion. One of the drivers says he has seen a large, striped animal jump across the highway. Indians who have seen the tracks say they believe the cat may be holed up in one of the abandoned mine shafts in the Fort Defiance area. The cause of the speculation goes back four years when a circus wagon was wrecked about 50 miles north of Gallup. A lion and a tiger escaped and were never recaptured. The tiger may have survived, Indians believe.

Graham Identified As Dynamite Buyer In Plane Crash Case

DENVER (AP)—That's him, all right," said Lyman Brown after seeing John Gilbert Graham, accused of murder in the dynamiting of an airliner that carried his mother. Brown had just identified Graham in a police lineup yesterday as the man who bought 20 to 25 sticks of dynamite three days before a United Air Lines plane exploded and crashed near Longmont, Colo., Nov. 1, killing all 44 aboard. Brown, 46, co-owner of Brown Bros. Supermarket at Kremmling, Colo., 105 miles west of here, came to Denver at the FBI's request to view Graham. Dist. Atty. Bert M. Keating termed the identification "a telling link" in the chain of evidence Keating is assembling in an effort to send Graham to the gas chamber. Graham, 23, is accused of murder in the death of his mother Mrs. Daisie King, 55, in the crash. Police allege he intended to collect insurance on her. Federal officials said he admitted the bombing. Graham subsequently repudiated a statement given officers.

New 1956 Mercury offers you 225 horsepower in a great new Safety-Surge V-8

Don't judge THE BIG M by horsepower alone—although that's the highest in Mercury history. Judge it by the fact that more of this high horsepower is working power! Mercury's new pickup adds more than just new speed; it means new ease in your everyday driving, new safety for you in passing. For peace-of-mind motoring there's a whole new group of safety features. The steering wheel is impact-absorbing. Safety-beam head lamps knife through fog. There are safety door locks, full-swivel rearview mirror with safety-glass, and smoother, surer brakes! Padded instrument panel, padded sun visors and seat belts are optional. THE BIG M is not only safer and more powerful! It's more beautiful in a big new way with dozens of new styling ideas! There are over 50 color combinations plus brilliant new Flo-Tone color styling! Yet—for all Mercury's big-car look, length, and brawn—prices start lower this year than 17 models in the low-price field*. If you can afford any new car, you can afford THE BIG M. See it today—on display in our showroom!

Credit Move May Delay Refinancing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tightening of the money market after the Federal Reserve Board's severe crackdown last week on credit expansion may delay briefly announcement of plans for a 12-billion-dollar refinancing of government securities.

This was indicated today as the interest rate on 91-day Treasury bills, by which the government borrows to meet its short-term needs, bounded upward to the highest level in 22 years.

In the light of the money scarcity that development evidenced, it was learned, the Treasury is taking another look at tentative plans to announce within the next few days a program for refinancing government securities maturing Dec. 15.

The announcement now may be delayed a short time, one source said, to let the money market settle down from the effects of the reserve board action.

It also appeared unlikely that the Treasury would borrow any new money—in addition to the refinancing—at this time.

Increased tax receipts may have eliminated any immediate need for further new borrowing.

The Treasury's bill rate — the rate of interest it pays for 91-day borrowing — climbed steeply this week to 2.40 per cent. This exceeded the 2.16 per cent the Treasury paid in June 1953 during the stringent credit shortage of that year, and was the highest bill rate since the historic high of 4.25 per cent in the money drought of March 1933.

The bill rate is generally regarded as the quickest reflector of money availability. There are 13 issues of bills, each amounting to about $1,000,000,000. One issue matures each week, and a new issue is refloated in its place. The bill rate is set by offers from the money market where each weekly issue is auctioned by the Treasury.

The size, frequency and manner of handling the bill offerings make the bill rate a sensitive barometer of money conditions. The bill rate rises quickly to reflect credit shortages, and falls rapidly when there is plenty of money and credit available.

This week the bill rate rose by nearly two-tenths of a point, an unusually large jump from one week to another. This development followed the turn-around by the Federal Reserve Board last week. The board approved, effective last Friday, the start of a fourth round of increases (from 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 per cent) by the reserve banks in their discount rate—the interest rate at which reserve banks lend to their member commercial banks.

In addition the reserve board last week resumed open market sale of government securities it owns. Such sales pull money out of commercial banks and immobilize it in the reserve banks.

Both actions tend to make credit scarcer, and therefore more expensive.

Elementary Pupils Filling Boxes For Foreign Children

School children in Big Spring's elementary grades are — in voluntary projects — filling Junior Red Cross gift boxes to send to children their own age in foreign countries. Sixty boxes are being filled by the youngsters in Big Spring.

Mrs. H. L. Derrick is president of the local Junior Red Cross which is sponsoring the gift boxes for foreign countries. In the small boxes will be pencils, small pads, crayons, toothbrushes, pocket combs, and soap.

The children themselves also finance the boxes, the money coming from the Junior Red Cross Children's fund. In the drive for money just completed, the school children in Howard and Glasscock counties contributed 100 per cent and pitched in $208.81.

The boxes must be completed by Dec. 1 and will be shipped to St. Louis where they will be packed with others from across the nation for foreign shipment.

Hard Rains Flood Out 100 Bogota Families

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Two days of torrential rains have flooded out more than 100 families in poorer suburban areas of Bogota. Heavy agricultural damage was reported in other areas, particularly around Magangué and El Banco on the overflowing Magdalena River.

Archbishop Dies

WHITBY, England (AP) — Britain's oldest Roman Catholic bishop, Archbishop Thomas Shine, died early today of pneumonia. He was 83. A native of County Tipperary, Ireland, Archbishop Shine had been bishop of Middlesbrough since 1929. Last February Pope Pius X conferred the personal title of archbishop on him in recognition of his long service to the church.

Grand Jury No-Bills Negro Who Found Dallas Fortune

DALLAS (AP) — A grand jury declined to indict a young Negro laborer who found a fortune in a vacuum jug under a house last January while digging a ditch for a sewer pipe.

Jackson Davis, 24, Corsicana, Tex., said there was $30,000 in the jug. The owner of the house, W. D. Felder Jr., said the money was not his but might have belonged to his late father.

Davis was jailed and subsequently charged with felony theft. He was released Oct. 6.

He has filed suit against Sheriff Bill Decker, Deputies Tom Marsh and Joe Ellis, and Felder asking for return of $45,170 which was turned over to the Dallas deputies.

The funds have been turned over to federal court.

Several other people have filed claims to the money.

Davis was arrested here after the sheriff received information he

Search Continues For Missing Ship

BOSTON (AP) — A wide sea-air search continued today for the Liberian freighter Daytona, feared lost in gale-swept seas off the Massachusetts coast with a crew of 24 aboard.

Three Coast Guard airplanes searched in a large area about 150 miles southeast of Cape Cod. Two Coast Guard cutters — the Evergreen and Acushnet — have been on the scene since Sunday.

The Daytona was last heard from about 9 a.m. Sunday when she radioed she was listing and taking water some 75 miles east of Gloucester. The crew are mostly West Indians.

Holiday Hopes Up For 37 Marooned On Texas Tower

TEXAS TOWERS, 110 Miles Off Cape Cod (Via Marine Radio Telephone) — Hopes of Thanksgiving at home cheered 37 marooned visitors on this giant radar island early today.

A sudden break in the series of storms that has hit the big platform may enable them to get back aboard the tug El Sol by late afternoon.

The group was hoisted by derricks four at a time in a basket last Thursday for what had been planned as a three-hour inspection visit.

A sudden storm made it too hazardous to attempt to lower the visitors back aboard ship. The El Sol ran for safety in deeper waters to ride out the storm.

Profanity Suits Filed Against AF Officer Dismissed

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Two $10,000 slander suits against an Air Force officer for profanity allegedly used in lecturing two enlisted men were dismissed yesterday by Federal Judge W. H. Wallace.

Air Force sources said they were the first suits of their kind ever filed.

Wallace said language used by Lt. Col. Walter Callahan of New York was "extremely vulgar" but did not constitute slander or libel under Oklahoma law. He sustained a motion by the U. S. district attorney's office to dismiss the suits. The judge also held the enlisted men could not prove special damages.

A. Z. C. John Crozman, West Lynn, Mass., and A. Z. C. Miles Miller, Marysville, Pa., each contended in separate suits that Callahan's language tended to blacken and injure their honesty, virtue, integrity, morality and reputation and exposed them to public contempt and ridicule.

The incident occurred during the summer at Tinker Air Force Base here where all three were stationed, the enlisted men as guards. Callahan has since been transferred.

Pilot Dies In Crash

SEOUL (AP) — A U. S. sabrejet crashed five miles west of Kangnung on the east coast today, killing the pilot, the U. S. Air Force said. His name was withheld.
