LIMING OF BOILS AIDS PRODUCTION

Process Is Necessary to Destroy Harmful Acidity.

By PROF. G. D. SCARSETH

(Seil Chemist, Purdue University Agricul-sural Experiment Station, Latayette, Ind.) Liming the soil is like lathering the face before shaving. Lathering simply paves the way for a smooth, clean shave; liming only prepares The soil for better crop production.

Just as shaving requires a razor in addition to soap and water, so the best crop production requires, in addition to liming, the use of fertilizers carrying nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

Not all soils are acid, nor do all soils need lime. But where soil But where soil acidity occurs it is "Public Enemy No. 1" and lime is the G-man that

No. I" and lime is the G-man that destroys it.

To use fertilizers on acid soils without first employing lime to correct the acidity is like trying to run a race with lead weights in your

But if neither liming, adequate fertilization nor legumes are used, then agriculture must inevitably fall back on the White Man and Indian rotation. The recipe is this: Let the White Man have the soil 100 years and destroy its fertilization and let to destroy its fertilization, and let the Indians have it 5,000 years to rebuild it with forests. The forest trees "limed" the soil naturally by pumping back to the surface, pumping back to the surface, brough their deep roots, the soluble plant foods which fertilized the earth as the leaves fell to the ground and decayed. Soil acidity is due to the absence of calcium, magnesium and potas-sium. When the soil was virgin or sium. When the soll was virgin or very fertile, the clay particles in the earth were saturated with these soluble alkaline elements. But through continuous cropping and the prolonged movement of rainwater through the soil, these elements are loosened and washed out of the soil. Then hydrogen from the soil waters becomes attached to the spots on the clays where these food elements had been removed. Thus the soil had been removed. Thus the soil becomes acidic and the clay par-ticles themselves are the source of the soil acids. And unless they are provided with alkaline elements, the sail will remain acid.

Since clays in the soils are the principal sources of acid, a heavy clay soil would have more acidity as be neutralized by lime than a sandy soil with only a small amount of clay.

To summarize the situation: If soils are acid, lime should be ap-plied to correct this condition in or-der to secure best results from the fertilizer used.
