Priest, Pension Leader And Share-Wealth Director Are In Harmony

CLEVELAND, July 16. (AP)—Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, the politically-minded radio priest, aligned himself with Dr. Francis E. Townsend today.

Addressing the Townsend national convention, the priest, founder of the National Union for Social Justice, told the delegates that "so far as the Union is concerned, no congressional candidate it endorses can support that great betrayer and liar, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Against "Unholy Trinity" Before the address, Coughlin met with Dr. Townsend and Rev. Gerald K. Smith, head of the share-wealth movement, and announced afterward "we stand together against the unholy trinity of Landon, Roosevelt and Browder."

Rev. Coughlin's attack on Roosevelt followed a similar barrage at the new deal last night from Dr. Townsend, who assailed the Roosevelt administration's "crazy orgy of spending."

"All the haphazard, ill-conceived legislation that has been indulged in by this (Roosevelt) administration evinces one of two things, either profound ignorance and lack of comprehension of the basic causes underlying our economic national disaster, or a deliberate, Machiavellian planned attempt to discredit and totally wreck the American principle of government," he said.

"Reckless Fatalist" "Every act of the government," Dr. Townsend continued, "has been predicted upon the heedless advice of the president when he said, 'Try something. If it works, try it some more. If it does not work, try something else.'"

"If that is not the advice of a total incompetent or a reckless fatalist who is incapable of thoughtful planning on a national scale, what is it?"

"Triumph With Townsend" A slogan "Triumph With Townsend" came out of the first day's sessions. Martin F. Smith, congressional director in Washington, and temporary chairman of the convention, started the slogan with the declaration, "My friends, we are not going to lose with Lemke, we are going to triumph with Townsend."

He referred to Representative William Lemke, presidential candidate of the Union party, who is scheduled to speak at the closing meeting Sunday. Smith's slogan was picked up and repeated by other speakers.

Rev. Smith, head of the share-wealth movement and a Townsend director, said "Dr. Townsend has assured me that he will stand with myself and others in a continued and relentless attack on the Roosevelt-Farley machine."

CONNALLY PRAISES MEXICO'S NEW ROAD

LAREDO, July 16.—(AP)—The Laredo Mexico, D. F., highway was praised here by United States Senator Tom Connally, returning home to Marlin from his trip to its dedication July 1.

Connally, who was a member of the United States government delegation taking part in the celebration, accompanied the party to Mexico, D. F., over the new highway. He spent 12 days in the capital, where he said he was elaborately entertained and shown many hospilities by Mexican officials and the people.

Connally predicted the new highway would become popular with American tourists.

The wooden test at test, three miles southwest of the Wood-Robbins No. 1 McCright was drilling past 1,050 feet while the Parker test, five miles southeast of Anson was setting five and three-sixteenths casing at 2,377 feet. It is supposed just above the first pay sand in that area.

NORTHWEST SHAKEN BY EARTH TREMBLORS

NARCOTIC ADDICTS ORDERED FROM CITY

City police are warning on narcotic addicts.

In two days they have forced eight addicts to leave town, three one day and five the next.

An announcement from the department declared that others were being watched and that more probably would be forced to leave town.

Chronic addicts, police said, were responsible for a large per cent of shop lifting and petty thievery.

Heat Broken For Part Of Middle West

Temperatures Still High On The Plains; Death List Over 3,500

CHICAGO, July 16. (AP)—A cooling air mass from the Hudson Bay region routed the heat wave on a wide midwestern and Great Lake front today but drouth maintained its sway on western plains.

From northwestern Illinois as far east as New York, living and working conditions were more tolerable as the cool air, aided by scattered thunder showers, got in its welcome work.

But another day was chalked up for the record stay of higher than 100-degree heat—its 13th—in sections which the cooling breezes failed to penetrate and fatalities ascribed to the torrid spell, though death rate was reduced somewhat, passed 3,500 for the period.

Tugwell To Bismarck In Oklahoma, K. D. Blood, federal crop statistician, said the drouth situation was approaching in severity that of 1934.

He said most farmers had feed and water for only about 10 days more. Grasshoppers were additional crop destroyers.

In Montana, Wyoming and Colorado drouth worries returned. Resettlement Administrator Rexford Guy Tugwell, traveling to Bismarck to speed federal relief in the burned-out northwestern states, termed the recent showers a "God-send" but said the relief plans would prove of more lasting benefit.

In Washington the federal crop reporting board estimated that this year would be second only to that of the "great drouth"—1934—in reduced feed grain fields, that hay yields would be as light as other drouth years excluding 1934, and that a substantial recovery for the nation's crop would be realized for a "considerable portion."

Representatives of the State Teachers' association, which asked for an increase, said they were satisfied with the board's $19 figure.

The board of education originally fixed $17.50 as the apportionment for next year, but made a supplementary appropriation of $1 in June after it became apparent there would be a surplus on Sept. 1.

Tingler said the supplementary appropriation and the $19 allotment for next year would in effect be almost the same as a $20 apportionment for the coming year, since the supplementary appropriation came too late to permit schools to raise their teachers' salaries or extend their terms during the past year.

CITY READY TO GREET SENATOR

Large Delegations From Other Towns To Hear Sheppard Friday

Big Spring had arrangements virtually complete Thursday for greeting one of the state's outstanding citizens Friday night, when U. S. Senator Ross Sheppard appears here in a campaign address.

Especially are large delegations expected from Lamesa, Garden City, Midland, Colorado, Stanton, Odessa and Tahoka. Reagan received letters from Midland men Thursday, announcing that their city will be well represented at the program.

Senator Sheppard will speak from a platform on the courthouse lawn, beginning at 8 o'clock. A 30-minute band concert, by the Big Spring high school municipal band, will precede the speaking program.

Representatives of various towns will be asked to make talks for Senator Sheppard, but Reagan announced that all preliminaries would be brief.

Per Capita Is Fixed At $19, Record High

Total School Aid Under New Apportionment Nearly 30 Million

AUSTIN, July 16. (AP)—The state board of education yesterday fixed the per capita aid to public schools for the next school year at $19, highest estimate 1,560,000 scholars, the state per capita aid would total $29,940,000.

That the comptroller's revenue estimate, it would be necessary to increase the state property tax for school purposes about 1-2 cents on the $100 valuation to meet the apportionment. Most members of the board said, however, that they believed the comptroller's estimate was low and that they hoped the tax would not be raised above the present 20 cents per $100 valuation.

"If the 20 cent raise remains in effect, we believe we will finish the year with a surplus of several hundred thousand dollars and perhaps more than $1,000,000," said Ben F. Tinsinger of Dallas, chairman of the board.

Estimate Conservative "We believe revenue under the 20-cent rate will be larger," he said, "because of slightly higher valuations and a higher percentage of current and delinquent tax payments. The comptroller's department told us that its estimate was conservative. Collections from special taxes usually are substantially higher than the estimate."

The per capita apportionment for the current year was $18.50. The vote to increase it to $19 was 5 to 3. J. O. Guleke of Amarillo, Ernest Alexander of Dallas and Mrs. J. E. Watkins of Henderson voted against the raise, while Ghent Sanderford of Austin, R. S. Bowers of Caldwell, Tom Garrard of Tahoka, John W. Laird of Lubbock and J. G. Strong of Carthage favored it.

The automatic tax board is expected to meet near the end of this month or in August to set the tax rate. Some persons have contended that the board might fix a rate sufficient to raise only $17.50 per capita, regardless of the action of the board of education.

Teachers Satisfied Representatives of the State Teachers' association, which asked for an increase, said they were satisfied with the board's $19 figure.

LONDON, July 16.—(AP)—King Edward VIII passed unscathed today through an attempted attack by an armed man. Police arrested the would-be assailant and charged him with violating the firearms act.

County Attorney Thinks Differently, Says Order Has No Effect

County Judge J. S. Garlington today dismissed an affray case against himself in his own court on his own motion. He had appealed the case Monday to the county court after Justice of Peace J. H. Herley judged him guilty of fighting in a public place and imposed a fine of $25 and costs.

The judge said he considered the matter closed, that the record spoke for itself, and did not care to be quoted. He had referred to the county court docket which contained the entry: "Dismissed on court's own motion."

Seeks Special Judge While declining to discuss the case officially, he indicated that he considered no formal protest against the action had been taken.

County Attorney Wilburn Barcus was of a different opinion and was seeking the appointment of a special judge despite the court's dismissal.

Barcus said he believed the order null and void.

"When he called his court into session this morning, Judge Garlington asked the county attorney if 'you have any recommendations?'"

"At the present time the county court does not have jurisdiction and will not have until a special judge is appointed to try this case," replied the county attorney.

City Statute "Can you show me any law on that," inquired the court.

"Sure," answered Barcus, "the same as I showed you yesterday."

By that Barcus said he referred to article 552, Code of Criminal Procedure, which prescribes disqualifications for a judge, and Article 554 which outlined procedure for appointment of a special judge in event of disqualification of the judge in any case.

When Judge Garlington handed down the order, Barcus contended that the "order will have no effect."

"No," said Barcus. The learned, had in a call to the governor seeking to get him to appoint a special judge in the case.

Difference In Play Makes American Baseball Appear Livelier

JR. TEAM WINS GAME 12 TO 11

(By HANK HART) Ben Daniels' prediction that his Devils team would upset one or more of the Muny league's softball teams rang true Wednesday night on the Mundy diamond as his juniors scored a run in the ninth inning to defeat the Shell Red Raiders, 12-11.

The Devils were hitting the ball hard and got to pitcher Tom Smylie for three runs in the first inning before the Raiders came to life. However, wildness on the Shell manager's part had a lot to do with his down-fall. He gave up nine walks during the evening and three of the free passes he issued resulted in runs.

Little Bobby Savage gave up 13 hits during the nine innings he worked and the youngster had plenty of trouble with Bobby Asbury who clouted out two home runs and two singles in five trips, but the lad did some hitting on his own hook to give opposing pitcher Smylie more trouble than he could handle. Savage came up with three licks to divide hitting honors with Chock Smith.

A Bostick and Burrus clouted out circuit smashes for the Devils, Bostick's coming in the second with Miller aboard and Burrus' in the eighth with the bases empty. Leonard Bostick went across for the winning tally in the ninth when Savage bingled.

SLUGGERS HIT POOR PITCHERS

NEW YORK, July 16.—Baseball fans in the two major leagues are identical, despite arguments still being advanced that the American League pitcher is livelier.

Sunny Jim Bottomley, in the American this season after 10 years in the National, is the latest to express the belief that there is more jackrabbit in the junior loop pellet.

"I got this when I stuck my hand in front of a line drive," says the veteran first baseman of the St. Louis Browns, displaying a throwing hand wrapped in bandage.

Bottomley fails to take American League pitching and power into consideration. Bill Dickey, the Yankee catcher, is right when he asserts that poor pitching is mainly to blame for the heavier hitting and preponderance of home runs in the Harriage wheel. Scores and pitching records support his contention.

National League pitching excellent that of the Americans in the all-star game was not an accident. The older circuit is much better fixed in skillful handoff kings.

Strong armed sons of the American might experience a little more difficulty in the National, but it is not hard to imagine Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Foss, Earl Averill, Hal Trosky, Dickey, Charley Gehringer, Joe DiMaggio, Goose Goslin, Bob Johnson, Al Simmons and Zeke Bonura, as a group outgunning one composed of the pick of the elder league's distance hitters.

The National need not apologize for Gusle Sahr, Paul Waner, Ernie Lombardi, Mel Ott, Dolph Camilli, Ripper Collins, Joe Medwick, Gabby Hartnett, Wally Berger, Chuck Klein, and Ival Goodman, but the American definitely has a bulging margin in heavy artillery.

Getting back to the ball, all are made in the same Philadelphia factory. The only difference is the color of the stitching and the lettering. The same condition existed some years back when the power was decided to change the speed of the ball as a means of creating synthetic Babe Ruths. The pill was made more resilient for all hands.

The doubting Thomases point to the fact that American League outfielders play closer to the fences than do National League fly chasers.

Asked why they do not play deeper when the bases are unoccupied, Joe Cronin, manager of the Red Sox, explains that if they played back on the edge of the grass, sharply smacked grounders would curve away from them, and more often than not they would be unable to field the swerving ball.

Tris Speaker, daddy of all outfielders at going back for a ball, cannot understand either the current American League shortstopping or outfielding theory.

Outfielders Roam Too Deep—Speaker "If it is true that the ball is faster, why should the shortstop play closer in?" asks Spoko. "On my

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass a pint a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, gas pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

Horror Film At The Ritz

Attraction For Friday And Saturday Is 'Dracula's Daughter'

Successor to "Dracula," one of the top-ranking of horror films, is "Dracula's Daughter," another of weird drama which is the Ritz theater's attraction for Thursday. The picture is based on the 200-year-old superstitions, said to exist to this day in some portions of Central Europe, about vampires.

The story reveals the hypnotic power of Dracula's daughter and constitutes a dramatic excursion into the occult world. Here's an excerpt from the picture's script:

London shrouded in fog. A young girl about to cast herself into the river. Her wrist is suddenly grasped by a giant of a man. Reassuring the girl, he convinces her that his mistress will pay her to pose for a portrait.

The two go to the apartment of Countess Marya, human vampire who feasts on the blood of living human beings. Next morning, the girl is found in an alley with two fang marks on her throat, the terrible sign of the vampire.

Dracula's daughter is portrayed by Gloria Holden, stage actress. Otto Kruger appears as the scientist who combats Dracula's daughter, and Marguerite Churchill provides the romantic element in the drama. Others in the cast are Nan Gray, Edward Van Sloan and Irving Pichel, who is seen as the vampire's servant.

Bank Reserve Requirement Is Increased

Acts Against Possible Credit Boom That Would Injure Recovery

WASHINGTON, July 16 (UP)—Striking against a "possible injurious" credit boom that would retard "full recovery," the federal reserve board today jumped by 50 per cent reserve deposit requirements for member banks effective August 15.

The action was taken under the 1935 banking act empowering the board to boost requirements as much as 100 per cent on deposits of member banks in federal reserve banks.

Board Chairman Marriner S. Eccles said the increase was necessitated by the inflow of gold from abroad which has increased re-stand of 10 per cent in reserve cities; 10 1-2 per cent instead of seven for "country" banks and 4 1-2 per cent instead of three on time deposits.

Board officials said the action should cheer "long-term" investors and others in stabilized undertakings, who were uncertain as to what would happen with the huge excess reserve deposits since the tendency in such a situation is to put them into speculative ventures.

club he'd play farther back and have more time to get to the ball.

"American League outfielders have roamed too deep for years. The percentage is in favor of the ball being in front of them. Yet they seldom catch a ball in front of them nowadays.

"The number of base hits that fall between infielders and outfielders is sickening. Several drooping liners or Texas Leaguers drop in front of an outfielder for every three base hit he cuts off by laying back against the boards. The place for him is from 20 to 40 feet closer in except when an extra-base hit will do a lot of damage.

"What good is he prepped up against the wall? When a ball is hit far it usually bounces off the fence anyway.

"The ball travels faster than it did in my day, for which reason I don't say that I could play in as close now as I once did, but I'd play in a lot closer than the outfielders of today.

"Nearly all outfielders can go back and fungo hitting practice would teach those who can't."

The success of colored athletes, like Eddie Tolan, Ralph Metcalfe, Jesse Owens, Ned Guerin, Eulace Peacock and Cornelius Johnson has served to inspire negro youngsters to try to emulate these heroes. The indication is that the negro athletes are not going to relinquish readily the grip they have on sprinting and jumping honors.

NEW YORK, July 16. (AP)—A. A. Haroon's Top Row, winner of almost $215,000 during his racing career, is the only thoroughbred now in training that has won more than $300,000.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery, though suffering a setback in the Stars and Stripes handicap at Arlington, is within striking distance of the charmed circle, with total earnings of approximately $175,000.

William Woodward's Omaha, now racing in England, was prevented from moving close to the $200,000 class when he was defeated by a nose in the Ascot Gold cup by the unfashionably bred filly, Quashed. Omaha has earnings of approximately $150,000.

The first young horse to enter the $100,000 class this year was Hal Price Hendley's Hollywood. The only 1935 leading juvenile to show among the leaders of the current 3-year-old campaign, Hollywood has won slightly more than $100,000 during his two years of racing.

Baby Manuel Polishes 'Pet Blow' For Title Bout With Pete Sarron

DALLAS, July 16.—Many fight fans have seen Baby Manuel, the hard hitting Spanish youth who meets Pete Sarron, of Birmingham for the world's featherweight title here July 22nd, drop his opponents helplessly and to all intents and purposes, out, with one blow to the body.

But they do not know how much time and practice Manuel has put in while perfecting this pet punch, the famous "liver" blow. Lew Tender, George Chaney, Bud Taylor, Tommy Gibbons, and some of the old timers, including Jeffries, Fitzsimmons, Dempsey used it and all were knockouts.

Baby, seeing its effect on fighters, immediately went into a huddle with manager Jack Finney. They decided to get a chart and make a study of anatomy, the same as doctors do. This they did and found out just what the effect of the blow was and where it should be placed to get the best results, by trying it out on each other.

Arrangements Made For Amateur-Pro Grid Game

NEW YORK, July 16.—Arrangements are complete for the first eastern amateur-professional football game between the College All-Stars, now in the process of election by the football fans of the nation, and the New York Giants, eastern champions of the National professional football league. The day after the All-Stars play the Detroit Lions in Chicago, they will leave by special train for New York, arriving the morning of Sept. 3. They will be quartered at a country club near the city until the day after the game when they will be given an opportunity to inspect the caverns and precipices of Manhattan Island.

Tractor Equipped With Rubber Tires To Reduce Fuel Costs In Farming

Tractors such as these, fitted with rubber tires, are said to make possible a reduction in fuel consumption.

DETROIT, July 16. (UP)—A new type of farm tractor which runs on rubber tires and plays its own radio while planting, is credited by C. G. Krieger, agricultural engineer, with starting a mechanical revolution in American farming. All in the last six months, he says, the lumbering farm tractor has been modernized, turned into high-compression, six-cylinder counterpart of the 1936 streamlined automobile. Power Output Increased "The average tractor," he says, "works about 500 hours a year, using about 1,000 gallons of motor fuel and 30 gallons of oil. If the 1,250,000 tractors now in service were changed over to high compression, there would be a saving of over $30,000,000 in fuel and oil."

COLLEGE STATION, July 16.—Texas farm folk, or at least more than 5,000 of them, are beginning to turn their thoughts towards Texas A. and M. college and their twenty-seventh annual farmers short course to be held from July 20-24, inclusive. Special group meetings and short time visitors during the period are expected to swell the total attendance to approximately 7,000. A full, five-day program of things educational and amusing has been completed by the extension division of the college, which will be in charge of the short course. Special meetings will be held in connection with the short course by producers of state registered and certified seed, Texas Beekeepers' association, Institute for Cooperatives, Texas Agricultural Workers, and Epsilon Sigma Phi, honorary extension society. Campus accommodations are available for more than 5,000 men, women, boys and girls, including camping area and facilities for 1,200. Approximately 1,000 4-H club boys will be quartered beneath the concrete Kyle field stadium. 178 Candles on Cake KING CITY, Cal. (UP)—Mrs. L. D. Fought For Age Pensions, Allred Says

Relates How He Campaigned For Program While Opponents Silent

CAMERON, July 16 (Sp)—The old age pensions issue is the "ugly duckling" of Texas politics, Gov. James V. Allred said here last night. He drew a parallel between his pioneer fight for old age pensions and the foster father of a foundling baby who has suddenly developed into a beautiful and charming girl, courted by the boys who once mocked and scorned her. "This baby was left on my doorstep," Allred said. "I took care of her, protected her, gave her a start in life, gave her every advantage within my power to provide. "She was an ugly little thing and no one knew how she would turn out. The big, gawky boys made fun of her and pulled her pigtail. But suddenly she has blossomed into beautiful young womanhood, with peachblow cheeks and lovely auburn hair. And now these four gawky boys—gay young swash-bucklers now—are courting her. They fight over her and are singing, 'Yes, Sir, She's My Baby, No, Sir, I Don't Mean Maybe, She's My Baby Now.' "But Old Man Allred feels that she's too immature to judge of their wild promises. He wants her to stay with him another two years, let him complete the program he has begun for her, and give her a chance to know her own mind better. Campaigned For Amendment Governor Allred declared that two years ago he promised to ask the legislature to submit a constitutional amendment so that Texas could share in the benefits of the social security legislation President Roosevelt said he would ask of congress. "I asked the legislature to submit an old age pensions amendment," Allred said. "It submitted an old age assistance amendment. "Last summer I got out and campaigned for adoption of the amendment. Where were these other fellows who are now courting Miss Old Age Pensions with so much noise and so many promises? Why, they were out taking a walk. "I called two special sessions of the legislature and finally got the old age assistance act. It's not a perfect law—I said so at the time I signed it—but I was glad to get any kind of a law in view of the divergent opinions in the legislature. "It is one of the most liberal laws in the union. Already more Texans have qualified for pensions than have qualified in any of the states with pension laws except New York and Ohio, and their laws are much older than ours. Others are qualifying daily. "The pioneer battle for old age pensions has been mine. I have made the fight because I think it is one of the greatest achievements in Texas history. I stand on my record—my fight when others were either on the opposite side or kept silent. I believe the old, needy people of Texas put more faith into that record than they do in the wild promises some of my opponents are making."

farming on a smaller scale. In the irrigation country, 30 acres is a large farm. Pitkin declared that he would tell audiences in his lectures that there is now a chance to be agricultural pioneers, that vast regions of farm land can be substituted for the arid area. "There are the rich, irrigated regions of the Columbia and Concho rivers in the Northwest," he said. "There are fine, irrigated sections in Colorado and northern California, where they never have to worry about rain. "Fishes Boulder Dam "Ten millions of people could live on farms around Corpus Christi, Tex. I think the Boulder Dam is a great project. There are vast acreages in the Gulf Coast country that can be drained, improved, and changed into rich farm country that will support a vast farm population. "Year after year we go on having floods that kill and damage while if we took the same money spent on relief and used it to irrigate, we could end floods and grow fine crops. "It is so simple I can't, for the life of me, see why we haven't done it years ago. "The author in recent years has had experience in farm management, and now operates 6,200 acres in New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

EL PASO, July 16. "GAS SAVINGS PAID MONTH'S INSTALLMENT On My Big Dodge 'Beauty Winner'

HOW IT FIGURES OUT—My old car was giving me only 14 miles to the gallon, says Mr. Smith. My new Dodge has been averaging 23 miles to the gallon. I have put 5000 miles on it. At 13 miles to the gallon, I have only had to buy about 250 gallons of gas. At the rate my old car was using gas, I would have had to buy about 420 gallons. This means 170 gallons saved since I have had my Dodge... about enough to pay one month's installment on my Dodge!

Big, Money-Saving Dodge gives me 9 more miles to the gallon than my old car...

I HEARD a great deal about Dodge economy, but I have been frankly amazed at how much more mileage per gallon my new Dodge has given me since I bought it than the old car I traded in," says J. J. Smith, of Bronx, New York. "As a matter of fact, I have paid a month's installment on my new Dodge 'Beauty Winner' with what I saved on gas in the first six months."

Mr. Smith's experience is not unique... Dodge owners throughout America report sensational gas economy—18 to 24 miles per gallon, they say—with savings up to 20% on oil, and practically no upkeep cost. This record-smashing economy of operation is but half the story of the big, new, Money-Saving Dodge. Think of it! ... For just a few dollars more than the lowest-priced cars, you get such extra-value features as the Airslide-Ride... Chair-Height seats... patented Floating Power engine mounting... Irrigation And Retirement Of Vast Acreage Seen As Dust 'Cure'

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 16. (UP)—Walter B. Pitkin, educator, author and farm manager, sees irrigation, financed with money saved from flood damage, as the "cure" for the dust bowl. Pitkin toured the drought-stricken Northwest, and formed the theory that irrigation throughout the Missouri Valley and a chain of a thousand lakes along the river to trap flood waters is the solution. "In a large part of the Northwest, and parts of western Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas there are but two 'outs' for the farmer if he does not want to stay on his acreage and starve," the author of "Life Begins at 40" said. "He must either move to other sections or the government will have to pay him money to enable him to exist. "We are in a state of reorganization in this country. The West must go in for irrigation, and put back the buffalo grass which was plowed under for big scale farming. "We have come to the end of big scale farming. The farm section of the West should be located within a radius of four miles on each side of the rivers for easy irrigation. "Take Kansas City, Mo., as an example. From damage caused by floods by the Missouri and Kaw rivers enough would be saved for a vast irrigation system in the river valley north of Kansas City. "We as a nation must go in for

"SAFEST EVER KNOWN"

Safety is being emphasized by Texas and other western railroads, as they celebrate the second annual "railroad week" an occasion that has been officially designated by the governor and other public officials.

The governor noted this factor, in terming rail transportation "the safest mode of travel the world has ever known." During this week the rail lines generally are taking passengers and visitors into their confidence, taking them behind the scenes, so to speak, and showing them the great precautions taken to assure safety and protect human lives.

While the railroad safety record is a commendable one, it is not the only basis on which the rail lines today are attracting traffic. The railroads are proud of their achievement in speeding trains and shortening the travel time. As much as 20 hours' time has been taken off cross-country passenger schedules.

A third factor with which the railroads want the public to become acquainted is the changes made to increase comfort of travel. Observation cars and diners are in more extended use; sleeping car service is traditional, and the air-conditioning of these cars and the day coaches as well has been extended pretty well down the line.

The business man will be as much interested, also, in the speedy and safe handling of his freight shipments, the ranchman the swift moving of his carloads of animals to the market, as in the passenger transportation phase of the railroad operations. The showing in expedited freight movement is said to be one of the outstanding improvements made by the railroads in recent years.

The railroads, with passenger and freight service improvements, are getting results. So far this year, figures reveal, rail travel has increased about 30 per cent over 1935's figures. Improved business conditions, of course, are a big factor in the increase. The manner in which the rail companies have awakened to the fact that passenger facilities must be brought up to date is another. Also important is the growing realization of the public that train travel is many times safer than automobile travel.

★ Man About Manhattan ★

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—A lot of the labor of putting American musicians on the map seems to have been done by foreigners. Arnold Volpe is one of them.

Volpe is a short, rather round man with less hair than some of us have. He is the chap who started the Stradium concert series but in 1918 a unique venture.

In fact, in 1918 these concerts were considered a means of keeping the home fires burning, and one of Mr. Volpe's much cherished mementoes is a telegram from the war department thanking him for his help!

Mr. Volpe is returning to the Stadium presently to conduct a couple of pieces, for remembrance's sake. He's been for 10 years down in Florida, conducting another unusual orchestra—a group of young student-artists at the University of Miami. Before that he was in Kansas City, at the Conservatory of Music. A good many old timers will go to hear him at the Stadium.

These will know, whether the rest of the audience does or doesn't, that the little man with the eager eyes is the very first violin pupil of the immortal Leopold Auer to have settled in this country. Volpe came over in 1898, and never went back to stay. He played with the de Coppet quartet for two years, and taught.

In 1902 he founded the Young Men's Symphony Orchestra with the late Alfred Lincoln Seligman as angel. Volpe conducted this 17 years; it, with another orchestra he founded two years later, turned out literally hundreds of orchestra musicians. Some are first chair men today.

Volpe devoted this second orchestra to producing the work of American composers in a day when too many Americans thought a composer was a pariah, or at best an odd individual one hadn't better be seen with. Under Mayor Gaynor, Volpe conducted a long series of municipal orchestra concerts; the administration changed and the concerts lapsed. Band concerts under Naham Franko began in Lewisohn Stadium.

It was when called to substitute for Franko that Volpe thought up the idea of a first grade summer orchestra series out of doors. One of the men who backed him most warmly was Ossip Gabrilowitch, who then wore his five-inch collar day in and day out. The idea was to be tried for two weeks—the season lasted seven weeks, however, and lost only $9,000, which is something for a symphony orchestra. This is the nineteenth year of the Stadium concerts.

Incidentally one reason Gabrilowitch was so interested in Mr. Volpe's idea was that they were friends at the old Imperial Conservatory in czarist St. Petersburg. Gabrilowitch played Volpe's accompaniments when the young violinist was graduated.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—William Washington Howes, the new acting postmaster general, has a glad-hand mounted on ball bearings, and he has back slapped his way right into the obituary.

There is no place where he does not feel at home, or where he does not make you feel at home. But he is at his best in an old-fashioned political gathering. There, no one can out-glad-hand him, not even James Aloysius Farley, whose ornate walnut-paneled office he will soon occupy.

In appearance Howes is as plain as an old shoe. He wears horn-rim glasses, soft collars, shirt-sleeves, and a black, thick pompadour. Shorter than Jim Farley, Bill weighs about 250 pounds, uses ordinary instead of green ink, and instead of chewing gum smokes cigarettes chain fashion.

He excels Farley in one respect—having three double chins against Big Jim's two. In this, he follows the precedent set by the first postmaster general, Benjamin Franklin.

Politics Early
Bill began training for his present career while a student at the University of Minnesota, where he was a great raller of class spirit. If the boys and girls on the campus were a little lukewarm about getting out to root for old Minnesota, Bill Howes was right there with the pep tonic.

He was the chief urger-on in a very urgent student body. Bill was not a fraternity man. There was no such snobbishness in his ego. But with the help of his father, a moderately successful insurance man, he did acquire a particular interest in a cigar store during his sophomore year. It became a focal point for athletes and the betting center for all games.

At law school, Howes joined the legal fraternity of Delta Theta Phi, and during his second year attended the national fraternity convention, where he shared a room with the dean of the law school. Howes used the occasion to get the dean's advice on where a budding young lawyer should practice, and was told that the state of South Dakota needed lawyers almost as badly as it needs water.

So Bill Howes took his final year of law at the University of South Dakota, during which he and his friend the dean conducted a survey of the state to ascertain the exact spot where lawyers were scarcest.

They found that in the little town of Wolsley, population 458, not one lawyer was to be found at all. So Bill Howes went there with the proverbial $40 in his pocket, registered at the best hotel (if there was more than one), rented an office for $12 a month (on which he paid $5 down) and hired a sign painter to paint a shingle with the biggest gilt letters possible.

Later, a cow-puncher came in with a title to be verified. Howes charged him $5 and thus paid for his shingle. Howes has never made a fortune at law, but he has made a comfortable income, though he did not stay in Wolsley to make it. His home in recent years has been in Huron, a town of 11,000, and among the largest in the state.

The big thing Howes did for South Dakota—at least in the opinion of Jim Farley, who rewarded him for it—was to inaugurate democracy. For many years democrats in South Dakota had been as scarce as Republicans in Mississippi. But Howes swung the state in 1932, and says he will do it again this November.

He failed to swing it for himself, however, when he ran for governor in 1920, though he was elected state senator in 1916 and state's attorney in 1926 and 1928.

It was while Bill was speaking on the floor of the South Dakota legislature that a messenger came to announce the birth of a daughter. Whereupon the legislature passed a bill officially naming the young lady "Senate."

There is no doubt about Howes's political loyalty. One evening he was playing poker with Royal Johnson, ex-congressman from South Dakota, and campaign manager for Senator Borah. Johnson was declaiming on the political obstacles faced by Roosevelt, and intimated that Howes would not put up any real money on the president.

"I've got $5,000 that says Roosevelt will win against any candidate in the field," replied Howes. But he got no taker.

Howes is unexcitable, easy-going, and is as much at home at the Maryland race tracks near Washington as he is in the ornate offices of the post office department. He also remains a great football fan, and on occasion has traveled halfway across the continent to cheer his alma mater.

He enjoys hunting almost as he does racing, though he doesn't get out to work at it as much. His bird friends in the northwest make up for this, however, by sending him lead pheasant and woodcock all during the hunting season.

Howes has the same miraculous memory which Farley has for names, and he is a faithful, reasonably efficient administrator of the post office department.

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

Chapter Five MURDER

The Doctor paused, sherry decanter in hand, a picture of comical astonishment. "Come home early," he cried. "That's not like you, is it?"

"No, I wasn't very fit, that was all."

"Not fit?" Chambers made no effort to hide the anticipatory keenness of his voice. "Sounds like a job for me. Anything wrong?"

"No. A bit off my oats, that's all. The gilded clock on the mantelshelf chimed the half hour, and the parlor maid appeared in the doorway and announced that dinner was served."

"But Mr. Shipley hasn't come yet," Nellie said, and the maid retired with every show of long suffering virtue.

Nancy Featherstone missed the next two sentences her host directed to her completely. She turned, smiling to Captain Reeves. "What did you say?" she asked.

"Just Dale a nuisance?" Mrs. Reeves put in. "He usually comes too early."

"Was he out today?" the Doctor asked.

"No, he hasn't got a horse at the moment," Nancy said, "but I believe he's buying one."

"Didn't know he had enough money to buy anything," Chambers said bluntly.

"Who has?" asked Lois Everest, and Reeves, scowling darkly in the background, said: "Some people have got a damn sight too much if you ask me."

"Meaning me?" Lois inquired blandly.

"Good Lord, no, Lois, of course not. I was thinking of something else entirely."

"Oh, don't pay any attention to Pat," Nellie cut in quickly. "He's in a foul temper today because—"

"Mr. Shipley?"

"Hallo, Dale," his hostess called out. "I was just slanging you for being late."

Very little contrition showed on Dale's handsome face. "Sorry, I walked over, and didn't give myself quite enough time."

Dale was duly introduced to Lois Everest, but for a young man of his not undeserved reputation he showed singularly superficial interest for once in backless frocks and blood red nails.

Whatever seething maelstroms of preparation went on in the kitchen, Nellie Reeves was usually able to congratulate herself on the finished product when it reached the dining room. She was able to glance round the table and feel rest he devoted himself in a sort of cold fury to his dinner.

"Not doing badly for a man who's off his dinner," Doctor Chambers thought.

There was port, but the men did not linger over it. Captain Reeves suddenly asked a strange question.

"I suppose you see a good deal of—of abnormality, don't you Chambers?" he asked.

"A fair bit," the Doctor agreed. "I'd find it hard to say that I have ever known a really normal human being."

Pat Reeves gave a short laugh. "I suppose not," he said. "Well, shall we join the ladies?"

"Willingly," said Chambers, and as he made his way to the drawing room he reflected that it was an odd sort of conversation they had just had.

The moment the men entered the drawing room they were conscripted by Nellie Reeves into a discussion as to what game should be played. The choice at the moment seemed to hover between consequences and charades.

"Come on, Doctor," Nellie cried, "tell us what we shall play."

"The Captain wanted on the telephone 'm," the maid announced.

"Fix it up whilst I'm out," Reeves said, and made his way to the dark little corner of the hall where the telephone stood.

When Pat Reeves got back to the drawing room the Doctor was holding forth. But he stopped abruptly when he caught sight of the white face of the man in the doorway.

"Come on, Pat," Nellie cried. "We've just arranged to play 'murder.'"

"I wouldn't bother to," her husband said slowly. "There's been one done already."

For a moment everybody stared at him in silence. Then with an unconvinced little laugh his wife said: "One done already? What on earth are you talking about, Pat?"

"Someone has killed old Arthur Burdett up at the Court."

Doctor Chambers was perhaps less taken aback by the news than anybody else in the room; at any rate, he had time to notice, and be surprised by, a long unattractive look which passed between husband and wife and which left Nellie Reeves almost as white as the

Filet Crochet in Stag Pattern

By RUTH ORR
Pattern No. 325

He doesn't look like a stow-away but the stag is guilty on all counts. He stowed away in a book at the British Museum in London and now, here in America, he's willing to decorate your linen. The filet band, crocheted in No. 30 mercerized crocheted cotton, measures 18 inches across, so that it can be used admirably to finish the ends of table runners, bureau scarfs or buffet covers. Besides that, four of the bands could be used effectively to form a hollow square at the center of a dinner or refreshment cloth.

The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with diagrams to aid you; also what crochets hook and what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 325 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address Big Spring Herald, Needlework Dept., P. O. Box 200, Station D, New York, N. Y. (Copyright 1936, the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

man in the doorway.

"How'd you know the man's been murdered?" he asked.

"That was White, the policeman, on the telephone; he wants you to go up there at once."

Chambers nodded fatalistically. "It would happen on a night I'm out to dinner," he said.

Mary Astor Asks Marriage Voided, Charges Threats

LOS ANGELES, July 15. (AP)—Mary Astor, film actress, has filed a petition asking that the divorce decree obtained last year by Dr. Franklin Thorpe be set aside and their marriage be declared void. She said he had an undivorced wife when they married in Yuma, Ariz., June 29, 1931.

Miss Astor also asked that the property settlement she and Dr. Thorpe entered into at the time of their divorce be declared invalid.

She made charges similar to those she made yesterday in an affidavit accompanying a petition for sole custody of their young daughter. In the affidavit she accused Dr. Thorpe of threatening to "scandalize" her publicly and ruin her professionally if she did not permit him to obtain a divorce and sole custody of the child without opposition.

Thief Loses In Robbery

STUTTGART, Ark. (UP)—Arkansas county officers are seeking the chicken thief who wore a 17-jewel gold wrist watch into the hen house of a farmer living near here.

The farmer discovered the watch on the floor of his hen house. It was worth $15, the fowls, $10.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Currie and son, Temp, Jr., have returned from Mineral Wells, where they have been for the past ten days.

County Chairmen Ordered To Send Election Totals

AUSTIN, July 15. (AP)—Plans for collecting unofficial returns of the July 25 primary were outlined today by the secretary of state despite failure of a 1933 act in recent elections to speed tabulation of the data.

The law directed county chairmen, in cases of primary elections, to file telegraphic reports of complete unofficial counts to the secretary of state promptly upon tabulating the ballots shortly after the polls closed. The secretary of state was directed to tabulate the returns daily until the results were complete, although unofficial.

Endeavor II Threat For America Racing Cup

LONDON, July 15. (AP)—British hopes of finally capturing the America cup, held by the United States since the first race in 1851, rocketed sharply here following a sensational display of speed by T. O. M. Sopwith's new challenger, Endeavor II.

In one of her first performances, the new "mystery" craft, equipped with numerous secret gadgets, ran far ahead of Britain's front-rank "J" class yachts after a head start. The sleek new boat, which is expected to challenge for the cup in 1937, trailed all the way on the first lap of a triangular course against Astra, Endeavor I and Velsheid. Then, with an astonishing burst of speed, she shot ahead to win by six minutes, over the nearest competitor, Astra.

The original Endeavor I, Sopwith's 1934 challenger, which lost to Rainbow in four races out of six, finished nearly 11 minutes behind the new Endeavor II.

Industry Hits Year's High In June, AP Business Activity Chart Shows

(By The Associated Press)

The pace of industry during June was the fastest for the year and 16 per cent above the February low point.

This late burst of speed carried industrial activity past the half-way mark in the year's race at the quickest gait witnessed since the summer of 1930.

Main bulwark of the sustained improvement has been the high rate of steel output.

Automobile production was maintained at close to 100,000 cars weekly although June normally experiences a sizable decline. The maintenance of retail sales at better volume than was previously expected is the accepted reason.

Electric power output pushed ahead to the highest weekly figure ever recorded; with the 3,000,000 electric refrigerators, other gadgets, drought-proofed irrigation and large industrial use combining to force the rise.

Jumping ahead 21 per cent from the year's low, residential building contracts duplicated the 1935 performance of moving contra-seasonally higher. Many sections, principally urban, report shortages of small private homes.

The pick-up in freight carloadings reflected business gains, while the upturn in cotton manufacturing activity was predicated on a sharply improved demand for yard and print goods.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mellinger and children, Miss Janice, Sydney and Sammy, returned Wednesday evening from Dallas where they have been attending the Centennial.

Bids Called On Road Jobs

$2,280,000 In Contracts To Be Awarded At End Of Month

AUSTIN, July 16. (UP)—Bids were called for today by the state highway department on 24 projects with an estimated cost of $2,280,000. The bids will be opened July 30, July 31 and Aug. 1.

Included in the list is 18 1-2 miles of rock asphalt paving for highway No. 2 in Webb county. This highway connects at Laredo with the recently opened highway to Mexico City.

Among other projects are: Underpass for Corinth street at the Santa Fe railway near the east city limits of Dallas; underpass for highway No. 2 at the Katy railroad in Hillsboro and an overpass for highway No. 23 north of Brownwood where it crosses the Fort Worth & Rio Grande railway.

An iron ore top with oiled surface will be let for a mile of highway No. 8 in Harrison county at the north city limits of Marshall.

Grading and drainage contracts will be let for about four miles of highway No. 197 in Dallas and Ellis counties; for four miles of highway No. 40 between Kemp and Little Cottonwood creek, Kaufman county, and for two miles of highway No. 95 southeast of Temple. Bids will be taken also on concrete paving of highway No. 26 from the Rusk-Gregg county line to 10 1-2 miles north of Henderson.

Midland County Tax Rate Lowered

MIDLAND, July 16.—Taxpayers of Midland county were advised of further reductions when county commissioners met, approved the budget, and set the 1936 tax rate at 85 cents per one hundred dollars valuation.

The rate marked a total reduction of 65 cents since the 1932 rate, which was $1.50. It was reduced to $1.10 in 1933, to $1.00 in 1934, to 90 cents in 1935, and to 85 cents the current year.

The new assessment was made by the commissioners after appraising valuations in the county and deciding that a reduction could be made. A motion for the reduction was introduced by E. T. Graham and seconded by Carl Smith, later being passed unanimously.

Officials expressed thanks to the taxpayers for substantial payments of current and delinquent taxes which made the reduction possible. They recalled that a plea was made at the last tax-paying season for as heavy payments as possible in order to hold the rate at 90 cents. When payments of delinquent taxes exceeded the expectations of the governing bodies, it was decided to increase the reduction.
