

JUMBO, THE NEW ADJECTIVE FOR UNDESCRIBABLE GREATNESS

It is a great idea to let the press-agent have the floor when speaking of Billy Rose's "Jumbo" one of the major attractions at the Ft. Worth Frontier Centennial celebration this summer. If he seems extravagant out of all proportion to the natural limitations of matter and space, it is only because he coaches the conservative praise he has for "Jumbo" in phrases that are entertaining. Sober critics even cynical ones, wanted to say the same thing when they reviewed the show at the New York Hippodrome. But they were groping for words they had long since blotted from their vocabularies. Critics studiously avoid the superlatives of a press-agent. They carry their caution to such lengths they brand a great number of words in the dictionary as untouchable and proceed to forget they exist. Then out of a clear sky comes something like Jumbo and the critics are like marathon runners suddenly deprived of their left legs. They know what they want to say but they can't say it. They have only half the vocabulary. John Mason Brown of the New York Post called it "A colossal undertaking, produced with a breath taking virtuosity." But he was straining for something real he limped along with A wonderful amazing prodigious circus seen under the most de luxe surroundings."

raw beef is consumed by the cats every 24 hours and sums it all up with "These random items give but a faint conception of the Broddingnagian immensity of Jumbo. What it all amounts to is that Jumbo is a circus story staged with all the exquisite finesse of a perfectly timed musical extravaganza. Costumes and settings are extravagant and tasteful enough for Ziegfeld. And there is a plot. To house Jumbo at Ft. Worth this summer, Albert Johnson, N. Y. architect, designer has devised a structure fantasy that is the first circus building to go up anywhere in the world in the last 60 years. Suggested by the circus buildings that flourished in America from the time of the Revolution to the end of the Civil War, it is a circular carnival red hippodrome adorned with wooden grills old fashioned chandeliers blue canvas canopies. Animals in Jumbo and guest stars from Forest Park Zoo will occupy two wing managerie rooms. Every horse and every animal will have a stall or a cage of his own adorned with carved heads and name plates in keeping with the design.

Percy Hammond of the Herald Tribune knew his limitations had to be satisfied with his "Same and exciting compound drama, animal show, folk drama, harlequinade, canival, circus extravaganza and spectacle." That, of course was simple reporting. Gilbert Gabriel of the American really had the idea and with a press-agent's vocabulary he would have gone places. "It is checkful of so many sorts of thrills, musical, scenic, gymnastic and humanitarian," he wrote, "it deserves endowment as an institution."

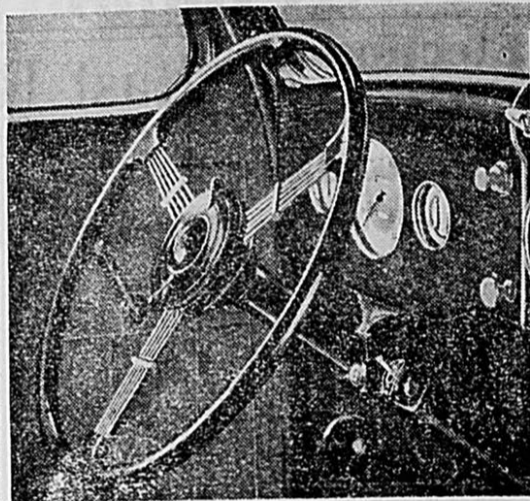

Other reviewers called it great, glamorous, gargantuan, tremendously exciting. But it took the press agent to tear into the kernel of the thing with a few well-chosen words, such as "Bigger than a show; better than a circus."

It took him to figure that 418 miles of copper wire is used in the production that $500 worth of electrical power is used during each performance; that 917 tons of steel was required for the erection of the prodigious aerial gridiron and electrical emplacements.

Only he could know that five acres of coconut groves were required to supply the fibre for the largest ring mat ever fabricated that 10 pounds of rice powder is dusted on the curvilinear contours of the comely corpees daily, that 30 bales of hay is required to feed the ruminants. He adds that 2,500 pounds of

Senator Small's Sour Gas Bill Wastes Panhandle's Natural Gas

Senator Small's Sour Gas law caused to be popped into the air approximately trillion, seven hundred billion cubic feet of our State's natural gas. The market price on this gas at the mouth of the well is four cents per thousand cubic feet. This figure is a loss of sixty-eight million dollars; in addition, this waste caused a gas pressure loss adjoining oil fields, leaving millions of barrels of oil non-recoverable in the ground that takes gas pressure behind the oil in order that oil may be produced.

For instance, one of the forty-three gas stripping plants near Pampa caused to be ruined two thousand acres of valuable oil land which will never be drilled. Before the stripping plants started, oil wells in this vicinity came in, averaging four hundred barrels per day.

The lease-holder now states the last few wells drilled on this tract came in on an average of from twenty to thirty barrels per well, the result of which prohibited additional drilling for oil on any of this two-thousand acre tract.

This means that two hundred oil wells on which labor would have received a thousand dollars per well, totalling one million, two hundred thousand dollars would have been lost by labor.

This loss, bear in mind, is only one individual case. Therefore, just think what other forty-two stripping plants operating over the entire Panhandle have done to our natural resources. Aside from the loss of our gas and oil, consider the loss that the State has suffered which will run into millions of dollars.

What does this mean to the schools, the tax-payer, the land owner and the people generally? Can Senator Small, who has been in the Senate EIGHT YEARS, call this TRUE Conservation? Let the people rule, and

PANHANDLE TO HAVE REPRESENTATION.

Our friend John R. Miller in congress means Texas-Panhandle representation at Washington. Opposed to a man who has held the office for 20 years, Miller is fresh from the ranks of the people our congressmen are elected to represent. Miller goes to Congress with obligations only to the people in the section of the country in which he lives.

Familiar as he is with the problems of industry in the great Panhandle oil field and versed in the problems of the wheat farmers and stockmen of the plains, Miller is truly a representative.

His understanding of and sympathy for the common man is shown in the sincere interest he has taken in the plan to care for those among us who have given the world of their best and are now entitled to rest and the reward of a happy and protected old age. Let us stand 100 per cent for our friend, our friend, John R. Miller.

OUR FRIEND AND NEIGHBOR

Five times mayor of Borger, an attorney by profession, John R. Miller has always championed the cause of the weak against the strong, the masses against the few . . . He is truly a candidate of the people and for the people.

JOHN R. MILLER'S PRINCIPLES

1. I favor the Townsend Old Age Revolving Pension Plan.
2. I favor a program which will make possible a farm for every farmer and a home for every family.
 - (a) By long term loans at low interest rates for purchasing or refinancing homes, either city, suburban or rural.
 - (b) By "grubstaking" families who want to buy small acreage or farm homes.
3. I favor federal aid for education in the poorer communities.
4. I favor an "honest dollar," stabilized at the 100 cent level.
5. I favor extending the civil service merit system.
6. I favor increasing business through increasing the people's buying power by:
 - (a) Give the farmer cost of production plus a reasonable profit.
 - (b) Give the wage earner more than a bare existence wage.
 - (c) Protect small independent business from unfair competition.
 - (d) Give old people an adequate pension without a pauper's oath. When all of those have an income, they will buy.
7. This program means simply to increase prosperity by getting money into the hands of the little fellow to "get the grease where the squeak is."
8. Prevent concentration of wealth by means of taxes on incomes, inheritances, gifts, luxuries and tax exempt bonds.
9. Prevent war by conscripting money and materials as well as men, in time of war.

Indian Story Number 3 Killing Of McKinney's

J. N. Fraizer Tells of Murder Of McKinney Family

As you so kindly gave to me space in your valuable paper for my little sketch, I will try to give you a few more dots as I have the time, not now being able to do manual labor.

If I am not mistaken it was in the summer of 1863 that my father put me on a horse and started me out to hunt the work oxen. He told me not to go any further than the Mays Mountains and I did as he told me. Failing to find the oxen I came back by the Jenkins Spring, on the place that I now live. There I met the McKinney family. The family consisted of himself, wife and three children and they were traveling in an ox wagon. They were related to J. W. Donathan of Springtown and had been on a visit and to lay in a supply of bread stuff and were on the way home. They stayed at the spring until noon, watered their oxen, filled up their water keg, then hitched up and started on their way home. This was just after 12 o'clock and when they reached the spot just about where Agnes is now they somehow took the wrong road and drove to or near the old Shirley house, where it was supposed the Indians were making arrows. Mr. McKinney at Springtown had traded his six-shooter for bread stuff and had nothing left but an old cap and ball gun which burst a cap and failed to fire when the family ran into the band. So the Uncles (pets) had nothing to do but to brutally murder the McKinney family at their leisure. McKinney was shot with a number of arrows lanced several times and stripped of his clothing. Mrs. McKinney was also stripped and they cut the flesh off of each cheek. The little child was not shot or scalped but it was evidently slammed against a tree. The little boy was not hurt but allowed to go free. He wandered about all day and night and was found the next day by P. M. Jenkins and Bill Shadle, about two miles from the scene of the killing. The first word the child said was I want my ma and pa. When they asked him where his pa and ma were he said the bad man's got them. He could not tell his name. The remains of the third child a little girl were found several days later near where the town of Bridgeport now is. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. McKinney and the child were found the second day afterward by H. H. Roberts and Joe Wynn. They first found the wagon and oxen. They had hubbed the wagon wheel against a tree. They then found the bodies their location being indicated by buzzards flying over them. They were buried at old Goshen church, all three in the same grave without a coffin just put in sheets. I suppose I was the last white person to see that family alive.

Classes Fort Worth With Gayest of World Capitals

Because of the Fort Worth tradition . . . or at least largely so . . . Billy Rose is director of what is acknowledged to be the largest enterprize devoted exclusively to entertainment in the world, the Fort Worth Frontier. Only three other towns in America could have secured his services, New Orleans, San Francisco and Chicago.

The Fort Worth enterprize did not spring full grown from the Rosean cerebellum. He has cudgeled the idea for several years, even before his "Jumbo" was produced. Back further still in pre-Billy Rose Music Hall days he schemed. An amusement enterprize of huge proportions . . . the largest in the world to be truthful . . . in which several great attractions might be seen at moderate admission fees . . . such was the Rose vision.

When Fort Worth wanted to celebrate 100 years of history . . . leaving the historical part to other communities . . . by a "wild and Whoop-pee" party Rose, as the foremost of living American showmen, was offered the job. He accepted with alacrity. It wasn't entirely that the financial deal was to his liking, either. It was that Fort Worth was and is Fort Worth.

"There are certain cities in the United States noted for their liberality while others have equal repute for piety. In the latter class are such chaste communities as Los Angeles, Boston, Cincinnati and Dallas. Fort Worth, Reno, Chicago, New Orleans, Butte and San Francisco come in the other category. Ever since its cow town days Fort

PANHANDLE FARMERS!

What would you have done if you had not received your wheat, cotton and other checks under the AAA? Did you know that Senator Small was one of the co-authors of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 4 which petitioned the congress of the U. S; not to pass the Agricultural Act for the farmer (See Senate Journal page 42, Regular Session 43rd Legislature 1933.)

SENATOR SMALL WAS ABSENT WHEN IMPORTANT LEGISLATION WAS VOTED UPON FOR EITHER PASSAGE OR DEFEAT AT THE FOLLOWING SESSIONS OF THE LEGISLATURE, AS FOLLOWS:

5th Called Session, 41st Legislature 1930, ABSENT 95 times. Regular Session, 43rd Legislature, 1933 ABSENT 275 times. Regular Session, 44th Legislature, 1935, ABSENT 265 times. 1st Called Session, 44th Legislature, 1935, ABSENT 54 times. 2nd Called Session, 44th Legislature, 1935, ABSENT 81 times.

In connection with the above absences, Senator Small and his supporters say that he was never absent when important legislation affecting this section was voted upon. The voters attention is called to pages 29, 30 and 31, Senate Journal 2nd called session 44th legislature wherein Senator Small was absent five times when the Senate was voting upon amendments to Senate Bill No. One, which was a bill on the question of old age pensions.

Senator Small has accused the friends of Curtis Douglass of attacking Small's record instead of dwelling on the virtues of their candidate; we admit that we are waging a campaign on Small's record, for that is the MAJOR reason we want to replace him.

Walt Cousins Writes

Alfred Biography

When a hard rider on the trail of drifting years a chap who plays the game fair with no lead in the dice no notches in the cards and no aces in the sleeves cashes in and crosses the Great Divide where the hoof prints all point one way, it is customary to place flowers in his lifeless hands and speak kind words that his ears cannot hear. We have vowed that if we have flowers for a fellow traveler on the long trail that we will place them in his hands now and not on his bier later. Why flowers to a pile of clay? There's nobody home, he's gone. Every now and then when the weed is burning and the pipe is drawing right we expect to place in this page some flowers for fellows we've met.

JAMES V. ALLRED first saw the light in the domain of the Lone Star. He came along at a time when it was a gamble who would take West Texas the people of the prairie dogs. His boyhood was filled with sand storms stone bruises, and poverty but in his veins coursed the blood of a fighter. He is of the breed that has turned the battle back from the gates since the sunrise of time. The corping critic has spilled his dyspeptic wheeze without effect; the simpering alarmist has predicted everything from dire days to damnation for the commonwealth that placed this youth at its head, yet since then his pleading but defiant voice has been heard around the world. He has fought the battles of peace with the sagacity of a Houston, the valor of a Travis, and the self-sacrifice of a Spartan.

The ruler may lie in peaceful inertia upon the soft cushion of his palace, or he may heed and obey the beck and call of his people. He may hobnob in the capitol city with idlers, or he may rejoice with the yeomen in a carnival of corn, calves or cantaloupes. This lad from the sand dunes of the wide open spaces realized that his elevation to a high place left him a pack horse saddled with responsibility and obligation, not to a favored few but to every human being from the tall pines to the somber sands of the Rio Grande, and from the cut banks of the River Red to the leashed beaches of the mexique sea. A stalwart youth in both brain and brawn, used to hardships, and acquainted with privation, burning with sympathy for the trembling hand of the aged and fighting back the curse of a tax that must be wrung from the hardened hand of toil.

It is a far cry from a bare-footed boy with a skinned nose, expansive freckles and one gallus in the little city of Bowie thirty years ago to the executive of the largest business in the south end of North America. Jimmie Allred covered the trail and he covered it single handed and alone. There was no strong pull of influence, there was no friendly bank account, there was a rocky up-hill road that bled the feet of the youthful traveler, but he toiled on and counted the pennies in a worn pocket. He accepted and saved the meagre wage from the toil of his hands. He had neither the time nor the money for the long drawn out, time killing sentence of a campus bizzard. He had to make it snappy, even in

The Most Dangerous Age

(Percentage Change in Death Rates 1922-34)

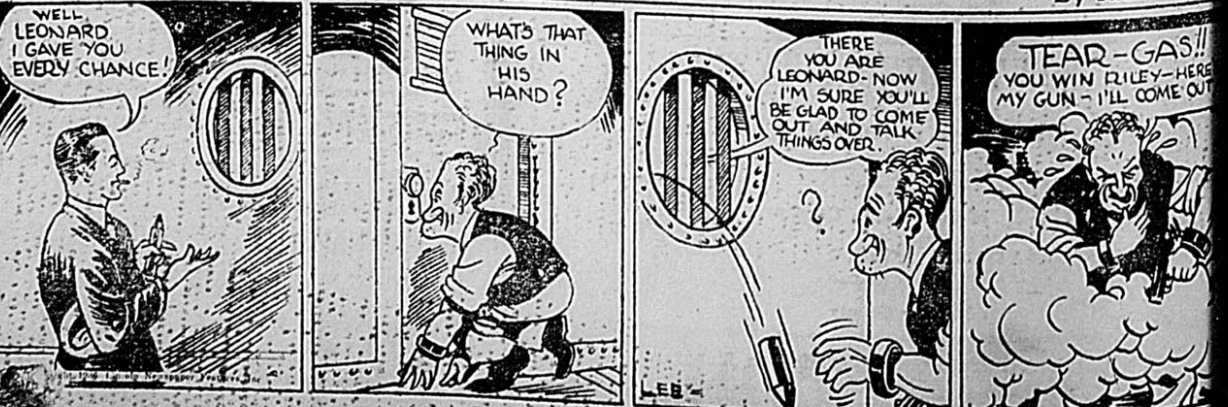

Pedestrians, Heed!

Many ask the question, "which is the most dangerous age in driving an automobile?" The chart above gives the answer. It shows that between 1922 and 1934 inclusive, the rate of death from automobile accidents in the United States increased 107 per cent. Grouping all the ages under 15 shows that the rate of death has decreased 7 per cent. If the ages are grouped, however, by each five years, the data developed by the Travelers Insurance Company disclose that the only reduction has been in the group of five to nine, where the rate of death has decreased 26 per cent. Hats should be off to this group and to the police teachers for the savings in life. The really serious fact that this brings out is the very great increase in the death rate in the group between 15 and 24, a part of this age group which is the most dangerous age in driving an automobile. This age group is the most dangerous age in driving an automobile. This age group is the most dangerous age in driving an automobile.

The Panhandler

After our return from Havana we thought we would stay in Miami three or four days. But the weather was so delightful and we got the thrill of swimming at Miami beach. It was ten days before we finally decided that it was time to leave Miami. Realizing that it may be years, and possibly never before we could make another trip to Florida we decided to make the most of our visit at Miami.

On Monday April 20, we began the long homeward trek of almost 2,000 miles. After a drive of 300 miles we reached Daytona Beach that night. Florida is a state of long distances as well as Texas.

Just north of Daytona Beach is Ormond Beach. Although we were within three or four blocks of the winter home of John D. Rockefeller Sr., we did not have enough curiosity to drive by his residence. It was just about lunch time and we doubted whether John would invite us in for milk and crackers even if we had driven by his home. Ormond beach Daytona Beach and Palm beach seem to have more winter estates than Miami. In other words there were large homes with considerable tracts of land. Although it was the middle of April, it was evident that many homes had been closed and the owners had gone back north.

Daytona Beach to most tourists means the automobile speedway. It was at Daytona Beach that Sir Malcolm Campbell and others have set speed records. The beach is wide and low. That enables the tides to come up and soak the sand thus making a good bed. The beach is about 30 miles long and gives ample space to get up speed on a car.

But it was not the speedway that took the fancy of the wife and son at Daytona Beach—it was the shell picking. For hours they gathered shells and delayed our leaving Daytona beach half a day. There is fascination about shell picking. Even people that live along the coast say that they never tire of gathering shells.

Late in the afternoon we reached St. Augustine the city credited with having the oldest home in the U. S. Owners of another house there also claim the record but the one generally recognized is in charge of a special association and gets the bulk of the tourist trade.

St. Augustine is an old Spanish city and it is filled with interest to lovers of history. In the small city square is the site of old slave markets. Streets are narrow and you may hire a horse and buggy to take you around. Also there is an old Spanish fort with dungeons.

That night we drove on to Jacksonville, the financial metropolis of Florida. It is our opinion that the time will soon come when Miami will not only take the lead in population but will also be the financial center. Jacksonville is about 360 miles north of Miami and even that difference counts considerably in climate.

Only a limited time was spent in Jacksonville and we drove on to Savannah, Ga., 270 miles away. In a way that was the climax of the visit for the better half of the family as the wife was to return to the native land. Having been born in Savannah and leaving there before she was two years old, it was only natural that Mrs. Warren should have a desire to see the city.

With her father and many uncles and aunts being born there, Savannah was a kind of a "promised land" for her. The city is beautiful, especially to one who loves shade trees, and who doesn't go to a city and take a picture of the home one was born in was naturally a thrill. Fortunately the old home was standing and was in fairly good repair.

Savannah is one of the historic cities of the nation. Founded by the English a plaque stating that General Oglethorpe built a court house there that John Wesley preached in it two years.

We were in Savannah for Confederate Memorial day. Sunday April 26. As the day came on Sunday the city had its biggest parade in years with eight or ten bands in line. Chatham's regiment founded in 1788, was getting ready to celebrate its 150th anniversary while we were there. In the parade were two cannons, captured by George Washington at Yorktown. While he was president Washington visited Savannah in 1791 and presented the 2 cannons to Chatman's regiment.

The Panhandler will have to give his final article on his southwestern trip in a later issue as to much time has been required for a number of matters the past week.

In the first place The Panhandler feels that he would not be true not only to Panhandle but also to the entire 31st senatorial district if he did not do all he could to bring about the election of Curtis Douglass as our next state senator.

It has taken some time to cooperate in this campaign and this is given cheerfully. It is also given in the cause of good government, for this is one newspaper man who does not desire a state job. This editor has made his living for more than 20 years as a newspaper man and expects to continue to do so.

Douglass is going to be elected senator and Clint Small who has had the office too long for this district's good, is going on that long journey up Salt Creek well, Clint has traveled it twice as a candidate for governor. Despite all my shouting in his two gubernatorial campaigns he didn't even make the run-off.

The senator is a little more fortunate this time. There are just two candidates and he is in a race equivalent to the run-off. But he will find that he will be a few thousand votes short the night of July 25 as the people are going to have a New Deal at Austin.

The people must have a senator who will stand for the independent merchant; a senator who fights stripping plants of our nation. A senator who will vote for our legislators to give their corporate connections, a senator who will stand for a square old age pension measure; a senator who is for the farmers 100 per cent, not just part of the time.

If you want that kind of a senator we urge you to go to the polls Saturday July 25 and line up with Curtis Douglass.

International Sunday School Lesson

By DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic:—Christianity Spread By Persecution.
 Scripture Lesson:—Acts 7:59 to 8:4 - 1 Peter 4:12-19.
 59. And they stoned Stephen, calling upon God, and saying, Lord Jesus receive my spirit.
 60. And he kneeled down and cried with a loud voice, Lord lay not this sin to their charge. And when he had said this he fell asleep.
 1. And Saul was consenting unto his death. And at that time there was a great persecution against the church which at Jerusalem; and they were all scattered abroad throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria, except the apostles.
 2. And devout men carried Stephen to his burial, and made great lamentation over him.
 3. As for Saul he made havoc of the church entering into every house and healing men and women committed them to prison.
 4. Therefore they that were scattered abroad went every where preaching the word.
 12. Beloved think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you as though some strange thing happened unto you.
 13. But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that when his glory shall be revealed ye may be glad also with exceeding joy.
 14. If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye, for the spirit of glory and of God-resh-teth upon you; on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified.

 15. But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men's matters.
 16. Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf.
 17. For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God; and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God?
 18. And if righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear.
 19. Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God commit the keeping of their souls to him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator.

INTRODUCTION

One of the seven prominent men in the early church chosen as a deacon, and probably the most of all of them was Stephen, "A man full of faith and the Holy Spirit" as well as "of grace and power." Stephen had been exceedingly active and successful in performing miracles and especially in proclaiming the Lord Jesus with such wisdom and so in the power of the Holy Spirit that those attending the synagogue of the Libertines were unable to reply to his mighty arguments.

Stephen's Defense
 So they brought Stephen before the Sanhedrin that great body of Jewish legislators the most august assembly of its kind in the world at that time. Standing before the Sanhedrin "his face as it had been the face of an angel" Stephen delivered that marvelous address found in the seventh chapter of Acts. What a vision was given to him that day as the first martyr of the Christian church when looking up steadfastly into heaven he saw actual glory of God and the Son of man standing on the right hand of God.

The Stoned Stephen

And they stoned Stephen calling upon the Lord and saying Lord Jesus receive my spirit And cried with a loud voice, Lord lay not this sin to their charge and when he had said this, he fell asleep. Christ often referred to death as sleep. Paul also uses the figure. We fall asleep, we who are Christians when rested. When we slip away from this earth in death we who are Christians are convinced that we shall awaken as it were in the presence of the Lord. We arise from slumber refreshed for the days work after death, we are all changed and we live abiding strength of resurrection power.

The Resolution of Tarsus

But Saul laid waste the church entering into every home and dragging men and women committed them to prison. The word here translated "laid waste" is identical with the one used in Psalm 80:13 of the ravages of a wild beast. The zeal of Saul on the occasion of Stephen's martyrdom, probably procured with the work of utterly uprooting Christianity, which the authorities now resolved upon. He accepted the proposal for he believed it to be God's work. Here was a chance for making up for all arrears by one splendid act of service. This was the iron of agony in his soul which gave edge and energy to his soul. In any case he was not a man to do things by halves and he flung himself headlong into his task. Paul, of course was fully forgiven when he became a Christian for the terrible crime which he committed in the name of religion, but he never was able to blot these stains out of his own mind.

Scattered Abroad

They therefore that were scattered abroad went every where preaching the word" Tertullian writing before the end of the 2nd century of our era, uses the famous words: "The more ye mow we grow, down the more quickly we grow. The blood of Christians is fresh seed. It was hard, tragic that Christian group at Jerusalem that had been knit together by the Spirit into such a delightful confraternity should be broken up scattered that however is another characteristic of Christianity it is a missionary religion it may not selfishly nest settle down must be forever on the move pushing on to new lands.

Jesus has been spoken of as a restless man and his religion is Contrast Judaism and Christianity the former has its gaze the latter like its Lord, faces everywhere; the whole world for the one Jerusalem is a goal for the other a starting point.

Preaching The Gospel In Antioch

Luke describes for us the progress of the gospel in Judea, Phenicia, Cyprus, and Antioch. It was a glorious crusade as fleeing believers told the story so that new believers were added to the army of the Lord in every village and city. Phenicia was an important land along the sea sixty miles from the mainland. Antioch about 300 miles north of Jerusalem was a large city on the Orontes River founded about 300 miles north of Jerusalem by Nicetor. It rose quickly to take first rank in the kingdom of Syria. It was the third city in the Roman Empire and had probably a half million people. It was destined to supplant Jerusalem.

Encouragement for Persecution Ones

Peter when an old man writes a comforting letter to the Christians who are suffering under the cruel hand of Nero. We see it as Peter's word of help in one of the darkest hours of the life of Christianity. Domitian and Trajan had been bad enough but Nero was worse. The cruel tormentors made their way from Rome into the province where any person who was known as a Christian was caught and made to suffer. Peter knew what it was like, for he had experienced such treatment from the Sanhedrin and under Herod Agrippa I. When he heard of the fiery trials of the Christians of the five provinces he wrote this letter to encourage cheer and strengthen them. They needed to understand the meaning of their suffering and to gain from trial the good that Christ would have them receive.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson were in town Tuesday night.

Bill Buran was a visitor in Peryton Sunday afternoon.

4500 GUESTS CAN DINE AND DANCE UNDER MILKY WAY

That Casa de Manana, the House of Tomorrow, is 100 light years ahead of anything else of its type in the world came from Billy Rose's own lips. He should know. He's seen 'em all at home and abroad. Besides Billy is director of the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial on whose spacious esplanade the gaudy facade of Casa Manana fronts. To begin with, it's the largest safe-theatre in the world. As another staggering item, it contains the biggest revolving stage in the universe. Compare its 130-foot diameter with Radio City Music Hall's 40-foot one and what Artist's Conception of What the Casa Manana Looks Like do you get?

The dizzying array of 600 arches in the building pattern suggests a general style copied from the Land of the Bullfighters. Dotting the huge tiered amphitheater will be tables, where 4,500 guests may wine and dine. More secluded parties can be arranged for balcony tables. The brilliant blue and white contrast will, to say the least, knock your eyes out. There inside as Paul Whiteman twitches his baton to extract rhythm from the orchestra, the stage will spin around on a mammoth pool to reveal an elaborate setting for the glamorous show guaranteed to quicken the pulse. With modest pride there will be presented Texas' own fairest daughter, Faye Cotton of Borger, winner of 75-city "Texas Sweetheart Contest," glittering like a premiere in a $5,000 gown. Other blossoms of the Texas plains will hold their chins up among the Broadway show girls. Big-name stars of radio, stage and screen will have you rubbernecking. Shirley Temple, Dick Powell, Fannie Brice and Everett Marshall to name a few. If you can come down to earth after the show there will be moonlight dancing designed especially to start a romance and patch up a quarrel each time around the floor. And here's where sweet revenge comes in for the females. There'll be a Prince Charming for every Cinderella. If the boy friend winks at a beautiful chorine drifting past in a gondola, the flitted femme can pick a waltz partner from a stag line of 100 bona fide dukes, counts and princes. To say it is colossal dwarfs its real magnitude.

MAX W. BOYER

For State Representative

The voters of the 124th District have this year an opportunity to elect to the office of State Representative a man YOUNG ENOUGH FOR PROGRESS—OLD ENOUGH FOR JUDGEMENT. Max W. Boyer, thirty year old Perryton Attorney is that man.

The entire 124th Legislative District will be glad to say in years to come that Max W. Boyer was their State Representative if Boyer is elected. Open the doors of opportunity to this young man whose election will reflect credit upon the entire district.

Three times elected County Attorney of Ochiltree County, now offers his candidacy as State Representative for the counties of Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Hartley, Moore, Hutchison, Roberts, and Hemphill.

BOYER ADVOCATES AND WILL WORK FOR THE FOLLOWING, IF ELECTED.

1. Repeal of law requiring payment of any license fee by farmers for handling of own products to market.
2. Amendment of Deed of Trust law of Texas so that owner of real estate must at least be given personal notice for definite period of time before sale of real estate can be made.
3. Payment in full of Constitutional Old Age Pensions. Revenue should be provided so that those who come under the term of old age pension shall receive the full amount of such pension each month for the balance of their life without deductions for trifling sums of money earned.
4. Protect the present gasoline tax refund for farmers but if possible cause law to be amended so that amount of tax refund will be deducted at time of purchase rather than waiting long periods for payment of refund to farmers.
5. Fair legislation for all industries of this State. No law should be passed to the detriment of any group of individuals, but should be fair to all affected by same.

6. More labor legislation should be passed in Texas. The needs of labor should be given proper hearing in committee rooms and by proper urging legislation to the laboring masses should be passed. A mere vote for a labor measure without diligent respectful work in behalf of same is not enough to insure those who labor the full benefits to which they are so justly entitled.

7. Proper legislation to insure for all ages to come that the Natural Resources of the Panhandle will be conserved.

8. Repeal of status requiring children to pay tuition to attend any of our state colleges. There should be no tuition paid by residents of this state to attend any college supported by taxation.

9. Proper legislation, if necessary for Texas to co-operate with the Federal Government in paying crop benefits to our farmers. Agriculture must remain on a basis where its interests can be protected as well as "Big Business" in America has been so long favored.

10. Revision of both the Civil and Criminal Procedure of Texas so that long delays and miscarriages of justice in matters of litigation will be a thing of the past.

Vote 'Er Dry

This Sample Ballot is Voted Correctly

FOR THE SALE OF BEER

Against the sale of Beer

Hansford County has always voted DRY and has heretofore twice refused to legalize the sale of BEER.

A vote for Beer puts your stamp of approval on the liquor Traffic and its attendant evils.

Who forces this issue upon us? AND WHY?

IS IT PROFITABLE EXCEPT TO A FEW WHO SELL IT?

It is squarely up to the Fathers and Mothers of Hansford County to protect our children.
