Notes from Spearman Schools

TUESDAY, APRIL 3, A BIG DAY FOR SPEARMAN SCHOOLS

The students of the Spearman schools had been told several times that a demonstration train was to be here April 3, but none of them expected to see such a crowd of people in Spearman and to hear so many good lectures.

On Monday afternoon the pupils were told that they were to be on the school grounds by eight o'clock the following morning and were also told that Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the West Texas State Normal College would address them at a few minutes past eight. The students assembled at the appointed time Tuesday to hear Dr. Hill's address. Dr. Hill has quite a pleasing personality and he gave a splendid talk which should have inspired every boy and girl present to do great things. Dr. Hill's address as taken by the members of the short hand class is to be given elsewhere. Many of the boys and girls were so impressed with Dr. Hill and his address that they had to tell him about it after he had finished.

The student body then left the building and marched in a body to the Demonstration Train where several hundred people had already assembled. While awaiting their turn to go through, one of the gentlemen who was with the train requested that the students sing. They gladly complied with his request, and in addition gave yells for Dr. Hill, Mr. Wade and the Demonstration Train. Their turn to go through the train finally came after which they were free to do as they pleased for the remainder of the day.

HISTORICAL CLUB HAS GREAT TIME TUESDAY

The History classes needed some source books rather badly so they decided to earn some money to buy those books with. An opportunity for making this money presented itself with April 3. They secured a part of the John L. Hays building on Main street for that day and decided to sell almost anything hungry people might want. Every member of the classes did his share in making the affair a success, and a neat little sum was realized from the sale.

Exhibitions from the various schools were put in the Hays building from the number of people who came in to view them it seemed as if the people of the community were immensely interested in the sort of work being done in the Spearman schools and various others.

The members of the Parent-Teachers Association were very agreeably entertained last Friday afternoon when the second grade, under the direction of Miss Walker presented to the association a little threeact flower play. The children were dressed up to represent nearly all the flowers one could think.

The largest number of people attended this meeting of the association than has ever before attended. Besides the members were a number of visitors who were very welcome. The second grade was awarded the pennant for having the greatest number of parents present.

"Safety First," a play presented to a very small audience in Spearman last May will again be presented in about two weeks. If you enjoy a good laugh, don't fail to see this play. The place and date of playing will be announced later.

SETTING OUT A CHERRY ORCHARD

Spearman, Texas, March 22
Agriculture Teacher
Goodwell, Oklahoma

Dear Sir:
I heard that you have a cherry orchard and I would like to get a little advice on setting out an orchard.

What time of year should cherry trees be put out and how deep should they be put in the ground. What is the distance apart. Are there any insects or diseases that bother your cherries; if so what do you treat them with. What kind of cherries are most suited to this country.

Please let me hear from you as soon as possible.

Yours truly,
PAT BARBOUR.

Mr. Pat Barbour,
Spearman, Texas

Dear Sir:
Cherries should be set out in the spring any time before they begin to leaf out. I would purchase the one year old trees and prune them back severely at the time they were set out. Set them a little deeper in the ground than they were in the nursery row and at a distance apart usual in the ordinary peach or apple trees.

There are no insects that are very troublesome in this country to the growth of cherries. We have found more success here with the sour cherries, nearly any variety being hardy in these conditions. The sweet cherries in our orchard have been successful only one year since they were set out about twelve years ago.

Another suggestion which applies to all kinds of fruit trees of this country. Take a turning plow and turn the dirt out of the row for the trees, making a broad shallow ditch that will drain the rainfall from each side into the row where the trees are set. Make this deep enough so that it may be preserved for several years. Set the trees along the lowest part of this trench.

THE STORY OF SUGAR

(By Elmo Maize—7th grade)

The first step in the story of sugar is the clearing of the forests. There is much valuable lumber in these forests, and care must be taken to see that it is preserved. Creepers and brush are then killed to some extent by being burned. It might take several years to clear the land entirely, but there is no need to wait for this because the cane will grow densely and crowd out all the underbrush.

In planting, cuttings about three feet long, with several buds each, are dropped from three to four feet apart by one man, followed by another who makes holes with a pick into which he thrusts the cuttings. Crops only have to be planted every ten or twelve years.

The stems grow from fifteen to eighteen feet high, are broad and unbranched. The leaves are broad and flat and about three feet long. The cane must be cut by hand, with a heavy machete. The stems are stripped of their leaves and loaded on oxcarts to be hauled to the railroads which are close to each farm.

These railroads are only branches and are called "loading stations".

They are supplied with cranes which lift the whole cart-load at one time and dump it into a waiting car.

Locomotives then draw these cars to central. The cars have hinged sides. The load is dumped on tilting tables, and carried thence on conveyers to the first rollers. The next rollers exercise a tremendous pressure and extract all the juice. The pulp left is taken to the boilers and used for fuel. It is now known as bagasse.

The liquid is now placed in evaporators, where the water is taken out, and crystallization takes place. The sugar, however, which is still soft and damp, goes to the centrifugal machines where it is whirled around and around in an inner basket till it is completely dry. The sugar thus produced is called raw sugar.

The sugar is then packed in bags or mats, and is ready for the long journey to the sugar refineries. On arriving there it has to be weighed

BIG GAIN MADE BY MRS. BOWERS

Reduced To 90 Pounds By Dengue Fever, She Goes To 130 Upon Taking Tanlac.

Mrs. Cora E. Bowers, 3001 North Houston St., Fort Worth is another highly esteemed Texas woman to speak out in praise of the Tanlac treatment. While discussing Tanlac which has been so beneficial to her, Mrs. Bowers said:

"Tanlac is such a grand, good medicine and has done so much for me that I am glad to make a statement to be used in letting others know about it.

"Last October, I had a spell of dengue fever, which left me in such an awful nervous, weakened condition I could not walk without staggering. What little I would eat made me miserable with indigestion and sleep was almost out of the question with me.

"After taking three or four bottles of Tanlac, my appetite was better than it had ever been. My troubles left me and I went up from only 90 pounds to one hundred and thirty. In fact, Tanlac restored me to the of health and my gratitude is unbounded."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

by the Representatives of the U. S. Government.

The sugar is then crushed and mixed with magma. The magma is washed to remove the thin film of dark molasses, and then dissolved in warm water, then treated with phosphoric acid to take out the impurities. Next it is passed out through screen plates, and run through a boneblack filter to remove coloring matter.

The next step is the boiling at a low temperature vacuum pans, after which it is taken to the centrifugal machine where the remaining magma or filmas is thrown off. We now find the sugar sparkling, and clean, in the inner basket.

Wonderful machinery now fills and sews the sacks as we buy them at the grocery store.
