High School Band To Accompany Motorcade On Trip To Odessa Show

Plans were rapidly taking shape Thursday to send a large delegation of Big Spring people to Odessa Friday for the second day of the annual Ector County Livestock and Poultry show.

Heading the group from this city will be the high school band which will lead the local delegation in a parade through Odessa. Plans are to have the Big Spring contingent depart from the Settles Hotel at 8 a. m. Pat Sullivan of Comstock said Thursday he would join the group here and perhaps others would come from Comstock.

Grover Dunham, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce trade extension committee and head of the trippers, said that efforts were being made to use the Ritz sound truck for the trip.

He issued an appeal for business men, oil supply interests, ranchers and farmers to make the trip. It will be necessary to have several extra cars, he said, because the band must be furnished transportation.

One of the features of the Odessa affair Friday will be a big luncheon which is expected to attract many hundreds. Steps to promote the trip were taken Thursday in a meeting of the trade extension committee consisting of Dunham, Victor Flewelling, O. R. Bollinger, Ralph Linck, E. W. Anderson, Bill Edwards, Pat Allen, Roy Carter, E. L. Gibson, D. W. Webber, Jess Hall, B. B. Boyd, Alfred Collins and M. Praeger.

The trip is the first of a series which will be held by the chamber this year to surrounding cities.

Blame Placed Upon Major Pipe Lines

Governor Says Refusal To Buy Gas Ratably Responsible For Waste

AUSTIN (AP).—Governor Alfred, in a personally delivered message to the legislature, Thursday condemned wastage of millions of cubic feet of gas daily in the Panhandle.

Blame for the condition the governor placed primarily on refusal of major pipe line companies to purchase gas ratably, asserting "a sound public policy demands this atrocious waste be stopped and our gas resources reserved for useful purposes."

He recommended divorce of gas pipe lines from producing, manufacturing, and marketing branches of the natural gas industry.

AA Pilot In Attempt To Set Record

Leland Andrews, Accompanied By Radio Operator In Time Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leland S. Andrews landed at Washington airport at 1:12 p. m. Thursday, ten hours, twenty-two minutes and fifty-four seconds after hopping from Burbank Field, Los Angeles, in an attempt to set a new speed record.

He took off at 1:26 for Floyd Bennett field, New York. Leland S. Andrews, pilot referred to in above dispatch, together with Radio Operator Rayburn, are both well-known in Big Spring. Andrews was formerly chief pilot on the Dallas El Paso run of American Airlines, while Rayburn, up until a month ago, was radio operator at the Big Spring airport for American Airlines. The plane did not pass over Big Spring. It used the northern route, via St. Louis, local airlines officials told The Herald Thursday. A Vultee transport plane was being used in the attempted record-making flight.

Sisters Clasp Hands In Long Dive To Death

UPMINSTER, England (AP)—Elizabeth, 23, and Jane, 20, daughters of Court DuBois, United States consul general in Naples, Italy, plunged 1500 feet to their death Thursday from an airplane enroute to Paris.

They were alone with the pilot, having purchased every seat in the ship.

Ground witnesses said the girls were "clashed hand in hand" as they plunged downward. The bodies landed in a cabbage patch, the impact driving them a foot into the soil.

Two letters were found in the plane, one addressed to their father and the other to their mother.

Officials described the dual deaths as the strangest European air tragedy since Captain Alfred Loewenstein, Belgian financier, disappeared July 4, 1928, from a cabin plane over the English channel.

Hoover Grants Interview On Gold Standard

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, commenting on the supreme court's gold decision, said Wednesday the United States should return to the gold standard "and restore confidence in our currency."

Hoover declared that all threat of further devaluation should now be removed and the dollar should immediately be made convertible at the present 50 cents of gold, "payable in gold bullion."

In a prepared statement to the Tucson Daily Citizen the former president said:

"I have now had opportunity to read the supreme court decision. Apparently all members of the court agreed that the government acted unconstitutionally in repudiation of the covenant on its own bonds. A majority of the members concluded that the citizen has no remedy."

"That will have long moral consequences, but whatever the moral on right or wrong of the devaluation may be, the face of the American people must be forward."

"The need and the opportunity now is to restore confidence in the dollar. All threat, actual or potential, of further devaluation should now be removed. To do this and give a needed contribution to real recovery, the dollar should immediately be made convertible at the present 50 cents of gold, making it payable in gold bullion—the modern method of specie payment."

"There is no need to wait on foreign nations before we re-establish the gold standard and restore confidence in our currency. This would be bound to follow sometime. They are far more afraid of our doing just this than they are of any American 'managed currency' at such game they have us at a disadvantage."

WASHINGTON By George Burno

Meat—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's AAA has slipped a report to President Roosevelt which should make most of the country's farmers feel better.

It forbade a city consumer's tear, however, to match each rural smile. Wallace has advised the White House that farm cash income is up 42 per cent in the last two years—with live stock prices shouldering the load at the moment. This means much higher prices for steaks and chops as the housewife already well knows.

Laggard—Beef, lamb and pork are way up—thanks to the drought and the AAA program of declamation. Washington's two biggest chain stores in the last two weeks have started carrying quantities of fish daily instead of on Friday only in an effort to meet the situation.

Experts in the Agriculture Department predict that meat prices are still to reach their peak. Meanwhile Wallace tells the President his big problem is to restore an internal balance between the various farm products. Certain regions, notably the Northwest and the Far West, haven't responded to treatment as well as the rest of the country despite benefit payments, etc.

Cunningham Speaks To Kiwanians

Grover Cunningham, local attorney, spoke to the Kiwanis club, at their Thursday meeting in the Crawford hotel, on "Patriotism" on a program designed to honor the birthday of George Washington.

He lamented the fact that the American people had grown lax during the past few years in public manifestation of the patriotism that is close to the heart in every true American's breast. He admonished the members to take every opportunity to show individual and group patriotism.

"Clio" Bulot, song leader, led the group singing of old-time and patriotic songs which were a part of the program. The program was arranged by Rex Ragan and presented, in his absence on business in Austin, by James Little. B. Sherrod, Lubbock, former district lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis, was a club visitor.

County, City Join In War On Stray Dogs As Rabies Menace

The city and county joined hands Thursday in a war against stray dogs.

Their concerted fight against the animals was provoked by an unusually large number of rabies cases reported in the city and county within the past two months.

Although the order had not been signed Thursday, it will be before Friday midnight when the war on stray dogs starts. Many people are now undergoing the anti-rabies treatment here being bitten by a dog found to have been mad.

The order under which the city and county will seek to reduce or erase the rabies menace follows: "The public is hereby notified that there are several cases of rabies in the City of Big Spring and the adjoining country, and necessarily a large number of other dogs have been exposed to rabies, and this creates a serious menace to the safety of the public, and makes it necessary that extraordinary precautions be taken to protect the public. All persons owning or having possession of dogs in the City of Big Spring and in the adjoining country are notified to keep such dogs shut up, tied or confined to their own premises. All dogs found running at large within the city of Big Spring or in the country adjacent thereto on and after midnight Friday, February 22, 1935, will be killed by the city police and county officers. The city and county officials join in this order and notice, and the instructions herein given will be strictly in force and carried out.

With every best wish and trusting you will not think me presumptuous in thus addressing you, I am, Yours in this great service, O. M. Reese, minister.

BAKERS WIN FIRST GAME OF PLAY-OFF SERIES, 29 - 28

CONGRESS HOLDS BACK ROOSEVELT TIDE

The present session of Congress seems to be foiling the experts at most as badly as the 1934 world series foiled the sports writers.

Drawing analogies between politics and baseball may be slightly irrelevant—either to politics, or to baseball, as you choose—but the ghost of a parallel is there.

The 1934 series was going to be a walkway for the Tigers. They had the class, the vim, the determination, the what-it-is; the result was all charted in advance.

The only thing that went wrong was that nothing happened on the field the way it had been hoped to happen, and when the dust had settled the Cardinals had the triumph.

And in politics? Well, this was the session in which the administration enjoyed a record majority. The President's popularity was at its peak. Congress would give him just about what he wanted and no more.

His reelection in 1936 was a foregone conclusion, and to go against him in this session would be a comparatively painless way of committing political suicide.

So what happened? Well, the big work-relief bill aroused much more opposition than anyone had expected. The senate kicked over the traces on the World Court. The whole legislative machinery got out of gear—temporarily, at least.

Townsend plan and bonus bill took a new aspect. To quote a recent United States dispatch:

"The confusion which has become apparent in Democratic ranks has heartened Republicans to such extent that some of the more optimistic are talking now of 1936 instead of 1940."

The bold Republicans, in private conversations, say now that perhaps they can make a real fight of it."

Brilling all this down, we can discover a tide, or a combination of tides, setting in directions not foreseen two months ago. The Congressmen have been hearing from home—about old age pensions, about the bonus, about the 30-hour week, about the World Court, about heaven only knows what else; and the voice from home seems to be a bit louder than the voice from the White House.

What, then, can we expect? Probably this: That the administration will presently get its first really big test. We shall discover, then, whether the upsurge of popular discontent which expressed itself in the last two elections has reached high water mark or is still rising; whether this administration's left-of-center course is to be followed docilely or only after a stiff fight.

A political situation which seemed to have solidified, two months ago, is revealed as still in a state of flux. Mr. Roosevelt has never been called on for higher qualities of leadership than will be required of him in the immediate future.

DECLINE OF COFFEE

If you happen to be the average American coffee drinker you drank less coffee last year than in the year before—some 16 cups less, to be exact. This is on the word of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, which has just finished a survey showing that the consumption of coffee in the United States fell off during 1934—which, by the way, was the first full year of record.

Now there are two possible explanations of this fact, neither of them, to our notion, worth a great deal.

You might say that a lot of people who used to drink coffee are now drinking alcoholic beverages, and that is why coffee consumption has dropped. Or—remembering the desperate way in which a man gropes for bits of black coffee the morning after a thorough bender—you could argue that the decline in coffee consumption has dropped off so terribly much.

Horned Frogs Play In Houston Friday

FORT WORTH, (Sp.)—"Go West" may have been good advice for the young men of Horace Greely's time, but "Go South" distinctly seems to be bad advice for the T. C. U. basketball squad.

Nevertheless, the conference schedule calls for the appearance of the Frogs in Houston Friday night and College Station Saturday.

NO. 16

Losses on Stock Transactions

No gain or loss is recognized for income-tax purposes as a result of the exchange of stock or securities in a corporation solely for stock or securities in another corporation in pursuance of a plan of reorganization to which both corporations are parties or as a result of the exchange of stock or securities in a corporation solely for stock or securities in the same corporation in connection with a recapitalization. Where money or other property is received along with such exchanges, no loss is recognized, although a taxable gain may result. The statute also prohibits the deduction for any loss from the sale or other disposition of stock or securities where the taxpayer, within a period of 30 days before or after the date of sale or other disposition, acquires or enters into a contract or option to acquire substantially identical stock or securities.

Two important changes are made by section 112 of the Revenue Act of 1934. Under section 112 (g) of the Revenue Act of 1933 no taxable gain was recognized as having resulted to the recipient stockholders of a corporation from a distribution of stock or securities in liquidation of the corporation or in another corporation, a party to a reorganization, without the surrender of the stock in respect of which the distribution was made. These provisions are entirely omitted from the Revenue Act of 1934, thus giving such distribution the status of dividend distributions paid in property.

The other important change is in the definition of the term "reorganization" as contained in section 112 (g) of the Revenue Act of 1934. In section 112 (i) (1) (A) of the Revenue Act of 1933 the term "reorganization" is defined to mean a merger or consolidation (including the acquisition by one corporation of at least a majority of the voting stock and at least a majority of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock of another corporation, or substantially all the properties of another corporation) or the corresponding provisions of section 112 (g) of the Revenue Act of 1934 define the term "reorganization" as "(A) a statutory merger or consolidation, or (B) the acquisition by one corporation in exchange solely for all day night, for games with Rice and A. M. Coach Dutch Meyer and his cagers still have ambitions for another victory in the four games left on the schedule, but it would be an ardent Frog fan indeed who would venture to predict that it will be gained at the expense of either the Owls or the Aggies on their home floor.

Coach Meyer will carry nine men on the trip, Darrell Lester, center and chief scoring threat of the Frogs, may not be able to make the trip because of a sprained ankle received in the Baylor game. If Lester is able to play, the starting lineup will be the same as that which took the floor against the Bears last week—Capt. Judy Truelson and Will Walls at forward, Lester at center, and Sam Baugh and Myrum Baugh at guards.

If Lester is not able to play, Capt. Truelson will be moved to center and Walter Roach will play forward.

The Frogs will meet Texas in Austin Feb. 26, and will close the '35 case session by meeting S. M. U. in Ft. Worth March 2.

Diltz Cagers Come From Behind

By HANK HART

The Diltz cagers came from behind Wednesday to win the first game of the Muni league playoff series when they topped the CCC cagers, 29-28.

The Foresters led at the half by the margin of 16-13, and appeared to have the better of the tussle, but the cagers came to life and passed the corps on the home stretch.

Lillian Harris, who joined the Diltzmen late in the season, stepped out to lead the victor's attack, amassing a total of 12 points for the evening.

Young and Grear, ace forward combination of the Bruccmen, tied for the Forester's honors with 11 points each.

"Pep" Driver was the only substitute used during the game. "Smitty" Smith, defensive man for the Bakers, fouled out late in the game and necessitated the change.

The count stood at 16-8 favoring the Foresters at the end of the first quarter.

The teams continued their series tonight, the tilt starting at 7:30. There will be no admission charge.

Longhorns Await Return Chevigny

AUSTIN (Sp.)—While several Southwest conference football camps are teeming with spring training activity, University of Texas Longhorns await the return of Coach Jack Chevigny who has been moving about making contacts for important intersectional games.

Chevigny wired from Minneapolis last week to inform athletic officials here that he had conferred with the officials at the University of Minnesota and had secured tentatively a pair of games with the Gophers for 1935 and 1937.

Big Time Stuff

His plan of negotiating with the larger schools of the nation is in keeping with his promise made on the eve of his appointment to the head coaching position at Texas that he would "make the flag of Texas fly high among the banners of the nation."

Upon his return the latter part of this month things will begin to hum in preparation for the spring training season which is scheduled to get under way on March 8.

It is likely that the dynamic young mentor and his corps of assistants will be greeted by a larger group of aspirants this year than last. Last spring about 65 men reported, but this year at least 80 will be equipped for the four-week training term.

Round-Up April

After four weeks of training in fundamentals and routine work, the season will be brought to a close with the annual Round-Up game between two picked teams on April 6. This colorful intra-squad battle is expected to draw an even better crowd than the 4000 of last season, since many former students will be here attending the homecoming celebration.

Last year the coaches spent the greater part of the four weeks becoming acquainted with their men. This year considerable more work will be done. And the coaching staff will not be alone in the task of teaching the new men the fundamentals of the Notre Dame system. Almost all of the graduating members of the 1934 team have announced that they will be on hand to assist the mentors during the four-week session.

In spite of the loss of two stars, Hugh Wolfe and Louis Olivier, through scholastic ineligibility, the Longhorn spring session will find a formidable group of prospects preparing themselves for a banner season in the Southwest Conference race of 1935.

or a part of its voting stock; of at least 80 percentum of the voting stock and at least 80 percentum of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock of another corporation; or of substantially all the properties of another corporation." The remaining provisions of section 112 (g) (1) are substantially the same as the provisions of section 112 (i) (1) (B), and (D) of the Revenue Act of 1933.

Borries And Dornin, Three-Sport Aces, Collecting Plenty 'Ns' And 'N-Stars'

ANNAPOLIS, Md., (Sp.)—They're dusting off niches in the U. S. Naval academy's all-time hall of sporting fame for two versatile athletes whose joint collection of "Ns" and "N-stars" promises to be one of the largest in Navy annals.

The redoubtable Fred "Buzz" Borries, a cinch to earn rating in any list of all-time Navy greats, and his bowman pal, Robert E. "Dusty" Dornin, stepped directly from football field to basketball court to continue their starring roles, and in the spring will go on to the still varsity duties before graduation.

Many regard Borries, who hails from Louisville, Ky., as the greatest all-around performer ever to wear the Blue and Gold. His prowess versatility and dependability already are by-words at the academy. Dornin, whose home is in San Francisco, is not far behind.

Saw Bristow in Mineral Wells a day or so ago, and instead of hitting the road for Big Spring he decided to go to Ardmore, Okla. He said he had a tough time trying to get Abilene to agree to play here next season.

Big Spring Polytechnic of Fort Worth here next fall, and according to Amos Melton of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram the Poly boys are due to be plenty good.

George White of the Dallas News expressed the belief that the Dallas high school teams would be much stronger next year. "Prospects look pretty good for nearly all of the high schools around here," White said.

One of the sport scribes, in commenting on the epidemic of soft ball teams, declared that hundreds of teams would be organized in Dallas this spring.

White seemed especially interested in Jack Dean, and agreed that if all he had heard about him was true, he should have little difficulty staying in organized baseball. "If he has a good arm they'll teach him the rest," George commented.

In his "Chips and Chatter" in the Star-Telegram Melton says West Texas is due to do a rushing golf business during the spring and summer. The big annual West Texas meet, held here last year, will go to Abilene this season, although dates have not been set.

Among the outstanding golfers of West Texas, Melton lists Obie Bristow and Shirley Robbins of Big Spring.

We have one more on our side now. Louis Cox of the Dallas Times-Herald agrees that Lubbock belongs in District 2. Jinx Tucker, the ugly Waco boy, has sided with San Angelo, so there you are. Bristow is not only in favor of getting Lubbock in the harness, but wants to make sure of having a lighted field here. However, the problem of increasing the seating capacity looms as the first and most important item.

Physical Audit Is Advised By State Health Officer

AUSTIN—If you have not had an audit made recently of your physical assets and liabilities, go to your doctor now and have it done, is the advice of Dr. John W. Brown, director of the state department of health, to grown-ups in Texas. "It is quite as important," Dr. Brown said, "to check up on your physical resources as it is to look into the state of your financial possessions. By regular care under your physician's direction, you can conserve your physical assets and can avoid the accumulation of destructive liabilities."

"Each of us starts with a certain amount of physical capital. Merely as a personal business proposition, it is worth while to conserve it to the best of our ability. In infancy and in childhood our physical resources, as a rule, are safeguarded for us. As we grow older, the responsibility for doing so rests to a large extent upon the individual. The critical period for many comes in middle life with the sudden sharp realization that the physical capital is yielding diminishing returns in the way of physical well-being."

"The records of health departments and of insurance companies show that from ten to fifteen years have been added to the average length of life. But the same records let us see that a large part of the deaths reported every year,

How To Make A Cold Frame; Explicit Directions For The Amateur Gardener

In those tantalizing weeks of early spring, when a warm sun one day sets the garden fever burning, and freezing weather that night chills the courage, a cold frame is priceless.

Everybody needs one, though he may have a hot-bed, or even a greenhouse in addition. To the great majority of home gardeners, the cold frame will suffice for all real needs in early sowing.

Easy to build, and simple to operate, it enables seeds to be sown several weeks before it would be safe to sow them in the open. With the protection of the glass sash on frosty nights the seeds will germinate, and the seedlings grow sturdy, until they are large enough to transplant into the open ground.

Success in cold frame practice depends upon the judgment used in timing the sowing, so that when transplanting date arrives the danger of frost injury is past. Sowing dates may vary with different crops; depending on the length of germinating periods, which vary greatly in flower seeds, and on the tenderness of the seedling plants. While all baby plants, like baby animals, are less hardy and resistant than adults, some will stand light frosts while others will die at a touch of frost.

The earlier you wish to sow seeds, the more important these considerations of detail become. If you are content to wait with sowing until four weeks before it would be safe to plant outdoors, it should be safe to go ahead with anything.

To make a cold frame, the accompanying illustrations give full and detailed instructions. The soil which is used in it should be fine, friable, top soil, well pulverized. Sow the seed as you would in a flat, or hoed, water thoroughly and firm the soil over the seed, pressing smooth with a brick, or piece of board.

Watering now becomes of great importance. At no time should the soil be allowed to become hard and dry. Yet excessive watering may cause the seeds to rot, sour the soil, or cause "damping off." When the plants appear, thin them out, allowing each to grow singly without crowding.

After the seedlings appear, watering is still important. Good drinks, between which the soil dries somewhat without becoming crusty and hard, should be the rule. And fresh air is the next great need. On sunny days the sash should be lifted early in the morning, otherwise the temperature may quickly run to a dangerous height. Inspect the cold frame at least every morning and afternoon, and remember it whenever the weather changes abruptly. You will soon learn the plants growing vigorously, which means with good heavy roots and strong stems, stocky rather than tall and spindling.

When transplanting time comes, take up the seedlings with as little disturbance of the roots as possible and get them back into the ground as soon as you can.

"Nearly all of these diseases have slow beginnings, and their onset can often be recognized, in the course of a thorough physical examination, before they have gained serious headway. In the majority, early detection of the menacing conditions with a readjustment of physical expenditures and a better budgeting of activities under the physician's direction, will help to shift the balance from the unfavorable to the favorable side of the ledger."

Lackey Re-Elected Superintendent Of Midland Schools

MIDLAND—Superintendent W. W. Lackey was re-elected to serve his thirtieth year as head of the public school system here when trustees of the Independent School District No. 1 held an executive session Monday. The period of re-election was for the 1935-36 term.

Coming to Midland from Abilene, where he had been high school principal, in the fall of 1906, Superintendent Lackey found an unaffiliated, ten grade school. With a remarkable improvement each year in scholarship and courses, the schools have been brought to an exceptionally high standard, with 29 units of affiliation with the state university.

A large program of building, spread over a period of years, has equipped Midland with a first class plant in practically every needed phase of high school work except a physical education building and trustees are at work on plans for such an edifice at present.

Superintendent Lackey has been honored repeatedly by the National Education association and the Texas State Teachers' association by placing him on important convention programs and in responsible offices. For years, during summer vacations, he taught classes in a state institution of higher learning.

At the time of re-election for his thirtieth year, the superintendent has on record the highest enrollment in the history of the schools.

Sport Slants

With the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap in the offing and big league hold-outs talking salaries in five figures, it is, perhaps, an inopportune time to bring up the matter of golf winnings.

The $1,000 which little Paul Runyan, the White Plains, N. Y. linksgan, won last year represents the top mark collected by the gold seeking golfers, but it hardly looks like important money beside the big leagues crowding the sports pages today.

In 1934 American golf professional also won in the neighborhood of $100,000 in prize money.

Following on Runyan's heels was Ky Laffon, the ambitious Denver youth, who won $6,499 by plain, everyday hustling. Leo Diegel was third in line with $6,500.

The remaining seven who completed the "first ten" list were: Jimmy Thomson, $2,711; Horton Smith, $2,794; Denny Shute, $3,032; Harry Cooper, $4,733; Craig Wood, $4,333; Wiffy Cox, $3,900; and Johnny Revolta, $2,709.

Going over the list it is surprising to note that only one of the ten named, Denny Shute, has won either the British or United States open championship. Shute won the British open in 1933. Paul Runyan's leading total includes the $1,000 cash prize he earned in winning the P.G.A. title.

The Strain Is Different

Apparently the boys who are successful in the big money tournaments do not enjoy the same good fortune in the quest for major championships. Winning cash prizes seems to be less difficult.

In playing for a major championship the strain is terrific so it is only natural that a golfer should "tighten up" and spoil his game in his anxiety to take advantage of an opportunity that comes only once a year.

Tournaments offering rich prizes are quite numerous so a player can afford to play his natural game without undue strain, figuring that plenty of other opportunities await him even though he fail in one.

In the "money" tournaments the golfer has many chances in a season as against the one annual bid for a championship.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Kansas City, Kan., has blossomed out as the most consistent prize money winner of the current winter season. By winning three West Coast titles, the Pasadena, the Sacramento and the San Francisco Open, McSpaden brought his winning total up to $2,562.

A Slender Margin!

A year ago the Kansas City pro was a decided in and out golfer who sent thundering drives down the fairways and hoped they might go straight. This winter, he has been concentrating on a shorter but steadier game with most satisfactory results.

He defeated Harry Cooper, of Chicago, 3 and 2 on the thirty-fourth hole to win the San Francisco National Match Play Open and added $700 to his winnings.

The veteran, Walter Hagen very likely made a million dollars with his clubs—and spent most of it. It cost him $5 to enter the Los Angeles open tournament and when the smoke of battle had cleared Sir Walter received his winnings of $25, a magnificent net profit of $12.50 as a reward for playing 108 holes of golf.

By scoring an average of 72 20-77 strokes in 77 rounds in tournaments recognized by the P.G.A., as major events, Ky Laffon won the Radix Cup, a new trophy awarded for the year's best scoring record in medal play. The Denver golfer took the cup by the slimmest sort of a margin over Paul Runyan. The difference, to be exact, was 263-4235's of one stroke.

Calves Scheduled To Enter Junior Basketball Meet

Ben Daniels and his junior high calves will leave tomorrow for Moore, where they are scheduled to compete in a basketball tournament with a fast field of junior teams.

Smith, guard, and Williams, forward, are two outstanding players on Daniels' undefeated team. Trophies will be awarded to the championship team, runner-up, and to the consolation winner and runner-up.

Texas Team Tops Basketball Card

AUSTIN, (Spl.)—Coach Marty Karow's Texas Longhorn team, somewhat revived and considerably encouraged by their impressive victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks last Saturday night, are spending the week polishing up their offense for their final meeting with the Baylor Bears in Waco Saturday night.

The Stars, harassed by illness and illness for the past three weeks, have been in better spirits since their spurt against the Porkers. Captain Jack Gray was confined to the hospital for the first two days of the week with a slight touch of flu, but had recovered sufficiently to take a light workout Wednesday.

With the Longhorn captain and scoring ace in condition and Jean Seacrest, star forward, fully recovered from a short illness and a sprained ankle, the Stars will be in top condition for their engagement with the Baylor five Saturday night.

The Longhorn starting lineup will probably be: Gray and Francis at forwards; Collins at center; and Wittman and Pennington at guard.

VETERAN RELIEVED OF CONSTIPATION* BY NATURAL FOOD

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Corrects His Condition

Here is an interesting, unsolicited letter: "I have used Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for about 4 years, and find it a wonderful relief for constipation." While in Government Service in the P. I., I contracted constipation* in 1898-99.

"I consider your ALL-BRAN in terms of millions, instead of the cost of a box of pills, for it surely has saved me. I eat ALL-BRAN every morning." — F. L. Wylie, Visalia, Calif.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Research shows Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies gentle "bulk" to aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also rich in vitamin B, as well as iron, an element of the blood.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a delicious laxative food... far better than patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. In severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

I am your Lucky Strike

I am a friend indeed. A better friend than others, because I am made only of mild, fragrant, expensive center leaves. I don't permit a single sharp top leaf nor a single coarse bottom leaf to mar my good taste or my uniform mildness. I am a soothing companion, the best of friends.

Local Girls Among Pledges Of Texas Tech Social Club

Miss Hazel Smith of Big Spring, daughter of Mrs. N. C. Bell, and Miss Eva Mae O'Neal, a former Big Spring girl, were among the nine girls pledged to membership in Las Chaparritas, a social club at Texas Technological college, Lubbock, recently.

The following description of the dance in which the pledges were formally presented, occurred as follows in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal:

Appearing from between two double hearts, walking through the orchestra and down sparkling silver steps, pledges of Las Chaparritas, were introduced Saturday night at the auditorium. The occasion was the annual formal presentation ball given by the club, a social organization for women of Texas Technological college.

Background for the dance was soft and grey, walls of the hall having been covered with a fabric of that color. The hearts, above the orchestra stand, were eight feet tall, the first one of sparkling silver and the second of sparkling red. The Las Chaparritas charrm centered the silver heart through which was also an arrow. On either side of the orchestra pit, beyond the stairways, were improvised columns at the base of which were tall baskets of ferns.

The valentine motif is the traditional theme for the Las Chaparritas presentation dances. Logan Largent and his orchestra of Plainview played. Harold Griffith introduced the pledges and their escorts. They were: Miss Maxine Fry and Morrison Arnett, Miss Pauline Anderson and

Montana Rides Again A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS

Chapter 22
TREACHERY
"Oh-ho!" murmured the general. "Are you talking to me about marriage?"

"I'm talking to you about nothing," said Rosita.

"I could go a general like you," said Rosita. "I could go a general like you, trade with a hundred thousand cattle with rivers and mountains all of his own—a man like Estrada could find a man with a fortune and a daughter. Eh, Rosita?"

"Well, there are plenty of them. But let me tell you I am going to be rich in my own right. And then, Rosita—well, I have eyes and I've used them. Do you understand? You are enough for me in yourself."

She jerked around towards him. "Ah, is it that?" she asked.

"Well, look at me and say some-

"Yes," nodded the girl. "The finest province in Mexico—I shall ask for it, and it shall be mine. Shall we help ourselves to the plunder then?"

"We?"

"Yes. You and I, Rosita. I speak from my heart. See what I am. Not beautiful. Not very young. But strong. There is a brain up here on top of the mustache."

"That is true," she answered.

"A brain clever enough to see that Rosita is worth more than a rich girl. Tell me, then—are we to be married?"

"Well, perhaps we are," she said. "And then you will stop letting your eyes run this way and that?"

"Ei Keed!" the general repeated stupidly.

"I'll try to stop," she said. "It's hard to learn all at once."

She was hard as steel, bright as steel, cold as steel. There was no smiling about her, now.

"Then we begin as friends, and hope to end as lovers," he asked.

"We may end that way," said the girl.

"Time teaches us how to put up with ugly things," said the general. "When you hear the crowd yelling for me and when you see the horse dancing under me, then you will like me much better. But if we are friends, you know that there is no lying between us."

"No," she agreed. But she frowned.

"Then tell me—was it the truth you spoke to me tonight?"

"No," she said.

A little electric pricking spread across the small of Montana's back. "I knew it was a lie," said the general, gently. "But truth is always a welcome guest, even when it comes late. Who was it that you sent to the postern and told about the signal that would bring out the sergeant?"

At this she closed her eyes and bent back her head. As the Kid had seen her do before. But at last she looked at the governor again and said, "It was a gringo."

"A gringo? And he has come safely into this fort and gone out again?"

"He has stained his skin to make it darker. His hair is black. But his eyes are blue."

Prettiest Legs

Hollywood casting directors—and who's going to dispute them?—say Lillian Kilgannon, bit player, has the most symmetrical legs in the film capital. (Associated Press Photo)

"Go on!" urged the general. "I shall have him if I have to ride a thousand miles to get him."

She shook her head.

"Why do you say not?" he demanded. "Listen to me! If it is some outlawed man, I have friends among the bandits, also. I shall use enough money to warm the cold hearts. Before long I shall learn his trail."

"It is El Keed!" she said, almost gloomily.

The anger of Rubric at this treachery made him actually murmur out loud. The Kid gripped his arm to call him back to himself.

Littlefield And Tracksters Depart

AUSTIN, (Sp.)—Coach Clyde Littlefield, a manager, and eleven track men will depart Thursday for Laredo, where the Longhorn track team will compete in the Border Olympics.

The men making the trip are: Captain Byron Edwards, Forrest Wilson, George Vance, Osborn Hodges, Jack Vickery, Jeff Austin, Harvey (Chink) Wallender, Beverly Rockhold, George (Mule) Wilson, Remus Thomas, and Charley (Tiny) Grunstein.

Coach Littlefield is depending on his "babe" and "half-babe" relay teams for gathering points. If these runs true to form in their first meet of the season and (Chink) Wallender and Moody Pickett pick up as many points in the dashes as expected, the Longhorns have a good opportunity to win the meet for the third time and bring back the trophy as their own.

family to chart a definite course for future international trade relations is getting somewhat acute.

On the one side is Secretary of State Cordell Hull. On the other is Foreign Trade Adviser George Peek.

Hull won the last round when FDR announced that Peek's deal to unload three-quarters of a million bales of cotton on Germany in a straight-barter negotiation was a dead turkey because the goods would have to take in exchange would violate our anti-dumping law.

Peek's office has kept its mouth shut on this decision but a Congressional source reports government legal experts ruled the cotton deal would not have run counter to the letter of the dumping law.

What it would have done to the spirit of the act is clear.

Time—Those close to Peek say the White House rebuff has not inclined him to offer his resignation in a huff.

Rather, he plans to sit tight in the belief his formula eventually will have to be accepted.

Secretary Hull's activities have been directed to a preservation of the most-favored-nation clause whereby all nations agreeing have an equal shot at any foreign market.

Hull's economic adviser, Herbert Feis—a Felix Frankfurter man who first entered the State Department in the Hoover administration—advises that if the most-favored-nation rule is discarded the race for international trade will devolve into a chaotic scramble.

Feis urges that from 3 to 5 years be given the State Department to work out commercial agreements embodying the clause.

Veteran—Peek's men say they have no complaint against this forward-looking program but they foresee the United States losing many of its markets forever in the 3-to-5 year interim.

The barrier plan is advanced by Peek as a recognized makeshift designed temporarily at least to help lighten the domestic unemployment load and hold some of our rapidly falling markets.

Currently he is twiddling his thumbs while Hull proceeds with negotiation of new commercial treaties.

Cordell Hull, in addition to being No. 1 man of the Roosevelt cabinet, is a veteran of Senate politics.

He already has scored in one major engagement with a fellow New Dealer—Iray Moley—and most of the official family have given him a wide berth since.

Gyps—The Post Office Department has felt itself called upon to warn all postmasters against a magazine solicitation enterprise in which at least one member of Congress is said to be involved.

A name which sounds intimately identified with the Democratic Party was trade marked for the publication and agents were sent out to get subscriptions at the rate of $2 a year.

Very shortly complaints began coming in to Washington that postmasters had been approached with the rather urgent suggestion they talk half a dozen subscriptions.

Now P. M. G. Farley asks all postal people to mail the gyps and help put 'em in the jug.

Taxation—Whether the bonus bill goes thru or not a "slight" increase in taxes is likely to be made toward the end of this session. The taxes that will otherwise expire must be renewed, and in that renewal measure fresh items are under consideration. The House Ways and Means Committee has a mass of figures bearing upon taxation and possible sources of revenue, gathered during 1934.

Added taxes are not discussed openly just now. It is necessary first to push through the spending program. Key men like Senator Par Harrison, chairman of the finance committee, shush down questions on the prospects of added taxation.

Thawing—The process of loosening up petrified mortgages goes on, with the cooperation of the states. Laws permitting mortgages up to 80 per cent of the appraised value of property are being passed, thus putting mortgages in line for insurance by the government through the Housing Administration. Mortgage associations are being formed to deal in the new business, assisted by funds from RFC. The new home mortgage will do away with second trusts or mortgages and will reduce the cost of carrying on old home or financing a new one.

Housing Administrator Moffett is at work on the office and apartment building situation. A change in the FHA law is urged, which would enable the administration to refinance mortgages of this character.

Qualified—A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney General in the Wilson cabinet and more latterly a yeoman performer in securing Mr. Roosevelt's nomination in 1932, is lending the administration a helping hand in the writing of a new ship subsidy bill.

As tentatively drafted, it will follow the President's idea of substituting an outright subsidy for the indirect and expensive mail subsidies. Grants will be limited to the actual differences between construction and operating costs of American and foreign vessels. Our shipping men are well pleased with the prospective measure because they say it will enable the American merchant marine to stand on its own two feet.

Palmer has neat qualifications for the drafting assistance. He has been Washington attorney for the United Fruit Lines.

NEW YORK
By James McMullen
Britain—New York sharps say the collapse of British speculative balloons in minor commodities gives us a sweet break in monetary negotiations if we choose to take advantage of it.

They argue that our London friends are in a much worse jam than the outside world realizes yet. Not only are financial big shots involved—there is evidence that thousands of small fry have been gambling high and handsome, also.

There are indications that the price bubble of all—the London gold market—hasn't in as happy a state as most people have thought. The informed remark that this bubble remains intact chiefly because the American Treasury is still willing to guarantee a minimum price of 35 per ounce for the metal. Our monetary policy has helped the vaunted British "recovery" quite a bit in the past year.

So the British are in no position to argue if we care to force the stabilization issue. Experts contend that if we gave them the choice between stabilization and a renewed American gold embargo they would have to come across with the former on our terms. The alternative would mean to serious risk of a calamitous smash.

New York also expects the flop of the London commodity markets to speed the return of a Labor government to power. The political drift is all that way and will get fresh impetus from public indignation.

Surrender—The New York Stock Exchange has hauled down its flag—part way. Admission of office partners—usually older men—to the Board of Governors, as urged by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the association of Stock Exchange Firms, is a dramatic concession but not quite as important as it sounds.

In the first place the "outside" governors will number only 8 out of 48. In the second, if "voluntary cooperation" on this point distracts attention from other features of the SEC's reform program the old guard will consider it a good investment.

While the office partner governors are to be called "governing members", the deft designation is the fruit of heavyweight thinking on the part of Exchange authorities and their legal advisers.

The Exchange's deepest concern has been to preserve its status as a private club. It was feared that allowing non-members to become governors would alter this status in the eyes of the law—thereby inviting a host of complications, especially a greater vulnerability to damage suits. The law committee fairly frothed at the thought. But some genius saved the day by evolving a new kind of membership for the interlopers. That makes everything simply swell.

It remains to be seen whether this surrender—and a couple of others in prospect—will cause the Securities and Exchange Commission to forget some of the more objectionable reforms it proposes—such as the change to a strictly democratic form of Exchange government. Impartial observers doubt that the Commission will drop the trail so easily.

Cold—About 2,000 persons were expected to attend a New York luncheon today in honor of Joseph P. Kennedy—chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. But the affair has been postponed for a month—the reason given being Mr. Kennedy's health.

Informed sources chuckle at the explanation. They remark that Mr. Kennedy would be in a somewhat delicate position if he made a public appearance here while the Exchange is still debating his reform ideas. If he came out strongly for his program Wall Street would resent it as an attempt at moral coercion—thus hurting chances for future cooperation. If he didn't it would be construed as a confession of defeat. He's better off if he stays away and says nothing until the argument is settled.

One New Yorker comments that Kennedy's ailment is probably a timely case of cold feet.

Menace—The New York textile trade is up in arms at Japanese encroachments on their markets. It's estimated that 7 million square yards of cotton textiles have been imported from Japan in the past six months. This isn't such an awful lot compared to domestic production but the rate of increase lately has been alarmingly rapid.

The textile people want something done about this menace in a hurry. All sorts of suggestions have been urged on Washington—from prohibitive tariffs to an embargo on the export of raw cotton. Their demands are likely to get attention with code renewals coming on.

Strategy—New York bankers have no beta that the Senate conservatives led by Carter Glass can head off FDR's program for reforming the Federal Reserve but they do believe Glass and his cohorts will perform an extremely useful service.

The point is that the radical element in Congress is much more likely to push through amendments than the Glass crowd. The more noise the right-wing critics can make the better chances there is of persuading doubtful Senators to oppose left wing ideas.

Gems—The stockbrokers' frantic thirst for business has awakened a lively interest in minor companies with good earnings records. Customers are being told about little gems of corporations that nobody in Wall Street ever heard of before. Few of these prizes are listed on any New York exchange—but brokers have no objection to doing business in Bridgeport or Salt Lake City if it will net a few nickels. No commission is small enough to sniff at these days.

Sidelights—New York learns that the AAA is making a strenuous drive to sign up farmers for its 1935 curtailment program.

Meanwhile Argentine corn and oats and Canadian wheat flow in. Insurance companies are steady purchasers of high grade bonds. It's nearly a year since stock brokers made any money.

There will be no lack of trees around Mrs. Ches Anderson's yard when her four years yard work is completed, said Miss Parr. Mrs. Anderson has worked in co-operation with the experiment station for two years and has a splendid growth of Chinese Elm and honey locusts on three sides of the house. Among the shrubs to be used in foundation plantings are prostrate juniper, jasmine humile, buckbush, barberry, spiraea van houttei, and Amur privet. For screen plantings they are using lilac, Amur, privet, tamarix, flowering willow, althea and cut leaf elder.

A yard plan on paper is as essential as a pattern for cutting a dress continued the home demonstration agent. One can plan a yard but it takes several years to complete the work and parts will be forgotten before completion unless a written plan is followed. Mrs. A. J. Rice of the Lomax Home Demonstration club will find it necessary to refer to her plan many times as her plan cannot be completed under three or four years. She is growing her foundation shrubs in a cutting bed in the backyard. The bed was made in sandy soil by spading a place 4 by 4 feet about ten or more inches deep, no fertilizer was added. A five gallon bucket with holes near the bottom is to be sunk in the center of the bed to a depth of eight inches. In this way irrigation is made easier and the roots grow downward to the moisture and are not exposed to the hot summer sun. About one hundred cuttings were placed in the bed, these will be transplanted to their permanent locations in the fall.

Mrs. R. N. Adams of the Soash H. D. club has an excellent lawn as a beginning in yard improvement work. It is well sodded in Bermuda grass except in a few places which will need to be filled in to make the lawn level. The front and back yards are divided by fences which will be hidden with screen plantings. Mrs. Adams has excellent soil for a rose garden which will be placed at the side of the yard and toward the

By GORDON K. SHEAHER

AUSTIN, (UP)—Texans are about to lose a right which they have enjoyed for years—the right to know how senators vote in "secret" sessions.

Texas senators, discovering that they have no valid rule to keep secret their vote in executive sessions, plan to provide one.

Only a concerted protest by public and press will prevent the lid from being clamped down. The senate already has instructed its rules committee to provide punishment for revealing such a vote.

The right to print the vote became endangered when Dick Vaughan, a Houston reporter, was hauled before the senate for printing what he concluded was the vote on confirmation of Judge Sarah T. Hughes, first woman to be appointed to the district court bench in Texas.

The senate then discovered its existing rules prohibited publicity of the proceedings only, and not publicity of the resulting vote. Members were privileged to tell the vote, although they had not done so.

Belief that publication of an executive session vote was prohibited was so general that a district court judge refused to call upon the senate to disclose its vote when the right of Frank Denison to become a member of the state highway commission was challenged by the attorney general.

Senator John Hornsby of Austin testified to the result of the vote, which was held sufficient. Other senators criticized him for that.

The senate's proposed new rule would prohibit even the numerical result being made known. Vaughan was called before the senate to answer for publication of a roll call, indicating how each senator voted. Its accuracy was not contested.

Vaughan explained that the numerical result of the vote was common knowledge. From that by a process of scanning past expressions and attitudes of individual senators, he figured out which ones opposed the confirmation. Inquiries gave him no reason to change his conclusion, he said, and he printed it.

Specifically he answered that no senator nor senate officers had furnished the roll call.

Sen. Clint C. Small said correspondents are "guests" of the senate in occupying the floor. Small's inference was that a guest had not the right to abuse hospitality.

Capital press men to not consider themselves "guests" of either the house or the senate when they attend sessions. They feel they have a right to be on the floor.

Two Senators, Hornsby of Austin and Poage of Waco, already are on record favoring publicity for the vote on confirmation of the governor's appointees. They have promised to secure the press a public hearing before the rules committee.

Dr. George Hester, former professor of government at Southwestern university and member of the legislature from Williamson county, said present legislators a recent visit.

Dr. Hester was an outspoken opponent of a sales tax while he was a member. A number of the members of the present session sought his views, as they see a sales tax controversy impending.

The story of the artist who painted cherries so naturally that a bird pecked at the canvas was duplicated in Austin on St. Valentine's day.

Mrs. Virginia Carrington Leberman of Austin painted a picture of Mrs. Alfred and sent it to the Governor. When it was opened at the mansion, little David toddled up to it, held up his hands and said "Mama."

The wedding of the governor's sister, Miss Hazel Elizabeth Alfred of San Antonio, at the mansion on March 2, will be one of the few marriage services read there. The last was when Governor Ross Sterling's daughter, Norma, was married.

Dalhart Texan Offers Prizes To Texas Poets

Two announcements of unusual interest to Panhandle writers have just been made by The Dalhart Texan.

One is that two poetry contests are now open; acceptance of manuscripts to close May 31, 1935. In No. 1 contest, known as the general contest, the first prize will be $25; second, $10; third, $5. Contest No. 2 offers a $10 prize for the best poetic treatment of a Panhandle historic or scenic subject. Writers in the Panhandle of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado are eligible.

The other announcement is that The Texan again next fall will issue a poetry anthology, as yet untitled. This anthology will feature the prize-winning poems and others the editors think worthy of inclusion. It will be a larger, better book than the 1934 anthology, "Prairie Nights and Yucca," which has now become a collector's item, some volumes having sold as high as $5.00. More than 300 orders for this volume had to be turned down because the books were sold out.

The contests and anthology publication are aimed at discovering and encouraging advancement of poetic talent and ability of writers in the Panhandle, the whole effort being dedicated to the development of Panhandle literature and culture, the editors state.

Manuscripts for the poetry contests should be submitted immediately. Only one poem may be submitted in each contest, though one person may submit a poem in each of the contests. Work must have been done in its final state since June 1, 1934 and must not have been previously published. An internationally known Texas poet will judge both contests, submission of manuscripts implying acceptance of all contest rules. Awards are to be announced as soon after July 1 as possible.

TEXAS TOPICS

By Raymond Brooks

Rep. Butler of Bryan plans to bring public attention in Texas to bear upon the Nebraska plan of a single-chamber legislative body.

He will propose a constitutional amendment for submission of this plan to Texas voters, and in committee hearings and possibly in legislative debate, will let Texas citizens to thinking about this system.

Many strong arguments are advanced for the unicameral system—direct, responsive action to meet public needs, much fewer members of a legislative body, and above all,

Report comes from Jones county that at the training school held for the pantry demonstrators of the county home demonstration club 75 people learned how to make and lay tile for garden subirrigation. These citizens will in turn teach their neighbors in their own communities to make tile so that the non-political method of selecting lawmakers.

Texas legislature has just killed, and will keep defeating, proposals to reduce the membership of the house. Voters probably would approve it.

The retention of the bicameral system, with a membership of about 40 percent the present 181, the members to be paid for full-time service and required to have no outside connections, with long terms and overlapping terms, would probably be ideal. The one-chamber system would be better than the present unwieldy membership and vast number of special sessions.

It is a healthy thing for officials and citizens alike to study and think about the changes that are likely to come in a decade, but not in the next few months.
