* Editorial

With this issue of the paper comes the announcement of Curtis Douglas as candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senator from the 31st. district of Texas. Due to the personal friendahip for Mr. Douglass the writer is for our young Panhandle attoracy, and will use his influence (if any), and take pleasure in doing any and all work possble to forward his candidacy. Aside from the personal feeling in the matter, the writer believes every citizen of the 31st. district can give our young Panhandle friend logical consideration. Without wishing to be blunt, or depreciating the many good things that Senator Small has accomplished for the Panhandle of Texas, the writer would like to present his own logic in the case. For four years the writer has supported Clint Small for Governor Some little effort has been expanded in his behalf, some expense has been had in an effort to boost this Panhandle man to a higher position. For four years we have been hearing of Senator Small resigning his official position and taking up more lucrative work. For four years the writer has found Senator Small's name associated with private law practice extensively. It has been a constant impression with the writer that Senator Small has held on to the post of official duites, only as a necessity to stay in the political foregrounds. As we see the situation, the Senator, and a great many of his friends seem to think that he is too big a man—has much better training and personality than the official position he holds. The writer for one is willing to remove the obsticles from his path of ambition by electing Curtis Douglas to the Senate, and allowing him to travel the path of private practice to wealth, without the handicap of having to serve the 31st. Senatorial district. Further, if the talented Panhandle citizen wants to run for governor, or United States Senator, the writer wants to run for governor, or United States Senator, the writer wants to run for governor, or United States Senator, the writen wants to run for governor, or Un als' d in all seriousness, the writer doubts if the Panhandle Senator has the proper frame of mind to best serve the Panhandle. Let him step aside and allow a young man a chance to make good on the legislation that is needed to bring this Panhandle country out of the slump.

If Panhandle citizens belive like the writer, namely that the waste of natural gas in Texas is not only a steal of natural resources from coming generations, but one of the most emphatic causes of our unprecedented drouth, they will realize why the writer is not well pleased with the official record of Senator Small for the past four years. Perhaps the writer is not well informed, but to his knowledge, Senator Small has not made a conscientious effort to conserve this natural resourse of this section of the state. If he has fought for our protection, he has certainly made miserable job of it, and the Senator does not have the power his enthusiastic supporters would lead one to believe he has.

Summing up our own feeling, we colleve that Sumaror Small has less investion or with a Sist. district. We believe that he has such wide and varied interests, that he cannot make good any longer in his position of public trust. We believe that he should not have placed his constituents in the embarrasing position of telling him with the ballot, that they have had enough of serving as scape goat for his private and political ambitions, and must replace his services with a man that has nothing on his mind except serving the citizens of the 31st, senatorial district.

Senator Small has certainly been ill advised if he feels that he can come back to the voters of this district year after year, and say in substance, put me back in office again so I may keep in the political foreground. It don't look like there was an opening for United States Senator this election year, and I am all washed out as a candidate for governor of the state—but you boys keep me in the limelight—and as my personal fortunes improve, and IF the opening comes up, I will make you a REAL public servant in some big job in the future. The Panhandle voters are the most loyal humans in existence, but there comes a limit to endurance. The Panhandle is aroused over the question of natural gas waste—Senator Small has had 4 years of opportunity to carry out a program that would have placed him ace high in the hearts of his constituents—he has apparently registered a failure—Can we continue this blind loyalty indefinitely?

A NATIONAL CELEBRATION

The national scope of the Texas Centennial celebration was given new emphasis this week with the breaking of ground for the new $3-25,000 Federal Building at the Centennial grounds. The structure is to house nearly one million dollars worth of exhibits. This is an interesting thing to tell your out of state friends what the Texas Centennial will be like.

If this Federal building may be called a straw to show which way the wind is blowing, certainly it is a very important straw. The Texas and that fact deserves the widest possible publicity. If there are still Centennial is going to be a national event in every sense of the word those who think it may only be a bigger than usual state fair, they had better give up that view now. It will truly be "the world fair" of 1936.
