AN OLD TIMER RETURNS TO SPEARMAN

Jess Close, blacksmith, horseshoer and general repair man, who about two years ago got a foolish notion in his head that he could find a better place in which to live than Spearman and started out in quest of such a place, last week returned to this good town and intends to remain here. Jess has purchased the blacksmith business of Bill Mizar and has taken charge of same. While away from Spearman Mr. and Mrs. Close resided most of the time in Woodward.

DR. JONES WILL GO TO STATE CAPITOL

Dr. Joseph C. Jones returned early in the week from Austin, where he spent several days looking after business matters. The Doctor informs the Reporter that he has secured through Governor Neff an appointment in the State Health Department and his new duties will place him at the head of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, which has to do with the registering of infants not later than five days after birth. Dr. and Mrs. Jones will leave early next month for Austin, where they will make their home during the Doctor's tenure of office.

AN INTERESTING SERIAL

A large crowd from Spearman and vicinity enjoyed to the limit on Tuesday night of this week the beginning of the serial story, "White Eagle," in which Ruth Roland is playing the leading role. This is a wonderful story and is being played at all the leading show houses of the country. A large crowd was at the Lyric Theatre Tuesday night to the opening episode and all expressed themselves as being well pleased. Mr. Nickens, manager of the Theatre, is giving Spearman some mighty good shows these days and his theatre deserves a good patronage. At present he is showing on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday nights and is giving the Free Matinee for the country folks every Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Roy Irick, an old friend of C. B. Reeves, was up from Panhandle, Texas to see the City Council concerning the proposed water works system. Mr. Irick is a contractor, with headquarters at Plainview, who is putting in the water mains in the city of Panhandle. Mr. Irick expressed his surprise at seeing a town of this size, with substantial improvements, as he knew the city was only a few years old.

Hix Wilbanks, L. D. Coate, Chas. Endicott, Bill Russell and Lyman J. Hillhouse on Tuesday morning were notified by telephone that two big, fat coyotes could be easily found a short distance out east of town. They went out and gave chase and in a short time returned with both coyotes. A coyote has no chance at all with an experienced jitney driver.

DEMONSTRATION

TRAIN HERE APRIL 3.

Santa Fe Will Run Their Demonstration Train Over Southwest Arriving At Spearman April 3

Farmers and others interested in dairying, hog growing, and poultry raising will be invited to attend demonstrations to be given in the northwest Texas towns by the Texas State Agricultural College in co-operation with the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway at the company's stations in 45 towns from Sweetwater to Shattuck, Oklahoma.

The Cow, Sow and Hen train, as it is known, will be financed by the Santa Fe Railway. The Agricultural College will provide the speakers and the exhibits of livestock necessary to make the demonstration. The Santa Fe is co-operating with the College, because the vitally important message which this great educational institution has for the farmers of the state, can be delivered promptly in no other way.

A survey of the state's industrial conditions shows that during the depression of the last year or two, farmers who kept a few milk cows, some brood sows and a bunch of chickens, did not feel the hard times so keenly as did those who confined their operations mainly to crop growing. Farmers are urged to come to the train prepared to ask questions.

The speakers from the Agricultural College will be leaders in their respective departments: Professor Evans, dairying; Professor Ward, hog raising; Professor Edson, poultry raising.

T. B. Gallaher, general freight and passenger agent, will be in charge of the enterprise, and J. F. Jarell, manager of the company's agricultural development, and A. M. Hove, assistant editor of THE EARTH, the company's agricultural and industrial paper, will accompany the train.

The train will be on time and meetings will start promptly on arrival. In addition to the regular program of lectures on dairying, hog raising and poultry raising, there will be a meeting for boys and girls.

A special invitation is extended to the farm women to attend the demonstrations, as the speakers will have something particularly important to say to them.

Clovis, New Mexico, and Shattuck, Oklahoma, are shown on the schedule. As it is necessary to include these towns in the schedule for operating purposes, and as farmers there requested meetings, the agricultural college authorities kindly consented to give the program. New Mexico conditions near Clovis, and Oklahoma conditions near Shattuck are similar to the conditions in Texas localities to be visited by the train.

This train will be in Spearman on Tuesday April 3, from 8:30 to 12.

POULTRY SHOWER

The Parent-Teachers Association of the Spearman school will hold a poultry shower, beginning on Monday, January 29th, and continuing throughout the week. Every one is asked to donate chickens, eggs, or any kind of country produce. Though it will be known as a chicken shower, the gifts will not be confined to chickens alone. A good fat beef will be accepted as cheerfully as will a pound of butter. The money derived from the accumulated produce will be used in paying for the school piano. Those who have anything to give are requested to leave their offerings at the school building.

NEW SCHOOL HOUSE

Contractor Cal Oldham, assisted by John Longley, Mutt Dacus, and Hugo Reimer completed a new school building down in the Mulock community, near the Newcomb place last week. Miss Ruby Little is the teacher of this school. Hansford county is building new and better school buildings and the country schools are doing better work than ever before.

PRISONER MAKES

QUICK GET-AWAY

Dick Cannedy, Held On Whiskey Charge, Escapes From Local Officers—Is Hotly Pursued

Thursday evening about 8:00 o'clock, Dick Cannedy, who was being held in custody here, while endeavoring to make bond on a whiskey charge, escaped from the authorities and made a get-away. He escaped from the Palo Duro hotel, supposedly in a car driven by a confederate. Henry Dacus was guarding him at the time and immediately notified the Sheriff and his force. Within a few minutes they were organized and taking steps to bring about the fugitive's capture. It is thought that he will be found and taken today Friday, as officers throughout the entire country have been notified to keep on the watch. Cannedy was being held here together with Jim Cannedy, on complaint of the district attorney, on a charge of manufacturing and selling intoxicating liquors. These men and H. H. Bill and Harmon Lowe, were given a hearing in federal court at Amarillo last week, where the boys, Bill and Harmon, were exonerated of the charge, and H. H. Lowe and the Cannedy boys were bound over to await the action of the federal grand jury. They were returned to Spearman on orders of the district attorney for a preliminary hearing on a state charge. This hearing was conducted by Judge Townsend, sitting as magistrate in county court. Lowe had given bond on the whiskey charge but was arrested on a complaint sworn to by Ike Reed, foreman for Lee Bivens, on a cattle stealing charge. We understand he has also given bond on this charge.

The entire community is in sympathy with Sheriff Richardson in this annoying incident, and everyone is growing stronger in the belief that Hansford county needs a jail.

Mrs. Joseph C. Jones spent the week end visiting relatives in Canadian, Texas, returning with Dr. Jones Monday.

Prof. J. A. Stark Sundayed in Guymon, being a guest of his friend Prof. Munsen, Superintendent of the Guymon schools, while there.

Mrs. Oran Kelley and the kiddies, and Miss Ethel Deakin spent Sunday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Deakin, nine miles south of Guymon. It was the children's first visit to Grandpa's house in several months and they enjoyed the outing immensely.

Hugh Coate was here from Texhoma several days the first of the week. Mr. Coate was a partner in the Spearman Lumber Company, and was assisting in making the deal with the Panhandle Lumber Company, whereby the latter takes over the former's stock of building material here.

Ira Bacon, of the Mergenthaler Linotype Company, was here from Friday to Monday last, assisting with the work of installing the new model 8 linotype at the Reporter office. Mr. Bacon, besides being a prince of good fellows, is a wizard with a linotype. He makes them run whether or no, and is very popular among the newspaper folks of the panhandle country. While here Mr. Bacon was a guest at the editor's home, and though we had to work like 60 most all the time, including Sunday, we enjoyed his visit very much.

PERMANENT SCHOOL BUILDINGS NEEDED

This is an extract from the official report of one of the State School Supervisors who visited Spearman schools this year. It is recommended: "That the people of Spearman be urged to furnish a school plant for their children which will be comfortable, attractive, and in keeping with the buildings furnished by other neighborhood towns. The plant here consists of four or five temporary wooden buildings which are not only uncomfortable and unattractive but advertise the town to strangers in a most uncomplimentary way.

The stranger who has seen the Follette, the Perryton, the Farnsworth, and the Booker school buildings can hardly reconcile himself to the nondescript collection of shacks at Spearman.

PANHANDLE LUMBER CO. BUYS SPEARMAN LUMBER CO.

J. E. Hill, general manager of the Panhandle Lumber Co., spent the fore part of the week in Spearman, and while here closed a deal whereby his company takes over the stock of the Spearman Lumber Co. The latter business has been under the management of L. D. Coate since it was established here with the opening of the town and has always enjoyed a good patronage. Mr. Coate informs the Reporter that he is undecided at present just what he will do but will likely enter the lumber business in another town. The stock of the Spearman Lumber Co., has been invoiced and turned over to the new owners. Spearman now has only two lumber yards, but as they are among the largest companies in the southwest, we predict that there will be no shortage of building material in these parts. This is the second competitor that the Panhandle Lumber Co., has bought out since they opened their yard here when Spearman was only the end of the railroad.

Spec Rainey of Guymon was here Saturday, taking in the basket ball game and visiting with friends.

B. F. Tepe, general manager of the White House Lumber Company, spent the fore part of the week in Spearman, looking after company business.

SPEARMAN MOTOR CO. BUYS MALLET GARAGE

A deal was consummated the first of this week whereby the Spearman Motor Company takes over the garage business of Gus Mallett. The new owners will move the tools and fixtures to their place of business, and the Mallett Garage will be closed for the present. Mr. Mallett informs us that he will take a little rest and recreation before again entering business or accepting employment. James R. Taylor, who has been associated with Mr. Mallett in the garage business, will look around a bit before again going to work. These two young men are among the very best mechanics in the country and the Reporter would regret very much to see them leave Spearman permanently.

A. S. Burran and family were here from Follett Sunday, visiting at the home of his brother, R. E. Burran.

IF MEN DID THE HOUSEWORK (by Eugene Richardson.)

If men had the housework to do, I am afraid it would not be done very well. For you see a man could not take half-a-day off and do house work. He would think he was going crazy and find that a woman does not have as good and easy a time as he thought.

A great many men say, "If I had as easy a time as my wife, I would think I was flying. All she has to do is to get a broom and brush up a little, then lie down and rest; cook a little dinner, wash the dishes if she feels like it, then her work is over."

But when the man tries it, he thinks differently. A married man may say, "Wife, you go and rest, I will do up the housework." He cooks breakfast, which is not so bad washes the dishes—that wasn't bad at all. Then he strains the milk, skims it, gets the cream and churns it, that wasn't so easy. Next comes the cooking dinner, washing the dishes again, (my! how did so many dishes get dirty?) cleaning up the house, mending the socks, doing a little necessary patching, etc., interspersed every few minutes with stopping to dry Johnnie's tears, tie up endless foolish questions from Bill and Kate. Then there's the family washing to be done. The pile doesn't look large but when he tries it, he wishes he had not soiled so many shirts, and when he finishes he is "all in", and feels as if he had been working a month, and is ready to call it a day.

So you see, men, women do not have such an easy time after all.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES

The Grammar school feels that it should have the notice due it and is going to make itself recognized as one of the leading departments of the Spearman schools.

Teachers and pupils are just getting over "mid terms" now and are expecting to do some good work from now on until the end of school.

The seventh grade went into an organization of their class the other day and elected a capable corps of officers as follows: President, Blanche Archer; Vice President, Vera Tulbright; Sec-Treas, Merle Davis.

The entire Grammar school feels that it should have an organization of its own, and with the co-operation of all the grades and teachers we expect to effect such an organization in the near future.

Bernyce: "Myrtle, why did you flunk out in Geometry?"

Myrtle: "To keep from graduating until 1925; Howard doesn't graduate till then and I want to finish with him."

QUITS SICK BED AFTER TWO YEARS

Mrs. E. F. Williman Unstinted In Praise of Tanlac Following Remarkable Recovery.

The results of Tanlac in the case of Mrs. Ella F. Williman, of O'Neal, S. C., have been truly remarkable. According to her statement she has "recovered her health and strength" after being confined to her bed for two years and losing nearly all hope of getting well.

"Honestly I don't believe I would be alive today if it had not been for Tanlac," says her statement. "I had been confined to my bed for two years, suffering from a nervous breakdown and stomach trouble, and don't see how I could have stood it much longer. My nerves made me almost frantic at times and I never knew what a good night's rest was, and my stomach was in such a bad condition that I scarcely ate enough to sustain life."

"By the time I finished my second bottle of Tanlac I began to feel better. I have taken ten bottles of Tanlac now and it has built me up until I feel strong and well. My stomach has stopped troubling me and I rarely ever feel a bit nervous. I sleep well and feel like a new person. All praise to Tanlac." Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over thirty five million bottles sold.

BASKET BALL

We have been having some good Basket Ball games lately. We played Farnworth's first and second teams on January 12th, coming out victor in both games, and on Saturday January 13th, we played Perryton's boys and girls teams. The Spearman girls easily won from the Perryton girls but the boys game was a different proposition. We tried the Perryton quintett and in the regular time of playing we played them a tie causing the game to go to two extra five minute periods, finally losing to them by a score of 28 to 32.

Our boys are doing good work now and if the Basket Ball meet for the Inter-scholastic District Championship was not held so soon, Feb. 9th, and 10th, we feel we should have a fighting team in the field, with a fighting chance to win.

DOMESTIC ART NOTES

The domestic art department is a new department in Spearman high school this year. The department is very much in need of some more equipment but is making the best of what they have. In some ways this is very good training for the girls, for one of the chief objections offered against this course is that it is not practical. We do not have any equipment that any girl does not have at home. The work done here could be done as well in any home.

There are eight girls taking this course: Bernice Burron, Myrtle Valentine, Opal and Zela Cross, Ruth Pratsman, Gayle Little, Fluke Wilbanks and Viola Hill. Several of these girls could not even use a thimble last September, now they are able to cut out, fit and make a plain dress. The girls have made three articles and are now working on the fourth. The articles made have been a slip, a pair of bloomers, a plain one-piece dress. As practice work the girls have darned stockings, made all kinds of patches and worked button holes. Several girls have learned to make very good button holes.

The girls have given two candy sales to raise money for more equipment. They are working very hard to secure enough money to buy a long mirror for the room. They are planning, with the help of the Vocational Agriculture students, to give a play, the proceeds to go toward the mirror.

The girls and teachers are glad to have visitors examine our work at any time. We work from one until two thirty every day.

Exol Taylor, Teacher.

The Public High School is the poor man's College.

"Make Texas Schools the best in the world", is the slogan of the Texas State Teacher's Association.

FOURTH GRADE NOTES

The fourth grade has the honor of having the only "A" student in Grammar school. Matilda Reimer has made a straight A report for the four months school has been in session. There have been a few B plus cards in Grammar grades. Mary McMurry of the 4th grade has not made lower than B plus on any subject this term.

The 4th grade kept the pennant given by the P. T. A. for the first two months after it was offered. We were very sorry to lose it to the 5th grade but expect to soon have it back in our room. The 4th grade is working for a 100 per cent record of Mother's belonging to P. T. A. Other places have done this, why not us?

Miss Yeager gave us a set of health rules before she left. We have put on a health contest. The room was divided into red's and white's. A prize was given to the side having the most points by the first of December. The red's won. A flower was given as the prize. We have all enjoyed the flower very much.

Fire prevention is taught in the 4th grade on Tuesday morning. All kinds of matches have been tested and experimented with. Anyone wishing to learn how to find a good match might inquire of some 4th grade pupils. You will be surprised to find how much there is to learn of one small match.

HISTORY NOTES

The seventh grade have been very much interested in learning the how and when and why of our United States Constitution. United States history is one of the best possible trainings for "Good Citizens" of the future. If we don't know and are not interested in our own country we cannot expect other people to be.

The sixth grade held an election on Election Day, Nov. 7th, and elected the following officers: Leonard Jordan, President; Carl Tackitt, Vice President; Gerald Endicott, Treasurer, and Gladys Mathis, Judge. The room divided into two political parties and gave speeches for the different candidates. Prospects are very good for several good politicians in years to come. We will know what a ballot is, how it is used, and hope to know when it is best to use it.

The following conversation took place in the study hall Friday morning before the names of those who had made passing grades were announced.

Mr. Clark, "The Chemistry class will recite at the usual period this morning."

Lucille, "When do we take the examination over?"

SENIOR CLASS NOTES

Some time ago at an entertainment given by Miss Holland, a game was being played that required a little brain work. When Mr. Keith was called upon a blank expression crossed his face. One of his chemistry students, who was sitting opposite him, called out, "think, think, think. Why man can't you think?" Useless to say he had become rusty along that line since he depended on the chemistry class which he met once a day.

The Public High School is the poor man's College.

The mid-term examinations were held in the High School department last week and the following students passed by making satisfactory grades: Autra Ward, Clyde Hazelwood, Della Dacus, Winnie Dacus, Lucille Maize, and Zela Cross.

The senior class motto is BE SQUARE and we sincerely request our under class mates to refrain from asking us to break it at future examinations.

Arnold: "Don't you think my new suit is a perfit fit."
Dowling: "Fit! Why it's a perfect convulsion."

Boy Scouts do a good turn daily. Scout Arnold Wilbanks turned and walked out of study hall to one of his classes just in time to keep Miss Denkin from administering a "stimulant." He was standing in the door making excuses for having forgotten to report to a class during examination week when he suddenly remembered to do himself a "good turn."

Od Lady: "Certainly you may my lad. How long have you been waiting here for some one to take you across."

The Camp Fire Girls is an organization for girls, intended to take the place among them that the Boy Scouts take among boys. It lays emphasis upon out-door life, but as its central purpose, the awakening of a realization of the beauty and dignity of home building and home keeping. To become a wood gatherer, any girl between the ages of ten and twenty has but to learn and repeat the prime law of the organization. She must also prepare herself for certain things.

The Camp Fire Circle was organized in 1911 by Luther H. Gulick and his wife, and has spread rapidly.

A local camp fire may be formed at any time by a group of girls, who have agreed to comply with the rules of the organization and have sent in their names and that of the older women, whom they wish as guardians to the national headquarters. The local Camp Fire chooses for itself a special name, and hold weekly meetings at which the guardian must be present. The national organization requires no fee, but a local camp fire may decide to pay regular dues, which are then expended as the chapter desires.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Vera Fulbright—Seventh grade.

The camp fire girls have to learn many things before they can become a good member of their society. The girls have to help prepare at least two meals for their companions. They must mend a pair of stockings, and hem a hem at least one yard long. It is necessary for the girls to keep the amount of money they spend in one month, and also keep account of how much they are allowed to have in one month. All the members of the Camp Fire Girls must know how to tie a square knot five times in succession without hesitation. These girls must take at least one-half hour of exercise out doors every day for one month. It is compulsory that all of the members refrain from the use of soda water, chewing gum, and candy for one month. These girls must know how to dress a fresh cut, how to get anyone out of deep water when they can't swim and how to extinguish fire. When anyone faints these girls know how to help them. It is necessary for the girls to memorize a good poem or song over twenty five lines, and to know the career of some woman, who has done much for her country or state. To become a good member she must learn to repeat seven laws as follows:

- Seek beauty.
- Give service.
- Pursue knowledge.
- Be trustworthy.
- Hold on to health.
- Be happy.
- Glorify work.

THE ASSIGNMENT

It was hot—just the time of the year when one feels more like being outside with nature rather than inside with the continual peck, peck, peck of the typewriters. Everyone was quite busy but there was an all too evident expression on the faces of the students—an expression of weariness and lack of enthusiasm in their work.

"You may do exercise three at least fifteen times," said the teacher as she read out the instructions for the lesson.

"Now is the time" said exercise three, and as Ruth read that, many thoughts came crowding through her mind. "Time for what, I wonder," and her unconscious fingers began to work in accordance with her unconscious mind. "Now is the time for all old maid school teachers to get married", her fingers wrote over and over. Ruth handed in her copy, and she noticed a stern look come into the teachers face as those steel gray eyes glanced down the page.

"Ruth, you may stay in after school and do your copy over" said Miss Hinyard as Ruth marched out of the room.

When Ruth went in after school to do her copy over and read what she had handed in earlier in the morning, her eyes opened wide: "Well, nevertheless, it's so," she thought as her fingers pounded out, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country."

CORRECT ENGLISH

(by Elmo Maize)

In the home correct english is important for two reasons. First it wins for us our friends and permits us to be in social affairs. Second, it wins for our children the same things which we may enjoy from it.

Correct english in business life is a most important essential. Customers will look to the most well-spoken man. Therefore it is valuable in the money sense.

When children are young they often repeat what they hear. If they are among children or men who use profane or incorrect English they do also.

There are several ways we may improve our English. We can have critic boxes at home and school. We can take reliable English papers. One can correspond through these and have any vexing questions pertaining to English answered.

Always think before you speak. Never let anything slip. Always try to use your best English and you will form the habit.

If we use incorrect English at home we are most apt to use it in public or company. If we use correct English at home we can use no other in company.

The way a child learns to talk is saying what he hears. Therefore he learns to use bad English by learning it and speaking what he hears.

Then it is a parent's duty to speak the best of English in a child's presence.

DRAWING IN THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

(by Riette G. Jones.)

The study of art is a broad subject, and the elementary school drawing has a great influence on its future. For in this study the child begins to form an esthetic appreciation and enjoyment of art, also he uses his practical knowledge as a vehicle of expression. He is trained in observation and application, and has gained some skill. Drawing is of great value, one can learn through a glance at a wonderful painting or cartoon, what would take a book to express. Art is really a better vehicle of expression than literature. It shows the meaning more quickly and clearly—as Stanley Hall said: "One hundred people see pictures for every one who reads a book."

Through this subject the child learns to a small extent the relative value of tone, color and form, also the arrangement of line in making pleasing designs. These seven years of study should include constructive work, paper cutting, lettering, making small portfolios for pictures, designing picture compositions as in landscapes, maps, objects of perspective and curvilinear nature; tools, trees, birds, animals and many other things. In other words objects should have a wide range of various forms without sacrificing the progress of drawing. It should help them in esthetic growth and technical knowledge. At first the problem should be of a definite form so the child could express it easily.

The program of study should be arranged with respect to the interest, mental development, and ability of the children according to the grade, also the amount and nature of the work to be achieved. Each lesson should be previously arranged by the teacher. As to the materials the primary grades use the black-boards, pencil, and paper, crayons scissors and drawing books which are arranged according to the grades. The higher grades also use ink, water colors and some charcoal. High standards are obtained through photographs, illustrations, and the best or modern color prints. These include the esthetic and intellectual types.

There are many systems in teaching drawing. The fundamental theory for all of them is that all good drawing comes from the motive of telling something, the wrapped up interest in portraying certain facts. In the primary grades the children draw with a great deal of enthusiasm and expressiveness. They are more interested in portraying things connected with primitive civilization, as these people are approximately at the child stage of mental development. It is good to tell stories for them to illustrate as, "Little Red Riding Hood," "The Three Bears," "Chicken Licken," "Easter Rabbits," "Valentines," "Santa Claus," and many other things. They enjoy drawing Indians, pictures of foreign lands, as illustrating the people, surroundings, and homes. In order to keep these different nationalities separate they should make little books of each. The study consists mostly of constructive work, tracing, imaginative drawings, copying, and paper cutting. During this period the work is very crude and lacks proportions and perspective. The best drawings should be put on the bulletin boards as an incentive, especially to the less skill pupils. It is good for the child to learn three or four units, then combine these units into a simple picture composition. A systematic practice will give the child skill in drawing and reduce technical difficulties. As for the periods they differ greatly according to the schools. In some schools in Dallas drawing is given every school day in the week.

In about fourth or fifth grades the child discovers how unlike his drawings are to the real thing. He is apt to grow discouraged and impatient with his progress. Through this change of perception higher standards should be given him, as water colors, object studies, birds, and things as doors, chairs and boxes. Greek and Roman life are good for design and picture composition. Geographical drawings of cliffs, mountains, and lakes are also good for picture composition.

In the sixth grade correlation with other subjects is very helpful to the child. Through the illustrations of pioneer life he learns something of history and geography. In studying Mexico and Japan he learns to draw maps, also the difference between the people and environments.

The seventh grade work includes a rapid review, maps, illustrating differences of South America, Africa and Asia. In the intermediate grades an hour is generally given to drawing, four days a week. The period generally is in the afternoon as they are inclined to mental fatigue. Drawing rests them and guides their interest in a most useful means of expression. We find this study of Elementary School Drawing the children have developed perception, skill, and esthetic appreciation that leads on to better things.

A HUNTING TRIP

(Wright Hale seventh grade.)

Once upon a time my dad and several other men went hunting. They took their children along to act as bird dogs to pick up what ever they shot.

It was in the winter time and snow was on the ground so we took a sled.

They killed several rabbits and lots of time looking for them.

We went so far that the horses got tired and our feet got cold so we had to go home.

By the time we reached home the men were so tired and cold that they declared they would never go hunting again.

Most everyone received a frosted toe but after every one's toes got well and they got rested they never thought about their troubles, and were ready to go again some time if they thought it wouldn't be cold and there would be lots of game.

EXAM EVE

All day heavy clouds had hung in the sky; snow had fallen at intervals, and the cold north wind had howled dismally round the corners. Just the day with no other worries would have given one the blues; but I had other troubles. This was the day before mid-terms. First thing in the morning we were to have exam in shorthand. Oh! how I dreaded it!

I had hoped that at least the day would be a little cheerful, for I felt sure the shorthand students "couldn't" be. But as the evening passed and the night shadows gathered, the clouds seemed to get heavier, the snow fell steadily, the north wind howled louder and my dread of the short-hand exam increased.

When supper was over I set myself to the task of learning that short-hand from beginning to end, if it required the whole night. First there was the word signs to go over then the rules about circles and curves and angles and all that. I grew so interested I didn't notice how quickly the time had passed until the clock in the hall chimed twelve. My! how cold the room was, how quiet everything was; everyone must be in bed but me. I started to add fuel to the flames, but 'twas too late, for even the stove had grown cold. Well, I decided there was nothing left for me to do but go to bed and study.

This conclusion being reached, I was soon resting very comfortably, in bed propped up with pillows. As I began to feel warmer, short-hand seemed to get more difficult; the letters seemed to dance all over the pages. How funny those short hand letters looked dancing on my book. They were dreadfully crowded but they didn't seem to mind. Then as the crowd grew larger the poor little R's and the smallest of the word signs were trampled under foot. Poor little things how they were suffering. I felt so sorry for them. Then quite suddenly a terribly big L stepped on my finger. I screamed and dropped the book, letting the dancers all to the floor. There they lay unconscious or several minutes but one by one they crawled to the center of the floor, began to dance again. Some one mentioned music; away they scampered to the kitchen. What were they going to do now? But I had not long to wonder for there they came dragging the dish-pan and a large spoon. With great difficulty they hoisted the pan and spoon upon the bed and sternly commanded me to furnish the music felt sorry for them. Then quite when that terribly big L advanced and threatened to step on my finger again. Without more ado, I began pounding the pan, whereupon they jumped to the floor and began to dance. Hour after hour I pounded the pan and hour after hour they (letters and word-signs) danced. Oh how my arms ached. So did my head for that matter, but I dare not stop. Finally I began to feel very drowsy and accidentally dropped the spoon. This made the dancers very angry; they flew at me in a rage. Never before did I experience such pain. They pulled my hair, pinched me, bit me, shook me, and a great big voice said: "What cha goin', can't cha be still." And I awoke to find my midnight frolic only a dream.

SCHOOL WORK LOWERS FIRE INSURANCE RATE

Below is a letter which is self explanatory.

Austin, Texas, November, 20th, 1922.
Mr. W. A. Clark, Jr.,
Supt. of Schools,
Spearman, Texas.
Dear Sir:

I am in receipt of certificates executed by yourself and the Mayor of your city, showing that Fire Prevention is being taught in your schools, and I am today asking our Key Rating Department to give your city the three per cent key rate credit which is now in order.

Yours very truly,
G. W. Filley,
State Fire Marshall.

This means that the key rate all over the town will be lowered three per cent as a result of a fire prevention course that has been inaugurated. One period each week is given over to the teaching of this work. A regular text-book is used.

FIFTH GRADE AGAIN WINNER OF THE PENNANT

The fifth grade are again winners of the pennant awarded at each meeting of the Parent Teachers Association to the room which has the greatest number of parents present at that meeting of the Association. The fifth grade won the pennant from the fourth grade, who had previously held it since it was given to the school by Mr. Hillhouse several weeks ago, on January 5th, and won it the second time at the last meeting on January 19th. The fifth grade is very proud of this pennant and have decided it looks better decorating the wall of the fifth grade room than any other room in grammar school, so are in the race to stay. Come out to each P. T. A. meeting, mothers, fathers, and guardians of the fifth grade and help us keep the pennant. Don't forget the next meeting February 2nd, at the high school study hall.

SOPHOMORE CLASS NOTES

The most important thing in the Sophomore class is that they received their banner and it may now be seen at the front of the study hall.

Most of the Sophomores passed in their recent exams, but our motto is, "On top of the hill lies success." A hint to some might be, "keep climbing and you may teach it after a while."

We came out of our English exams with the highest average of any of the English classes.

Our class has several of the schools basketball players, both first and second teams girls and boys.

Pauline Lowe is a member of the Sophomore class and is the star forward of the girls first team.

The girls second team, with the exception of Merle Davis is composed of students of our class. They are as follows: Merle Davis and Alta Hayes, forwards; Ruth Prutzman and Carlyne Laney, Centers; and Opal Cline and Myrtle Womble, guards.

The boys second team have several Sophomore buys on it, Pope Gibner and J. B. Cooke are guards, Spence Nix, Jumping Center and Joe Raney is forward. Spence Nix is also a substitute for the first team.

AGGIES ORGANIZE

The high school boys in the Vocational Agriculture classes met recently and organized a club which has been named the "Spearman Aggies". For officers the following boys were elected: President, Chas rutzman; Vice President, Johnnie Archer; Secretary Paul Thompson; Treasurer, J. B. Cooke, Sergeant of Arms, Willie Maupin.

In deciding upon a name, the fact that all agriculture students in the United States are generally called "Aggies" was considered and all members decided they were as good "Aggies" as could be found, hence the name, "Spearman Aggie Club," was organized and so named.

A great deal of pleasure as well as profit is expected by the club. It has already been planned that the club and domestic art students will put on a play in Spearman, in the near future.

AGRICULTURE STUDENTS BUSY

In keeping with the intention of the Smith-Hughes Act, which provided for Vocational Education, the high school boys in the vocational agriculture classes have been learning to do useful, practical, things, and are doing them.

During the school term thus far quite a number of practical things have been done. A large concrete base for a gasoline engine was constructed in the agriculture building of the school. A very substantial work bench and table was also built on one side, running the length of the building. Some plumbing and electrical wiring on the school grounds has fallen to the lot of the vocational boys. At present they are working on a weather instrument shelter, an oat sprouter, a magazine rack, and a fitting platform for the Domestic Art class. A large work table for the Reporter office has just been completed. During the past month the boys have assisted in erecting a henhouse, enlarging a garage, and building a fence. The printing or painting of signs has also been attempted. "Drive Slow" signboards were painted by the students, and placed on the streets leading past the school grounds.

From the foregoing, one might assume that the vocational students are attempting to become carpenters and plumbers. What they really are trying to do is to become acquainted with some of the many tasks and problems which confront the modern farmer. The ability to handle square, saw, hammer and pipe wrench may save him a large part of the yearly farm profits.

Fourth grade pupil in answer to the question: "When do you use can, and when do you use may?" "You use may when you ask your mother and can when you ask your father."

GIRLS SECOND TEAM BASKET BALL GAMES

On Friday afternoon January 19th at three o'clock the second team played Black. This was the first game that the team had played on its court. At the beginning of the game the line up was as follows: Forwards, Merle Davis, Nannie Williams; Centers, Carolyn Laney, Ruth Prutzman, R; Guards, Opal Cline, Myrtle Womble. At the beginning of the second quarter Lorene Morton took Myrtle Womble's place. During the first part of the game the girls did not seem to get into the game very much but they soon came to themselves. Each one of the team did good work. One of the forwards, Nannie Williams, who had never played forward, deserves special mention, her quick work rendered valuable service. The score was 16 to 13 in Spearman's favor.

Saturday afternoon the second team had a game with McBride. The game Friday seemed to put the girls in shape for this game. All during the game some real team work was shown. The line up was the same as that Friday with the exceptions of Mae Raney as forward and Lucille Maize substituted for Lorene Morton in the second half. Mae took the forwards place, who was called out of town. McBride played one of the teachers on their team. The score was 14 to 8.

McBride was heard saying: "My I wish we could play like those Spearman girls." Just wait until the second team has more practice and you will hear from it. The four games that they have played have all been in its favor. Do not miss a game just because it is the second team, it will always show you a good game. Come and give them a boost.

New Primary Class

Monday was the beginning of the second term and as a result a new class was started in the primary room with John Laney, Hugh James, James Thomas, Arleta Carroll, Chas. Endicott and Ila Garner. If there are other beginners to start they must do so within this week as they will not be admitted later.

This practical subject has been introduced into many of the larger high schools in the past few years and as rapidly gaining for itself a permanent place in the high school curriculum. The senior class is taking Trigonometry in the place of solid Geometry which they have just completed.

Principles and Objectives of the Interscholastic Citizenship League of America.

The Interscholastic Citizenship League of America is the outgrowth of an experience of twelve years with the University Interscholastic League, of Texas. The educational process involved is described in the following statement by Dr. Sidney E. Mezes, President of the College of the City of New York and formerly President of the University of Texas:

"The University Interscholastic League as developed in Texas under the direction of Professor E. D. Shurter is a powerful new agency in education. Its effectiveness is based on the keen interest of all communities in fairly conducted tests in which the school children they know take part. Before the establishment of the League, physical tests, baseball, football, track meets, etc., stood alone in nourishing this interest. But the League has demonstrated the existence of an equally keen and widespread interest in public reading, speaking and debate, and has used these agencies to educate whole communities on vital issues. School children study and train themselves with sustained interest and concentration in preparation for public meetings and contests, dealing with topics touching on our national leaders and history, prohibition, suffrage, the League of Nations, and the like, and at the same time their elders, friends, neighbors, parents and other relatives study and discuss the same questions with equal zeal.

"The enlightenment the Interscholastic League has brought to communities throughout Texas is remarkable and gratifying. A similar organization for the nation would render incomparable service in educating the electorate."

We are aiming to develop, as rapidly as resources will permit, "a similar organization for the nation." Among the principles and objectives of the Interscholastic Citizenship League of America are the following:

1. We shall not disseminate propaganda for any party or class or interest, but only for a keener sense of the responsibilities and obligations of American citizenship. So far as the announcement of any platform is concerned, we stand for the Government established by our fathers, for liberty under the law and the Constitution, and for the preservation in their integrity of those long-established American institutions which are now threatened as never before in our history.

2. In co-operation with other organizations we shall aim to assist schools in giving more universal attention than heretofore to training their students for citizenship, to the formulation of courses of study on the nature and obligations of good citizenship, and the essentials and spirit of our American constitutional form of government; and to assist in securing for such instruction teachers who are in sympathy with the general principles and purposes above mentioned.

3. By means of interscholastic and intercollegiate contests having citizenship training for their objectives, we shall aim to supplement and vitalize instruction given in the schools.

4. To co-ordinate intercollegiate and interscholastic state organizations for the purpose of holding national contests among high schools and colleges, wherein subjects in the general field of good citizenship will be studied and discussed.

5. To function as an exchange bureau for state organizations, and to furnish material for school instruction and contests.

6. To work through existing state organizations so far as practicable, and to be instrumental in forming interscholastic organizations in states where they do not now exist.

7. In co-operation with superintendents and principals to organize in due course in every school and college a Citizenship League as a center for civic study and discussion.

8. To furnish clubs and civic organizations material for patriotic exercises and citizenship programs.

Finally, we shall not attempt the impossible; and we realize that some of the objectives above mentioned cannot be developed in a single year. Nor are we assuming to be the only organization that is working for a better citizenship. We simply desire to co-operate with all such organizations and to lend our quota of support, our main point of contact being in and through the schools. The co-operation of and suggestions by all educators and public-spirited citizens are earnestly solicited.

THE BUSINESS MAN AND EDUCATION

"The business man begins to see that education is a thing of infinite usury; that money devoted to education will yield a singular increase to which there is no calculable end, a nincrease in perpetuity—increased knowledge, and therefore of intelligence and efficiency, touching generation after generation with new impulses, adding to the sum total of the world's fitness or affairs an invisible but intensely real spiritual usury beyond reckoning, because compounded in an unknown ratio from age to age. Henceforward beneficence is as interesting to the business man as business is, indeed a sort of sublimated business in which money moves new forces in a commerce which no man can bind or limit."—Woodrow Wilson.

Teachers in Cologne, Duisburg, and Essen, Germany, are reported to receive only 23 marks an hour for work in continuation schools. At the prevailing rate of exchange a wage of 23 marks an hour means about 5 cents for an eight-hour day.

THE TWO TEMPLES

A builder builded a temple,
He wrought with care and skill;
Pillars and groins and arches
Were fashioned to meet his will.
And men said, when they saw its beauty,
"It shall never know decay;
Great is thy will, O builder,
Thy name shall endure for aye."

A teacher builded a temple,
She wrought with skill and care,
Forming each pillar with patience,
Laying each stone with care.
None saw the unceasing effort,
None knew of the marvelous plan
For the temple the teacher builded
Was unseen by the eyes of man.

Gone is the builder's temple,
Crumbled into the dust;
Pillars and groins and arches
Food for consuming rust.
But the temple the teacher builded
Shall endure while the ages roll;
For that beautiful unseen temple
Was a child's immortal soul.
—Detroit Educational Bulletin.

SIX SAFETY LESSONS FOR ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

To encourage further intelligent study in schools of the subject of safety, the Highway Education Board has published a bulletin containing six safety lessons by elementary-school teachers. These lessons were selected from about 50,000 submitted in a national safety lesson contest conducted by the Board in 1921. The prize lesson, by Mrs. Anne Rogers, of Sterling, Colorado, is included. Each one of the lessons printed has been used in the classroom with good results, and they are offered with expectation that they will be adapted for use according to the individual requirements of schools. The office of the board is in the Willard Building, Washington, D. C.

Knox, Young, and Williamson counties are publishing live, progressive school papers. It is suggested that all the schools in Hansford County contribute articles to the Spearman Reporter and thereby give their pupils and patrons the benefit of a school newspaper.

RADIO HUMOR

Mr. Endicott: Say, Mr. Clark, what is this part of the machine?
Mr. Clark: That! Why that's a tuning coil.
Mr. Endicott: Oh! So that is where the tunes come from. I thought you said they came from Los Angeles.

The Public High School is the poor man's College.

"Make Texas Schools the best in the world", is the slogan of the Texas State Teacher's Association.

Teaching today is our foremost profession, and schools are at the center of public interest.—Albert Shaw in Review of Reviews.

Cultivated mind is the guardian genius of democracy. It is the only distator that freemen acknowledge and the only security that freemen desire.—Mirabeau B. Lamar.

Every follower of God and human kind will find the only sure means of carrying forward the particular reform to which he is devoted in universal education.—Horace Mann.

Education is the leading human souls to what is best, and making what is best of them. The training which makes men happiest in themselves also makes them most serviceable to others.—John Ruskin.

Heard at a recent Board meeting held in the superintendent's office: Prof. Clark: "The clock in the corner rings the program bells in all class-rooms and departments within 30 seconds of the correct time for the classes to change, rings a large gong on the playground as a signal for the students to return to work after intermissions, and it is equipped with an attachment which automatically cuts out the ringing of all bells at night and on Saturdays and Sundays." Hicks Wilbanks: "I suppose that it runs down when school is dismissed for the term."

It is gratifying to know that in a time when public burdens have lain very heavy upon the people there has been everywhere a determined purpose to maintain education unimpaired, in order that the coming generation may be equipped, regardless of sacrifices in the present for the increasing responsibilities which it must bear.

The strength and security of the Nation will always rest in the intelligent body of its people. Our education should implant conceptions of public duty and private obligation broad enough to envisage the problems of a greatly distraught world. More than anything else, men and women need the capacity to see with clear eye and to contemplate with open, unprejudiced mind, the issues of these times. Only through a properly motivated and generously inspired process of education can this be accomplished.

—President Harding.

The benefits of education and of useful knowledge, generally diffused through a community, are essential to the preservation of a free government.—Sam Houston.

The local hog market seems to be as good as most places around us and better than some. Hogs have been bringing good prices since the first of the year, and farmers are bringing them to the Spearman market from the surrounding country, some as far as thirty-five miles. We need more hogs, and better hogs. This country can raise as good hogs as any place and raise them cheaply. Let every farmer resolve to get a start and make this one of his money crops for this year.

Everything Points to the Greatest Spring Demand for Ford Products in Company's History

1,202,517 Ford Cars and Trucks were delivered to retail purchasers in the United States alone during 1922—

Actual deliveries for last month greatly exceeded any previous December in the history of the Ford Motor Company—

It was the ninth consecutive month in which more than 100,000 Ford Cars and Trucks were retailed—keeping the Ford Plants working at capacity to meet dealer's requirements—

In many parts of the country dealers are already finding it necessary to specify later delivery date on certain types because of no reserve stocks to draw from—

Commercial users, business houses and farmers, anticipating their future requirements, are placing orders and taking delivery of Ford Cars, Trucks and Fordson Tractors to insure against delay—

Everything points to the biggest shortage of Ford Products this Spring that has ever existed—

The only way you can be sure of obtaining delivery of a Ford Car, Truck or Fordson Tractor is to list your order immediately—

We have given you these facts as they actually exist so that if you are planning to purchase a Ford Car, Truck or Tractor for use this spring or summer, you can list your order now and take advantage of our dealer's first opportunity to make delivery.

LIEB ITEMS

Lillie Riley visited in the Womble home Sunday.

H. B. Parks and family attended preaching services Sunday. Mr. Parks lives near Dumas.

C. J. Tyler has been helping Will Waters build an addition to his house.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hitt and son J. T. visited in the Waters home Sunday.

Singing was enjoyed by the young people at Walter Forester's Sunday evening.

Mr. Leib, A. E. Henderson and M. W. McCloy were Plemons visitors last week.

Prof. and Mrs. Blan, Mrs. Walter Forester and Carl Tompkins were Spearman visitors Monday.

Mrs. Cotter of Spearman, visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McNutt Saturday and Sunday.

A Box supper and Literary program will be given at the Center-ville School House Saturday night, February 3rd.

Preaching services at Lieb school house were well attended Sunday and enjoyed the sermon by Presiding Elder Shearer.

Miss Curfu Clifton had the misfortune of getting her face slightly burned last week when a box of matches which she had in her hand exploded.

Kenneth McNutt one of our hustling farmers tells us he has about 100 acres of sod plowed on his land in Sherman county. Kenneth has been keeping his Fordson busy this dry weather.

Mrs. Knudson who has been in ill health for two months and seriously ill for the past few days, left Saturday for her son's home in Pampa. Her many friends will be glad to learn that the change will be beneficial to her.

Carl Tompkins and Ralph Forester have just returned from Knox county, where Mr. Tompkins has been selling out and arranging his business to be in Hutchinson county, this year. Very few leave who are not glad to get back to our climate.

Quite a number of the Lieb people attended the Literary program given by the school at the Center-ville School house Saturday night, January 20th. Miss Faye Kirk is teacher of this school and is proving a very successful teacher. Miss Kirk is a Hutchinson county girl and we are proud of her.

We want everyone near Lieb to know of our Sunday school which is held Sunday at 10 a. m. except each third Sunday, when it is held at 2 p. m. since our Methodist pastor preaches at 3 p. m. on the third Sunday. O. W. Jarvis is our Superintendent and the community owes much to his untiring efforts to make the Sunday School a success.

HOLT HAPPENINGS

Several families attended quarterly conference last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Nielson and family of Spearman, visited relatives Sunday.

Mr. Dewey Balthrope returned to Pampa, Texas, Monday morning after a short visit with his parents here.

If ye editor can spare the room, we shall be glad to give mention to some of the doings of this wide-awake Hutchinson county community.

Rev Hunt, a Baptist minister of Cisco, Texas, preached Thursday and Friday nights. Both sermons were good and those who were absent missed something fine.

Our Sunday school is holding up with very good attendance and we now have on a contest between the male and female members. So far the two sides are about even.

School is moving along nicely, every seat in both rooms being filled and more seats needed. Recently a tennis court has been added to the playground equipment which consisted of swings, see-saws, basket and volley ball courts.

We are planning for the Hutchinson County Interscholastic meet at this place. The sand pit has been completed and work is to be begun on the track at an early date. The three lumbermen of Spearman, have donated material for the equipment of the track and the entire community is very grateful for this donation.

Rev Shearer of Amarillo and Rev. Laney of Spearman held services at the church Sunday morning. The former preached a wonderful and uplifting sermon to a large audience. Judge Work accompanied the preacher out here and the three enjoyed a delicious dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gladwell, after which they drove to Lieb where Rev. Shearer preached again.

Last Saturday quite a number of Holt citizens enjoyed the free show at the Lyric and two prominent people (both men) were seen entering holding hands. We hereby express our appreciation of this kindness of the business men and also wish to state that the films shown at the Theatre are clean, wholesome pictures and anyone who couldn't laugh last Saturday must indeed be "soured on the world."
