Wheat Reduction Contracts Date Of Signing Will Close April 15th

College Station, March 15.—Any farmer who grew wheat in 1932 may sign up in the reopened wheat campaign, states O. B. Martin, director of the Extension Service of A. & M. College. The requirements are practically the same as they were in the former campaign except that changes have been made in the ruling on the base period to take care of the one-year man may get a contract by using his production in the one year as his base, reducing his acreage by the same percentage as other contract farmers do, and accepting an allotment of one-fifth of 54 percent of the actual production for the year his wheat was produced. He is entitled to receive 1933, 1934 and 1935 allotment payments on allotment.

Farmers who actually applied for contracts in the original wheat campaign but who were unable to complete them may now complete the contracts and be eligible for all payments provided their applications were filed with the county allotment committee before January 1st.

Farmers who make application under the reopened program, but who didn't sign in the original campaign may also sign contracts but they will be eligible only for the second 1933 payment, and for 1934 and 1935 payments, Director Martin says.

Farmers who have already planted their wheat and wish to sign adjustment contracts under the reopened wheat program recently announced, may do so by bringing their acreage down to 85 per cent of the base acreage they would have in an approved contract, Director Martin states.

ROBBER BAND INCLUDING WOMAN HOLDS UP BANK IN TEXAS TOWN

FORT WORTH, March 19 (AP)—A band of robbers which held up the Grand Prairie State Bank this morning later was believed hiding in Fort Worth. One of them was reported to be a woman.

The bank was robbed of an undetermined amount of money by three men who locked the president and two employees in a vault. A man and a woman waited on the outside while the holdup was in progress.

J. F. Waggoner, the president; Tom Yeager, clerk, and Miss Maude Crawford, bookkeeper, were in the bank when a man appeared at a back window with a gun in hand and ordered them to "remain where you are."

Simultaneously, two armed men appeared at the front door and herded the three people into the vault. One of the men scooped up the money and put it in a pillow case. While the robbery was in progress a customer entered the bank. He, too, was placed in the vault.

The three men then ran to the car which waited at the curb and drove away.

Three miles west of Grand Prairie the robbers changed to a red sedan and last were seen driving about two miles east of the Fort Worth city limits.

pleas court, Clark, a tall four man was brought in and placed in the same chair which Harry Pierpont and Charles Makley have occupied for the past two weeks.

Both Pierpont and Makley were found guilty of murdering Sheriff Jess L. Sarber in a raid on the county jail here last October to liberate John Dillinger. The verdict in both cases was death in the electric chair.

The state is seeking the death penalty for Clark in connection with the same crime.

The charges against Piquet, who was Dillinger's attorney at Crown Point, Ind., before Dillinger made his escape, were filed by Police Chief Ward Taylor. They grew out of Piquet's detention here Saturday night after he had arrived in Lima to associate himself with counsel for Clark.

In an affidavit Chief Taylor charged that Piquet offered him $100 to procure his release from the city jail.

INTRODUCTION
In the past twelve lessons based on the first fifteen chapters of the New Testament we have studied Matthew's record of all except the last year of the life of our Lord upon earth.

The Special Purpose of Matthew's Gospel.
The Gospel by Matthew was written primarily for Jewish readers in order to prove to them as well as to others by quotations of prophecy from the Old Testament and the accurate fulfillment of these prophecies in the life of Christ—that Jesus of Nazareth was the long promised and long hoped for Messiah. Therefore we find frequently in Matthew's gospel such expressions as "That it might be fulfilled which was spoken of by the prophet."—Matt. 1:22. Or, "Thus it is written" etc.—Matt. 2:5; 2:17, 2:23, 3:3 etc.

Special Discourses of Jesus
Matthew gives at length several discourses of Jesus, two of which we have studied during this quarter, viz., The Sermon on the Mount, Matt. 5-6 and 7, and Christ's first Commission of the Twelve, Matt. 10:5-42. The first of these, the Sermon on the Mount was spoken primarily to the twelve chosen disciples who were gathered close about him, but was also for the benefit of the multitude who were near enough to hear his words. Jesus sets forth the fundamental principles of his kingdom, the rules of right living, as applicable to us today, as to his hearers then.

The Parables of Jesus
On one Sunday in this quarter we studied the great group of parables recorded in the thirteenth chapter of Matthew and spoken by Jesus to the disciples and the multitude standing on the shore of the Sea of Galilee, using as a pulpit a small fisherman's boat which had been moved out a short distance from the shore.

Probably the best known of these parables is the Parable of the Sower, recorded not only by Matthew, but also by Mark and Luke. This might properly be called the parable of four kinds of soil, representing four classes of hearers, and the different effects of the gospel upon hearers of these four different classes.

Besides this well known parable of the Mustard Seed and the Leaven, representing the growth of the Kingdom of Heaven from a very small beginning, a small group of twelve disciples, to a vast multitude of disciples spread over the entire world.

The Twin Parables of the Hidden Treasure and the Pearl of Great Price teach the preciousness of the kingdom of heaven. The man in each parable was willing to sell all that he had and give everything in exchange for the desired object. In these two parables Jesus taught us that the salvation of the soul is the most important issue of life; that "Religion is the chief concern of mortals here below."

All the pleasures of this world can give and all its treasures will not compensate for the loss of the immortal soul.
"What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

Another Packed House At Show Monday Night
Another packed house turned out to see "Ramona" presented at the Lyric Theatre Monday evening of this week by the Hazel Hurd Players. Mr. Twyman manager of the show claims that next week's bill will be one of the best plays that he will offer during the company's entire engagement here. The show will be "Heroes of 1917-1934", one of Chas. F. Harrison's big war pictures.

He especially urges all ex-service men to see this play and stated that not only soldiers are heroes but farmers and business men who have been through the depression are equally such.

Conoco Company Launches Advertising On Improved Oil

Division officials of the Continental Oil Co., at Borger Wednesday formally launched sales and advertising plans for their new and improved Conoco germ-processed motor oil.

Advertising In Papers

District Supt. J. C. McWilliams, Perryton, opened the meeting. Division Manager T. H. Lawson, Ft. Worth, explained that as usual the backbone of the advertising campaign will be newspapers. 1300 are being used in the nation with ten million circulation; while in this division, comprising most of Texas 129 with more than 650,000 circulation will be used. The campaign opens in afternoon papers of April 3rd.

Industrial Lubrication Engineer Paul R. Erdwurm explained in detail the new oil, telling how back of it were four years of study and tests in Conoco's chemical laboratories. The new germ-processing element is called G. D. 160.

Test Is Reported

Assistant Division Manager L. E. Stiles, Ft. Worth, explained the Indianapolis speedway test given the new oil. AAA Contest Board directed the test in which six new cars of identical make and condition were filled with six different kinds of leading motor oils; one being the new germ-processed. Five quarts were used in each car, the motor then sealed, the cars driven on the speedway at 50 miles an hour until the oil was exhausted and the motor ruined to the point where it wouldn't run. The first car failed at 1713.2 miles, Stiles said; the fifth at 3381.8 while the one with the germ processed went on to 4729, 325 miles after the indicator showed oil circulation had ceased. Stiles stated.

Lindsey Store One Of Borger Features

On the 29th day of September 1929, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lindsey opened a furniture store in Borger, 725 North Main Street and operated this store for about a year before he found the opportunity to expand. They began adding more and better lines of furniture and more help until their real opportunity came in December of 1932 when they purchased the Jennings Furniture from B. A. Jennings estate. Mr. Jennings had been in the furniture business in Borger from July 1926 until his death in December 1932. This store was located at 911-13-15 North Main Street and is now known as the Lindsey Furniture Company, occupying the same location as the former owners.

The Jennings Furniture Company was known all over the oil field as selling and maintaining a first class furniture store and always carried quality and standard lines. Mr. Lindsey has adopted and continued the same method and has won an enviable record in the furniture retail business. Then too, Mr. Lindsey has added many new lines when going to the furniture market each year. Since acquiring the Jennings Furniture Company in 1932 up to September of 1933 when NRA went into effect, nine people were employed by this firm, but NRA required four more which Mr. Lindsey put to work as quickly as the right men were found. Bob Lindsey as general manager has adopted a systematic order.

Mr. Lindsey adopted the easy payment plan for those who desired better furnished homes and due to efficient manner in which he has handled these numerous accounts in this area, he has been able to maintain this policy even through the depression.

Since the inception of the NRA movement which has maintained much sounder business policies and with assured jobs for men in this area, it has been made possible for the company to carry a much larger and more complete stock of furniture and enabled Mr. Lindsey to purchase the newer and more modern styles just created at this year's market. In January of this year, six carloads were purchased of which four are now in stock and two more are on the way.

While in Chicago this year, Mr. Lindsey said, "I was pleased to notice the confidence prevailing in the East and especially during the furniture market season. I was reminded of the sounder methods of business transactions which were brought about by the various manufacturing and the wholesale codes recently adopted."

Last Sunday many thought the pastor was away—hence they did not attend the services, but we were here and had our regular services. Loyd Terry brought us a fine message. He is one of our dependable young men in the church—and thus represented the Young People's department. His talk was on the Young People and Their Relation to the Church. This talk preceded the pastor's sermon.

Sunday morning Rev. W. C. Hinds, presiding elder of the Perryton District, will preach for us. He will hold the second quarterly conference too. At this time we are to elect delegates to the district convention which is to be held early in May, at Dalhart. We want a 100 per cent attendance of the officials, as well as the membership and friends. Last year we were represented at this district conference 100 per cent—Let's not fall lower than that this year. So we want to elect those who will attend—if at all possible for them.

We extend a hearty welcome to all—friends, visitors and members to all of the services of the day. Let's look for and expect a great day Sunday and Easter too.

BIBLE TEACHING—Quantity or Quality, —Which?

A mushroom grows rapidly, but how long does it last?
 In the 13th. Chapter of Matthew, we find recorded there the parable of the "Sower who went out to Sow." Quoting, "some of the seed fell upon stony places where they had not much earth, and forthwith they sprang up, because they had no deepness of earth. And when the sun was up, they were scorched; and because they had no root, they withered away." Matt. 13: 5, 6.

Then listen to Jesus as he explains this part of the parable. Quoting, "And he that was sown upon the rocky places, this is he that heareth the word, and that heareth the word, and that straight with joy receiveth straight with joy; and while, and self, but endureth for persecution when tribulation or persecution ariseth, because of the word, straight way he stumbleth."

From the above it is evident that growth can be too rapid if not staple in itself. Starve the root system of any plant and see how long it will last. Short lived plants almost invariably grow faster than those having longer lives. Christians are commanded to be "rooted" in the truth, in order to be able to withstand the temptations of the evil one. They are commanded to stand steadfastly and grow in faith and knowledge of the truth.

The Church of Christ, has since the restoration, made no high powered, spectacular, growth. It is growing steadily however, and is gaining more favorable comments now than at any time since the restoration, as every religious student is aware. People today demand genuine proof for their teaching. In many religious organizations there are movements to get nearer to the Bible teaching. When they are satisfied to take the Bible alone for their doctrine, then that unity for which Christ prayed can be had, not before. We as members of the Church of Christ are proud of the records that our people have been able to make before the world. You know that we are commanded to be of "good report" among all men. Sure we have some who have fallen. The Bible does not teach that all who are born into the church will be saved. Some will die spiritually just as some die physically.

With these reflections before us we wish to submit the following statistics, which is in regard to a national religious survey of state prisons, confined to the eight leading bodies. Mr. E. Couch of Paris, Texas compiled this report, and has the original replies from the various state wardens and chaplains. He keeps them for inspection for anyone who may care to inspect them.

A summary of his findings are listed below.
 Total number of criminals upon whom records were available, 51,243. Percent of total of the Bodies shown

Name	No. Crim.	Percentage of Total (51,243)
Baptist	17,095	.33386
Catholic	15,916	.31059
Methodist	12,282	.23969
Presbyterian	2,516	.04910
Christian	1,935	.03776
Episcopal	929	.01813
Congregational	447	.00872
Church of Christ	123	.00240

In the percentage of the national membership in prison the Church of Christ was again the lowest being only .0028. Of course we are proud of this record.

WHO WILL WE GO TO WAR WITH NEXT?

We have been reading with a good deal of disturbance of mind about the warlike gestures between nations which are being made in many parts of the world. We deplore war, as every responsible human being must, yet we feel impelled to admit that humanity has not yet reached such a stage that it can run its affairs without going to war.

Something is wrong with our so-called civilization, when nations must still resort to bloodshed to settle economical differences. For all our reading of history leads us to believe that wars, except on religious grounds, have always had an economic basis. Some nation thinks it is being cornered by other nations, or is not getting its fair share of trade, or it wants to trade where the other nation thinks its rights are paramount, or to possess some territory belonging to another nation. So the politicians stir up the people and make them believe their homes and families are in danger and the "national honor" has been smirched, until everybody is ready to go to war and kill the people of the other nation.

We shouldn't be so much concerned if the skirts of our own nation were entirely clear in this matter of war. We figured out the other day that no person ever reached the age of 40 in the United States without going through two wars. That brings it right home to us, or so it would seem. It was only 36 years after the Revolution that we were again at war with Great Britain; 34 years after we were marching on Mexico. Fifteen years later North and South were in battle array against each other. It was 37 years after that before we went to war with Spain, but only 19 years later that we were at war with Germany. It is now sixteen years since our country has been at war. We would hesitate to predict that anyone now sixteen will have to live to be forty without seeing us in another war.

We commend these thoughts to anybody who thinks it doesn't make any difference how we deal with foreigners. International good will is surely as important as domestic prosperity.

By Request of "First Lady"

"To show really what it is like," Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt requested photographer to snap this photo on her inspection trip of conditions in San Juan, showing the dirty pool of water and swarming flies that are a part of the squalor that comprises living conditions among poor Puerto Ricans. (Central Press)

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Summing up the results of President Roosevelt's first year in office, the general feeling here is that it has been about an even break between the Administration and the Depression. If the government hasn't succeeded in licking the hard times, neither has that Big Bad Wolf got the Administration licked. And that, these observers point out, is all to the good, because the underlying causes of the depression at home and abroad, have pretty nearly ceased to function, while the government still has plenty of weapons left in its arsenal. There are a lot more experiments that can be tried.

One of the most important of these, in the view of many, is the giving of power to the president to alter the tariff schedules at will. This appeals not only to those who favor tariff reduction but to those who believe that it is a sign that the Administration has come around definitely to the realization that the Depression is not a local affair but world-wide, and that it has its roots in international conditions.

Wallace Clear Thinker

There has been a good deal of uneasiness over what seemed like moves toward a policy of narrow nationalism in the United States, just at a time when several of the other nations of the world were beginning to abandon their nationalistic policies. Some of the most vocal of the president's advisers have been outspoken in their advocacy of building a wall around the United States and proceeding to try to straighten out affairs as if there were no other people in the world but us.

It is regarded here as a victory for the sane and well-considered analysis of our situation by Henry Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, whose reputation for having the clearest, most logical and best informed mind in the whole administration group is growing. In his widely circulated article, "America Must Choose," Mr. Wallace pointed out that nationalism pursued to its logical conclusion, could lead only to Fascism or Communism. He did not think America was ready for either. Internationalism, he agreed, has its dangers as has any other policy.

If America were to continue in its international relations on the principle that other nations must buy our goods, but we would not buy any of theirs, then we would be laying up plenty of trouble for ourselves and destroying all the foreign markets, on which so much of our income from natural products, farm products and factory products depends.

Wallace's conclusion is that the Nation should follow a middle-of-the-road policy, neither wholly nationalistic nor wholly internationalistic. And that, his admirers say, is what Mr. Roosevelt has in mind in asking Congress for authority to elevate or reduce tariff schedules by Executive order without having to submit them to revision by Congress nor wait upon the slow "studious" by the Tariff Board necessary under the existing law.

The Roosevelt Courage

Mr. Roosevelt's friends call this the greatest display of courage he has given yet. For there is no political topic which carries so much dynamite in itself as the tariff. More than one administration has been wrecked on the tariff rocks. One promising candidate for the Presidency, Gen. Winfield Scott Hancock, who ran on the Democratic ticket against General Garfield in 1880, probably would have been elected had he not incurred the hostility of Eastern manufacturers by his perfectly truthful but politically tactless statement that "the tariff is a local issue."

It is just because the tariff is a local issue that it is dangerous. It can stir up more sectional animosity than anything else in politics. There is nothing for which the average congressman will fight so bitterly as for tariff protection for the industries of his home district, for not only votes but campaign funds depend upon his record in that respect more than in any other particular.

This is a pretty general agreement among Republicans as well as Democrats that the tariff increases provided in the two tariff laws enacted by the Republicans in 1921 and 1930, ran the import duties on most of the list up to unworkable peaks, and by inciting other nations to set up defenses against American aggression in their markets, had a great deal to do with prolonging the situation precipitated by the crisis of 1929.

Tariff To The Front

Now Mr. Roosevelt has bravely brought the tariff right up to the front of politics again. By all the rules of logic and economics this complicated subject certainly ought to be administered by the Executive, either by the president single-handed or by a commission responsible directly to him, and under rules of his making, rather than responsible to congress and its restrictions. But whether the present congress will be able to resist the local pressure from the back home interests who don't want any equitable tariff, nor reduced tariff rates, nor anything that might conceivably benefit all the people if it is going to hurt their own pocketbooks.

If congress does grant this power to President Roosevelt it will have put into his hands the most useful of all weapons with which to carry on the fight against Old Man Depression. And if it does not give him what he asks for, it will be the first time it has been denied him anything, and there, again, the majority of the members of both Houses are likely to face repercussions from electors on next November.

Your correspondent's best guess therefore, is that Mr. Roosevelt will get what he asks for.
