

Medical Assn. Is Victor In Trust Case

Government Defeated As Court Rules Sherman Act Cannot Apply To The Practice Of Medicine

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The American Medical association won a sweeping victory over the government today when a federal district court held the Sherman anti-trust act could not apply to the practice of medicine.

Justice James M. Proctor, ruling on an indictment in which the justice department charged A.M.A. and fellow defendants restrained the "trade" of Group Health, Inc., a cooperative health association in the District of Columbia, said:

"Is medical practice a trade within the meaning of section three of the Sherman act? In my opinion, it is not."

Justice department officials, while not commenting at once, indicated an appeal would be asked.

Justice Proctor agreed with demurrers filed by defense counsel, which argued medicine was a "learned profession" rather than a "trade."

He said he thought the legal concept of the word "trade" had long been settled by the supreme court in a decision "expressly excepting the learned professions."

The technical action was the sustaining of demurrers to the indictment which the justice department obtained in Washington seven months ago against four medical bodies and 21 individual doctors.

The indictment had declared the defendants "combined and conspired to restrain trade by seeking to prevent group health from arranging for medical care and hospitalization, by restraining the organization from obtaining by cooperative efforts adequate medical care for its members, by restraining the doctors serving on the medical staff of Group Health Association, Inc., in the pursuit of their obligations, by restraining other doctors from serving it, and by restraining the Washington hospitals in the business of operating such hospitals."

The grand jury had charged the organizations and physicians agreed to forbid group health doctors to practice in Washington hospitals, had denied consultations to group health physicians, and had threatened to expel members of the group health staff from the medical societies.

Group Health, Inc., was organized originally by workers in the Home Owners Loan Corporation, a federal agency, with a loan of $37,000 from the government. It later spread to other government agencies, following repayment of the loan.

Counsel for the doctors had contended their activities could not be governed by the anti-trust law, that they were engaged in a "learned profession" rather than a trade.

Dec. 20, 1938, a District of Columbia grand jury, acting on evidence presented by the justice department, indicted the A. M. A., the medical society of the District of Columbia, the Washington Academy of Surgery, the Harris county, Texas, Medical Society, and 21 individual physicians for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

CONFESSES

Sheriff William Henry Ramsey said that Thomas Boyce (above), 28, golf course worker, had confessed orally he killed Elizabeth DeBrucker, 11, Attica, Ind., school girl, and buried her body where it was found, after attacking her.

CONFESES

McAlester, Okla., July 26 (AP)—Warden Jess Dunn of the McAlester State penitentiary announced today Jack Russell, escaped convict captured last week in Arkansas, had confessed the slaying of William S. Hamilton, Arkansas City, Kan., salesman, during his recent flight.

Dunn said the confession was made to him and two agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Hamilton's body was found near Ringwood, Ill., July 14, a bullet hole behind the left ear.

Russell, serving 10 years for armed robbery, escaped July 5. His trail led through at least six states and was marked by a series of kidnappings, robberies and car thefts.

When he was captured at Ozark, Ark., July 18, Sheriff Champ Crawford said he admitted two kidnappings but denied the Hamilton killing.

INDICTED

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Oliver Lawrence Dressler, alias Jack Russell, Oklahoma desperado, was indicted by a federal grand jury today for kidnapping and murdering William Scott Hamilton, of Arkansas City, Kan.

Conviction or even a plea of guilty to the indictment would carry a possible death sentence.

The indictment was returned before Judge James H. Wilkerson almost simultaneously with an announcement in McAlester, Okla., by Warden Jess Dunn that Russell had confessed killing Hamilton.

Order Issued For Paving Of Eleven Blocks

City commissioners Tuesday evening ordered a public hearing for 3 p. m. on Aug. 22 in the corporate court room on an order for paving 11 blocks on three streets.

Included in the order for paving were the blocks on Gollad street between Third and Seventh, on Johnson between 11th and 14th, and on Fifth between Main and Bell streets.

The commission also authorized City Manager E. V. Spence to sign instruments required by the state highway department to complete arrangements for installing approximately 20 blocks of paving on Green street.

Following the meeting, commissioners viewed a technicolor motion picture taken and edited by E. H. Craven, a member of the body, of the half million dollar WPA waterworks project.

Confesses He Slew Salesman

McALESTER, Okla., July 26 (AP)—Warden Jess Dunn of the McAlester State penitentiary announced today Jack Russell, escaped convict captured last week in Arkansas, had confessed the slaying of William S. Hamilton, Arkansas City, Kan., salesman, during his recent flight.

Dunn said the confession was made to him and two agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Hamilton's body was found near Ringwood, Ill., July 14, a bullet hole behind the left ear.

Russell, serving 10 years for armed robbery, escaped July 5. His trail led through at least six states and was marked by a series of kidnappings, robberies and car thefts.

When he was captured at Ozark, Ark., July 18, Sheriff Champ Crawford said he admitted two kidnappings but denied the Hamilton killing.

PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM FEDERAL BUS

THORNBURG, Va., July 26 (AP)—Seven of 22 federal prisoners en route from Atlanta to Pennsylvania escaped from a department of justice bus here today after overpowering their guards, taking their arms and commandeering an automobile.

The guards were beaten and stretched on the floor of the vehicle while the prisoners donned their gray jumpsuits and drove for about a half hour over side roads off the heavily traveled Richmond-Washington highway until they encountered a private automobile driven by Mrs. Ruby Lee Thurston, of Guinea, Va.

Stopping her car, they forced Mrs. Thurston into the bus and one of the group followed in the automobile for several more miles before she was released unharmed. The other six then deserted the bus and made off in the car.

MADGE EVANS WEDS SIDNEY KINGSLEY

YORK VILLAGE, Me., July 26 (AP)—Madge Evans, 30, beautiful, blonde film and stage star, deserted the ranks of Hollywood's "bachelor girls" today in a midnight elopement with Sidney Kingsley, 33, Pulitzer prize winning author of "Men in White" and "Dead End."

Miss Evans, long one of the best known members of the film capital's "bachelor girls" set, sped away from the stage of the Ogunquit playhouse last night without even waiting to change the dress she wore in the last act of "Brief Moment."

CLUB WOMAN DIES

DALLAS, July 24 (AP)—Mrs. Ella Caruthers Porter, nationally prominent club woman and honorary president and founder of the Texas Congress of Mothers, died at her residence here today after a long illness.

TENNIS COACH DIES

ROBSTOWN, July 26 (AP)—T. A. (Uncle Tom) Holland, 78, high school tennis coach here the past four years and trainer of many state champions, died of a heart seizure last night at Kerrville, Tex.

Welfare Board Members Named, Face A Big Problem On Pension Payments

AUSTIN, July 26 (AP)—A powerful new state agency, the welfare board created by the legislature to centralize social security work, today faced problems of organization and a dark future in administering old age pensions.

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, in announcing the appointments yesterday of merchant Marvin Leonard of Fort Worth, lawyer Beeman Strong of Beaumont and minister M. E. Sadler of Austin to constitute the board, took occasion to reiterate previous intimations of not calling a special legislative session to finance expanded pension demands. He also virtually issued order intended to abolish the political patronage system in state government.

Of the appointees, only Rev. Sadler of the Central Christian church was well known in Austin and he had no known previous political affiliations. Strong, observers recalled, was prominent in state Democratic activities. Leonard was practically unknown here.

The board, which will become operative at the start of the fiscal year, Sept. 1, will administer, besides pensions, child welfare work, Texas relief commission activities, all presently under the board of control, and a new service, aid to the needy blind. The children and blind divisions will be virtually inoperative until the legislature provides funds.

Work which the board must tackle soon if September pension payments are to be made on schedule is drafting of an operating plan for approval of the federal social security board which

Guests Forced To Leap From Third Floor

Paris Salesman Killed In Jump From Structure At Linden

LINDEN, July 26 (AP)—Ten persons, trapped on the third floor, were forced to leap from the flaming New George hotel early today, and one was killed in his fall.

Others injured

The fire, discovered at 4 a. m., broke out in a linen room and spread quickly to the head of a stairway, blocking the exit to a fire escape.

L. E. Lammus of Paris, Texas, a traveling salesman, was killed almost instantly in his plunge from a window.

Nine other persons, including a woman, leaped, but most of them broke the fall by jumping to nearby smaller structures.

All suffered burns and other injuries, and several were hospitalized.

Three were considered seriously injured—Mrs. J. L. Trammel, wife of the operator of the hotel cafe, who received a back injury; R. T. Fant, owner of the hotel, who struck a one-story building in his fall and rolled off to the ground, and J. L. Trammel, who fell against a wall outside the building.

Others hurt were Charles Miller, Cass county old age assistance superintendent; Eddie Hogan, social security office worker; Paul Horn Lovelace, Gerald Stephens, Floyd Kitchens, and Travis Skelton. The injured all were Linden residents.

Fant possibly could have escaped injury, but he hurried about the floor, waking the customers in preference to vacating the building.

The structure, a three-story brick building, was valued at $30,000 and firemen estimated it was damaged at least half that amount.

It took the combined efforts of five fire departments from East Texas cities—Tomball, Atlanta, Jefferson, Hughes Springs and Linden—to conquer the blaze in a two-hour battle.

Firemen had not settled definitely upon a theory regarding cause of the blaze, but said possibly it was caused by a hot iron which ignited clothing in the linen room.

The third floor—finished in wood—was burned, and the remainder of the building, including furnishings, suffered considerable water damage.

Sam Henderson, judge of Cass county, was one of the first volunteers.

SUCCUMBS

WALTER VASTINE

Heart Attack Is Fatal To W. Vastine

Death called unexpectedly early Wednesday to claim one of Big Spring's well-known, long-time residents, Walter Clifton Vastine. Mr. Vastine succumbed at 12:20 a. m. at the home of a sister-in-law, Mrs. Anna Vastine, 310 Lancaster street, where only a short time before he suffered a heart seizure. He was 57.

Not long before midnight, he complained of feeling ill and a physician was summoned. Efforts to save Mr. Vastine's life were in vain.

Born in Decatur, April 8, 1882, Mr. Vastine had resided in Big Spring for 19 years. Widely known in the city, he had operated grocery and a tire repair shop, and owned property here. He made his home at 1108 West Third, and often jokingly referred to himself as "mayor of Jones Valley."

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. A. J. Park of Signal Mount, Tenn.; three grandchildren, Joe, Raymond and Walter Vastine Park of Signal Mount; a nephew, John Vastine of Big Spring, and two nieces, Mrs. C. C. Miller of Stanton and Clara Sue Vastine of Big Spring.

Funeral services will be held at St. Mary's Episcopal church here at 3 p. m. Thursday, with the pastor, Rev. Oliver C. Cox, and a former pastor, Rev. F. Walter Henckel of Baytown, officiating.

The body will lie in state at the Eberley Funeral home until time for service, and the casket will not be opened at the church.

The body will be taken overland in an Eberley coach to Decatur, where rites will be said, in the family lot, at 10 a. m. Friday.

Named as active pallbearers are E. V. Spence, Seth Parsons, B. O. Jones, V. Van Gieson, Jack Hodges Jr., and Monroe Johnson. Honorary pallbearers include Carl Blomshild, Dr. R. B. C. Cowper, Carlson Hamilton, Wm. R. Dawes, Jr., and Edmund Notestine.

Lad Of 12 Safe After Week In Wilderness

SHERMAN, Mo., July 26 (AP)—Refreshed from an unbroken night's sleep and apparently making rapid recovery, Donn Fendler, 12, whose amazing trek for eight days through Maine wilderness after he had become lost on Katahdin brought him to habitation and safety yesterday, awakened today feeling "fine."

His first act was to call for "Uncle Nels," the affectionate name he has given Nelson E. McMoarn, camp owner, who found the lad yesterday when he responded to cries for help which echoed across the east branch of the Penobscot river to him at the landing of his Stacyville camp.

With McMoarn and Dr. Ernest T. Young, Millinocket physician, at his bedside, the boy, N. Y., lad looked round and said, "gee, this is a swell place." Each night during his fight for life in the woods, he had slept in the open.

When the lad consumed a breakfast of toast and eggs, McMoarn, Dr. Young and others discussed plans for his removal to Bangor where his father is a patient in a hospital, suffering from an eye injury received in the mountain search for his son.

An amazing tale of tenacious courage spilled from the lips of the boy when he felt exhausted in the arms of McMoarn yesterday.

While an army of searchers scoured the steep, craggy-scathed sides of lofty Mount Katahdin, Donn, a Boy Scout, wandered 25 miles from the peak on which he disappeared July 17, followed a brook and then a telephone line until finally he came last night to the first human habitation, the home of McMoarn.

"I ate what berries I could find," Donn told McMoarn as Mrs. McMoarn gave the haggard, emaciated lad soup and coffee before sending him to bed. "I drank water from stagnant pools until I found fresh water."

MRS. ROGERS BEFORE JURY

Mrs. Will Rogers is shown with U.S. Attorney Edmund J. Brannon in Boston as she went before a grand jury investigating an alleged $20,000,000 fake lottery racket, which included a scheme for raising money for a memorial to the late Will Rogers, famous humorist and husband of Mrs. Rogers.

Humble Sues For Increased Output

AUSTIN, July 26 (AP)—The Humble Oil and Refining company, largest operator in the vast East Texas field, filed suit in federal court here today seeking to increase its output in that pool by almost 50 per cent.

The company asked that the railroad commission be required to change its East Texas production formula in such fashion that Humble's daily allowable, considering two day a week shutdowns, would be boosted from around 35,000 barrels to approximately 55,000 barrels daily.

Rex G. Baker of Houston, attorney for the company, said the suit was in conformity with the principle established by R. J. McMillan federal judge for this district, in the Rowan & Nichols case. The railroad commission has left its East Texas production policy unchanged pending action on an appeal from the McMillan decision.

Baker emphasized the Humble was not seeking an increased overall allowable for the East Texas field but merely an increase for its proportionate share.

"In the suit the Humble is not attacking the conservation laws of the state," the company said in a statement, "nor is it asking that the total daily allowable from the field be increased. It merely is asking that the proportion order for the East Texas field be written in such a way as to give it an opportunity to produce its fair share of the recoverable oil from the field."

Dairy Stock Distributed

Half a dozen cows, six springer heifers and three calves, all of them from one of the best registered herds in Texas, were distributed to farmers in this immediate area Tuesday evening in a step, backed by Farm Security Administration loans, to improve dairy herds.

The dairy stock, acquired at a cost of $1,200, came from the Ben Bates herd at Odessa. Bates secured the animals out of the famous Shelton herd at Brownwood two years ago at a cost considerably in excess of what he secured in the sale.

With one minor exception, in all the cows and heifers the Jolly and Benedictine strain predominated. All the cows had good production records and averaged between five and a half to six and half per cent in butter fat.

John Barbee, FSA rural supervisor, conducted drawing for the cows and heifers and reminded the farmers who had secured them that "it's about 50 per cent in breeding and 50 per cent in the care you give the cow."

He predicted that with proper care and with the installation of some projected bull circles, improvement of local herds in general could be felt in about three to four years. Some young bulls from the Shelton herd already have been sighted. Bulls from the cows acquired Tuesday will be put into service among herds over this territory.

Prices on the cows, some of them grouped with calves to level values, ranged from $100 to $125, a price which Barbee, Luke Strawn, FSA, and County Agent O. P. Griffin considered a bargain.

SOIL CONSERVATION HEARING HERE AUG. 17

TEMPLE, July 26 (AP)—The Texas Soil Conservation board will conduct public hearings on applications for formation of conservation districts during the week of August 14 at the following places:

Kyle, Lockhart and Hallettsville, August 15; Denton, Gainesville and Vernon, August 16; Spur experiment station and Big Spring, August 17; Miles, Eden and Salt Gap, August 18; and Brownwood, August 19.

The hearings will start at 10 a. m. and 2 and 8 p. m.

NORFLEET HERE

Frank Norfleet, Hale Center rancher who turned detective when confidence men fleeced him out of his life savings and thus gained national recognition for their capture, passed through here Tuesday, enroute to Midland where he said he was interested in a case.

Norfleet, who has many friends here among the pioneers, planned to return to Big Spring Friday and visit at the Old Settlers Reunion.

FUGITIVE HAMMER MURDERESS IS TAKEN BY DALLAS OFFICERS

DALLAS, July 26 (AP)—Velma West, fugitive hammer murderess who spent 11 years behind prison bars, had a satisfying glimpse of the outside world and was preparing to return voluntarily to her Ohio prison cell when detectives captured her here last night.

Questioned at detective headquarters yesterday, the slender 22-year-old woman who killed her husband with a claw hammer when he refused to attend a bridge party, said her bag was packed and she had intended to leave today.

"I wish I had decided a day or two earlier," she declared. "I want to go back and walk into the reformatory by myself."

Arrested with Mrs. West was Mary Ellen Richards, 29-year-old Cincinnati girl who was serving a 25-year sentence for robbery with firearms. They were captured quietly last night in the market section of the city by Detectives J. F. Daniels and C. O. Buchanan.

The officers refused to say where they received their tip that the women were in town, but declared they recognized them from description.

Tells Of His Experiences With Arabs

JERUSALEM, July 26 (AP)—After a fitful sleep—his first rest in a real bed for a week—the Rev. Gerould Goldner today gave police a detailed description of his Arab kidnappers and told friends how he tried in vain to escape.

Dr. Jacob Goldner, father of the young Ohio preacher, obtained his son's release yesterday for "somewhere between $1,300 and $2,300—paid directly to the Arab band and not through intermediaries."

"Throughout the kidnaping I made plans to escape from the gangsters," Goldner said. "One night I concealed stones and a hat in bed as a preparation for slipping away."

The hat and the form of stones under the covers of his make-shift bed were intended to deceive his captors, permitting Goldner to slip away.

"But the gang leader found out and doubled the guard," he recounted.

The most heartening moment during his captivity was when he was given a note from his father, delivered to the roving band by a Bedouin intermediary.

"Father also enclosed three letters from my wife which gave me renewed energy," Goldner said.

The police confined most of their questions to getting descriptions of the kidnapers. Goldner said he had pledged himself, before his release, not to disclose the identities of his abductors nor their whereabouts.

Driver Seriously Burned As Car Catches Fire

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, July 26 (AP)—Ab Jenkins, Salt Lake City speed driver, suffered serious burns today when his automobile caught fire during his projected 24-hour endurance run on the saltflats.

The racing car, which had been circling the 12 1/2 mile track at average speeds in excess of 170 miles per hour, caught fire going full tilt and Jenkins quickly pulled over to his pit.

Members of his pit crew included his wife, Mrs. Jenkins, who rushed forward with fire extinguishers at considerable risk and pulled the driver to safety. Jenkins was placed in an ambulance which started the 135 miles to Salt Lake City.

EIGHT CARS PUT IN CITY 'POUND' ON FIRST NIGHT

Eight car owners fretted over loss of their automobiles Wednesday morning only to find they had been hauled away to the "pound" for overnight parking.

In accordance with the new city ruling governing this traffic offense, local drivers recovered their machines on payment of $1 fines and storage costs of $1. Out-of-town owners were given their cars without costs, but were warned that a second offense would liable them to the same cost as local offenders.

LEADERS PUSH LENDING BILL

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—Harassed congressional leaders struggled today to reunite their divided forces in both houses in an effort to enact the $2,490,000,000 lending program and adjourn a week from Saturday.

Administration lieutenants in the senate were faced with a plugging array of prospective amendments. Some of the most controversial were offered from within democratic ranks—notably a proposal to attach a rider restoring the WPA wage scale.

In the house leaders appeared to be making progress in attempts to placate an impatient group of 51 democrats who sought to force action on the lending bill through a call for a party caucus. Such a caucus could bind all house democrats to act as a unit.

The leaders hoped to make the caucus unnecessary by obtaining release of the $500,000,000 housing bill from the rules committee, and assurance the same group would not bottle up the lending legislation.

Senate republicans decided to sharpshoot items of the works financing program calling for the following: federal loans; public roads $500,000,000; railroad equipment $350,000,000; Export-Import bank $100,000,000; farm tenancy $600,000,000; public works $300,000,000; rural electrification administration $500,000,000 and reclamation $50,000,000.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) said he was opposed to the public roads outlay, declaring:

UNMASKED DUO ROBS HULL, TEX., BANK

HULL, Texas, July 26 (AP)—Two unmasked gunmen locked two women employees of the Hull State bank in a vault today and escaped with an estimated $10,000 in currency.

The gunmen, one tall and one short, walked into the bank in this small town at the lunch hour. They commanded the two women employees, Miss Florine Rudnal and Miss Hazel Hillard, who were alone, to "stick 'em up."

While one gunman herded the two women into the bank vault the other scooped up the currency in sight. They slammed the vault door on the women and fled in a yellow automobile.

CHILD SUCCUMBS TO DYSENTERY, OTHERS ARE GRAVELY ILL

WINTERS, July 26 (AP)—Three-year-old Howard Affebach was dead and his brother and two sisters lingered near death today, victims of a mysterious type of dysentery.

Watched anxiously at their home were Mary Carolyn, 5, whose condition was considered grave, and Bobby Gene, 9, and Dorothy Ann, 7, only slightly better.

They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Affebach.

New Baptist Missionary Is On Duty

Rev. R. Elmer Dunham, formerly pastor of the First Baptist church in Santa Anna, has moved his family here to assume his new duties as missionary of the Big Spring district.

He will serve 11 counties in this area and his territory includes the following: ...

R. ELMER DUNHAM

area from Odessa to Roscoe, Lamesa to Snyder to Big Spring. Rev. Dunham, who is 32 years of age, is the youngest of 17 district Baptist missionaries in the state and is employed jointly by Baptist churches in his territory and the state mission board.

Rev. Dunham resigned his pastorate at Santa Anna after four years to succeed Rev. J. J. Strickland, who left the post to become pastor of the South Park church in Beaumont.

The new missionary will begin his work by conducting a revival meeting in Colorado and on August 9 will return here to direct an evangelistic campaign for the East Fourth Baptist church.

A varied experience has prepared Rev. Dunham for his work. After graduating from the state teachers college in San Marcos, he took special work in religious education at Southwestern Technological Seminary. For two years he served as educational director for the First Baptist church in San Marcos, then later served in the State Sunday school department as director of daily vacation Bible schools in West Texas. Rev. Dunham was vice president of the state young people's convention, and later was named one of the approved state workers

Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales Honored With Shower For New Home

Three new members were present Tuesday when the Busy Bee club met in the home of Mrs. Glen Hancock and honored Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales with a surprise shower.

New members were Mrs. E. C. Barron, Mrs. W. S. Satterwhite, and Mrs. Aaron Scott. Gifts for the honored member's new home were brought and presented.

Zinnias and summer flowers decorated the rooms and the hostess served cantaloupe a-la-mode.

Others attending were Mrs. R. L. Pritchett, Mrs. S. M. Beale, Mrs. A. M. McLeod, Mrs. Garner McAdams, and Mrs. H. V. Crocker.

Sending gifts were Mrs. T. H. Gray, Mrs. Ralph Towler, and Mrs. John Davis.

Methodist Young People Attend League Meet

COAHOMA, July 25 (Sp.)—Five churches were represented and 52 members present when the Methodist Young People attended a Union league meeting in Ackerly Sunday. Attending from here were Norma Turner, Charlette Little, Louise Whitaker, Emma Lee Turner, Allee Payne Dorsey, Dorothy Harper, Jim Turner, Evelyn Monroney, George M. Boswell, and A. K. Turner.

for leadership in Sunday school and BTU work.

During his pastorate at Santa Anna there was a marked increase in membership, more than 100 being added in one year, and a pronounced gain in mission contributions.

His program for turning the "summer slump into a summer jump" won wide recognition and the Southern Baptist Sunday School board issued a bulletin on it in IT states. Organizations, too, expanded under the pastorate of the new missionary, new classes being added to the Sunday school. A modest building program was carried on all the while. His civic activities included a position as chairman of the Lions club program committee and chaplain of a Santa Anna hospital.

Phillips 66 Introduces 'Highway Hostesses'; One In B'Spring Today

Ann Branch (pictured above) Highway Hostess for Phillips 66 and one of a group of registered nurses now conducting a clean rest room campaign for the Phillips Petroleum Company. Miss Branch is today visiting in Big Spring, where she is carrying on part of her duties as a hostess to those who travel the motor way.

This unusual service which has just been announced by Phillips Petroleum Company is meeting with enthusiastic reception from travelers, who look to the service station as a model of cleanliness as well as service.

The nurses travel in especially decorated cars over the entire operating territory of the company, and their principal duties are the checking of Certified Clean Rest Rooms and the discussing of public hygiene and better station housekeeping with Phillips 66 dealers.

Just as the air liners have their stewardesses and the streamliners their hostesses for the comfort of passengers, so now the tourist who goes the most popular way of all in his own car, has the Phillips 66 Highway Hostess. On the highway the hostess' duties include helping ill or travel-worn tourists, directing women travelers to good hotels and restaurants, and lending first aid in cases where they encounter accidents on the highway.

Federal Oil Conservation Bill Awaited

TULSA, Okla., July 26 (AP)—The expected introduction at the suggestion of President Roosevelt of a petroleum conservation bill was awaited today by the oil industry.

Recently Chairman Lea (D-Calif) of the house interstate commerce committee, Representative Cole (D-Md), chairman of an oil subcommittee, and Secretary of the Interior Ickes discussed the proposed bill with the president.

After the conference, Cole declined to disclose his provisions, but added state cooperation was involved. In a letter to Lea yesterday, Mr. Roosevelt suggested that the bill be introduced "with a view to enactment of suitable legislation in the next session." The president said legislation "should be designed to prevent avoidable waste in the production of oil and gas in the United States."

Gov. Leon C. Phillips of Oklahoma immediately asserted conservation is a state problem. "We don't want federal legislation," he said.

Meanwhile, the Oil and Gas Journal, in its semi-annual statistical review and forecast, predicted the industry the remainder of this year would have a larger demand for crude oil and petroleum products than any similar period in its history. It pointed to the increase in truck and car sales, wider use of oil burners and Diesel engines as an aid to demand of both light and heavy fuels. Domestic gasoline shipments increased six per cent during the first half of the year and the publication forecast a four per cent increase for the remainder.

New reserves of crude oil developed during the first six months of the year totaled 1,183,782,000 barrels, the publication said, with the greatest amount of gain in production in Illinois which poured out 32,706,748 barrels the first half of this year, an increase of 24,899,498 barrels over the first six months of last year.

NEW INSTRUCTIONS SENT TO BRITAIN'S MOSCOW ENVOYS

LONDON, July 26 (AP)—The British government has sent new instructions to its diplomats in Moscow, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons today. He added he expected to make a statement early next week on the Moscow negotiations for a British-French-Russian mutual assistance pact.

Chamberlain would neither deny nor confirm reports from reliable sources that Britain and France had agreed to begin staff talks with Russia without waiting for conclusion of the projected pact.

(Great Britain and France are becoming the laughing stock of the world "by their crawling on the ground" before Russia, German Propaganda Minister Goebbels' Berlin newspaper De Angriff said today of the report British and French military missions would go to Moscow.

"Not much has remained of the much-vaunted English dignity and French superiority," the paper continued. "It remains to be seen whether the pact will be concluded before Christmas or whether the Moscow hold-up will prove to be even more indigestible."

NEW SUGGESTION OFFERED IN MEX. OIL DISPUTE

MEXICO CITY, July 26 (AP)—A new suggestion for settlement of the Mexican oil dispute has been placed before the Mexican government by Donald R. Richberg, attorney representing companies whose properties were expropriated March 18, last year, it was disclosed today.

Details were not given. Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican ambassador to Washington, said conversations still were in progress and disclosed he had received a letter from Richberg outlining a new proposal.

Castillo Najera stated he would remain in Mexico for several days before returning to Washington with President Lazaro Cardenas' reply to the Richberg suggestion.

TEXAS PILOT KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES

GREENVILLE, Miss., July 26 (AP)—Robert A. Jenkins, 27, airplane pilot of Texarkana, Texas, was killed when his plane crashed into a cotton field 15 miles south of Inmanola early today.

Witnesses said the plane nose-dived into the field from an altitude of 100 feet. Jenkins was en route to consult a planter in that Sunflower county community about dusting his cotton crop when the crash occurred. He had to land in a nearby alfalfa field.

His skull was fractured in the fall. Jenkins came to Greenville about three weeks ago to work for the Beel Crop Dusting company. He was well known in Texarkana flying circles. His aunt and grandfather live in Texarkana.

The body will be taken to Texarkana for burial.

Long Works To Keep Machine Functioning

BATON ROUGE, La., July 26 (AP)—Governor Earl K. Long extended the olive branch today to a political opponent as he sought to hold in tact the old regime of his brother Huey, disintegrating as more political figures are drawn into the current investigation.

Indicted yesterday by the Baton Rouge parish grand jury were L. I. Abernathy, who resigned recently both as chairman of the state highway commission and as a member of the Louisiana State university board of supervisors; A. K. Kilpatrick, one of the owners of the Standard Office Supply Co., of Monroe, and Dr. James M. Smith, former president of L.S.U.

Ten indictments against Abernathy and Kilpatrick charged they profited illegally by the sale of $3,922.14 in equipment to L.S.U., at its northwest center in Monroe to the Standard Office Supply Co., which Abernathy and Kilpatrick held substantial interests.

Dr. Smith, now under a total of two score state and federal charges and still in jail under bonds totaling $219,500, was indicted for obtaining $100,000 from Baton Rouge bank allegedly by misusing his authority as a public officer.

Amid these developments, Long a candidate for governor in Louisiana, offered to end a current "war of statements" with State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell, also a candidate for governor.

Long expressed hope Tugwell would join in desisting from a squabble over their alleged respective receipts from political contributions of state employees.

14 ARE INJURED IN LONDON EXPLOSION

LONDON, July 26 (AP)—Fourteen persons were injured today, several seriously, when a terrific explosion ascribed by police to the illegal Irish republican army occurred in the baggage check room in one of London's most crowded railway stations.

The blast, which followed by two days Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare's dramatic recital of the terrorist "plans" in the house of commons, set off a lunch time panic in the King's Cross station of the London and Northeastern Railroad.

Broken glass and litter were blown over an area nearly 40 yards square. A checkroom attendant had his hands mangled. Three customers, two of them women, and two other employees felt the full force of the blast.

It's Not Permanent

Those members of the congress who started introducing bills to change the provisions of the WPA wage scale have decided to abandon the effort for this session, which is a wise decision. Perhaps after they have had time to give the matter some study, and do their own thinking instead of being followers of leaders of the two warring labor organizations, they will realize that the WPA was not established to give regular employment to skilled mechanics, but was a charity that all governments, national, state, county and city, are at times called on to provide.

The government became an employer for that reason and because the states could not or would not take on the burden. Certainly skilled men should have the wage merited by their skill, but it should not be provided for them out of government relief funds. The WPA was instituted as a relief agency and was supposed to provide work and wage sufficient to keep persons, therefore unemployed, in enough food, clothing and shelter to prevent them being sent to almshouses or similar institutions.

There have been too many skilled workers on the WPA projects, and too many administrators and minor employees. The WPA should have confined its projects to such things as would require the largest number of what are called common labor—unskilled workers—and the smallest number of skilled labor. If that had been done there would have been more people taken off direct relief and the money would have lasted longer. Many of the projects, notably buildings and similar work, could have been let to contractors who would have employed the needed skilled labor at prevailing wages. The mistake has been in trying to make the WPA a permanent branch of the government.

Robbin Coons

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—Personal to an Irish doorman who used to work at Paramount's Long Island studios:

Producer Joe Pasternak would like to say "Thank you"—and I imagine Deanna Durbin might chime in. Maybe you've forgotten, but one day you gave Joe some advice. Joe was a slight, sandy-haired youth of 21 then, and movie-struck. He had a front gate, or maybe just liked him. You said, "Go in the back way, son, and THEN go up front."

I guess you know Joe followed that tip. Maybe Joe told you how he'd come to New York from a little town in Hungary when he was 19, a town so small Joe had seen only one movie in his life. Joe discovered movies in America.

As a cafeteria busboy he couldn't see many movies, but he made deals with Broadway waiters. Doughnuts and coffee in exchange for free tickets. He saw "The Miracle Man" 19 times.

Anyway, Joe got in the "back way." He became a bus boy, later a waiter, in the Paramount commissary. He was so cheerful (and he still is) that people noticed him. One day Allan Dwan, who was directing Gloria Swanson, looked so grumpy over his lunch that Joe assisted him.

Allan and his assistant, Dick Rossion (the man who recently visited Nazi Germany), used to kid Joe about acting, but in the end Dwan took him on. Joe acted—something awful. He really wanted to direct, so Dwan made him an assistant cameraman. When the studio closed, Joe was an assistant director.

Maybe you don't know what happened to Joe when he left Long Island. Out here, he found an other chap, also broke (Billy Wilkerson, now publisher of a movie trade daily). Practically on promises they made a movie with El Brendel. Wesley Ruggles saw it, made Joe his assistant at Universal.

In 1928 Uncle Carl Laemmle sent Joe to Europe. Joe didn't get back until 1936—after Uncle Carl had sold the studio. A hangover from the old regime doesn't rate with the new. Joe sat around until they gave him a modest "B" film to do. He had brought back with him a young director named Henry Koster. Joe and Henry went to work, and the modest "B" turned into "Three Smart Girls" and put Pasternak and Koster and Durbin on top.

You'd find Joe an odd fellow—for a producer. He always has time to see people.

He is sentimental about America as about people. Nowhere but in America could he have made his success story. His formula: (1) Luck, (2) Patience, (3) Back up luck and patience.

He likes to give opportunities to "new people"—partly because he remembers he was "new" once. In Durbin's "First Love" now he has Robert Stack and Lewis Howard, leading men in their first film. He also has Leatrice Joy, persuaded to leave her retirement.

He got Durbin too. But he flatly says Koster deserves all the credit for her stardom. His formula for good pictures: many people, preferably friends, all working together—hard.

Anyway, old Irish doorman, Joe would like to see you.

Meet Mr. Lochinvar

Chapter Five Poor Relation

Cheerfully, Cecily did the things that Olivia asked her to do. "Cecily, darling, I need Miss Simpson this morning. Would you mind going over the house with the housekeeper to take inventory?" Or, "Cecily, here is the list of linens we'll have to replace for Darelle. You can get them at Tracy's and have them charged to me." Or, "If you've time, Gloria? She's telephoned that she's going to Southampton for a few days and needs some more clothes." Or, "I hate to ask you to do this but poor Lucy—Lucy was Olivia's maid—had such a dreadful toothache, I sent her to the dentist and I simply can't let another day go by without getting at least one trunk sweaters and skirts and sport things, but do be sure to pack them so they won't need to be pressed when they're unpacked."

Cecily left New York for Vickersport in Olivia's motor accompanied by Wilson, the chauffeur, and Tito, Olivia's pekinese. "Would you mind going up this way, dear? I thought perhaps you might take up some stores that we'll need, and you could see that the housekeeper has things ready when Gloria and I arrive on Saturday. I'd like to have you go with us, but we're bringing some guests and you'd be more comfortable this way."

So Cecily, with suitcases under her feet, parcels and packages surrounding her and Tito on her lap, departed for Vickersport.

She was glad for the freedom of those few days. She didn't mind the discomfort of the crowded car. She loved the scenery that was new to her eyes as she cleared the cities and traveled North along the smooth roads into upper Maine.

Her first humiliation came the second morning. She had put up at a tourists' lodge. Olivia had remembered to ask her if she were in funds when she left New York, and Cecily opened her purse containing her small wealth of sixty dollars.

"Tourists—$1." That was what the sign read.

Cecily took two one-dollar bills from her board to pay for her lodging and Wilson's.

"The gentleman said," she was informed.

"Wilson," she said when she got in the car, "I didn't mean for you to pay at the tourist lodge." She held out the bills.

"That's all right, Miss Cecily. Madam gave me our expense money."

Cecily swallowed that humiliating information without saying anything.

The next night, she paid for their rooms when she engaged them.

They arrived at Vickersport the evening of the third day. Cecily's heart beat a little faster as the signposts recorded diminishing distances to the seaport.

As the familiar scenes of sea and sail, clearer and sharper than they had been at the Cape, came to her nostrils, Cecily felt the weight that lay on her spirits, lighten. This was something that she knew and loved!

It was difficult in the darkness to make out more than the vague shapes of the buildings that lined the main street of the village but she could see them standing sturdily by white against the dark night, and she was impatient for the daylight of the next morning.

The headlights pierced the dark and Wilson swung the big car into a driveway. Flinging, Cecily had seen the name DARELEA carved in iron on the gateposts.

A new piercing fragrant smell came to her. It was the scent of wet spruce and pine from the tall, dark trees on either side of the drive. The majestic spruce rose everywhere, it seemed to Cecily as she strained her eyes forward, and then through them, she saw the graceful lines of the big white house where a light gleamed welcomingly at the open door.

She felt something in her breast relax as though it had been knotted there. She thought: I'm a melodramatic little fool! How could I have been dreaming anything like this!

First Morning
 Cecily kicked out furiously and beat the air with her hands. Then she opened her eyes and laughed to herself. It hadn't been a wave that threatened to engulf her—it was the soft satin quilt that she had pulled over her in the sharp coldness of the night. She threw it back and swung her pajama-covered legs onto the polished pine floor. She straightened and stretched, then she bent and touched her fingers to her toes before she ran to one of the big windows.

The grass was covered with diamonds, or so it seemed, from the dew. She tried to see everything at once—the tall spruces rich and darkly green which pointed to the bright blue sky above, the sparkling waters of the bay beyond, the pocket-handkerchief patch of white ash-knives to be the beach.

She sat on the side of her big bed, drawing on her clothes impatiently. She wanted to be out feasting her eyes and ears and nostrils and scenes that had already delighted her.

While she looked about her big room appreciatively, she felt again the relief and pleasure that had pervaded her this night before when she arrived.

Drawing on her skirt and pulling a sweater over her head, she familiarized herself with her room. It was a beautiful room with crisp white curtains looped back from the windows that framed pictures of the outdoors beyond. It was so spacious that the big bed with the turquoise silk quilt folded at its foot, the wide dresser, the magnificent mahogany highboy, the dressing-table with full-length mirror and a chain and longcase seemed hardly to take up any room.

There were prints and photographs on the walls. Lazily, Cecily read the inscriptions and saw that they were the autographs of famous operatic stars. There were hooked rugs on the floors. Rugs in which apple green and turquoise followed the color scheme of the white and turquoise room.

Cecily had already made the acquaintance of the bath. A surprising bath because it was entirely modern in that old-fashioned house. She had set up her few toiletries on the table in the bath-room the night before.

She hastened her dressing and ran a comb carefully through her tawny hair. She was eager for breakfast to see the rest of the house and to be out of doors.

She had her breakfast in the kitchen. Mrs. Batson, the housekeeper, had not yet installed her staff—her son-in-law and two daughters who were to arrive from Machias in the afternoon. Olivia was arriving with her party the next day.

Your Room?
 Cecily had a heavenly day. She had wandered all over the house after taking herself for a walk to the beach in the morning. Time had sped by until a lost feeling the middle of her told her it was lunch-time.

She had duties in the afternoon but it was a pleasure to put away the fancy groceries in the big pantries, to check the linens in the scented closets. She wandered from one big room to another, admiring the yellow-and-green bedroom, the blue room, Olivia's rose bedroom and sitting-room, Gloria's white and gold room, the huge drawing-room, the library and the many small rooms.

At night she wrote to Doug. It was a very gay letter and easier to write than she had thought it would be.

She went up to her room early and found that her things were not there. They were not where she had left them—her pajamas and robe hanging in the closet and her net little row of things on the bathroom table.

"Mrs. Batson!"
 Mrs. Batson appeared wordlessly below.

"I can't find anything. Will you please tell me where . . ."
 "I forgot to tell you, Miss Cecily. I've put your things in your room."

"My room?" Cecily said, not understanding.
 "Madame said you were to have the room in the ell. We've got company coming and she needs that room you're in. You'll find everything laid out. Just go down the

Freston Grover Washington Daybook

By DR. THOMAS PARRAN
 Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service
 (Punch-hitting for Freston Grover, on vacation.)

Just a year ago at the National Health conference in Washington, President Roosevelt's committee on health and welfare proposed that the United States balance its health budget as one of the fundamental steps toward balancing its financial budget.

After two years of study on the health needs of the nation, that committee presented to the country a blueprint for national health action. It proposed that federal, state and local governments cooperate in the building of additional hospitals where needed and in assistance for existing hospitals, the development of public health facilities, the establishment of health centers in areas where private physicians are unable to handle the load of illness, fostering of better maternal and child health, the extension of insurance to include temporary disability and government subsidization of medical research.

I do not believe that anyone can object to the necessity of putting such a program into effect. During the year of controversy since it was proposed no one has questioned the desirability of accomplishing the objectives outlined. Protests have been made to the methods of providing better health, not on the ideal itself.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION
 The principal objection has been to the cost. The money involved is apparently a point little understood and about which little real thinking has been done. The program does not call for a large immediate expenditure from the federal treasury. It proposes a gradual increase so that by the end of 10 years the federal, state and local governments together will be spending up to $840,000,000 from their various funds for the prevention and treatment of disease.

And if that sum seems a staggering one, it would be well to remember that every dollar spent for health care is worth 10 in the saving of a life, the returning of a worker to his job, and in stopping the spread of disease. The blunderbuss of illness easily levies the most useless tax we bear. It is cheaper to keep a mother from dying in child-birth, or a father from dying of tuberculosis, than it is to maintain orphan asylums.

Another objection is that it would put the government (which one of our governments is never specified by the critics) into medicine. Everyone who knows the situation realizes that the state, federal and local governments are already up to their ears in the business of medical care and the plan proposed is merely an extension of the services they already provide, with increased safeguards for the efficiency and proper supervision of them by the medical profession in every hamlet where it may operate.

The federal government already does extensive treatment and research work on pellagra, malaria, syphilis, gonorrhea, hookworm, pneumonia, bubonic plague, Rocky Mountain spotted fever and numerous other diseases through the public health service, the children's bureau, the veterans' bureau, the department of the interior, the department of agriculture and other agencies are carrying on similar functions.

The state governments operate hospitals and hire physicians for the care of the medically indigent and the mentally ill. City and county hospitals do the same. Government aid for medical care is nothing new and sooner or later the realization must come that its extension is vital to the happiness of the American people—not just those wealthy enough to afford good medical care or those who receive it through charity.

Health security is not enough today. We must have it, but we also must have a fuller measure of health opportunity. We need to build in America a race of people more physically fit, better nourished, possessing those dynamic physical qualities necessary to competence, to joy in life and living and to the maximum attainment of mental and spiritual development.

George Tucker

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—After one of the bitterest fights yet waged between tunnel and bridge authorities, the government has stepped in and killed the proposed new bridge from the Battery to Brooklyn. This ends a quarrel which found everybody taking sides.

But the issue is not strictly local at all. It has to do with a wide-spread coastal defense plan, for the secretary of war's reason for banning the bridge is that it would hamper navigation in time of war—that is, enemy bombs might destroy the bridge and block entry to the East river.

In the new-reel theatres along Broadway and in the great railway terminals are many scenes of giant coastal artillery in action, but the voices describing the scenes do not identify them. They say, "Here they are folks, our big coast defense guns, but we can't tell you where."

These guns are all along the seaboard, guarding harbors and strategic points. Some of them appear so large as to be unreal. They are disappearing guns which sink back into deep, impregnable cement housings when they fire. They are supposed to be powerful enough to destroy ships miles at sea.

The death knell of the proposed bridge was a bitter blow to Park Commissioner Moses, who had set his heart on a majestic piece of engineering work that would arch its back from the foot of Manhattan to the Brooklyn side. For other than the war department's decision was halted with satisfaction.

After the ruling was announced, word came that the famous Brooklyn bridge, which Steve Brody immortalized by his tragic death leap, and the Triborough bridge may be supplanted by tunnels. In any case another tunnel is to be hollowed out of the rock and silt under East river.

Manhattan has so many tunnels leading to and from it that you would think they would run into each other. But the pressure of traffic demands some new outlet.

Manhattan traffic has been and always will be a mess. The new tunnel at best can only relieve the crush. I really believe the day will come when some sort of legislation will parcel out the privilege of driving in the city. Perhaps some alphabetical scheme will be devised, permitting car owners from A to M to drive in the city on alternate days, and those from N to Z on the other days.

Should such a time ever come you will hear a scream of high heaven from the car manufacturers and from the owners themselves, who pay taxes—and in New York they are heavy taxes—for the privilege of driving automobiles.

Nevertheless conditions, despite efficient police and new sky-ways, are so adverse that frequently it takes you an hour to drive across town—a distance that normally should be covered in seven or eight minutes.

The reaction of the newspapers to the war department's decision was typical of the Metropolitan press on any important issue. The press in this town has always been divided, and that part of it which wanted the bridge was outspoken in its criticism of the ruling. On the other hand, those who desired defeat of the project accepted the ruling "as the only possible end that could come to such an absurd proposal."

Anyway, we get a new tunnel. You must come over and drive through it some time.

'No Trade' When Ladies Keeping Fit To Music

One of the most unpopular men in the cities among tradespeople is Wallace, director of the "Keep Fit to Music" program, which is heard each week day morning over KBST by way of the coast-to-coast Mutual network from 9:30 to 9:45 a. m.

It seems that when the ladies of the house take their exercises to Wallace's radio instructions, none of the tradespeople can gain entrance to the houses on their deliveries. Wallace has had many letters from various types of business men contacting homes: insurance men, laundry men, meter readers for utilities companies, and various store delivery men.

SINGIN' SAM

At 12:00 o'clock noon on Thursday, Singin' Sam, heard on KBST, will feature the songs: "I'm Happy When You're Happy", "It Seems Like Old Times", "Clover Blossoms", and "When Day Is Done."

South Rallies To Defeat North In League Classic

BASE BLOW BY CAPPS BREAKS UP BALL GAME

By HANK HART

LUBBOCK, July 26—The combined offensive of the Southerners, smothered through eight innings of play, broke loose when the chips were down and finally paid dividends as Jodie Tate's forces wrangled an 11-inning 10-9 decision from the North in the WT-NM league's first annual all-star classic before 5,000 fans here Tuesday evening.

Ushered back into the ball game by Emmett Fullenwider's three run homer in the ninth after being outscored and outplayed through the early rounds, the team from "Dixie" finally won in the second extra inning when Billy Capps, Big Spring's talented third sacker, walloped one of Roscoe Hunt's offerings for a line double into right field that scored Fullenwider from the keystone sack. The Lamesan had singled as the frame's leadoff man and gone to the half way point on a wild pitch by Hunt.

Back In Game

Fullenwider's surprising ninth inning whiff came after two men had been retired and with Bobby Decker and Pat Stacey on the paths. The sensational wallop, a drive that cleared the centerfield wall with yards to spare, climaxed a rally that sent five runs across the dish for the Southerners. Jimmy Kerr and Bob Wooten had scored earlier on Decker's single and Salty Parker's fly into left field.

The Northerners had punished Lee Harris, fourth South twirler, in the eighth and ninth innings collecting three runs in each round. They made a last valiant effort in the tenth when Hunt scored from third base on Seitz's double but Kerr tied it up shortly by doubling, taking third on Bob Wooten's infield roller and crossing the pan on a nifty squeeze play which had Harris as the swinger.

Seitz's four base blows—a home run, two doubles and a single—were particularly outstanding. Edgie Guynes, another Pampfan, also had four hits.

Fullenwider shared hitting honors for the South along with Wooten. The Lamesan center-fielder had a double and a single along with his home run while Wooten had two doubles and a single.

Of the pitchers, the South's Lefty Lucas and Frankie Grabek of the Northerners turned in commendable jobs. Neither gave up a run in the three innings they worked.

Play by play:

SOUTH—Decker drove out to Nell in right. Parker singled through second base. Stacey lofted to Smith in deep left. Fullenwider struck out. No run, no hit, no error.

SECOND INNING:
NORTH—Nell drew a base on balls but was forced at second base on Harrison's ground ball, Capps throwing to Decker for the putout. Wagner forced Harrison at second.

M'NEILL IS PLAYER TO WATCH IN FUTURE NET COMPETITION

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 26 (AP)—He was overlooked when they drew the seedings for the Seabright tennis tournament, but fellow members of the tennis fraternity agreed today the man to watch in this and coming competition is tow-headed Donald McNeill of Oklahoma.

McNeill is regarded as one of the most improved of America's younger players and a certain bet to be raised several notches higher than his present No. 13 ranking when the 1939 season is over.

McNeill, who played his first competitive tennis at Classen high school, Oklahoma City, later in intercollegiate ranks as a student of Kenyon college in Gambier, O., won the national indoor title in 1937. His latest major triumph was scored in the French hardcourt championships where he defeated Bobby Riggs in the final.

After polishing off Donald Lubric and J. Gilbert Hall in first and second round matches, McNeill faced his first major test of the present tournament today against Gardner Mulloy, hard-hitting youngster from Coral Gables, Fla.

Mulloy, seeded sixth in the tournament, holds two victories over McNeill.

Riggs, seeded sixth in the tournament, had two victories over McNeill.

Riggs, defending champion who lost only three games yesterday in polishing off Carlton Wood, was matched against Frank Guernsey, of Orlando, Fla., the intercollegiate champion.

Outstanding women's match today brought Dorothy May Bundy, the top-seeded player from Santa Monica, Calif., against Marilyn McRae, of Little Rock, Ark., in a quarter-final test.

With this set-up Stan Schino homered.

Pitcher Bobby Coombs of the Sports suffered a broken nose in batting practice before the game.

Clay Touchstone pitched his 14th win of the season as the Dallas Rebels defeated Beaumont's Exporters, 7 to 2.

Houston's Buffs scored two runs in the first inning and were never headed, downing the Oklahoma City Indians, 7 to 5.

The leading San Antonio Missions collected three runs off Fred Marberry in the first inning, enough to defeat Fort Worth, 3 to 2.

TWO GAMES SLATED

WACO, July 26 (AP)—Two games will feature the state semi-pro baseball tournament here tonight. Mount Pleasant will clash with Victoria and Temple will battle San Augustine.

The Seven-Up team of Austin nosed out the Nacogdoches Lumberjacks, 4 to 3 last night and won the right to meet the Waco Dons Thursday night.

WALDORF LEADS

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern University held a slim lead today in the nation-wide poll to select a staff of coaches to direct the college all-stars in their game with the New York Giants, pro football champions, Aug. 30.

The coach receiving the largest total vote will be head coach. He will have as assistants the four who poll the highest total for their respective sections of the country. The standings included:
South—Leo Meyer, Texas Christian, 1,330; Bernie Moore, Louisiana State, 1,233; Bob Neyland, Tennessee, 1,208.

PROTEST UNNECESSARY

HOUSTON, July 26 (AP)—Manager Al Vincent of the Beaumont baseball team played a Texas league game with Houston under protest because a Houston fan clapped and shouted in time as a loudspeaker blared out the Beer Barrel Polka. He felt better at the end of the game, though. Beaumont won.

Louis Janick, who has been treated rather roughly of late, goes to the hill seeking his eleventh victory.

Hawaiian May Be Best Bet In Publinks

Art Armstrong Ties For Medal Honors With 3 Others

By BILL BONT

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP)—Though it's rarely safe to go out on a limb for one man when there are 63 others in the same competition with him, this corner would like to edge out far enough to predict that Arthur Armstrong, handsome young Hawaiian shipping clerk, will go to the finals of the 18th national public links golf championship.

But to get that far he'll first have to battle his way through four 18-hole matches, then through a 36-hole semi-final, and he'll have to do it in the tougher half of the draw. In there against him will be two of the three with whom he tied for the medal yesterday at 144, Jack Taulman of Columbus, Ind., and Gerry Bert, Jr., of Seattle. Luke Barnes, 19, of Atlanta, was the fourth shotmaker in the 144 bracket.

But after watching Armstrong play difficult Mount Pleasant park course in even-par 72 for two days in a row, it still seems a good bet. In addition the Hawaiian led, for all of the fact he's only 21, has an edge in tournament experience on the other three co-medallists. This is his fourth national public links tourney, whereas Barnes is playing in his second and Bert and Taulman are in it for the first time.

Armstrong is matched with Ade Fordham of St. Paul for his first man-to-man engagement.

Barnes, who looked to have drawn the easiest berth in the match-play draw, met Ted Gwin of Tulsa, Okla. Bert was matched with Bob Clark of St. Paul and Cleveland with Louis Cyr of Vancouver, Wash., runner-up to Al Leach at Cleveland in 1938.

The Clivio Pioneers had the more men in the classic but the mighty Pampfans dominated the picture for the North. Of the 13 hits the Ratliffmen garnered, the Oiler gunners accounted for ten of them.

Most impressive pitching job was contributed by Lamesa's Lefty Lucas who worked the first three innings for the Southerners. Lucas allowed two men on the paths, one more than did his mound opponent Frankie Grabek of Pampa, but Grabek was saved of possible trouble on two occasions on circus catches by his gardeners.

The crowd started gathering for the classic as early as 7 o'clock. Forty-five minutes later every seat in the Lubbock stands was filled and umbrellas were guiding the late comers to standing room near the fences.

The arbitring of Don Frits, Earl Cartwright, Buster Capps and Steve Smith was worthy of praise.

Waner's 2000th Appearance Aids In Buc Victory

PITTSBURGH, July 26 (AP)—Paul Waner didn't get a swing at the ball in his 2,000th major league game.

He was pinch hitting with the bases loaded in the 10th yesterday when pitcher Hugh Mulcahy's wild heave left in two runs that gave the Pirates a 5-4 win over the Phillies.

Through Final Drills

DES MOINES, Ia., July 26 (AP)—Nearly 200 of the nation's foremost feminine aquatic stars went through final workouts today in preparation for the opening tomorrow of the Women's National A.A.U. swimming and diving meet.

A single minor accident marred yesterday's practice. Arlita Smith, entrant of the Medinah club of Chicago, was injured when she slipped while attempting a backward somersault.

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

Notes on the all-star game:
Bob Wooten has asked us to express his thanks for the support given him for the first basing job in the classic. The Dallas youth, who responded nobly by collecting three of the South's hits and playing a bang-up game afield, was given a new automobile by his family for gaining the honor.

Grover Seitz's home run off Jodie Marek in the fourth round, the first tally of the ball game, came off Marek's first offering. Both Seitz and Emmett Fullenwider, who hit or the circuit after two were out in the ninth stanza, received $7.50 in prize money for their feats.

Billy Capps' catch of Hack Harrison's line drive in the sixth brought a roar from the tremendous throng. The blow was like a rifle shot but the Baron third sacker watched it all the way and held onto it.

Neal Rabe, the Amarillo pilot, chosen as the alternate catcher of the North's squad but who had to pass up the chance of playing because of an ankle injury, suited out to coach at the first base line. His clowning antics delighted the mob.

Ernie Potocar, Borger's only representative, was the only player of the 30 chosen who did not see action. Potocar served as bull-pen catcher.

Bob Summers, who shouldered the back stopping duties for Dick Ratliff's team, is a brother to Al Summers, the respected Hubber semi-pro star who recently joined the Borger team.

Salty Parker, the south's short stop, almost dropped Seitz's pop fly in the initial frame, grabbing it a second time after performing a juggling feat with the lemon. Seitz, the real star of the show, executed a nifty steal of third base off Lee Harris in the eighth round, gaining the station even before Harris had completed his throw to Jimmy Kerr.

DONALD TAMES BROWNS FOR 12TH WIN

By GAYLE TALBOT

A pair of great pitchers, one on the threshold of a brilliant career and the other in the twilight of his reign, divided cheery of the baseball world about equally today.

It was hard to say which gave his followers the greatest thrill, young Atley Donald of the Yankees in pitching his 12th straight victory, or Carl Hubbell, the Giants' famous veteran, in coming out of virtual seclusion to beat the St. Louis Cards 6-5, in 13 innings.

Hubbell's feat was the more dramatic, for when he went out there as a sort of forlorn hope yesterday the Giants had lost their last nine games and were deep in the dumps.

For three tense hours his creaky left arm had its old wizardry. For the last seven innings he allowed the cards only two hits, until his teammates Mel Ott and Frank Demaree finally rewarded him with winning home runs in the 13th inning. It was only Hub's third win of the year.

Though he didn't have to strive so hard for victory, Donald's smooth performance in beating the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 1, served to spotlight one of the most amazing streaks in diamond history. He's already set a record for consecutive wins by a first-year pitcher.

Hubbell's triumph, while spectacular, had no appreciable effect on the National league race. The Cincinnati Reds increased their lead over the field to 10 full games by taking the Boston Bees under the lights, 3 to 1. Bucky Walters held the Bees to three hits in pitching his 17th victory of the year.

Brooklyn opened its western trip by knocking the Chicago Cubs off twice, 5 to 6, and 3 to 1.

Pittsburgh scored a lucky win over the Phils, 5 to 4, the tying and winning run scampering across in the ninth when Hugh Mulcahy uncorked a wild pitch.

The Red Sox tightened their grip on second place in the American with a double win over the challenging Chicago White Sox, 3 to 2 and 6 to 5.

NEW BOWLING MARK IS SET

Scoring 1720 pins in eight games for an average of 215 a game, J. C. Douglass, Jr., established what is believed to be a local bowling record in practice at the Casadena Alleys Tuesday afternoon.

In a series of three games, Douglass had a mark of 717 pins.

CIO Invading Construction Trade Unions

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—John L. Lewis set out today to challenge dominance of the AFL in its major stronghold—the building construction industry.

The CIO leader announced yesterday establishment of the United Construction Workers Organizing Committee, placed his younger brother, A. D. Lewis, at the head of it, and marked out what may become the line of a new battle front in the four-year-old labor war.

Gib Faircloth Sends Notice Of Entry

Morgan And Rainey Loom As Early Favorites

Odessa golfing circles may be represented in the Big Spring Muni Invitational golf tournament July 28-29-30 by as many as 15 players, Matt Harrington, secretary of the Big Spring Golf association, predicted after a recent trip to that vicinity.

Heading the Odessa delegation will be Eddie Morgan, a former resident of Big Spring, Bob Farmer and Red Hill. Harrington said that Morgan Hill might compete here.

An outstanding threat will be Gib Faircloth, now of Monahan, a veteran campaigner of years past who notified Pro Harold Akey this morning that he would be on hand.

A large delegation from San Angelo is expected.

On the band wagon of Jake Morgan has hopped many a local enthusiast during the past week. The local iron artist, who holds the course record, has been impressive in practice drills and looks at the present time the classiest of the lot. He seems to be perfectly at ease on the grass carpets.

Respected, too, is Guy Talney, the long hitting Foran star who has been lengthening his practice drills.

Low bids set up on road projects in Ector County

Coogan-Gable Don't Agree On Whether Marriage Is 'Off'

HOLLYWOOD, July 26 (AP)—The Jackie Coogan-Betty Grable romance, which blows hot and cold, alternately, every few months, was decidedly cold today from "the kid's" standpoint, but as warm as ever on the word of blonde Betty herself.

"We're separated and I regret to say we just don't seem to hit it off," Jackie said. "I don't know what Betty's plans are. Perhaps she plans a divorce. As far as I am concerned, that doesn't fit in with my scheme of things. I am a Catholic."

out to Stasey. Three runs, two hits, no error.
SOUTH—Kerr took four bad pitches for a life. Wooten doubled, dispatching Kerr to third. Harris whiffed. Decker singled, scoring Kerr and sending Wooten to third. Parker's sacrifice to Smith in left scored Wooten. Stasey's single sent Decker to third. Fullenwider's home run tied the score. Hunt replaced Dorman on the hill for the North. Capps greeted him with a line double that almost cleared the fence in left field. Carr kicked to Smith. Five runs, five hits, no error.

TENTH INNING:
NORTH—Hunt, working from a three-two pitch, singled. Barnhill's sacrifice to Wooten sent the runner to second. Harris, taking Smith's ground ball, attempted to "catch" Hunt off second, Parker taking the throw. Unsuccessful, Parker rifled the ball to first in time to slip Smith. Seitz doubled, scoring Hunt. Nell was passed. Harrison took a futile swing at a third one. One run, two hits, no error.

SOUTH—Kerr doubled off the right field wall. Wooten's ground ball to Guynes sent the runner to third. Harris' bunt sent Kerr scurrying home. Wagner made the play at the plate but his throw was tardy. Decker singled, sending Harris to second. Parker lifted to Smith. Stasey forced Harris at third. Harrison making the putout unassisted. One run, two hits, no error.

ELEVENTH INNING:
NORTH—Wagner rolled out, Parker to Wooten. Guynes fanned. Summers bounded out, Decker to Wooten. No run, no hit, no error.

SOUTH—Fullenwider singled and went to second on Hunt's wild toss. Capps broke up the ball game with a double into right field. One run, two hits, no error.

The Man's Got A Very Strong Plea
SALT LAKE CITY, July 26 (AP)—Floyd J. Daniels is not a drinking man, he told the Salt Lake City commission, and he thinks he should be released from "working out" a $150 fine levied upon him last December 22 on his plea of guilty to a drunken driving charge. Besides, he's had plenty of troubles since the arrest he declared resulted when he had a few beers to celebrate the advent of Christmas, became ill while driving and rammed another automobile in his haste to find a parking place. Here's the story Daniels told the commission: His wife came to visit him in jail and threatened to divorce him because of the arrest. That rattled him so much he pleaded guilty. His driver's license was suspended for a year and he's had to hire another man to operate his trucking business. Working out the fine prevents him from keeping his

IN THE MARKET FOR A WIFE

PHILADELPHIA, July 26 (AP)—Jobless Grant Franklin Solt, 35 and "in good physical condition except that I am underweight," will marry "any woman with sufficient income to support us both until I can find a job." "My needs are simple," Solt said yesterday in a public appeal for a wife. "All I ask is a home and a chance to eat regularly." He hitch-hiked here from Allentown, Pa., and announced he would marry for support or "work at anything." He is five feet, six inches tall, weighs 121 pounds and has brown hair, blue eyes and "good teeth."

hall—it's the room at the end." Cecily said, "Thank you, Mrs. Dalton," in a small voice. She marched down the hall, turned down the passage to the ell which was over the kitchen and according to the plan of the house nailed to the pantry door, was designated as the servants' quarters. She would have known that without the designation. The "room at the end" bore little resemblance to the big rooms she had seen in the morning. It contained a small bed, a low dresser and a chest of drawers—all painted pink. Cecily remembered them. They had been the furnishings of Gloria's bedroom when she was a child. It contained, as well, an old-fashioned rocker with a green plush seat, a table on which there was a bowl and basin, and back of this there was a towel rack with fresh towels which told plainly that the room as not accompanied by a private bath. There were straight, spotless curtains of a variety called "sunsh-curtains" the window. Cecily's suitcase was the straight bed-chair. Stoney, she unpacked her thin and stonily hung them up in the small closet. Then she set out in the old-fashioned rocking-chair and met the fact that she was poor relation." It was no melodramatic reasoning on Cecily's part that caused her to arrive at that conclusion. Too many small remarks, too many duties, the incidents of financial arrangements on the North and finally her assignment to this room, added up to that she "So what to do, Miss Stuart she asked Miss Stuart, who look back at her unhappily from the mirror. Then she grinned. "Ma the most of it is the Stuart most she said and felt better. Continued tomorrow.

THREE-FINGERED WARNING

Nature does produce some things that are unkind to man—but she usually advertises their poisonous presence. For instance, the shiny three-fingered leaves of poison ivy shout "Danger: Keep Out" to any one familiar with the Great Outdoors.

The advertising which men do to their fellow men is of a different sort. We advertise the good things, and do not mention those we've found not good.

There's a reason for that. Merchants know that if they call attention to inferior merchandise, their reputation and consequently their business will suffer.

That is why you can safely rely on advertised products. Make a habit of reading the advertisements—and see how much time, money and shopping grief you save yourself!

FLIRTING PARROT
WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., July 26 (AP)—Mike, the peripatetic parrot, is philandering. He escaped from his owner three weeks ago and turned up his beak when she put his mate, Biddy, under a tree to lure him down. Scorning all entreaties and slinging parrots, he flew from tree to tree and beckoned home on a poultry farm. Now Mike's flirting with another parrot—and is Biddy burned up.

teer fire fighters to reach the scene. He estimated about 20 guests were in the hotel when the fire began.

"I went through the first two floors," he said, "arousing people and trying to reach the third, but the flaming stairway blocked me."

Judge Henderson said on the second floor he found one man still abed, ignorant of the blaze above him.

The judge called to him and the man got up, dressed partly, nonchalantly flicked off the light and emerged.

The hotel carried insurance. Miss Ida Mae Fant, daughter of the owner, and Earl Thomas, night clerk, were the only two occupants of third floor rooms known to have been able to get down the stairs safely.

Thomas was the first person out. Miss Fant said she tossed a coat over her head and dashed through the flames. Both emerged without injury.

tions and had seen no pictures. "We were cruising around last night when our headlights caught the two as they crossed a street intersection," said Daniel. The officers jumped from the car, and arrested the girls.

"They made no effort to escape but seemed frightened," Buchanan said.

Both women refused to talk of their escape other than to say they used a set of keys. Four women participated in the break. The other two were Florence Sheline and Virginia Brawdy. The Sheline girl left the outside the gates, and the other three began heading west.

They obtained rides, mostly from truck drivers, and made a round about trip to Texas. They spent the first night in Richmond, Ind., and the next in Memphis at a tourist cabin. They came through Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas and Louisiana.

"Everybody was nice to us," said the Richards girl, 23-year-old brunette. She is five feet, seven inches tall and weighs 170 pounds. Vivacious, she wisecracked with officers while answering questions.

The three girls reached Dallas three weeks ago and Mrs. West went work at a tavern. The other two girls decided to return to Ohio for a visit and left two weeks ago for Cincinnati. There the Brawdy girl decided to leave the others and when Miss Richards learned officers were watching her old home, she returned to Dallas, arriving three days ago.

Mrs. West said she decided to escape after she had given up hope of receiving a pardon. "I don't know whether you would call this a fling but I did want to see some of the outside world," she declared.

"It was my first trip out of Ohio. "I wouldn't call my last three weeks exactly a good time, and I wouldn't escape again if I had the

New Statute On Gas Tax Refunds

Farmers and gasoline dealers, as well as all others who under the law are entitled to a refund in gasoline taxes, were urged here Thursday by Raymond Hanks of the state comptroller's staff to study terms of a new state law affecting these rebates effective Sept. 1.

The new statute was passed to close loopholes in the old law which contributed to apparently excessive refunds. Gasoline taxes this year promise to be around $52,000,000 and indications are that refunds will claim about $7,000,000 of this amount, said Hanks.

Since farmers are among the largest users of gasoline upon which the tax is paid, Hanks called attention to changes in the law which permit tax refunds only when gasoline is purchased through licensed dealers.

A few of the cardinal changes follow: (1) After Sept. 1 taxes may be refunded only on fuel purchased through licensed dealers; (2) dealers in motor fuel must obtain licenses and failure to do so makes them to criminal prosecution; (3) licenses and invoices of exemption will be furnished dealers on application free of charge; (4) invoices will be serially numbered and accurate accounts of all invoices must be kept by dealer (no other form may be used in seeking refunds); (5) dealer is required to keep accurate record of all motor fuel sold for period of two years; (6) blank invoices are not transferable unless authorized by comptroller, hence lending or giving of exemption invoices is prohibited; (7) invoices must be issued at time of delivery of the motor fuel in contrast to current requirement of issuance at time of sale.

(5) dealer is required to keep accurate record of all motor fuel sold for period of two years; (6) blank invoices are not transferable unless authorized by comptroller, hence lending or giving of exemption invoices is prohibited; (7) invoices must be issued at time of delivery of the motor fuel in contrast to current requirement of issuance at time of sale.

Distribution of $1,540.44 to rural schools of Howard county in transportation aid was announced Wednesday by Anne Martin, county superintendent.

The amount, which was the net figure after a one per cent deduction was made for cashing the warrants, completed the 80 per cent which will be received here for transportation aid during the school year of 1938-39. Previously Miss Martin had apportioned $2,453 (less deduction) for this purpose.

Checks were sent to schools and to individuals, in the latter case to those who transported their own children to school.

Districts securing the major portion of the funds were Knott, Gay Hill and Ackerly.

Fiddlers Contest Is Scheduled At Old Timers Reunion Friday

Program details were shaping up rapidly Wednesday for the 15th annual reunion of the Howard County Old Settlers association Friday at Cottonwood Park one mile east of the city.

T. J. McKinney, vice-president of the association, announced that there would be an old fiddlers contest under the direction of J. S. "Jim" Winslow, and that prizes would be awarded to winning fiddlers.

B. Reagan, chairman of the program committee, has returned from Washington and is preparing entertainment and brief addresses by old timers. Public address equipment for the gathering will be furnished by Carnett's.

A new 60-foot platform is being put in place for old fashioned dancing Friday and Saturday evenings when Bill Thompson, a left-handed fiddler of no mean ability, will round up a string band to play for dances popular two score years ago.

All who were in Howard county prior to 1910 and their families are urged by officials of the association to attend the reunion. Likewise, pioneers of Dawson, Borden, Martin and Glasscock counties are invited to participate.

While the old timers are to bring picnic lunches, there will be a quantity of food on hand to supplement the fare. There is to be an abundance of coffee, and all who wish some are reminded to bring their own cups.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Early to Go

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE
The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE
A sure bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." No medicine, gentle, yet sure in its action. Buy a box of Carter's Little Liver Pills for 25c. It's money you can't get back.

Lions President Gives Club Report On Convention

Dr. J. E. Hogan, president of the Lions club and delegate to the recent international convention in Pittsburgh, Wednesday brought back to the local club a message of international good will and unselfish service, themes which dominated the annual gathering.

Progressive growth of the organization was cited by the delegate who outlined some of the convention high spots among them an address by Alvin Owsley, ambassador to Denmark, on "Over There and Over Here."

Dr. Hogan's address followed one by Sheley Riley on the activities of Lions clubs in which he cited the solidarity of the units because of their foundation in service and fellowship.

Following the theme of an all-Lions program, a quartet under the direction of Ray Ogden and consisting of himself, Virgil Smith, Dan Hudson and Dan Conley sang two selections.

Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick, club pianist, was heard in a piano solo and then teamed with Conley in a piano duet.

Ludwig Grau, former club secretary, formally inducted Dr. Allen Hamilton into the club. Joe Pickett presented E. J. McDaniel with a past president's pin and Grau with a past secretary's pin. J. H. Greene and Ogden arranged the program.

Seaman To Face A Murder Hearing On August 3

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 26 (AP)—Eze Swan, 42, of Gladewater, was held without bail in Providence county jail today to await hearing August 3 on federal charges of murder and assault on the high seas.

Swann, taken from irons aboard the Texas oil tanker Dunganon yesterday, pleaded innocent to a charge of murder in the hammer slaying of steward Jasse Ortega, 27, of Port Arthur, and to a charge of assault in the wounding of officer Herbert L. Dean of New Orleans, U. S. Commissioner James J. McCabe ordered him held.

Officers said Ortega, who was married, with Dean as best man, two hours before the ship sailed from Port Arthur, was attacked in the ship's pantry and Dean was beaten as he entered the compartment a little later.

The officers added that Swann threw away a hammer and jumped overboard after the attacks, which occurred off Norfolk, Va., last Sunday, but he was rescued and placed in irons. Dean was taken by coast guardsmen to a Norfolk hospital.

RESTING COMFORTABLY

Miss Dorothy Dublin, in Big Spring hospital following an attack of infantile paralysis a week ago, was resting more comfortably Wednesday afternoon, it was reported by hospital attendants. It was necessary, however, for her to remain in the "iron lung" for artificial respiration. Miss Dublin was placed in the device a week ago.

MASS FLIGHTS FOR PLANE ANNIVERSARY

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—A signal from President Roosevelt, the army air corps expected to send some 1,200 warplanes in mass flights over 64 cities on Aug. 2, thirtieth anniversary of the military plane.

The war department announced today the list of cities to be visited by planes in groups of 15 to 150 from 11 fields, taking off simultaneously at 10 a. m.

From air corps training center, Randolph Field, Texas; Waco, Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and Galveston.

Sayre Given Island Post

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt nominated Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Sayre today to be United States high commissioner to the Philippine Islands.

Mr. Roosevelt sent Sayre's nomination to the senate. He would replace Paul V. McNutt, who resigned to become Federal Security administrator.

Sayre was appointed assistant secretary of state by President Roosevelt in November, 1933. He has been in charge of Secretary Hull's trade agreement program.

In Philippine matters he came to the fore when named chairman of the interdepartmental committee on Philippine affairs in 1933. He has championed the idea of gradually eliminating the Philippine Islands' economic ties with the United States over a long period of years instead of terminating them abruptly when the Philippines obtain their political independence in 1946.

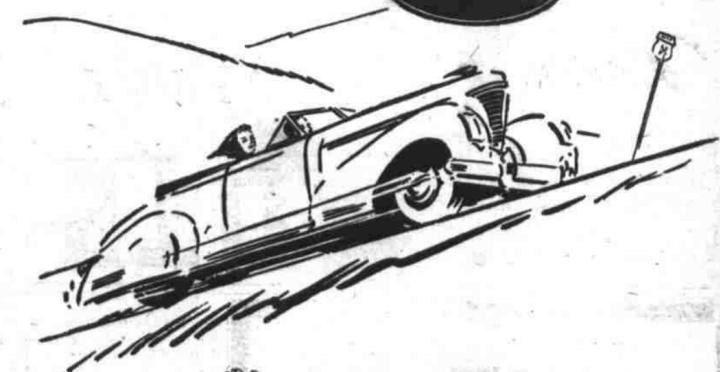

Sayre was acting chairman in 1937 of the joint preparatory committee on Philippine affairs which worked out a plan for gradual reduction of Philippine preferential tariffs in this country so they would disappear entirely in 1950.

Already he had had many years of experience in Far Eastern affairs.
