By HONEST BILL

Superintendent J. B. Speers of the Morse Public Schools has just received word from the state board of education that the Morse High School has been given two additional credits of affiliation. These credits are awarded on the subjects of "World History, Civics, Economics."

This additional credits make a total of 12 and 1-2 affiliated credits for the school. Three credits were received last year and nine and one half credits this year, and this year's work included credit in fourth year English, which is an outstanding accomplishment for a school of Morse's classification.

One of the truly talented newspaper men of the Panhandle has written "30" at the close of his life, and passed on into the beyond.

Sam Holman, Editor and publisher of the Hereford Brand, at the time of his death, was buried at his home city last Friday.

It was fitting that this character so well loved and respected by the newspaper fraternity of the Panhandle, should take his last assignment on the publication he builded to a place of prominence in Texas.

Mr. Holman published the Hereford Brand for nearly a quarter of a century, and in the last few years of his life he was associated with the Amarillo News-Globe as head of the agriculture department of that paper. When his health would not permit the hard grind of the daily publication he went back to his first love, and purchased the Hereford Brand.

He will be missed by the folk of Hereford and Deaf Smith Co., and no one can take his place in the newspaper world of the Panhandle.

Information coming from Judge J. H. Broadhurst is to the effect that the Commissioners Court will call an election to decide whether Hansford County will be "dry" or "wet". This election will be called on days before August 26th, the date the election will be held. It is the general opinion that the election will be called to settle the question of 3.2 beer. However, it is the writers opinion that the matter of local option would cover alcoholic beverages of all kinds, and if the county of Hansford goes "wet" and the 18th amendment is repealed whiskey can be sold without another election.

Any individual concerned about the matter can perhaps gain the desired information before voting August 26th.

Judge Broadhurst stated the election here in August would be county-wide, and that if the voters of any precinct was not satisfied with the results they could petition for precinct elections later under conditions prescribed by the law.

Those of you who have not visited S. B. Hale on his potato farm should do so. Course he can't afford to invite all of you to bring along a basket and carry back a mess of potatoes like he did this writer, but you will be repaid for your visit by seeing the potatoes, "Paw" Hale and listening to his talk irrigation.

Mr. Hale is certainly enthused over the possibilities of irrigation in the Palo Duro Valley, and he is the means of providing a comfortable living to 400 families in the Valley.

"One thing we like to have forgot is to tell you that S. B. sure does like a farmer. He admits that he has lost twenty pounds, and says he has traded it for ten more years of life."

Folks really do not know how important they are. Take for example Bro. Nichols. For the first time that this writer remembers, the paper is appearing without a church announcement from the Methodist church. Rev. Nichols was out of the city attending the League encampment and the Reporter was unable to secure the necessary information. We feel safe in assuring the public that the regular services will be held at the church Sunday, and that you will not be disappointed in attending all of the church services. Preacher Nichols, the next time you leave town without turning in your information necessary when you announce your services, I am sure you will vote the 3.2 ticket. That will cure you.

Miss Margarite Henderson who has been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cooke left for her home at Lubbock. She will leave with her partner for the World's Fair at Chicago. Returning in September she will visit in Texas where she will be in the rear.

Next Tuesday the 30th of July the price on the work...

Democratic "New Deal" Reviving Business

This issue of the Reporter is being mailed to every citizen of Hansford County through the courtesy of the advertisers of the paper who have made it possible by their liberal patronage, to present in a small way, some of the ideals of the "new deal" being enacted by the present Democratic Administration.

A General View of The New Deal

So rapid and efficient have been acts and plans of the new Democratic Administration that the average citizen will not admit he or she knows just what is going on. The public was caught in a rather confused mood and state of mind when the recent election registered the landslide for the Democratic party. Drastic conditions demanded radical changes and above all ACTION. In this respect the general public could find no fault with the Congress and Executive and Administrative arms of our national government. From the hour that Roosevelt took the helm of the ship of state, the government has been in troubled water, and one emergency after another has been carried to a successful termination.

Empowered with more authority than any peace time president in the history of the nation Franklin D. Roosevelt seemed to have assembled a collection of associates who are determined to help him bring the people of the United States out from the chaotic conditions of unemployment, business distress, overproduction and waste into an orderly condition of peaceful domestic life, with a positive guarantee of a living wage for every man or woman who is willing and capable of working.

Without reviewing any of the emergency acts of the administration which have stabilized banking and given immediate relief to the distressed, the writer would rather get into the discussion of the "New Deal" proper.

Largely speaking the group organizations to enact the "New Deal" are classified as NIRA, (National Industrial Relief Administrator), and FRA, (Farm Relief Administration).

Under the classification first named comes the Federal building program which promises to expend three billion three hundred million dollars to relieve unemployment of the nation. This vast sum to be expended by the Federal government is to be distributed over the nation in the form of road construction, public building, reclamation work, and civic improvements. Aside from the money spent outright in a national program of improvement, the new administration provide a revolving fund for financing projects in the communities of the nation, classified as self liquidating. In some classifications of this nature the Federal government makes gifts up to 30 per cent of the total cost of the project, as an encouragement to stimulate REAL self liquidating projects. Some such projects that have been financed are hospitals, swimming pools, parks. However, a misguided public who have thought that the immediate needs would justify presenting projects that could have no logical possibility of self liquidation, have clogged up this cog in the industrial recovery machinery. In our own state several thousand applications have been made for financing self liquidating projects and only a small per centage have met the acid test of business logic.

At the outset of this national program, the government of this present Franklin D. Roosevelt, is taking an about face policy to that pursued by the government of the former President Hoover. The Republican administration encouraged competition, and the present plans calls for stifling competition. Visualized broadly, the plan of the present organization is to demand a complete survey of the possible market for manufactured products, and limit production to meet each separate industry so organized itself that a logical ratio of production will be allotted to the individual units in the industry.

Having met these requirements, the government is demanding that the skilled and unskilled labor that is used to produce manufactured products, share in the income from sales of the products in a ratio that will insure them a comfortable existence. To bring about this result, each industry is organized, a code of ethics adopted and a minimum wage set up, for the approval of the government. So far only the textile industry have complied with the government demands, but the bulk of industrial units are expected to submit their code of ethics during the month of August.

and received the first approval of the administering board.

The Three Billion Dollar Program

The large work program visualized by the administration "brain trust" which is calculated to place millions of unemployed, back to work is hardly under-way. In our own state the only immediate effect that has been felt to date is the twenty four million Federal appropriation for state road work.

This sum comes under the administration of the State Highway Commission, and right at the present time plans are being completed for a state-wide road construction and surfacing campaign. In Hansford county a sum amounting to as much as fifty thousand dollars has already been appropriated by the Highway Commission for surfacing highway 88. In addition, this week a committee of Hansford men met with similar committees over the drought area of nine adjoining counties to consider securing additional funds from the federal government to improve and construct lateral roads in the county. Thus we see tangible results of NIRA in Hansford county.

As a separate, and yet corollated project of the Industrial Recovery Act, government agencies are at the present time in the midst of reorganizing industry on a national basis, having for its object, the creation of more jobs, the stabilization of wages, and the elimination of competitive waste in the manufacture and distribution of products throughout the nation.

At the outset of this national program, the government of this present Franklin D. Roosevelt, is taking an about face policy to that pursued by the government of the former President Hoover. The Republican administration encouraged competition, and the present plans calls for stifling competition. Visualized broadly, the plan of the present organization is to demand a complete survey of the possible market for manufactured products, and limit production to meet each separate industry so organized itself that a logical ratio of production will be allotted to the individual units in the industry.

Having met these requirements, the government is demanding that the skilled and unskilled labor that is used to produce manufactured products, share in the income from sales of the products in a ratio that will insure them a comfortable existence. To bring about this result, each industry is organized, a code of ethics adopted and a minimum wage set up, for the approval of the government. So far only the textile industry have complied with the government demands, but the bulk of industrial units are expected to submit their code of ethics during the month of August.

To protect industry against losses should unfair competition disrupt the smooth path of production, the government stands ready to step in and close out an individual unit of industry should this unit not conform with all the specifications of their code of ethics. Thus no unit of industry would have the opportunity to cut prices on manufactured goods with cheap labor, inferior materials or the various infringement of honest competition.

Furthermore, the government has for its ultimate object the standardization of prices in industry. Where manufactured articles have the same standard, the government hopes to ensure an approximate consumer price.

FARM RELIEF ACT

At the apex of the distressing conditions that have prevailed in this nation for four years, the farmer owner of perhaps 70 per cent of the earth's surface, of the nation found himself figuratively speaking, in the most embarrassing condition of any classification of the national population. Involved with obligations for land and machinery and other equipment in amounts that required diligence and economy to liquidate in normal times, the average farmer of the nation saw from two to four years production placed on the market of the nation at a net loss of from ten to fifty per cent of production cost. His earning power over this period was not only zero but the valuation of his major investment, his land, dropped steadily. The land he purchased sagaciously in 1926 to 1929 became a liability, and many farmers saw the earnings of a lifetime melt away in changed valuation of land and farm improvements.

In the period of attempted readjustment many farms changed ownership, and thrifty loyal, inherent farmers with a background of many years honest production, became members of the vast army of unemployed.

Demotors Rescue Farmers This was the picture when the Democrats took over the government. It was not a pleasing picture, nor was it an easy undertaking to snatch the farmer from utter ruin and place him back on a substantial basis, where he could again hold up his head as an honest laborer worthy of his hire. Most important, was to provide for him a working opportunity to liquidate his indebtedness and become a potential consumer of the products of industry.

Farm Recovery Legislation First and most important at the time the new administration assumed control was to take steps to delay legal foreclosure on farm property. State governments protected the farmers with legislative enactments, that left the farmer a breathing spell to take invoice and make his plans for a future that would include the liquidation of his indebtedness.

National Loan Banks Viewing the farmer in his plight of liquidating indebtedness under such abnormal conditions as above pictured, the Democratic administration began immediate action to relieve conditions. Farm loan banks were provided with more funds to loan to farmers, and more liberal terms and lower rates of interest were offered farmers thru-out the country. Since the Democratic administration has taken charge of the government many thousand farmers in the nation have been refinanced by the government loan banks at lower rates of interest and more suitable terms than private loan companies could or would offer. Here in Hansford county more than 20 loans have been made and near eighty more applications are on file awaiting approval. This same ratio of farm loans is probably being made all over the nation, and gradually the distress farmer with equity in farm land will have an honest opportunity to save his investment.

Insure Profitable Production Not satisfied with taking the farmer out of the immediate danger of confiscation of his property, the administration set about regulating production and guaranteeing a profitable price for farm products. The two principle crops of the nation, cotton and wheat have been selected by the government, and by means of a processing tax, an attempt is being made to limit production to market demands, and at the same time give the farmer a liberal price for his production. This feature of the new deal, and other interesting angles are explained in other write-ups appearing in this issue of the paper.

Nation - Wide In Scope

The Administrative board of the Industrial Recovery Act, proposes to be nation wide in its scope of regulations. We gather from the information that is available in the daily paper comments that the board proposes to watch every step of industry from the time the raw material is taken in its native state, until a finished product is sold to the ultimate consumer. The government board proposes to protect the employers so that they will make a comfortable living from 40 hours labor. The board proposes to protect the investor so that he will get a reasonable return from his investment, the board proposes to protect the consumer so that he will pay only a reasonable price for the products that have been produced under the terms of the New Deal. The Industrial board takes the view that when the unemployed are again working at a living wage, the volume of business will so increase that investments will show a reasonable profit. The board proposes that production will be so limited that distress merchandise will not be a drug on the market. The board sees a gradual increase in consumers purchasing power, which will enable a gradual increase in wages a limited increase in returns on unit investments, thus gradually building up a higher valuation on labor and industrial property.

Young, 'Old Timer' Tells Of 1903 Hansford County Picnic

Will Conduct Revival Services In City.

Written by J. C. Jones, M. D.

Days are gone, but not forgotten. Now days you can sit in your home and hear a voice in Berlin Germany, England and nearly all the foreign places, travel from New York to San Francisco thru the air in about nineteen hours and live next door by your good neighbor and never speak to him.

Mack Wyatt, nationally known evangelist, will be in Spearman for a four day "Prophetic Conference" from Thursday July 26th, over Sunday July 30th. Rev. Wyatt is well known in Spearman having conducted two revivals here in the past. He comes here from Wickliffe Falls where he has been conducting a city wide revival and broadcasting daily over KGKO "The Voice of the Plains." Hundreds attended the revival there and greatly enjoyed his highly interesting and timely messages on Prophecy and world conditions.

The services will be held at the Union Church and will begin promptly at eight o'clock each night with a lively song service and special music numbers.

THIEVES WORK IN SFEARMAN LAST SUNDAY NIGHT

Spearman citizens suffered the first wholesale thievery of automobile tires and wheels after midnight Sunday night when fourteen casings and tubes were stolen from automobiles.

Clues left by the thieves reveal that the work was done by three men. They first pushed off a four wheeled trailer belonging to Basil Good who lives in East Spearman. Tracks and traces of their route reveal that the three pushed the trailer over town taking off casings from automobiles and other trailers where ever they came across them.

Buster Cator probably suffered the greatest individual loss caused by the thieves when they jacked up his car. They took the cement door step from his home to hold up the car while they took three of the wheels and casings from his automobile.

C. W. Pettit lost two casings and one wheel from his car. Mr. Parker had four casings stolen from his trailer.

In all their maneuvers about the city no one was aroused and the alarm was not given to officers before early Monday morning. Upon further investigation it was revealed that the thieves left Spearman on the Spearman - Canadian highway as they left the trailer about seven miles from town, after first taking all the casings from it.

Local officers believe that the thieves are connected with a ring of thieves operating over the Panhandle as Canadian and Darrowsett have been visited as Spearman was.

LOCAL YOUTHS IN JAIL IN SPEARMAN

Two local youths were arrested during the latter part of last week on a charge of a number of petty thefts of automobile and tractor parts. The boys confessed to the Sheriff and they are being held in the city jail here pending legal action. They were charged with the theft of a generator from a tractor belonging to Frank Dressing and had taken off other parts to a tractor belonging to Buri Brockus. Both lads are being held on their first misdemeanor and it is thought and hope of several citizens that this reporter has talked to, that the charges will be dismissed against the two and they will be given another chance to prove their eagerness to be as respectable citizens.

But the days that are unforgettable were lived in the early part of the twentieth century when Hansford County and Hutchinson County would hold their annual picnic and complete with each other in all kinds of events.

Early in the morning before modern people wake, the people would begin gathering at the quaint little village of Hansford, straggled in the Palo Duro Valley. Pretty soon the Kingfish of Hutchinson County, W. L. Watters and his warriors would arrive. All would spend an hour or so shaking hands and gather around the stand usually run by Jess Womble and George Hays. It is a known fact that they made six barrels of lemonade from one little lemon. Before long the hilarity was subdued by the noise of what seemed to be a Panhandle sandstorm coming from the South.

In the lead you would find Sid Clarke and Arthur Womble in baseball suits riding some of the wildest horses they could find, cutting the Hutchinson county baseball team into the willars. Then Ace Powers, officer of the day, would announce the free all horse race, which was just a part of the courtesy. We would enter this event. Jeff would generally win as he had a horse both would be full of ending and no one could catch with them. Next the bronze contest would be held. One would try to ride a horse now County Judge Ed J. W. County would manage the horse and win that event.

Then the call of lunch was given and everyone would spread out their baskets in the old courthouse and the quantity of good eats appeared to be enough to gorge the A. E. F. Army, but before long it would all disappear.

After dinner the Carnival was the first big attraction. Archer and Archer, namely Bob and Dan had a merry-go-round made of 200 feet of barbed wire, 4 poles and powered by a donkey, the cost of a ride, 5 cents. Bob would drive the donkey until he got dizzy then Dan would take a circle or two. Odie Archer had a bunch of rag dolls that everyone would their arm off throwing at. Then for the day's address, Judge S. B. Hale and A. E. Townes would generally be the speakers the day. It didn't matter what they spoke about for everyone at the picnic would be talking old times, deaths, marriages, births, and entirely miss the of the address.

The real fights of the day happened at the ball game in the afternoon. Al Barkley was the umpire in chief. Al was good because he could only register strikes on his left hand, and so no one walked, because he did not call balls. You would see the mound for Hansford County, Hix Wilbanks, the famous fade-away ball artist and catching him was the old stone wall, Tom Window. For Hutchinson County Ed Lambert and Jodie Whittenburg were the pitcher, Roscoe Parks catching. With this line-up, two hours of thrilling baseball, until Arthur Womble would break up the game by getting a hit and making home run out of it, because Arthur ran a mile in nine fast. After the game more carnival rides and then supper before starting to the big dance in the courthouse.

The courthouse floor would be cleaned and corn meal put on to make it slick in an adjoining room quilts were spread on the floor where parents put their sleeping children to bed in parallel order, sometimes having to put down more quilts and start another line along a different wall.

M. H. Lackey, George Roland, Wayman Edwards and Jim Edwards would tune up the fiddles and half asleep Max Lackey, a mere lad at that time would slip in and take his place on the organ stool to second. Elmer Waters would say the word and the music and dancing started usually lasting till Old Sol peeped up the next morning. The adjoining room containing the sleeping children was a real convenience. When a child began to fret all the mother had to do was to dance by and nurse him to sleep again. In those days "bottle babies" were unknown.

As the dance broke up, you would notice in the County Clerk's office, Dave and Joe would be there.

Huntsville, Ark July 17 (ap) Huntsville almost to a man has been thoroughly shaved and shorn and no wonder.

Sixty miles from a railroad, Huntsville for years had two barber shops, 20 cents for a hair cut, 15 cents for a shave. Then along came a youngster who thought he saw an opening. He cut prices to 15 and 10.

That started a barber war that shook old Mason county to its borders. By the end of the week the old shops were cutting hair for a nickel and throwing in a shave free.

Then the newcomer played his hole card. A large sign appeared in his window announcing he would cut hair free and give any customer who wanted a shave a nickel for his trouble.

That broke the deflation. Before long one old shop had both haircuts and shaves back to a dime apiece, the new shop offered either for a nickel, the other old shop said it would sell either 5-10 cent haircuts and shaves, whichever the customer preferred.

By that time practically everybody had been barbered. Now the youngsters are waiting for their hair to grow back so a new war can start.

CANST THOU BEAT IT

Consider the editor! A child is born unto the wife of a merchant in town.

The physician getteth his 35 plunk; the editor writeth a stick and a half and telleth the multitude that the child tippeth the beam at nine pounds. Yes, he heeth even as a centurion. And the proud father giveth him a 5 cent cigar.

Behold the young one groweth up and gradugeth. And the editor putteth in the paper a swell piece. Yes, a peach of a notice, the talleth of the wisdom of the young woman and of her exceeding comeliness. Like unto the room of Sharon is she, and her gown played up to beat the band.

And the dressmaker getteth two more and four iron men. And the editor getteth a note of thanks from a sweet girl graduate.

And the daughter goeth on a journey. And the editor throweth himself on the story and the farewell party. It runneth a column and him from afar with a picture solid. And the fair one remembereth a card that costeth six for a journey.

Behold the girl returneth, and the youth of the town falleth down, and worship, she picketh one and he, she picketh a lemon. But the editor calleth him one of our promising young men and getteth away with it. And they send unto the editor a bid unto the wedding. And behold the bids are fashioned in a fair city.

Flowery and long is the wedding notice which the editor prints. The minister getteth his bit.

The editor printeth a death notice, two columns of obituary, three lodge notices, a cubit of poetry and a card of thanks. And he forgetteth to read proof on the head and the darn thing cometh out, "Gene To Her Last Resting Place."

And all that are akin to the deceased jumpeth on the editor with exceeding great jumps. And they pulleth out their ads and they swingeth the hammer even unto the third and fourth generations Eagle, Delano Minn.

SPEARMAN DRUG PROVING POPULAR WITH FOLK

The Spearman Drug Company, under the management of Bruce Sheets, is providing a popular gathering place for citizens of this county who want real service, under clean and sanitary conditions.

Mr. Sheets has won a multitude of friends in the county since he took over the management of the drug store recently, and he prides himself in the neatness and cleanliness of his store. The store advertises they feel it an obligation to keep the merchandise their customers demand.

Now the boys are getting anxious for F. D. R. to do something about the R. F. D., et cetera—Greenville Evening Banner.

of job, of love, of family, of standing in the community. Society paid the bill in hospital and charities for the drinker and his family, in accidents and deaths due to liquor consumed.

The worst burdens fall, not upon him who drinks, but upon those who suffer because of the drinking habits of others. The person who said let booze alone and it will let you alone is either ignorant or a falsefier.

Let that long list of children speak—the little children, the wronged, crippled, abused, feeble, nameless, starved, deserted, beaten and dead children. They could cry aloud against booze that made them the cent victims—of dwarfed minds and withered souls.

Who will profit by its retention? The answer is: the underlings of the hospitals. The woman who has been divorced from the wash tub will have to return to it again. It means less milk and bread but more poverty and misery and woe.

On Acreage Explained

College Station.—A rough idea of how the domestic allotment plan for aiding wheat farmers is intended to work out in practice is given by Texas A. and M. College Extension Service officials in the case of the well known John Doe.

John's three year average (1930-31-32) of wheat production has been 12 bushels per acre on 100 acres. If he signs the three year contract with the government to reduce his acreage for 1934-35 as directed by the Secretary of Agriculture he will be paid this fall and next spring an extra 30 cents per bushel on the domestically and humanly consumed portion of 1200 bushels—the three year average production. John's wheat however blew out in the high spring winds and he harvested no wheat at all this year. That does not matter. He will get his payments just the same, for the wheat plan includes this crop insurance feature. The Administration has decided that 50 per cent is the portion of the 1933 crop that will go into domestic human consumption. This means that John would be paid 30 cents per bushel for 600 bushels, $120 soon after September 15th and the remaining $60 next spring.

Now suppose in the fulfillment of his contract, the Secretary orders John to reduce his planting 20 per cent under his three-year average. John's three-year average has been 100 acres, yield 12 bushels, and production 1200 bushels. Cutting off 20 per cent would indicate a 1934 yield of 960 bushels. If 50 per cent is declared again as the portion domestically and humanly consumed in the United States, John's allotment—the part on which he would be paid in the fall of 1934 and the spring of 1935 the equivalent of any processing taxes levied next year—would be 480 bushels. He would have to plan enough acres to produce this amount, 40 acres at 12 bushels per acre, and as much more as he desires up to 80 acres. His 1934 payments would be made on this 480 bushel allotment. What they would be no

SPEARMAN EQUITY TO BUILD SPEARMAN TERRITORY

One of the outstanding organizations of its kind in Texas is the Spearman Equity Exchange. The organization under the direction of Miss Vera Campbell has been one of the real assets to the people of Hansford county.

Organized a few years ago by a number of farmers in this county, the Exchange has been able to grow steadily until today they do a large volume of business.

The farmer organization does not limit its service to farmers alone, but in Spearman enjoys the patronage of many families who find the service in groceries and dry goods convenient and quite satisfactory. The Exchange caters to volume purchases and often saves quite a neat sum to those who are in a position to buy their groceries in large quantities.

The Exchange operates an elevator here in this county, and have been instrumental in helping members of the organization in marketing their wheat and other grains at a high market value.

Hansford Publisher Has Turned Gypsy

Celestial years made up of intermittent successes and failures have been the cause of the humped back, and the grey hairs that crown the temples of Fred R. Kreiger, veteran newspaper man and musician extraordinary. Mr. Kreiger has drunk of the cup of sorrow, until he could see the dregs of the bottom, and yet his work has been recognized by President Roosevelt, having in his possession a personal letter from the Democratic Chief that he received a few months ago, for good work that he had done in accomplishing for the ticket last fall. He also has in his possession a personal letter from Vice-President John N. Garner. Twenty years ago Kreiger, introduced Hatton W. Summers, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee in Congress at present. At the age of two he moved to County Texas twenty years ago he made friends of some of the biggest men in the political life of Texas, who aided him in his recent ambition to become United States Marshal for the Northern District of Texas. At the age of two he moved with his family into the Indian Territory, where men were made and sissys were unknown. He knows the life of the hobies and the trail of the tramp—his jungles, his flop-houses, his good and bad towns, and is acquainted with the toughness of the tough, and the game of merriace, an asset. The intrepid and unsque character was intimately acquainted with Indian Chiefs, Geronimo and Quana Parker. He dodged bullets in many occasions. One time in particular when Dave Pritty, notorious outlaw killed Ed Thurlow, U. S. Marshall. It was on this occasion that an old blacksmith cursed Fred, who was then 12 years old, grabbed him by the neck and pulled him into a blacksmith shop and chucked him down behind a cluttered mass of machinery, and ever time a winchester would crack he whispered "duck kid, duck." Kreiger at this time was washing dishes during the day in a chill joint and would burn midnight oil while practicing his old cornet. With this practice he laid the foundation of his musical career and has made one of the foremost band directors of the country. His knowledge of newspapers is not all hearsay. He got his glimpses of the printer's art from several different angles. First he saw them through the circulation department, when he carried papers. Then before long he moved upstairs to the proof room and read proof. His next step was in the role of Reporter from there he slipped into a place vacated by an editor. It was when he went into the newspaper business for himself that he mastered the mechanical department, and in his time he has managed five different papers and the most recent one being the Hansford County News. Kreiger has dispensed with the Hansford County News and has failed to receive the appointment for the position of U. S. Marshall of the Northern District of Texas for which he untiringly worked. What will he do? Will he be a subject of charity or be forced to live with relatives? No. He has raked up another brand new idea with which he hopes to furnish himself with money to jingle a pleasurable occupation, free from idleness. Kreiger beginning August 1st, will go on the road with what is probably the only traveling print shop in the world, builded and arranged on a four wheel trailer. In his little shop 6 x 8 on wheels he has two cases of job type, one job press, powered by a small gasoline engine, a paper cutter, a built-in kitchen cabinet, a built-in make-up stone, portable bed that swings to the top of house when not in use, a built-in cupboard for dishes and cooking utensils, and closed shelves for stock. In the little gypsy shop, everything the printer uses in getting out a job is in arms length. Kreiger plans to travel and do job printing in towns too small to afford a newspaper, and stop, rest and fish any place he chooses

Scripture Lesson:—
Judg. 7:4-7, 16-21.

4. And Jehovah said unto Gideon, the people are yet too many, bring them down to the water, and I will try them for thee there: and it shall be, that of whom I say unto thee, This shall go with thee, and of whomsoever I say unto thee, This shall not go with thee, the same shall not go.

5. So he brought down the people unto the water, and Jehovah said unto Gideon, Everyone that lappeth of the water with his tongue, as a dog lappeth, him shalt thou set by himself; likewise every one that boweth down upon his knees to drink.

6. And the number of them that lapped, putting their hands to their mouth, was three hundred men; but all the rest of the people bowed down upon their knees to drink water.

7. And Jehovah said unto Gideon, By the three hundred men that lapped will I save you, and deliver the Midianites into their hand; and let the people go every man unto his place.

16. And he divided the three hundred men into three companies, and he put into the hands of all of them trumpets, and empty pitchers, with torches within the pitchers.

17. And he said unto them, Look on me, and do likewise; and behold, when I come to the outermost part of the camp, it shall be that, as I do, so shall ye do.

18. When I blow the trumpet, I and all that are with me, then blow ye the trumpets, also on every side of the camp, and say, For a dienehovah and for Gideon.

19. So Gideon, and the hundred of a men that were with him, came to the outermost part of the camp, in the beginning of the middle watch, when they had but filled with set the watch; and they After the trumpets, and brake in the pitchers that were in their hands.

20. And the three companies blew their trumpets, and brake the pitchers in their left hands, and the trumpets in their right hands, and they were with to blow and they cried, The swords of Jehovah and of Gideon.

21. And they stood every man in his place round about the camp, and all the host ran; and they shouted, and put them to flight.

Golden Text:—Jehovah is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid.—Ps. 27:1.

Time:—Seven year oppression by the Midianites ending with Gideon's victory.
B. C. 13:29-23.

Place:—Gideon's home in Ophrah, in Manasseh, west of the Jordan. The battle was fought on the plain of Jezreel, in Southern Galilee.

INTRODUCTION

Following the victory of Deborah and Barak over the Canaanites, "the land had rest forty years." Alas, that Israel should then and so soon forget its Benefactor, and deliberately do evil in his sight.

Another foe therefore arose to scourge the wayward nation back to its duty. This time, and for seven years the hand of Midian prevailed against Israel. So cruel were the oppressors that the Children of Israel were driven from their fields and homes and villages to the dens, caves and strongholds of the mountains. Not only so; but in great numbers the Midianites and their confederates, the Amalekites, came up to plunder the country, consuming the crops, carrying off all livestock, lading their camels with spoils and filling their tents with everything of value which they could find and filch. Never was a country ground into deeper servitude or more utterly laid to waste.

THE DIVINE ASSURANCE

The presence of the invaders stirred the soul of Gideon to its depths. Under divine impulse he blew a trumpet, rallying the patriots around him. On the eve of the battle, Gideon earnestly sought divine approval of his present undertaking and assurance of its success.

A double test was therefore successively proposed; on the first night, the fleece of the wool on the threshing floor was to be full of dew and all the ground about it dry; and on the second night, the fleece was to be dry and all the ground about it covered with heavy dew. By unmistakable compliance with his request, the Lord showed Gideon that he would save Israel by his hand as he had spoken. Thus assured and reassured, Gideon was ready to lead the armies of the Lord to victory. N The Thirty-Two Thousand Gideon's army numbered 32,000 of the fighting men of the country. It was more than three times the size of Deborah's army. But it was insignificant in comparison with the army confronting it, for the invaders were like locusts for multitude, and their camels like the sand of the seashore for number.

The Three Hundred

Gideon's band was chosen at Jehovah's command from the assembled patriots by two simple but severe tests. The reason back of the test of the army lay in the fact that God must have all of the glory of the victory. Hence the first test, which was the test of courage: Let the fearful and trembling return from the battlefield. To their discredit, 22,000 men turned back. Did Gideon tremble when he saw his army melt away?

Nevertheless he applied to the 10,000 the second test, which was the test of vigilance. Take the men to the spring and let them drink; put in one company all who leisurely and without sense of danger take the time to get down to their knees to drink; put in another company all who in their alertness of mind and movement carry the water in their hands to their mouths and quickly pass on. Manifestly the latter were the men of martial quality and caliber. There were only three hundred in this group.

The Attack From Three Sides

Gideon divided the three hundred into three companies and stationed them around the sleeping host, probably at the head of the valley and on the two ridges enclosing it right and left. When all were ready Gideon sounded the signal. Then the flaming torches broken and the midnight air and gloom. At the same time there was a mighty blast of trumpets blown. At the same time there followed the piercing battlecry, "The sword of the Lord and of Gideon." v. 20

"This is the oldest battlecry we know of, 'The sword of the Lord and of Gideon.' What strikes us at first is that they should add the name of Gideon to the name of the Lord. Could the addition of any human name add weight to the name of God? Is not the word of Jehovah omnipotent? Why then add, 'and of Gideon?' Because they have not their full influence over the mind until they are embodied in some concrete form. Hence the incarnation of God in man—the man Christ Jesus. Besides, it was literally the arm of Gideon, as well as the arm of the Lord, that gained the victory; and therefore we have suggested to us by these words the union of the divine and the human in the work of the world."—Rev. James Hastings, D. D.

The Rout of The Enemy

Gideon's success was instant and complete. The glare of the torches, the sound of the trumpets, the din of the Hebrew battlecry had the desired effect. The host of Midian, roused from slumber, was seized with the greatest consternation. In shivering fright they turned upon each other with great slaughter. In the wildest confusion and disorder they fled toward their native land. The soldiers of Israel pursued, the Jordan fords were guarded, and the enemy decisively defeated with the loss of two kings, two princes, and 120,000 soldiers, besides immense spoil. Thus Gideon crushed Midian.

Forty Years of Peace

Following his great victory, the people wished Gideon the King, but he had the courage and wisdom to refuse the coronet. His first object was the good of his countrymen; selfish interest dwindled to insignificance. He had delivered his fellowmen from servitude to a foreign power. He had saved his country, and inaugurated an era of prosperity. For forty years no foe dared to molest the tribes of Jacob. At last Gideon, one of the greatest of all the judges and of all generals, died in a good old age and was lamented by a sorrowing people.

HERE'S ONE GOOD WAY TO END AGONY OF NEURITIS

NEWARK MAN KNOWS HOW AND LOSES 10 POUNDS.

"Gentlemen: I used Kruschen Salts to try and get rid of Neuritis from which I had suffered for one year in my left shoulder and arm. . . . I took a little of the salts in the morning, sometimes in my coffee, other times in water, I would also occasionally take a dose in water at night before retiring. For three months I used the salts and while I lost 10 pounds in weight, the pain in my shoulder HAS ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED. During the time I was taking the salts I received no other medical treatment so I am fully convinced the Kruschen Salts did the trick." C. K. Murray, Newark, N. J.

BRYAN STORE APPRECIATES TRADE OF THEIR CUSTOMERS

One of the proudest Grocery Stores and Markets in Spearman is the W. C. Bryan and Son store in the McLain building. W. L. Bryan, manager of the store came to Spearman some four years ago, and from the beginning of his business in this city it has been evident that he had determined to have a large assortment of staple and fancy groceries and an ample supply of fresh and cured meats for the customers of his store. The store is well and tastefully arranged and the service is courteous and obliging.

The Tire Shop is proud of the Federal line of Tires, and the management is in a position to offer guarantees that are not ways offered on tires. The plan is that purchasers receive a written guarantee covering 12 months life of the tire on all road wheels. If at any time during the life of the written contract the tire becomes injured or unusable the Allen Tire Shop will replace the tire with a new one, or charging the purchaser the fraction of cost in ratio to the length of time the tire has been in use. For example, should a tire be replaced the first month the purchaser would receive a new tire for twelfth of the cost of a new tire.

Washington

Washington July 24, 1933

Experienced politicians in Washington and there are more of them here to the square inch than ever before, are wondering why newspapers and commentators began to call the London Economic Conference a "failure" before it had really begun. As a matter of fact, the Administration regards the work of the conference so far to call the London Economic Conference a "failure" before it has even started.

The French tried to stampede the British and American delegations into agreeing to an immediate stabilization of the dollar and the pound in terms of gold, declaring that the conference could not go on until that was done. The British stood firmly with the Americans against this and President Roosevelt's message bluntly put an end to the French effort.

From the point of view of France, it seems necessary to the political future of the present government to keep the French people as still grieving over their capital losses when the franc was devalued from a value of 20 cent gold to about four cents. Any further change in their currency system, it is feared, would result in a social revolution probably with a socialist government coming into power.

Like a Convent

Like any political convention in America," said one shrewd commentator here. "Everybody knows that most of the delegates don't know what's going on. The real work is done in committees whose conclusions are ratified by the convention. London has now got its committees set up."

...they are at work whatever the conference does will be the result of their deliberations."

The major victory thus far has been won by the American delegation, American proposal to let behind currencies and permit the use of twenty percent of silver in such reserves. The Administration seems firmly committed to the remonetization of silver and the outlook now is favorable for complete cooperation of all the great silver using and silver-producing nations.

President Roosevelt's program for higher commodity prices all over the world has also been accepted in principle by the chief delegations at London.

The Dollar's Level

There is a decided belief here that, perhaps within a couple of months, perhaps not until the end of the year, whenever the commodity price level reaches a point comparable with 1926, the dollar will be stabilized at a point probably about 60 percent of its present gold value. In the meantime, the dollar will be permitted to "run loose" and find its own level, in foreign trade.

Prices generally are rising, but the average of basic commodities is still more than 30 percent below the 1926 average. Every rise in price has resulted so far in starting up factory wheels and putting men back to work. Every possible effort is being made by the Industrial Recovery Administration to bring industries into line with their codes if fair practice, minimum wages and maximum work hours.

A good many industrial leaders are beginning to show that they do not like the idea of being compelled to cooperate with others in their respective lines. There probably is more bark than bite in their protests, and there certainly is a bit behind the bark of General Hugh Johnson, who has power under the law to require every industry to take out a Federal license to do business and conform to regulations far more onerous than would be required under voluntary agreements.

Want Authority

What most manufacturers feel is needed is authority for their trade associations to fix minimum prices and compel all to adhere to them. If they are going to be saddled with higher wages and shorter working hours, they would like to feel assured of profit enough to carry the increased cost of production.

It is being freely predicted here that the Administration will do an about-face on this point and not be safe for bakers to try to ever, which has gone up proportionately more than wheat, and in which commodity there is a dollar more than to any other crop reduction, and that has huge unconsumed surplus and condition obtains in cotton, however unless the plan for plowing such conditions have helped the authorize pricefixing in order to hasten the program of reemployment.

Making Progress

A permanent rise in cotton prices and all other farm commodity prices must depend upon reduced production, the Administration holds. As this is written it seems probable the Government's offer to lease the acreage which they are asked to plow in, to bring the 1933 crop down to under ten million bales.

The wheat processing tax has gone into effect, and the millers are passing more than the 30 ct. a bushel on to the bakers, who in turn are putting up the price of bread by about a cent a loaf. They probably will be permitted to get by with that increase, but the Sec. of Agriculture is on the lookout for any unreasonable rise in retail bread prices and will gouge their customers.

TWO ROOSEVELTS AND TWO THEORIES

The last previous change in the tariff situation was in the Theodore Roosevelt administration, when the anti-trust laws were enacted. The theory then was that what the nation needed most was unrestricted competition, war to the death between business organizations, unrestricted freedom of everybody to get into the fight for wealth and either win or be licked.

The theory of the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration is that unrestricted competition, formerly encouraged in the supposed interest of the ultimate consumer who would benefit by lower prices, is ruinous policy when competition destroys the buying power of the consumer by closing factories and throwing men out of work. Under free competition in industry there is always an irresponsible minority in every line to take advantage of every excuse to reduce wages and lengthen working hours, and by price-cutting to bring the whole industry to ruin.

WAGE EARNER THE CONSUMER

That the wage earner is the principal consumer is a lesson the economic world has learned only in the past twenty years or so. Therefore the approach of the new deal to the economic situation is not from the standpoint of view that the customer must be protected against high prices, but that the consumer must be enabled to buy goods at whatever price is high enough to insure profits to the producer, the consumer being primarily the wage earner who must have a job to be able to buy anything more than bare necessities.

That economic theory is not new with the present administration. It is the theory held and strongly advocated by President Hoover and many leaders of political and economic thought for a good many years. What stood in the way of constructive action was mainly political; partly the opposition of Congress to anything which Mr. Hoover was believed to desire, and partly the reluctance of most old-line politicians to advocate support of any important change in the statutory structure, especially in the sacred anti-trust laws.

It took a genuine "new deal," a complete sweeping of the old crowd and an overwhelming majority of public sentiment and Congressional votes behind the new President, to make it possible to try to do anything about it.

NOW-NIRA AND FRA

The result so far is NIRA and FRA (National Industrial Recovery Act, and Farm Relief Act.) The surprise behind these two radical laws to raise prices of manufactured and agricultural commodities and to insure that there shall be no no undermining price-cutting, no ruthless overproduction to force prices down, nothing done to shake the stability of industry or agriculture.

Under NIRA minimum wages and maximum working hours are provided by agreement with the industry, with the gov't. ready and able to step in and force producers who won't cooperate to live up to the provisions of the code agreed on. Production control, price maintenance and conditions calculated to insure steady work at good pay to all workers are indeed, and the anti trust laws are repealed.

The first industry to submit a satisfactory code is the cotton textile industry, which has agreed on a $12 a week wage in the South and $13 in the North as the minimum wage, 40 hours as the maximum work week, and not more than two shifts a day for factory workers, while there is to be no selling below production cost and other means of preventing unfair competition are provided. Every other industry in America is organizing under NIRA, though not fast enough to suit General Hugh Johnson, the Administrator of NIRA, who would like to see ten million workers employed before cold weather comes.

FARMER AS CONSUMER

Under FRA the problem is not identical for farmers have never intended to work together and never will to any extent. But by a dealing with each individual producer of the basic agricultural commodities and making it worth their while by funds derived from taxes on the processing of their products to reduce their output, the way is open to keep farm prices up to a point of profit for the farmer, thus enabling him to become once more the consumer of practically half the nation's manufactured products, at prices profitable to the manufacturer. And that, in turn helps keep men at work to consume the farm and factory products.

The consumer, as somebody apart from the producer, no longer figures in the political-economic picture. There's no such animal as a consumer who is not also a producer, or very few of the like. Keep the producer prosperous, farmer, wage earner, manufacturer, etc. they are the real consumers of each other's products.

That is the whole theory of the New Deal as represented by NIRA and FRA.

IN ANSWER TO A LADY'S LETTER

A lady writes to say that she does not understand why an 8-cylinder car does not cost more to run than a car with fewer cylinders. She refers to my statement that our Ford V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gas than any car we have made.

The use of 8-cylinders does not mean the addition of two or four extra fuel consumers. It is not, for example, a 4-cylinder engine multiplied by two. Our 8-cylinder engine takes the fuel supply of an ordinary 4-cylinder engine and divides it eight ways. And why?

By reducing four larger explosions into eight smaller ones, we get engine smoothness and quietness. Eight-cylinders indicate the way the gas is used, not the amount. It is just the difference between going upstairs in four long jumps or in eight ordinary steps.

Two things use up gas—bad engine design and useless car weight. Besides having an engine that gets a high percentage of power out of the fuel, the Ford V-8 has a light, strong body and chassis so that no power is wasted in moving excess weight.

The only extravagance about the new Ford V-8 engine is in the building of it. The extravagance is ours—the economy is yours.

The whole question of car economy needs clearing up. An economical car gives economy all round. Price, operation, upkeep, all play their part. If what you save on gas you lose elsewhere, that is not economy. As to upkeep, our dealers say that in recent years the improved quality of Ford cars has cut down their repair business 50 per cent. As to price with quality,—judge for yourself.

As to economy, here is the record of a stock car three weeks out of shop in Oklahoma:

On a run of 10,054 miles at the rate of 1,000 miles a day—the Ford V-8 gave 18.3 miles per gallon of gas. Not a drop of water was added to the radiator. The oil was changed once in 1,000 miles. That should answer a lot of questions.

BEFORE "JOINING" ANY CHURCH
 Investigate its standing!
 It is generally understood that "to join" a church one signifies his intentions to obey Gods commands, to live right, to live by the church regulations; and to have fellowship with the people of which that church is composed.
 But which of the present two hundred religions organizations should you become a member of. All of them believe that they are worshipped in an acceptable manner. Perhaps some one will tell you that they all are alright - that it only depends on how you live. If this be true why not join them all. The very fact that they differ in practices and beliefs makes this impossible. On the other hand if your eternal salvation depends solely on how you live why join any church. There are many good people outside the church. Cornelius was just such a man. (Read Acts 10 Chapter.)
 Before deciding this important question lets study the following facts and evidence together.
 1. Can we not agree that those who heard the gospel preached on the Day of Pentecost, and also those who heard it preached at the Household of Cornelius and who believed it, who repented of their sins and were baptized, were added to Christ's church?
 2. By what name was this early church known?
