GOVERNMENT BY GRANDMOTHERS

Every nation is governed by its leisure class. That is to say, the people who have nothing else to do but govern. If the United States and its governmental units are governed by politicians, that is because we have got the habit of paying better salaries to professional politicians than men of equal ability can earn in private life.

But we have another and larger leisure class, which is beginning to come into its own. That is the grandmothers of the nation. Time was when a grandmother was thought of as having fulfilled her earthly duties and as having no occupation left but to prepare for the next world. But that time is long past. Grandmothers today are among the most active class in public life and affairs; not actually grandmothers, all of them, to be sure, but women of the maturity and experience of life which distinguishes the grandmother type.

We are thinking at the moment of the announcement from Washington that Mrs. Nellie Toss, formerly Member of Congress from Wyoming, was appointed treasurer of the United States, in which capacity among other things, she will have her name on all United States money. We are thinking of Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the famous "Commoner," an actual grandmother, who is to be, we hear, Assistant Secretary of State. We think, too, of Mrs. Wilson, who goes by her maiden name, Frances Perkins and is Secretary of Labor in the Roosevelt Cabinet.

It may be objected that we have had experience with plenty of "old women" in the Senate and elsewhere, although not of the feminine sex. But, seriously, who that knows anything about grandmothers could object to having them run the Government. The great thing about grandmothers, as we see it, is that they know so much more about the real things of life, about human nature and how it works, than the rest of us do. It's hard to fool a grandmother; she has had too much experience with men and women and children to be imposed upon easily. And when it comes down to thrift, to keeping the house in order and saving every available penny, we would rather trust a Congress of grandmothers than a Congress of politicians, any time.

Women cast one-third of the votes at the last election. We would be willing to give the women—the grandmothers especially—two-thirds of the offices.

FARM RELIEF

The purpose of the farm relief which President Roosevelt has asked Congress to adopt is, as we understand it, to raise the prices of farm products by reducing the volume of production.

We believe that is a sound principle. We are only concerned with the practicality of accomplishing it. It is the fact that the farms of the United States have been producing more of the principal staples, cotton, wheat, corn, hacco, beef, pork and dairy products, than the people of the United States could readily consume. We have been dependent upon the export market for the sale of these surplus products. The export market has been steadily, and we believe, permanently shrinking. Nation after nation has got itself back to the position where it owns farms and can supply its own needs.

It is absurd for farmers to compete with each other in the domestic market. But that is what it comes to when they grow more than the market demands. We had hoped that the cooperative marketing plan which was the basis of the Farm Board's creation, might work out to induce the farmers to pull together instead of apart; but as yet there has been no such progress made as to justify the hope that American farmers will ever be anything but independent individualists. That is in the true American tradition, a tradition of up-standing independence which makes it impossible to apply in this country such restrictions as are placed upon production in other countries, however beneficial they may be to the farmer.

The principle involved in the President's plan is a new and untried one, the principle of paying the farmer for not producing, in order that all farmers may get a higher price for the limited amount they do produce. As Mr. Roosevelt himself admits, it may not work; but there are many who believe that it will work, and if its administration does not take any more cash out of the pockets of taxpayers but instead results in collecting the amount paid to the farmers from the processors and handlers of farm products, it may accomplish the purpose of restoring the farmers' purchasing power.

NO TIME TO STOP HELPING

According to Newton D. Baker, there are at least 25,000 families in America and more than 200,000 individual young boys and young men who have become practically tramps as a result of the economic depression. Without any means of support, unable to find work, and with no fixed homes, they are wandering about the country living on the charity of strangers, often in shacks and hobo camps, under the most appalling conditions of destitution, hunger and exposure to the elements.

It is only a step from this hobo life to a life of crime. And it is extremely difficult to reclaim boys and men who have become accustomed to a life of irresponsible idleness, back into the ranks of self-supporting workers.

On the whole, the morale of the people of the United States throughout the depression has been magnificent. We have heard very little of any desperate mobs or revolutionary uprisings such as have occurred in some other countries. One reason for this is that everybody who could possibly spare money or food or shelter has contributed to help the less fortunate tide over the crisis. This winter may have been a strain upon the charitable resources of our people, but this is not the time to stop helping.

After these hard times are all over—and we cannot help feeling that they are nearing the end—we think America will be able to look back upon the way in which our people met the depression with pride and satisfaction.

Considering all the smart accountants and all the gassy-eyed bankers in the world, it seems queer that nobody caught on to Ivar Kreuger until he was in the hole $225,000,000. It is perfectly astonishing how much more political satisfaction there is in suggesting an appropriation for unemployment rather than a buck save and ax.

We dislike lecturers who conceal their own knowledge of things from the masses by a display of Paul Christ's beard.

International Sunday School Lesson

By DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: JESUS REQUIRES CONFESSION AND LOYALTY. Scripture Lesson: Mark 8:27-38.

27. And Jesus went forth, and his disciples, into the village of Caesarea Philippi; and on the way he asked his disciples, saying unto them, who do men say that I am? 28. And they told him, saying, John the Baptist; and others, Elijah; but others, one of the prophets.

29. And he asked them, But who say ye that I am? Peter answereth and saith unto him, Thou art the Christ.

30. And he charged them that they should tell no man of him. 31. And he began to teach them, that the Son of man suffer many things, and be rejected by the elders, and the chief priests, and the scribes, and be killed, and after three days rise again.

32. And he spake the saying openly. And Peter took him, and began to rebuke him.

33. But he turning about, and seeing his disciples, rebuked Peter, and saith, Get thee behind me, Satan; for thou mindest not the things of God, but the things of men.

34. And he called unto Him the multitude with his disciples, and said unto them, if any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me.

35. For whosoever shall save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's shall save it.

36. For what doth it profit a man, to gain the whole world, and forfeit his life?

37. For what should a man give in exchange for his life? Golden Text: If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me.—Mark 8:34.

Time:—The summer of A. D. 29, the third year of Christ's ministry. Place:—Feeding the four thousand in Decapolis. Peter's confession of faith, near Caesarea Philippi.

Introduction

We are now to consider what has been called "the most critical episode in the life of our Lord." It was the apex of his career, for he came up to it out of the Jordan and went down to it from Calvary. After feeding the 4,000 in Decapolis east of the Sea of Galilee, Jesus returned to Capernaum and vicinity. Here he faced his fanatic foes, warned his disciples and restored sight to a blind man. Then he withdrew northward about twenty-five miles from Capernaum to the region of Caesarea Philippi, where he taught his disciples the vital lesson of his Messiahship and the larger meaning of their discipleship.

The scene at Caesarea Philippi

cally the most conspicuous milestone in the biography of Jesus.

Caesarea Philippi v. 27. With the little group of "his disciples" which may have included only the twelve Apostles, Jesus went forth following the road northward from the basin of the Sea of Galilee, 682 feet below sea level, to the terraced highlands 1000 or 1200 feet above sea level among the foothills of Mount Hermon. Here he visited "the villages of Caesarea Philippi."

The city of Caesarea Philippi had been built by Philip, the tetrarch of the territory, and named in honor of Tiberius Caesar. It was located at one of the sources of the Jordan, and was surrounded by groves of Oaks and poplars. The most northerly point reached by Jesus it had beauty beyond any other town in the land.

"Who Do Men Say That I am?" v. 27. Jesus "asked his disciples" a question which was designed not to gain information but to lead to perhaps the greatest lesson he ever taught. And it was this: "Who do men say that I am?"

The variety of opinion about Jesus—the fact that one saw John the Baptist in him, another Elijah, and another prophet or that—in itself proof that Jesus was greater than any of the prophets to whom they compared him. Each of the prophets was identified in the popular mind with some one striking predominant quality. John the Baptist was remembered for his stern and strenuous call to repentance; Jeremiah was remembered for his melting tenderness and compassion; Ezekiel and Daniel for their parabolic discourses. But here was some One far greater than John, greater than Jeremiah, greater than Ezekiel, greater than Daniel; for he united John and Jeremiah, Ezekiel and Daniel, all in himself.

"Who Say Ye That I Am?" v. 29. After the preliminary question came the main question: "He asked them, Who say ye that I am?"

Not through human intelligence but under the operation of divine power "Peter answered, Thou art the Christ," "The Christ of God" (Luke), "the Christ, the son of the living God" (Matthew). To the Jew the Messiah was "the person in whom all the purposes of God were gathered up and consummated." And that is what Christ is to the Christian. The great confession of Peter, as Robertson points out, means that Jesus as the Messiah, and were still true to him in spite of the defection of the Galilean populace (John 6).

A Prophecy of Death "And he began to teach them that the Son of man must suffer many things." The disciples still held to their hope of a material, earthly kingdom of the Messiah, and of crowns and thrones for themselves. It seemed to them impossible that the Messiah should suffer. Hitherto he had given indications of his atoning work, but only in speech that was veiled. Thus he had spoken of the temple to be destroyed and rebuilt in three days; of the lifting up of the Son of man like the serpent in the wilderness; of the absence of the bridegroom when fasting would be proper; and of giving his flesh for the life of the world. But now openly and with emphasis "he began to teach them that the Son of man must suffer many things," for it was now only six months to the cross. Not only did Jesus foresee and foretell his death but also his physical resurrection within a specified time: "And after three days rise again."

Peter "Began to Rebuke Him." v. 32. Matthew 16:22 gives us the STAD a Headache There seems to be no safer way to find a headache—and there certainly is no safer way—than two tablets of Bayer Aspirin. You've heard doctors say Bayer Aspirin is safe. If you've tried it, you know it's effective. You could take these tablets every day in the year without any ill effects. And every time you take them, you get the desired relief. Stick to Bayer Aspirin. It's safe. It gets results. Quick relief from headaches, colds, or other sudden discomfort.

Nicknamed! that's what happened THE contest for a name and slogan for Conoco's new gasoline is over. The winning name and slogan have been selected and awards made to the contestants listed here. More than half a million good friends tried sincerely to help us, and we are grateful to all of them for the names and slogans sent us, each of which had a careful reading and consideration. Even though we have selected and paid for a splendid name, we find we cannot use it or any of the many hundreds of good names submitted. Here is what happened: Personality always wins a "nickname." We never thought of that in our anxiety to get a good name for an outstanding gasoline. Bronze was used as a color to make this new gasoline distinctive and to protect our customers. It was liked by everybody—they, you, everybody called it Conoco Bronze. So, try as we might, we couldn't change now. It will always be known as Conoco Bronze. It had too much personality to avoid this popularity rating—"nicknamed"! Therefore, conforming with contest rules, we are using a name of our own creation, the name used in all the contest advertisements—"Conoco Bronze"—even though it is not the name for which we paid $5,000. Each user of Conoco Bronze gets a perpetual prize of instant starting, lightning pick-up, greater mileage and power—for it is a great gasoline.

Washington, D. C., April 3.—(Autoeaster)—President Roosevelt's decision to hold Congress in session until it has enacted the major "policy" measures which the new Administration decides, came as a surprise, but is in line with the President's determination to move with the utmost possible speed in his program of reviving prosperity.

is now, before the jobs have been distributed. Not even a start has been made toward the distribution of patronage, and Senators and Representatives who want to get some of those 150,000 Federal appointments for their constituents are much more willing to play ball with the President now than they will be after the jobs have been passed out. For they must get the jobs for the boys back home or stand a chance of losing out next election. That is elementary politics, and President Roosevelt knows it.

There are still other major measures which the President wants to get through Congress and into his own hands before boys on Capitol Hill go home. One of the most important of these is a program for enforced consolidation of railroad systems. Only the immediate exigency of farm relief prevented the President from sending this to Congress a couple of weeks ago.

The President has shown understanding of national problems by urging emergency for agriculture as one of many steps in his immigration program. He realizes the need of the farm industry.

The relief measure which he vocates is admittedly an experiment. While I am not in a position to say whether it will be successful, I believe it is worth trying because we have action in these times.

MERRITT'S

LIONS GET REVENGE ON TAILTWISTER

War was declared on the Tailtwister, at the regular luncheon of the Lions club held Tuesday noon at Burl's Cafe. O. G. Collins, secretary of the organization was instructed to bring in all information available about this disreputable individual, and from the manner in which his talk was received one would judge he was successful in his commission. The Tailtwister's life from the time he was born at Collinsville, Texas, the home of Alfalfa Bill Murray, and some suggested Jessie James, until he was laid to final rest in the Spearman Reporter Tuesday, April 4, was reviewed by the speaker. It was alleged that he married just before he was shipped across the ocean during the war, and that his wife would not have married him if she had not been convinced he would never get back. A recent incarnation in a jail at Panhandle was dwelled upon by the speaker, who alleged that anyone who brought the name of Lion in such disrepute should resign.

SPEARMAN BOY ENTERS MINISTRY AS LIFE'S WORK

ALN REED

Word is received this week to the effect that Aln Reed former Spearman boy and Spearman High School graduate has taken up ministry as his life's profession. He preached his first sermon Sunday, March 19th at the First Methodist Church of Wildorado.

Aln Reed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Reed, formerly of Spearman and a number of years of his life were lived here. He took great interest in church work and his record in Spearman High is one to be envied, being salutatorian at his graduation and business manager of the school paper, the Lynx.

After graduation from high school he entered West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon where he is now attending his second year. At the college he has been made the business manager of the "Prairie" the college paper and is president of the Epworth League there.

Aln will receive his local license to preach at the District Conference to be held at Perryton May 1, and will then work for his ordination by taking a four year theological course.

Several Spearman Men Working on Highway

About twenty-five men from Spearman were given work by the Texas Highway Department Monday of this week. They are overhauling Highway No. 117 which runs through Hansford county. The highway has been damaged in places by the caliche blowing out, leaving holes. These holes are being filled with sand and asphalt in preparing it for a topping, which will be put on in the near future.

CAT'S EYE

By Wm. A. Wilbanks

He hasn't got a chance, since what happened this week end. Jimmie Jackson and I were to play our game of golf at 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon, and about 11 a. m. that day one of the worst sand storms came up we have had. In respect to old age I telephoned Jimmie and told him it would be alright if we postponed the match and he said that suited him just fine. Well here is what happened. Tom Johnson, the office girl at the White House Lumber company was to be his caddy and Honest Bill was to be mine. Bill was unexpectedly called out of town Sunday and Tom Johnson drove on out to Jimmie Jackson's place expecting to be his caddy.

Here is what has made the Cat's Eye angry. Instead of telling Tom that we had postponed the game, Jimmie told him that he didn't know why I hadn't showed up and that he thought I was yellow and a sissy to boot. Folks, I can put up with most any kind of insult but I won't take that. Such an insinuation being made by Mr. Jackson has caused me no little concern and for a day after I heard what he said I felt like I had washed and ironed all day.

Anyway this Sunday, promptly at 3 p. m. the game will be played and for a hole finish, whether we have a 60 mile an hour sandstorm or 10 below zero weather, and I hereby extend an invitation to anyone who would like to come to the execution. It's all free.

I believe that the most unpopular popular song in this section is "Rain, Rain Go Way."

The Cat's Eye has a new hobby, (not hubby) and it is a green, (not hubby) and it is a green, house. Down on the south side of where the Cat's Eye lives the sun is brighter and hotter than any place in the Panhandle, so I gathered up scrap lumber and glass here and there, bought $2.75 worth of cement from Tom Johnson and $5.25 worth of lumber from Vernon Main and dug the hole 8x12 feet and five feet deep. Drove down on the Palo Duro and got enough rich creek bottom soil for the flower boxes and pots. In this soil I got on the creek were a number of fat juicy fishing worms that I have screened out of soil and am going to raise fishing worms in one corner of the house, in fact I will have everything in my greenhouse from squash (my favorite fruit) to mushrooms. Right here I want to ask for some information. If there is anyone in these here parts that knows anything about mushroom culture and can tell a mushroom from a toad stool I sure would like to talk to them. I can't tell a toad stool from a mushroom so until I find out how, I shall test them by letting Max Lackey have a few of them to eat and if they don't kill him I'll know the rest are mushrooms.

Some people are making such thorough preparations for rainy days that they aren't enjoying today's sunshine.

Young People's Union

We had a very interesting lesson last Sunday about "Can and Should We Love All Men, Even Our Enemies."

Wednesday evening at 7:30 we all met at the Leitner home and went together out to Schubert's where we had a splendid party. Everyone reported a fine time.

We wish to thank Mrs. Schubert for the privilege of having our party in her home and we also wish to thank Mrs. Leitner for the good sandwiches that she gave us. Those present were: Mrs. W. D. Cooke, our sponsor; Mrs. R. E. Leitner, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Schubert, Hattie Pearl Karr, Irvin Wilson, Birtle Onie Traylor, Raymond and Daniel Traylor, Inez Leitner, Vyla Howard, Elsie Harbison, Oscar Archer, Mrs. Traylor of Perryton, Nova, Fran, John and Fendorf Schubert, Florene Harbison, Oscar Riemer, Violet Hanners and Dick Vernon.

We were all glad to have Mr. Schubert, Mr. Traylor, Raymond and Daniel Traylor sing for us Sunday evening and invite them to sing for us again sometime.

Next Sunday, April 9, the lesson will be "What Deciding For Christ Means." Those on the program are: Vyla Howard, leader, Daniel Traylor, "Taught in the Text," Jimmie Gilliam, "The Lesson in Life," John Longley, "The World Seems to be one of the Provinces of the Kingdom of Heaven," Birtle Onie Traylor, "Library Brownings," and Violet Hanners, "A Life Problem."
