Jennyslippers Send Mule Shoes

Last week, the Muleshoe Jennyslippers decided to issue a 'challenge' to the President of the United States. It has been well-publicized that President George Bush enjoys tossing horse shoes -- so the Jennyslippers decided to challenge him to a mule shoe pitching contest -- in Muleshoe -- when the World Championship mule shoe pitching contest is held on July 4.

And, so he can learn that mule shoe pitching is more intricate than horse shoe pitching -- the shoes are smaller, etc., they sent President Bush his very own set of mule shoes.

The set is identical to mule shoe sets that the Jennyslippers sell for only $15.

This price includes a denim holding bag, personalized with the name of Muleshoe, Texas and a mule shoe on the bag; two sets of mule shoes; the posts to drive into the ground to receive the shoes; and a set of rules.

In visiting with the Jennyslippers, they said the mule shoe sets have, indeed, gone on sale through their organization, and they are receiving a very good response, as people are snapping them up for birthday gifts, Christmas gifts, etc.

Who knows, if you obtain your own set -- could you be challenging the President of the United States for the World Championship title in July?

MULESHOE JENNYSLIPPERS ISSUI CHALLENGE TO PRESIDENT BUSH--Since it has been publicized that President George Bush likes to pitch horseshoes, the Muleshoe Jennyslippers have decided to issue the President a challenge. During the past week, they mailed complete set of mule shoes to the President, included in its own denim bag, identical to the set shown here. They have challenged him to participare in the World Mule Shoe Pitching here on July 4. Pictured from left are Bobbie Harrison, Ellen Ladd, Norma Bruce and Vivian White, all Jennyslippers.

Old-Fashioned Melodrama, Dinner, Comedy, Variety Acts

An old-fashioned melodrama, He Done Her Wrong-or-Wedded, But No Wife" was adopted the Muleshoe Production Company for presentation to the public late in June.

The decision was made Thursday night during a meeting of the Muleshoe Production Company held at the Bailey County courthouse.

New Units To Be Built At Complex

It's been a long time coming, but finally, the government has given approval for additions to the Farm Labor Housing Complex located on East Sixth Street.

Jim Hartline, executive director of the Farm Labor Housing Complex, as well as the Harmon Elliott Senior Citizen Complex, said the new additions will help, but still will not be enough needed housing.

The addition will be six two-bedroom quadraplexes, and that will mean 24 new housing

Hartline said he has always kept a waiting list since the complex opened in December,

Also to be added will be a maintenance building, an I the remodeling and adding the existing administration/laundry

The new addition will be to the east side of the existing complex where the Muleshoe Housing Authority already own: several acres of land. Construction is currently expected to get underway in May. In the ten and a half years the complex has been open, the vacancy rate has never been above two percent.

He is still waiting for a 'goahead' to add to the Harmon Elliott Senior Citizen Complex on West Avenue K.

He also keeps a waiting list for that housing complex.

The first phase was opened in September, 1981; and Phase Two opened in November, 1983.

With rigid rules, strictly understood before anyone moves into the Housing Complex units, Hartline says he has had a very minimum of problems, and in fact, the Farm Labor Housing is not government subsidized, and still makes money.

This year, the complex will get a brighter face as it is scheduled to be painted.

"Everyone is cordially invited to visit the library during this week," said Mrs. Camp.

Special displays will be junior high school history projects which have won awards in county and regional shows.

According to the librarian, also on display all week will be three sets of encyclopedias which will be awarded to the highest bidder.

Two are the 'Brittanica' and one set of 'Students Encyclopedia.' Also will be a world atlas, two sets of large dictionaries; a 15volume set of 'Tru-Value Tales,' a set of 'Lands and People' with seven volumes; and an 8-volume set of 'Treasury' books with various subjects. "We need to get some good bids on this large assortment of books for all the family," said Mrs. Camp. "All used, but in excellent condition!"

Monday through Wednesday, the library will show videos after school on request. Wednesday morning, storyhour will be held at 10 a.m. for pre-school age children from the Daycare center and the Early-learning classes

"They would like to have used books of all kinds donated for this sale," reminded Mrs. Camp. "Children's books and adult western paperbacks are especially needed. If you have books you would like to donate, call the library, and then bring them to the back door where they can be easily unloaded.

"Last, but certainly not least --Friday afternoon at 5 p.m., the 1989 'Library Family of the Year' will be named and honored by the Muleshoe Study Club, and will be presented a large family dictionary. This award and recognition is made to a family who have all used the library throughout the past year, and who have a good library record.

He's Working To Stabilize The Hospital

(Editor's note: The following story was written by Linda Rabb, journalism student in the Texas Tech University School of Mass Communications. This exclusive story was made possible through a grant from the Readers Digest Foundation.)

John A. Chisholm, a newcomer to Muleshoe, brings a solid education, invaluable experience and a fresh perspective to his new position as chief executive officer at West Plains Medical Chisholm assumed his new duties Feb. 1, after the directors of the medical center announced their selection of him.

Throughout his career, Chisholm said one idea, "the changing face of health care delivery," has remained a central focus for him.

Initially, Chisholm said he was not sure what he wanted to do. Instead, he was interested in sports. He said, "I had a good career in high school and college sports," so he thought he wanted a job in which he would deal with solid education. He attended Kilgore Junior College for two years before moving on to Stephen F. Austin University where he received a general business degree. Chisholm continued to pursue a higher education and later graduated from Trinity University's Graduate Health Care (Hospital) Administrative Program.

Chisholm began by receiving a

Furthermore, Chisholm was thrust deeper into his medical career while in the Army Reserves by being commissioned in the Army Medical Service Corps, and received his discharge with the rank of Major.

Ironically, Chisholm received his start with an athletic trainer supply company out of Chicago. He said he did not realize that the sales training program consisted of different divisions in which the company sold its products. The company assigned Chisholm to its hospital division, and thus he got his initial knowledge and start in the hospital field.

Still early on, Chisholm recognized that he was not qualified yet to be a hospital administrator. To receive added technical training, he went to work for a large intravenous solutions manufacturing company, and received detailed training about Artiticial Human Organs. (Heart pump, Kidney machine, Lung machine, and defibrillator).

Later, Chisholm returned to school to further his education and graduated from Trinity. To learn the Hospital Healthcare business first-hand, he served his residency in a large Catholic hospital with multi-hospital operations (18 hospitals). He said he was in a rotating residency and learned the internal details and operations of each department of hospitals.

Since then, Chisholm has gained administrative experience in metropolitan hospitals, multihospital systems and small rural hospitals.

In his last hospital-related job, Chisholm said he went to Amarillo's Medical Center, as its first Executive Director to develop its 400 acre campus into a more closely structured medical center complex.

Chisholm said this was difficult because the down turn in the area's economy changed the scope and scale of the development work. Chisholm remarked that "hospitals usually grow or decline, they hardly stand still."

In his present position, Chisholm said he sees a challenge in identifying and meeting the needs of Muleshoe area residents. "The key to a successful hospital is to listen to the people," he said, adding, "Finding out what people will support, what do they want?"

Chisholm said he has three goals for West Plains Medcial Center. First, he would like the hospital to receive Emergency Room Medicare Certification. (Editor's note: This certification was granted shortly after the reporter interviewed the hospital administrator.) His second goal is to bring the center's standards up in order to receive total hospital Medicare Certification; and third, he wants to define and identify a strategic plan for the future services of the medical center.

Chisholm is determined to make the medical center a success. "I want to have a favorable impact on the delivery of health care, where ever I am,"

Up $21,500!

A press release recently noted that the price of a Rolls Royce Corniche convertible had increased twelve percent in the last year.

This rate of inflation is three times the 1988 average.

Full length mink coats, for example, increased in price only about three percent in 1988.

The average employee's wages increased by three percent or more, in many cases, in 1988. Thus they wouldn't be stopped from buying a mink coat by the increase.

They might be stopped by the price, which averages $17,000. The same can't be said about the Rolls. The increase alone would stop most Americans from ordering one. It is $21,500 and assistants started it right up, and with a cheer the group continued their journey.

It was the first time to attend a Girl Scout Fair for most of the Scouts and their leaders, so it was a very exciting and informative day for all, from the Welcome and Opening Flag Ceremony to the playing of "Taps" at 5 p.m.

Caprock Girl Scout Council was celebrating its fiftieth year and a long line of Scouts held lighted candles during the singing of Happy Birthday. Alarah Russell, Director of Membership Services was the 50th Birthday speaker.

Approximately 60 troops had booths at the Fair in which they helped their guest make crafts, put on puppet shows, gave small gifts, and showed exhibits.

On the way home, the bus stopped at a Dairy Queen for refreshments and everyone had a great time.

One would think the little girls would be ready for a nap, but not so-They were still talking a mile a minute when their bus arrived back in Muleshoe, tired but a very happy group of Girl Scouts.

Also making the trip was Nelda Merriott, Chairman of Muleshoe Girl Scout Service Unit and three boys, Gage and Jeremy Tosh and Charles Villarreal.

The Girl Scouts have planned other events for the coming days. April 22, is Leader Appreciation Day and the Scouts and their parents will be honoring the Leaders and Assistants in some way on that day.

An Awards banquet is planned for May 27.

Texas Unemployment Figures Down

Although there were approximately 594,000 unemployed Texans last month, the state is definitely seeing a decline in the overall unemployment rate, according to Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers of the Texas Employment Commission.

"The month of February shows a 7.3 percent rate and that is down from 7.6 percent in January," Commissioner Nabers reported. "Even better, though, is the comparison to this time last year when the Texas unemployment rate was 8.7 percent. There is no doubt that the state's economic situation is definitely improved but that fact is sometimes hard to believe if you are one of the ones in the jobless category," Nabers said.

"Interestingly enough, total employment in the state is down," Nabers said, "but so is unemployment. However, the Texas Employment Commission does not consider this unusual for the month of February. Many factors affect the unemployment rate. Often workers hired for Christmas are kept on to help then released in February. Additionally, some workers voluntarily leave the labor force when their seasonal jobs expire.

"Most of the 27 major metropolitan areas for which data is currently available followed the statewide pattern in February, with declining unemployment rates. Every MSA's rate was either unchanged or down over the month, and all areas' current rates were below their year-ago rates - in several cases, by as much as two full percentage points.

"Areas with the lowest unemployment rates in February were: Bryan-College Station, at 4.9 percent; Lubbock, with a rate of 5.4 percent; Austin and Dallas, each with a 5.6 percent rate; and San Angelo and Waco, both of which had a February rate of 5.9

"The highest unemployment rates recorded in January were in the four border MSA's, which continued to have hgher-thannormal rates due to migrant workers remaining at home for with inventory taking in January, the winter months. MSA's with the highest rates included: McAllen-Edinburg-Mission, at 18.2 percent; Laredo, with 14.3 percent; Brownsville-Harlingen, with 12.5 percent and El Paso, with a rate of 10.8 percent. Rounding out the highest five areas was Beaumont-Port Arthur, with a February rate of 10.0 percent. These were the only MSA's with rates above 10 percent in February.

Best Over-60 Speller Will Be Known Soon

All over Texas, hundreds of senior citizens are studying into the wee hours, striving to memorize the spellings of esoteric words like 'logaoedic,'

'valleculate' and 'conatus.' For one of these seniors, this long mano-a-mano duel with the dictionary will end in glory when he or she is named champion of the 1989 Texas Senior Citizens Spelling Bee April 25 in Austin.

The winner of this event, which is sponsored by the Texas Department on Aging, will win a check for $100 and bragging rights as the top 60-plus speller in the state.

The runner-up will earn $75 and third place will be good for $50. This is decent pocket change, but according to spelling bee organizer Allen Baca, the money is hardly the point.

"I like to call this event 'serious fun,' " says Baca, a new program developer for the Department on Aging. "That's not a contradiction in terms. Older people enter this contest for fun, certainly, but it's also a way to show themselves and others that they're still on the ball mentally.

"Trying to remember the spellings of all these four-dollar words is quite an intellectual feat, and the competition has gotten tougher in each of the three years we've sponsored this event. These people are here to prove a point."

The finalists who will compete in the State Senior Citizen Spelling Bee are winners and runners-up from regional contests held in senior centers around the state. All contestants must be at least 60 years of age. Wylma Reed of Austin prevailed in last year's contest. The competition is open to the public and will be held from 3 to 6 p.m. in the Big Bend Room of the Hyatt Regency Hotel. No admission will be charged.

Eighth Grade Parent Night Planned Monday

MHS Principal Wayland Ethridge and MHS Counselor Linda Marr have announced that Monday, tomorrow, at 6:30 p.m., eighth grade parent night will be held in the Muleshoe High School cafeteria.

They said all parents of eighth grade students are encouraged to plan to attend an informative program designed to help them assist their child in planning his/her high school graduation program.

They explained that the program will be conducted by Ethridge and Marr. They will provide information concerning course offerings, 4-year planning, TASP (a recently state mandated test), and other areas of concern for in-coming students to Muleshoe High School.

"On Tuesday morning, we will begin the registration process with the eighth grade students." said the duo. "They will be required to turn in a registration form immediately following this meeting.

"A major goal at Muleshoe High School is to make the transition from junior high as smooth as possible. It is vital that you become a part of this process," they added. "Please make plans to attend this informative session."

Natural Gas Co. Will Honor Two Local Employees

Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America will honor two area residents for 10 years of employment service during a dinner at the Muleshoe Country Club on April 18. The company presents awards at five-year intervals.

Receiving 10-year awards will be William Cheek of Morton and Harold McNutt of Hereford.

Leland D. Winton, superintendent of Natural's facilities at Fritch, will serve as master of ceremonies for the dinner.

Also participating will be other area employees and their spouses, as well as executives from Natural's headquarters in Lombard, Ill.

petetive teams in the West Texas area. Besides the award winning performances of Dunham and Ring, we had some great competetive performances from the other athletes on our squad."

He continued, "In the shot put both Jaime Olivarez and Mike Friend improved on previous distances with both going well over the 40' line. In the 800 meters, seniors Jeff Hicks and Juan Pacheco both ran good times and exhibited good solid improvement.

"Sophomore hurdler Sergio Garcia continued to run improved times in the hurdle prelims. Quarter milers Clay Van Sandt (53:34), Hector Sanchez (65.00) and Johnny Noble (56.72) ran well in a traditionally tough event at the "Relays" which included current record holder Charlie Tiggs from Dalhart.

"Seniors Daniel Olivas and Chris Young and junior Chad Griswold competed well in the sprint (100 meter) event. Daniel ran 11.0 in the finals Saturday with an extremely tough finish which saw the distance from first to eighth being no more than three yards in width.

"Our mile relay quartet of Clay Van Sandt, Charlie Reyna. Hector Sanchez and Richard Ring had tremendous improvement with a 3:39.12, some five to six full seconds."

The coach concluded, "Our times and distances noticeably improved and that was our major goal. It was paramount to compete with the intent to realize improvement. The competition was rough, tough and hard to

"In our way of thinking, the only way to improve is to run with the best, and we did just that. These athletes will be competing at Dimmitt April 8th in the Bobcat relays and then will go into district competition at Dimmitt on April 14-15."

First Baptist Revival Starts Today

All during the week of April 9-14, the First Baptist Church of Muleshoe will be in revival. Sunday services will be at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. A noon meal will be served each day during the week, Monday through Friday, beginning at 11:45 a.m. and ending at 12:45 p.m. The evening services will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Claude Cone will be leading the revival as preacher. He is a native of West Texas and his congregation would like to lived part of his youth in New Mexico, graduating from Melrose (N.M.) High School in 1953.

He received his B.A. from Wayland Baptist University in 1959 and graduated from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary with a Doctor of Ministry degree in 1984.

Dr. Cone has pastored churches in Slide, Crandall, Howe, Denison, Lubbock and Pampa, Texas. He now serves as executive director of the Baptist Convention of New Mexico where he has been since March 1, 1985.

John Slover will be leading the music at each service. He has been serving as Minister of Music at First Baptist Church, Pampa, since 1973.

Barry Bradley, pastor of the First Baptist Church said he and issue a special invitation to each person in the community to attend any or all of the services during this revival week.

Unpaid Taxes Cause Problem For Local Man

Too often, people either forget, or maybe in some cases, deliberately ignore tax notices-even though they are a fact of life.

This was brought home brutally and definitely to one local man this past Monday, when one of his vehicles was seized for nonpayment of taxes.

Acting on an order from 287th District Court, the vehicle was seized and was locked up on the parking lot in front of the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center.

Bailey County Appraisal District had made application for a Tax Warrant authorizing the seizure and sale of the personal property (in this case, a vehicle) as provided by Subsection B of Section 33.21 of the Texas State Property Tax Code.

According to the Tax Warrant: "NOW, THEREFORE, YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to seize, levy upon and advertise for sale as under execution so much of the personal property of the taxpayer as is reasonably necessary to satisfy the taxes, penalties, and interest of the aforementioned taxing units, and all costs of seizure and sale.

"The taxpayer named herein or his agent in whose control the personal property is found is hereby directed to disclose to the officer executing this warrant, the name and address if known of any and all persons having an interest in the property seized. Said taxpayer or other person having possession of the personal property of the taxpayer against whom this warrant is issued shall surrender said property pending its sale."

Such seizures occur periodically in Bailey County according to Gilbreath, and people need to be aware that if they don't pay their taxes, this just could happen to anyone.

Taxes keep our local governments, both city and county, and our schools functioning. Without taxes, some vital services may have to be cut back or eliminated.

It's just a reminder -- if your taxes are paid, your personal property will not be seized under court order and sold to pay the

Black's Magic Show Slated Here Thursday

His wife is the former Jaton Scheller and they have two sons, Patrick, seven and a first grade student at Dillman Elementary; and Thomas, five, of the home.

Nick and his family strive to Another applicant, a young lady, sought work as a stenographer.

"How," she was asked, "do you spell Mississippi?" Undaunted, she asked: "The river or the state?"

J&L Fashions Receive Award During Contest

Leon and Judy Logsdon of J & L Fashionsattended a seminar March 5-7 in Atlanta, GA sponsored by Rag News and the consulting firm they used when they opened their business in Muleshoe.

Customer service was the topic of the seminar. Prior to attending the seminar the Logsdons were asked to submit a letter outlining customer service ideas.

The Logsdons were asked to write what they were doing or planning to do for their customers in the near future.

Leon and Judy Logsdon won second place in the contest and were presented a plaque they are now displaying in their store.

J & L Fashions opened for business on March 18, 1988. Leon Logsdon has been a resident of Muleshoe for 16 years and had past experience in the retail clothing business. Judy Logsdon has been a local resident for 11 years, and although she had no prior retail clothing experience, says she has learned a lot in the past year.

(Editor's note: A photo of the Logsdons with their plaque received with the new release was unsuitable for reproduction, so in order to avoid any embarrassment to the Logsdons, The Journal will take their own picture for next week's issue of The Journal.)

Not So Funny "You say your sister makes up jokes, then she's a humorist isn't she?"

"No, she works in a beauty parlor."

Dad Knows Son: "What is executive ability, Father?"

Father: "Executive ability, my son, is the art of getting credit for all the hard work somebody else does.'

Hospital Seeks Five New Trees

Have you ever thought about donating a young tree to West Plains Medical Center as a memorial to a loved one, living or deceased?

For Landscape

Recently, a large tree behind WPMC had to be cut down for safety reasons.

It was the only 'real' tree on the hospital complex grounds -but, because it was in direct line with the take-off path for the helicopters that land on the parking lot behind the hospital, it had to be removed.

John Chisholm, administrator of the hospital, said they would like to have at least five very young trees, all of the same type, to replace the removed elm tree.

If you would like to donate a tree, or trees, please contact the hospital administrator.

Also, the southwest corner of the Muleshoe Nursing Home would look much better with some type of landscaping.

If you're out and about, drive by the front of the hospital and take a look at all the work being done outside there.

As work progresses, it could be that WPMC will be one of the beauty spots of Muleshoe -- as well as fulfilling a vitally necessary function as an emergency and lifesaving operation.

Soil Fertility Determines Cotton Lint Yield Factor

Cotton lint yield declines which averaged about 10 pounds per acre per year have been reversed due to improved fertilization and better water management by High Plains producers.

Cotton yields nosedived from the 10-year average of 460 pounds per harvested acre in 1960-69 to an average of 357 pounds in the 1970's. Cotton yields averaged 335 pounds per acre during the first half of the 1980s.

In 1985, Texas Tech University Agricultural Economist Don E. Ethridge conducted a study of fertilizer sales through time on the Texas High Plains. His research showed that fertilizer sales had declined significantly during the 20-year period from 1965 to 1985 and that the cotton lint yield decline probably was directly related to the decreased fertilizer use in the region.

The High Plains Water Conservation District No. 1 and the USDA-Soil Conservation Service (USDA-SCS) conducted a regional soil fertility study in 1987 to determine if in fact fertility was limiting the crop yields.

"The results of this study revealed that the available nutrients in the soil, principally nitrogen and phosphorus, were adequate only in amounts to support the average yileds being produced. Producers were notified by every means possible that they would have to improve their soil fertility to increase their crop yields," says Mike Risinger, Soil Scientist with the USDA-SCS.

Area cotton producers responded by improving their soil fertility programs. In 1987, a near-record yield of 493 pounds per harvested acre was produced. The regional soil fertility survey was conducted again in 1988, and it revealed that most of the applied nutrients were consumed by the 1987 bumper crop. Producers again worked to improve their soil fertility, and another near-record yield of about 480 pounds per harvested acre was produced in 1988.

The 1989 regional soil fertility study has just been completed with the collection of 186 soil samples from the plow layer of the soil at selected sites within the 15-county High Plains Water District service area. Again, nitrogen and phosphorus were found to be in such a short supply that yields will be limited to 300

Board Will Accept Resignation

Tomorrow night, Monday, the board of trustees of the Muleshoe Independent School District will meet in regular session at 7:30 p.m.

Following routine opening of the session, the following business items will be considered:

Approval of flu shots for all faculty members; approve ESC XVII Media Services Contract; Approve 1989-90 school calendar; consider and approve Strategic Planning; and appoint trustees to distribute diplomas for graduation on May 30, 1989.

Under Personnel Matters will be to accept resignation(s) and approve new personnel contracts (if any).

Bank balances, fund balances and payment of current bills will all be handled under financial

Following the tax collection report, special reports will be given by the superintendent on: New Special Education TEA approval; school trustee candidates; facilities improvements and/or additions; and the April 27, 1989 South Plains School Board meeting.

A bus report will be given by the assistant superintendent; while the assistant superintendent for instruction will report on In-Service training for 1989-90; student assistance program; career ladder and summer school.

Missed!
The railroad station agent heard a crash and dashed outside to see a train disappear around the bend. On the platform lay an unconscious man surrounded by the contents of his opened suitcase.

"Was he trying to catch the train?" the agent asked a small boy.

"He did catch it." the boy answered, "but it got away from him again." to 350 pounds of lint if supplemental fertilizer is not added to the soil.

Soil fertility testing indicated that 80 percent, or 149 samples, showed low or very low nitrate nitrogen readings. The average available nitrate-nitrogen content for these samples was 23 pounds per acre. Risinger adds that this nitrogen level is far below the amount needed to support minimum acceptable yields for any major crop grown on the Texas High Plains.

Area soils require about 90 pounds of available nitrogen per acre to produce 80 bushels of corn, about 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre to produce 1,500 pounds of grain sorghum and about 50 pounds per acre to produce 20 bushels of wheat, Higher yield goals require even more nutrients.

Unless leaching occurs, most nitrogen applications are available to plants during that application year. Nitrogen is very soluble and moves with soil moisture. Large pre-plant nitrogen applications can be leached below the active plant root zone profile when heavy precipitation or a large irrigation follows the application.

"The most efficient nitrogen application can be achieved when producers begin with a pre-plant application based upon soil testing and then sidedress an additional five pounds of nitrogen per acre for each inch of water the plant receives through irrigation or rainfall. This will ensure the proper water-nutrient balance and will greatly improve the plant's water-use efficiency," says Risinger, Approximately 62 percent, or 115 of the samples, indicated low or very low soil phosphorus levels. Soil fertility test results show the average P2O5 content in these samples to be 25 pounds per acre. This is condiserably lower than the nutrient amounts required for minimum acceptable yields for the major crops grown in this region.

An 80 bushel corn crop yield requires about 60 pounds of available phosphorus, P2O5. About 30 pounds are required to produce 300 pounds of cotton lint and 28 pounds are needed to produce 1,500 pounds of grain sorghum. A 30 bushel wheat crop yield would require about 28 pounds of P2O5.

Samples were analyzed for the presence of nitrate nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, calcium, magnesium, zinc, iron, manganese, copper and sodium. Soil pH and salinity were also measured.

"Maintaining phosphorus levels is important since only about two percent of the total soil phosphorus amount is available at a given time. Over a period of time, the insoluble phosphorus breaks down and becomes available to replenish any available phosphorus depleted by the crop yield. This is a slow process, and when the available phosphorus is depleted, the crop will suffer from the lack of fertility," says Risinger.

Only 10 to 30 percent of the phosphorus amounts applied are available for plant use during that application year. Phosphorus is rapidly absorbed into the soil where it is converted to relatively insoluble forms. This is especially true when phosphorus is broadcast and thoroughly mixed into high pH soils, like those on the Texas High Plains.

"The most efficient practice is to inject phosphate in bands about one and a half inches below and one and half inches to the side of the seed. This will reduce phosphorus fixation and ensure a high concentration of soluble phosphorus for young plants,"

With more than half of the sampled fields showing in-adequate nitrogen and phosphorus levels for adequate cropyields during the 1989 growing season. Risinger urges producers to collect soil samples from each of their fields, have the soil samples analyzed by a laboratory and follow the recommendation for the proper fertilizer amounts for the type of crop to be grown.
