

Representatives of Department of Agriculture Visit Broadview

R. V. Converse entertained guests and business visitors at his home, Broadview Farm, five miles southwest of Spearman on last Friday and Saturday, P. B. Dunkle of the state department of agriculture and I. M. Atkins, of the United States department of agriculture.

Mr. Dunkle is superintendent of station No. 6, of the state experiment farm at Denton and Mr. Atkins is an agronomist from the U. S. department of agriculture. The purpose of their visit to the Spearman county was to study agricultural problems from a production standpoint, and they decided to establish a sort of miniature experiment farm for wheat only on the Converse place, as a starter.

Under the direction of Mr. Dunkle, seven varieties of wheat will be planted on Broadview farm, in an effort to determine which is best suited to this community. The varieties to be planted are: Kanred, Clark's Blackhull, Certified Turkey, Native Turkey, Kelchior's Russian, Dinnarg and Denton.

Mr. Converse donated the use of the plots of land and will do the work under the strict supervision and direction of the department of agriculture. The wheat will be sown between the first and fifteenth of October. Mr. Dunkle advises against the early seeding of wheat on account of trouble caused by foot-rot, which thrives in early sown wheat.

North Plains Needs Experiment Farm Messrs. Dunkle and Atkins called attention to the fact that a state experiment farm should be located on the north plains. This section, state the experts, has problems in agriculture peculiarly its own, which are not to be found in other sections.

The Chamber of Commerce is sponsor for Spearman's future and progress. We must unite our energy in every community movement and fight group action. However difficult that task may seem, our energetic group action will bring success. The advance guard of progress and prosperity has arrived.

The towns and cities that are being forward are the towns that have a wide-awake Chamber of Commerce. It is the duty of every business man and citizen to go to the front, back his town and make his home and living to the limit. A Chamber of Commerce for any city is the biggest institution and should have consideration. We can do no more than push things that make city bigger and more prosperous.

Arranging Program For Doctor's Meet Arrangements are already being made for the meeting of the North Plains Medical Society to be held in Spearman on October 15, states the president, Dr. R. T. Spearman Lynx Defeated Stratford

On Friday afternoon of last week the Lynx football team of Spearman school, motored to Stratford to play the first game of the 1930 schedule.

The game was called at 3:00 p. m. Both teams started out like they intended to win. Late in the first quarter Rippy, Spearman half-back, completed a long pass from Vernon and made the first touchdown. As the wind was blowing strong, they did not try to kick goal, but instead made a line plunge.

In the second quarter Windom caught a long pass and made another touchdown for the Lynx. The score at the end of the first half was 14-0 in favor of the Lynx.

The third quarter started out slow but the Lynx finally made a touchdown by running a series of line plunges and pass plays, Walker carrying the ball over the goal line.

In the last quarter Coach Jarvis of the Lynx began substituting and when the game ended Riley, high-powered right end, and Monroe, right tackle, were the only players in the game who entered in the beginning.

The game ended in a decisive score of 28-0 in favor of Spearman Lynx. Fortunately, no one was seriously injured in this game, though both teams played hard and were in there fighting every minute of play.

Next Game at Borger On Friday, September 26, the Lynx go to Borger to play the strong Borger Bulldogs. The Borger team has already won from White Deer and Canyon, but the Lynx have been working out steadily this week and expect to show the Bulldogs a few little things.

Every Lynx fan, who possibly can do so, should attend this game and be on the side lines rooting, as the Bulldogs are considered one of the toughest propositions in this section this season.

BIG PAPER NEXT WEEK

Next week's Reporter will be considerably larger than the usual issue. We are busy now gathering the stories and advertising for an edition which will tell the world of our new $100,000 high school building, our new telephone plant, the new business buildings on Main street, new residence and other improvements and developments. Besides this, we intend to call attention to some of the big things Spearman and the Spearman country will accomplish during the next few years.

We are trying mighty hard to make this a really worth while issue of the Reporter, and will greatly appreciate the help and cooperation of everyone who is interested in Spearman and the Spearman country, and wishes to see our town and country grow and develop along the proper lines.

Advertising for the next week's paper should be in the office no later than Tuesday noon, September 30.

Tri-State Fair Going Over Big

Tuesday, September 23, was Spearman Day at the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo, and many visitors from the town and community attended the big annual event on that day.

The fair this year is really an truly "bigger and better than ever." The live stock and agricultural exhibits are as fine as ever put on display in this section of the southwest. A herd of fine red hogs and several pens of white chickens from the Rogers farms near Wams, show up well among the best in their classes, and are sure to bring ribbons to the north plains. Several other north plains exhibits look mighty good.

A visit to the Tri-State Fair is worth the time of anyone. The management is putting forth a strenuous effort to make it a record breaking event, and it looks now like their efforts will be most successful.

Burglars Bungle Job At Santa Fe Depot

Burglars on Tuesday night of this week attempted to crack the safe in the Santa Fe depot but were unsuccessful in the attempt. However, they did get away with about $11 in silver and currency, which they took from a cash drawer in which the employees at the depot keep small change and money belonging to Western Union Telegraph Company. The burglars, using a heavy sledge hammer, beat the dial off the safe, but failed to open the door. They have it in such a dilapidated condition that even Harry Campfield, local Santa Fe agent, can't open it. The burglars gained entrance to the business offices at the depot by "jimmieing" a window.

Harry L. White Now Shop Foreman At McClellan Chevrolet

The McClellan Chevrolet Company had a streak of good luck last week in securing the services of a former efficient shop foreman, Harry L. White. Some of our readers will remember Mr. White being with the local Chevrolet dealers during the year of 1927. During September of that year he resigned to accept a position with the Greenleaf-Moore Chevrolet Co. of Oklahoma City, the latest Chevrolet dealer ship in Oklahoma. He worked there a short while as a mechanic and was promoted to the position of shop foreman, followed by salary raises twice while there. He served in this capacity until his return here, a period of three years.

Mr. White says he could never quite forget the nice treatment from the local organization, their good customers, and the Spearman atmosphere. He feels lucky to be back again, just as soon as he can find a suitable residence he will move his wife and daughter here.

Curtiss, Father of American Golf Sees Sport as Boon to the Working Class

Julian W. Curtiss, who introduced golf to America in 1892 and is now president of A. G. Spalding & Brothers, believes that sports have done as much for American men and women as any other form of emancipation from routine.

In an interview in The American Magazine, Curtiss says that fifty years ago there was one lone golf course in America. Baseball and football were undeveloped. Today 1,500,000 golfers are registered as such; 2,000,000 men and boys play baseball; 400,000 youths are football players and 10,000,000 men and women are devoted to other sports. Eighteen million golf balls are used annually, he adds on approximately 5,000 courses, not including the miniature courses of recent origin.

In addition, says Curtiss, 250,000 athletes take part annually in track and field games; 1,350,000 in hockey and skating events; handball, 50,000; fencing, 12,000; boxing, 9,000; wrestling, 13,000; soccer, 70,000; lacrosse, 16,000; polo, 5,000 and 50,000 men and women here hone back to croquet. Swimming, he estimates, has from four to eight million devotees. Ping-pong, after dying out in 1902, is back in favor with thousands and at least 6,000 archers are competing regularly.

Baseball, the oldest American game, an outgrowth of Civil War camps, still is known as the American sport, Curtiss says, but with 2,000,000 participants and 40,000,000 followers, it has grown more slowly than many other sports.

KONJOLA FREED FT. WORTH MAN OF RHEUMATISM

Suffered Five Years—Kidneys and Stomach Ailments Also Banished

N. R. DANIEL

"I suffered from rheumatism for four or five years," said Mr. N. R. Daniel, 50, East Arlington avenue, Ft. Worth. "This settled my left leg and hips and I became so sore and stiff that I could walk with a limp. I could not stoop sufficiently to lace my shoes. Later I became afflicted with stomach pains caused by gas. My kidney became affected and I suffered constant back pain. I watched local endorsements of Konjola and decided to give it a trial. I noticed a change while I was taking the first bottle so I continued the treatment. Today the pains of rheumatism have entirely passed. I move my limbs freely and without effort. The stomach and kidney ailment have gone away by my rheumatism and I no longer suffer from constipation. Even head catarrh which bothered me for years has been relieved by this new medicine. The files of Konjola contain many such instances. Konjola is free from alcohol, nerve-deadening drugs or heart-depressing chemicals."

Konjola is sold in Spearman at Hastings Pharmacy and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

GREAT CHURCH GATHERING

To Meet in Nation's Capitol October 14-23

Fifteen thousand members of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) will meet in Washington, D. C., this October, to hold three significant conventions within a nine day period.

For three years, this religious body, now numbering 1,750,000, has been preparing for this gathering at the nation's capital. The programs are now completed and most of the details for the handling of such a large delegation arranged.

A thousand young people will hold a five day Youth Convention, October 15-19. Robert Burns of Atlanta, Georgia is the president. The young people will discuss problems and issues having to do with modern youth and the church. The Youth Convention sessions will be held simultaneously with the International Convention.

The International Convention of the Disciples of Christ will begin on Tuesday evening, October 14. R. A. Long, layman of Kansas City, is president of this convention and will preside over its sessions. H. C. Armstrong of Indianapolis is chairman of the program committee.

During this convention, October 14-19, the new National City Christian Church will be dedicated on Sunday morning, October 19. The building is located on Thomas Circle. Over 40,000 individual members of the churches throughout the nation have contributed to it.

The convention will launch an $8,000,000 Ministerial Pension Fund campaign to care for the ministers of this religious body at the time of their retirement.

The high point in the convention program will be the Sunday afternoon communion service held at three o'clock. P. E. Davison of Chicago will have charge of the arrangement for this service.

The World Convention will begin Sunday night with a "Roll Call of Nations." Delegates from thirty countries will attend this gathering that continues until Thursday night, October 23. Some of the overseas delegates are arriving now. The delegation that is traveling the farthest is the one coming from Australia. Forty make up this delegation. They will land September 26, at San Francisco, and will be given a personally conducted tour across the country to Washington.

Jesse M. Baber of Indianapolis is chairman of the World Convention program committee. During the last three years, he has made visits to the churches in various lands in behalf of the attendance. There are 18 local committees in Washington made up of representatives from the 15 churches, preparing for the entertainment of these three great conventions to be held in October.

Ditsdeiger Had Narrow Escape From Death

U. S. Ditsdeiger, 55 years of age, and school teacher at the Dague school had rather a narrow escape from drowning Tuesday morning when his car went over the embankment at Pony Creek bridge, 12 miles west of Hooker.

Mr. Ditsdeiger was anxious to get to his school early that morning, not knowing that the bridge over Pony Creek had gone out during the night, drove his car into the stream, turning it completely over, with its four wheels in the air; pinning him inside, with about ten inches of air space between the fast running water and the bottom of his car.

When he was released he had been in the water about two hours, but as luck would have it, the water was receding in the place of raising. Mr. Ditsdeiger stated he fought in every conceivable manner to obtain his release, but to no avail. He was pinned in a regular death trap. About two hours after the accident he was released by two parties passing.

Other than the nervous strain through which he was forced to pass, caused by his absence from school that day, but he was back on the job the next morning—Hooker Advance.

AUTUMN

Gossamers brush our face as we pass down the street. The sun pierces a haze which settles upon the horizon. Small congregations of birds wheel in flocks preparatory to migrating. The tang of burning leaves is in the air as myriads of fire consume the dry fallen wisps. Air has an exhilarating touch.

This most charming of seasons approaches, the forerunner of the bleak winter. Nature prepares for the long sleep, the period when vegetation rests. It is the ideal time for long walks or drives over the country.

To attain full harmony with the spirit and beauty of the season take a long walk some morning over any one of the countless number of beautiful highways that extend out from Spearman. Fill your being with the beauty of the scenery, ponder upon some of the fundamentals of life, realize how much there is to enjoy that cost but little.

It is then that the artificial standards, the high pressure mode of living, the futile efforts to get ahead of a friend or neighbor will seem foolish. It is then that you will be doing something vital for the improvement of your character.

GAIL BORDEN HAILED AS INVENTOR OF HEALTH MILK

Just as the World War was responsible for many new scientific developments, the Civil War was responsible for the popularity of concentrated milk, says Dr. Clarence Lieb, noted authority on diet in Woman's Home Companion. Gail Borden invented a concentrated milk biscuit and went to the London fair in 1851 to demonstrate it and received a medal. On his return, he was grieved at the plight of the children in the steerage of the vessel, who were obliged to exist on salt meat and moldy biscuits. Cows were carried aboard, but the milk, produced under dirty conditions, mostly went to the tables of cabin passengers.

Upon returning home, he produced a condensed milk and peddled it through the streets in a hand cart without success. He found backers for a plant just as the Civil War came on and his entire output was used for the Northern soldiers.

"From this beginning," says Dr. Lieb, "grew the great industry of milk reduction which has now spread to all civilized countries. In tropical countries experiments have shown that babies do as well, or better, on condensed milk as on that of cows, which deteriorates so quickly."

SAYS WAR MADE WORLD SAFER FOR MONARCHIES

Contrary to predictions in America during the Great War that "everything will be different with no more kings, European Royalty today stands in higher world regard than ever before, according to Frederick L. Collins, travel writer, who has just returned from an extended tour. The world is safer for monarchs and their heirs than before the conflict, he declares.

Moreover, the recent removal of rigid specifications as to what kind of girl the Prince of Wales must marry, has even awakened hope of a royal alliance among the first families of the United States, Collins adds in an article in Woman's Home Companion.

"Royalty has been proven a going concern by all the war and peace making," Collins continues. "It has had a chance to show what kind of a concern it is. The younger generation of ruling families have done this. It was a popular supposition that kings in general had been wiped out by the war. Then one day the world woke up to the fact that there are still kings; that royalty withstood the shock of the World War quite as well as most other institutions and much better than some. Now, with the Prince of Wales free to marry 'even an American,' a royal matrimonial alliance would hardly be regarded as a calamity by many American mothers and debutantes."

"Democracy has made the most magnificent gesture in history, but only a gesture," Collins concludes.

Yacht America Which Lifted Cup In 1851, Nearing 80th Birthday at Navy Yard

While the International regatta being contested off Newport, N. J., in Dewey Basin at Annapolis, Md., the schooner yacht "America" which brought the cup triumphantly home from England, is nearing its 80th birthday, the yacht looking almost as trim as the day it took the cup from the eyes of Queen Victoria.

In fact, Collier's Weekly recalls, "The Queen was so astonished that she hardly realized the magnitude of the American victory.

After the race, over a 50 mile course, in which the "America" was the only foreign boat entered, Queen Victoria turned to the quartermaster of her yacht, "Who are you?" she asked.

"The America wins. Your Majesty replied the quartermaster.

"And who is second?" continued the Queen.

"There is no second. Your Majesty," said the officer.

The America sailed from the harbor in New York, thrilling thousands of people. It overhauled and passed everything on the Atlantic and made the crossing in 66 days, making 284 knots in the day, a speed faster than some steam vessels of today.

At the Royal Regatta, the "America" was in fifth place after two miles. At 15 miles it was well out in front and from then on was like a dancing girl on a holiday. When it crossed the finish line, the next boat was not even in sight.

Says Poultry Farms Lure Many to Ruin

Poultry farming in Vineland, N. J., perhaps the largest center of the industry in the East, while having proven Utopia to more than 1,000 families, has lured hundreds of others who hoped to escape the city grind to their ruin.

As a result, the Vineland Co-operative Poultry Association, according to Wheeler McMillen in The Country Home, is bending every effort to prevent real estate dealers from using the community's prosperity to sell farms to people unfitted for the business.

The principal cause for failure, says McMillen, is lack of capital enough to hold out until the business becomes productive. Others fail because they expected easy lives and easy money. One thousand hens are necessary for making a living, but they should not all be bought at once. The business must develop gradually. Two dollars a hen is an average yearly income.

Vineland's successful chicken raisers now show 250,000 cases of eggs yearly to New York alone and 75,000 more cases to Philadelphia, Atlanta City and elsewhere. A total of $6,000,000 comes into the region yearly and most of it is expended for feed.

One of the most successful poultry raisers is Paul F. Smith, a sailor on the Vineland when it was interned, and became the Leviathan. He has built a four-story house for his chickens and they are raised and produced entirely within doors. Other successful farmers represent all professions, just as people of all professions have failed.

Stray Dogs and Crap Shooters

Last year about $30 was collected by the town as dog tax, which does not represent the number of dogs running around in town by any means. There are dozens of them on the streets of the town every day that are a real nuisance, and if people will not pay taxes on worthless dogs, the dogs should be killed. A lot of yelping dog around every night, as well as the day time isn't speaking very well for the good of the community.

Shooting craps on the streets of the town, or on the sidewalks does not advertise the town as it should be advertised, and this nuisance could be abated. Real stiff fines would help along this line.—Texhoma Times.

This Farmer Having A Very Hard Time

An East Texas editor thinks that he has found the reason why merchants turn gray. He quotes the following letter, which appeared in a recent issue of The Red Barrel, as the reason:

"Dear Sir—

"I have your statement showing that I owe you $769.80, and I am enclosing check for $5. I cannot pay more at present, as I am unable to collect from my customers, as money is scarce right now.

"My own living expenses are terrible and I can hardly get along. I will try to send you another payment of $5 when I sell my hay, which should be in July. I cannot pay you more at that time for my daughter finishes college this year—that costs a heap of money.

"I thought I would send you a check when I gathered my cotton crop, but it took all I could rake and scrape to put in the Delco lights, as my wife did not have electricity to run the sewing machine and the vacuum cleaner. Then, too, we had to build a shed for the yard, so we could put the new Packard in the garage, and build a new concrete bridge over the brook in our front lot, as well as a new road, so we could get in and out better.

"I can't send you the corn money in the fall, because my son is going to college then, and, although the kids today are very economical about hats and garters, still a good skin coat costs the old man a load and even junk-yard Fords come light high by the time they are decorated for college use.

"I might send you the hog money, but the missus and I have planned a trip to Niagara in the fall, and she's working hard all these years. I think she deserves a trip. We can't go before fall, for she is having the house decorated and refurnished, taking out all the red plush and putting in over-stuffed chairs and mahogany. This is a terrible strain on my finances, especially as the new well that was needed closer to the house and the new up-to-date barn had to be paid for.

"All the farmers here are in a hard place financially, with strawberries this fall at 75c a quart and the price of gasoline as it is. Then, too, there is an epidemic among the married women to have their plain gold wedding rings platinized and set with diamonds, and everybody is having their tonsils and teeth removed."

Hold Chain Banks Will Ruin Farmers

The doom of the small town is at hand and further financial difficulties for farmers are certain if Congress permits national banks to absorb country banks and operate them in branches according to George Hensel, banker of Quarryville, Pa., and one of the best known characters in the Keystone State.

"It has been shown," says Hensel in an interview in The Country Home, "that in one case a small town bank with $400,000 deposits sent $30,000 to the parent bank in the East, leaving the community the use of only $100,000 of its own money. This would become a general condition under a widespread branch bank plan.

"Operating under a manager concerned only with making profits, many of the loans we country bankers make through personal knowledge of the character of the borrowers, would be turned down. Country communities cannot develop under such financing. You can't put into a rule book the human elements that a country banker must deal with. Often, if we don't know the borrower, we ask what kind of wife he has. You can usually get a loan on a good wife at our bank."

Hensel declares that a bank is not purely for the benefit of the banker, but a place for a community to put its money where it will be safe and available when people want it.

Hensel points out that in 1900 there were only 60 branch banks while now there are 3,000. Strong pressure is being brought upon Congress, he adds, to open the way to placing half the small of America on a chain basis.

Chevrolet Motor Co. Will Broadcast Weekly Reports

An outstanding event in the automobile industry will take place within the next few weeks when the Chevrolet Motor Company goes of the air over more than one hundred radio stations throughout the country in the first of a series of weekly programs to continue late into the Fall. R. K. White, advertising manager, announced Saturday.

The radio campaign is in addition to all other forms of promotional activities such as newspaper, magazine and outdoor advertising, Mr. White said.

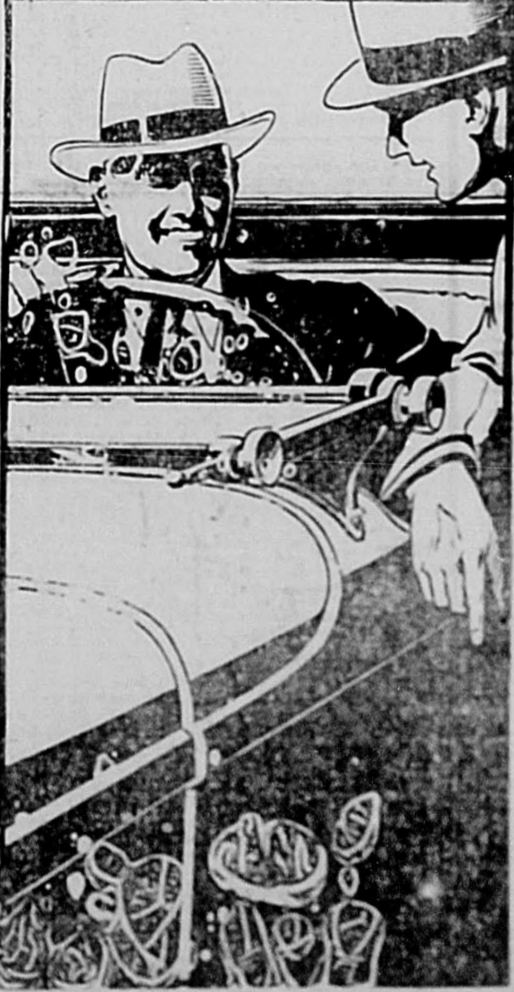

Each week there will be presented the personal-narrated experiences of prominent American war veterans who have received the highest honors within the power of the government to bestow for valor in action. Captain E. V. Rickenbacker, ace of American aces, will act as host to the heroes and will introduce them to the air audience. Each program, to be known as the "Chevrolet Chronicles," will be of a half hour's duration.

The first of the series will be presented early in October, Mr. White said. Local dealers will sponsor the programs in their localities, with the co-operation of the factory. Because of the extent of the dealer organization, between 110 and 120 radio stations will be used to get complete national coverage reaching into the territories of every one of Chev-

When tempted during this bustling season to violate one or any of the laws enacted to protect wild life, pause and think over. When you consider a few minutes you will agree that to observe the game laws is nobler than the wild but the decent thing to do.

How long will there be any game alive if there were no laws to protect wildlife? How long would small and larger game survive if an unscrupulous slaughter were the order of the day?

Let's in reality observe these laws and help perpetuate a beautiful sport for future years!

BERNARD BARTON

Bernard Barton's Playing of Instrument Gives True Rating

New York City.—Though the drum is ordinarily relegated to the back of the orchestra, there are some super-drummers who bring it to the fore. Bernard Barton, manager of the Weede Meyer Orchestra, is one great musician who is a drummer.

"Musicians as a rule do not take the drum seriously and it is only in rare occasions that one gets the musical value out of the instrument. Yet it would not be possible to have a dance orchestra without a drum, although any other instrument might be substituted for it. Drum beats are the teeth of the band."

Alabama Fears Industry Will Shun State If Heflin Goes Back to U. S. Senate

Alabama, made from political reasons, is turning heavily against Senator Thomas Heflin, candidate for re-election according to a survey made by Collier's Weekly. Financiers and business men declare that industries will shun the state if he is re-elected. Already, they say, several big concerns have refused to locate there.

"It would be impossible for industries to develop in their own way under the racial religious demagoguery of the Ku Klux Klan and Senator Heflin," one prominent citizen declared. "The modern industrialist demands more than transportation, power and raw labor, because he considers also the psychological and intellectual quality of the people he must work with and among, and he maintains that cheap, illiterate labor, which is one-tenth energy and nine-tenths prejudice, is a heavy liability. Those whose business is to increase the state's income and the citizenry's opportunity are highly desirous of getting rid of Heflin."

"For commercial reasons," the survey continues, "Alabama is a life-sized of Tom. He is regarded by the promoters of Alabama—the Chamber of Commerce, manufacturers, the advertisers who are spending money to induce northern capital to make the state its home and the growing element which as thrice thwarted efforts to saddle the schools with anti-evolution laws—as a bad advertisement for its state."

INTERESTING FIGURES FROM PANHANDLE A & M

Goodwell, Okla., September 23.—Some interesting figures on enrollment of students in Panhandle A. & M. College have been compiled by Prof. W. A. Franklin who is working in conjunction with Dr. Sheppard of University of Oklahoma in connection with the Oklahoma College placement test in English. This is a uniform series of tests in English covering the subjects of reading, literature, vocabulary and grammar that is given each year to the college freshmen of all the colleges in Oklahoma, about thirty in number.

Only 76 of the slightly more than one hundred college freshmen now enrolled in the Panhandle A. & M. College took this test. The others either had not enrolled or were absent from class when the test was given. The highest possible aggregate score of all the tests is 160. No student has been known to make a perfect score on any of these tests.

The highest score made here this year is 122 by Lawrence Regnier of Boise City. Other scores of 100 or more are as follows: Bonnie Merriam, Booker, Texas, 113; Freda Roth, Tyrone, 111; Cleatus Wilson, Gaymon, 107; Vivian Doherty, Forgan, 103; Freddie Rizley, Beaver, 103; Robba R. Heath, Liberal, Kansas, 100.

Eleven high schools in the Oklahoma Panhandle are represented among the students taking this test. They are Cimarron County High School, Forgan, Tyrone, Beaver, Guymon, Eureka, Greenough, Texhoma, Hooker, Turpin, Balco. From high schools in Oklahoma outside of the Panhandle students are enrolled from Capitol Hill, Oklahoma City, Texola, Durham, Erick, Calumet, Mangum. Kansas points represented are Fowler, Liberal, Elkhart, Wichita, Plains and Rolla. Texas sends students from Booker, Perryton, Clarendon, Boonville, Ark., and Artesia, N. M., are represented.

KATHARINE CORNELL ASKS FOR SMALLER THEATRES

Smaller and better theatres will solve the problem of better performances in cities outside New York, Chicago and Boston, according to Katharine Cornell, who discusses the "road show business" in The Country Home.

Both Broadway and the outlying cities are responsible for defects in performances outside of New York, she says, the leading road show actress of the American stage. Broadway errs, she says, in sending out shows with "the original New York cast, mixing one or two good actresses or actors with a company that would be scared to death in New York."

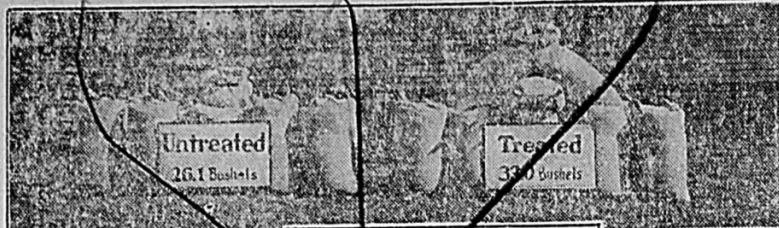

"Maybe that squares the Broadway conscience whatever that is," Miss Cornell grinned. "However," she added, "new theatres that are being built in other places are planned with one eye on the second mortgage and the other on the talkies. Maybe there are modern velvet seats and romantic lighting but they are too large for dramatic acting. One becomes either ridiculous from shouting or inaudible in the rear from properly modulating the voice."

Smut Reduces Wheat Crop Profits

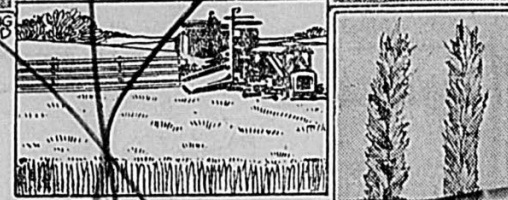

BESIDES CONTROLLING STINKING SMUT, CERESAN INCREASED YIELD 6.9 BU. PER ACRE FOR ONE LARGE GROWER.

THE wide-spread campaign to enlist growers in a real battle against wheat smut, that fetid-smelling fungus which has been taking an annual toll of something over 10 per cent in the producing sections of the country, appears to be making real headway. Facts about the danger of stinking smut and methods for controlling it have been widely spread by use of farmers' demonstration teams, county agents, state agricultural colleges, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

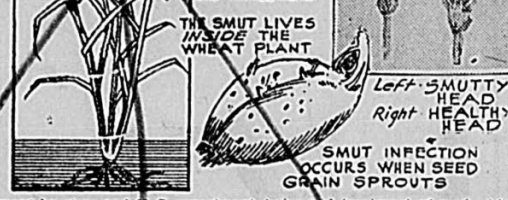

Losses in crop profit through reduced yield, increased production costs, and dockage for smut sometimes running as much as 20 cents a bushel, can be prevented, and because of the tendency of the smut spores to be spread from the farm to another by threshing machines, growers in many wheat-producing sections are now cooperating in a real move to obliterate smut losses.

In the first six months' shipments of last year's Kansas wheat crop, one out of every eight cars was graded as smutty by the U. S. inspectors. Kansas farmers lost at least $1,133,000. Dockage on these shipments, and this is only a small loss compared with the loss through reduction of yield which may run anywhere from a few per cent to as high as 50%. Assuming an average reduction in yield of 15%, which is not uncommon, and including dockage, the Kansas farmers lost $3,576,720 on these shipments from smut.

Extensive research and experiment by state and U. S. experiment stations, have proved the dust treatment of seed grains to be a profitable and sound agricultural practice. Reports from 22 county agents in 13 states show satisfactory control of wheat smut through dusting of seed with an ethyl mercury chloride dust. Ceresan is the name by which this chemical compound is best known. This new dust treatment is deadly to the smut spores and harmless to germination. It also prevents losses from seed-borne flag smut and seedling blight caused by seed-borne scab.

Farmers Bulletin No. 1566 reports, "Seedling blight can be controlled by proper selection of var-winter will be the one who will reap the profits when the animals go to market next year. His production expense will be considerably higher, no doubt, but his product will be of so much better quality that his profit will be much larger.

Many dairymen also likely will try to get along during the winter with little feed except hay or fodder. Grain is even much more necessary for the dairy cow than it is for the beef type. A cow cannot produce milk in paying quantities unless she has a good supply of grain, and each type should receive a good protein concentrate.

Beef cattle should receive plenty of grain with linseed meal along with the hay. More linseed meal is needed when timothy or prairie hay is used than when alfalfa or clover is fed. The dairy cow should be given a well-balanced ration throughout the winter months. She should be given one pound of grain daily for each 3 or 4 pounds of milk produced.

WISE FEEDING DEMANDS A GRAIN RATION

Some feeders in different parts of the country report that they will feed little grain during the winter months, but will carry their stock over on fodder and hay. They expect to save their grain until next spring when they will use it to get their animals in shape for the market.

These feeders do not appear to understand that cattle carried through in the winter months on nothing but fodder or hay are merely marking time during those months and that their value is increasing none whatever. The value of many of them is even likely to decrease, for fodder will not keep an animal in the best of condition, and some weight is likely to be lost while they are on this feed.

The feeder who invests in grain to feed his livestock during the

A NATURAL LAW

All literature, ancient and modern, emphasizes the thought that unity is power—that co-operation is the motive power of achievement. Nature, too, to those who can read the lessons of the ages gives us a conception of this fundamental truth.

In any museum of natural history you can find fossil remains of prehistoric monsters, dinosaurs, brontosaurus, and all the other savage creatures of distant ages. But all these powerful animals have disappeared, left the earth long ago to the smaller, less powerful creatures with which it is now occupied.

Why? Because these prehistoric monsters were not gregarious—they fought and lived alone—and were forced to give way to the creatures that lived in packs, swarms, and flocks.

The world has changed, but nature's laws are as effective as at any time in the past ages through co-operation alone. A species, a race, a nation, a community can survive and prosper.

FOR OCTOBER 28

General Theme: The Great-ness of the God-Fearing.

Special Reading for the Op-erating Service.—Psalm 8.

Oh Lord our Lord, how ex-cel-sit is thy name in all the heav-ens.

Out of the mouth of babes sucklings hast thou ordained strength because of thine ene-my that thou mightest still the earth and the avenger.

When I consider thy heavens, work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained;

What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him?

For thou hast made him a lit-tle lower than the angels, and crowned him with glory and honor.

THEY VERSE:—The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, good understanding have all that do his commandments, praise endureth forever.—Ps. 111.

3. Moses, great in friendship with God.

4. Deborah, great in Godly courage.

ANALYZING COMMUNITIES Human nature is identical the nation over, the average, but still towns differ. Why is this? Can one gibly explain why the citizens of one community exhibit more enterprise, more spirit, and more vision than the citizens of another community identical in size?

The answer to this would be an interesting study. In thinking on this subject one will discover a number of factors that play upon community developments.

Leadership accounts for much. One town has at the head of its affairs, usually in an unofficial way, a man of far seeing vision, whose strength of character makes him the dominant figure in all of its activities. Another community, lacking such a personality, muddles along torn with factionalism, envy, and discord.

Past experience also contributes a great deal. In one city the people have learned through bitter trial that progress is the achievement of united effort only. Other communities have, for some reason, never had this truth so forcibly impressed upon the citizenry.

Try analyzing the different communities within your knowledge. Discover, if you can, what makes one superior over another. Then seek to contribute your part toward the development of a condition that will put Spearman unquestionably in the position of being a superlative. Fine community.

FOR CLEANER STREETS "You have a mighty attractive city here," said a stranger to the editor the other day "but I notice that your people are a bit careless about scattering paper, and rubbish about. That's too bad, because in other respect your town presents a fine appearance."

It is interesting to hear thus a stranger's reaction toward Spearman. Long familiarity with conditions here dulls our senses to many little things that could be easily corrected in a way to mean much to the community's general welfare.

In some cities signs are posted in the business section urging people to take care of rubbish—to avoid scattering waste paper in the street. Perhaps we might well follow such a practice here.

Another way in which such problems might easily be solved is to provide receptacles at corners in which rubbish and waste paper could be placed. People would make use of these containers and the general appearance of the street would be greatly benefitted thereby.

Let's look after these small matters. They are of greater significance than we frequently imagine.

Calls Reno Mecca Of Disillusioned

Reno is pictured in The American Magazine by Mary B. Mullett as the Mecca for disillusioned married people.

Twice as many women as men go there for divorces, Miss Mullett says, but nine out of ten suits have the consent of both parties.

The whole thing suggests a game of cards. One woman had three names in one day. She entered the courthouse as let us say, Mrs. Smith. Her divorce was granted and her maiden name, Brown, was restored. Before the day was over, she remarried and became Mrs. Jones."

In 1929 there were 2,071 divorces granted, and 35 other marriages were annulled. The divorce colony remains at about 1,000 of which 700, approximately, are actual divorce seekers, others being servants, friends or relatives. On the average the couples have been married for 10 years. The average age of the women is 30.

In general, women divorce seekers are looking for another husband and something like 700 men go there yearly looking for another wife. Perplexed children abound, some of them having the distinction of three fathers in a row.

Mayor Roberts, who is one of the biggest divorce lawyers in Reno, told Miss Mullett that he had made a record of getting seven decrees in thirty minutes. There are always several preachers in the divorce colony, but preachers' wives are few and far between. Reasons for asking divorce are usually bona fide. "Extreme cruelty," often serves as a plea to cover sordid bills of complaint. Fees for obtaining decrees range from $25 to $200,000. It all depends upon motives, Miss Mullett was told.

Parent-Teachers Association
In First Meeting of Year

The first meeting of the Spearman Parent Teachers Association for the 1930-31 season was called in business session on Tuesday, September 16, when sixty parents and teachers participated. The association is beginning this year's work with a very enthusiastic membership and has set as a goal a membership of 300 by November 1. The president, Mrs. J. E. Womble, presided at Tuesday's meeting. Her address to the members, both new and old, was encouraging and inspiring, and those present felt willing to put forth every effort to make this year the best in P. T. A. work in the history of Spearman.

Chairmen of the different committees were appointed and the work outlined. Some very helpful and inspiring talks on different phases of the work were made by Mrs. Tuttle, Mrs. Homer Allen, Prof. Snider and Prof. Robinson. Every parent in the district should cooperate with the teachers and with each other in every way for the advancement of this great work. We have in our president a leader with vision, sympathy and love for the work which she has undertaken and if she be successful, we must be ever ready to lend a helping hand.

Programs are being prepared and printed for the full year's work. Everyone who is interested in child welfare work of any kind, and the public in general, is cordially invited to attend all of our meetings.

"Living Happy Ever After"
Depends on Wife, Writer Says

"And they lived happily ever after," speaking of heroes and heroines or just plain men and women, is just a lot of applause, according to Henrietta Gregory Ripberger, writing in Woman's Home Companion.

"Living happily ever after" certainly is not true now," the article continues. "We have perhaps a broader idea of happiness, but it means to us not only romance, but friendship and congeniality. We are beginning to realize that while the love relation is the most important element in marriage, there is a second factor almost as important: The adjustment of men and women to work and recreation.

"American women are especially fitted to meet the situation. They are getting free of many of the false ideas about sex and petty jealousies which arose out of the dependence of women on men. 'Often a man quite as badly adjusted to life as a woman. Perhaps his problems are even worse, for if he has made a mistake in choosing his profession, his career is likely to be irrevocable. With a wife and a family dependent upon his earnings, he cannot make a change in occupation.

"But if he is not satisfied with what he is doing, his dissatisfaction will eventually show itself in his life, in his habits and character and in his attitude toward his family.

"If the wife is generous and co-operative, she oils the works. If she is stupid or selfish, she puts sand into the machinery. Brains are useless if you are unable to take stock of her husband. But to help him after she has found what he needs requires a quick imagination and a genuine sympathy."

REPRISALS

Wife: "Where might I ask, have you been till this hour of the morning?"

Husband: "Why, round at a club, of course—considering of a strike."

Wife: "Well, you go back to your club and consider it a lock-out!"

GETTING HIM GOING

Father (from upstairs): "Helen isn't it time for the young man to go home?"

Young Man: "Your father is a crank."

Father (overhearing): "Well, when you don't have a self-starter a crank comes in mighty handy."

Rogers Grown Up
Boy, Wife Reveals

Will Rogers is just a grown up boy, according to Betty, his wife, who has given her first interview to The American Magazine.

"Clothes mean nothing to him," says Mrs. Rogers. "If he heard that the Prince of Wales was across the street, even though Will might be in pajamas and slippers, he would run across the street and say 'Hello, Prince. How are you?'"

Will can never remember where he has put important papers. Mrs. Rogers has to find them for him.

He seldom has any money in his pockets.

He is 50 years old and gets along with less than seven hours sleep.

He reads all the newspapers in town at breakfast, and throws them on the floor as fast as he is finished with them.

He owns a hurdy gurdy, piano, violin, banjo, drum, mandolin and guitar and can't play any of them. But he still tries.

He is always late to meals except breakfast. He eats anything usually, but now he is dieting. His diet consists of huge plateaus of sliced onions. Somebody told him onions would make him thin. Dinner is his most important meal, for then he begins his visit with the children, home from school.

Churches and

Baptist Church
Last Sunday was a good day at the Baptist church. Attendance at Sunday school ran well above the 90 mark, yet there is room. If you are not attending Sunday school elsewhere, we extend to you a special invitation to attend the Baptist Sunday school each Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The church membership is steadily increasing. Nine new members have been added to the rolls this month, and at least that many more are expected next Sunday. All regular services at the usual hours next Sunday, September 28.

Women's Missionary Society
Eighteen members of the Women's Missionary Society met Wednesday afternoon, September 24, 1930 at the home of Mrs. M. Jackson.

The meeting was opened by a prayer led by Mrs. G. P. Gibson. Then followed the interesting lesson taken from the Missionary Bible, taught by Mrs. R. E. Lee. Missionary bulletin was given by Mrs. John L. Hays. After daily refreshments were served the meeting was adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. H. Buchanan at South Spearman, Wednesday, October 1, 1930.

Methodist Church
After a week's absence on business we have returned to our work. It has been gratifying to know that the church work has been kept up. The services of last Sunday were very fine according to the reports. Especially the singing hour, which was conducted by the laymen, and the message was delivered by Judge Giff. Nothing does the pastor love more than when his laymen take an interest in the church work. Like these brethren have been. There were 150 at Sunday school—congratulations to Superintendent and his able corps of teachers. The League is growing fast in numbers and interest—get into it if you are not attending young people's organizations elsewhere. Only about six weeks remain of the conference year, so let's put forth every effort to make this the banner year. We can, and we will. Services for Sunday are: Sunday school at 10 a. m., Preaching at 11 in the morning and 8 o'clock in the evening. The League meets at 7 in the evening. Friends and strangers are given a special invitation to attend all of these services.

College Folks Set Pace
For College Fetes

Lubbock will be the scene of much gaily in the college set during the next fortnight, with in honor parties and receptions for new students on each campus occupying the time of the younger set. The reception given in the parlors of College Inn by Las Leader club for new women students this afternoon between the hours of 3:30 and 5:30 o'clock is expected to be a particularly enjoyable affair.

Miss Orene McClellan is president of this organization. Parties and picnics are enjoyed by the members throughout the year. Margaret Turner in last Sunday's Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Room Mothers Met Tuesday
The meeting of the Spearman Parent-Teachers Association Room Mothers held on Tuesday afternoon of this week was not very well attended, because of the fact that many of the mothers attended the Tri State Fair at Amarillo on that day. Fourteen mothers were present, and all were very enthusiastic about the plans disclosed and outlined for the work this year.

We would like very much to have all the mothers meet the teachers and to visit the rooms in which their children are pupils; get in closer touch with the room mother and encourage her with the work she has undertaken.

Another meeting of the room mothers will be held on Tuesday, September 30.

Presbyterian Church

Last week we purchased a home for the pastor. We have been puzzling ourselves to know just how we were going to get along, but that gives the work an aspect of permanence. Now everyone can be sure that we are on the job to stay.

Our Sunday school is doing nicely and we are encouraged to expect better things in the future. If you do not attend Sunday school elsewhere, come to our school next Sunday at 10 a. m. Preaching service next Sunday at 11 a. m. Come, worship with us.

There will be no night service.
