Contests for County Officers Cause of Many Not Going to the Polls

Miriam A. Ferguson received more votes than any one of the other candidates for governor Saturday's primary election. Her lead will run from 75,000 to 100,000, when the returns are tabulated. Miss Sterling, who advocates the "one body" issue, will receive about 50,000 votes, according to Mrs. Ferguson. Clint Small of Wellston, who is running for lieutenant governor, is being trailed by about 50,000 votes by Mr. Sterling. Love, Young, Miller, Mooley, Putnam, Baker, the other candidates, are poor showings. None of them received as many as 10,000 votes. They ran in the order named.

Senator Morris Sheppard was defeated by a tremendous majority by Henry and Hitchner. In the race for lieutenant governor, the contest will be between Edgar of Waco and Sterling P. of Dallas, and for attorney general, between Alfred and Bob-

Pat Barbour Seriously Injured In Auto Smash

Pat Barbour suffered severe injuries when the auto in which he was riding sideswiped a blind truck standing in the middle of the road, three miles from Spearman on the Amarillo highway, on Friday night of last week.

Pat, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Barbour, former residents of Spearman now residing in Dalhart, accompanied by his brother Berlin, were enroute to Spearman from Dalhart when the accident occurred. Berlin was driving and evidently Pat was in the car. His arm was broken above the elbow, in the elbow and below the elbow. Fragments of the bone were protruding through the skin in several places. He was rushed to the offices of Drs. Gibney and Spencer in Spearman, where first aid treatment was rendered, and then was taken to the hospital at Shattuck and placed under the care of Dr. Newman. Reports from the hospital this Thursday morning indicate that the arm may be saved.

The Barbour car had just met another car and was turning back to the center or right side of the highway, when it hit the blind truck. The driver of the blind truck could not be found.

Ball Game With Young Ladies Is Postponed

Manager Walter Beck of the Lions Club baseball team, Spearman, received notice from Manager Van Blarcom of the Wallenstein & Raffman girls' baseball team of Wichita on Monday of this week that the game asked for by the fair players from Kansas, with the local players of horseshoe, could not be played on the date arranged, owing to the fact that a date had been arranged with Gage, Oklahoma.

Mr. Beck, Mr. Clorston and other prominent local Lions immediately got in touch with the Wichita manager by telegram, and on this Thursday morning received the following sad news: "Sorry, but we have a date at Gage. Can give you a later date, maybe."

The announcement of the postponement of this game came as a severe shock to local Lions and many others, but it is thought that a date with this girls' fast ball team may be arranged later on.

"My feeling is that our business, taking the country as a whole, is much better than our business psychology," says Martin J. Insull, president of the Middle West Utilities Company. "I think comparisons with 1928 would prove the former and our comparisons with 1929 cause the latter. We seem to forget that 1929 was a year of the greatest business the country ever knew and far above a normal basis. It reached its peak about the middle of the year. So far this year, therefore, we have been comparing with a rising curve. From now on it will be different and our business psychology should improve.

"The fact seems to be that fluctuations, whether booms or depressions, are not so important in the long run as they appear close at hand. The trend of business activity and prosperity is gradually higher every year, and this is more significant than the short-term changes."

Old Handcuffs Loaned To Historical Society

A pair of handcuffs pronounced by experts to be the kind used in the days of Coronado in the sixteenth century, have been loaned to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society by Sam B. Archer of Amarillo, and Sheriff H. L. Wilbanks of Spearman.

The handcuffs were found on Palo Duro Creek, eight miles northeast of Spearman in Hansford county, April 1 of this year, during some excavation work for a vat.

The cuffs are made of hand-forged steel and were both locked when they were uncovered. They were found about our feet under the ground, and it is believed they were buried on some person. One lock is still on one of the cuffs. They have been buried so long that the links connecting the cuffs are welded together with rust.

Negro Slayer Must Die In Electric Chair

September 5 Date Set For His Electrocuting; No Demonstrations; Trial One Day

MIAMI, July 28.—Death in the electric chair is the price Jesse Lee Washington, negro, will pay for the slaying on July 11 of Mrs. Henry Vaughan on her farm home near Shamrock.

The verdict was returned by a jury here shortly after 9 o'clock Monday night, following deliberations consuming not more than 15 minutes.

September 5 was set as the date for electrocution by the jury. Two days in which to file motion for a new trial is allowed by law.

Rangers who guarded the courtroom with machine guns and tear gas spirted the prisoner away immediately following the trial. The entire trial consumed only one day. The jury was completed at 2:30 from a panel of 80 veniremen. Testimony was given before adjournment for dinner at 6 o'clock. Argument was made by contending counsel after reconvening at 8 o'clock. The case was

MRS. RUTH VAUGHAN

Mrs. Henry Vaughan, whose brutal murder by a negro fiend on her husband's farm twelve miles southeast of Shamrock, Friday, July 11, horrified the people of three counties, was before her marriage, Miss Ruth Tackitt, of Erick, Oklahoma, and one of the most popular young ladies of that Oklahoma town. Her funeral services were held Saturday afternoon, July 12, and were attended by an immense throng of Wheeler and Collingsworth county and Oklahoma friends.

Mrs. Vaughan was a cousin of T. P. and Wayne Tackitt, well known residents of Spearman.

in the hands of the jury before J. C. Englewood, district attorney, assisted by Reynolds and Hare of Shamrock, led the prosecution, while C. G. Richey of Miami, appointed by the court, defended the negro.

Plea of Guilty

Judge W. R. Ewing made an unsuccessful attempt to get a Shamrock attorney to aid in the defense. The jurors were O. W. Reid, Bert Drum, J. A. Newman, Raymond Cunningham, C. G. Mead, Frank Seales, F. F. Parker, W. P. Turnbull, Arch Morrison, E. C. Finch, Joe Tolbert and W. L. Brown.

No defense was offered by Washington, who entered a plea of guilty and asked the mercy of the court. Prosecution was based

Big Sale Now On At Russell's Store

Russell's Store in Spearman is this week advertising a big sale which will begin tomorrow, Friday, August 1, and continue until Saturday, August 16. W. L. Russell has conducted this business here the past nine years and this is the first sale he has ever advertised that covers the entire line. It will be a real sale and doubtless will attract many buyers.

Hartley's is advertising "Three Big Dollar Days; Friday Saturday and Monday, and Thomason Bros. are calling attention to their usual "Dollar Day" sale for Monday, August 4th.

Modern Woodmen Meeting Again

The local camp of the Modern Woodmen held their first meeting Wednesday night of this week since the beginning of the harvest rush. A representative crowd was present and many plans were made for the coming meetings. Among other matters discussed was the plans for a big initiation on next Wednesday night, August 6. The Woodmen are meeting for the present at the Odd Fellows hall in west Spearman. A number of candidates will be ready for the initiatory work on the next meeting night and a full attendance is expected. Don't forget—next Wednesday night at the Odd Fellows hall.

On a Goodwill Tour Of Country West

Herbert Campbell and Arnold Wilbanks will leave on Sunday next for the wide open spaces and elsewhere to the west. The boys will visit California, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Wyoming and possibly Oregon. They expect to fill the people of the Pacific coast country of the wonderful possibilities and opportunities to be found in Spearman and vicinity, as special representatives of the Spearman chamber of commerce. They will be away a week or ten days.

Millionaire Hobo Dies In Virginia

The millionaire hobo, James Eads How, 57, is dead as a result of 15 years of self denial, according to news dispatches.

Physicians attending him when he succumbed in a hospital at Staunton, Va., Tuesday, said death was due to pneumonia, evidently superinduced by starvation. Despite a bequest of $500,000 from his mother, Mrs. Eliza Eads How, in 1915, he had denied himself the necessities of life and misfortunes, especially hoboism. His time and energy, as well as fortune, were spent in the interest of migratory workers and he was the financial "angel" of the International Brotherhood Welfare association, with hobo shelters in sixteen cities.

How was the son of a distinguished St. Louis family and was well educated. John How, his paternal grandfather, was mayor of St. Louis several terms before the Civil War, and his father, the late James F. How, was vice president and general manager of the Wabash Railroad. His mother's father was James Buchanan Eads, builder of the Eads bridge across the Mississippi River at St. Louis. The millionaire hobo studied at Harvard and later became a licensed physician, although he never practiced.

One half of How's share of the estate, or $250,000 was left by his mother in trust, but he was said to have spent almost all of the remaining quarter million and the income from the trust fund on his charitable interests.

He had been in Staunton only since Friday. Attendants at the hotel where he was stopping said he was ill when he arrived. Monday his condition became worse and he was removed to a hospital. His body was sent to Washington, to be taken in charge by Louis How, a brother.

Official Report Gives Texas 5,801,685 People

Almost reaching the six million mark is the official census report of the population of Texas. The exact population, according to the 1930 census, is 5,801,685, an increase in the last decade of 1,147,455 or 24.42 per cent.

The greatest increases were shown in the Panhandle, West Texas and the Rio Grande valley. Northeast Texas, with 14 counties, registered the most decline, North Texas with 12 was second and Central Texas with 10, was third. Gray county, as one of the 35 counties doubling its population. Others in the Panhandle were Carson, Hutchinson, Moore, Hansford, Ochiltree, Potter, and Wheeler.

The increase in the Panhandle counties was attributed to oil fields and agricultural developments. Fruit and vegetable growing has caused a great increase in population in the Rio Grande valley.

Mrs. S. D. Mitts and son Ole, mother and brother of Geo. C. Mitts, are guests of the latter at their farm home five miles northwest of Spearman. The guests are from Canyon, Oklahoma. Ole returned to his home in the week, but the mother will remain here for a longer visit.

Geo. A. Beggs Died of Ptomaine Poisoning

Geo. A. Beggs, 70 years old, died at 3:30 Friday morning, July 25, of ptomaine poisoning, at his room in the Spearman hotel. His son, George Jr., 37 years old, was in a precarious condition from the same complaint for several hours, but is recovering nicely, attending physicians believe.

The Beggs family consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Beggs, their son George Jr. and daughter Thelma, came to Spearman on Wednesday of last week to visit a farm which they own, located 15 miles east of this town. They went out to the farm Wednesday morning, taking along a lunch. At noon they ate the lunch, consisting of fried chicken, canned tomatoes and other things. It is thought that either the chicken or tomatoes were contaminated with ptomaine poisoning. The mother and daughter were not effected.

Wilson Funera Homes took charge of the body of George A. Beggs and prepared the same for burial. The body was shipped back to their old home at Enid for interment.

Dr. C. W. Tadrowe, family physician and old friend of the Beggs family, was notified of their condition by telephone and came immediately by airplane to their assistance arriving here at 9 a. m. Friday. He was brought out by the Wheat Belt Air Service of Enid, with C. E. Callahan as pilot. Dr. G. P. Gibney was the local physician in attendance upon the stricken Beggs family. Mrs. Beggs is in a serious condition, suffering from heart trouble and shock, but on Sunday she and her son and daughter were able to return to their home at Enid.

Telephone Building Under Construction

The Western Telephone Corporation of Texas has let the contract to A. E. Bigan for the construction of a five brick business home in Spearman. Excavating for the foundation of the building was begun on Tuesday of this week. Mr. Bryan is the contractor who is building the Jimmy Davis new residence on Dresden street.

This new telephone exchange will be 30 by 4 feet in dimension, and will be modern in all respects. Better still, for the phone patrons, new and modern equipment is to be installed in the plant. Spearman is to have a telephone plant of which she will be proud, states the local manager for the Western Telephone Corporation, Fred Lusk.

It is not known at the present time whether the system will be changed from the "crank" equipment to the common battery service. Practically all the present patrons of the phone company have signed a petition circulated by Mr. Lusk, signifying a desire to have the common battery service installed, even at a little increase in cost per month. Mr. Lusk states that he will know within a very few days whether the newer and more modern phone service will be installed here.

Why a Sewer Service Charge For Spearman

In view of the fact that the sewer system only serves a portion of the City of Spearman and the tax for the payment of the bonds for said system are collected from every person owning property within the city limits, whether or not he receives any benefit from the said system, the City Commission deemed it just to levy a service charge as is customary in cities with like conditions. It requires funds to maintain and operate the sewer system and it seems only just that the users of the system should be required to pay this expense.

An Error Last Week

The Reporter stated last week that Mrs. Lucille Neelley, who will be remembered here as Miss Marjorie Wylson a teacher in Spearman schools, was attending a beauty school at Canyon. This statement was incorrect. Mrs. Neelley is in Canyon attending West Texas State Teachers College. She will receive a first class primary certificate for teaching in the primary grades anywhere in Texas at the close of the summer school, August 27. Mr. Neelley is to be principal and head of the English department in Estilene high school next winter and Mrs. Neelley will teach kindergarten there.

John Hopkins and Barney Crismon of Texoma were Spearman visitors Wednesday.

Two Cars Stolen During This Week

A 1930 Chevrolet coach was taken from in front of the Berlin Barbour residence on Dresden street on Tuesday. The car was later found standing in the middle of the street about one block west of the school house. This is the car which was being driven by Berlin and Pat Barbour when they happened to a quite serious accident on Thursday night of last week. The car was damaged considerably, and it is thought that the party who attempted to get away with it was afraid that it could be too easily identified, hence it was abandoned.

Another car, a 1929 model Ford, was taken from the street in front of the R. W. Morton residence on Tuesday morning. This car has not been found, but officers believe they will locate it soon. This car was driven from the McLain building by Miss Loree Morton to her home. While she was in the home on an errand the car was driven away.

Water Your Trees

Trees need watering rather than sprinkling during the warm weather season, according to Martin L. Davey, conservationist and head of the Davey Institute of Tree Surgery.

Tree, like human beings, will die far more quickly of thirst than of hunger. When they display signs of impending death that are evident to the layman it may be too late to save them. The only safe rule, according to Davey, is to keep trees adequately watered throughout the entire summer.

Sprinkling for brief period in the evening in cool weather does not help trees at all, Davey explains. It may even do harm to them by attracting the new roots too close to the surface of the ground.

Proper watering is made possible by perforating the soil with a spading fork to the full depth of the tines. A series of new perforations should be made in the circumference described by the spread of the branches. At least once every two weeks in the summer water should be run into the perforations for several hours. During a drought this should be done at least once a week.

"At most homes or estates the lawn is always well sprinkled because the results of neglect are soon apparent," Davey said. "Less attention is paid to trees because the consequences are not quickly seen. Yet a parched lawn may be renewed within one growing season, but a stately tree not within a generation."

Take care of your trees—give them plenty of water.

HAS A MAJORITY ANY RIGHTS

It is apparent that a majority of comfortably more than two-thirds of the United States Senate is ready to vote for the ratification of the London Naval Treaty when its opponents give them a chance. But a violent barrage of oratory stands in the way. According to the estimates of the Department of State, the treaty has been before the Senate eighty-six days, and has been actually in debate for forty-nine hours up to last Friday. Yet its foes still think themselves balked of full self-expression.

The mere suggestion that all has been said that can be said rouses them to paroxysms of protest. "I know no other way to fight, when I am fighting for my country, than to die," cries Hiram Johnson. "I make no agreement. I stand upon my rights, will do the best I can and when God no longer permits me to stand upon my feet to express myself upon this treaty I will take my medicine as I have been accustomed to do always in the past whenever any occasion should arise."

An heroic spectacle, indeed! But what of the sixty or more senators who believe their country's interests best served by ratifying the treaty, but who are debarrated from action by the determination of the obstructionists to perish rather than shut up? Have they no rights? Is patriotism a monopoly of a minority? Legitimate debate essential to a republican form of law-making, but a system which enables a small minority to rule is not republican but anarchic.

Happily, the Senate rules now provide a method for terminating so intolerable a deadlock. The nation will be glad to see the cloture rule applied if necessary.—Christian Science Monitor.

LOCAL BUSINESS MAN BEHIND THE MOVE

If Deal Materializes, Work Will Begin Within Short Time and Rushed to Completion

ARCHITECT IS ON JOB

Hotel Committee of Chamber of Commerce Helping in Every Way Possible

There now is a strong probability that Spearman will realize the coming to pass of one of her cherished dreams—the erection of a fine, modern and adequate hotel building in this good town.

Those behind the movement are not ready to make the details public at this time, but plans and specifications for the building are being drawn by a prominent firm of architects at the present time. The building will be located on Main street, will be four stories high and should the deal go through, work will begin on the same within the next few weeks. This is all the information obtainable at the present time.

Contract For Paving Highway 117 Will Be Let In September

The following information has been received by J. W. Ratek of the Spearman chamber of commerce in regard to the paving of highway No. 117, the three county proposition in which Hansford, Ochiltree and Hutchinson counties are interested.

"Mr. J. W. Ratek, Spearman, Texas, 'I have your letter of July 2 relative to the improvement of State Highway No. 117 in Hansford. As regards the status of the project, I beg to advise that plans for this improvement were forwarded to Austin July 9, 1930, for checking. This checking should be completed within a few weeks unless the volume of work on hand is excessive.

As soon as these plans are checked and inked the work will be advertised for construction. The next meeting of the State Highway Commission for letting contracts will be September 15th and 16th, which is the earliest date this work may be let.

I expect to be in Spearman within the next week, at which time I will call on you and will be glad to give you any information I have. Yours very truly, A. E. DYATT, Resident Engineer."

Full-Width Roads

Many good roads advocates have believed that it was a good practice to build full of a full-width pavement on a farm-to-market roads, and later, when funds were available, build the other half.

Experience has proven this to be an expensive method however, and over a half-width pavement such as is laid on state highways costs more than it is practical to spend on the average farm-to-market, or secondary road.

The American Farm Bureau Federation has been emphasizing the necessity of increasing the mileage of these farm-to-market roads. Good surfaces for such roads can be constructed of suitable materials to make them wear and dust proof at an extremely low price. Asphalt and road gills are playing an indispensable part in this type construction.

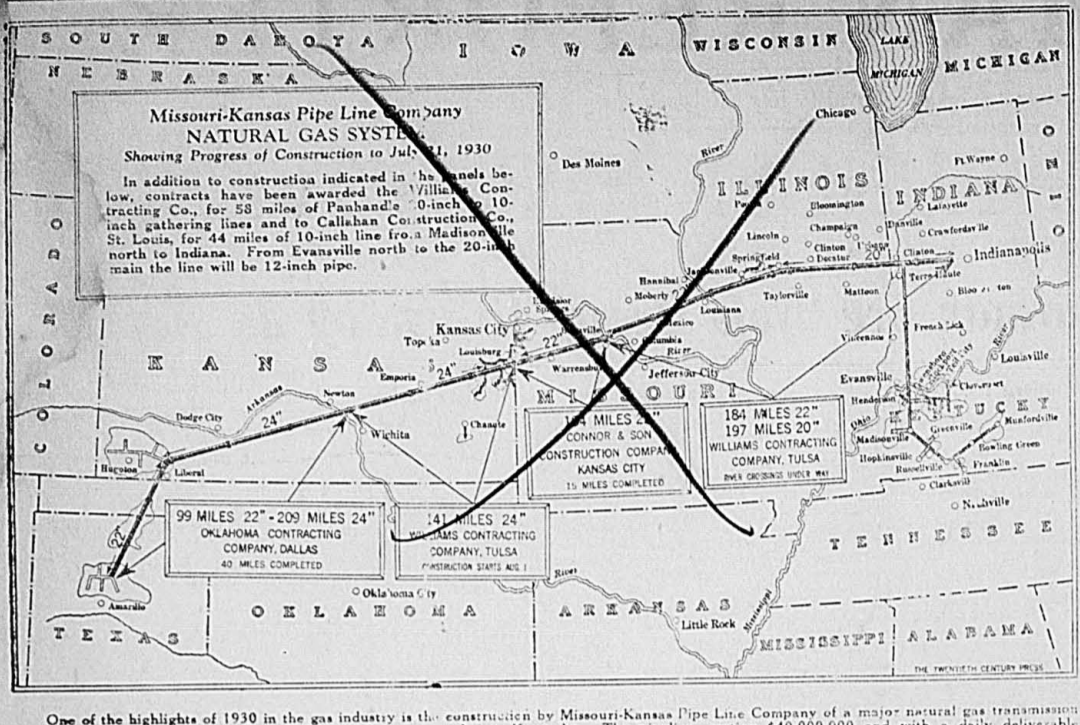

All-year-round farm to market roads provide real farm relief and their mileage should be extended in conjunction with every state highway system.

Attorney Locates Here

Phillip Wolfe, attorney at law, has leased office rooms in the McLain building and is coming here to locate and engage in the practice of his profession. Mr. Wolfe was formerly of the firm of Faxon & Wolfe, attorneys at law, in Saline, Texas, and also has practiced in Fort Worth.

Attended Funeral of Father in Kansas City

R. H. Prewitt, local manager for the White House Lumber Company in Spearman, received a wire from Kansas City on Monday morning, stating that his father T. R. Prewitt had died suddenly. Deceased was 74 years old. Mr. Prewitt left immediately for the city to attend the funeral. He visited with his parents in Kansas City early in this month, spending the fourth of July with them.

One of the highlights of 1930 in the gas industry is the construction by Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Company of a major natural gas transmission system from the Texas Panhandle to Indiana and thence south into Kentucky. The pipeline, costing $40,000,000 and with a daily deliverable capacity of 175,000,000 cubic feet, will link into a complete unit Mo-Kan's gas systems near Kansas City, Jacksonville, and in western Kentucky. These operating properties are now serving twenty-five communities in five states and construction of the Panhandle-Midwest pipe line has placed Missouri-Kansas among the leaders in the natural gas utility field. The huge pipe line will bring a new fuel convenience to many thousands of homes and industries. Natural gas averages twice the heat value of manufactured gas and is preferred for distribution by local gas companies.

Survey Show Pastures Now Below Normal

"The past week's hot, dry weather caused a general drying and browning of pastures over all sections east of the Rocky mountains," reads the July 15 feed market report of the United States department of agriculture. The report goes on to state that the condition of pastures on July 1 was 74.6 per cent of normal compared with the 10 year average of 82.6 per cent.

Such a report does not sound so good for the dairy farmer who has been depending on grass to furnish feed for his herd throughout the summer, for it means that the cows must receive a full feed of grain earlier than in the average year.

The condition indicated by this report, however, may prove a benefit to the dairymen, for it will force them to feed when otherwise they might not have started giving their cows grain until their bodies had been irreparably injured by lack of feed, due to short grass which the farmer had thought was furnishing plenty of feed to produce milk.

The government's report indicates that there is absolutely no feed value in most of the pastures, so the farmer can not depend any longer on the grass if he expects his cows to continue to give any milk.

The cows should now receive the same ration given them during the winter months. A ration recommended by the department of agriculture in its bulletin, "Feeding Dairy Cows," is composed of 200 pounds of ground oats; 100 pounds of corn-gluten feed; 200 pounds of wheat bran, and 100 pounds of linseed meal. This mix-one pound for each three or four pounds of milk, and should be fed at the rate of with legume hay and silage.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Five pipe line construction companies have crews now at work on the building of the 1,250-mile Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line system, extending from the Texas Panhandle through Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky.

A contract has been awarded to Williams Brothers, Inc., of Tulsa for the construction of approximately fifty-eight miles of gathering lines in Moore, Hutchinson, Potter and Carson Counties, Texas. This company is now laying multiple lines across the Canadian River, north of Amarillo. The gathering lines range in size from 20 inches down to 10 inches and will join a 24-inch main line near the southeast corner of Moore County.

The Oklahoma Contracting Co. of Dallas has a construction crew building a 22-inch main line north toward Oklahoma, and approximately forty miles of line have been completed from the starting point named.

In Missouri Connor & Son Construction Company of Kansas City has completed approximately fifteen miles of 22-inch line east from the Kansas-Missouri line toward Boonville, Missouri, and in Kentucky two other contracting companies are at work.

The Southwestern Construction Company of Tulsa is nearing completion on an 8-inch line extending from the center gas field of Metcalfe County southwest past Bowling Green to Russellville, while the W. E. Callahan Construction Company of St. Louis has a contract for the building of a 10-inch line from Madisonville north across the Ohio River where it will connect with a 12-inch line northward to a junction with Missouri-Kansas' major trunk line from the Texas Panhandle. This connection of the Kentucky producing area with the larger system will be made north of Terre Haute, Indiana.

Missouri-Kansas has just completed a gas line from the Ohio County gas field in Kentucky north across the Ohio River into Indiana, serving the communities of Whitesville, Hawesville, and Cloverport, Kentucky, and Cannelton, Indiana. This line will be continued to include Tell City, Troy, Grandview and Rockport, Indiana.

persons smoking in bed or by going to sleep with a cigarette in the mouth is appalling.

To attack the cigarette from a moral and health standpoint is one thing. To strike against it from an economic standpoint is another. It is a problem with which everybody is concerned. It was claimed recently by a convention of firemen that the burning cigarette causes a large percentage of the destructive fires. Some placed the figure as high as 98 per cent.

We are not discussing the question of whether cigarette smoking is harmful; nor questioning the right of any adult person to smoke them. But we do raise our editorial hand against the careless use of the cigarette.

A pipe or cigar will "go out" when it is laid aside. A cigarette will keep burning. This is the great distinction; however, fire is fire, and no one can be too careful when smoking and particularly when through smoking.

The losses from destruction by fires, caused by the careless tossing of cigarette stubs from moving automobiles is a tremendous figure. The loss of life caused by

The low-priced automobile has brought greater opportunity and added hours of recreation to millions of men and women.

BECAUSE the automobile is such an important factor in the lives and prosperity of so many people, the purpose of the Ford Motor Company is something more than the mere manufacture of a motor car.

There is no service in simply setting up a machine or a plant and letting it turn out goods. The service extends into every detail of the business—design, production, the wages paid and the selling price. All are a part of the plan.

The Ford Motor Company looks upon itself as charged with making an automobile that will meet the needs of millions of people and to provide it at a low price. That is its mission. That is its duty and its obligation to the public.

The search for better ways of doing things is never-ending. There is ceaseless, untiring effort to find new methods and new machines that will save steps and time in manufacturing. The Ford plants are, in reality, a great mechanical university, dedicated to the advancement of industry. Many manufacturers come to see and share the progress made.

The greatest progress comes by never standing still. Today's methods, however successful, can never be taken as wholly right. They represent simply the best efforts of the moment. Tomorrow must bring an improvement in the methods of the day before hard work usually finds the way.

Once it was thought impossible to gray iron by the endless chain method. All precedent was against it and every previous experiment had failed. But prices to the public demanded that the old methods be eliminated. Finally a way was found.

A better way of making axle shafts worth thirty-six million dollars in four years. A new method of cutting crankshafts reduced the cost by $500,000 a year. The perfection of a new machine saved similar amount on such a little thing as one bolt. Then electric welding was developed to make many bolts unnecessary and to increase structural strength.

Just a little while ago, an endless conveyor almost four miles long was stalled at the Rouge plant. This conveyor has a daily capacity of 300,000 pounds weighing more than 2,000,000 pounds. By substituting the tireless, unvarying machine for tasks formerly done by men it has made the day's work easier for thousands of workers and saved time and money in the manufacture of the product.

All of these things are done in the interest of the public—so that the benefits of reliable, economical transportation may be placed within the means of every

GOOD PRINTING MUST HAVE THESE QUALITIES

Some things are purchased for utility, some for their beauty and some for their utility and beauty. Printing may be classed as one of the latter. Stationery should not only be useful, but it should be dignified and harmonious. It is not enough to have a set of paper upon which to convey your message. Your letter should express something more than the written or printed message. Oftentimes this intangible message is forceful and convincing than the thought expressed in the ten lines.

It is the "something" that puts a message across—that brings face to face with your customer. It is too important to be neglected. We are equipped with type and ink to produce printing of excellent character. All at our office, or phone and we will bring samples and talk to you about your stationery.

As a rule, most of the tables in the dining rooms of the land are affected with ring-blight. Spot removing is not exactly a science, so it is with glee that we see in the shops, small, highly decorated cardboard discs, presented in packages. The decorated discs are absorbent and care of the inevitable moisture that collects on the outside of glasses and runs down the sides. Bottoms are non absorbent will not let the moisture seep through. They may be dried out and used over and over again."

Telephone No. 10
$2.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE
In Texas and Panhandle Strip of the Oklahoma; $2.50 per year elsewhere.
Entered as second class matter
November 21, 1919, at the post office at Spearman, Texas, under the act of March 3, 1879.
Saturday's primary election was a very quiet affair, so far as Hansford county was concerned.
The vote was light at each of the eight polling places, as was to be expected, as there were only two contests for county offices. For her first appearance on the political stage, Opal Miller ran a remarkably good race against J. E.
Womble, veteran politician and office holder. Oscar McLeod also ran well against Mrs. Bessie Gator for tax assessor. A pleasant thing in connection with these two races was the absolute absence of bitterness or ill feeling of any kind whatsoever. Hansford county voters go to the polls and vote as they please, but refuse to become agitated or unduly worked up over an election over the election of any candidate or the defeat of another. All over the state the newspapers this week will send out the admonition: "Let's bury the hatchet and work for the good of the community." There is no hatchet to bury in this good county. Neighbors are not attempting to cut each other's throats, but all are working for the common good.
The membership of the Spearman chamber of commerce is constantly increasing. New members are added to the rolls almost every day. The citizens of Spearman and vicinity are fully alive to the importance of a live, active chamber of commerce. Organization is daily seeing many citizens of the entire county. In numbers there is strength and the ability to accomplish.
There is no argument in the world that can be made against paved streets for a city or paved highways for the development of a community. This is a daily progress and your feet will be on the accelerator constantly or you are soon left behind. Good paved streets add to property values, attract investors and home builders, and encourage progress in many ways. The increase in property valuations far exceeds the price of street paving. Spearman should have more paved streets.
Variety Store Force Challenges Chevrolet Force for Golf Game
The sales force at Smith's Variety store, Spearman, believe they are real golf players and do not hesitate to say so. The Mc-Clellan Chevrolet force also play a good game, therefore it was quite natural that the question arose as to which force could really play the best game. The Variety force issued a challenge to the force of any other place of business in town and the challenge was promptly accepted by the McClellan Chevrolet people.
Two ladies and two men from each force will enter the contest. The Chevrolet force has only one lady helper, but this handicap has been overcome. There will be a "mystery lady" in the game. She (?) will wear ladies' beautiful costume to be furnished by Stone-Merritt & Company, but may make a pipe between shots.
This championship game is to be played tonight, Thursday, between 8:30 and 10:30 o'clock on the Cardinal Golf Course, Main street, Spearman.
A lady friend suggests that this tree sitting game among the boys is just the thing. Mothers know when the boys are when they are up a tree.

TO THE VOTERS OF HANSFORD COUNTY

It is a great pleasure to me to acknowledge that your vote of confidence in my administration of the office of county and district clerk makes me the more eagerly do my utmost to perform these important public duties as efficiently, as economically, and with much friendly spirit of real service to all the residents of Hansford county, as can be accomplished in this office, and I shall be my honest endeavor unflinchingly to render whatever assistance lies in my power.

I thank you sincerely for the opportunity to serve you during another term.

Respectfully,
J. E. WOMBLE

I THANK YOU

I wish to thank the voters of Hansford county for the loyal support given me in Saturday's primary election. This evidence of operation is highly appreciated and we shall continue to serve to the very best of our ability.

principally upon a confession obtained by L. G. Gribble, Collingsworth county attorney, on the day following the crime. No demonstration was encountered at any time during the day here. No more persons than could be seated were allowed in the court room. Those allowed to enter were searched by rangers.

Washington was screened from view in the court room by the rangers. He had been brought here when court opened, from Pampa, where he had been held for more than a week.

The negro was taken by Sheriff McKinney of Collingsworth county from the Vaughan home to Pampa, Oklahoma, where he was joined by Sheriff Ed Smith. Later the officers went to Childress where Smith kept the negro while McKinney went to Wellington and brought back Gribble.

Disguised as Worker

After the confession was obtained, Smith took the negro to the Granite reformatory. Washington was taken several days later from Granite to Pampa by McKinney, who disguised himself as an oil field worker, the testimony brought out. It was turned over to Rangers at Pampa.

The confession revealed that Washington, 27 years old, had been employed on the farm adjoining that of Vaughan. He admitted he went into the Vaughan home where he attempted to attack Mrs. Vaughan, who resisted. He struck her several blows and left her dying, the confession showed.

According to McKinney's testimony, the negro had been faced and identified by Vaughan after the slaying. Although he was armed at the time, Vaughan made no attempt to shoot the black, McKinney said.

The slain woman's husband was the first witness of the prosecution. George Vaughan, 13-year-old brother of the elder Vaughan, also appeared as a prosecution witness. Dr. J. W. Goch of Shamrock testified Mrs. Vaughan's skull had been fractured and her head beaten beyond recognition. She had not been criminally assaulted, he also said.

DRUNKEN DRIVING

Examples in abundance are available these days to demonstrate that drunken driving may mean. Liquor may have played its part in a number of fatal accidents near here.

It appears that the practice is on the increase and for this reason we feel that the officers of the law should deal more vigorously with such offenses.

Regardless of what one's attitude may be toward liquor and prohibition, there is no intelligent person who wants his own life and the lives of the members of his family endangered by automobile drivers whose senses are muddled by liquor.

This is not offered as a criticism for the past but as a suggestion for the future. Examples are needed to teach people to stay out of cars when they want to drink.

SUCCESS

Success cannot be measured by the enormity of one's wealth or the vastness of one's notoriety. Many of the world's greatest artists in the realm of letters, music and of painting ended their days in comparative poverty. Yet they have brought pleasure and new understanding to posterity, and therefore we call them successful.

Many others have amassed millions, but they did it at the price of suffering and hardship to countless others. Therefore, the enlightened observer calls them failures.

Hence we say that the success of individuals, of communities and of institutions of all kinds is not a matter of statistics.

Success is achieved only when it brings greater happiness, more profound understanding, or new helpful knowledge and service to others.

TICKLING THE COLONEL

It was a dark night at Alder shot, and in the gloom could be heard the sound of an approaching horse.

"Halt! Who goes there?" barked the picket.

"Disarm, sir, and advance to be recognized."

The colonel dismounted and came over to the picket, who presented him with a nap.

"Proceed, sir," he said, "back on my horse, the colonel asked, "By the way, who posted you there?"

"Oh, nobody, sir," replied the picket. "I'm just practising."

NO EXPERT

Judge: "What had the defendant been drinking when you arrested him?"

Cop: "Whiskey, I think, Your Honor."

Judge: "You think? You think? Are you a judge?"

Cop: "No, Your Honor, only patrolman."

We complain that politicians most of the year and then stand vote to keep them in office.

Frigidaire Is Popular And Growing More So

Hundreds of thousands of families that have been waiting for electric refrigerators to become cheaper will be interested in the announcement that Frigidaire Corporation, a subsidiary of General Motors has entered the low price field with an all-porcelain finished model at a factory price of $157.50.

The new model is finished in gray porcelain, inside and out, and is built to standard specifications with many new features, according to a factory announcement. It has four and one half square feet of shelf space; enough, it is said to hold the daily milk and meat requirements of a family of eight.

"Anticipated demand from a new class of purchasers, lower overhead, cheaper copper and other raw stocks and many production economies that have been instituted now make it possible to bring electric refrigeration within reach of hundreds of thousands to whom price has been a barrier in the past," said E. G. Biehler, president and general manager.

"While approximately only nine per cent of the existing domestic refrigeration market has been sold, millions of average families are fully familiar with the advantage of mechanical refrigeration. Many, we believe, have been waiting for a responsible manufacturer to offer them a reputable product at a popular price."

The new model has an ice freezing capacity of two and one half pounds, an accessible cold control, tightly enclosed mechanical and satin finished nickel-plated hardware, a second model, one size larger, selling at ten dollars more was also announced. Both are in the hands of dealers, available for immediate delivery.

A flexible ice tray to expedite removal of ice cubes was also announced. It will be available for present Frigidaire users, the announcement said.

It does not seem possible that within the confines of a country as prosperous as the United States that becomes necessary to feed wheat, which makes the bread of the ear, to the livestock because the producer can realize more from it, but this is what has been advised by agricultural experts. There is a surplus claimed in this commodity and it is being claimed each year when the price is caused to drop below an unreasonable level. It seems that effort could be made when there is a surplus to establish credit with China or other countries so that in need of food to use up this surplus and in this way give a cash return to the producer.—Hajalmar Peterson in Ahkov (Minn.) American.

CHANGING THE FLAVOR

Wife: "Don't you think I have too much salt in the soup, dear?"
Model Husband: "Not at all, darling, there is, perhaps, a little too little soup for the salt, that is all."

During the nine months general taxes on tobacco amounted to more than $333,145,600. So it seems that some of the money that "goes up in smoke" finds a resting place at Washington.

MUST DEFEAT THE FERGUSONS

Once more Jim Ferguson threatens to become governor of Texas, and again it becomes the duty of Texas voters to deny him this goal.

Bunning on his wife's name Ferguson came out of Saturday's mandating lead, and in the brief time of less than four weeks Texas must solidify its voting power behind Ross Sterling or it will see Fergusonism and all it represents once more entrenched at Austin.

The Ferguson power is not to be minimized. The danger of a Ferguson victory can not be ignored. For 10 years it has been said that "the Fergusons are through," but no such claim may be made today. It can not be made with any certainty until after August 23.

Between Mr. Sterling and Mrs. Ferguson there can be no choice except Mr. Sterling for all classes and all individuals who stand for honesty and integrity in government. Texas has had more than enough of Fergusonism and his policies. It impeached him once. It has had scandals in public affairs every time he has been in power.

The aggregate strength of the defeated candidates is sufficient to bury Ferguson under a landslide which would definitely spell his doom in Texas politics. This means the rallying of all forces around the Sterling banner, and the Daily News hereby pledges its wholehearted support to the Sterling campaign.

Mr. Sterling was not the choice of The Daily News in the first campaign. It supported Senator Small, believing him to be the best man in the race and believing he would best serve the interests of this section and the state as a whole. The Panhandle gave a tremendously heavy vote to Mr. Small. Mr. Sterling's vote in this section was very light.

But that campaign is over. A new fight now faces Texas. Mr. Sterling is one of the state's big business men. He is serving on the state's most important executive board. As chairman of the highway commission he supervises the spending of some $40,000,000 annually. His honesty has never been questioned.

Mr. Sterling can be supported without his bond issue being endorsed. The bond issue must be approved by both Legislature and by the public at the polls before it means anything. All that Mr. Sterling could do as governor would be to recommend it to the legislature.

The issue squarely before the voters of Texas now is whether Jim Ferguson goes back to the governor's office, or whether Texas retains its self respect and good name.—Amarillo Daily News

White Deer Barber Has a Cure For Our Ills

The Spearman Reporter, Spearman, Texas.

We people of the wheat growing communities must do something to stimulate the use, also the price of wheat, and the home papers have the best chance of doing same. Any personally writing a good copy weekly papers in the wheat growing districts to get them interested in printing the slogan "Buy a load of wheat," and try to induce everyone who has chickens, cows or hogs to buy a load and feed it. Therefore taking it entirely off of the market. Here at White Deer it is going over big as we have a flour mill here and they (the people) are buying a load of wheat and trading it in for flour, getting 30 pounds of flour for a bushel of wheat. Check flour.

Please boost the slogan between news items, also on editorial page.

Thanks,
O. W. HARRAH, Barber.

Panhandle A. & M. Will Celebrate

A big barbecue and picnic to celebrate the progress of the Panhandle A. & M. College will be held on the college campus at Goodwell Labor Day, September 1.

This celebration will climax the campaign of the college for an enrollment of 500 college students at the beginning of the fall semester. Some very prominent men have been invited by President Fanning to be present and speak on this occasion. Among them are: Clarence Robert, Editor of the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman; Hon. A. M. Hyde, United States Secretary of Agriculture; Hon. W. J. Holloway, Governor of Oklahoma; Hon. Elmer Thomas, United States Senator; Hon. M. C. Garber, Member of Congress; Walter

Harrison, Manager Daily Oklahoma; Omaha City Times; tractive features will be a basketball game, the entire day's work. A contest is on and former students for prizes offered during the largest year. The slogan "Students enrolled in 1930" is expected and all of the 500 invited and urged for this mammoth Enrollment for the is scheduled to September 2nd.

Anyway there left in the world is indicted as a ger.

Here are three important points to remember in safeguarding property and the investment it represents against loss by fire:

1. Where the nearest telephone is located and how to turn in a fire.
2. That all electrical repairs must be made by licensed electricians, approved by fire inspectors and every thing done to prevent fire.
3. That the fire insurance carried should be in proportion to the present value of the property, in order to have adequate protection.

SUNDAY AUGUST 3

Topic: Naomi and Ruth; in Racial Relationships. Lesson: Ruth 1:6-10

16. Then she arose with her sisters-in-law, and that she returned from the country of Moab, how that Jehovah had his people in giving her a husband.

17. Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried; Jehovah do so to me, and more also, if aught but death part thee and me.

18. And when she saw that she was steadfastly bound to go with her, she left off speaking unto her.

22. So Naomi turned, and Ruth the Moabitess, her daughter-in-law, with her, who returned out of the country of Moab, and they came to Bethlehem in the beginning of barley harvest.

23. And she said unto her, We will return with thee to my people.

24. And they lifted up their voices, and wept again; Orpah kissed her mother-in-law; but Ruth she kissed.

16. And Ruth said, Entreat me not to leave thee, and to return from following after thee; for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God.

17. Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried; Jehovah do so to me, and more also, if aught but death part thee and me.

18. And when she saw that she was steadfastly bound to go with her, she left off speaking unto her.

22. So Naomi turned, and Ruth the Moabitess, her daughter-in-law, with her, who returned out of the country of Moab, and they came to Bethlehem in the beginning of barley harvest.

23. And she said unto her, We will return with thee to my people.

24. And they lifted up their voices, and wept again; Orpah kissed her mother-in-law; but Ruth she kissed.

25. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

26. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

27. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

28. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

29. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

30. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

31. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

32. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

33. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

34. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

35. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

36. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

37. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

38. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

39. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

40. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

41. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

42. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

43. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

44. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

45. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

46. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

47. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

48. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

49. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

50. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

51. And she said, Behold, thy daughters-in-law are going to return to their own people, and to their own land.

It carries us without an effort into an old-world realm altogether unlike our work-a-day life. Whilst we read it the customs of that other realm seem quite familiar to us. The story opens in Bethlehem, a village of Judah about six miles south of Jerusalem, the town later to be distinguished as the birthplace of David and of "great David's greater Son," our Lord Jesus Christ. A famine in the land of Judah had driven Naomi and her two daughters-in-law to leave their native land and their relatives, and to seek their fortune in a distant land. Naomi and her Family, Chap. 12

The migrating family consisted of Elimelech, his wife Naomi, and his two sons, Mahlon and Chilion. It was a good family, and removal to the heathen land of Moab was regarded by them as a calamity. Only the extremity of famine could induce a worshipper of Jehovah to live in that unclean country of idolaters.

There Elimelech died, and his two sons, having become accustomed to Moab, their native land, and their relatives, decided to marry Moabite girls. Chilion's wife being Orpah, and Mahlon's being Ruth. After these marriages a double calamity fell upon the little household, for both Chilion and Mahlon died, and Naomi was left, bereft of her husband and two sons, and with only her two daughters-in-law, who were strangers and foreigners. We are at once admitted to one of the loveliest scenes in all the Bible.

Naomi Returns to Bethlehem, v. 7. "Then she arose with her daughters-in-law, that she might return from the country of Moab." She had lived for about ten years in Moab, but it could never be home to a Hebrew woman. "For she had heard that Jehovah had visited his people in giving them bread." Bethlehem, which means "the house of bread," was once more true to its name. Jehovah is said in the Bible to "visit" his people both with blessings and again with penalties for wrongdoing. Naomi like all Jews, felt herself to be one of God's people, under his protection, and receiving from his hand all good things. Christians should have the same sense of belonging to God, and so they pray to him, "Give us this day our daily bread."

"And she went forth out of the place where she was, and her two daughters-in-law with her." It has been suggested that one object of Naomi's return was to sell her land in Bethlehem, and thus obtain something to support her in her old age. Moreover, she had her old friends and neighbors to draw her back.

Orpha and Ruth, vs. 8, 9. Both Orpha and Ruth loved their mother-in-law. At first they both intended to accompany her to her old home among the Israelites, but finally Orpha turned back to her Moabite home. Ruth, however, matched Naomi's unselfishness with her own devotion. In language which has become classic because of its beauty and pathos she declared her unalterable purpose to cleave to her mother-in-law until death should separate them. Vs. 16, 17. "Like David's lament over Jonathan these words have sunk deep into the human heart. As an expression of the tenderest and most faithful friendship they are unequalled. From this moment a charm lingers about Ruth and she becomes dearer to us than any woman of whom the Hebrew records tell." Orpha went back to her old home, and there she disappeared from history; Ruth went forward to a new home, and there she won a place among the immortals.

Ruth and Naomi in Bethlehem "And they came to Bethlehem in the beginning of barley harvest." It was April and in the opening of the harvest season, as barley was the first crop to be gathered in. It was to be a happy harvest time for them, after all. "It is always darkest just before dawn."

"Barley harvest was followed a fortnight later by wheat harvest (Ruth 8:23) and the harvest season lasted seven weeks (cf. Deut. 16:9). It was a humane ordinance of the Jewish law that when a farmer was reaping his field he should not 'make clean riddance of the corners' but leave gleanings for the poor and the stranger, and when he forgot a sheaf he should not go again to fetch but leave it for the fatherless and the widow (cf. Lev. 23:22; Deut. 24:19). And here Ruth recognized an opportunity of giving off what for the next seven weeks. She could glean in the harvest field in the wake of the reapers. It was a hard necessity for her nurtured as she had been, and Naomi would hardly have suggested it; but when Ruth proposed it she gave her consent.

The Kindness of Boaz. Ruth, as a chance under the ordering of God's providence, went to glean in the fields of Boaz, a rich man who was a near kinsman of Naomi's husband. "None disturb her, and no rural badinage is directed at her; she moves shyly by herself along the fields, as solitary as in her own poor home. In due time the great man whose land is being harvested comes down to greet the reapers; he notices the solitary gleaner, and is told who she is. Boaz at once steps up and speaks to the shrinking stranger, bidding her on no account to quit his fields, but remain among his maidens and refresh herself at his feasts. Boaz lets her know how he has heard of her loving care for her mother-in-law and her preference of Israel for Moab. Ruth's heart is full, for she had heard a word of kindness in the solitude of a strange land. So Boaz saw to it that Ruth's gleanings should be plentiful, and the industrious young woman had a bushel of grain to carry home to Naomi. Ruth Marries Boaz, Chap. 4:13, 17. It was inevitable that love should spring up under such circumstances, and Ruth's love story, though the differing customs of the time and place made it seem strange to us, is very beautiful. It has the charm of a simple, pastoral life. It illustrates the feeling that "the family was more important than the individual; the clan than the family, the tribe than the clan," and that it is the duty and privilege of the individual to surrender himself to the larger interests. "Boaz would in any event have married Ruth in order to perpetuate the line of his kinsman Elimelech; his love for the beautiful Moabitess made the task a joy."

Ruth and Ancestress of Messiah. Matt. 1:1, 5, 6. "No more is said of Ruth. She was only introduced into Scripture to make a link in the descent of the kings of Judah—in the descent of the distant Messiah. For her foreign extraction and the improbability of a worshipper of Chemosh becoming an ancestress of Messiah, and not for her gentile ways of love, and the charms which won the heart of Boaz, does she figure among the women of the Bible. But the bond of inspiration is opulent and delicate in its drawing; and introducing the tale of Ruth for another purpose, it draws the portrait of Ruth in this memorable way, to win the love of the ages, and to be model for girls to imitate. Her grandson was Jesus, and Jesse was the father of David. Beautiful to us must be every string of goodness and beauty which made the stock from which, according to the flesh, Jesus came."—Rev. Robert F. Horton, D. D.

A World Brotherhood Christ's descent from the Moabitess summons all Christians to a world brotherhood. We of all men should never look down on a foreigner or scorn those whose history, customs, and ideas are different from ours. We belong to the world religion, and we have for our own the World Redeemer. Human brotherhood is the corollary of the Divine Fatherhood.

Ruth's Pledge of Devotion to Naomi, v. 16, 17. The sixteenth and seventeenth verses from one of the most beautiful, eloquent, and memorable passages in the Bible. It is a passage which in all ages has been peculiarly dear to lovers and to husbands and wives. It is charged with strong emotion and is rhythmic, being in the language of poetry. Ruth said: "Entreat me not to leave thee, and to return from following after thee;

For whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; Thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God; Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried; Jehovah do so to me, and more also, if aught but death part thee and me."

Churches and Society

B. Y. P. U.

The Baptist Young People's Union met last Sunday at the usual hour, 3:30, with thirty present. Group No. 2 rendered a very interesting program which was enjoyed by all. The B. Y. P. U. extends a hearty welcome to the young people of Spearman.

Missionary Society
Enjoy a Picnic

The Missionary Society of the Methodist church enjoyed a great picnic on Wednesday afternoon, July 30. This was a fifth Wednesday and there was no regular program arranged for, so the ladies held a picnic, which was attended by about 50 members and friends. The picnic was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Maples, four miles from town. A fine basket lunch was spread, which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Methodist Church

Sunday school begins promptly at 10 o'clock. Preaching services at eleven a.m. Evening worship at 8:30. We had more than one hundred at Sunday school last Sunday morning. Why not make it 125 this Sunday? We believe that the rush is over now and people are not so busy, therefore we ought to have full house each service from now on.

We are delighted to have Dr. Jackson B. Cox, who has spent 33 years as a missionary to Old Mexico, but now residing elder of Tampa Florida, visiting in our city. He will occupy the pulpit Sunday. Come out to the services and listen at this missionary who has had great experience in these years of service. There will not be any public collections taken, so come out to all of the services.

Last Sunday was a good day. We took our conference collections and were delighted with the hearty response. If you were not there, member, we will be to see you. We expect to have all of the conference collections subscribed within two weeks. Some paid theirs in full. If you can't pay now you may pay by the first of October. This church has made a record in regard to paying their collections year by year—and of course it is a habit and we are not expecting anything else except to pay out on everything this year.

We give you a standing invitation to attend all of these services both members and friends.
H. A. NICHOLS, Pastor.

Well Known Young Couple
Are Married Sunday

A very pretty wedding occurred Sunday afternoon, July 27, at 2:00 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. C. Beck, fifteen miles northwest of Spearman, when Miss Eleanor Beck and A. D. Reed were united in the ties of wedlock. Only members of the families of the contracting parties were present.

Rev. Jasper Bogue, Christian minister, performed the ceremony using a beautiful and impressive ring form. After the ceremony the happy couple left for a short wedding tour in the mountains.

Miss Beck is widely known throughout the county, where she has lived with her parents, Judge and Mrs. C. C. Beck, since early childhood. The groom, Dennis Reed, has resided in this section for about twenty-five years. He is a prosperous stockfarmer, his home being located about 15 miles southeast of Spearman.

Many friends throughout this entire section wish these fine folks all the good of a happy home.

First Christian Church

The church proclaimer of the truth, conservator of the good, association of the best fellowship, the most precious, the place where faith builds, hope grows bright and love is polished. It calls for you to help in its tasks. It waits to extend its ministering hands. Weigh well its appeal.

Our services are well attended. We seek to serve. Our aim is to interest, instruct, inspire and encourage.

We will have our regular services next Sunday with sermon both morning and evening. Bible school and Christian Endeavor, also.

Hear the invitation and come right on!

JASPER BOGUE, Minister.
