Tour of Hospital, Nursing Home Proves Well-Equipped Facility

Wednesday night, shortly after convening for an 8 p.m. meeting, and approving the minutes of the week before, members of the Temporary Board of the Muleshoe Area Hospital District left the Muleshoe City Hall for a tour of the hospital and nursing home facilities.

For several of the members, it was the first time they had been through the entire facility, and West Plains Medical Center and Muleshoe Nursing Home personnel were on hand to explain the functions of their particular department.

In the Muleshoe Nursing Home, the visitors were shown carpet that needed to be replaced. Ceiling tiles that were water stained from a former leaking roof that has since been repaired.

The board members checked out furnishings, including beds, that needed to be replaced and saw showers with improper floor tiles, which are very slick, and dangerous, when wet.

From the nursing home, the group visited office areas, and heard the possibilities for efficient usage of currently vacant offices.

They heard a proposal for a public dining area in the now mostly unused 'yellow dining room' near the nursing home.

Visiting the computer room, the computer process was explained by Vicki Villarreal.

In the kitchen area, the board saw non-working equipment and malfunctioning equipment, as well as trays and other equipment that need to be replaced.

The kitchen appeared to be very clean, but needed paint.

John Chisholm, West Plains Medical Center administrator, said the tile floor was recently cleaned with a very caustic acid, but will need to be cleaned one more time, and some grout replaced before the kitchen will pass a Medicare inspection.

The pharmacy is not open to the public at this time, and only contains medications to be used for patients in the hospital and nursing home at this time.

A proposal was made to convert the former snack bar to the pharmacy and convert the present pharmacy to a gift shop.

In the x-ray and lab area, L. T. Johnson explained the functions of his department, explaining the need for a portable x-ray that could be taken to 'critical patients' rooms.

Jannie Moseley showed her spotless physical therapy department, and it was very well equipped.

In central supply, Debra Jones was putting out buckets, just in case it rained some more like the rain approximately an hour before, as the central supply area has several leaks.

From the insurance department, to Respiratory Therapy, where some new equipment is needed, according to Glenna Roberts, who is also the Quality Assurance individual for the hospital.

The group toured through the Office Hours

John Chisholm, administrator at West Plains Medical Center reminded that offices at the hospital are open 8 a.m.-12 noon each Saturday for the convenience of people who cannot go into the hospital on weekdays to take care of insurance, make payments, or conduct other hospital business.

After days of rumbling thunder, brilliant lightning and dark, threatening clouds, very little moisture had been deposited in the Muleshoe-Bailey County area.

Officially, the measurement for Muleshoe proper was .78

after three days, with very isolated amounts of up to one and one half inches near Mores.

Hail was reported in some isolated locations, with most of the larger hail being reported from the Y-L and Pleasant Valley communities.

For instance, Hilbert Wisian said they received hail ranging from marble-size to near golf-ball size, on Friday afternoon.

Along with the hail, Wisian said he received one inch of rain. He also said it was too soon to tell how much damage was done to his crops, and other crops in the area.

Again, the southwestern area of the county was virtually left out. Mrs. Craig Kirby, of the Maple community said only .3 to .4 was received throughout the entire area.

From the Needmore area, Lewis Wayne Shafer, said he received .6 at his house just west of Needmore, and other amounts in that area, south, were reported to be from .5 to an inch and a half, with very little hail.

From western Bailey County, Mrs. Eugene (Donna) Shaw, of the West Camp-Lariat area, said they had gotten 'just showers' with .5 being the largest amount received in their area.

For the last few days, continuous severe thunderstorm to tornado watches and warnings have been continuous from the National Weather Service, but most of the severe weather occurred to the east of this area.

Saturday morning, flash flood watches were issued to carry through the day, covering a large area, including the immediate area of Bailey County.

NWS predicted that up to four inches of rain would fall in this area, and warned all travelers to watch for low areas, which may become flooded.

Little respite was in the weather picture through the weekend.

MISD Teachers, Aides Given Service Awards

Thursday morning, all Muleshoe Independent School District teachers, administrators, aides and office personnel were at the Muleshoe High School cafeteria for a recognition and award program.

Dr. Lawrence Ward, superintendent greeted those present, and commented, "I know you are all looking forward to a break and a different activity for the summer."

"When I came to Muleshoe, I came here expecting a 'perfect' district, and found that everyone was human after all."

He continued, "I know of no school that has worked harder for excellence than the Muleshoe School system."

"You (the teachers) are the ones who pulled it all together. I could think of thousands of things you have done to make the Muleshoe Schools better schools for our students."

In the absence of the school board president, Dr. Ward called on School Board vice president Cindy Purdy to help distribute certificates of appreciation and service pins to a number of teachers.

Those receiving certificates of appreciation for five years of service included Sharon Gardner; Maggie Ruiz; Ladonna Holmans. Fifteen year certificates of appreciation were presented Pauletta Crawford, Matilda Reyna and Frances Perez; while Mary Janice Brantley received an award for 20 years of service.

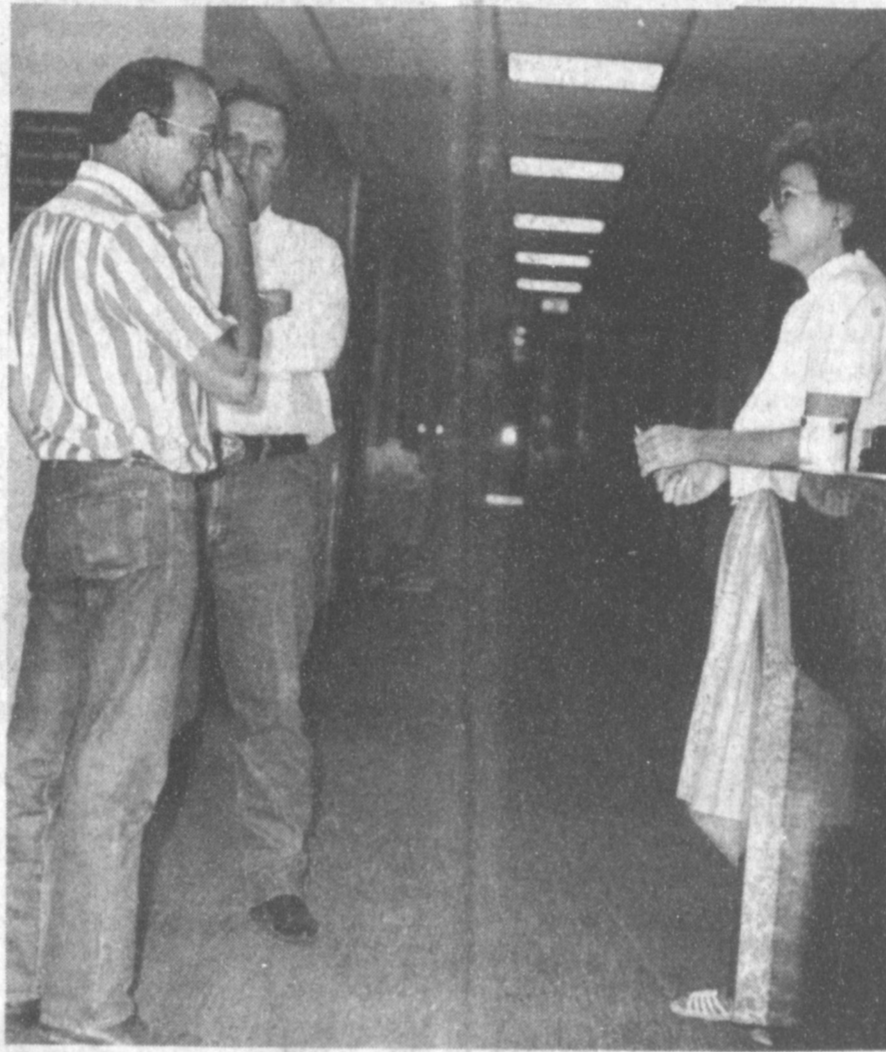

Those teachers receiving five year service pins included Shelly Turnbow, John Gulley, Margaret Gleason, Jody Lyles, Anita Boyd, Barbara Turner and Diane Harrison.

Ten year pins went to Lanell Skaggs, Debbie Hutto, Gail Bruns, Jan Martin, Betty Chamberlain and Marilyn Miller.

Mary Helen Perez and Pat Watson each received 15 year pins.

Barbara Milburn got a 20 year service pin; and it was a 25-year pin for Wayland Ethridge.

Fire Ant Control Becomes Urgent With U.S. Invasion

By Marilyn Brown

TAES Science Writer

No Texan who steps outdoors needs to be told how rapidly a fireant colony can grow, or how quickly a new colony seems to appear after the death of an old one.

New research from Texas AM, in which the ants were observed raiding adjacent colonies, sheds some light on how the colonies grow and spread so rapidly.

The period of foundation is the most vulnerable for an ant colony, which requires hundreds of workers before they can successfully defend a territory, said Dr. Bradleigh Vinson, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Red imported fireant queens produce and feed their first brood with nutrients derived from their own flight muscles and nutrients carried from the parent colony.

These first offspring, called minims, are small in size, allowing the queen to produce greater numbers of these workers from her fixed energy reserves. More workers improve the chances for success of the colony, Vinson said.

In recent research, Vinson and Terri Stamps studied laboratory colonies, getting a first-hand look at S. invicta establishment. As well as being fascinating, their observations will lead to a better understanding of the ants for future research on their control.

To set up the experiment, the queens were captured after mating flights, and were weighed and placed in vials that were capped with moist cotton and kept at room temperature until the first workers, or minims, enclosed. The queens were then reweighed and the numbers and pigment characteristics of the ants and their larvae and eggs were recorded. The queen, minims, and brood (eggs and larvae) were painted for identification.

Pairs of colonies were placed adjacent to each other in a plastic box, and food and water were provided ad lib.

The researchers found that 90 percent of the colonies combined to contain only one queen within 60 days. The queen was considered victorious if her rival died or was abandoned for more than 30 days.

Victorious queens were compared to defeated queens for several characteristics, and the only significant difference found was that the victorious queens were able to produce more brood. Although the researchers expected larger queens to defeat smaller queens, size had no bearing on who was the winner.

"Adjacent placement of two colonies resulted in one of two outcomes: The two colonies merged to form a single, polygynous colony, or one queen was abandoned or killed and her minims and brood joined the other colony," Vinson said. In colonies with more than one queen, the second queen was usually eliminated during queen combat, minim attack or by abandonment and neglect.

Stamps offered the following account of colony raiding:

A forager from one colony, A, would eventually encounter the adjacent colony, B. Upon contact with brood or minims, this forager would become excited, which would excite the B minims present. The forager would antennate brood for several seconds, but ignore the B queen and the other B minims.

The forager would then exit the B colony and rapidly return to its own colony, exciting other members of its colony. All of the minims in the A colony would then move to B colony, apparently following the initial forager's trail.

Once inside, each A minim would seize a larva, pupa, or callow minim and return to its own colony and place its burden in the brood pile. For all their vicious reputation, very little worker aggression was observed during raids. Vinson said minims were attacked in only one instance, and then only briefly.

The raided colony also would raid the raiding colony, so that brood robbing would go back and forth for several hours. Eventually, one colony would obtain all of the brood and would be joined by the minims of the raided colony.

In regard to the raiding, neither colony would attempt to recruit the raided queen. If the queen did join the new colony, she did so on her own accord.

While the workers may not fight during raids, the queens are a different story. Vinson described a queen battle as follows:

The attacking queen faces the defending queen with legs splayed and mandibles open. She curls her abdomen under her thorax, stinger facing the victim. After several minutes, she attempts to bite and sting, with her defender doing the same.

Minims do not usually interfere in queen combat, instead continue to tend their brood. When fighting becomes particularly violent, minims would move brood out of the way, Vinson said. Minims did attack a queen in one of the colonies, but only during a lull in 24 hours of queen combat.

In the observed attack and execution, each minim would grab a leg or antenna, holding the queen in a splayed position, while others slowly dismembered her.

In all of the colonies, the minims showed no statistically significant preference to brood from their own colony over that of the other colony once colonies had combined.

One observation that seemed important is that the surviving queen generally was the best egg producer, making that trait a good indicator of pheromone production, said Vinson.

He said that past studies have supported the notion that pheromone quantity regulates queen numbers in ant colonies.

Minims appear to be unique behaviorally and biochemically, Vinson said. They must perform all of the tasks in colony maintenance, and they have relatively short lifespans. Being produced only from nutrients available to the newly alighted queen, they may lack a refined ability to distinguish colony odors. They probably can distinguish pheromone quantity, but not quality, he said.

"This might explain the lack of aggressiveness between newly founded colony minims," Vinson said. "Behaviorally, minims emphasize brood care. The faster a colony can produce workers, the more it can produce and the more likely it will survive to compete. Therefore, brood production and care should be the major concern of the newly founded colony."

"The unique nature of colony founding minims and the theory of queen number control by pheromone quantity may serve to explain the colony raiding and merging behaviors in newly founded colonies of S. invicta," the scientist said.

Creative Living

by Sheryl Borden

Information on kitchen cabinets and countertops and ways to build a child's decision-making skills will be the featured topics on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, June 6 at 12 noon and on Saturday, June 10 at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.)

Jill Absher, Creative Kitchen Designs in Birmingham, AL will talk about the different categories of countertops and cabinets and tell about major products used for exterior finishes. She'll also share some futuristic developments in the kitchen appliance and home furnishings area.

Dr. Jane Bluestein, Instructional Support Services, Albuquerque, will talk about how to structure choices for children and explain the rationale behind helping a child make decisions and how this also helps the parents.

The flashback segment will be on children's cooking. The guest is Dian Thomas, and she appears regularly on The Today Show and always has delightful, creative ideas to share. Today she will show some clever ideas for food for children--such as monster dogs, painted toast, donut cake and a lunar space lunch. Dian lives in Salt Lake City, UT.

On Tuesday, June 6 at 9:30 p.m., and repeated on Thursday, June 8 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will present information on the Gatekeeper Program, ways to reduce calories in the diet by using the microwave oven and Cajun cooking.

Rita Johnson, Community Affairs Department at Public Service Co. of New Mexico in Albuquerque, N.M., will explain the Gatekeeper Program and tell who is involved and also explain how to start one in your community. The Gatekeeper Program is designed to assist vulnerable older people who need help but may be unable to get it for themselves.

The show will also include Bonita Snyder, Director of Product Development with Bama Pies, Ltd. in Tulsa, OK. Bonita will share some tips for better utilization of the microwave oven to reduce caloric intake and to provide a healthier dietary regime.

The flashback segment will feature Joyce Meyer, a home economist with the Indiana Pork Producers Association. Joyce will demonstrate how to use the black iron skillet to do some down-home Cajun cooking with pork. Her Cajun chops are a spin-off from Louisiana's renowned blackened fish--quick and easy to prepare and made as hot and spicy as you like.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show is carried on more than 100 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver, CO. Viewers can request copies of printed materials offered on the show by calling on KENW-TV's toll-free telephone lines between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. In New Mexico, the number is 1-800-432-2361, out-of-state: 1-800-545-2359 and Portales and Roosevelt County: 562-2112.

Linda Tosh also introduced her Brownie Troop No. 228 and presented patches.

Girls from Junior Girl Scout Troop No. 152 were also introduced and presented badges they had earned this past year. Their leader is Rhea Morris.

One of the highlights of the afternoon was the Bridging Ceremony, when the Daisies crossed over the bridge and became Brownies. They were welcomed on the other side by Brownie Troop No. 200.

In still another Bridging ceremony, Angela Castorena crossed over the bridge from Brownies into Junior Girl Scouts. She was welcomed by Girl Scout Troop No. 152.

Angela received her Brownie Girl Scout Wings, to show that she flew up from Brownies into Junior Girl Scouts. She also received a Bridge to Junior Girl Scouts Patch, showing she completed bridging activities during her last year as a Brownie. She also received a Dabbler "The World of Well Being."

Sheryl Jones, Field Service Chairman, of Plainview spoke on the Girl Scout program in Muleshoe and stated "The Girl Scout Program has come a long way in Muleshoe this year."

Mrs. Merriott stated that her three year term as Muleshoe Service Unit Chariman is expiring and Mary Ann Ramirez is the incoming chairman. "Although my term of office is expiring, I still plan to work with the scouting program, Mrs. Merriott continued.

In closing Mrs. Merriott read the following article:

PORTRAIT OF GIRL SCOUT VOLUNTEERS

First, Girl Scout volunteers care. They care about each other, they care about other people, they care about their families. Not just plain old "care", but sincere, deep-down, bottom-of-the-heart kind of care. They care about people who have less than they do. They care about people who have more. They care about their council, they care about the national organization. They care about the youth of the world and, of course, most especially they care about girls.

Next, all of the Girl Scout volunteers I've met are committed. They have a deep sense of commitment to the purpose of Girl Scouting. They believe in what they are doing. They have made personal commitments to help our country's young women. They support the Girl Scout promise and law, and live them both in their daily lives.

Girl Scout volunteers work hard. Whatever you can say about Girl Scout volunteer work, you can't say it's easy. It's hard work. That's okay because Girl Scout volunteers are busy active people, full of energy and enthusiasm. They work hard and they enjoy it. And they get a lot done.

Successful Girl Scout volunteers enjoy life and they share that joy with the people around

Jeremy Carpenter

Named National Award Winner

According to an announcement made this week by the United States Achievement Academy Jeremy Carpenter has been named a United States National Award winner.

Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy stated "This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than ten percent of all American high school students.

A senior at Muleshoe High School, Jeremy was nominated for this award by Linda Marr, Counselor. His name will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

"The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Jeremy is the son of Jim and Frankie Carpenter. His grandparents are Philip and Artie Pierce of Muleshoe.

them. They're happy people. They smile a lot. They like to sing.

Girl Scout Volunteers are understanding. They are open to the ideas of others, and take the time to listen. They are skillful in perceiving the needs of others, and react with sensitivity to those needs. They understand the need for compromise and mutual support.

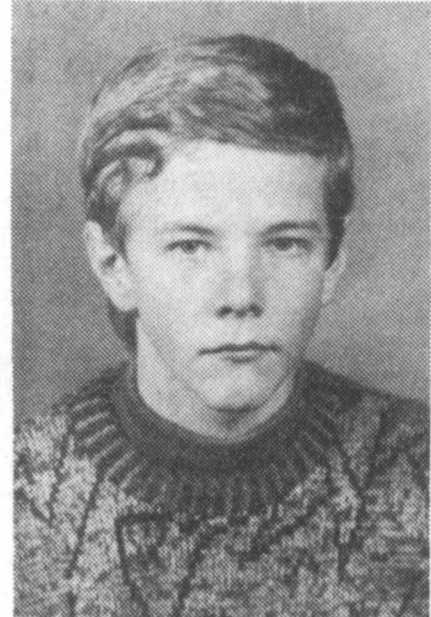

Girl Scout volunteers are generous. Generous with their time, generous with their talents, generous with their treasures.

Girl Scout volunteers have a sense of humor. They have fun and can laugh at themselves.

Girl Scout volunteers are confident. They are positive thinkers. They are persons who know we can succeed and convince others of that.

Finally, Girl Scout volunteers have faith, they believe. They have faith in themselves, faith in the Girl Scout Movement, and what we're trying to do. They have faith in others, especially in little girls. They have faith in their council, faith in their community, faith in God.

Girl Scout volunteers are special, very special. Not everyone can be one. Some try and don't succeed. But those that do are special, some of the most special people in the world. People just like you.

Congratulations, Carol and may the best always be yours.

Dr. Ward told of the recent school board banquet, where several teachers were recognized who had 199 years total in the Muleshoe School system, and a total of 212 total years in teaching.

He concluded by saying, "It is always very special to be a part of the teacher award ceremonies. Those just beginning this process -- are to be congratulated."

They ended the tour checking out the boiler room, which has been a source of concern since the hospital re-opened in October of 1987.

James Pollock, maintenance supervisor, had gotten the air conditioning working again, after patients spent a couple of sweltering days minus air conditioning before new parts for repair could be obtained.

According to the tour, some major and some minor repairs and replacements will be necessary, but in the meantime, West Plains Medical Center and the Muleshoe Nursing Home continue to operate on a 'hand-to-mouth' existence.

The other $1.10 will be used to pay the Texas Department of Health for the cost of the cholesterol screening test. "Walkins" will be accepted if time is available.

Electric safety is looking up...

...for power lines!

On the farm, on the job or at home, you should always be aware of power lines. Touching a power line with anything...an irrigation pipe, tool, a kite string...could divert the electricity through you causing serious injury or death. For safety's sake, look up for power lines.

AND, REMEMBER THESE SAFETY TIPS

- Do not trim trees near power lines.
- Do not shoot at insulators on poles, towers or structures.
- Avoid using electrical tools like lawn mowers or hedge clippers when grass and leaves are wet.
- Be careful when digging. Call SPS to find out if there are any buried electrical lines in the area.
- Beware of exposed wires.

We believe the people of the Muleshoe Area Hospital District will go vote on June 20th at the Muleshoe High School Cafeteria and the Lazbuddie School FOR providing HEALTH CARE for our area. We believe we will have a 90% vote FOR the election. Our people know and realize without health care, which includes maintaining a hospital facility, doctors, and nursing home, our area would suffer.

It is a fact that the hospital and nursing home will close if we do not pass this issue. We wish to appeal to everyone to go vote, and not have to ask our neighbors to move their loved ones out of the nursing home to another location. We don't want that on our conscience.

We realize cost for taxes are nil in comparison to life and also for the security and comfort of being able to get to stay at home to get the needed care we would want to maintain.

The Hospital District Coordinating Committee is working many hours to assure you that they care. We as a committee want to thank the hundreds of people for their assistance in making things happen. When the final vote comes in and we can say "We have a District." we can send word to our State Representative Pete Laney, our State Senator, Teel Bivens, our Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, and our Governor, Bill Clements, a THANK YOU for helping our area maintain Health Care. We ask you to be sure to go vote FOR a Hospital District.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

The Board of Trustees of West Plains Medical Center, Inc., has made a diligent effort to secure operating funds from every available source known to the Board. The Board has been repeatedly told that it cannot obtain operating funds unless it has a guaranteed source of income, such as tax revenue.

Without operating funds, we have been unable to obtain the certification necessary to take care of medicare patients. This has been a major problem, among many problems, in having a sufficient cash flow since the hospital reopened. In fact, the cash flow at the hospital, since it has reopened, has barely been sufficient to maintain the level of staffing that we now have.

It would have been impossible to continue the operation of the hospital without the volunteer services of many of the citizens of the community. However, we cannot continue to operate in this manner. There are many needed repairs at the hospital and some accrued debts which have not been paid.

If the community does not decide to establish a hospital district at the coming election, the Board of Trustees will have no alternative except to close the hospital as soon as reasonably possible, and then close the nursing home as soon as arrangements can be made to transfer the residents. We do not feel that we can continue to operate the nursing home without the hospital, because the costs of utilities and insurance for the entire physical plant are too expensive to be borne only by the revenue from the nursing home.

Sincerely yours,

Jimmie E. Burgess, President

Roller Coaster Spirit

There are days when we feel on top of the world. Everybody loves us and shows it. Nice things are done for us. Sunshine and happiness drenches everything. And then there are other days — when we're blue; people are busy. We're alone. We're afraid. It might as well be raining. Nobody knows the trouble we're in. Needed is a little self-discipline, not a lot of self-pity. We must learn to face the fact that life is not always a flowery bed of ease, and pleasure. Children dodge hard places, responsibility, and painful experiences. A mature person stands on his own two feet under God. Time, insight, and the grace of God can remove mountains — and take away that roller coaster spirit. Begin the road to spiritual maturity by attending church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

On Fishing

For many fishing is needed recreation.

The best example of successful fishing we know of is the small boy or man happily dangling a hook from a country bridge or a shady bank.

They may not have boats or fine tackle, they may not catch fish, but their relaxed attitude is right; they're having fun.

The secret of successful fishing is not catching fish, but taking it easy.

May 29

In early America some observed May 29 as the birth anniversary of Charles II (royalists, generally speaking). Charles II assumed the English throne after the death of Cromwell in 1660 (having been born on the 29th in 1630) in what English history calls the Restoration.

He was a dissolute king, hostile to democracy and not to be admired, but those who favored the monarchy welcomed even Charles II to the throne in the return to tradition.

Perhaps the most interesting memory about Charles II is the number of famous titles he bestowed on children of his mistresses—including Duke of Southampton, Cleveland, Grafton, Northumberland, Richmond, Monmouth, etc.

Americans today remember the 29th as the birthday of John F. Kennedy, the handsome young president assassinated in Dallas in 1963.

BUGWALLER—Ludlow Swine has trouble on dates. The other night he whispered a sweet nothing into his girl's ear, and swallowed her earring!

Another date told him she had been saving her love for him. He said: "You're about to lose your savings." He was once engaged to Cuthbert

Mabenclabber's daughter, and broke it off. Asked why, he said:

"She wanted to get married."

Once he dated Lulu Switch's half sister, Melody, who doesn't slow down for the jerk stops. He left early. "She turned the lights down lower than my intentions," he explained. Then he found a new girl.

"Doc Blossom ordered me not to have anything to do with her," Ludlow confessed.

"Why?" someone asked.

"Doc's her husband," Ludlow said.

Ludlow says he's looking for a campfire girl.

"I want someone who likes to play with fire," he says.

Hogjowls Hardy says Ludlow couldn't put it out.
