McGrath Denies 'Sit-Down' On St. Louis Case

By HARRY P. SNYDER WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (U) - Former Attorney General J. Howard McGrath today denied that anyone in the Justice Department tried to "sit on" St. Louis tax scandal cases in 1951.

McGrath told House investigators the department "did all we could to cooperate" with U. S. Judge George H. Moore in carrying on a special grand jury probe.

No Appeal Is Seen In Court Ruling

DALLAS, Sept. 17 (U) - No appeal is likely to be made in Dist. Judge Jack Roberts' ruling in barring Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's name on the Texas ballot under a Democratic label.

DEODORANT 'ODORIZES' CITY AREA

Third Street—east and west—was saturated with the odor of ethyl mercaptan, an ingredient of high-test gasoline, this morning.

"Missouri is the home state of the President and St. Louis is the home city of the Secretary of the Treasury but nobody ever spoke to me about any case in St. Louis. . . . And if anyone says someone tried to get the department to sit on St. Louis tax cases, it just isn't so."

McGrath testified before a judicial subcommittee which is investigating the Justice Department. Judge Moore sent the group a sworn statement last month which said in effect that the judge felt the Justice Department, from McGrath on down, dragged its feet on the grand jury inquiry.

"I have talked about the Taft-Hartley Act with both labor and industry people," he said. "I know the law might be used to break unions. That must be changed. America wants no law licensing union-busting. Neither do I."

"I also think that since patriotic American union leaders must swear that they are not Communists, then the employers with whom they deal should be subject to the same requirement. I would not mind, every morning swearing an oath of loyalty to the United States of America. I would be proud every night to give my sworn oath that I am not a Communist. But I would resent doing this, and I would resent it bitterly, if I happened to do it because someone who lived in Kansas."

Truman Angrily Scores Technique Of 'Big Lie'

Insists He's Not Tolerating Reds

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—President Truman asserted today that it is "a big lie" to say he tolerates Communists in this nation's governments.

And he accused those who say so of employing a tactic used by the Communists themselves, a tactic he described as "the big lie technique." That technique, Truman said, "was developed by the Communists, perfected by Hitler."

The President said that anyone who resorts to "the big lie technique, is not a good man." And he singled out for special attention those who call Gen. George C. Marshall traitor.

18 More Reds Nabbed By FBI Over The Nation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (U)—The Justice Department announced today the arrest of 18 Midwest and West Coast Communist Party leaders on charges of conspiring to advocate overthrow of the government by force and violence.

Among those arrested was Helen Mary Winter, 44, wife of Carl Winter, one of the 11 top Communist Party leaders convicted in New York in 1949.

These taken into custody today included: Dorothy Rose Forest, 37, of St. Louis. She was arrested in her office in St. Louis.

Only 4 Buildings Remain Standing On Wake Island

HONOLULU (U)—Trees and roofs few through the air like straws

but children sang bravely as they marched to concrete bunkers on typhoon-bashed Wake Island yesterday.

Mothers comforted their children in underground shelters while water sloshed around their feet. Outside every building except four on the flat little atoll was being smashed to bits by raging winds and waves.

Eyewitnesses told stories like these today from Wake and Kwajalein by radio as rescue operations got into full swing to bring some 700 inhabitants to Honolulu.

A C-97 Stratocruiser left the storm-battered atoll with 80 evacuees. Some 600 more will follow as fast as planes can land and load up.

Four injured were flown to Kwajalein Island, 700 miles to the south, by a PBM Martin Mariner yesterday.

Radio reports continued to trickle in with details of the terrible destruction wrought by heavy seas and wind greater than 160-miles an hour.

Preliminary estimates placed the damage at 10 million dollars.

Helein Hawk, a reporter for the weekly magazine Transpacific, said, "Damage was much worse than bombs could inflict. The Hotel, barracks, everything on the ground except concrete radio buildings and the terminal was destroyed. The 300-foot radio tower was blown right down."

Miss Hawk, of Chicago, was caught just before the typhoon hit in All the fury. Her Military Air Transport Service plane from Honolulu, en route to Tokyo, landed in a cross wind, blowing two tires.

Maynard Joseph Fontaine, a Coast Guard technician evacuated to Kwajalein, said he saw "roofs and trees flying through the air like straws."

Sgt. Thomas Albert Barker, 24, an Air Force technician, accompanied the four injured men to Kwajalein in the PBM Mariner.

Barker declared there was "no panic, no hysteria among the women and children. Everybody behaved wonderfully."

The children, he said, sang songs as they marched from their homes to the concrete blockhouses.

"The families stayed in the flooded blockhouses more than eight hours before venturing out at about 6 p. m.," he said. They wanted to take stock of their belongings, but they quickly went back to the blockhouses.

Two navigators of the Flying Tigers Airline suffered bad body bruises. One was knocked unconscious. They were F. W. Moore of Denver and Blair Johnson of Los Angeles.

"A Quonset hut blew down on them," Barker said. "Moore started running. He didn't know where he was going. Miraculously he ended up at the dispensary."

"Johnson dashed out of the Quonset hut and when he woke up an hour later he was holding onto a tree. He had been knocked cold."

Barker and Fontaine relayed their reports through amateur radio operators. Airman Les Lucas, Crooksville, O., sent the message from Kwajalein to Marine Cpl. Dave Gee of Walla Walla, Wash., stationed at Pearl Harbor.

Korea Jet Ace Scores Eighth Victory In Air

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 17 (U)—America's leading jet ace in Korea today shot down his eighth Russian-made MIG-15 as Allied fighter-bombers hammered Red targets from the battle front to near the Manchurian border.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said Maj. Frederick C. Blesse, who has flown more than 250 combat missions in Korea, scored his eighth kill in a fight between four Sabre jets and nine MIGs near Sakchu in northwest Korea.

The victory raised the Allied bag of MIGs in September to 47—three more than the previous monthly high of 44 in April.

U. S. Shooting Star jets swarmed over a Communist storage area and placed gold mine south of Kowon near the east coast.

Fighter-bombers attacked a rail line southeast of Anju in northwest Korea and pilots reported the rail bed was cratered in six places.

B-25 light bomber pilots reported hits on three rail bridges west of Kowon.

The Air Force said Thunderjets, U. S. Marine Panther jets and propeller driven Mustangs stacked three top concentrations in the Sariwon area of western Korea. Pilots said 29 buildings were destroyed and 14 damaged. Exploding bombs started 14 fires and caused three secondary explosions, the pilots reported.

Other fighter planes attacked Communist front line positions in the vicinity of Capitol Hill and Finger Ridge on the central front.

The hard air blows against the Reds followed destructive raids against Communist supply vehicles last night by U. S. light bombers.

"The families stayed in the flooded blockhouses more than eight hours before venturing out at about 6 p. m.," he said. They wanted to take stock of their belongings, but they quickly went back to the blockhouses.

Britons Rush To Defense Of Queen Bess I

LONDON (U)—Englishmen—who like to think they are on the threshold of a new Elizabethan age—rushed into print by the scores today to defend the first Queen Bess from a charge that she was "the most infamous and miserable woman in history."

The famous 16th-century queen was so described last Sunday by Msgr. Cyril Cowderoy, Roman Catholic Bishop of Southwark.

"Drunk with the blood of martyrs, the first Elizabeth dishonored the faith of the church of her fathers," Bishop Cowderoy declared. "There is no comparison with the gracious and lovely lady who now occupies the throne because of the fact of their name."

This reference to Protestant Elizabeth's treatment of Catholics stung letter writers to London newspapers to point out that the first Elizabeth's elder and Catholic sister, "Bloody" Queen Mary, was equally hard on Protestants.

Defenders of Elizabeth I variously described her as "one of the world's most gracious rulers," "that great lady who made the Elizabethan Age the most brilliant in our history" and "one of the greatest of all English monarchs."

City Dads In A 'Yes' Mood As Nine Propositions Are Okayed

The city commission was in a rare acquiescent mood Tuesday. Commissioners affirmed nine propositions before tabling a request for additional study. Nothing was turned down.

Police Chief E. W. York is to make a survey of the traffic situation at Eleventh Place and Birdwell to determine what, if any, traffic control devices are needed at the intersection.

City Manager H. W. Whitney said local Jaycees had urged additional controls for the crossing in view of extremely heavy traffic during certain periods. Commissioners said they will continue consideration of the matter after hearing the police chief's report.

Proposals winning the commission's nod of approval included addition of a plainclothes officer to the police force, a "days-off" arrangement for firemen, and quit-claim deed action to clear title 1.5 acres of land owned by C. H. McDaniel Jr.

Plat of a portion of Avion Village Addition was approved and the commission okayed correction of date shown on plat of College Park Estates.

Mayor G. W. Dabney was authorized to sign developer's contract for sewer line in the Central Park Addition, and to execute supplemental agreement with the government on the municipal airport lease. Commissioners okayed plan for installing water meters at three out-of-the-city residences, providing existing water line and necessary easement will be turned over to the city.

Also approved was a proposal for leasing a building at Hamilton airport to the Civil Aeronautics Administration for a maintenance shop. Hal Culp, CAA maintenance representative, requested lease on the space. He said he has been unable to secure a permanent location at Webb Air Force Base. Commissioners said they favored making shop space available at the rate of $300 per year, lights, gas and water charges included.

Chief York requested addition of the plainclothesman to the police force as a means of combating petty thievery, the pilfering of articles from automobiles, vandalism, etc. The additional officer probably will be named immediately, he said.

Firemen were granted days off at the rate of one 24-hour shift every fortnight. No time off will be granted during the vacation season or at other times when the fire department is short-handed.

Supplemental agreement in connection with the airport provides for exclusion of .014 acres of land which will become part of the Highway 80-87 cut-off road. It also excludes certain buildings which were moved, sold or demolished during reactivation of the field as Webb AFB.

Developer's contract was approved in the amount of $887 and allows Carl Strom to install sewer lines on the five-year refund basis. Quit-claim deed was approved for 1.5 acres of land adjacent to the north line of Ch. Park. The land is under fence of C. H. McDaniel Jr. and City Attorney Walton

Morrison said an error in survey field notes case cloud over title to the land. He expressed the belief that city has no claim to the land.

Plat of three and a half blocks of the Avion Village Addition was approved for Sam Goldman and commissioners okayed change in date which showed approval of College Park Estates prior to acquisition of the land by the College Park Development Company.

City Manager Whitney was authorized to inform R. E. McClure that the city will provide meters for three residences on the Andrews Road if an existing water line and easement across three plots of land will be provided. Commissioners thought such action might resolve dissatisfaction over a one-meter-three house arrangement now in effect.

Jaycees furnished the city manager with information on a vehicle count in connection with their request for more controls at Eleventh Place and Birdwell. Counts were made during seven 15-to 45-minute periods, showing 737 autos passing through the crossing.

SET OCTOBER 16 TO 19

Ike, Adlai Will Be Invited To Permian Basin Oil Show

ODESSA — Machinery was set in motion Tuesday night to invite Presidential nominees Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson to the Permian Basin Oil Show to be held in Odessa October 16-19.

Directors of the show met here to discuss plans for the huge oil show. Some of those present indicated that preliminary spadework had been done, and that Eisenhower could be obtained.

This year's show is being planned on a larger scale than the one two years ago. Carlos (Cotton) Clover, general chairman of the show, said 343 exhibit spaces have already been assigned. In the last show, there were only 208 exhibitors.

The show will be held in the Ector County Park, and the directors are set to host an area covering 24 counties. Arrangements have been made to use the Odessa football stadium if Eisenhower and Stevenson do make appearances.

It was revealed at the meeting that Eisenhower is due in mid-October at Lubbock—on an unspecified date. Oilmen believe he will coordinate the two dates.

The Permian Basin Oil Show will begin with a parade at 10 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 16. Bands have been invited from the Permian Basin area. Movable equipment will be exhibited during the parade.

Lloyd French, president of the show, stated that the opening day would be set as "school day." Children will be invited from the entire area.

In addition to all the oil well equipment to be exhibited, the directors have arranged a top-notch show to boost attendance. Such notables as Biondie and Dagwood, Preston Foster, the Musical Dons, Will Osborn's orchestra and Leo Pieper's orchestra will be present.

Master of ceremonies will probably be Ish Kahhbie, oilmen said. Two shows will be given daily—one at 3:30 p. m. and the other at 7 p. m.

Tickets will be sold locally through Cosden Petroleum Corporation and possibly to the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Fulton Lewis Jr., will be in Odessa on the opening night of the show. He will speak at a $12.50 per plate luncheon at 8 p. m. Previously, he will make a coast-to-coast broadcast from the Odessa station, KRIG.

A huge education program has also been mapped out by the directors. A 30-50 foot tent will be used for a movie house on the exhibit ground. Various movies on the oil industry will be shown.

Oilmen voted to hold an essay contest among high school students in the area on the subject, "What the Permian Basin Oil Show Means To Me." A $1,000 scholarship will be offered the winner. Don Pavie, president of the Independent Machinery Company in Odessa, said he would underwrite 50 per cent of the scholarship.

The housing committee reported that 52 companies will send 213 representatives as of the present date. Committeemen reported that reservations had been made for all in either Midland or Odessa.

It was also reported that the show will have at least one drilling mast, which will be lighted up and have drilling equipment on it. The mast will be 131 feet high.

Newsreel cameramen from Paramount, Universal and Fox have made reservations for the show. Approximately 40 persons were present for the planning dinner.

UN Is Not Forcing Reds To Accept Its Propaganda Leaflets

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The senior Allied liaison officer today denied that U. N. soldiers were trying to force propaganda leaflets on Communist security troops at this armistice site.

McCarthy said, however, leaflets dropped from an Allied plane might have fallen in the neutral zone "because of changing winds."

Kim Is Convincing People, But Mystery Is Unsolved

FORT WORTH, Sept. 17 (AP) — The mystery of Kim, self-styled albino Iroquois Indian, remained unsolved today, but the 18-year old girl was convincing more people that her story is true.

She was found living in the woods last Friday near Benbrook, a town near here, with only a dog for a companion.

Her story then—and she's sticking to it—is that she was a member of an albino tribe of Iroquois who lived on an island between the United States and Canada.

She said she came to Texas in search of a horse ranch on which to work.

Salvation Army Major W. T. Johnson said yesterday he believes the story. Johnson is going to help her in her search for a ranch job next week by taking her to the Mayan Ranch at Bandera.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hicks, owner of the dude Mayan spread, have agreed to give the girl a job.

The new arrangement was made yesterday after Kim returned from her first ranch "job" at Antelope and authorities were convinced she was not Connie Smith, 16-year-old daughter of a former Wyoming governor who is missing from a girls camp in Connecticut.

The Tarrant County sheriff's department here has sent copies of her fingerprints to the FBI in Washington and to the State Department of Public Safety in Austin in a renewed effort to determine her identity.

Food For Thought

It takes a lot of wholesome food to keep a pupil alert in the classroom, and especially if he's a football player. Above, Giz Gilstrap stops before the cashier, Mrs. Miller Harris, to pay for his lunch in the High School cafeteria. Mrs. Harris is also librarian at the school. Below, a group of first graders lose no time tacking their plate lunches in the cafeteria at Park Hill, operated for the first time this year on an experimental basis.

If You Shudder At The High Cost Of Food, Think Of Feeding 600 Kids

If you sigh in dismay over the cost of feeding your brood of two, four or six and feel that your larder may one day rival Mother Hubbard's, count yourself lucky.

What would you do if 600 hungry children crashed your kitchen every noon yelling for food to appease their hungry stomachs? Mrs. Nancy Annen, who faces such a situation five days a week for nine months of the year, takes it very calmly.

That is, except when she finds herself in a squeeze play between the tastes of her students and the demands of school administrators that she cut down on expenses. For business at the school cafeteria has mushroomed the past two years and government aid through subsidies and surplus commodities has dwindled.

Two years ago when Mrs. Annen first assumed charge of the cafeteria in what is now the Junior High, 140 students was the largest number ever served at a single meal. Last year, a total of 300-350 was served until the addition of the new High School cafeteria, when the number reached 500.

This year the service has been extended to Park Hill elementary school and around 600 youngsters and teachers file past the steam tables for their noon-day meal. And from the size of the grocery bill, not a single one of them has an appetite like a bird. For the little dainties daily consume 450 half pints of milk, more in cooler weather when they don't drink iced tea; 180 pounds of potatoes at a serving; 32 dozen eggs per week; 18 pounds of jelly at a single meal; 40 loaves of bread a day; 70 pounds of dried beans per meal; and 24 pounds of flour if chicken and dumplings is on the menu.

The government used to furnish such tasty surplus commodities as turkeys, hams, canned fruits, fruit juices, and many other fancy items. The only cost to the school was the freight from the distribution center in San Angelo. With all these items furnished in large quantities, the cafeteria was able to serve a delicious meal at very low cost.

However, food apparently is not as abundant as it was several years ago, for about the only items the cafeteria receives now are dried milk, powdered eggs, peanut butter and canned tomatoes. In addition the government pays the school five cents per meal served if the student drinks milk. If all these items furnished his milk and drinks tea or something else, the school only gets three cents per meal. Even this subsidy failed to materialize one month last year and the cafeteria faced a deficit for the year's operation. Nothing much can be done when Uncle Sam shrugs his shoulders and says there are no funds available. Meals cost the student 35 cents and students pay by the week. This pay-in-advance plan utilizes less labor and also gives the dietitian an idea as to how many to prepare for. At the present time the High School feeds from 192-203 a day, Junior High and Central Ward around 280 and Park Hill about 80. This is in addition to some 30 additional free meals that go to the kitchen help. There are four on the High School staff and three in the Junior High School kitchen. The kids like potatoes and beans. They also like meat loaf, but tire of it if it's served too often. But they shun buttered carrots, greens and spinach like the plague.

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/4 cup scallions (cut in 1-inch pieces) or 1/4 cup thin strips onion, 1 cup water, 1-3 cup nonfat dry milk, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 cup cooked snap beans, 1 cup cooked corn kernels.
Method: Melt butter in skillet; add scallions or onion and cook until partly tender. Form beef into 12 patties; add to skillet and brown. Remove patties and keep warm. Pour water into small bowl. Sprinkle nonfat dry milk over surface of water. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Pour into skillet and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Stir in pickles and mustard. Add cooked patties, snap beans and corn. Heat. Makes 6 servings.

Rebekah Lodge 284 To Give Memorial At Crane Meeting

W. W. Norton and Euvonia Norton were elected to membership Tuesday evening when the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284 met in the IOOF Hall. Initiation for the two will be held next Tuesday evening. The charter was draped in an impressive memorial service for Mrs. Mattie E. Knauff, past president of the Rebekah Assembly. During a business session the group accepted an invitation to present the memorial service at the West Texas IOOF-Rebekah Association to be held in Crane Oct. 25. Twenty-eight members attended.

Mrs. Gafford Leads Study At Meeting

Mrs. Monroe Gafford conducted the Bible study from the book, "Women of Destiny in the Old Testament" at the meeting of the Baptist Temple W.M.U. Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. B. Riddle. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Sam Bennett and Mrs. Curtis Reynolds. Ten attended.

Mrs. Groehl introduced officers of the unit. These were Mrs. T. H. Tarbet, vice president; Mrs. J. Gordon Bristol, secretary; William E. Greenlee, treasurer. During the refreshment period, music was furnished by Kenda McGibbin. Mrs. T. H. Tarbet, the music chairman, led in a sing-song. Mrs. Groehl announced that the regular meeting date would be the first Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Executive committee of the Park Hill P-TA adopted the state program outline, "Strengthening Our Faith in Our Congress Platform of Service." The first program, the group decided, would carry out the theme of appreciating our neighbors by arranging a reception honoring the principal and faculty, and which all parents would be urged to attend. Committee members received literature. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Ted O. Groehl, president.

DESIGNING WOMAN New Dinnerware Includes Plain, Patterned Pieces

By ELIZABETH HILLIER You know how well pattern and plain color combine in a room, to be smoother and gentler on the eye than all pattern, and more interesting than all plain colors. Try the same idea on the table—there's a new trend toward the combining of patterned dinnerware with plain. One new dinnerware collection, called Interplay includes as many solid colors as decorated pieces. Patterned plates may be combined with soup bowls in solid colors, patterned cups may take unpatterned saucers, or decorated dishes may add only plain colored bread and butter plates, serving bowls, pitchers, platters, tureens, and casseroles. You choose your own combinations from charcoal and golden melon solid color and the same colors spiced with bittersweet in three different patterns on white backgrounds. The dinnerware is true china, in an unusual quality. It is oven-proof, for baking, roasting, even broiling, and extra resistant to breakage. It's designer is that well-known beginner of table trends, Russell Wright.

New Liquid Kills Roaches and Ants

New Way to Kill Pests Discovered by Scientists
ROACHES and ants are the most difficult household pests to control, and they can be brought into the home at any time. Science has just come forth with a new discovery, a colorless coating that kills cockroaches and ants, and that stays effective for months. It is called Johnston's NO-ROACH. It's just as simple and easy to use as it looks. You paint the coating on surfaces frequented by roaches and ants; woodwork near the sink, baseboards, garbage pails, window and door sills. When these crawling pests come in contact with this invisible, odorless, stainless coating they slowly become paralyzed, turn over on their backs with legs waving in the air, and die. Then the coating stays effective for months to kill any strays that get into the home and that walk over it. Effective for Months Science has seen to it too, that this product contains no DDT, no sodium fluoride, and no phosphorus. Johnston's NO-ROACH is not a contaminating spray or a messy powder. It is colorless, and may be brushed just where you want it, without having to move all your dishes and pots and pans. Guard against crawling insects, this modern NO-ROACH way. Prices are 8 oz. for 89c, pint for $1.69, and a quart for $2.98. CUNNINGHAM & PHILIPS COLLINS BROS. # Pope Outlines Moral Code At Medical Meet

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (U-P) — Pope Pius XII says medical research must take into account the interests of the patient, the community and medical science itself before experimenting with new treatments on living persons.

The pontiff, speaking to 300 brain and nerve surgeons attending the first International Congress of Histopathology (the medical science dealing with the tissues), outlined a moral code for doctors and medical researchers. The address was published yesterday in L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper.

Such a code, he declared, would prevent medical science from causing damage "which could never be compensated by the good" it is attempting to do.

"It is an evident law," the Pope said, "that before applying new methods on living men, research on bodies should be performed or the method of experimenting on animals used."

He admitted however, that sometimes this is impossible. There are cases, he added, "when a new method, still insufficiently proved, offers, with dangerous elements, appreciable chances of success. If the patient agrees, the application of this process is licit (permitted), but this cannot be made into a line of conduct for normal cases."

The pontiff said a doctor has only so much power over his patient as the patient grants him, and the patient has no right to commit "his physical and psychical integrity in experiments or medical research when these interventions would involve through themselves or after they have been performed destructions, mutilations, wounds or serious dangers."

McCarthy Is Sought For Active Drive

By JACK BELL

ST. PAUL, Minn. (U-P) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's managers plan to call on Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin to campaign actively for the Republican ticket on the Communist-in-government issue.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, a top Eisenhower adviser, told this reporter an invitation to McCarthy to campaign outside his home state is "in the works."

"I fully expect that Sen. McCarthy will be speaking vigorously for the ticket as soon as he recovers fully from his recent operation," Carlson said.

McCarthy, limited by physical disability in campaigning for renomination in Wisconsin, won a smashing victory there.

Apparently this convinced even the most sanguine of Eisenhower's advisers that the Wisconsin senator would be a valuable addition to their team. The feeling among them was that McCarthy could lash out at the Truman administration in blunt terms that the GOP presidential nominee has hesitated to use.

Thus, McCarthy, who has said he would support Eisenhower even if the latter disowned him politically, might be teamed with Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio in a double-barreled answer to the "give 'em hell" campaign that President Truman is expected to launch with a Western trip starting early in October.

A speaking schedule which will take Taft into 13 states was announced by Sen. Karl Mundt of South Dakota, co-chairman of the Republican Speakers Bureau, and Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

The schedule calls for an evening speech by Taft Oct. 8 at the "Pancake Day" celebration in Shenandoah, Iowa, after Truman speaks from the same platform earlier in the day.

McCarthy and Truman may never come to such close quarters, but the decision to use the Wisconsin senator extensively in the campaign apparently was contingent only on McCarthy's acceptance and his physical condition.

This decision seemed to have been taken by the Eisenhower advisers in the face of the general's evident distaste for McCarthy's criticism of Gen. George C. Marshall. In a Senate speech, McCarthy said Marshall, who helped elevate Eisenhower to five-star rank, had participated in a conspiracy against the country.

Eisenhower has not yet hit the Communist issue hard in campaign speeches. But he has mentioned it several times in apparent preparation for a later major address on the subject.

Man Kills Self After Murdering Two, Wounding 3

HOUSTON, Sept. 17 (U-P) — A crazed 64-year-old man shot two men to death in a crowded tavern, wounded three others and then went home and killed himself yesterday.

The dead were J. H. Milliron, 32, a customer in the tavern; Elmer L. McFarland, 30, a beer salesman, and George Cordary, the man who shot them.

Wounded were Sgt. Walter Gay, 22, of Ellington Field, who was shot in the chest, and Leslie L. Miller, 41, owner of the tavern.

Sheriff's Capt. J. D. Walters said Cordary spent most of the day in the tavern which he recently sold to Miller.

Mrs. Miller told officers that Cordary left the place and returned just as the Millers were serving a round of drinks bought by the beer salesman.

She said Cordary hitched up his shirt and a pistol fell to the floor. Cordary snatched it up, shot Miller first and then started blazing away at everybody in sight.

After firing about five times, Cordary walked to his home where he shot himself in the head. He died in a hospital.

Justice of the Peace D. F. Thompson was holding an inquest.

Bipartisan Council On Foreign Policy Is Urged By Dulles

SAN FRANCISCO (U-P) — John Foster Dulles says this nation should create a top-level bipartisan council to lead the free world with a "stable and consistent" foreign policy.

Declaring the United States "is in deadly peril," Dulles described the present administration's policies as "reactions to Soviet actions."

Dulles is foreign policy adviser to the Republican party and formerly held that post with Democratic administrations.

He told the American Bar Association yesterday a free world needs American leadership, but other governments "cannot follow us in zig-zags and somersaults."

Proposed Bus Merger

Stockholders of American Bus Lines now have under consideration a purchase offer from Continental Trailways. If approved it would make the new system the largest in the world under single ownership. Solid lines show the present Continental system, the dotted lines the American routes.

Continental Buslines Wants To Consolidate With American

Stockholders of American Bus Lines now have under consideration a proposal by Continental Trailways Bus to acquire American and operate the two as one system.

M. E. Moore, Dallas, president of Continental Trailways, and T.L. James, Lincoln, Neb., president of American Bus Lines, issued a joint statement regarding the proposal. James said that American directors had recommended acceptance of the offer to its stockholders.

If it is approved, this would make the enlarged system the largest bus system under one ownership in the world. Together the two would have 46,970 miles of routes in 31 states from New York, Philadelphia and Washington in the east, extending through the Midwest and Southwest to the Pacific Coast from San Diego to Seattle. Continental now operates 32,000 route miles and American 14,965.

American maintains a division point here with 16 Big Spring routes.

Early End Seen To F-W Strike

FORT WORTH, Sept. 17 (U-P) — Early end to a violence-marred strike at American Manufacturing Company here was seen today.

An official said last night the week-old strike of United Steelworkers (CIO) might be settled within 12 hours.

The optimistic view came after a 24-hour period in which a non-striker's car was bombed early yesterday and a striker was clipped by a truck entering the plant.

Police continued their probe of the blast that damaged the car of L. F. Williamson as it sat parked by his home. The blast apparently was caused by a World War II underwater demolition charge, police said.

Union officials would not say that they thought the truck driver intentionally hit Edwards S. Greener, 61, and said the union did not condone such things as the bombing.

Picket lines at the plant yesterday were peaceful.

Gen-Tex Fair At Temple Underway

TEMPLE, Sept. 17 (U-P) — Price Daniel, attorney general of Texas and U. S. Senate nominee, cut the ribbon to open the Gen-Tex Fair here yesterday.

Livestock judging began today. The festivities opened with a mile-long parade, crowning of a fair queen and a speech by Daniel at a luncheon of local service clubs.

Maida Walker was crowned queen of the five-day event.

Morse Predicts Ike To Be Winner

WASHINGTON (U-P) — Sen. Wayne Morse predicted today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will win the presidential election even though Morse and other independent Republicans take no active part in the campaign.

"As of now, Eisenhower is the preferable candidate," Morse said, adding that the general's speech today before the American Federation of Labor Convention in New York may influence many voters.

Morse accepted a belated invitation to address the AFL tomorrow after he delivered a blast last week end at the harmony meeting between Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Politics Mixed With Sentiment By The Nixons

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (U-P) — Sen. Richard M. Nixon and his wife mixed sentiment with politics today in an interlude before tonight's start of his Pacific Coast campaign tour.

The Republican vice presidential nominee and Mrs. Nixon flew from her home town, Ely, Nev., late yesterday to Ontario, Calif., then drove here for the night.

It was 12 years ago that the Nixons were married at the Mission Inn in Riverside.

The candidate will prepare speeches today for his tour, which starts at nearby Pomona tonight and includes a whistle-stop trek through California.

Nixon told newsmen that the alliance of his presidential running mate, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio caused no compromise of principles by either, because both reserved the right to hold their own views on certain issues.

That's a contrast, Nixon said, with the alliance of President Truman and Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson.

"Stevenson has taken the Truman line, hook, line and sinker," Nixon declared. "Sen. Taft realizes that the only alternative to supporting the Republican ticket is four more years of Truman with Stevenson as a fill-in."

Republican officials expect a crowd of around 15,000 tonight at Pomona. Sentiment enters here again, for it was in Pomona that Nixon launched his first campaign for Congress in 1946.

Mayor Allan G. Osborne has proclaimed this "Nixon Day." Automobile caravans from many Southern California communities are planned.

Nixon's speech tonight will be televised nationally by 32 ABC stations. It will also be on the Mutual-Don Lee radio network. It is scheduled from 8:30 to 9 p. m. (10:30 to 11 p. m., Eastern Standard Time).

Twelve people were charged with traffic violations in Justice of the Peace W. O. Lechner's court Monday. Seven complaints were filed for speeding, two for no tail light, one for parking on pavement, one for not having a muffler, and one for driving without a license.

One of the speeders, has been fined $10.

Complaints were filed by Amos Johnson and Jack Taylor, highway patrolmen.

History's Greatest Explosion May Come At New Atom Tests

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (U-P) — The greatest explosion in history may take place at the Eniwetok atomic weapons tests this fall, according to Rep. Carl Durham (D-NC), acting chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee.

In an interview with the Durham Herald yesterday, Durham declined to say whether the tests would involve the first hydrogen bomb.

He said that if the tests are successful, "there'll be an explosion greater than has ever been set off before. It will open up the gravest era in the history of the world."

A Bible Thought For Today—

Some say it is necessary for youth to sow wild oats. It sometimes takes several generations to fully harvest a crop of wild oats. Don't sow it. "I will behave myself wisely in a perfect way."—Ps. 101:2.

Today Is The First Of What Ought To Become Important Observance

Wednesday will bring the first observance of a special day, not a holiday in the sense that it calls for a cessation of business and work, and new only in the sense that it goes under a new name, but a special occasion which should commend itself to the consideration of patriotic groups and individuals everywhere.

It will be the first "Citizenship Day," and it will be observed, by act of Congress, on this and every succeeding September 17. It takes the place of "I Am an American Day," which was primarily designed to welcome citizens who had become newly naturalized. This was an appropriate and worthwhile occasion, but too narrow in its scope to serve as a day of dedication to all Americans.

Congress therefore decreed that the name should be changed to "Citizenship Day" and that its scope should specifically include all citizens, new and old. The date was moved back from May to 17th of September, which is the anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution by the Constitutional Convention. This Wednesday will be the 165th such anniversary.

In time this should become one of our greatest national observances, as it deserves to be. For while July 4, 1776, was the beginning of our independence, it was not until several years later, after a war had been fought and won, that the president and sometimes bitterly invective elements in our population were able to compromise their differences and create the greatest document of its kind in the history of the world, the United States Constitution.

Our citizenship actually dates from the adoption of that document, and it is altogether fitting that the date it was adopted should be observed as one of our greatest anniversary occasions.

Incidentally, there were fewer foreign-born people in this country in 1950 (10.3 million), than in 1930 (14.2 million) and 1940 (11.6 million.)

Just How Useful Is Conversation In Bringing A Meeting Of Minds?

Most people are startled to hear their recorded voice for the first time, an experience an increasingly larger number of Americans are privileged to undergo. A great many people wouldn't recognize their own voice if they didn't know it was in fact theirs. It is either higher or lower than they supposed, and little speech mannerisms they didn't know they possessed are revealed.

Voice-recording can be good clean fun, too. We know of a minor social function at which the hostess turned on a recording machine to catch the first few minutes of general conversation as the guests assembled, greeted each other and exchanged banter and persiflage.

Then the hostess played back what had been recorded.

Well, sir, it was really something. Everybody was talking at once, and the general sound effect was similar to that of a zoo at feeding time. It was almost impossible to understand what was being said, for whereas each member of the crowd was listening to and hearing only the talk of one or two individuals at a time, the recorder faithfully caught all conversations simultaneously, and the result was both amusing and appalling.

Highpoint of the stunt was when a momentary silence fell and one character was heard to say distinctly, "How about a cup of coffee?"

This was a sober and middle-aged crowd, and if their light and good-natured conversation sounded like that coming from the loudspeaker, you could imagine what a cocktail party must sound like. We imagine the A.A. groups would find this a valuable adjunct in straightening erring members up.

The incident made us wonder just how useful human conversation is anyhow in bringing about a meeting of minds, especially when a group of people all talk at once.

Ike Was Under Pressure At His Breakfast Meet With Sen. Taft

WASHINGTON—To understand the inside of the Taft-Eisenhower breakfast last week you have to know something about the pressures brought on both men by friends and advisers.

Among Eisenhower's friends, some considered the statement issued by Taft after the breakfast to be abject surrender by the victor at Chicago to the man he defeated at Chicago. That was why Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon immediately scratched his name off the Ike list.

Some of these friends felt that never before has a candidate been so humiliated in public as when Taft told newsmen he had written the "joint" 7-page statement in Cincinnati before he came to the breakfast. At least, they say, he might have preserved the fiction that the two had worked it out together.

Just a few weeks ago, they point out, Eisenhower walked out of the Chicago convention the biggest man in America, considered a sure bet to win. Today, two months after Chicago, he has to accept policy dictated by the man he defeated.

However, others of Ike's friends point to the terrific pressures he was under. In Massachusetts, he knew that Taft supporters were so bitter that Senator Lodge hadn't dared feature in his campaign literature the fact that he was once Ike's campaign manager. In Indiana, State GOP Chairman Cale Holder, strong Taft supporter, reported that many of his cohorts were dragging their feet.

In Cleveland, Ike personally found how tough it was to dent the Taft forces when he spoke at a private dinner to try to pry open Taft pocketbooks. The response was not overwhelming. Taft money-men say that Wall Street nominated Eisenhower, so Wall Street can now finance him.

And what made things worse was when Congressman George Bender, a Taft supporter, was barred from the dining room by State Chairman Ray Bliss. Seeing mad, Bender walked out.

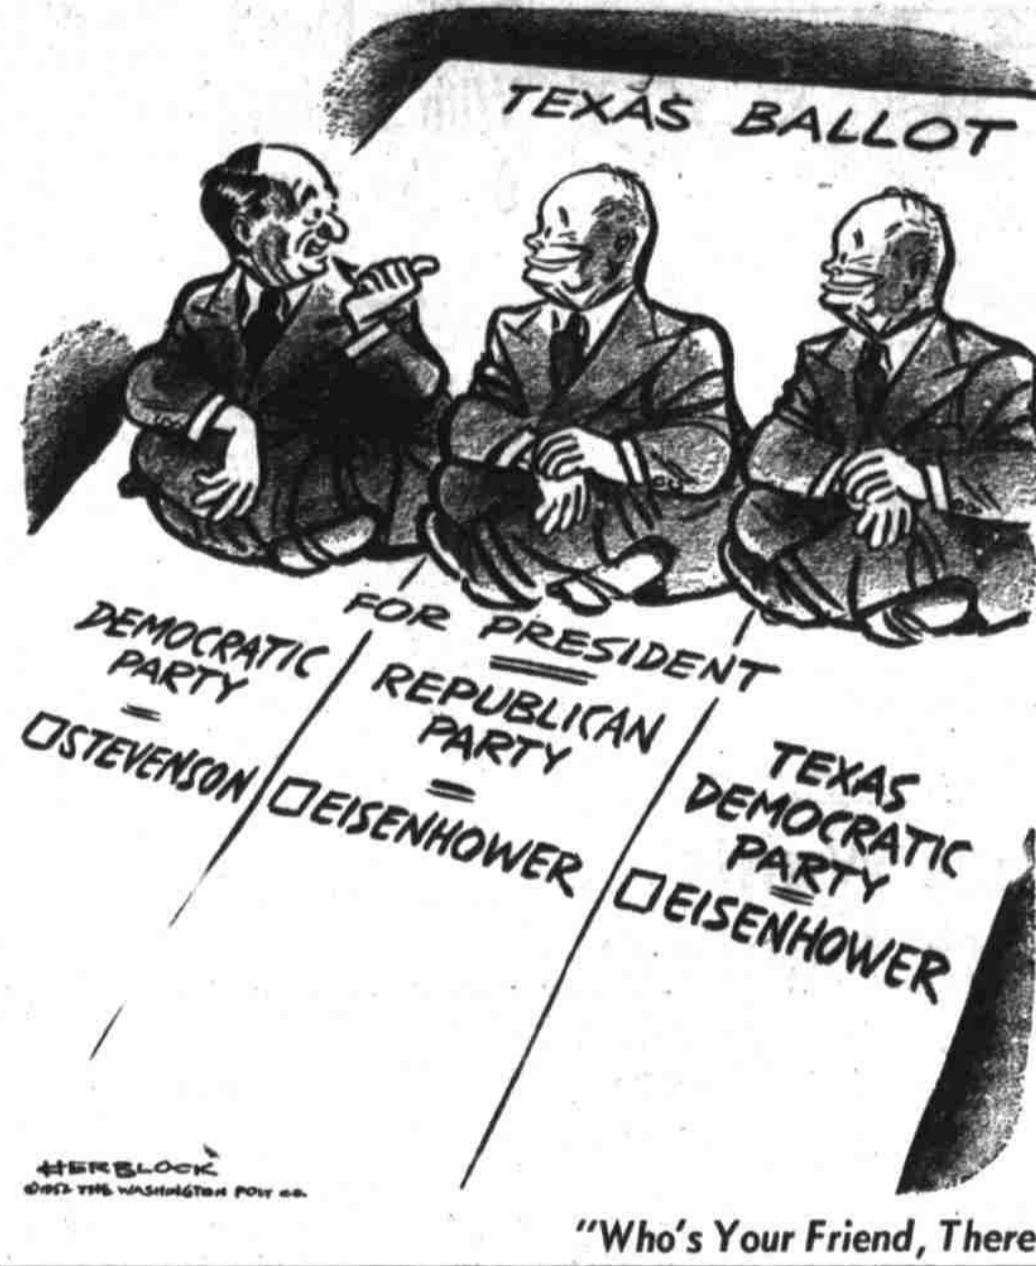

In Washington, two Taft men—Sen. Karl Mundt of South Dakota and Congressman Charley Halleck of Indiana—are in charge of the speakers bureau. And when Ike supporter Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts offered to make some speeches in his home state, Massachusetts, nothing happened. For four weeks he wasn't called on. Finally, when he complained at the inactivity, Taftite Halleck assigned Saltonstall to speak in Indiana, Illinois and Ohio—three bedrock Taft states where a man of Saltonstall's political background would be valuable.

Again, when Ike man Sen. George Aiken of Vermont volunteered to speak, he wasn't given a single engagement in New England where he would be most effective.

Thus, with the GOP split even worse than generally suspected, Eisenhower yielded to midroad advisers who said he had to heal the Taft breach.

Two of these advisers—Sens. Frank Carlson of Kansas and Alex Smith of New Jersey—arranged the breakfast preliminaries. Smith, vacationing in Canada, spent part of a month urging Taft to get wholeheartedly into the campaign, argued that Taft and Ike would be an unbeatable team: Ike on foreign policy, Taft on domestic issues.

Taft, at first, balked, said his wing of the party was opposed to Dewey control, would be flatly opposed to having Dewey in the cabinet.

Builders Expect Easier Payments Will Revive The Now Fading Housing Boom

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Many builders think they can sell more homes now that Regulation X follows Regulation W into the Federal Reserve Board's dust bin.

They count on easier payment terms on new homes to revive the housing boom which shows signs of fading.

Builders count on the death of Regulation X (which set down payment rules for home buying) to do for them what the scrapping of Regulation W (which curbed installment buying) did for the appliance and auto dealers. Sales of gadgets and cars increased when curbs died. And installment credit is now at an all-time peak.

Many bankers, however, doubt if there'll be the same sort of a spurt in home buying as a result of the lifting of Federal Reserve curbs. Most leading institutions won't lend more than two-thirds of the cost of a new home.

True, Federal Housing Agency and Veterans Administration down payment terms are being lowered today. But they represent about 30 per cent of total construction mortgages in the country. The other 70 per cent, or conventional mortgages, will be subject to considerable lenders' caution—and also to a tight money market. With interest rates rising, and the Federal Reserve tightening up the supply of money and bank credit as an anti-inflation measure, the death of Regulation X may not open wide the gates of easy terms for would-be home buyers. Money isn't as cheap as it was.

There has been considerable debate as to whether the nation was over-building. In the last three years some four million new homes have been built. Slowly

Test Pilot Not Ready To Take Chances; Wants To Learn Plane

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

I've always figured test pilots were guys who lived so recklessly that they didn't mind stepping into new models conjured by some grounding and taking off blithely into what well might be eternity.

Tony LeVier, the chief engineering test pilot for Lockheed, doesn't fit that pattern. In fact, he professed to hold the same high regard for life that the rest of us have. Moreover, he is not about to jump into some brain child with wings without first knowing everything he can about it.

"We know enough about aerodynamics now," he said, "to predict within a fraction of what a plane will do and how it will behave."

Thus the job of the test pilot is not so much to see if the plane will fly, but how stable it is and how well it can fly. There are dozens of things besides staying in the air that the pilot will be checking—all with the idea of coming back to the engineers and suggesting ways that faults can be corrected or weaknesses can be strengthened.

In the case of an original model, testing usually takes place in stages. The first is taxiing around the field to get the feel of things, to check many of the instruments. Next will come a series of tiny hops by barely lifting the plane off the runway and flying just a few feet above the ground. When bugs so far detected are corrected, the pilot takes the craft up.

It's a fascinating experience, said LeVier, who was here last week end to address the graduating class at Webb Air Force Base. Ever since he was a kid of 15 hangin' around his hometown airport, test piloting is really what he's been plotting toward. At 16 he had taken flying lessons and had soloed. By 19 he had his commercial license. In successive years he's done about every flying job you can imagine. During one of his ground stunts he worked under the famous Boss Kettering in a GM research laboratory. When Boss submitted ideas to seasoned engineers and they studied carefully and concluded that "it can't be done," he always took it to some young engineers who hadn't yet found out that the job wasn't possible. Most of the time they found a way to do it, said LeVier.

What's the fastest he ever flew? Somewhere above 780 mph but "I haven't cracked a thousand yet." It's quite a thrill going through the sonic barrier for the first time, he says. In the sub-sonic zone the plane is reasonably stable and behaves conventionally. Then when you enter the trans-sonic zone—that interval when parts of the plane are moving at the speed of sound and some are experiencing a triple more resistance—strange things happen. The plane's controls may suddenly seem useless and in fact their efficiency may dip to as little as 15 per cent. Under certain circumstances the plane may tremble or shake violently. Then, as the plane slips over into the super-sonic speed, it becomes exceedingly stable, so much so that the whole pattern of reaction and of timing has to be changed. To meet the demands of this situation, designers have to come up with a plane that in reality flies well under three different sets of conditions.

"Looking down from up there on the great open spaces I frequently wonder how those pioneers ever made it across the country," says LeVier. If they could have looked up and seen him streaking like a bullet, they likely would have wondered even more.

Are Mutual Funds Overtrying? SEC Will Investigate Methods

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Sometimes a business can be too good. Then it gets over-competitive. Then, maybe, in the scramble for business, bad practices develop. So, the Securities and Exchange Commission will shortly send out a questionnaire to mutual funds.

The SEC hasn't any definite evidence of wrongdoing. But it wants to find out whether all mutual funds, which cater to the small investor, maintain high standards in their relation to their stockholders. The fear—don't call it a suspicion—is that all don't.

The questionnaire is designed to find out how much in-and-out buying-and-selling of securities mutual funds engage in. The SEC's worry is that some mutual funds may deliberately create commissions for their favorite brokers—so as to encourage brokers to sell their shares.

A second questionnaire may also go out to workers—to see whether they are deliberately switching clients out of one mutual fund into another—for the self-serving purpose of collecting nice commissions.

The competition in the mutual fund business has grown like taxes. Back in 1940, about 85 mutual companies had assets of under half a billion. Today, about 160 companies have assets of three and one-half billion. About one-third of this seven-fold increase came from appreciation in market value of securities, about two thirds from sales.

In that tremendous sales rise lurks temptation. The success and growth of such established funds as Massachusetts Investors Trust, Wellington Fund, Keystone Custodian Funds, Fundamental Investors, Affiliated Fund, and so on, invited newcomers. And each fund wants to maintain—or better—its position.

The postwar years have been particularly propitious. The stock market was rising. Many persons in lower-income brackets had funds for investment. And mutual funds provided a sound way for the small investor to purchase a diversified list of securities under experienced management. A good way to make money in the securities business was either to operate a fund, or sell one, or both.

Business Outlook—J. A. Livingston

Are Mutual Funds Overtrying? SEC Will Investigate Methods

Securities dealers—brokers—found mutual funds to their liking, commission-wise. Most mutual funds carry a loading charge, estimated at 8 per cent to 9 per cent. Thus, if you buy $1,000 of a fund, from $80 to $90 represents commission. It's like the commission a life insurance agent gets, or an automobile salesman. Of this commission, the broker will get $60, which he'll share with his salesman. That $60 looms big, considering that on a $1,000 transaction on the New York Stock Exchange, the commission might be as low as $6 and would be unlikely to go as high as $35.

That's not all. Brokers enjoy a two-way commission business in selling mutual funds. Mutual funds customarily give brokerage business to dealers who sell their shares. They have to invest the new money. They buy General Motors, or American Telephone, or Gulf Oil. These orders might just as well go to friends. This is called "reciprocal business." And the SEC fears it may lead to malpractice. Will mutual funds, particularly the newer ones, generate brokerage merely to encourage dealers to push their shares?

It could happen this way. A sponsor of a fund goes to a successful securities dealer, or says, "Look, we'll give you commission business to more than match your sales of our fund." So, if the dealer sells $100,000 of the fund's shares, the fund, in turn, will give the dealer orders for more than $100,000 of stock exchange securities.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

A notorious gunman who participated in a two-million dollar bank robbery in Lincoln, Nebraska on this day in 1930 finally ended up in the hands of the law three years later in Texas.

Variouly known as Harvey Bailey, J. J. Brennan and John Brown, the criminal was described by law enforcement officers as one of the most dangerous in the country. Soon after the Lincoln robbery Bailey was arrested and sentenced to 10 to 50 years' imprisonment for still another crime which netted him and his associates some $32,000.

On Memorial Day, 1933 Bailey led a break from the Kansas State Prison in which eleven convicts escaped. Thereupon began a busy ten weeks. About the middle of June Bailey took part in a gun battle in the Kansas City Union Station. This riot claimed the lives of four officers and one escaped convict—and Bailey got away again, to continue leading peace officers a merry chase.

The next crime in which Bailey apparently participated occurred in July, the kidnaping of wealthy oil man Charles F. Urschel in Oklahoma City. Less than three weeks later several Fort Worth and Dallas officers and four federal agents captured Bailey at a farmhouse near Decatur. This time his arrest "took." He is still in Alcatraz.

Story Of Acadians Is A Sad One

Among the poems which tell a story, "Evangeline" ranks high. The poet Longfellow tells about a young woman named Evangeline who was parted from Gabriel, the man she loved.

While trying to locate Gabriel, Evangeline, traveling down the Mississippi River, at last she gave up the search, and became a nun. Many years later, she found Gabriel, but he was ill and died soon afterward.

That is a sad story, and it leaves the reader with a feeling of sorrow. We wonder how such a thing as the movement of Acadians could have happened.

Evangeline is a character of fiction, but certain facts laid the basis for the fiction. There really was an Acadia, and a change of owners took place at the time Evangeline is supposed to have lived there.

Going further back, we find a contest for North America, with Great Britain, France and Spain as the leading nations seeking the continent. During that contest, there was a New Spain, also a New England and a New France.

English vessels under the Cabots explored the coasts of Nova Scotia and Labrador, and Great Britain laid a broad claim to land now in Canada. The French came long after the Cabots, but they started colonies in Canada before British settlers arrived.

Scottish and English families followed the French across the Atlantic and built homes in the land which the French called Acadie, or Acadia. That land was given the name of Nova Scotia by a British king.

There were wars between the French and British, and Acadia or Nova Scotia changed hands time and again. The French settlers, known as Acadians, took part in several battles, but usually spent their days in raising crops and taking care of cattle.

Two centuries ago, the British gained

THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

The drought is making it tougher on the crows, too. You've heard the old one about the crow that had to carry his water and rations with him as he flew over West Texas.

Here is the 1952 version. Crows down here in Howard County are having to live on the carcasses of dehydrated, drought-killed jackrabbits too weak to get out of the way of automobiles.

Up around Lamesa the crows are lighting in the grain fields for a real banquet. Drive carefully. Don't run over that jackrabbit. You may be hungry yourself tomorrow.

Latest official reports indicate the Dawson County crop is yielding from one-third to one-fifth bale per acre. Five hundred more pullers are needed at $2.00 delivered.

The annual Howard County 4-H Club and FFA pig show and sale will be held at the new Fair Grounds Buildings, Wednesday and Thursday, October 1 and 2.

The pigs must be in place by 5 p.m. Wednesday and judging will start at 8:30 a.m. Thursday. The sale will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The show and sale announcement says a strong sifting committee will take out all the pigs not in top show condition. 4-H Clubbers with pigs entered are James Fryar, Melvin Fryar, Royce Hull, Sue White, Alan White, John Tovar, Kay Robinson, Mac Robinson, Darrell Robinson, Doris Day, Edgar Allen Phillips, Billy McIlvain, LeRoy LeFevre, Patricia Iden, Jerry Iden, Kolla Grant.

Also, Bobby Grant, Shara Fuller, Donald Fuller, Norman Donel, Wesley Carroll, Judy Brooks, Rodney Brooks, Alton Long, Robert Lomax, Buryman Patton, Jan Shursen, Dickie Shortes, James Shortes, Larry Adkins, Larry Sneed, Jerry Shursen and Tim Williams.

A 68-year-old South Plains woman died in a Plainview hospital from an illness diagnosed as encephalitis reported to have been contracted from livestock.

One encephalitis patient is still receiving treatment at the same hospital and six others have been treated and sent home. All eight were in the hospital at one time.

In Sunday's San Angelo Standard-Times there was a picture of Llano County cattle that had left their pasture to graze along the highway, pretty close to the paving.

Cattle are among the smartest of animals when it comes to feeding. Experts in the field of livestock feeds say cattle will leave their pastures to graze along the highway and railroad tracks if the pasture is deficient in the minerals they need and for which they have an urgent hunger.

Grass along the highway picks up these minerals from the materials used in highway construction, principally calcium. In scientific fact it isn't that the grass just looks greener — the cattle instinctively know it has the minerals in it.

Crossbreeding for building beef got another boost at Llano last week. The Lions Club there sponsored a commercial type beef-building contest over a four month period.

The highest gaining calf was an Angus-Hereford cross. The second calf was a half-Brahma cross. Herefords were in third, fourth and fifth places.

The Angford calf made a gain of 3.7 pounds daily over a 30-day period.

The program was supervised by County Agent C. V. Robinson. It will be good news for the 4-H Club girls that they will be allowed to show on an equal footing with the boys this year at Fort Worth's Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, January 30, February 8.

Previously the only way a girl's livestock entry could compete was in the open classes which are open to the world and which required her to show her entry against those of adult exhibitors. This condition has prevailed at Fort Worth since back in the late 1920's.

The Junior Show is now open to any Texas FFA or 4-H Club member and applies to steers, lambs, pigs and dairy calves. It has been approved by the Extension Service. Official 4-H and FFA Day will be observed January 31.

The next arena appearance of Big Spring's Matadora Patricia McCormick will be in the Ciudad Acuna ring on Sunday, October 5. Twice this summer she has fought there before capacity crowds.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Generalissimo Stalin has consolidated Russia's power position in the Far East, apparently as a counter to American power, through the agreements reached in the Moscow talks with Red Chinese leaders.

This is the outstanding single accomplishment of the conference which ended two days ago after a month of meetings between Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and top Soviet officials. But American officials are certain it is not by any means the only important result.

Speculation is that wrapped up in the secrecy behind the Iron Curtain are vital decisions bearing on the future of war—or peace—in Korea and on America's own Far Eastern power position anchored in Japan.

What the official announcement of the conference showed, authorities here asserted, was simply that Russia had succeeded in backing out of a treaty commitment to withdraw from the Manchurian naval base of Port Arthur. Until British soldiers stationed nearby quickly organized trucks to move about 200 injured to the Italian Red Cross hospital and the U. S. 121st Evacuation Hospital.

The locomotive and tender crossed the bridge and remained upright. But two of the three steel cars were derailed, tumbled on their sides and split open. Witnesses said some passengers were thrown into the stream 40 feet below. There was no explanation of what caused the explosion.

Rotarians Receive Membership Lesson

Rotarians got some lessons on "membership" Tuesday during their weekly luncheon program.

W. C. Blankenship outlined the "14 steps" by which a person becomes a member of a Rotary club. Oble Bristow told the group "what Rotary membership can mean."

Bristow, who said that "love and affection" are the most priceless gifts God has given humanity, pointed out that man can hand that gift on to others—state, home, family and neighbors. Expression of consideration for others could be the ultimate in the meaning of Rotary membership, he declared.

Both Blankenship and Bristow are members of the club membership committee. They were introduced by Elmo Wasson, chairman of the committee and program chairman for the day.

Guests introduced at the meeting were Cal Boykin of Midland, Claude Bloodworth of Dallas and John Taylor of Big Spring.

The Rotarians will use these bulls in bloodless battles at San Francisco's Cow Palace. He and they are scheduled to appear in the ring there September 21-23.

An earlier announcement was to the effect that this bloodless battle would be held during the Grand National Show, October 31-November 9, which was an error.

Draft Board Lacks Men To Fill Quota For Month Of October

The local draft board won't be able to fill its October induction quota.

The board doesn't have enough men examined and acceptable to fill the call for 28 men on Oct. 9, officials announced today.

They estimate that 14 to 17 registrants will be available for the October call, the exact number depending on out-come of certain transfers and enlistments now pending.

Reason for the board's inability to furnish the 28 men requested in pre-induction physical examination calls haven't kept pace with induction calls in the past few months. Larger induction quotas have erased the "backlog" of examined and acceptable registrants which the board has had ever since 1950.

Although Local Board No. 71 had 35 registrants in Abilene for physicals Tuesday, none of the group will be available for the October induction call since draft regulations provide that "certificates of acceptability" must be delivered to registrants at least 21 days prior to induction.

The local board won't be informed of results of the examinations Tuesday in time for delivery of the certificates 21 days before date for the October induction.

State draft officials have advised the local board to send for induction its available men rather than postpone induction date for the October call.

October's pre-induction physical quota apparently will eliminate the possibility of any shortage of examined and acceptable men in the next few months. State Selective Service headquarters has given the local board a quota of 70 men for examinations Oct. 29-30, November and December physical quotas probably will be high also, since the size of induction calls is on the increase.

The 28 men expected from Howard, Martin and Mitchell Counties in October would have been the local board's largest draft call since September, 1950, when 35 men were inducted.

In all, 282 men have been inducted from the three counties since start of the Korean war. Some of the first men drafted in 1950 have been discharged and the rotation program in subsequent months will result in discharge of additional veterans.

Replacements for the discharges as well as need for men for regular expansion of the armed forces is responsible for larger induction calls, draft officials point out. Induction is for a period of two years and September and October are the "critical" months since they mark the end of two years since the draft was reactivated.

Both draft and pre-induction calls in the next few months will be for men in the 21-year age bracket. Older men were inducted first and the local board has worked its supply of registrants down to the 21-year level.

Officials don't expect to call any men under 21 this year.

Current calls include a few men over 21 due to a re-examination of 4-Fs in August. Thirteen physicians and dentists have been ordered to report for pre-induction examinations on Oct. 26.

In respect to the present "shortage" of acceptable registrants, local board records show there were 41 men examined and available Sept. 1. However, 18 were inducted on Sept. 9, leaving only 23 possibly available for the October call. Several of the 23 are involved in transfers to other boards and officials say they have heard of two who are being processed for enlistment in the armed forces.

Fourteen are known to be available for the October call and 17 may be supplied by Local Board No. 71.

Sen. Long Urges Agreement Over Bases In Spain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Long (D-La.) said today this country is "missing a bet" in failing to reach agreement with Spain on establishing bases there to aid in the defense of Europe.

Just back from a 16,000-mile tour of U. S. bases from Greenland to Turkey, Long told reporters that in his opinion the Spanish were not asking too high a price to participate in Western defense plans.

On the contrary, he said, "if it were known how little they are asking and how much benefit they would be to our side, it would be hard to explain why an agreement has not been reached."

Long declined to say what Spain was asking or to reveal the sources of information on which he based his opinion.

He said, however, that some of this country's Western European allies who object to the Franco regime in Spain seemed determined to do all they can to prevent an agreement being reached in negotiations that have been under way for some time.

Long said he does not care for the Franco form of government but remarked that Spain was one country he visited where there did not appear to be any powerful Communist movement.

He also said that Spain has 22 divisions that he would guess were far superior to some of the troops that could be put in the field by "some of our allies" who object to the U. S. coming to any defense agreement with the Spanish.

Long is chairman of the Senate armed services subcommittee that handled legislation authorizing a multibillion-dollar program of Army, Navy and Air Force bases overseas.

With Sen. Morse (R-Ore), another subcommittee member, Long has been taking a first-hand look at the program. Long said he and Morse intend to issue a joint statement on their findings shortly.

Bombers Knock Out Red Supply Vehicles

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 17 (AP)—Three American B-28 light bombers knocked out 38 of 125 Communist supply vehicles destroyed in North Korea last night, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said today.

One, piloted by Lt. John W. Kasap, Shamrock, Tex., was credited with blowing up 16 vehicles near Wonsan.

"Vehicles were as thick as flies in this one area where we attacked," Kasap said. "I saw blue, green and yellow secondary explosions leap up from the trucks we hit. It was a good fireworks show only you know it wasn't fireworks the Commies were carrying."

LOOK INTO RADIO, T-V Promotion Ideas Are Due At Hearing

By RUSSELL BRINES
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Harris (D-Ark.) said today that representatives of leading beer and cigarette advertisers will be called before a congressional committee to explain their radio-television promotion techniques.

Harris heads an interstate subcommittee which is exploring "objectionable programs" on the air. Open hearings continued today with radio-TV industry spokesmen testifying.

The congressman told newsmen his group would study "misleading" advertising, as well as entertainment programs featuring crime or immorality. The purpose is to determine whether legislative controls are needed.

The majority of several hundred complaints which he has received, Harris said, objected to advertising beer over the air. Others protested cigarette advertising.

Harris added that these complaints outweighed protests over crime stories or off-color jokes.

Harris said during yesterday's hearing the committee was particularly interested in exploring cigarette advertising which involved the "impersonation of physicians," the use of screen stars to popularize certain brands, and techniques "related to public health."

The advertisers, he said, also will be asked whether they determine the subject matter of their programs and whether they prevent local stations from cutting off those they find objectionable.

Ralph W. Hardy of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, testified yesterday that local stations exercise complete autonomy in determining what network programs they broadcast.

He also said the industry believes that advertising which conforms to regulations of the Federal Trade Commission and is in "good taste" should be permitted. Hardy said the best way to control objectionable programs is to turn the dial.

"This is no solution," Harris told reporters, "because radio and TV are now a part of every American home."

Another NARTB official, Thad H. Brown Jr., showed the committee a copy of a relatively new television code by which, he said, the industry hopes to exercise self-control.

Canadian Criminals Are Back In Prison

TORONTO, Canada (AP)—Canada's four most-wanted criminals were back in jail awaiting trial on murder and bank robbery charges today after eight days of prison-break freedom.

The four members of the notorious Boyd gang were found hiding in a haystack on an abandoned farm 15 miles northeast of here last night. Though armed, they were captured without a fight.

Early End Of Strike At Lockheed Unseen

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Despite resumption of negotiations at one plant, there was little any indication today of an early end to the strike which has crippled Southern California's warplane production and idled 40,000 aircraft workers.

Representatives of Lockheed Aircraft Co. and the AFL International Association of Machinists negotiate here again this afternoon before Federal Mediator Harry Malcom.

After yesterday's meeting, the first since 25,000 IAM members struck Lockheed Sept. 8, Vice President Cyril Chappellet of the company announced that a new offer had been made.

He said the offer would mean at least 7 cents more an hour for each worker and as much as 9 cents additional for some. Also, he said, all workers would receive about 2 cents hourly under an escalator clause, six paid holidays and improved group insurance. A union shop demand was rejected again.

A union official denied that the offer bettered Lockheed's previous proposals. The IAM demands 14 cents more hourly.

Asked if progress was being made, Malcom said, "Any time people get together and talk over problems they are making progress."

Meantime, Douglas Aircraft Co. announced it will seek a court order banning mass picketing at its El Segundo plant, struck by 13,000 IAM workers last Monday in a wage dispute. Lockheed recently obtained a temporary injunction against mass picketing after picket line incidents.

No negotiations are scheduled at El Segundo, where workers rejected a 5-cent-an-hour offer. They demanded 9.

County Judge Walter Grice stated today that right-of-way on the U. S. Highway 80-87 cutoff and the Vealmoor - U. S. Highway 87 lateral road would be completed with the deeds.

The deed holding up the right-of-way on the lateral road between the Vealmoor and U. S. 87 must be obtained from Abilene, Judge Grice said. Commissioners are awaiting action by the owner.

A. J. Stallings, commissioner of precinct 3, stated that he called Texas and Pacific Railway officials Tuesday in Dallas about the deed holding up the U. S. Highway 80-87 cutoff. The officials promised him quick action in processing the deed.

The cutoff will leave Highway 80 at the airport road, go around Scenic Mountain, and join U. S. 87 by the Veterans Hospital.

Family Reunion Is Held In Abilene

A family reunion was held in Abilene Sunday at Cobb Park in honor of Mrs. T. P. Wood of Big Spring. Mrs. Wood's family, seven children, 14 grand children and 27 great grand children were present.

Mrs. Wood was accompanied to Abilene by her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Wood, Box 1738, Big Spring. The reunion was the first for the Wood family in 32 years.

All but one of Mrs. Wood's boys were present. They were W. W. Wood, Hawley; Riley Wood, Southland; Joe Wood, Lubbock; Fred Wood, Seattle, Wash.; H. R. Wood, Big Spring; and John and Ben Wood, Abilene.

The Commissioners Court lacks only one deed on each of two roads slated for construction in the County.
