Tramps Plan Rally Circle

Wheels were set rolling to construct a pep rally circle on Tech Campus after Lewis N. Jones, dean of men, addressed the Saddle Tramps Wednesday afternoon.

Dean Jones stated that the circle, which will be located southwest of the new gymnasium and probably be called "Saddle Tramp Circle," would be constructed by this time next year for the purpose of holding pep rallies, bonfires and other meetings.

To Contain Figurines

The circle itself is to contain the figurines depicting all Southwest Conference schools inlaid in concrete around the outside of the circle, he said.

In the center of the circle is to be a round construction approximately 20 feet in diameter with a 2-foot wall around it. This would be used for the burning of effigies of opponent teams during the pep rallies, Dean Jones stated.

Moves For Investigation

Saddle Tramp President Eddie Henson received a nomination from Ronnie Crouch that an investigation into materials and costs be made. The motion carried and a committee was appointed.

This committee is composed of Saddle Tramps Wayne James, chairman, Ronnie Crouch, Scott Hickman, Jack Becker and Gene Miles.

The standing capacity around the circle is expected to be around 5,000, according to the plans laid out by Elo Urbanovsky, head of Horticulture and Park Management.

Treasurer Elected

Other business covered in the hour and fifteen minute Saddle Tramp meeting consisted of the electing of a treasurer and plans

The grave activity book situation was the main item on the Student Council agenda as they met Tuesday night for the first time of the fall semester.

"Having sold only 3,800 activity books this fall will put our budget in a tight squeeze," asserted David Thompson, Student Council business manager.

The council had hoped to sell 5,000 books this fall, having sold 3,900 last fall, and figuring the increased enrollment would bring up the activity book sales.

According to Thompson the big reason that the goal has fallen short is the failure of upperclassmen to purchase the books. Only 900 students of 2,000 who pre-registered purchased booklets while the 2,200 freshmen strongly contrasted this by purchasing nearly 1,700.

Admits to Games

The activity book admits students to all athletic events, artists courses, Toreador, and Student Council which in turn allocates money to 17 different campus organizations.

Those persons still desiring activity books can save $11 on athletic events alone by going to the auditor's office and buying one according to Thompson.

Other items discussed were the invitation to all Techsians to a free coffee in the Baylor Student Union from 11:30 a. m. to 1:00. This coffee is sponsored by the Baylor Athenian Club.

Invited To Dinner

Bill Scott, Baylor Student body president, invited the Tech Student Council to a dinner immediately after the football game Saturday evening. The Baylor student congress was to serve as host for the event, but the council decided that since only two members had made arrangements to attend the game it would be impossible to attend the dinner with the Baylor congress.

Vice President Glynn McGee reported that only 190 tickets for the train trip had been sold and that a minimum of 400 had to be purchased before a train could be detached for the out-of-town game with Texas A&M in Dallas. He also announced an Oct. 3 deadline for buying these tickets.

Another step to make a smooth admittance into Southwest Conference football play was taken by Council President Wallace Wilson as he appointed Jimmy White head of a sportsmanship committee. It was noted by Wilson that all of the other schools in the SWC had a sportsmanship committee. Each year one of the conference schools receives a sportsmanship trophy for outstanding fair play during the year.

A request for $15 by the College Awards Board was granted and Don Hay was elected to serve with Wilson on this board.

Fall Convocation Planned As Giant 'Get-Together'

"Mighty Texas Tech Under One Roof" is the dynamic theme for the student convocation which will be held next Wednesday in Lubbock's Municipal Coliseum and with the proper cooperation of all Tech students it will be the first time for all of Texas Tech to be in one body since the school's early beginning.

In past years convocations have been attended only by a small minority of Tech students. Primary reason for this has been lack of facilities to seat even a small portion of Tech's population in one group. No longer can this excuse be used for the new coliseum which was completed last spring will seat 10,000 people.

"We are striving to get all the students out to the convocation and to their class meetings which immediately follow in an effort to have the best representation in the history of the college," said Student Council president, Wallace Wilson.

President E. N. Jones has appealed to every organization on campus to help back this movement.

Wednesday, when classes are dismissed at 9:45 a. m., every building on campus will be locked. Only the power plant and dormitory kitchens will be open. All faculty and college personnel will be present and the ROTC, band and chorus members will all be there in uniform. The band will be conducted by Dr. D. O. (Prof.) Wiley and the choir by Dr. Gene Hemmle.

Master of ceremonies will be Student Life Dean, James G. Allen.

Dr. W. A. Young, sponsor of the Student Religious Council, will give the invocation. Charles C. Thompson, chairman of Tech's board of directors, will be present to introduce President Jones, whose address will be entitled "You and Texas Tech." Also at this convocation the president of the Student Association and the Student Council members will be introduced.

13 Express Plans For Council Race

Petitions for Freshman Council membership total 13 as of Wednesday according to the Student Council office. Freshman wishing to run for election on the council have until 1 p. m. Monday afternoon to turn in petitions.

Tuesday has been set for the election day of the council members.

Students who have filed are: Walter Heffington, Bob Kinney, Jerry McLeod, Lloyd Lane, Janice Vanstone, Richard Holder, Homer Bud Stevens, Kenny Cummings, Joe Gilleand, Carolyn Porter, Larry Warren, Russel Long and Royer Sewell.

Gala Pep Rally Set For Tonight

The Flying Matadors, a trampoline team of the Tech physical education department, will be featured entertainment at the second pep rally of the year Thursday night. Performing in front of Drane and Horn Halls at 7 p. m. the high-flying team is coached by Edsel Buchanan a former AAU, NCAA and Big Ten champion of the trampoline. Other members of the team are Jay Johnson and Joe Naylor. Naylor will provide the comedy for the act by performing as a clown.

Besides the entertainment, Raider yells and songs will be lead by the cheerleaders to boost the Tech spirit for the Baylor-Tech game to be held in Waco this week-end.

Adding a musical touch to the rally will be the members of the Texas Tech Raider Band who will be making their first appearance of the year in a half-time Saturday.

Last week's pep rally saw a large number of students in attendance and hopes this week call for an even larger group to send-off the Red Raiders on their first out of town football game of the 1956 season, according to cheerleaders.

The pep rally this week is being planned and sponsored by the cheerleaders who have been working on new yells and songs to better promote Tech's spirit.

A sure sign of the increasing maturity of the Tech Student Body is the attitude or theme of the semi-official invasion planned for Waco and the Baylor Game.

Instead of the usual, "Ruin the Bruins," or "Beat the Bears," on hatband cards, the 1956 versions will extend a friendly, "Greetings Baylor from Double-T."

The Saddle Tramps, the organization which instigated the card idea has the right idea. Techsians need to realize that other SWC schools now are close friends, especially those like Baylor, who campaigned long and hard for Tech's membership to the conference.

A lot is at stake Saturday besides a good showing by the Red Raiders. Every Tech backer who makes the trip has a personal obligation to uphold the new spirit and to show other conference schools that this sprawling, educational giant on the South Plains really belongs among the "big boys."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

By Dick Bibler

ASHAMED OF TECH?

Is the majority of the student body at Texas Tech ashamed of their alma mater? The answer is evidently a resounding YES. This was proven this week when only 3,800 student activity books out of a possible total of nearly 8,000 were sold through Wednesday night.

Why should a student body be ashamed of the fastest-growing college in Texas with the largest campus in the world? Why should a student body not be proud to claim as their own the newest member of the Southwest Conference? Why is this year apparently going to be a repetition of complete absence of school loyalty felt so strongly in past years?

The absurdity of the situation is made even more fantastic when it is realized that the upperclassmen are mostly responsible for letting Tech down. About 80 per cent of the freshmen have purchased student activity books, while less than 50 per cent of the juniors and seniors who pre-enrolled last semester bought the books.

It is a pitiful example that has been set by Tech upperclassmen. We hope that by the time our slimes have reached the status of juniors and seniors they will set better examples of leadership and school spirit than what

We would not forget to tip our ten-gallon hats to the upperclassmen who thought enough of their school this semester to support it by buying student activity books. And certainly we would give a firm pat on the back to our slimes who have shown themselves worthy already of the name "Techsan" by purchasing the books. Perhaps this coalition of school-spirited upperclassmen and freshmen can outweigh the damage done to the name of Texas Tech this fall by the poor sports who don't give a hoot nor holler for the pride of West Texas which someday, we believe, will be the champion of the Southwest Conference.

There's still time to buy that book . . .

and committees formed for the handling of football activities.

Tim Eysen was elected treasurer of the Tramps and also named as chairman of the seating committee for the football games.

The homecoming committee was again turned over to Oscar Powers to head. Powers headed this same committee last year.

Saddle Tramps also had cards printed for the Tech vs. Baylor football game this weekend. These cards are to be issued when tickets are purchased for this game. The cards read, "Greetings to Baylor from Texas Tech."

Union Groups Name 200 Enrollment Figures Near 8,000 Mark

A new plan is being put into effect this year to make full use of each Tech student who signs up for committee duty at the Student Union.

"Every Tech student who has extra time to spend can do so usefully by being on one of the Tech Union Program committees," stated Alice Wells, Public Relations Director for the executive committee.

Around 200 students who have signed up for committee work will have positions on the Union program.

Eighteen students will head the program council, including five on the executive committee and 13 as chairmen of other individual committees.

The executive committee consists of Chuck Strehli, president; Alice Wells, public relations director; Sylvia Diertering, treasurer; and Bob Huff, personnel director.

The executive committee, under the supervision of Nancie Brown, the new Union Program Director from Sheldon, Wis., coordinates and administers activities planned by the 13 committee chairmen comprising the program council.

Social, decorations, cultural, and dance are the four departments of the committees.

Chairmen of the four committees under the social department include Ted Carthel, games and tournaments; Rebecca Wilson, movies; Bob Richards, special events; and Patti Hill, hospitality.

Doris Stone, chairman of the building decorations committee, and Carolyn Tapp, chairman of the dance decorations committee, comprise the decorations department.

Miss Stone's committee designs and erects decorations in the Union featuring holiday and campus scenes, while Miss Tapp decorates for all dances presented by dance committees.

Peggy Malinak, chairman of the Friday night dance committee; Dean Rea of the square dance; and Betty Fran Montgomery, record dance, comprise dance department committees.

While the dance committee provides for dances for beginning and advanced square dancers, Miss Malinak's presents local bands for dancing every Friday night. Miss Montgomery's committee sponsors afternoon and evening record dances during the week.

Last is the cultural department. This group of four committees provides cultural and informative programs for Tech students.

Beth van Maanen heads the arts and exhibits committee from the cultural department; Leah Lewis, world traveler; Jody May, music; and Wendell Roberts, chairman of the lectures and debates committee.

Any person interested in working on one of these committees is urged to contact Alice Wells.

Union Committee orientation is to be held at 7 p.m. Monday in the old recreation hall.

In a highly successful sign up session, 200 persons signed registration cards for Tech Union Committees.

The orientation period will include a movie from the University of Wisconsin and a session with the chairmen for the information of the new committee members.

Regular committee meetings will start later the same week.

Girls, don't be alarmed when you walk into a class and find you're the only female among fifty boys. It's all because there are 5,913 men enrolled at Tech with only 1,960 women.

The record-breaking enrollment of 7,873 was chalked up last night as registration closed in the day classes. Registration for night classes will continue through Saturday.

This year's enrollment is an increase of 717 students over last year's fall registration of 7,156.

Pre-registration this year, even with the large enrollment by upperclassmen which left only freshmen and sophomores to register.

The engineering school led with the greatest number of students enrolled. The registrar's office showed 2,427 students in that department.

Following close behind the engineering section was the school of Arts and Sciences with 2,419 economics 420, and graduate students with 342.

Registration closed Wednesday at 3 p.m. Wednesday was also the last day for class changes and adding courses. A fee of $2 was required of those signing up late for classes.

Tomorrow is official Tech day at the Panhandle South Plains Fair.

Students who present their registration fee receipt at the entrance gate will be admitted into the fairgrounds at Ave A and Broadway free of charge.

Dean Stangel Gets Magazine's Praise

Dean W.L. Stangel, Tech's agriculture dean, was praised for good work in the latest issue of "West Texas Today," publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Stangel was lauded for his work in the State Fair of Texas where he was general livestock superintendent. Stangel has served as the livestock superintendent for 11 years.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce named Dean Stangel as Top West Texan for '56 earlier in the year at its annual meeting in Mineral Wells. He was presented this award for his training, experience and service to the Texas livestock industry.

Religious Council Aids Tech

Texas Tech's Religious Council, as coordinator of the religious activities on the campus, strives to achieve the greatest possible good from the existing religious sources.

Besides the job of coordinator, the Religious Council serves as a medium of communication between the different religious organizations and between the Student Council and the administration of the college.

The council also has pledged to further the religious life of every Texas Tech student and to encourage the highest degree of student participation in religious activities on the campus and in the city.

President and a representative from each student church organization forms the membership of the council.

An adult student leader from each church having a student organization, an adult representative from the YWCA and YMCA, and a representative from the student life division of each denominational student foundation sits in on student religious council meetings in the capacity of advisors.

Each year officers and a faculty sponsor is chosen for the following year. Officers for this year are Phil Love, president; Kim Milling, vice president; Joanne Holmes, secretary, and Layton Raun, business manager. Dr. A. W. Young is faculty sponsor.

The council meets the second of each month. At the next regular meeting, vacancies, if any, will be filled.

The officers and faculty sponsor forms the executive committee, which makes up the agenda for each meeting. The executive committee also has the power to call special meetings.

The person complying with all the rules of the game and solving the second highest number of puzzles correctly will be declared the winner of the second prize. In like manner, the winners of the remaining 24 prizes will be determined. (b) In case more than one person solves correctly the same number of puzzles, the prize tied for, and as many subsequent prizes as there are persons tied, will be reserved and those so tying will be required to solve a set of tie-breaking puzzles, to determine the order in which the reserved prizes will be awarded. Each of the tie-breaking puzzles will be comprised of scrambled letters forming the names of either one, two or three American colleges or universities. Clues with each puzzle drawing will indicate whether the puzzle contains one, two or three schools to be identified. If, after solutions have been submitted to this second set of puzzles, a tie or ties still remain, those tied will be required to solve another tie-breaking puzzle. Accompanying this tie-breaker will be an official list of American colleges and universities. From those, contestants will make up a list of schools and colleges in accordance with instructions to be given at that time. The contestant earning the highest score in so doing will be awarded the highest of the prizes tied for. The next highest prize will be awarded the contestant earning the second highest score and so on down through the reserved prizes that have been tied for. These tie-breaking puzzles, if necessary, will be mailed to each contestant.

P. Lorillard Company reserves the right (only in the event of further tie or ties) to require contestants to solve as many tie-breaking puzzles under supervision, and without assistance, as are necessary to determine a single winner for each prize.

3. NOTE (a) When entrants have completed solutions to the complete set of 24 initial puzzles, which are to be published three per week in this paper, the solutions are to be printed or typewritten by the entrant in the answer space provided on the puzzle for a reasonable facsimile. The complete set of 24 puzzles must be answered, neatly trimmed and enclosed in an envelope, flat and unrolled and addressed to—Tangle Schools, P. O. Box 26A, Mount Vernon 10, N. Each set of 24 puzzles must be accompanied by a wrapper from any type OLD GOLD CIGARETTE package—(REGULAR, KING-SIZE OR FILTER KING) or a reasonable facsimile thereof. (b) More detailed instructions on the mailing of completed sets of puzzles will be published later. No solutions are to be sent in separately. Save the puzzles and your solutions so that they may be submitted as a complete set at the end of the game. Entrants are not limited as to the number of complete sets of Solutions. However, each set must be submitted individually, and only one prize will be awarded to any one entrant. (c) After the deadline for mailing solutions, the correct answers to all 24 puzzles will be published in a single issue of this paper. Each contestant must keep an accurate record of all solutions and check his answers with the published correct answers.

4. WHO MAY ENTER: (a) This game is open to all bona fide college students in the United States; that is, persons who, at the time of entering, are duly registered in an accredited college or university within the continental boundaries of the United States, except that the game is not open to students whose immediate families are employed by P. Lorillard Company or its advertising agencies. Contest is subject to all State and Federal regulations. (b) Contestants may, if they prefer, make copies of the puzzles by hand. All entries become the property of P. Lorillard Company. None will be returned. P. Lorillard Company cannot be responsible for any solutions unduly delayed or lost in the mail; this also applies to mail from the P. Lorillard Company to any contestant. On entering the game, each contestant accepts the foregoing rules as binding. P. Lorillard Company reserves the right to disqualify any entrants not conforming. Evidence indicating collusion by or ineligibility of contestants will automatically disqualify such contestants. P. Rec Hall Becomes New Union Annex

"Old Rec Hall," becomes new "Union Annex," as remodeling and repainting makes the west end of the recreation hall an up-to-date meeting space for student organizations, according to Tech Union Director William D. Scott. New drapes, new paint, a new floor refinishing and repairs adds a modern look to the inside of the building. The band stand has been recovered also, and a new back drop has been placed behind it.

Scott stated that, "We certainly hope Tech organizations will take a look at the room and use it whenever it suits their purpose."

Tech Hosts Area Teachers Meeting

Opening session of District 4 of the Texas State Teachers Association conference was held this morning at 9 in the Union Ballroom.

District President Omar R. Douglas, superintendent of the Brownfield schools, presided at the session. Discussion on TSTA organization and on membership drives highlighted the morning session. A special emphasis on a proposed Legislative amendment on teacher retirement was brought before the group.

District 4 is comprised of 22 counties, extending to the south as far as Colorado City and Odessa and to the east to Crosbyton, to the north as far as Plainview and to the west as far as New Mexico. Texas has 11 TSTA districts.

Tech Enters SWC Play

By BILLY ELLIS
Toreador Sports Writer

Texas Tech will meet Baylor Saturday at Waco in the 66th meeting for the Raiders with members of the Southwest Conference.

In the previous 65 outings, the games have had an "on the outside looking in" angle for Tech.

Saturday's game will be different. It will mark the first meeting of a Southwest Conference eleven by Tech since the Raiders were admitted by the conference in May.

SWC Record Listed

Tech's complete record with Southwest Conference members is only 17 wins, 47 losses, and 1 tie. Individually, Tech's record with Southern Methodist is 3-3; Texas Christian, 5-8; Baylor 4-9-1; Texas A&M, 3-11; Texas, 1-7; and Rice 1-9.

The Raiders meet the Razorbacks of Arkansas for the first time in history in their 1957 game at Fayetteville.

Tech will be fighting against overwhelming odds in Saturday's match. In Baylor the Raiders will be facing the one team which DeWitt Weaver has never beaten. Also Tech has never won in Waco, losing all five of their games played there.

To top that off, the Bears have taken the win in the last six meetings of the two teams.

Tech Led Series

Through 1947, Tech was leading in the series, with a record of 4-3-1. Then came the losing streak, with Tech falling behind in the series.

Weaver's first team (1951) made the last appearance in Waco, when Larry Isbell led the Bears to a 40-20 win. In the last meeting between the two schools, in 1952, L. G. Dupre helped Baylor overcome a 10-0 deficit to win 21-10 at Lubbock.

Baylor will be the definite favorite in Saturday's match. The Bears squeaked by the California Bears last Saturday in Berkeley, 7-6, while Tech was being upset by Texas Western, 17-13.

Sam Boyd, Baylor ex, making his debut as head coach, has what is called the strongest Baylor team in years to throw up against the invading Raiders. His attack is built around backs Doyle Traylor, Bobby Jones, Del Shofner, and Charlie Dupre, and his two fine linemen, Bill Glass and Bobby Jack Oliver.

Weakness Uncovered

A major weakness uncovered by the Bears in last week's game with California was its pass defense. California completed 17 passes of 25 tried against the Bears of Baylor.

Unless some improvement on the part of Raider aerialists was made this week, the weakness doesn't figure to hurt Baylor much.

The Raiders, expected to have a keen passing attack built around quarterbacks Don Williams and Buddy Hill, were able to complete only 2 passes of 20 attempts in Saturday night's loss to Texas Western.

Bears Fumbled

Another alarming factor to Baylor coaches in Saturday's game was the sloppy ball handling. The Bears lost control of the ball four times on fumbles. In fact, Baylor's touchdown came on a "lucky bounce" of a fumbled pitchout.

Quarterback Doyle Traylor, on a T-option play, pitched out to halfback Del Shofner, who dropped the ball but caught it on the rebound and sprinted into the end zone.

Baylor's margin of victory was a place-kick conversion by halfback Arthur (Junior) Beall, who was playing his first varsity game.

Kicking also played a major part in Tech's loss to Texas Western, with a 10-yard field goal and 2 conversions by halfback Berman Corbell turning the trick.

TECH HAS GOOD RECORD

In basketball last season, Texas Tech played three games with Southwest Conference teams—winning from Texas Christian at Fort Worth 76-64 and University of Texas at Austin 84-72, and losing to Southern Methodist in the National Collegiate playoffs at Wichita 68-67.

How well do you know human nature? Can you tell what subjects interest people most? Here is a chance to test your judgment—show how good an editor you are—and you may win $5,000 for yourself, plus $5,000 in scholarship funds for your college.

It's fun to try. Maybe you can top other students in colleges across the country . . . and you can match wits with the editors of Reader's Digest.

Why do far more college graduates read Reader's Digest than any other magazine? What is it that makes the Digest the most widely read magazine in the world—with 11 million copies bought each month in the United States, plus 9 million abroad? Why is it read each month by at least 60 million people, in 12 languages—Arabic, Danish, English, Finnish, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Norwegian, Portuguese, Spanish and Swedish?

Can you spot in a typical issue of Reader's Digest the universal human values that link scholars, statesmen, scientists, writers, businessmen, housewives? Can you pick out the articles that will be most popular with the average Digest reader?

You may find . . . you know more about people than you think!

Here's all you do. Study the descriptions (at right) of the articles in the October Reader's Digest—or, better still, read the complete articles in the issue itself. (But you are not required to buy The Reader's Digest to enter the contest.) Then simply list the six articles—in order of preference—that you think readers of the magazine will like best. This will be compared with a nationwide survey conducted among a cross section of Digest subscribers.

Follow the directions given below. Fill in the entry blank, paste it on a post card, and get it into the mail before the deadline. Additional blanks are obtainable at your college bookstore.

All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, October 25, 1956. Don't delay. In case of ties, the entry with the earliest postmark will win.

Just pick in order the six articles you think most readers of October
Reader's Digest will like the best.
