JOYCE THARP . . . another Air Corps honor

Beauty Gets Award

Joyce Tharp, Tech junior, has been named Miss Sabre Flight, sweetheart of Tech's crack precision-exhibition drill team of Air ROTC cadets.

Cadet Maj. Walt McDonald of Lubbock, commanding officer of the unit, announced the selection of Miss Tharp, who will carry the honor for the rest of the current academic year.

She will march with the Sabre Flight drill team in any appearance it makes this spring and will represent the group at other public occasions.

A dark-haired 20-year-old beauty from Cloudcroft, N. M., Miss Tharp also is Miss Top Flight, an official hostess representing all Air Force units in the Lubbock area. She formerly lived at Littlefield.

Miss Tharp was presented as a beauty in La Ventana, Tech student yearbook, in 1954 and 1955. She is a member of Phi Gamma Nu, national honorary business administration sorority, and Delta Delta Delta social sorority. She has been a Student Council member.

She is majoring in business education.

Tickets Go On Sale For Jr.-Sr. Prom

Tickets for the 1956 Junior-Senior Prom went on sale yesterday at $3 a couple. The semi-formal, no-corseage dance will feature the Four Freshmen, a familiar West Coast recording quartet.

The prom will begin at 7:30 p.m. March 23 in the Student Union ballroom.

Tickets may be obtained from Doris Wampler, Dick Bryant, Dale Roberts, Sylvia Young or Charlene Williamson. Juniors and seniors must show identification cards at the time of purchase, according to Larry Byrd, Junior Class president and Prom chairman.

Forum Selecting Members

Forum, senior women's honorary service organization, now in the process of selecting its membership for next year, has enlisted the help of department heads in "making certain that every qualified girl is considered."

The club is asking that each department head submit names and leadership qualifications of any women students whom they feel are eligible to Marilyn Sneathen, Box 209, Knapp Hall, no later than Mar. 15.

"The nomination is not binding in any way to final selections," said Miss Sneathen, who is vice president of the group.

Qualifications of scholarship, leadership, and service are the basis for membership in the organization. An over-all grade point average of 1.80 is the minimum required for consideration.

"We feel that membership in Forum is a distinct honor . . . and we want to see that every woman student who has the basic qualifications is given consideration," Miss Sneathen stressed.

A tapping service for girls elected to membership will be held in late April, she added.

Forum at Tech is equivalent to Mortar Board on many campuses.

CARY DATE BUREAU OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Say man, need a date?

Student Association President Glen Cary has 150 girls who want dates with Tech male students. The Texas Graduate Nurses Association of District 18 has requested Cary to provide them with escorts for a Western Dance in the Lubbock Hotel Friday, April 13.

Cary stated that all men interested in this public relations function should contact him or Jane Taylor in the Student Council office in the Administration building between 2 and 5 p.m. this week.

He also said that men would be chosen on a first come-first serve basis.

Tech Coed Named TISA Officer

Tech Coed Charlene Williamson was chosen secretary of the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association at the group's annual meeting last week at Abilene.

The attractive, brunette education major from Fort Worth was overwhelmingly elected by delegates from the 39 college and university student government organizations making up TISA.

WHERE'S THAT GREY MATTER, MEN?

Other sorority pledge averages, in order, were Tri Delta, 1.50;

A grade average of 1.37 for all sororities and fraternities was reported for the fall semester. This compares with a grade-point average of 1.23 for the total 6,772 undergraduates.

An average of 1.48 was made by the 1,682 undergraduate women, and 1.15 by the 5,090 undergraduate men enrolled last fall.

Toward International Understanding

An effort is now underway to alter the by-laws of Tech's Cosmopolitan Club, official organization for foreign students, so that Americans can hold membership.

Tomorrow, the Board of Student Organizations takes action on a Club petition to effect such a constitutional change.

The idea has been in the minds of Club members for some time, but it was not until the tremendously successful Cosmopolitan Open House last Tuesday evening that the decision was made final. More than 350 persons jammed into Dr. William Hall's large home to greet and exchange ideas with the 18 foreign students now studying at Tech. This, at an institution where a week-night social crowd of 50 is considered good, is proof that such an organization is to be desired here.

It shows that, when given the chance, Americans are eager for first hand knowledge of the populace of this old world around us. It also bears out that these visitors desire to carry home, along with technical know-how, an understanding of Americans and what makes us as we are.

Many colleges already have such a club as they are now proposing—a club that serves as a melting pot for ideas from around the world.

Tech's Cosmopolitans come from every major continent on the Globe. We are missing a tremendous step in international understanding if this new organization does not have the loyal support of every thinking Techsan.

Tech Set For Playoff

From three sophomores will come replacements for Texas Tech's Jim Reed and Du-Wayne Blackshear in the starting lineup for the Red Raider's National Collegiate tournament game with Southern Methodist University at Wichita, Kans. Tuesday, Mar. 13. Reed and Blackshear, who between them averaged nearly 38 points a game and accounted for almost 60 per cent of the rebounds gathered in by Tech starters, are ineligible for tournament play due to the four-year rule.

Both played varsity ball as freshmen in the 1952-53 season. It's the same situation facing the five starters of Alabama, whose South-eastern Conference, like the Border, permitted freshman play that year.

In their places will likely be sophomores Bobby Wilson, 6-4, of Lipan, and Sterling Gibson, 6-3, of Henderson, Ky., or Logan Cummings, 6-3, of Littlefield. Wilson averaged 5.2 points a contest; Cummings, 4; and Gibson, 2.2.

Other starters are senior center Eugene Carpenter, 6-8, of Big Spring, and junior guards Harry Sealing, 6-1 of Fort Worth, and Ned Underwood, 6-4, of Snyder.

Coach Polk Robison can call on as reserves sophomore Royce Elam, 5-11, of Megargel, and Junior Earl Redwine, 6-5, of Covington, Ky. Cummings was a starter in some games this year, although his best efforts came as a reserve when he led scorers with 18 points in an early victory over Eastern New Mexico University. He was captain and all-district at Hereford High School.

Wilson, all-state tournament honor winner while playing for Lipan, had his best game scorewise making 15 points against Loyola in the All-College tournament but five times in Tech's stretch drive scored in the double figures as a substitute.

Gibson starred for Walker Air Base at nearby Roswell, N.M., after playing one year at Western Kentucky State. Never a high scorer, his outstanding contribution was ball-hawking that led to Tech's 84-72 win over University of Texas.

Reed Receives Colliers' Honor

Jim Reed, Texas Tech forward, has been chosen to the All-NCAA District 6 team for Collier's Magazine for the third successive year.

Reed, Tech starter for four years, was the only non-South-west Conference player selected. Both he and Du-Wayne Blackshear, Tech's other starting forward for the past three seasons, will not take part in the Red Raiders' playoff with Southern Methodist University next week because they played varsity ball as freshmen.

PLEDGES HAVE ELECTION

The new pledge class of Mu Phi Beta elected the following pledge class officers to serve during the spring semester: Patricia Curry, president; Gayle Marye, vice-president and social chairman; Gayle Arthur, secretary; Carol Ann McKenzie, treasurer; and Freddie Wise, song chairman.

Mrs. Verne Waldron is the faculty adviser for the pledge class.

Golfers In Border Olympics

Texas Tech's golf team makes its spring debut in the Border Olympics at Laredo Friday and Saturday.

All sophomores, Coach Warren Cantrell's linksmen include John Farquhar of Amarillo, Don Kaplan of Borger, John Paul Cain of Sweetwater, Bobby Westfall of Amarillo Dan Whalen of Miami, Fla., Bobby Clark of Alice, and Neal Sconiers of Iraan. The first four named teamed as freshmen last year to win the Border Conference meet.

Already this school term the Red Raiders have won the Sun Carnival tournament at El Paso and defeated a Reese Air Base team.

Remainder of Tech's schedule:

Mar. 15—Southern Methodist at Dallas

Mar. 16-17—Southwestern Recreation at Fort Worth

Mar. 29-31—Collegiate Invitational at Houston

Apr. 7—Texas Western at Lubbock

Apr. 13-14—Collegiate Invitational at Odessa

Apr. 21—Abilene Christian at Lubbock

May 12-13—Border Conference at Lubbock

June 20-24—National Collegiate at Columbus, Ohio.

Tentatively scheduled are matches with Texas Christian, Texas, and Baylor and the Southern Intercollegiate at Athens, Ga.

PICADORS-WAYLAND PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Coach Gene Gibson's Picadors will try for their 13th win tonight in Tech Gymnasium against the Wayland College Freshmen. Game time is 8 p.m.

Two European Trips Offered

That trip over the "bounding main" to jolly ole' England, a view of the Scandinavian fjords, the thrill of strolling along the Left Bank in Paris, is drawing closer and closer.

Mrs. Alan L. Stroud, Tech English professor, will lead a touring group through England, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, and France.

Dr. C. D. Eaves will lead another group through England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Lichtenstein, Austria, Italy, San Marino, France and Monaco.

People going with Mrs. Stroud will board the student ship in Montreal June 8, and will return to New York Aug. 7. Language classes, sports, and entertainment will be available on the ship, she said.

The tour will include a visit to Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey, Heidelberg University, a gondola ride on the Grand Canal, trips to the leaning Tower of Pisa, Monte Carlo, Notre Dame Cathedral, and Versailles Palace. And don't forget your Alpine stock, because your trip also includes the Swiss Alps.

If you are of junior standing and are making the trip with Dr. Eaves you can receive six hours of history credit, 3313-14, for graduate or advanced credit. If you'd rather you can just go along for the trip.

If 16 people agree to go with Dr. Eaves, the tour will cost each person $1,058, but if 25 make the trip it will cost $998. Students are required to pay $100 deposit, and pay the balance over a period of 20 months, Dr. Eaves said.

His group will depart from New York June 19 by BOAC Super Constellation and will return to New York Aug. 8.

Mrs. Stroud and Dr. Eaves announced that they will be glad to talk to any interested person at either their offices or their homes.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

On the left, William Nock Colonna, B.S. in Business Administration, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, '52.

"Sales results...and something more"

Two and a half months after he began training with The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland, Bill Colonna went into the army, spending a year in Korea.

"While in the service," Bill says, "I never thought of having to look for another job. I resumed my career in the telephone business as soon as I got back. What's more, my rate of pay was increased by crediting my time in the army."

"After training, I was promoted to Sales Manager in Salisbury, Md. I'm responsible for initiating, planning and coordinating sales activities in an area serving 50,000 customers in nine counties on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. I select and train men for my sales force, and help business office managers with their sales problems.

"Sales and marketing in the telephone business are growing more important every day. We've many new and different services to offer people. It's a job with scope, variety and challenge."

"Arranging for customers' communications requirements keeps me in touch with all departments of the company. These contacts add valuable experience that will always prove useful. I wanted a career that was broad and full of opportunities, and that's what I've got."

Bill Colonna is typical of the many young men who have interesting jobs in the telephone business. Career opportunities of many kinds exist in other Bell Telephone Companies, and in Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and the Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information about these companies.
