Pep rally, coronation to set pace

Barbecued SMU horsemeat will top the menu at the 1966 Homecoming pep rally at 7 p.m. today at Southwest Conference Circle.

The pep rally will be followed by the coronation of the Homecoming queen in Municipal Auditorium at 8:45 p.m.

THE TEN QUEEN finalists will be narrowed to five before the new queen is crowned by Troy V. Post, Dallas financier and Century Club speaker.

Queen finalists are Chris Adrean, Carolyn Case, Leslie Duckworth, Liz Gerbetz, Mary Beth Hand, Charlotte Henry, Diane King, Sherill Reagan, Judy Stewart and Marcia White.

A special feature of the coronation will be a short piano medley by Dean of Student Life James G. Allen.

DEAN ALLEN PLAYED in an orchestra from 1924 to 1928 at SMU. He will present several popular jazz numbers.

Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, winner of the 1966 University Sing, will also sing during the coronation.

Winners of the dorm decoration contest will be announced and trophies awarded.

BOB NASH, Lubbock radio announcer, will be master of ceremonies for the coronation.

The pep rally will feature a skit by Sneed Hall, winner of the "Spirit Stick" at last week's rally.

A TORCH-LIGHT PARADE to the Auditorium for the coronation will end the rally.

Exes will conduct class reunions at the KoKo Palace and the Union Coronado Room tonight also.

The classes of 1924-45 will meet at the KoKo and classes of 1946-66 will meet in the Union.

Homecoming band picked

"The Outsiders," popular recording group from Cleveland, will play for the Homecoming Dance October 22 at 9 p.m. in the Coliseum.

Another dance for those who prefer their music smooth and easy will be in the Ballroom of the Union at 8:30 p.m. featuring "Al Good and His 13 Piece Orchestra."

Tickets are $1 per person and may be purchased at the Tech Union Program Office.

Ticket stubs allow students to attend either dance or both.

Taking the test is optional with students, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said. The purpose of it is to furnish information to the draft boards. About 30,000 took the test given in May and June.

"The adjunct rank will enable the university to take advantage of part-time teaching efforts of qualified men," Dr. Murray told board members. "The consulting rank will include such persons as presidents of major companies, and will allow us to take advantage of their special skills."

'HAPPINESS IS WORKING, working . . . —Two Carpenter Hall residents find there is more to do than play during Homecoming. ## U.S. group says Peking should be admitted to U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The time has come for the United States to support the seating of both Communist China and Nationalist China in the United Nations, says a national policy panel of the U.N. Association of the United States.

IN A 64-PAGE REPORT released Thursday night, a panel of 27 prominent business executives, scholars and bankers supports the promise of a seat on the U.N. Security Council for Communist China if Peking accepts the two-China approach in the U.N. General Assembly.

The panel for the U.S. association, a private organization, was headed by Robert V. Roosa, former undersecretary of the Treasury and now a partner in the Wall Street firm of Brown Brothers, Harriman & Co. The vice chairman was Frederick S. Beebe, chairman of the board of the Newsweek-Washington Post Co.

THE EXCESSES OF Communist China's Red Guards and the hardening of Mao Tse-tung's extremist policy are cited as convincing evidence of "the need to provide fresh and timely encouragement to those moderate influences that still remain in China."

ROOSA SAID in a news conference in connection with the report that 17 of the 27 members of the panel felt it is important to tell Peking that it could count on a Security Council seat if it sits with Nationalist China in the assembly.

Kenneth T. Young, president of the Asia Society and former ambassador to Thailand, is joined by four others in favoring a two-stage modification of present U.S. policy.

Coeds get extra hour for pennies tonight

The Association of Women Students expects to make about $700 tonight on the first "Penny-a-Minute Night" for the school year.

PENNY-A-MINUTE NIGHT is the primary fund-raising project of AWS. It is a project whereby women students living in dormitories may stay out an hour beyond the regular closing time, providing they pay one penny for each minute they stay out.

Mary Lou Clements, treasurer of AWS, said in the past the project has raised as much as $700 to $800. The funds are used for "enjoyable events" sponsored by AWS, as well as services offered during the year.

SOME OF THE EVENTS and services are: the "Howdy Party" during freshman orientation, Tech Tips booklet, President's Hostesses, Women's Residence Council, Dad's Day, Women's Day, Town Girls, the Carol of Lights, and the "little sister" program.

Friday before Homecoming is the traditional AWS penny-a-minute night for the fall semester.

The project was begun on the Tech campus 10 years ago when the idea was formulated after representatives from Tech had attended a national AWS convention.

Frosh will 'yell' Monday

The Tech Union Ballroom may prove to be the noisiest place on campus Monday afternoon as the freshman cheerleader elections get underway at 5:30 p.m. Each candidate will do one yell for the voters. Candidates will try-out in pairs.

I.D. cards, required for admission to the voting, will be validated at the Ballroom entrance. Ballots may be marked as the contestants perform, but it is not necessary to stay for all of the competition.

At Carpenter Hall

Furor raised in dorm council

By BILL SEYLE
Staff Writer

A many-faceted legislative brawl remains unsettled in Carpenter Hall.

The latest development in what started as a money appropriations proposition was an abortive attempt to impeach President Skip Carter at Wednesday night's dorm council meeting.

THE MEETING ERUPTED into a strategic battle of words and constitutional interpretations when Wing Governor Sam Tiner accused Carter of ignoring the dorm council and the constitution when he signed a $300 reserve fund agreement.

Tiner followed his accusation with a motion to impeach Carter. Staff representative Andy Tibbets countered with a reference to an article in the Carpenter Hall constitution which states that any new item must be submitted in writing to the president at least one hour before the dorm council meeting.

TINER THEN CALLED attention to an elastic clause in the constitution which he said "Everyone has been using so freely." Invoking the clause would have permitted a vote on impeachment. However, Tiner's motion that it be invoked failed to pass, six to four.

Tiner and Carter engaged in a verbal altercation near the end of the meeting following the passage of a motion which had not been submitted to the president before the meeting.

Tiner questioned the constitutionality of the motion's being on the floor, which led to the following exchange:

Carter: "It is the president's power to waive such requirements."
 Tiner: "It seems that the president is taking a lot of powers."
 Carter: "The president has these powers."
 Tiner: "Not by the constitution which everyone is taking so lightly."

WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S proceedings followed a series of meetings concerning the reserve fund which was to be used in the repair of maliciously damaged furniture.

The reserve fund, suggested by Residence Halls Director Guy Moore, was first discussed in the dorm council meeting on Oct. 12.

The council then voted to tell Moore that it felt that the maintenance of dorm furniture was a duty of the Housing Office.

A SPECIAL MEETING was called Friday at which Moore addressed the council and explained his proposition. Again the council voted it down.

A petition containing the signatures of one third of the members of the dorm forced a second special meeting Sunday night.

At this meeting, a motion to reconsider passed. But a motion to accept the proposal was ruled unconstitutional because it contradicted a constitutional clause requiring an all-dorm vote with a week's notice when considering any expenditure of $100 or more.

MOORE HAD TO KNOW the decision by Monday, so the council voted to send a committee to Moore to explain to him why it could not accept.

Monday, Carter and Treasurer Dick Rooney signed what Moore described as an agreement to the reserve fund proposal which would be declared null and void if the dorm votes the proposal down.

The dorm council has scheduled an all-dorm election Wednesday in hopes of finally settling the problem.

Sen. Byrd dies in Virginia

BERRYVILLE, Va. (AP)—Retired U.S. Senator Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia—for a quarter century or more a towering figure in American politics—died Thursday at his white-columned country home.

Two of Byrd's three sons, Beverly and Richard E. Byrd who are connected with the family's vast orchard and apple-packing operations, were at his bedside when the end came at 8:25 a.m.

THE THIRD SON, Harry F. Byrd Jr., appointed last Nov. 11 to his father's Senate seat, had just been reached by telephone at Washington. Then, while Byrd Jr. held the phone, a brother returned from his father's bedside and said: "He just died."

Byrd Jr. drove immediately to this apple country town just south of the West Virginia line and about 75 miles west of Washington.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Death of Virginia's "Mr. Democrat" came as Byrd Jr., appointed to the Senate a day after his father's retirement, was running for election for the remaining four years of the term.

BYRD'S DEATH WAS greeted by expressions of sorrow and eulogy from his former colleagues and friends in Washington and leading figures in Virginia—where Byrd-brand politics have prevailed for 40 years.

And while Byrd's fight over the years in the Senate for more conservatism in government and a tighter string on the federal purse appeared to be largely a losing rear-guard action, it did—based on their commitments—win him the respect and affection of a majority of his old associates.

TO SENATE MAJORITY Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, Byrd was a "tower of strength—always a gentleman, always consistent."

"The most consistent man in public life from either party," said Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb.

"We can mourn a great American statesman in the truest sense of the word," said another Republican, Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

"VIRGINIA HAS LOST its most distinguished citizen," said Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va.

The Senate, by resolution, expressed its "profound sorrow" at the death of Byrd and ordered a transcript of remarks by the senators delivered to the family.

AND HUFF AND PUFF—Two freshmen practice expanding their lungs as they prepare for leading cheers during freshmen cheerleader elections. Try-outs will be held in Tech Union at 5:30 p.m. Monday. Students must present their IDs to vote in the election.

Gordon plans early funeral for 'make-believe' mustang

Funeral bells will toll this morning at 11:50 for Peruna, SMU's pony, in anticipation of his death.

As many of the 370 residents of Gordon Hall as possible will participate in the 1920's style funeral, wearing top hats and black coats. The pauper's casket with appropriate "eulogies" painted on it will be led around campus with Bangin' Bertha by the Saddle Tramps.

Band members will contribute to the mournful occasion by playing a dirge. The procession, starting in front of the Museum, will go through the campus.

Gordon Hall council originated the idea of the mock funeral, but Saddle Tramps will assist in the effort to promote spirit. Don Pine is council president.

Troy Post to speak at Century dinner

In the early part of last week and in the early part of this week—and unfortunately, probably in the early part of many weeks to come—the female segment of our campus living in residence halls was taken on that delightful journey into legislative experience referred to with affection as wing meetings.

For those deprived souls unfamiliar with this most hallowed of coed dorm-life experiences, we would like to express our deepest regrets—the tragedy of what they are missing is great.

Picture for a moment the gathering of the flock—the divine inspiration of “getting together with the girls” for those rare and brief moments of sisterhood which, by their very effect, will ultimately decide the government under which the dormitory will be operated.

A LOVELY SCENE indeed, but alas, the picture is marred by one alienating fact—it just ain't so!

Not only is a wing meeting the least divine experience we have had since arriving at this institution, but it ranks second only to the Women's Residence Council itself as being perhaps the least effective innovation on campus.

For a freshman, possibly, a wing meeting is a nice thing because it is therein that she might avail herself of an opportunity to get acquainted with other members of the new and exciting campus world. And so with the still uncertain sophomore, who again is still wishing to broaden her circle of acquaintances.

But after three years of living in a dormitory, one somehow finds other ways in which to meet people, one finds a relatively unlimited number of better things to do than sit on a cold tile floor far into the night (in most cases, wing meetings are not scheduled until 10:30 p.m. or later) and, most important, one finds just how really futile a thing a wing meeting really is.

Admittedly there are certain functions that these pleasant little gatherings fulfill—in the past two meetings for example we have been informed of the residence hall rules governing our conduct and on what pages in our student handbooks these rules can be found. Wonderful! It is so much nicer to have someone else read this multitude of information to us than to go to the trouble of reading it ourselves.

AND WE HAVE BEEN passed out certain forms of information blanks to be filled out that would obviously have been impossible simply to place in our mailboxes.

There have been wing votes, such as the one whether or not to pay $513 for a year's supply of ice in the dorm—no doubt imported directly from Alaska at that price.

And so on and on into oblivion goes the list of activities included in the wing meeting agenda.

MARK TWAIN indicated that God made idiots for practice; then He made school boards. We are inclined to believe that by the same token the powers that be at this school set up the WRC; and then they set up wing meetings.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

• Opposing opinions aired

While I agree with your “No win, no support” editorial, I feel that there were a few things left unsaid. For instance, by the time the gates opened at 6 p.m. there was a very sizeable crowd of students waiting to get into the stadium. By game time, most of the student section, with the exception of the end zone seats, was filled. However, the reserved seats on the west side where the loyal Lubbock and area fans sit and cheer the Raiders were only about half-filled. There were also several hundred persons sitting on the turf at the north end of the stadium who had come to cheer the Raiders on to victory.

There definitely was no lack of support at the game Saturday night. If there was any lack of support, it was on the part of those fans who did not care to brave the cool night air. The students were not among those fans.

Why then the “No win, no support” editorial. It seems that people began leaving the game at half-time. This is very strange, for the Raiders are a come-back-in-the-second-half-and-give 'em-hell club. Besides, we were only on the losing end of a 21 to 6 score. Come back they did. But Florida State came back also. They came back to win and they did win. But why did those people leave? I'll tell you why they left. They were cold, but most of all I think they were frustrated. Frustrated because of our inability to score, and at the same time to keep Florida State from scoring. Frustrated because of our inability to stop Florida State from running all over us. People who are cold and frustrated would rather go to more pleasurable activities.

I would estimate that at least one-half of the students are ardent and enthusiastic supporters of the Raiders. But the team must put on a decidedly good show in return for the support they desire, and need, so much. When the outcome is decided in the first half, in anyone's game, the support begins to thin out. The support will continue to thin out until the loyal fans begin to get something in return for their support. I will be at the game this Saturday, as will most of my friends. We are going to watch the Raiders STOMP SMU. I'll guarantee a full house of enthusiastic fans. All I want is a good football game. I promise I will not leave at the half.

Richard Cato
Murrough Hall

I would like to comment on the question of Tech students being the so-called “silent generation,” but this time in another sense. If there are students who are members of this silent generation, I must say that it was never more observable than Saturday night at Jones Stadium. The spirit that we showed our team was never any poorer, and I am sure that the team, the coaching staff, and former students were never more aware of this fact.

The cheerleaders, band, Saddle Tramps, and many students are doing a real fine job of backing the Raiders. But these people cannot do it for those who gave up Saturday night, you missed a fine effort by those who didn't, men like John Scovell, Phil alone, and I among others was honestly ashamed at some fellow students Saturday night. Nothing can be any more heartbreaking to a team, a coaching staff, or loyal fans than to see people walking out, turning their backs, on something that means so much. Sure, I'll be the first to admit that we have had some bad breaks and some hard luck, but just stop and ask yourself, “Have I been doing my part to help out?” You may say that we've been beat a few times, but when men are out there doing their best, and fighting with all their heart, body and courage, I say we've never been beat. Tucker, Mike Leinert and Larry Gilbert, just to mention a few. If you don't believe what I've said, ask someone who saw he disheartened, hurt looks on the faces of our fighting Red Raiders when they retired for the night.

This next game is Homecoming, something very special to most of us. In the words of the Saddle Tramps, “Nobody has any more to be proud of than we do.” So, while the Red Raiders are out there Saturday, beating the HELL out of SMU, let's do our part and let the team know that we are there and that we are deeply proud to have them represent us and our fine school.

Adding machines may prove as useful as printed programs when Southern Methodist and Texas Tech clash at the Red Raiders' homecoming here Saturday afternoon.

Points and yards were so plentiful last week that statisticians nearly demanded overtime pay for figuring that Florida State defeated Texas Tech 42-33 and the Raiders out-gained the Seminoles 511-508. That's a total of 75 points and 1,019 yards.

less ravenous, gobbling up 324.4 yards each contest.

BETTER BALANCE apparently is the key to the Mustangs' successes in three of their first four games—26-7 over Illinois, 21-3 over Navy, and 28-24 over Rice. Two weeks ago Purdue won from the Mustangs 35-23. The Mustangs also rank third in total defense, where the Raiders are eighth.

COMPLICATING Tech's defensive situation has been the loss by injury of from one game to an entire season of six men tabbed as defensive starters—guard Marc Bryant, guard Bill Adams, and tackle Jim Arnold, who haven't played a down all year; guard Mickey Merritt, guard Doug Young, and safety Guy Grifis.

Returning with Edwards will be Jerry Turner who received the same type injury in the same game. Following slight injuries, John Scovell and guard Don King will be ready to start against the Mustangs.

Pics topple Redshirts

Jerry Don Sanders kicked a 22-yard field goal with five minutes remaining to push the Tech Picadors past the Varsity Reserves here last night.

The Redshirts built up an early lead as Gary Brown scored on a six-yard run and Marc Noel intercepted a Picador pass and raced 22 yards for the 'Shirts second tally.

The Frosh came storming back in the second half with TDs by Jimmy Bennett and Gary Vaughn. Both PATs were unsuccessful, however, and the Picadors once more had to rely on Sanders' toe for the winning points.

'Machine' controls movements

(AP)—Earl Faison joined the Miami Dolphins Thursday and said he would have departed the San Diego Chargers sooner except for a pro football "machine" that controls player movements.

AFTER PLAYING out his one-year option with the Chargers, the 6-foot-5, 265-pound defensive end said he was approached by other clubs at the end of last season.

"But the machine went to work to keep me from going," Faison said. "The politicians left me just one choice — with San Diego. So I went back."

FAISON declined to go into detail on the "machine" or on his troubles with Sid Gillman, the Charger coach, who dropped him last week with a remark that Faison would be "better off with some other ball club."

"It was a matter of him being fed up with me," Faison said.
