Court continues church exemption

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court cleared the way Monday for pay television in California and continued tax exemptions for church-owned property.

The rulings were among 706 announced by the high court as it charted its course for the year.

IT DECIDED ALONG the way to examine (1) Jury selection in the South, (2) Inspection of private property by city officials and (3) A suit filed against Chairman James O. Eastland of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The pay television ruling let stand a finding by the California Supreme Court that householders cannot be deprived of the right to buy TV programs.

California voters wrote a ban on pay television for homes into the state constitution in 1964. Known as "Proposition 15," it was knocked out by the California court as an unconstitutional abridgement of free speech.

THE HIGH COURT did not give its reasons in rejecting an appeal by California officials that the decision be revised.

Similarly, the court did not say why it turned down an appeal by Madalyn E. Murray O'Hair and others that it look into the nationwide practice of exempting thousands of worship and church-owned properties from real estate taxes.

By not taking on the case the court steered clear of a highly controversial aspect of church-state relations. Later in the term it will decide whether to judge the constitutionality of state grants for construction at church-related colleges.

MONDAY'S RULING lets stand a decision last Feb. 14 by the Maryland Court of Appeals that the tax exemptions do not violate the U.S. or Maryland constitutions.

Litigation by Mrs. O'Hair led to the historic 1963 rulings by the high court barring required reading of the Bibles and reciting the Lord's Prayer in public schools.

The court also agreed in this first decision day of its new term to take on two libel cases. In one it will review a $500,000 judgment won in a Fort Worth state court by former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker in a libel suit against The Associated Press.

THE SUIT was based on the AP's account of Walker's activities during rioting at the University of Mississippi in 1962. The disorder was occasioned by admission into the University of James Meredith, a Negro.

This is one of 15 actions instituted by Walker against The Associated Press and various newspapers throughout the United States seeking damages aggregating $33.25 million. All actions are based on accounts of Walker's activities on the University of Mississippi campus.

No date was set for the hearing.

In the other libel case the court will hear Curtis Publishing Co. appeal from a $460,000 judgment given Wallace Butts, former University of Georgia football coach.

BUTTS SUED CURTIS for $10 million in connection with a Saturday Evening Post article entitled "The Story of a College Football Fix." The March 23, 1963, article alleged Butts gave pregame football secrets to Paul Bryant, University of Alabama coach.

A federal jury in Atlanta awarded Butts $3,060,000. A federal judge ordered him to accept $460,000. After federal courts denied Curtis a new trial the company appealed to the Supreme Court.

The court will look into jury selection by hearing appeals from Louis Bostick, a Negro under death sentence in South Carolina, and Phil Whitus and Leon Davis, Negroes sentenced to execution in Georgia.

Bostick, convicted in the 1962 slaying of Jasper County Sheriff C. W. Floyd, claims Negroes were systematically excluded from the grand jury and trial jury.

WHITUS AND DAVIS, convicted in the 1959 slaying of James Eldridge Glenn, a white Mitchell County farmer, are claiming the trial jury was selected from a county tax list that was kept on a racially segregated basis.

Seattle and San Francisco ordinances will be examined by the court as it weighs the right of officials to search private property.

Norman See, owner of a Seattle warehouse, is challenging the city ordinance that authorizes fire inspection of commercial premises without a warrant.

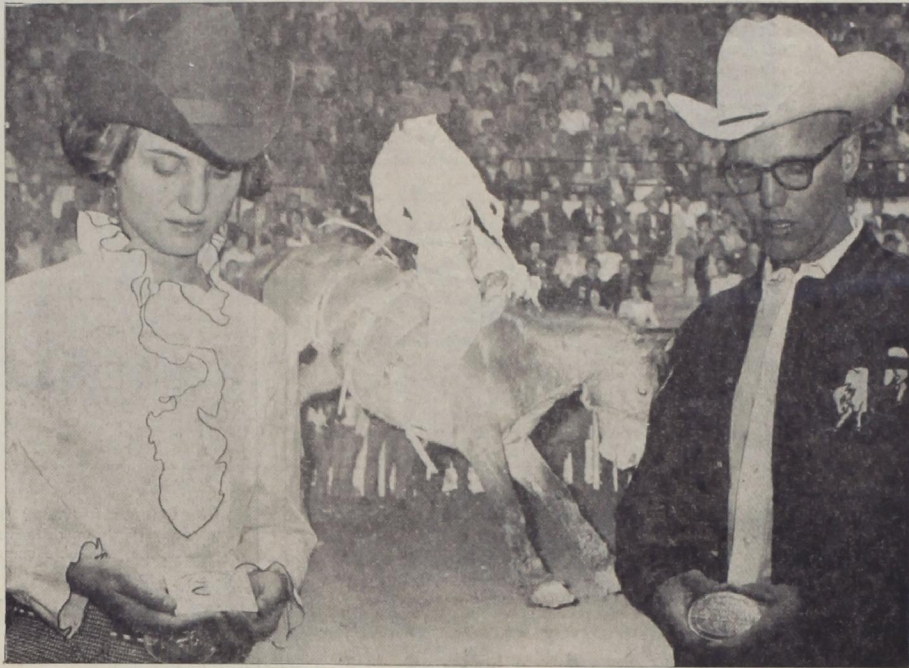

ROLAND CAMARA of San Francisco is challenging a city ordinance that allows public health inspectors to search homes for possible health or housing violations without a warrant.

Senate will meet tonight

The Student Senate will appoint committee members at 7:30 p.m. today in the Biology Auditorium.

ACCORDING TO GARY ROSE, president of the Student Senate, the Senate will discuss the card section of the football game, the all-school trip to Rice, the European charter for Tech students and the Senate's place in the academic procession concerning Dr. Murray's inauguration.

Appointments will be made to 14 committees: student life, constitutional revision, freshman council, judicial, foreign students, school promotion, government day, intramural, Student Union program, food, academic recruiting, athletic seating, election revisions, and course and instructor evaluation.

RODEO WINNERS—Tech seniors Jan Vaughn and Dale Johnson show the first place silver buckles they won at the annual National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association rodeo in Portales, N.M., last weekend (background). Miss Vaughn won in the goat tying competition and Johnson won in the saddle bronc riding.

Team gets two firsts at rodeo

Dale Johnson and Jan Vaughn each won first place silver buckles at the annual National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association rodeo in Portales, N.M., last weekend.

REPRESENTING THE TECH Rodeo Team, Johnson, 1965-66 Regional All-Around Cowboy, and Miss Vaughn received their awards in the saddle bronc riding and goat tying competition, respectively.

Karen Robinson also placed in the goat tying with a second place and Marianne Munz took a third in the first go-around.

Donnie Neff, independently representing the Tech Rodeo Association, came home with a second place standing in bull riding.

Phil Brewer, Tech Rodeo Team, split a third and fourth place in bareback riding with Johnson, who also captured a fifth and sixth place in bull riding. Tommy Houston and J. W. Jacobs each won a sixth in ribbon roping and bareback bronc riding, respectively.

EASTERN NEW MEXICO UNIVERSITY Rodeo Club, one of 11 teams in the Southwestern region of the NIRA, hosted the event.

"We really enjoyed ourselves while trying to bring some awards back to Tech, both team and individual. We plan to be in good shape by October 28 when we'll be attending the Panhandle A&M Rodeo," said Marianne Munz, spokesman for the team.

BOY'S AND GIRL'S TEAM Trophies went to Sul Ross Rodeo Teams. The Tech Team was the regional champion for the 1965-66 season and competed in the NIRA finals in Vermillion, S.D., last summer.

Other members of the team competing were D'Lynn McGinty, JoAnn Smith, Gerrel Russell, Craig Haythorn, Skipper Driver, Richard Snyder, Bob Young, Matt Davies and Carol Smith.

Card section will debut

Homecoming

The Army-Air Force ROTC card section will make its first appearance at the homecoming football game against Southern Methodist University, Army Col. B. W. Paden and Air Force Lt. Col. Henry L. Gantz Jr. announced Monday.

ORIGINAL PLANS passed by the Student Senate last Tuesday night called for the card section to begin operation at Saturday's Florida State game. "Administrative delays" have caused the temporary postponement, Peden said.

"We want to do a good job in our initial appearance," he said. "It took the latter part of last week and the first part of this week to line up personnel for the section and it will be impossible to get the necessary time for practices this week."

The card section will attempt to practice twice for each performance, he said.

"WE UNDERSTAND the reasons for the delay, and are glad the ROTC programs are concerned with putting on a top performance," Student Senate President Gary Rose said.

He said the Senate would decide tonight whether to extend the dates for the card section to include the Oklahoma State game, two weeks following the SMU contest. A bill passed last Tuesday said that following the Florida State and SMU games, the Senate would decide whether the card section should be continued.

Defense Secretary McNamara confers with top Viet officials

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara had a round of top-level meetings with American officials Monday on the part the United States is playing in the Viet Nam war.

Within an hour of his arrival at Saigon's airport, McNamara met with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Viet Nam.

MUCH OF THE REST of the day was spent in secret intelligence briefings. McNamara's findings on overall capabilities, concepts and goals of the allies during his four-day visit — his eighth to Viet Nam — are expected to weigh heavily on future U.S. commitments in man, money and material.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was host at a private luncheon for McNamara and Nicholas Katzenbach, the newly appointed undersecretary of state who made the trip with McNamara.

The defense secretary is to meet Tuesday with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and the chief of state, Nguyen Van Thieu.

AFTER TWO DAYS in Saigon, McNamara is to visit U.S. forces near the embattled demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

His schedule calls for tours of Marine units near Da Nang and a flight to a Navy carrier off North Viet Nam before he returns to Washington Thursday night.

Reports on the fighting just below the zone — heaviest of the war so far — were studied by McNamara, American sources said.

THE QUESTION of moving U.S. soldiers in force into the Mekong River delta, now manned almost exclusively by Vietnamese units, did not come up, these sources said.

Katzenbach had a separate meeting with Lodge. He is making his first visit here since moving into the State Department from the post of attorney general.

Some 321,500 U.S. military men are in Viet Nam now and more are on the way. When McNamara was here last November, the roll was about 170,000. The total is expected to be between 350,000 and 400,000 by the end of the year.

McNAMARA TOLD newsmen on arrival that the United States and South Viet Nam are anxious to assure conditions in the demilitarized zone in which the "International Control Commission can inspect the area and document infringements by the North Vietnamese" of the 1954 Geneva Treaty barring armed activity there.

That was an aim of the United States in halting bombing Sept. 27 of the 26 square miles between Highway 1 and the sea that make up the eastern sector of the zone.

U.S. air cavalrymen and South Korean and Vietnamese soldiers mapping up the Phu Cat sector of the central coast reported the enemy toll in the ninth day of that fighting stood at 809 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed and 669 captured.

A SPOKESMAN SAID U.S. Cavalry marksmen operating from helicopters killed a dozen, and a company of cavalrymen captured 46 in a cave.

No deadline set on IDs

No deadline has been set for picking up ID cards.

However, the Comptroller's Office urges that students pick them up as soon as possible. Approximately 300 to 400 have not been picked up.

Students may pick up IDs at the cashier's office in the Ad Building from 8 a.m. til 12 noon and 1-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Hammer to head new language department

Dr. Carl Hammer Jr. has been named as head of Texas Tech's new Germanic and Slavonic Languages Department, scheduled to begin operation September, 1967.

The establishment of the new department was approved last year by the Texas Commission on Higher Education, now the Coordinating Board, Texas Colleges and University System.

DR. KENNEDY attributed creation of the new department to increase interest in foreign languages studies in "both enrollment and diversification."

"An intensive search for a senior scholar of distinction in German was started two years ago," Dr. Kennedy explained. He described Dr. Hammer as a scholar "highly respected in his field who adds experience and stature to the university."

Dr. Hammer said his new role presents "a special challenge" because of the "rapidly increasing enrollment" and the growing interest in advanced study.

"THE RAPID ADVANCE of German instruction at Tech during recent years," he said, "seems all the more appropriate in view of the large German element among those who settled Texas." He credited Foreign Languages Prof. Theodor W. Alexander with spurring increased interest in German study.

Over 900 students are enrolled in the study of German and Russian this semester. Using this as a basis, Dr. Hammer predicts the enrollment in the department next year to be 1,000.

More students are enrolling in foreign language as a major or minor

The Viet Cong struck again at a Vietnamese motor park near Thu Duc, seven miles east of Saigon, first attacked Sept. 14. A spokesman said one Vietnamese was slain and 10 men, including one U.S. serviceman, were wounded. Four guerrillas died in the raid, which damaged some construction equipment and vehicles.

In the air phase of the war, American military sources said North Viet Nam, which lost two more of its MIG jets in dogfights with U.S. Navy pilots Sunday, now has about 100 of those Soviet-designed warcraft.

THAT WOULD BE a considerable increase from the State Department's report of Aug. 30 that the enemy had only 61 to 66. The fresh estimate, based on photo reconnaissance, raised speculation that the Soviet Union and possibly Red China were replacing the combat losses.

than in previous years. When Dr. Hammer came to Tech in 1964 he said, "There were only a few majors in the Germanic and Slavonic languages. Since that time it has increased to 27 majors and several minors."

Conferring of Master's Degrees in German went into effect last year.

DR. HAMMER attributed the growth, in part, to the demand for more foreign language teachers.

At present Dr. Hammer anticipates four full-time staff members other than himself. They are associate professors Theodore W. Alexander and Alexander P. Hull and assistant professors W. T. Zyla and Louis T. Jardine.

Part-time instructors are Mrs. Evelyn Forrest and Mrs. Valda L. Jirgensons.

Tower to address Techsans

United States Sen. John Tower will address Tech faculty members, students and Lubbock area residents at 8 p.m. today in Tech Union Ballroom.

SEN. TOWER WILL SPEAK on higher education and the Viet Nam war. He will arrive at Lubbock Municipal Airport at 5:30 p.m. from Plainview.

Sen. Tower is a former government instructor at Midwestern University. He left the position in 1960 to run for the Senate.

He is now bidding for re-election against former Texas Attorney General Waggoner Carr. The senator is a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

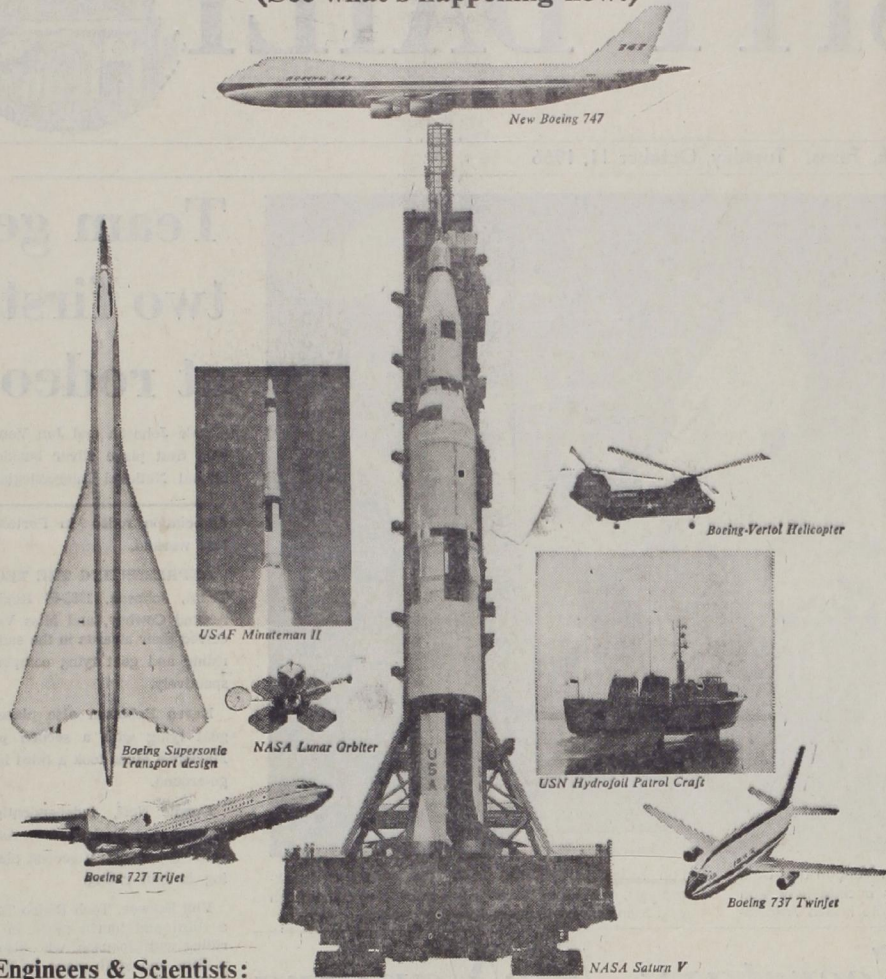

CHUCK SPACE, YR PRESIDENT, and Glenn Looney, member of the Tech government department, issued invitations to all students and faculty to attend the address. Looney said Sen. Tower has expressed an interest in meeting and visiting with as many faculty members and students as possible and answering questions in a short, informal discussion after his speech.

The address is sponsored by Texas Tech Young Republicans. Admission is free to the public.

In 1916 The Boeing Company's career was launched on the wings of a small seaplane. Its top speed was 75 mph.

Now, half a century later, we can help you launch your career in the dynamic environment of jet airplanes, spacecraft, missiles, rockets, helicopters, or even seacraft.

Pick your spot in applied research, design, test, manufacturing, service or facilities engineering, or computer technology. You can become part of a Boeing program-in-being, at the leading edge of aerospace technology. Or you might want to get in on the ground floor of a pioneering new project.

You'll work in small groups where initiative and ability get maximum exposure. And if you desire an advanced degree and qualify, Boeing will help you financially with its Graduate Study Program at leading universities and colleges near company facilities.

Often it will be sheer hard work. But we think you'll want it that way when you're helping to create something unique — while building a solid career. Visit your college placement office and schedule an interview with our representative. Boeing is an equal opportunity employer.

THE OLD WEST—"Winter at Deep Creek," a folk ballet of early rural American, re-creates in song, story and dance, the youthful, exuberant, creative energy that was characteristic of the early settlers of the West. The ballet is scheduled for Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium.

Ballet re-creates Old West

The American Folk Ballet, boom towns, is not actually a ballet in the classical tradition. Mann, a native of Texas from ranch country and oil-well style in ballet inspired from America's rich western heritage.

"I've tried to remember that art is not an elegant spectacle but the simple record of man's journey across the earth. In my case, the record of those men and women who made the journey across America and hammered a nation out of a wilderness."

The ballet is scheduled to appear as the first production of the Tech Artists Course Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Municipal Auditorium.

The ballet company is composed of young American dancers, singers and musicians, including a pit orchestra.

The company will present a full length production, costumed and lighted, each based on the folklore, legends, music, and dances of a different region of the country.

The West, says Mann, was that part of America least touched by European influence.

"I realized," said Mann, "that European ballet, created in the baroque courts of kings, could never hope to express an open society that spread free as the tall grass over the endless plains.

"European ballet did, and still does, draw its life blood from the great cities of the world. The roots of America is in the land. From this land the American dance must draw its strength."

The young company, which hails from California, will present one of their favorite productions in their Lubbock appearance, "Winter at Deep Creek."

Tickets for the performance may be picked up at the Union ticket booth and are free to Tech students, faculty and staff.

Tickets for the public are $2.50.

Red Raiders croak on TCU Frog legs

By BILL MOORE

A police motorcycle escort cleared a pass for the Raider buses and all along the route curiosity-inspired Fort Worthians strained to get a look at the South Plains delegation that had come to do battle with their hometown Horned Frogs.

When they arrived at the stadium a few of the players went directly to the dressing room or sat in the stands overlooking the field. The rest of the team made its way down onto the field itself, where they walked from one end to the other to get the feel of that night's battle ground.

"They're ready for this game," one Tech coach was heard to say as he watched the team walking around on the field. "They feel bad after losing like they did these past two weeks and they're wanting to win this one tonight awfully bad."

THE STAGE WAS SET! Tech had lost its first two conference games in a row, dropping decisions to Texas and Texas A&M. After each game the Raiders felt they could have won. They didn't want to go saying the same thing again this week.

The TCU Horned Frogs were winless in three games, including a 21-0 loss to Arkansas the previous week. Many sports writers rated the Frogs the strongest 0-3 team in the nation and by the time game time had rolled around the Frogs were rated three-point favorites over the Raiders.

From the opening kickoff it was apparent that the Raiders had gone to Fort Worth to play ball. On the first play from scrimmage quarterback John Scovell hit halfback Mike Leinert with a 24-yard pass.

Halfback Jerry Lovelace then hit the line for six more yards. The Froggie defense tightened forcing the Raiders to punt on fourth down.

Neither team could muster a sustained drive in the first quarter and the initial period ended 0-0.

The Raiders were first to try to crack the goose eggs on the scoreboard when Kenny Vinyard was called on to attempt a 54-yard field goal with nine minutes left in the second quarter.

The kick had the distance but was to the right of the goal posts. "There was a little trouble with the snap and they were rushing me so hard I had to kick it before the ball was in a good position," said Vinyard.

VINYARD turned into a true hero a few plays later. Fourth down and seven yards to go Vinyard was waiting to punt on the eight-yard line. The ball was centered over his head into the end zone.

Running full speed in the end zone, Vinyard booted the ball to the 50-yard line.

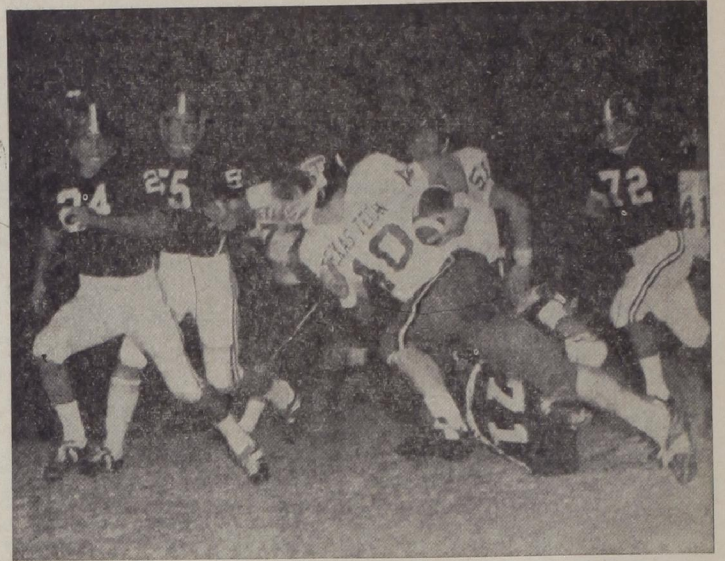

With 2:10 left in the half the Frogs began to move and with 17 seconds reading on the clock Bruce Alford kicked a 22-yard field goal giving TCU a 3-0 half time lead.

Taking the second half kickoff TCU moved to the Tech six-yard line where Alford kicked his second field goal of the night. TCU 6-Tech 0.

TECH took the ensuing kickoff and moved to the Frog 37. On fourth down Vinyard was again called on for field goal chores. When the dust had finally cleared the tape measure read 55 yards and a Southwest Conference record.

"As soon as I kicked it, I knew that if it went straight it would be good. I got a real toe into the ball," said Vinyard.

The Frogs couldn't find paydirt in the fourth quarter and the game ended with TCU on top 6-3.

YIPES! Paul Smith (24) and E. A. Gresham (55) get a little wide-eyed as Mike Leinert (40) turns on the steam against the Frog-gies. Tech lost the Saturday night field goal battle 6-3 before 25,064 Fort Worth fans. (Staff photo by Johnny Shipman)

City tennis center opens

The Lubbock Tennis Center is now open for membership. The center, located east of Coronado High School, is starting its winter season, which will run from now until June. Membership fee is $15 for adults, $18 for families and $17.50 for all Tech students. Non-members can play for 1½ hours for 60 cents and Tech students for 40 cents.

The tennis center consists of eight soft surfaced, laykold tennis courts, dressing rooms, concession and lounge area.

The hours of the center are 1:15 p.m. on Saturdays and Sunday afternoon, and 1:30 p.m. week days.

The center is sponsored by the Lubbock Tennis Association, a non-profit making organization. Its purpose is to promote tennis by encouraging people of all ages to start playing the sport.
