

Action delayed on college tuition boost

AUSTIN (AP)—The state College Coordinating Board deferred action Monday on a staff report that could lead to the first tuition increase at the 22 public colleges and universities since 1957.

Judge J. C. Looney of Edinburg, speaking for the tuition study committee, said the staff report was received only Sunday and had not received ample discussion.

AFTER THE STUDY committee reviews the report—which makes no specific tuition recommendation—the board is expected to endorse a tuition hike at its Dec. 12 special meeting.

The committee received the report Sunday and said it had not had time to formulate its recommendation to the full board. The legislature, not the coordinating board, sets tuition at the state-supported schools.

"Certainly if a person is seriously contemplating going to college, costs other than tuition loom as a much greater financial hurdle than tuition itself," the report said.

"BECAUSE OF THE MANY types of financial aid now available, every scholastically qualified resident of Texas should be able to attend an institution of higher learning.

"Tuition charged to residents of Texas to attend a public senior college or university is low," the report said. "Tuition charged to in-district students at public junior colleges appears to be within a reasonable range. Tuition charged to non-residents of Texas to attend a public institution of higher education in Texas are lower than similar charges to Texans who go out-of-state to attend college."

ALTHOUGH THE REPORT merely presents statistics and alternatives for the board to consider, one study committee member observed that these figures would indicate the desirability of an increase.

"I would say it probably would be fair to state that it does," said Looney.

"If we look at the amounts of money we are going to need to keep moving ahead, we will have to increase the share of economic partnership on both sides—the state and the student," said Dr. Jack Williams, state commissioner of higher education.

Williams has said on several occasions since he took the post Aug. 1 that Texas ranks low among the other states in tuition at tax-financed institutions.

TUITION INCREASE BILLS were defeated in 1961, 1963 and 1965 under heavy pressure from students and parents. But, Looney said, establishment last year of the $85 million "Texas Opportunity Plan" loan fund for college students might make the climate more favorable for higher tuition.

The report said total tuition and fees charged students at Texas colleges in 1964-65 was in the bottom quarter of the nation for comparable schools.

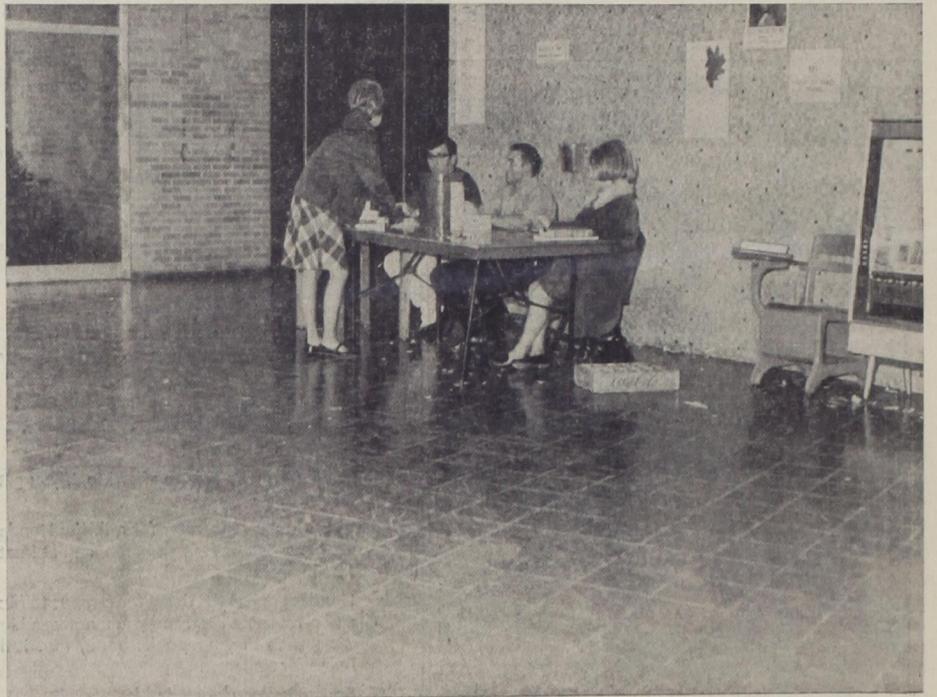

The report suggests two alternatives if the board wants to urge an increase—an across-the-board boost or a new system charging specified amounts per semester credit hour. Williams said he personally prefers the credit hour rate approach because "it equates the cost for students."

BY CHARGING $7 a credit hour, the state can collect $43.8 million in new revenue in 1967-69, the report says. A $7 credit hour charge would approximately double tuition for the average student, who takes 15 hours a semester.

A $7.50 per hour rate would produce an estimated $50 million. Doubling tuition across the board to $100 would produce $42.4 million over the next two years, the report said.

The report said the state now pays, through tax revenue, 82 per cent of the cost of public higher education. If requested college appropriations of $509.2 million are passed by the legislature, the state share will rise to 87 per cent, the report says.

Tuition and required fees at the 22 public senior colleges and universities range from $144 a year to $192, the report said, lower than those at 76.2 per cent of comparable schools in the nation.

Supreme Court refuses to hear alcoholic's case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court refused Monday to hear a case aimed at directing police and lower courts to treat alcoholism as a disease rather than a crime.

Justice Abe Fortas condemned the Candidates continue to seek votes

(AP)—Candidates for the U.S. Senate made promises to special groups of voters Monday.

U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said in El Paso that, if re-elected, he will introduce in the next session of Congress legislation to increase by $1,000 the outside income allowed war veterans receiving disability pensions.

"MOST OF THESE veterans are both willing and able to work in some capacity and to supplement their income to help offset inflation," Tower said. "But the current cases on their allowable outside income are no longer realistic."

Waggoner Carr, the Democratic nominee, was in Washington Monday arguing cases before the U.S. Supreme Court. His Austin campaign office released a statement saying Carr believed a Latin American would be named to the Federal Equal Employment Opportunities Commission.

THE STATEMENT SAID Carr told the American GI Forum state board in San Antonio Sunday that he had discussed the matter with President Lyndon B. Johnson and White House staffers.

"I think you're going to get one," Carr told the board about a Latin American appointee.

Chester V. Smith, executive secretary of the Texas State Council of Carpenters, said Monday he is urging all carpenters organizations and all 20,000 members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America in Texas to actively support Carr.

AT A LUNCHEON in El Paso, Tower said President Johnson had his "heartily endorsement of his quest for peace and I wish him a safe and fruitful journey" to the Far East. Tower said he urged all Americans "to back the President with their good will and their prayers in hope that this mission may bear the seeds of peace in South Viet Nam when the people of that country can live in freedom."

decision in a sharp dissent. He said criminal punishment of chronic drunks is crude and uncivilized.

REJECTED ALSO by the court was a case challenging the Electoral College system and an appeal that it broaden its right-to-counsel doctrine to cover minor offenses.

Justice William O. Douglas joined Fortas in the alcoholism dissent. Justices Potter Stewart and Hugo L. Black protested the decision not to take the right-to-counsel case. There was no dissent from the Electoral College ruling.

The majority gave no reason for refusing to hear Thomas F. Budd, an Oakland janitor arrested 34 times in 27 years on drunkenness charges and described in medical testimony as a chronic alcoholic.

BUDD'S APPEAL claimed that public drunkenness is an unavoidable symptom of the disease of chronic alcoholism. Further, he contended that criminal punishment violates the protection against "cruel and unusual punishments" provided by the Eighth Amendment to the Constitution.

Said Fortas: "It is time for this court to decide whether persons suffering from the illness of alcoholism and exhibiting its symptoms or effects may be punished criminally therefor.

"The record and the medical literature admonish us that punishment of alcoholics does society no good. It can be applauded only by the uninformed or the sadistic. It is neither a deterrent nor a cure for those afflicted.

"OUR MORALITY does not permit us to punish for illness. 'The use of the crude and formidable weapon of criminal punishment of the alcoholic is neither seemly nor sensible, neither purposeful nor civilized."

Joining Fortas, Douglas said simply that "being an alcoholic addict, like being a drug addict, is beyond the reach of the criminal law."

Earlier this year, two of the 11 federal circuit courts, those governing the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina, held chronic alcoholics could not be criminally punished for drunkenness alone.

10 queen finalists in run-off

Ten coeds were named finalists for 1966 Homecoming Queen as a result of Monday's balloting.

The finalists and the organizations they represent are: Chris Adrean-Major Minor Club, Carolyn Case-Arnold Air Society, Leslie Duckworth-Pi Beta Phi, Liz Gerbetz-Alpha Tau Omega and Mary Beth Hand-Murdough Hall.

Charlotte Henry-The Matador, Diane King-Kappa Kappa Psi, Sherrill Reagan-Bledsoe Hall, Judy Stewart-Sigma Chi and Marcia White-Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Students can vote Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on IBM cards for one of the 10 candidates. Polls are located in the Ad Building, the Tech Union, the Agriculture Building, the C&ME Building and the BA Building. Only the ballot boxes in the Union and the Ad Building will be open during the lunch hour.

The queen will be crowned at the coronation Friday following the pep rally.

Alpha Phi Omega, assisted by Chi Rho and WSO, are sponsors of the elections.

Directors to meet today on campus

Tech's Board of Directors will consider employment of bond counsel for Tech's building program at 1:30 p.m. today in the Tech Union.

The board had originally scheduled a meeting in Austin to sell building bonds, but decided to reschedule action because no other colleges or universities were selling bonds.

IN OTHER ACTION, the board is expected to:

Approve the preliminary small class report for the 1966 fall semester.

Renew the contract between Tech and Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

Hear reports from Tech President Grover E. Murray, Academic Program Committee, Campus and Building Committee and Finance Committee.

President Johnson lands in Hawaii on Asian trip

HONOLULU (AP)—President Johnson arrived Monday afternoon in the mid-Pacific American state from which he will launch a 25,000-mile, 17-day mission to the Far East, hoping for peace.

"We don't expect to pull any rabbits out of the hat at Manila," Johnson said in a brief arrival statement. He referred to his forthcoming conference at the Philippine capital with the heads of nations fighting the Communists in Viet Nam.

THE PRESIDENT AND Mrs. Johnson stepped from their gleaming blue and white jet at Honolulu International Airport to receive a cheering welcome from about 3,500 persons, and the traditional leis—flower garlands—from state dignitaries.

They paused at the airport for several minutes before leaving in a motorcade for Iolani Palace, from which kings and queens once ruled the Hawaiian Islands, and the University of Hawaii campus where the President delivered an address, setting the tone of his trip through the Pacific.

He pledged to help build new societies of freedom, peace and prosperity in Asia.

"AMERICA'S ROLE in this new emerging Asia," Johnson said "is that of a neighbor among equals—a partner in the great adventure of bringing peace, order and progress to a part of the world where more than half the human race lives."

Viet Cong sampan fleet destroyed in delta area

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Vietnamese military headquarters reported Monday that U.S. and government forces wiped out a flotilla of Viet Cong sampans and soldiers in the Mekong River delta, while U.S. air cavalrymen pursued the remnants of a Communist company that fled after a seven-hour battle on the central coast.

For the second straight day, the U.S. air offensive over North Viet Nam was severely hampered by bad weather. In a delayed report, the U.S. Command announced the loss of another plane over North Viet Nam, raising to 404 the number of American planes reported downed over the north.

ON THE POLITICAL front, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky denied his government was in a crisis as the result of dissension in his Cabinet. He looked ahead to the Manila summit conference next week during which, he said, his government will present a detailed plan for postwar reconstruction that could make Viet Nam a model country.

South Vietnamese militiamen, armored troops, U.S. gunship helicopters and river patrol boats swooped in Sunday on the Viet Cong flotilla moving

His statement was in an address prepared for delivery at the East-West Center in Honolulu on a overnight stop before leaving on the journey to New Zealand, Australia, Thailand, Malaysia, South Korea and the seven-nation summit in Manila.

LBJ may go to Viet Nam

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Daily News said Monday night it has been told that President Johnson will visit U.S. troops in South Viet Nam during his 17-day tour of the Far East.

"Preliminary planning of arrangements and security measures are quietly in progress," the morning paper said in a dispatch from Joseph Fried in Saigon. The News continued:

"RELIABLE SOURCES said the security men want the President to avoid Saigon, or spend as little time as possible here, because of the danger of Viet Cong terrorists striking at him.

"Ideally, Johnson would fly to U.S. bases at Da Nang or Cam Ranh Bay. They are isolated and better protected.

"Present plans call for him to arrive here after the Manila summit meeting of Viet Nam allies, while he is en route to Thailand. He is scheduled to leave the Philippines Oct. 27."

in a convoy of more than 150 sampans along the river-laced delta 48 miles southwest of Saigon.

After a 3½-hour fight, the South Vietnamese claimed 121 boats were sunk and 147 Viet Cong killed. The American helicopters accounted for 51 of the Communist dead. Seventeen Viet Cong also were captured along with 21 outboard motors and large quantities of arms and ammunition, the government said.

SOME OF THE other Viet Cong aboard the sunken sampans were presumed to have drowned. Others were believed to have escaped into the marshy swamplands.

The U.S. air cavalrymen battling Viet Cong units on the central coast reported the enemy broke contact Sunday night and fled leaving 31 of their dead on the battlefield. In scattered action Monday, the cavalrymen killed three more Viet Cong and captured 12.

In the air war over the north, U.S. pilots flew only 97 bombing missions Sunday, far below their daily average of about 150 and the record 175 missions flown last week.

While South Viet Nam is not on his itinerary, he may stop there briefly, possibly Oct. 27. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam said he would invite Johnson to go there after the Manila conference Oct. 24-25.

BEFORE LEAVING Washington on Monday morning, Johnson told top U.S. officials gathered to see him off: "I leave you to undertake a hopeful mission. I ask for your prayers. I shall do my best to advance the cause of peace and human progress."

In his airport arrival statement he said it is the Asian Communist chiefs who are the ones able to bring a quick end to the war. But they are not the ones going to Manila, he added.

JOHNSON HELD OPEN the door for a peaceful end to the hostilities at such time as the Reds change their present course.

Frosh class council picks Snyder prexy

Byron Snyder was elected president of the Freshman Council at a meeting of the Council Monday night in the Mesa Room of the Tech Union.

Other officers include George Robinson, vice president; Sharon Young, secretary; Sharon Jones, Association of Women Students representative; Joe Tarver, president pro tem; and Ellen Barton, treasurer.

The Council announced that freshman cheerleaders will be elected Monday. Petitions for candidates are available today and Wednesday in the student government office in the west wing of the Ad Building. They are due at 5 p.m. Wednesday in the Coronado Lounge of the Tech Union. Any freshman is eligible to check out a petition.

Approval of Court justices set by Senate

The Student Senate will meet at 7 p.m. today to approve appointments of six Supreme Court justices for the year.

STUDENT SENATE President Bill Beuck and Chief Justice Lonnie Dillard will submit a list of justices to be approved.

Justices will represent each school and must be approved by two-thirds of the Senate.

The meeting will be in the Biology Auditorium.

The Senate will hold its regular meeting next Tuesday at 7 p.m.

S. M. Kennedy to serve on a statewide committee

Dr. S. M. Kennedy, dean of Arts and Sciences, will serve as secretary on a state-wide committee to study academic freedom, academic responsibility and tenure in Texas Public Institutions.

Dr. Jack Williams, commissioner of Texas College and University System Coordinating Board, appointed Kennedy and eight others to conduct the study in preparation for the establishment of minimum standards in these areas.

Williams opened the first session Tuesday at Baylor and the committee was organized. Prof. W. J. Kilgore of Baylor was elected chairman and Kennedy was elected secretary.

The committee formed five subcommittees, Kennedy heading the subcommittee on tenure. He has worked with the American Association of University Professors in developing equitable processes for evaluating professors being considered for tenure.

"All the men on this committee have been active in organizations and associations concerned with academic freedom, responsibility and tenure," Kennedy said.

DR. DOYLE Z. WILLIAMS—Speaking to the Tech Accounting Society on "The Preparation and Grading of the Uniform CPA Exam," Dr. Williams is an assistant professor of accounting on the Tech faculty.

Exam dates announced for prospective teachers

National Teacher Examination for college seniors who are planning to teach will be administered in 1967 on Jan. 7, March 18, July 1, and Oct. 7.

The voluntary tests are prepared and conducted by the Educational Testing Service. These tests will be given at approximately 500 locations throughout the United States.

THE TESTS are not required for teacher certification in Texas, but many school systems require submission of the scores as a prerequisite for employment at particular teaching levels. School systems in Texas which require submission of the test scores are: Abilene, Austin, Bryan, Dallas, LaMarque, LaPorte, and Tyler.

Other school districts encourage applicants to take the tests, which are used to assess qualifications for teaching. Those planning to teach can contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their education advisors for advice.

PROSPECTIVE teachers may take the common examinations, which measure their professional preparation and general cultural background, and one of 13 teaching area examinations which measure mastery of the subject they expect to teach.

Information concerning the testing program and a registration form may be obtained from National Teacher Examinations, Box 911, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J., or from the Testing and Counseling Service in the Psychology Bldg. at a later date this semester. Registration closes approximately four weeks before the first test date.

In Our Opinion

No win, no support

There were a lot of reasons, or perhaps the word should be excuses, why the stands, both townspeople and students, emptied considerably before the conclusion of Saturday night's football game against Florida State.

Some gave the cold front as their reason. Others had to leave early to assure themselves of reaching fraternity rush parties on time. Some went so far as to say they left early to beat the traffic.

We can't buy any of these "reasons." But the majority said they left because they became disgusted with the Red Raiders, who were at one time behind 21-0. "You don't expect us to stay and root for a loser," was the attitude as many left before or during halftime.

We can't buy this either. Admittedly, the Raiders hardly played top-notch ball, especially the defense. Nor have they been able to jell as yet this year. Their season has not reached the goals and expectations set earlier in the year, especially those of the players themselves. No one realizes it more than they.

Their biggest asset—and most players will admit it—is enthusiastic support from the crowd. "You see stands empty and you want to give up," one dejected player said following the game.

For obvious reasons, the Raiders were never confronted with the same problem last year. Everyone cheered wildly until the final whistle. But there was a difference—the record last year at this time was 4-1 instead of 1-4.

Tech students have become spoiled. The attitude is no win, no support. Students do not realize what a demoralizing effect this has on team members, and that it is contributing to their losing.

The final outcome of a football game rests in the hands of coaches and players. But nevertheless, it's also kind of like being a politician—performance is heavily influenced by the attitude and interest of the people.

Coeds learn self-defense from karate champion

By J. P. STALLWORTH Staff Writer

I-HE-E-E-E-E-EEEE
The sounds of a distraught coed on her first blind date? No, just the everyday sounds around the Lubbock Karate Institute.

Karate, one of the world's fastest growing sports, was developed into the fine art it is today in Okinawa and Korea. The art of karate is a means of open hand self-defense using the maximum power of the body with a minimum of effort.

THE UNIQUENESS of karate stems from the ability of one to use more than 10 different parts of the body as defensive weapons, namely, fingers, fists, elbows, knees, feet, and head. In a matter of seconds, a person well trained in karate can deliver 10 separate blows over an opponent's body.

In competition, karate blows are not delivered to the body but are delivered within inches of a kill-blow area. It is not only the best form of weaponless self-defense but also keeps one in top physical condition.

KARATE IS NOT an all male sport. Ten of the students at the Lubbock Karate Institute are coeds working out each Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. James Geren, director of the institute, feels that some women make very good students. They have smoother and faster reflexes and are more determined to get each move down to a graceful, but deadly, flow of body movements.

Geren, a holder of a Black Belt degree, has taught karate in Lubbock for two years and has classes in Hobbs, and Albuquerque, N.M.

He received his formal instruction from Allen Steen at the Texas Karate Institute in Dallas. Mr. Steen was the 1963 World Champion runner-up and recently won the Long Beach International Karate Tournament.

A beginner is given a white belt. It takes an average student about four months to earn the second belt which is the Green Belt.

The Blue Belt and the Brown Belts each take about four months to earn. The holder of a Brown Belt has to compete approximately two and one half years of instruction before he is ready to try for the first of 10 degrees in the Black Belt.

The holder of the highest degree in Korean karate in the United States is J. Rhee of Washington, D.C. Rhee holds the eighth degree Black Belt.

GEREN FELT that the two most common myths about karate were that a person must register his hands as lethal weapons and that karate used a form of magic on the body. The only magic a student uses is timed body movements and one must register with the police only if he has a police record.

A clinic to teach basic karate and self-defense procedures will begin in November and last for five weeks. Classes for men and women will be taught once a week during the five-week period.

Persons interested can get information by calling the Young Men's Christian Association.

Marianne Munz to vie for Miss Rodeo Texas

Marianne Munz will vie for Miss Rodeo Texas under the sponsorship of the Tech Rodeo Association Wednesday and Thursday.

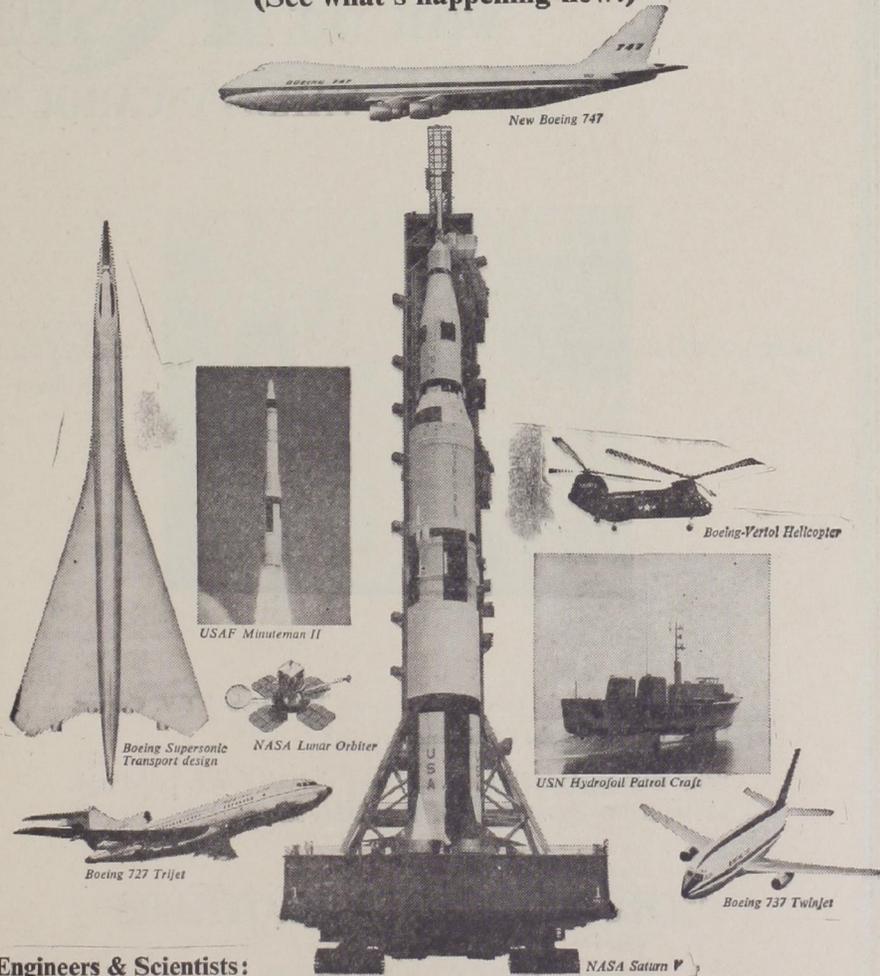

She will leave Wednesday morning for Dallas and compete that afternoon and Thursday. The contest and a luncheon will be held at the state fair grounds.

Judging will be based on personality, attire, and horsemanship with emphasis placed on the latter quality. If she receives the title of Miss Rodeo Texas, she will go on to compete in the Miss Rodeo America contest held this spring in Las Vegas, Nev.

A senior Home Economics major from Alvin, Miss Munz was the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association goat tying champion for the 1965-66 season and is a member of the Rodeo Association Board of Directors.

ONE, TWO, THREE kick, catch the ball then get clobbered is the dance step Tech end Larry Gilbert (82) is doing just before being hit by Florida State's Mike Blatt (40). Gilbert hauled in 12 passes for a Tech single game record but it wasn't enough to stop the Seminoles from scalping the Raiders 42-33.

Records fall in Raiders' loss

Records fell as fast and furious as did the Texas Tech Red Raiders Saturday night in their 42-33 loss to Florida State.

No less than five records either fell or were tied in the game and a couple of seasonal figures began to be pressed for their place in the record book. Junior end Larry Gilbert led the attack on the books by setting two Tech individual game records. His 12 catches broke the Tech record of 10 by Donny Anderson against Arkansas and Jerry Shipley against Baylor, both set in 1965.

Also, Gilbert's 159 yards receiving was a Tech record surpassing 143 by Anderson against Arkansas last year.

The aggregate total offense of 1019 (511 for Tech, 508 for Florida State) was a "modern" statistical record for Tech. The over all record came in Tech's 120-0 win over Wayland College in 1926. In that game, the Tech Matadors (as they were called then) amassed 1,271 yards themselves.

Scoring 33 points in a losing cause accounted for another Tech record. It broke the old mark set in the 30-27 loss to West Texas State in 1962.

Finally, the 43 passes thrown against the Seminoles tied the mark set against Arkansas last year.

The pass-catching Gilbert is also pressing two seasonal receiving marks. His pace of 34 catches for 497 yards is ahead of the current record set by Anderson last year of 60 receptions and 797 yards.

It is also interesting to point out that Tom Wilson, who wrote the Tech passing record book connected on 65 passes for 777 yards and five touchdowns his junior year. Junior John Scovell, through only five games this season, has 63 completions for 783 yards and five touchdowns.

Tech basketballers start practice

By GARY TILORY
Staff Writer

The Red Raider basketball team opened practice yesterday for what could be a long cold season.

This season the Raiders are picked to finish no better than sixth in the conference. But Head Basketball Coach Gene Gibson seems very optimistic about the rating.

"We'll be playing for first but if we are mathematically eliminated from that we'll be playing for second," said Gibson.

The Raiders were handed a nasty jolt last spring when starting center Bob Glover was declared scholastically ineligible. Then trouble was doubled these past few weeks when senior guard Bobby Measells dropped from the team for financial reasons.

"Last year we averaged 89 points a game. In losing Glover and Measells we have now lost 70 points of that average. We have also lost 60 per cent of our rebounding power," said Gibson.

Returning from last year's team are Trenton Bonner, 6-2, senior; Dave Olsen, 6-4, senior; Billy Tapp, 6-3, senior; Vernon Paul, 6-7, junior; and Jimmy Fullerton, 5-10, junior. Jim Nelson, 6-5, junior, transferred from Tyler Junior College.

Coming up from the freshman team are Larry Lewis, 5-10, and Benny Wiggins, 6-7. Sophomore Jimmy Haggard, 6-0, comes to the varsity after being red shirted last year.

"The mainstay for this year will be Tapp. He isn't known for his offensive abilities but he is considered one of the best defensive men in the conference," said Gibson.

"Billy is a story in himself," said Gibson. "He came to Tech from Lubbock Monterey without a scholarship. In fact, he played for two years without one. But through his hustle, desire and natural ability he has gained the respect of the players and has been elected captain this year."

The team, like Gibson, is very optimistic about the season.

"We are going to miss Glover and Measells but we can overcome this. We are going to have to work harder and we have some guys that will do just that," said Tapp.

"We won't have the scoring capabilities we had last year so we'll have to play harder on defense to make up for it," said Jimmy Fullerton.

"We won't have the physical abilities in shooting and rebounding that we had last year so everyone will have to work harder to take up the slack. We're going to have to fight for everything we get this year and as for the conference race we're not going to give anything to anybody," said Dave Olsen.

To make up for the Glover-Measells loss Gibson has ventured from his usual fast break style of play.

"At present we are going to slow things down from the pace we had last year. Basically it depends on the starting lineup as to whether we play a slow ball control game or a speedy high scoring one," said Gibson.

Defense may be the key for this year's team.

"For the first couple of weeks the team will work on nothing but defense. What we're stressing for is a good defense with very few mistakes," said Gibson.

The Raiders will work out in the Men's Gymnasium until Nov. 15 when they will move into the coliseum. Workouts begin at 5 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday and 3:30 p.m. the other week days.

The team will make its debut this Friday in the annual homecoming Varsity - Freshman exhibition game in the intramural gym.
