

Rockets Will Be Subject

One of the leading authorities on rocket research and space travel, Willy Ley, will speak to the Tech student body at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Union Ballroom.

Willy Ley is a German-born United States citizen, a pioneer in the rocket field since 1920. He was one of the founders of the German Rocket Society in 1927.

Ley came to the United States in 1935 and since then has been science editor of a New York newspaper, research engineer for the Washington Institute of Technology and consultant to the Department of Commerce's Office of Technical Service.

His ability to boil down science knowledge and present it accurately and concisely to young people made him advisor to Walt Disney for the space travel portion of the "Disneyland" program.

PARKING LOT CLOSES TODAY

The parking lot immediately west of the Journalism Building is closed as of this morning due to the beginning of construction on the new classroom building in that vicinity.

All people who have been accustomed to parking in this lot will now have to park in the new lot west of the Journalism lot. It can be entered by going north past the Journalism Building a short distance, and then turning left to the new road.

Show Ends Auditions

Last call for auditions for the Talent Show. The deadline is Tuesday according to Karen Frack, chairman of the Tech Union's Music and Exhibits Committee.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the Tech Union newsstand, the Music Building and the Tech Bookstore. Blanks should be turned in at the Union Program Office where audition times will be given.

ACTS ARE limited to ten minutes and can be any type. Props and equipment must be furnished by the performers.

BOB HOPE INTERVIEWED

He Sings, They Flee

Bob Hope, starring in his own show at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum, will view Lubbock for the first time.

When asked what possible value he could possibly find in a one night stand in Lubbock, Hope was quick with an answer. "I like to play them," he said. "I like to get around the people and talk with them. I learn a lot from them and I feel it's necessary for me to play dates like this, to keep my hand in."

ASKED IF the stage is still his first love he replied, "Yeah,

HARD WORKERS — Suzie Craig and Karen McKinney, both of Houston, typify the last-minute hurriers who are finishing their preparation and work on dorm decorations prior to Homecoming. A trophy will be awarded to the dorm judged as having the best decorations in the all-campus contest.

SWC Delegation Fires Tramp Circle

Representatives from each of the Southwest Conference schools will participate in the ceremony dedicating the Saddle Tramps' Southwest Conference Circle Friday night.

The dedication program, which includes the coronation of the Homecoming Queen and the homecoming bonfire and pep rally, is scheduled for 7 p.m., highlighting the opening activities of Tech's 29th Homecoming.

AS THE DEDICATION of the circle is made to the Southwest Conference, the representative from each school will light his school's particular section of the circle.

Tech will be represented in the dedication ceremony by the Homecoming Queen who will crown immediately preceding the ceremony.

THE REPRESENTATIVE from each school will be given an opportunity during the dedication to express his school's feeling concerning the circle.

Special homecoming events honoring the Southwest Conference representatives include a reception for the representatives, homecoming committee members, Tech Union officials and Student Council members in the Union Friday afternoon and a breakfast hosted by the Student Council Saturday morning at 8:30 a.m. in the Union.

The representatives will ride in a place of honor in the homecoming parade Saturday morning.

THE SADDLE TRAMPS' Southwest Conference Circle was built by the Saddle Tramps, Tech men's school spirit organization.

Work on the unique pep rally center was begun in the spring of 1957 following Tech's official acceptance into the Southwest Conference and was completed in the early fall of 1958.

Wayne Gibbens, Saddle Tramps past president, will dedicate the circle.

Queen's Coronation, Parade, Grid Game Set for Saturday

Homecoming activities will burst out on the Tech campus Friday with events scheduled all day, climaxed with the Queen's coronation at 7 p.m. at the Saddle Tramp Circle. A pep rally and dedication of the circle will be at this time.

FRIDAY activities will begin with the annual meeting of the Ex-Students executive board, at 10:30 in the union. A luncheon and the election of officers by the council will follow.

Registration of former students

Trio Plays Ball Music

The Norman Petty Trio and a new seating arrangement will lend an informal air to the festive 1958 Homecoming Ball set for 9 to 12 p.m. Saturday in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

Trio will present mainly modern music and pop tunes with a good dance beat. The trio consists of a piano, organ and drums. Petty's wife sings with the group.

BESIDES PLAYING in famous name places throughout the country, the sought-after trio has its own recording studio, NorVaJak, in New Mexico.

Stands will not be used for spectators this year. Chairs will be placed on the main floor in circles and semi-circles for between dance talking and listening. This arrangement will end stair climbing for a few minutes relaxation and will also give a congenial atmosphere to the annual occasion.

DRESS for the event will be semi-formal and admission is $1.50 per couple. Concessions will be open in the lobby during the dance.

Homecoming Ball for the exes is scheduled at the Lubbock Hotel beginning at 8 p.m. Exes are also invited to the student dance.

will begin at 2 p.m. and continue through the day and Saturday morning at the major hotels and at the union.

LUMINERS will brighten the memorial circle and east and south ovals Friday night. Candles will be lighted about 6:30, and will burn for about two hours.

Torch parades from each dorm to the pep rally will congregate at the circle at seven Friday night. The coronation will open the event, with Bob Dyer, Saddle Tramp president, as emcee. Donnell Echols, student body president, will crown the winning finalist.

In the dedication service, a representative from each Southwest Conference school will dedicate his symbol in the circle. A pep rally and bonfire will follow.

SATURDAY activities will open with the Homecoming parade through downtown Lubbock beginning at 10:30 a.m. Twenty-eight floats, marching bands, ROTC units and Tech dignitaries will be featured.

Trophies, on display at the union, will be presented to first place winners in fraternity, sorority, all-campus classifications, and the sweepstakes winner. Second place honors will also be awarded.

The University of Arkansas—Tech game begins at 2 p.m. in Jones Stadium. At half-time, the Homecoming Queen, and her four attendants will be presented. A card-section display will honor exes.

AFTER THE game, exes will be free to visit the campus and see dormitory displays. From five to eight o'clock various campus organizations have scheduled receptions for alumni.

A student dance will begin at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Coliseum. Tickets may be bought at the Tech Union at $1.50 per couple. Ticket sales end Friday.

AN INFORMAL dance for exes will be held in the Lubbock Hotel at 8 p.m. Tickets will be sold at the door at $1.00 per couple.

Floats and Dignitaries Lead Parade Saturday

With colorful floats, visiting dignitaries, marching ROTC units and bands, the 1958 homecoming parade will start at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Approximately 30 floats built by various campus and Greek organizations will be displayed.

FLOATS ARE based on the theme of "Pigskin Review."

Trophies will be given to the sweepstakes winner with first and second place honors given to the winners of the sorority, fraternity and campus organization divisions.

Both Army and AFROTC will march followed by color guards, Angel Flight drill team will also be in the parade.

DR. E. N. JONES, the Board of Directors and the Homecoming Queen and attendants will ride in the parade.

Cars decorated by freshman council will be used by the freshman class officers and cheerleaders.

REPRESENTATIVES from all the Southwest Conference schools who will participate in the Saddle Tramp Circle dedication ceremony will be escorted in the parade.

NEA FEATURES STUDENT PANEL

A panel of student teachers, both elementary and secondary, will speak on their experiences in student teaching at a meeting of the student, NEA Thursday night.

The meeting will be at 7 p.m. in Music Building 205. It will be a regular meeting with a planned program. Cary Southall, sponsor, urges all members to attend.

Opera Opens At Tech

The Tech music department's Opera Theater will present a program of scenes from the operas of W. A. Mozart tonight at 8 p.m. in the recital hall of the Music Building.

THE PROGRAM will feature songs from five operas by Mozart, sung in English and acted by the 15 student members of the group.

Scenes from the operas "Don Giovanni," "The Magic Flute," "The Marriage of Figaro," "Titus" and "Idomeneo" will be presented in the hour-long program.

THE TECH OPERA Theater was established as a full-time musical organization last year. It is under the direction of Charles Lawrie, who will provide piano accompaniment and commentary for the Mozart program.

Student singers will include Marilyn Campbell, Yvonne Skinner, Linda Hart, Patrick Withers, Marjorie Tall and Joan McMinn, Lubbock; Kay Adkins, El Paso; Harlan Reddell, Idalou; Mary Ann Parks, Melvin; Geneva Ellis, Crosby; Von Prahl, Kilgore; Karen Frack, Seguin; Douglas Pummill, Dallas; and John Clement, Odessa.

BSU Watch Slated Weekly

THE MORNING watch program, meeting each week-day at 7:30 to 7:50 a.m., will spotlight different areas where Southern Baptists have mission work.

Vespers, meeting Monday through Thursday from 6:30 to 6:50 p.m., will feature speakers who will tell of the mission work in different areas where they have worked or visited.

Monday night, Mary Ann Girod will speak on Mexico; Tuesday, Don Ledwig will speak of Finland and Russia.

AN INSPIRATIONAL speaker will launch the Lottie Moon offering for Foreign Missions Thursday night. Tech students will make their individual pledges at that time.

Last year, Tech Baptists students gave approximately $1440 for the Lottie Moon Offering.

Bits From Birdie

by merium jackson

Birdie's had a big job this week, with Homecoming and Thanksgiving both fast approaching.

He's been watching Homecoming proceedings carefully and tells me that things are coming along fine, except he has heard the complaint that "bookends" give way while working on a float."

HE ALSO tells me that Homecoming Day will be quite eventful. The parade will entertain eyes who might arrive by 10:30 a.m. Saturday, and at 2 p.m. the previous Tech students will attend the Tech-Arkansas game when the new Homecoming Queen will be crowned. Several organizations will honor their grads with receptions during the day and Saturday night the annual Homecoming Dance will be held in the Coliseum from 9 until 12, with the Norman Petty Trio furnishing the music.

Birdie says that "everybody's not working on Homecoming all the time," though he tells us that the Block and Bridle Club has stopped long enough to initiate 19 new members. The following were initiated: Elaine Asher, Perry Thompson, Forrest Savage, Robert Bills, Borden Reeder, James Edlin, Bobby Brown, Tom Koger, Dallas Powell, Hoyet Burman, Freddie Boone, Harvey Williams, Hud Rhea, Brooks Smith, Henry Elliott, Herschell Wilson, Robert Cox, Don Widemon and Jerry Craft.

THE ALPHA Phis also boast five new members as a result of recent initiation. Now wearing the Alpha Phi badge are Earlene Anderson, Julia Redding, Sally Swafford, Phyllis Walker, and Mary Ann West.

Zeta pledges were "caught in the act" recently, Birdie, not the actives, however, was the spy who watched as the 29 pledges captured Pledge trainer, Joyce Johnson and Ass't pledge trainer, Janet Wright and take their pledge cut.

TWITTER SAYS that the Angels are competing with Austinities by mail. What's happening? Birdie says its a correspondence match between the Angel Flight rifle team and the Triggerettes of Texas University.

It will be conducted by sending the five highest scores of Tech's team to the Triggerettes by mail between Nov. 17-21.

Phi Deltas will celebrate Homecoming with a dinner in the Caprock Hotel Ballroom at 7 p.m. Saturday for members, pledges, and aluminae.

ATOS ALSO have a dinner planned for Saturday evening at 6:30 at the Chicken Shack. It will be followed by a dance.

MRS. EAVES along with other college faculty members improved the value of electronic "brains" in a computer department making laboratory at Tulane University in New Orleans.

Eighteen business and economic faculty members from institutions in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi were divided into three teams.

EACH TEAM was isolated in a laboratory room for eight weeks without outside contact. The given initial conditions of the game for which they were to make decisions and prepare a budget for three years.

Mrs. Eaves' team won on others since their company fits after taxes along with the year period amounted to more than six million dollars. Their company finished with 49 per cent. sales. The closest competitor earned a net profit of about a million dollars.

TO DETERMINE the sales profits, each team was provided with data on specific business divisions and the position of the company at a given time. All companies were selling the product.

Each team assumed it had called in to take over the management of a company with possibilities but not-too-good financial position. Mrs. Eaves' team was the winner.

Computer 'Brains' May Run Things

Electronic computers, ran by competent executives could conceivably control a market and bankrupt competitors with a short period of time, says Mrs. Luta P. Eaves, assistant professor of accounting at Texas Tech.

MRS. EAVES along with five other college faculty members, proved the value of electronic "brains" in a computer decision making laboratory at Tulane University in New Orleans.

Eighteen business and economics faculty members from institutions in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi were divided into three teams.

EACH TEAM was isolated in a laboratory room for eight hours without outside contact. They were given initial conditions of a company for which they were to make decisions and prepare a budget for three years.

Mrs. Eaves' team won over the others since their company's profits after taxes over the three year period amounted to more than six million dollars. Their company finished with 49 per cent of the sales. The closest competing team earned a net profit of about two million dollars.

TO DETERMINE the sales and profits, each team was provided with data on specific business conditions and the position of each company at a given time. All three companies were selling the same product.

Each team assumed it had been called in to take over the management of a company with fine possibilities but not-too-good financial position, Mrs. Eaves said. EACH TEAM'S goal was to put their company in a good financial position, increase assets, make a good return on the initial investment and operate under long-range plans.

Problems confronting the teams were price setting and amount of advertising in the field of marketing, cash budgeting and fund raising in financing and accounting, and plant expansion, product selection, equipment replacement in management.

PRODUCTION problems were on scheduling, materials, procurement and transportation. Problems of increases in pay were faced in the fields of labor and personnel.

Executive decisions made referred to general business procedure rather than technical knowledge of producing and selling a product.

THE TEAMS were supplied with a mathematical model of specific business conditions at a given time. The three companies competed within those conditions for a share of the market.

Using the theoretical conditions and an electronic data-processing machine each team made its decisions. Those decisions were entered into another electronic computer which integrated the actions with the theoretical business conditions and furnished resulting data.

Toastmaster Club Awards Trophies

Tech Student Union today gave the Toastmasters Club two traveling trophies that are to be awarded each week at the regular noon meetings, announced Richard Rojas, president.

The trophies are for Best Critic and Best Speaker. This week's winners were Tommy Reager, Best Critic and Elizabeth Guthrie Best Speaker. Miss Guthrie will act as toastmistress for next week's meeting.

Company E Wins Contest

Company E won the weekly Army ROTC marching contest as companies marched from the Drill Field to the Armory last week.

THE SIX companies are judged on military bearing, army swing, position of weapons, dress, cover, command voice, commander and staff, precision, sizing, and guidon.

John A. Hadaway is commander of Company E and Miss Marilyn Campbell is sweetheart.

Alpha Phi Omega Celebrates Birthday

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity and coordinating group for homecoming activities, will celebrate its 20th anniversary with a banquet Saturday night.

DELBERT Downing, president of Midland Chamber of Commerce, will be the speaker, and James G. Allen, dean of student life, is toastmaster.

Charter members will be honored at the banquet by the 55 members of Alpha Phi Omega. Alumni are also invited to the banquet. The club was chartered April 30, 1939.

TWENTY-FIVE pledges will be initiated into Alpha Phi Omega just before the banquet. Jess McElvain is president of the group, and L. N. Jones, dean of men, is faculty sponsor.

Second Concert Set

Following the overwhelming success of the opening concert of the 1958-59 season, the 86-member Lubbock Symphony Orchestra is set for the second concert of the year which will be held at 8:15 p.m. Monday in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

STARS OF the Nov. 24 concert will be the celebrated young pianist-duo, Ferrante and Teicher, who have won wide acclaim for their interpretation of classical and light classical works for their novel and arresting arrangements on the piano which they achieve by peculiar and captivating stops, piques and buffers on the strings.

The concert will open with one of Richard Wagner's most famous "Prelude to 'Die Meistersinger'" and the second number on the and beloved compositions, the program will be from the pen of the late Serge Rachmanioff, the "Allegro Molto," the second movement from his Symphony No. 2 in E Minor.

THE MELODIOUS "Italian Symphony," the Symphony No. 4 in A major, by Mendelssohn will be represented with the second and fourth movement played by the full orchestra.

Dance in Coliseum Will Be Tops

HOMECOMING each year is usually the greatest affair of all, and this year the climax to the gathering of Exes will be a Homecoming dance for all Tech students and Exes who wish to attend.

Music for dancing will be by the Norman Petty Trio, a group which specializes in dance music, and not in the jazzed up type to which dancing is impossible.

The dance was originally planned for the Coliseum, changed to the Tech Union Ballroom, and changed again, back to the Coliseum, when consideration was given to how many students would want to attend such an occasion.

In the past, the arrangement for seating in the Coliseum has been rather unsatisfactory since there were no chairs placed where small groups or parties could sit and talk while they were not dancing.

However, this year steps have been made to correct this inconvenience. Since the rules of the Coliseum prevent any tables from being placed on the floor, the next best thing is being done.

Chairs will be arranged in a somewhat circular fashion around the edge of the floor in groups of four to twelve where people can hang their coats on the backs of chairs and sit and talk things over while facing someone else, rather than having to lean out and shout down the line.

In the past many of these organizations have preferred to have their Homecoming dances in their lodge or party houses. They should all make an effort to go to the Homecoming dance since it happens only once a year, and lodge parties occur quite frequently.

Everyone should make it a point to attend this dance because it will be another stride forward for Tech tradition wise. Look toward the future, and buy tickets in the Tech Union or from people working with the Union.

Techsans Talk Back

TOUCHING

Spastic,
During my six semesters at Tech, I have read many editions of the TOYLETDOR and nothing irritated me more than reading your article in the Nov. 15 issue.

I have griped the same as everybody else about parking conditions, increased tuition, dorm food, etc.; however, I will not stand idly by while someone makes degrading remarks about Doak Hall, the best dormitory on this campus.

I am sure that the boys who have lived in Doak in the past have the same emotional ties with Doak Hall that I do and echo my words when I say, "If der fraleins don't like it, give it back to the boys!"

VICTORY BELLS

Editor,
In reference to last weeks letters to the TOREADOR about the victory bells not ringing, I submit this letter.
The reason that the victory bells did not ring is that the keys to the Administration Building and Tower were lost.

As I understand it, this is not the first time this has happened, and I doubt that it will be the last. It was not the fault of the slimes.

SEE A PSYCHIATRIST

Editor,
I have been engaging my time recently in some serious thinking and would like for you to print the following ideas as an expression of student observations.

Self Analysis — I hold the following to be true in my way of thinking beyond the shadow of a doubt; I find questions about all other ideas which have come my way.

1. I am a living human being.
2. I live within a context of other human beings, other living things, many ideas, and a universe . . . all in themselves limited to time and space. Thus I am limited even within my context.

3. Some force much greater than I or any other part of this context must have caused this to exist. Thus I recognize a creator, not as limited as I.

4. There must be some relationship between me and this creator . . . though I do not begin to understand it.

5. I have a seeking mind which through my facilities observes, compares, judges, chooses, and records. My mind is different from others; thus I am an individual human being.

Questions:
1. Why does this exist?
2. What is my relationship to this "why," or am I even responsible?

BULLETIN — For all males at Tech who wouldn't consider making dates three weeks in advance, and still don't have one — there are dozens of girls in Knapp Hall who haven't been able to hook a date for Homecoming. We don't know how to tell you to go about meeting them, but they are over there.

Sitting in the "Blue Note" in Chicago listening to the wonderful vocal offerings of Sarah Vaughn and the musical beats of Peter Appleyard and his troupe — that's what we were doing a little less than a week ago.

Boy, that was living. The place had exactly right atmosphere, the right music, and was located in a city which has everything to offer in the way of a good time.

The first night there we didn't know our way around too well, so one of the party went to see "South Pacific" and I ended up in a lowly burlesque. It wasn't too bad, in fact, it was rather interesting. I won't go into details.

There were many other things to do in the hotel (Conrad Hilton) other than attend the various sessions, although they were our major purpose for being there.

There were 1013 students from colleges across the nation, and needless to say there were a few parties ensuing when nighttime came. What really made the parties a success were the girls (no shades of Tech girls darkening the place) who were very friendly, and could be talked to without getting the idea that they weren't the only females in existence.

On the opening night of the convention there was a dance in the hotel for the press representatives, and it was a good-um. It served to allow everyone to arrange dates for the delightful weekend.

"FETCH ANOTHER GUINEA PIG, AGATHA — YOUR FATHER JUST RECEIVED ANOTHER ANONYMOUS CHRISTMAS CAKE!"

"A Little Bit"

Tuesday night one of our service fraternities "took the cake" for high-handed action, at least as far as the TOREADOR is concerned.

THIS particular organization which is coordinating homecoming activities, somehow got its hands on a copy of the third section of the Homecoming issue, which ordinary students won't see until the weekend.

On the basis of this the fraternity wrote a letter to the TOREADOR editor, which, in part, said:

"THERE ARE two very, very, serious mistakes made in the homecoming issue of the TOREADOR.

"One mistake is made on the 5th page of Section III in the article entitled 'Tramp Circle Dedicated at Friday Pep Rally.' The mistake is this: Alpha Phi Omega contributed from $1000 to $1600 to the Saddle Tramps for the Saddle Tramp Circle and not a damn thing was mentioned about us giving them 40 per cent of the $4100 spent on the Saddle Tramp Circle.

"THE SECOND mistake was made on the front page of Section III in the article entitled 'Alpha Phi Omega Plans Banquet.' We are not a 'club'."

Also Tuesday night some members of this fraternity came to the Journalism Building and tried to find out where we had our third section of the homecoming issue, in order to show it to the rest of their co-members to inflame them.

IF THEY HAD taken the trouble to enter the pressroom, which is located behind the second door on the right upon entering the Journalism Building, they would have seen that the second section of the homecoming issue was being printed.

In this section, the number one story on page 1 is about the fraternity, and they are called a fraternity.

WE GAVE THEM this play because we thought they deserved it because of their work with homecoming and other worthy activities. The exact amount of their donation for the circle was also mentioned.

I would like to submit two very, very, serious mistakes that this fraternity has made. The first was going off half-cooked without finding out the facts of the issue.

The second was tampering with the workings of the TOREADOR. We are a newspaper, and as such, we deserve to be free from outside pressures.

ALSO, THIS fraternity doesn't have any special privileges, such as reading the TOREADOR before it is distributed over the campus, that other students don't have.

did not get a "C", but an "F." A fair grading system demands that some adjustment be made. The test could be thrown out entirely, the grades adjusted to give the average student a "C" or a new test administered which would be more representative of the material covered.

At present in many departments at Tech when a situation of this kind develops, nothing is done and the average student takes his test home feeling a little more discouraged about ever obtaining the highly coveted degree, and tries to explain to his family or close friends, and then wonders how he can explain it to his future employers.

I protest this situation. I maintain that in America today it is not only the right of the average American to obtain a college degree of his own choosing, but it is absolutely essential that he does. This will be more true in the near future.

There are many more reasons for throwing out these present grading practices, perhaps too many to mention here. I would welcome the opportunity to talk over this situation with anyone.

ARKANSAS

Student Body,

Saw a pretty sickening sight yesterday. Saw the University of Arkansas tromp all over one of Texas' prize football teams, SMU, as if they were a bunch of high school freshmen.

So, now the Big Red team from Arkansas is going to go out to meet the Little Red Team from Texas. Have one of the Arkansas Co-captains in one of my classes. He says that Arkansas isn't worried about Texas Tech. Says that they will be a push over.

I remember last year when TCU thought the same thing about the Red team of Texas Tech. They called you BIG RED then. Guess times changes things, huh? I remember back in 1955 when all Texas Tech students fell out for a pep rally...

Students up here got a big laugh out of the Freshmen game with you. Been giving me a hard time ever since. Keep asking me where Lubbock is. They want to know how you managed to get into the SWC where the big boys play... Want to know why you keep harping, "Wait til 1960."

You'll be playing here for the basketball game in January. I'll get to see that game before I graduate. I'm hoping that you don't come up here expecting to loose, as you are planning on doing in football against Arkansas.

One other thing: The band here only plays one song, "Dixie." The SMU band didn't play "The Eyes of Texas" once the whole game. See if you can't get Prof. Wiley wound up enough to show them what a real band looks like.

ROTC Wives Slate Dinner

The Army ROTC Wives have set Thursday as the date for their annual Thanksgiving Supper, to be held in the Ready Room of the South Western Public Service Building, at their last meeting.

The wives also set Dec. 9 as the date of their next meeting.

Thirteen members were present at the meeting which was held in their sponsor's home, Mrs. Bruce Archer of 3791 26th at their last meeting.

Fourteen Companies Schedule Interviews

Fourteen companies will be on the Texas Tech campus making interviews from Monday to Dec. 5.

The Upjohn Company, pharmaceutical and agricultural supplies, will have a representative here Dec. 3 to interview chemistry, biology, business administration and agricultural majors.

CONTINENTAL Oil Company's representative will be here Monday to interview senior retail and marketing majors.

Pet Milk Company will interview senior marketing, retail and economics majors.

BUSINESS administration majors may be interviewed by the Southwestern Investment Company on Tuesday. The company handles auto and life insurance and makes loans.

Reynolds Metals Company is seeking chemical, electrical, industrial and mechanical engineers Dec. 3.

PHILLIPS Petroleum Company has positions open in all departments. Their representative will interview chemical, electrical, mechanical and petroleum engineers Dec. 2 and 3.

Lufkin Foundry and Machine Company will interview mechanical and petroleum engineers Dec. 2.

TINKER Air Force Base representative will interview electrical, industrial and mechanical engineers Dec. 1.

Magnolia Petroleum Company will interview electrical, mechanical and petroleum engineers for positions in their geophysical, pipe line engineering, sales engineering and petroleum engineering departments Dec. 4 and 5.

THE CHICAGO Bridge and Iron Company offers practical training in field construction, design and fabrication to civil engineering, mechanical engineering and architecture majors. They also offer summer employment on construction jobs for sophomores and juniors interested in this type of work. A representative will interview Dec. 4.

Cutler-Hammer, Inc. will interview electrical and chemical engineering majors Monday.

U. S. NAVAL Laboratories, Calif., will interview electrical, mechanical, industrial engineers and physics majors.

Chemical engineering, chemistry, electrical engineering, geology, industrial engineering, mechanical engineering, petroleum engineering and physics majors may be interviewed by Western Company representative Dec. 4 and 5.

PROCTOR AND Gamble Company representative will interview chemical, civil, electrical, mechanical and industrial engineers and chemistry majors Monday.

Additional information is on file in the Placement Service.

Interview appointments should be made now in the Placement Service Office.

January Draft Call Lowered By 2,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Wed. cut the size of its next draft call. At the same time it ordered the armed services* to begin a reduction of over 70,000 from present manpower strength.

The draft quota asked for January is 9,000 men. This is 2,000 below calls for the last several months and the lowest since December 1957 when 7,000 men were drafted. All draftees will be for the Army.

Simultaneously, the Pentagon announced that Secretary of Defense McElroy has ordered the Army, Marine Corps, Navy and Air Force "to begin action" to trim the total armed services manpower from a present 2,596,282 to 2,252,000 by next June.

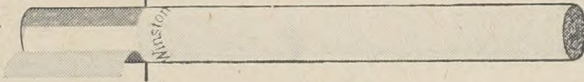

McElroy's orders to the service secretaries said that "if it is feasible" to make the cut before next June, that may be done. The services are to report to him by Dec. 1 on what reduction steps have been taken.

Pentagon spokesmen said the cut in the January draft quota did not mean the department was working toward abandonment of selective service.

The draft law will expire June 30 unless it is re-enacted. The Pentagon said the quota cut was possible because Army enlistments and grade enlistment rates have increased. It said the cutback in over-all strength also will influence the Army manpower draft requirements.

LA VENTANA

La Ventana Beauties Get Free Ski Vacation

Ten Tech coeds, selected as this year's La Ventana beauties, will be guests of the publication at Hondo Lodge in Taos, New Mexico.

Free transportation will be furnished to the resort, which is located in the famous Taos Ski Valley. Full page pictures will be taken of each girl for this year's La Ventana.

ENTERTAINMENT at Hondo Lodge includes skiing, dances, horseback riding and evening entertainment furnished by the lodge.

Hondo Lodge is one of the fastest growing ski resorts in the U. S. and will host the French Olympic squad on their investigative trip this year, Mr. Earnest Blakes, manager, announced.

LA VENTANA Editor Billy Ellis explained that there is no limit on entries, but there is a $1 entry fee. Entry deadline is Dec. 1, and blanks may be picked up at room 101 in the Journalism Building anytime before that date.

ELLIS SAID that interest is picking up and judging from the amount of entry blanks asked for,

"There will be quite a few more contestants than last year."

Since the contest is based on a Miss America theme, girls entered by organizations may wear a sash with the sponsors name on it. Organizations may publicize their candidates in cooperation with the Tech Men's Press Club. Entries do not have to be sponsored by a club. Any girl may enter herself.

The contest will be at the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium on Dec. 5. Admission prices are 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students.

With "ole man" football about to bow out for the season, the thud of basketballs will soon be resounding around Raiderland. I decided to talk to the man in charge of roundball action at Tech—Coach Polk Robison.

"We feel that we will have greater depth this season," Robison began. "We plan to have an average participation of about 12 players a game, as we were able to do in 1956-57. Last year only six of our boys played as much as half the possible time, he continued.

"Last year we had the big job of proving ourselves to our SWC foes. We had to go all out, all of the time; and it put a big load on our starting five. Now, we hope to be able to have some depth on our squad to allow the starters a rest period now and then," Robison added. He also said the Raider's third place finish last year made a lot of the SWC members sit up and take notice.

All of last year's starting team are back this season—Gerald Myers, Podd Hill, Charlie Lynch, Chuck Key and Wade Wolfe, but they haven't definitely made the starting five so far this year.

Robison feels the Southwest Conference will be a wild scramble this time. He noted that all of the teams could be stronger this season. Last year the squads were mostly made up of sophomores and juniors, but this season all teams will be well loaded with junior and senior performers. He pointed to TCU as a real power laden outfit, with all other teams close behind in man-power.

"One thing's for sure," Robison said, "the other teams will know they have been in a real scrap after they meet our boys. The team will be in there battling all the way—just like last season."

Tech's main power will probably be from the field goal standpoint. The Raiders were ranked ninth nationally last year in that department.

The Raiders could have used a big man last season. Pat Noakes, towering 6-9, was doing a good job, but was knocked out of action with a broken ankle. Noakes is back this season and along with him, Robison has 6-9 Harold Hudgens, a sophomore. However, it is much too early to tell if this will aid the Tech cause.

Robison, who has served Tech for 22 years—four as a student and basketball player, 18 years as a coach, 15 of them as head basketball coach and three as assistant athletic director, wouldn't go out too far on the limb about the Raider's chances this year—however, I got the impression that the Tech cagers will give somebody a run for their money.

Arkansas has been labeled the Whiz-Bang kids by Tech assistant Beattie Feathers. He says if they aren't whizzing by you—they're banging you one. He has seen the Razorbacks in action and far-beat it for me to disagree. The way they have come along this season is amazing. I don't know what they are feeding those boys up there in those hills—let's find out!

I know one thing for sure—they made a mess of my SMU SWC-title prediction. I hope the Raiders fare a little better than the Meek men did. We slapped TCU around pretty bad when they were rolling along in 1956—the Raiders might just apply the same treatment to the Hogs. I'm sure all students and homecoming exes would voice their approval to that.

★-RWC-★

If you get a chance, drop out to Jones Stadium and see Tom S. and Monterey do battle Friday at 3 p.m. You will see a couple of the State's better footballers in action. Of course, I mean Arlan Flake of the Plainsmen and Coolidge Hunt of the West-erners. Flake can pass and run. Hunt moves like a Sherman tank. Even without this added attraction, it would still be quite a battle. It always is.

★-RWC-★

Dixie White, an Arkansas assistant coach, has a special reason for accompanying the Razorbacks to Lubbock for Texas Tech's home-coming game Saturday.

White, who grew up in Lubbock, played on Tech's 1938 squad that went to the Cotton Bowl and captained the 1939 team as a guard.

Tennis Star Blames LTAA For Action

MELBOURNE (AP)—Australian tennis star Mervyn Rose said Wednesday the Lawn Tennis Assn. of Australia had almost forced him to become a professional.

ROSE MADE the statement after getting a letter from LTAA Secretary J. A. C. Andrews advising him that his suspension would not be lifted until Jan. 31, 1959.

On that date he would be permitted to play amateur tennis if he complied with a series of stipulations laid out by the LTAA.

Rose refused to reveal the conditions and said he would see a legal adviser about them. "AS USUAL, I have been made a scapegoat. If I am dealt with this way the LTAA would be justified in starting a general purge to inquire into the expenses of 30 other official and unofficial tennis tourists. It might be a good idea if the expenses allowed for amateur tennis managers also were investigated." Rose said he had not officially heard about an offer by American tennis promoter Jack Kramer. "IN VIEW of the LTAA's action I'd be silly if I did not make further inquiries," he said.

Duncan Closing Gap In Offense Category

If Doug Duncan gains against Arkansas this week like he has run against Texas Tech's last two opponents, the fullback from Wellington may once more lead the Red Raiders in rushing offense.

DUNCAN, SLOWED in early season games by a pulled leg muscle, amassed 63 yards against Arizona and added 67 more against Tulsa last week to send his yardage total to 174 for the season, just 35 behind pace-setting halfback Ronnie Rice of Letors. Through Tech's first six games Duncan had gained only 44 yards.

Two years ago, the 185-pound Duncan led the Raiders in rushing as a sophomore. He had to sit out last season because of a grade point deficiency but did such a good job of making up his work that his grades rank now with the better ones attained by the squad.

HALFBACK Floyd Dellinger of LaVega, seven yards behind Rice in rushing, paces the Raiders in total offense. Counting 57 aerials, Dellinger has gained a total of 269 compared with 265 for Rice.

Dellinger retained his pass receiving leadership, with nine, although end Jerry Selfridge of Borger, with four catches against Tulsa, has pulled to within two of Dellinger. One of Selfridge's receptions was a 14-yard scoring throw from Dellinger.

QUARTERBACK Ken Talkington of Tyler, thanks largely to a 71-yard punt against Tulsa, now leads Tech's punters with a 39.5 average.

Although the up-surgng Razorbacks are favored to spoil Tech's homecoming Saturday, Arkansas is one of the few opponents over whom the Raiders hold any sort of statistical edge — even if it is in just two departments.

COACH DEWITT Weaver's Raiders are averaging 63.8 yards a game passing as compared with the 59.2 of the Razorbacks, whose superior ground speed has gained them three straight victories. Also, in defense against rushing, the Raiders have permitted opponents only 137.8 yards a game as compared with Arkansas' defense mark of 189.3.

But in rushing offense, the Razorbacks hold an edge of 189.3 to 140.1 and in aerial offense, Arkansas is the stingier, permitting 111.3 yards to Tech's 317.8 allowed foes.

Improving Razorbacks Will Be Rugged Foe

JIM HENDERSON AND E. J. HOLUB
Hooping For A Homecoming Victory

A homecoming victory will be the stakes Saturday when Texas Tech's Red Raiders clash with the Arkansas Razorbacks in Tech's 29th annual homecoming game.

IN THEIR ONLY previous meeting with the Razorbacks, the Raiders went down by a 47-26 score. This season the Hogs are featuring an attack which, according to Tech assistant Beattie Feathers, lists speed as the main strength.

Feathers, who has scouted the Hogs in two of their games this year, added that speed is not the only weapon in the Arkansas offense. He said that the Arkansans employ a tough defense along with a well balanced offense.

THE TECH TEAM may face the Hogs Saturday without the services of their regular quarterback, Jerry Bell, who was injured in the Tulsa game and has not yet resumed practice with the squad. Should Bell be forced to miss the game, Ken Talkington and John Riddle will share the Raider signal calling.

Otherwise the Tech line-up will be approximately the same as was used against Tulsa. However, Coach Joe Kerbel commented that there is a possibility that Gene Bentley and Jim Henderson would replace Dale Robinson and Roger Nesbitt in the starting eleven, but neither change has been definitely made.
