

Tech experts still studying food market

Dr. Willard F. Williams, agriculture economics department head, and Dr. Mark Fowler, professor, are in Austin doing further work on the food price report for Gov. Connally.

Dr. Williams and Dr. Fowler are on a committee appointed by Gov. Connally along with persons from Texas A&M and Texas University to submit a report on food marketing prices and margins in Texas.

Their work has consisted of intergrading the work of the three schools into one manuscript for the governor.

Tyrian Rifles, CorpsDettes to compete at meet

The Army ROTC Tyrian Rifles will compete in a drill meet and the CorpsDettes will perform during halftime of a Junior College Bowl game Dec. 9-10 in Roswell, N.M.

The New Mexico Military Institute is having the invitational drill meet Dec. 9 and those groups who place in the competition will perform during halftime of the football game Dec. 10.

The CorpsDettes were invited to perform during the "Grid Classic" between Taft Junior College of Taft, Calif., and Cisco Junior College of Cisco, Tex.

Both groups will be sponsored by Capt. Bobby J. Carter and Staff Sgt. William K. Bellknap.

Briton impressed by Red Raiders' spirit at 1st game

Peter Finlay, an Englishman who is stopping over in Lubbock on his hitchhiking tour around the world, saw his first basketball game Thursday when Tech beat Colorado.

He was quite impressed. "We have basketball at home but it is not on such a large scale. Mainly it is when the Globetrotters come.

"The spirit was great. Everyone was really with it," he commented.

One of the things that caught his eye was the cheerleaders since England doesn't have any. He also enjoyed the band.

Finlay left his home in England two years and four months ago to see how far he could get on his thumb and wits. He has traveled to 29 countries and will continue on his sojourn today with his next destination set as California.

Before he returns home next April he wants to go through California to Mexico, Bermuda by way of Miami and home to England by way of Africa.

Meridith's attacker jailed

HERNANDO, Miss. (AP)—Aubrey James Norvell, who pleaded guilty to the the shotgun wounding of civil rights leader James H. Meredith, surrendered Friday and began serving his sentence in the state prison at Parchman.

Norvell was sentenced to five years, three of which were suspended, after entering a surprise guilty plea Nov. 21 on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill. He was given until Friday to begin his prison term.

Another charge—pointing, aiming and discharging a firearm at a State Highway Patrol investigator—was continued to the February term of Circuit Court.

The attorney for the 41-year-old Memphis, Tenn., man said Norvell was in good spirits as he began the 90-mile trip from here to Parchman.

Meredith was shot from ambush June 6 shortly after he set out on a "freedom march" to the Capitol at Jackson, some 200 miles away. His wounds were not serious and he rejoined the march before it reached Jackson two weeks later.

Italian aid campaign begun

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas department store executive Stanley Marcus said Friday he has been asked by the American ambassador to Italy to head a committee to raise funds in Dallas for Italian flood victims.

"The human suffering is great. The physical damage is great," Marcus said. "I'm going to attempt to raise some funds for both of those purposes."

Marcus said he will appoint a Dallas committee "to both receive and solicit funds, which will then be held until tax deductibility is established."

"They will then be forwarded to this committee which Ambassador Frederick Reinhardt is chairman of," he said.

Marcus said he will accept contributions until the committee is set up.

He said givers can earmark their contributions for specific purposes, such as art restoration or rebuilding of damaged stores, and the committee in Rome will see they are so used.

UThant unanimously elected second time

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant was recommended unanimously Friday by the Security Council for a new term. He accepted with full recognition of his authority to act on problems of world unrest and basic issues confronting the United Nations.

The vote at a closed meeting of the 15-nation council was in advance of a late afternoon session of the 121-nation General Assembly, which was certain to formally appoint him to a new term expiring Dec. 31, 1971.

The 57-year-old Burmese diplomat bowed to pressure from all the major powers and virtually the entire U.N. membership in accepting another term. He made known 11 months ago that he was considering stepping down after his first term expired Nov. 3.

ON SEPT. 1 he announced he had decided against offering himself for a new term, and cited as his reasons inability to bring about peace talks in Viet Nam, the poor financial situation of the organization, and its inability to agree on future peacekeeping methods.

A communique issued by the council shed light on some of the reasons for Thant's change of mind in deciding to stay on the job paying $65,000 a year, counting all allowances.

Thant noted "with particular appreciation that, for its part, the Security Council respects his position and his action in bringing to the notice of the organization basic issues confronting it, and disturbing developments in many parts of the world."

HE EXPRESSED HOPE that "the close attention being given to these issues and developments will serve to strengthen the organization by the cooperative effort of the entire membership, and promote the cause of world peace and progress. It is in this hope that the secretary-general accedes to the appeal addressed to him by the Security Council."

In the opinion of many U.N. diplomats this strengthened the arm of Thant in seeking a solution to the present crisis in Viet Nam and the growing threat to peace in the Middle East.

Actually, under the U.N. Charter, Thant has the authority to call the attention of the council to threats to world peace. But the communique made plain that it accepted Thant's concept that he could not serve in the post as a kind of glorified clerk.

THE OUTCOME was particularly gratifying to U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, who played a leading role

Underground blast set in Mississippi

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission will explode a nuclear device in a Mississippi salt dome cavity early Saturday to find out if such underground blasts could go undetected.

The device, equivalent of 350 tons of TNT, will be detonated in a cavity carved out of the Tatum salt dome 2,700 feet below the earth's surface by a previous nuclear blast in 1964.

The AEC said 113 persons living in the rural Lamar County region southwest of here would move out of the area Friday night. Evacuation was on a voluntary basis with those leaving to be compensated at $1.50 per hour.

No radioactive material was expected to reach the surface.

The test blast—known as Project Sterling—had been scheduled for next Monday but the date was advanced because technicians at the site got everything in readiness quicker than anticipated, an AEC spokesman said.

Bearden named 'Most Handsome'

Taber Bearden was named Tech's "Most Handsome Man" Friday night during Club Scarlet, Theta Sigma Phi's annual mock nightclub.

Bearden was sponsored by Gamma Phi Beta Sorority which also won the skit contest.

Arlington State President's talk slated Monday

Dr. Jack Wolf, president of Arlington State University, will speak to Tech's four engineering honor societies at their fall semester banquet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Holiday Inn Parkway.

For Tau Beta Pi, all-engineering honorary, and Eta Kappa Nu, electrical engineering honor society, the banquet will be the climax of pledge activities. The two other honoraries are Pi Tau Sigma, mechanical engineering, and Alpha Pi Mu, industrial engineering.

THE PROGRAM is divided among the four groups. Tau Beta Pi will award its Woman's Badge, its highest honor for a female engineering student, to Kay Ludeman, a senior textile engineering major from Catulla. This is only the second time the award has been made.

The honor societies will also recognize outstanding new actives and present pledges. Pledges must be junior or senior classification at the top of their engineering class and be of outstanding character and integrity.

Tau Beta Pi will initiate 22 pledges Monday night. Pledge activities have included the organization of a slide rule class open to anyone interested for Dec. 13 and 14 and a tutoring program which begins next year.

ETA KAPPA NU will initiate its 17 new members Wednesday night in ceremonies in the Chemical and Mechanical Engineering Building.

The public is invited to the banquet Thursday night. Tickets may be obtained for $3 from any of the following persons before noon Wednesday: Jim Stephenson, room 164-A, EE; Ken Young, room 2030, Gordon Hall; Bob Banasik, room 230, IE; Virgil West or Jackie Hipp, room 117, EE.

Johnson predicts prosperity in '67

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department reported Friday that more Americans held jobs last month than in any November in history, and the White House predicted a prosperous 1967.

Total employment climbed to 75 million while the nation's jobless rate edged back to a 13-year low of 3.7 per cent, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

President Johnson said in Texas that the forecast for continued prosperity next year came after he and his chief economic adviser, Gardner Ackley, reviewed the new employment figures and other economic indicators.

ACKLEY ALSO PREDICTED for next year an easing of inflationary pressures, now the worst in nearly 10 years.

But the assistant commissioner, Harold Goldstein, of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said before the White House statement that the November job figures indicated renewed pressures on the nation's tight labor supply.

Labor shortages cause some economists to worry about increased inflationary pressures because they tend to bid up wages, and thus prices.

TOTAL EMPLOYMENT, which usually drops 600,000 in November, climbed instead 300,000 but Goldstein said some of this was temporary hiring for the November election. "It disappeared the following week," he said.

The jobless rate, which had been 3.9 per cent in October, fell to 3.7 per cent of the civilian labor force for the third month this year—lowest since 1953.

Without the usual adjustment for seasonal factors, it was even lower—3.4 per cent.

WORKING TIME LOST in November by the 2.6 million persons unable to find jobs was 3.9 per cent of total estimated working time—the lowest since the bureau started tabulating this figure in 1955.

Construction employment, which has been suffering the effects of the bad weather and high mortgage interest rates, declined 150,000 to about 3.3 million last month, falling for the first time this year under 1965 levels. The jobless rate among construction workers at 9.3 per cent was also higher than a year ago.

But employment rose 100,000 in manufacturing, 80,000 in state and local governments and 65,000 in service trades.

OVER THE YEAR, nonfarm employment payrolls have risen by nearly three million workers, the bureau said.

The total number of unemployed fell 325,000 over the same period, it added.

The jobless rate for married men declined in November from 1.9 per cent to 1.7 per cent, lowest since the bureau started keeping that statistics in 1954.

The unemployment rate for all adult men continued low at 2.4 per cent. The rates for women, dropping from 4 per cent to 3.5 per cent, and for teen-agers, from 11.9 per cent to 11 per cent, were the lowest of the year.

THE JOBLESS RATE for non-whites mostly Negroes, dropped from 7.6 to 7.4 per cent, but was still more than double the 3.2 per cent rate for white workers.

Government action aimed at hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government announced Friday night its first formal actions to cut off financial aid to hospitals on grounds of failure to comply with the 1964 Civil Rights Act. It named 17 hospitals in five Southern states.

The institutions in Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Texas have been notified they may request public hearings, the Public Health Service said.

Federal aid to a number of school districts in Southern states has already been shut off for failure of the districts to comply with the antidiscrimination provisions of the 1964 law.

A PROCEEDING is also under way on termination of federal welfare funds for Alabama.

The Health Service said it has certified 7,091 of the nation's 7,452 hospitals as being in compliance with the law.

It said discriminatory practices found at the 17 cited hospitals include:

Segregation of patients in wings, sections, and room as well as refusal publicly to announce open-admission policies; segregated waiting rooms and dining rooms; absence of Negro physicians on hospital staffs; and segregation in training facilities.

THE HOSPITALS have been given 20 days to request a hearing. The service pointed out that if a hospital does not request hearing, or fails to appear at a scheduled hearing, the hospital will have waived its rights to a hearing and federal funds can then be withheld.

Federal aid to hospitals is for such things as medicare and other welfare programs, and for new construction.

If a hearing is held, the examiner's decision is subject to review by the chief of the agency granting funds and subsequently to review by the secretary of welfare.

Liquor stores profiting from Christmas 'spirits'

"Liquor is one gift that's never returned." Hubert Odom, manager of a local liquor store, used the liquor industry's slogan to sum up his statements about Christmas season liquor sales.

Odom said his store did 25 per cent of its business during the Christmas season, selling mostly gift items.

"OUR HIGHER PRICED articles sell better during the Christmas season, because people want to give a better liquor than they drink."

Bourbons and vodkas are the best selling liquors during the holidays, he said. Also dry brandies sell better at this time of year.

James Capps, manager of another liquor store, named bourbon as his best-seller during the Christmas season.

BRANDY AND WINE sales also go up, because a lot of people use them in their cooking."

Capps said more than 25 per cent of the store's business comes during the six weeks prior to Christmas and New Year's.

Odom said he planned to decorate the store and put out Christmas packages Monday.

The Christmas display is already up at the other store. Capps said almost all his decorations were from the different distilleries he trades with.

DECANTERS AND GIFT BOTTLES of all types line the store walls and make the tables sag.

Capps indicated an old bottle of Beam's 172 bourbon. "This is one of our best selling bottles. Every year they put the liquor in an older bottle, and people wait so they can add the new bottle to their collection. This year they have it in an 1875 bottle."

Another favorite he pointed out was a gallon bottle of bourbon mounted in a replica of an oil derrick.

CAPPS AND ODOM agreed that the type of people who purchase liquor during the Christmas season is the same as during the rest of the year.

Capps said, "We don't have that many more customers. They just buy more and higher priced liquors."

Why Can't You Control Your Memory?

A publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique for acquiring a powerful memory which can pay you real dividends in both business and social advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, necessary self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by remembering accurately everything they see, hear, or read. Whether in business, at social functions or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, the are ways in which you can dominate each situation by your ability to remember.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in remembering anything you choose to remember, the publishers have printed full details of their self-training method in a new book, "Adventures in Memory," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Send your name, address and zip code to: Memory Studies, 835 Diversey Parkway, Dept. 9667, Chicago, Ill. 60614. A postcard will do.

Dream comes true; prof studies Indians

It is the secret dream of rarely lives to see his 50th anthropologists to make an ethnological study of a primitive people before they vanish from the earth, according to Dr. Evelyn Montgomery, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology at Tech.

This dream came true for Dr. Montgomery when she journeyed to the Brazilian Amazon on the border of Brazil and Venezuela and lived with the Shiriana Indian Tribe from June through August of 1966.

"THE SHIRIANANS are ingenious people living in a Stone Age culture. They have little contact with the world as we know it and are actually afraid to venture into it," Dr. Montgomery said.

The tribe lives in a small village consisting of 75-200 persons. The average height is between five feet and five feet four inches. They speak their own language. Due to many hardships the Shirianan people there than in the United States. It is safer to live there but there are fewer ways to treat the sick.

When a person dies he is not buried but cremated. The ashes are kept one year. Then at the end of the year the family gives a great feast with great quantities of meat to eat. There is dancing and singing, and when the feast is over the ashes are mixed with banana milk and distributed for the guests to drink.

Dr. Montgomery felt that the Shirianans are very affectionate people, but they never display their feelings. When the children are young they are never treated as babies and are fed only when they cry.

WHEN THEY are three or four years old the children are put with their brothers and sisters from whom they learn everything. There is no cuddling or fondling as with American children. As a result, the children are never starved for affection. This is evidence of their great love and awareness of one another.

Toys for tots drive underway in city

The Toys for Tots campaign will brighten the Christmas of 5,000 needy children this year by furnishing them 15-16,000 toys.

Sponsored by the United Fund, Lubbock Jaycees, and the local branch of the Marine Corps Reserve, the program helps families chosen by the Christmas Clearance Bureau of the United Fund from names suggested by church groups, Salvation Army workers, and individuals.

Toys come from anyone who has a used or discarded toy to donate that could be repaired. Members of the Marine Corps Reserve fix the toys, including dolls and doll clothes, bicycles in any condition, and all other types of toys.

Toys may be turned in at the Marine Corps Center, 710 College, or at the Toys for Tots trailers in the Briercroft, Monterey and Caprock Shopping Centers.

The toys will be distributed Dec. 21-23 to families who have been given vouchers by the United Fund. Toys will be accepted up to this time, and any toys collected after Dec. 23 will be saved for next year.

Tech Union will present conference for TASSP

The Texas Association of Secondary School Principals will continue discussion of ways to advance and improve education in secondary public schools today in the Tech Union. The conference began Friday.

"Principals from all over the West Texas area are here to exchange ideas and programs in hopes of learning new methods to take home and better prepare their students for college and life in general," said Dr. Holmes Webb of the Tech education department and conference director.

Subjects being discussed are ways of handling handicapped students, improvements needed in vocational and educational guidance programs, uses of computers in schools, and general innovations in secondary education.

This conference is a trial project in cooperation with the Texas Education Agency, the Texas State Teachers Association, and Tech. If it is a success, next year the workshop method will be employed statewide.

Registration of guests begins at 1 p.m. in the Coronado Room of Tech Union.

Christmas drive begins to help Lubbock's poor

Radio station KLBK began a Christmas drive yesterday to collect nonperishable items, toys in new, used or broken condition, and money donations.

This drive will continue until Dec. 21-22 when disc jockeys turn the toys over to the Marine Corps, the money to Goodfellows and the food to the Salvation Army, according to Chuck Baker of the radio station.

The station will be open seven days a week from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. for donations. Items may be taken to KLBK, 7400 South College Avenue.

Anyone interested in helping on Saturdays and Sundays to collect items or make home pickups, may contact Baker by phoning SH4-2345, ext. 45.

Museum on its way

History was made at Texas Tech Thursday night in the form of a $500,000 challenge grant for development of a museum on the Tech campus—the largest challenge grant, largest grant from an individual and second largest grant received in all of Tech's 41 years.

The donor is Mrs. Helen DeVitt Jones, who stipulated that the money must be equaled by other private sources with the hope that the museum will become the "showcase for the International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies."

And a showcase it will be, provided that the current plans for the $6 million complex, to be located at the corner of Fourth Street and Indiana Avenue, materialize.

Plans call for the museum to be transformed from its traditional role of storage of historical relics to a living institution, including ever-changing exhibits, research work and outdoor exhibits encompassing a 70-acre plot.

New exhibit methods, such as modular and audio techniques, will help make the museum complex a dynamic, ever changing and flexible entity. It will include an auditorium, sculpture court, exhibition hall, planetarium, classrooms, laboratories and still additional research space.

Outdoor exhibits could include such things as dwellings and growing crops peculiar to arid and semi-arid countries. Even a replica of a West Texas ranch house is planned.

Summed up, the museum is destined to become a center for learning, research and storage of information concerning the ICASALS program, in addition to its current collection of historical materials from the West Texas area.

These plans may sound a bit far-fetched. But they're consistent with the scale upon which ICASALS has been planned, and the hopes for its future. That they will be carried out is not inconceivable, especially if the enthusiasm and vigor connected with ICASALS thus far is any indication.

In Mrs. Jones' words, the museum will become a "showcase," possibly for West Texas and the Southwest as well as for Texas Tech and ICASALS. The institute-museum has no limits, provided that it has the support it needs and deserves. The DeVitt-Jones challenge grant has started it on its way.

Student rights

Commission begins study

Manhattan, Kans.—(I.P.) — What are the rights and responsibilities of students, faculty and administrators in the university setting?

What should be the role of the university student in governing himself and in policy making in the university?

What freedoms are desirable in a climate of learning which will enhance human dignity and the development of the student?

THESE ARE SOME of the questions which a 17-man Presidential Commission on Student Government will explore at Kansas State University during the current school year.

In creating the commission of 10 student leaders and 7 faculty, President James A. McCain charged the group with "defining the philosophy and clarifying the objectives of student government," with "determining key issues in the area of student government and student-faculty relationships on our campus" and with "making recommendations for strengthening the role of student government and achieving its objectives."

PRESIDENT MCCAIN noted that students are becoming increasingly sensitive to, and concerned over, the state of the Nation and the world off campus. He pointed to the militant advocacy of views by groups of students on many campuses and mentioned the "mounting student impatience with university rules and regulations, especially as they affect personal behavior."

Don't just sit there, Wallace Middendorp.

Make a noise. Or drink Sprite, the noisy soft drink.

WALLACE MIDDENDORP SAT HERE

What did you do when Joe (Boxcar) Brkczpaluj was kicked off the football team just because he flunked six out of four of his majors? What did you do, Wallace Middendorp?

And when the school newspaper's editors resigned in protest because The Chancellor wouldn't allow the publication of certain salacious portions of "Night in a Girl's Dormitory" you just sat, didn't you? You've made a mockery of your life, Wallace Middendorp! You're a vegetable. Protest, Wallace Middendorp. Take a stand. Make a noise! Or drink Sprite, the noisy soft drink. Open a bottle of Sprite at the next campus speak-out. Let it fizz and bubble to the masses. Let its lusty carbonation echo through the halls of ivy. Let its tart, tingling exuberance infect the crowd with excitement. Do these things, Wallace Middendorp. Do these things, and what big corporation is going to hire you?

SPRITE. SO TART AND TINGLING, WE JUST COULDN'T KEEP IT QUIET.

Raiders host powerful Wichita

By GEORGE CHAFFEE
Sports Editor

Gene Gibson's eagerness, fresh from their opening upset victory over Colorado, face a more rugged test tonight as the Red Raiders host Wichita State in Municipal Coliseum.

Although this marks the season opener for the Shockers, pre-season prophets have placed Wichita in their usual spot high in national rankings and judging from pre-season scrimmages the prophets were wise in their estimations.

LAST MONDAY the Shocker varsity bombed the frosh squad 117-55 in an annual affair at Wichita and the freshmen aren't supposed to be that bad. And, another aspect to the scrimmage which is causing much concern in the Raider camp is the tremendous depth on the Wichita State bench.

Commenting on his bench strength, Coach Gary Thompson said, "Before the season started we knew we could have a bench at least five deep. The game Monday night proved this."

ACTUALLY, the only problem Thompson appears to have is who to start. Only three starters are known for sure and competition for the other berths are being fought for "with vigor."

Thompson said seniors Jamie Thompson (6-3) and Melvin Reed (6-5) and junior Warren Armstrong (6-2) are sure starters. Thompson will be at one forward and Reed will open at center, but Armstrong's spot is not yet known.

"I HAVE NO idea who will gain the other places and probably won't know until game time tonight," Thompson said.

Armstrong is State's superstar and the 6-2 junior is just about everything a basketball coach could want. Averaging more than 16 points and 11 rebounds per game, the 215-pound Negro's jumping ability caused a sports announcer to call him "Batman" and the tag stuck.

BUT, AS THE saying goes, fools rush in where angels fear to tread and while Gibson's Raiders are not fools, they're ready to rush in and meet

Armstrong and Co. head-on. DISPLAYING brilliant hustle, the Raiders constantly went for the ball each time it was up for grabs and reminded some folks of the days of Glen Hallum, a former Raider who used to delight fans by

Picadors open against LCC

The Tech Picadors, fielding its tallest team in history, will make their basketball debut tonight when they meet head on with Lubbock Christian College.

The game will be a 5:45 preliminary to the varsity game with Wichita State University. The Pic's starting lineup averages 6-7, headed by Wayne Nash, 6-11 center from Fort Worth Eastern Hills.

Starting at the forward po-making spectacular leaps for an occasional save. Besides being the good defensive team they were said to be, the Raiders also showed some offensive sparkle as five men hit the double figures against the Buffaloes.

GIBSON WILL start the same five who started the Colorado contest which includes Jimmy Fullerton, Jerry Haggard, Joe Dobbs, Billy Tapp and Dave Olsen. Tip-off is scheduled for 8 p.m.

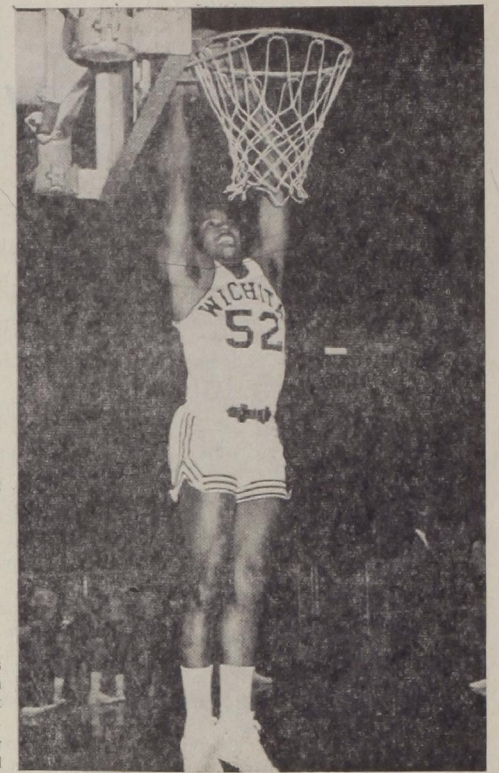

All-Star tilt set Sunday

The Interfraternity All-Stars will meet Delta Tau Delta in the annual All-Star game at 2 p.m. Sunday on field No. 1.

The All-Stars, coached by Jay Carter, feature intramural athletes from 10 Tech fraternities who participated in the regular touchfootball season.

Delta Tau Delta raced to an 8-0-2 record during the season to cop the championship of the fraternity league.

There is no admission charge to the contest.

UP AND IN—Warren Armstrong, Wichita State All-American candidate, will lead his Shocker teammates into Municipal Coliseum tonight for an 8 o'clock tangle with the Tech Red Raiders.

Talk about Tech spirit!

During Thursday night's game with Colorado, cheerleader Ron Todd ripped the inside seam of his pants leg.

A mother in the stands quickly pulled the safety pins from the diaper of her squealing baby and donated them to the cause.

Todd pinned the rip and the only person in the crowd to notice the difference was the baby.
