These Mothers Sew To Save

National Sew and Save Week, Feb. 21-28, ushers in the spring season, but it is only one week out of the 52 that these women sew for themselves and their families. The number of women who have become home-sewing enthusiasts has leaped 130 per cent in the past six years, and why not? With all the wonderful new materials now available to them and stylish easy-to-make patterns, who isn't tempted to haul out the trusty sewing machine and get down to business?

BABY DRESSES—Mrs. Earl Davis, at left, 601 Abrams, rolls the neckline on a baby dress for a new grandchild she is expecting shortly. Mrs. Davis makes the tiny dresses entirely by hand and trims them with lace and embroidery.

CUTTING MATERIAL — Mrs. Jack Nall, above, 509 Goliad, cuts material for a cummerbund and matching stole she is making for her daughter who lives in Beaumont. Mrs. Nall usually cuts her material on the bed, but occasionally she spreads it out on the floor.

HEMMING—Charlene Campbell, above, will have a new frock to wear as soon as her mother, Mrs. Charles Campbell, 400 Abrams, finishes putting in the hem. Daughter Barbara also benefits from mother's skill with a needle.

MR. AND MRS. NATHAN IVEY AND JUDY

Iveys List Reading As Favorite Hobby

Judy Ivey, 14, already likes to sit quietly and "read" many of the hours away.

It doesn't matter to her when a book is upside-down for, after all, she's only interested in coming to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Ivey, 1600-B Virginia, on the relative merit of the "Three Bears" versus the "Three Little Pigs."

And since the Iveys spend much of their spare time pursuing the same hobby, Judy fits right into the scheme of things.

Moving here a short time ago from Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. Ivey are both graduates of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene.

Mrs. Ivey, an English major, edited the school paper one summer while her husband, a business major, was editor of the school yearbook one year. He is area supervisor for distributive education.

Mrs. Ivey, a native of Dallas, once wrote a book of poetry and although the poems have not been sold, friends tell her not to give up.

She long has been active in work of the Baptist Church and on two occasions has served as secretary to the vocational directors.

Ivey, whose home is in Buffalo, has been trying for years to find time for a hobby other than reading. But as yet he hasn't made any headway.

Webb Personnel Wives To Be Guests On Tour

Col. Ernest F. Wackwitz, base commander, has issued an open invitation to wives of all military and civilian personnel at Webb Air Force Base for a tour of the base Tuesday.

The program will get underway at 12:30 p.m. with wives meeting in the Academic Building for a short briefing and welcome.

The women will then board a fleet of motor pool buses and begin an extensive tour of the base. Included in the tour will be static displays of the T-33 jet, T-28 propeller-driven trainer, B-25, C-47 and C-45. The guests will be allowed to sit in the jets while pilots warm up the planes' motors.

A complete disassembly of various aircraft to give a clear picture of an airplane's inner workings will be on display during the afternoon. Women will be able to get the feel of actually handling a real plane by "flying" in a link trainer.

The guests will also see the crash and fire station, the Mobile Control Tower, the Physiological Training Building, the Parachute Shop, and the Weather Station, at the latter, the women will be able to find out the weather in their own home towns.

At 3:30 p.m. refreshments will be served in Dining Hall "B".

It has been suggested that all women wear slacks on the tour in order that no grease or dirt will soil their clothing and also to facilitate easier inspection of the airplanes. Webb officials are asking that no children be brought to the base tour.

The "Wives at Webb Day" was suggested by Col. Wackwitz and Lt. Col. James A. Wilson, commanding officer of the 356th Pilot Training Group. Tuesday's program will mark the first time for such an event to ever have been held at the base.

If the weather should be to inclement Tuesday, the tour will be postponed until March 3.

However, Col. Wackwitz has said that if the women hear Webb planes flying, they can count on the program going through.

Mrs. Timms Returns

Mrs. Myrtle Mayes Timms has returned to Big Spring and has assumed the management of the local Franklin's store. Mrs. Timms, for the past 18 months, has been manager of Franklin's in Lubbock.

The Soft Touch

Two reasons why this trim, wing-cuffed dress is especially easy to wear: the collarline is deeper, the skirt is softly shirred in front. Pattern also cuts a three-quarter sleeve length.

No. 2597 is cut in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40. Size 16, 3 1/2 yds. 39-in. fabric.

Send 50 cents for PATTERN with Name, Address, Style Number and Size. Address: PATTERN BUREAU, Big Spring Herald, Box 42, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N. Y.

Patterns ready to fill orders immediately. For special handling of order via first class mail include an extra 5 cents per pattern.

Just off the press! The new SPRING-SUMMER FASHION BOOK, ages from cover to cover with scores of the latest style trends, all translated into delightfully wearable, easy-to-sew pattern designs for every age, every type, all sizes, all occasions. ### Mrs. Cothorn Will Give Book Review

Mrs. Gaylon Cothorn will review "The White Witch Doctor" when the Thursday Review Club meets Thursday at 3 p.m. in fellowship hall of the First Christian Church.

Written by Louise A. Spinstorff, a minister's daughter, the story concerns Ellen Burton, a medical missionary, in the African Congo.

Upon going to the country, Miss Burton is faced with the inherent cannibalistic superstitions of the natives. By treating their minor ills in the beginning, she gradually overcomes their superstitions and suspicions.

The missionary establishes a clinic in the Africa brush country where she is the only white person and trains a native woman to assist her.

Miss Burton falls in love with a trader but after a tussle with her conscience decides that her place is with the natives.

MRS. HOWARD LESLIE JONES

Iva Hampton Marries Howard Leslie Jones

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Leslie Jones are on a wedding trip to Dallas following their marriage here Wednesday.

The bride is the former Iva Raby Hampton, daughter of M. A. Hampton, 1513 Tucson, and the late Mrs. Hampton. Mrs. Willie Riddle of Colorado City is the mother of the bridegroom.

The Rev. L. J. Power, pastor, performed the semi-formal, double ring ceremony at 6 p. m. at Trinity Baptist Church. The altar was decorated with a sunburst basket arrangement of white gladioli flanked by Oregon fern and white tapers in branched candelabra.

Mrs. Bill Griese, pianist, played the traditional wedding march. She also accompanied Lillie Shipley who sang "My Hero," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Entering on the arm of her father, the bride wore a white lace ballarina-length gown over satin. Over the strapless bodice she wore a jacket designed with a high collar, covered buttons and long sleeves, which came to points over her wrists. The full skirt was inserted with marquisette panels.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a satin and lace coronet. She carried a Cattelya orchid on a white Bible.

Mrs. W. H. White of Odessa, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She was attired in a aqua ballerina-length marquisette over satin gown, worn with a marquisette bolero. She carried a ballerina petal bouquet of pale yellow carnations.

Robert Reagan served as best man.

Lloyd and Tony Hampton, brothers of the bride, lighted the candles.

Mrs. Jones wore for travelling a pastel green linen suit with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

After their wedding trip, the bride will return to Big Spring where she will remain until her graduation from Big Spring High School in May. She will then join her husband, a graduate of BSHS and Howard County Junior College, in Norman, Okla., where he is stationed with the Naval Air Force.

VICTOR ALESSANDRO

San Antonio Symphony To Give Concert Here

The Big Spring Concert Association will present the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra in a concert here Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the City Auditorium.

Season tickets, $10 dual, $6 single and $1.50 child, are still available according to Jimmy Beale, ticket chairman. Two performances, the one Tuesday and another scheduled for later in the season remain.

Under the direction of Victor Alessandro, the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra has gained the reputation as "the prodigy" among major U. S. orchestras for so many accomplishments in so short a time.

The Texas-bred orchestra has been described by a New York music critic as a maverick which has come to national notice through the freshness and distinction of its program policy.

Founded 14 years ago by the late Max Reiter, the orchestra has been the subject of articles in national magazines and nationally-circulated newspapers. It has also made several coast-to-coast broadcasts over a period of a few years.

Dr. Alessandro has played guest engagements with the Boston "Pops" Orchestra, the Esplanade and the NBC Symphony Orchestra.

Tuesday evening's program will include "Adagio from the Organ Toccata in C" by Bach-Ormandy; "Sleepers Awake," Back-Ormandy; "Symphony No. 4," Tschalkowsky; "Prairie Night and Celebration Dance from Billy the Kid," Copeland; "Emperor Waltzes," "Strauss; "Irish Rhapsody," Herbert.

We Give You The FORECAST FOR SPRING HAIR FASHIONS

There will be short hair, more waves and fewer tight curls in the spring and summer season. You will see close contour coiffures with forward movement of waves, swirled crowns, and the "winged pomp" rolling back from the forehead and half-curls gracing the forehead. Bangs will continue to be popular. Many of the styles have an attractive face-framing effect with sculptured waves and soft tendrils.

Regardless of which style you choose, it is important to keep the hair conditioned with professional hair treatments and daily brushing. Color, too, plays an important role in the picture, with highlights being accented and women's hair coloring harmonizing with the new fashion colors of apparel. With professional care, the new hair styles will enhance the facial contours and accent her true beauty.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Darlene Sneed

If a stranger had accidentally dropped in to visit our college this past week, he would have thought he was in the old West for sure.

Had he gone down the old road behind the college, he would have seen students dressed in ten gallon hats, leis, bright shirts and maybe chaps walking down the road without their boots. These students were victims of the vigilantes who had taken law-abiding citizens of the college out for a ride, taken off their boots and left them to walk back.

Some of the kids seen walking back to school were Lynn Mitchell, Bobbie Adams, Cecil Niblett, Vonce Rhoton, Lou Ann Nail, Lynelle Sullivan, Gene Reynolds and Don Stevens.

In the pre-ranch week assembly Saturday, the student body elected a sheriff, judge and deputies. Don Stevens served as sheriff, Mark Harwell was the judge in Kangaroo Court and deputies elected were Casey Jones, Ricketts Gilmore, Dallas Williams, Lou Ann Nail, Gwendell White and Darlene Sneed.

A western movie was shown to the students Tuesday morning. Tuesday night the Jayhawks played the Rotary Engineers in a benefit exhibition game in the Forsan gym. Some of the cowpokes who rode out to back the Jayhawks were "Weggie" Glenn, Billy Mac Sheppard, Marshall Burrus, James Suttles, Ed Hartman, Jimmy King, Clinton Jenkins, Elizabeth Cope, Jone West, Lou Ann Nail, Bobbie Adams, Sue White, Beverly Jones, Glenn Barnes, Larry Shortes and Darlene Sneed. This win was the 2nd for the Hawks.

There was a dance held in the little auditorium after the Odessa game to climax the activities for Ranch Week. Music was furnished by some local boys called the Skilleteers. The band was composed of Wayne Glenn, Dewey Byers, Larry Stevens and Lloyd Claxton. Dewey Byers was the vocalist. There was a very big turnout for the dance. Most all of the Odessa College kids came after the game as did the players. Some of the kids having a good time were Sue White and Doyle Mason, Marie Petty and Lonnie Muse, Ricketts Gilmore, Casey Jones, Don Stevens, Don Edwards, Robert Merworth and Kay Richmond, Sue Love and Bill Bradford, Lou Ann Nail, Beverly Jones, Dallas Williams and Mary Smith, Bobbie Adams, Sue Laudermilk, Jimmy Sear, James Pierce, Lynn Mitchell and Ed Hartman. Darlene Sneed, Vonce Rhoton, Goober Shultz, Jerry Fowler, Bill Wyatts, Margie McDougle, Narelle E. Choate, Frances McClain, Jackie Milam and Jeanette Petty, Freddie Blalack, J. W. Suter, J. W. Thompson, Roy Hester, Bill Dorsey, Wayman Clark, Nan McGahey, Elvon DeVaney and Sue Hill, Doyle Robinson.

Mark Harwell had quite a time getting the Kangaroo Court to come to order and keep it in order in the court room in the cafeteria Thursday. Elvon DeVaney was the prosecuting attorney. Both students and teachers were tried for such crimes as wearing make-up, smoking ready rolled cigarettes, wearing no western apparel, and being sheep herders. B. M. Keese, dean, Dr. W. A. Hunt, president and Earl Bryant, business manager, were tried and found guilty. They were sentenced to give an exhibition of the charleston. Before all cases were tried, the vigilantes began mob rule and took the judge and sheriff out and tied them to poles.

Cecil Hoggard has been putting up all newspaper clippings of the Jayhawk games and write-ups on the bulletin board in the library.

Wednesday morning three religious speakers were featured in the assembly program. Grady Spruce, Methodist, W. J. Moser, Catholic, and Ronald Marks, Jewish, spoke on brotherhood of all religions.

Janelle Davis has announced the members of the play cast and the stage help for the play "Blithe Spirit" to be given March 12-13.

The cast is as follows: Ruth, Lynn Mitchell; Charles, Jackie Fryar; Elvira, Cecil Niblett; Madame Arcati, Pat Dillon; Mrs. Bradman, Betty Hulsey; Dr. Bradman, Bobby Read; Edith, Bobbie Adams. Stage manager will be Bill Mac Sheppard. Props will be Rodney Cramer and Dick Gilmore; Dallas Williams and Casey Jones will take care of lighting, Johnny Allison and Darlene Sneed have charge of sound effects. Barbara Blair, Don Stevens and Cecil Gilstrap will be in charge of all advertising. Elvon DeVaney will raise the curtain; Marie Petty, Dianna Farquhar and Barbara Blair will be usherettes. Mark Harwell, Dick Gilmore and Don Stevens are in charge of ticket sales. Property managers will be Vesta Harrison, Darlene Sneed, James Suttles and Cecil Gilstrap.

Visitors at the college lately have been Mrs. Tracy Smith, Mrs. Marjorie Hatch, the Rev. and Mrs. Virgil James, Neta, and Novelle R. L. Tollett, Mrs. Frances Doll and many Webb Air Base men. The college library has received a new Webster's Book of Synonyms and Antonyms.

Bride-Elect

Mrs. J. A. Barnes of Abilene has announced the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Dorothy Wallace, to Bill D. Cook of Big Spring, son of R. F. Cook of Big Spring and the late Mrs. Cook. The ceremony will be performed April 1 at the North Park Baptist Church in Abilene. The only attendants will be Joyce Beavers and Lane Bond of Big Spring. Miss Wallace is employed by a finance company in Abilene and the prospective bridegroom will receive his degree from Hardin-Simmons University in June.

WMS Has Meeting In Suttles Home

FORSAN, (Sp)—Mrs. Cliff Fowler discussed the book, "They Need Not Go Away," when the WMS of the Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. C. C. Suttles Wednesday. Mrs. Fowler also gave the invocation. Mrs. W. J. White offered the benediction. Eight attended.

Scouts Have Meeting

Girl Scout Troop 18 met recently at the Little House for a test on music instruments. During the afternoon, the girls also learned to tie knots.

Prayer Day Programs Are Presented

Walter Miles of the Salvation Army spoke at the children's World Day of Prayer program held Saturday morning at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Robert Hall was in charge of the program. She was assisted by Mrs. Lee Milling and Mrs. A. B. Brown. Eighty attended.

The World Day of Prayer program for adults was held Friday at 3 p.m. at the First Christian Church.

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, spoke on "Walk As Children of Light."

Mrs. Arthur Pickle was in charge of the program which was sponsored by the United Council of Church Women.

A High School Ensemble sang two songs. Three members of the Music Study Club, Mrs. O. M. a Pitman, organist; Mrs. J. E. Hardesty, violinist; and Robert a Gay, pianist; played two selections.

Mrs. E. G. Fausel led the prayer and the responsive readings. Sixty-six attended.

Girl Scouts Meet

Plans were made to make cookies at the next meeting when Girl Scout Troop 7 met recently in the home of Mrs. Van Miller, 801 Ayfford. Mary Jane Weaver and Charlene Campbell served refreshments to the group.

Crocheted Rug

A beauty! Inexpensive, too. The yarn is big and works up quickly; the stitch is just plain, good old-fashioned crocheting! Size? It's 33 by 22 inches; make it larger if you want—just add more rows. But as it is, in its brilliant rows of Royal Blue, Light Blue, Rose, bright Green on a background of Ecru and a border of black, it just couldn't be more satisfactory. Big roses in center over you have finished the colored rows. Grand for bedroom or in front of fireplace.

A Bible Thought For Today—

No great task ever is accomplished by pessimists. "If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believes." — Mark 9:23.

While We Talk Brotherhood, Some Of Its Needs Are Evidenced Here

W. S. Carpenter of Carlsbad, N. M. took back with him an unflattering impression of Big Spring. Last week—ironically it was Brotherhood Week—he brought Isa Riscon, a veteran of the Korean campaign, here for treatment at the Veterans Administration Hospital. The young man had put in a couple of years over there, but it remained for a car wreck to do him in near his home at Carlsbad. So, unconscious, he was brought to the hospital here for treatment. His parents, anxious and concerned as any parents would be, came along with him. When they were reassured by hospital authorities that their son would be given the best of care, they started the return trip home with Mr. Carpenter, who was the driver.

They were all weary and hungry and stopped at a cafe for a snack and a cup of coffee. But stop is about as far as they got. Mr. Carpenter was informed that his guests would not be served. Mr. and Mrs. Senon Riscon, it seems, had made the mistake of being born Latin-American.

This is not the first time that we have faced such complaints here, and we suppose it will not be the last. Nevertheless, this does not put any prettier face on these occurrences.

People possess the right, under our democracy, to direct their own affairs, to run their businesses as they like. It is not possible, therefore, to say that they must or must not follow a certain line of policy, and even if it were, the situation really wouldn't be solved.

The solution is in understanding and mutual respect of Americans one for another. To repeat a message of the team of Dallas laymen who came here the other day as Brotherhood Week speakers, we need to respect men for what they are, not for their origin, religion or tint of skin.

That visitors should carry away an impression of intolerance concerning our town is regrettable. That visitors should carry away an impression of discrimination concerning our town is regrettable. That seeds of intolerance should be rooted in the hearts of some of our people is the greater cause for concern.

Washington Calling—Marquis Childs

Realistic Changes In Election Law Might Help To Halt Smears

WASHINGTON.—As the level of politics steadily deteriorates, the word smear becomes more and more a part of the political vocabulary. The latest victim of the deliberate, calculated smear is shown to have been Vice President Richard Nixon. With journalistic enterprise Richard Wilson in Look magazine has told in detail the story of a forged letter intended to show that Nixon was being subsidized by the oil industry up to $52,000 a year to represent the interests of that industry. The circulation of this forgery was timed to follow the disclosure that Nixon, as senator, had benefited in carrying on his official business from a fund raised by California businessmen.

That fund was one of the explosive issues in the campaign last fall. Republicans countered by pointing out that Candidate Adlai Stevenson had dispensed a fund provided by private interests to supplement the salaries of state employees who could not otherwise afford to accept public employment.

The Look article makes public Nixon's income-tax returns, showing that his personal income was limited to his official salary with some supplement from fees received from lecturing. As was evident in his famous television talk to the nation, Nixon took the attack on his personal integrity with intense emotion. Something of that same intensity of feeling has carried over into his reaction to the planned attempt to destroy his character as now disclosed.

A Senate committee is investigating the forgery and what was behind it. It seems that no federal law was violated. Yet, the alleged forger in testifying before the Senate group may have committed perjury and this possibility is being examined by a federal grand jury.

The smear should be exposed in all its ramifications and, if any laws were violated, the guilty should be punished. In this space again and again this reporter has pointed to the growing trend toward fraud and gangsterism in politics and how they imperil the basic freedoms on which our political system is based.

Many Republicans have in the recent past seemed if not to encourage then at least to condone smears directed at the opposition. To hit the fellow on the other side of the fence with a foul was all right. The destructive doctrine that the end justifies the means was excuse for attacks impugning the loyalty and integrity of decent citizens.

One of the notorious instances was the savage campaign directed against former Senator Millard Tydings (D-MD). This was largely directed through the office of Senator Joseph McCarthy (R., Wis.). It included a tabloid campaign sheet carrying a faked photograph showing Tydings and Earl Browder, one-time Communist leader, together. This attack is believed to have caused Tydings' defeat. The smear tactics were investigated by a Senate committee, and both Democrats and Republicans signed a report denouncing this "back-street campaign." One of the Republicans was Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine who had previously, with seven other Republican senators, issued her historic "declaration of conscience," which challenged the use by politicians of either party of the big lie.

In 1950 in his race for the Senate Nixon was opposed by Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas. That campaign in California was singularly bitter and acrimonious. Mrs. Douglas charged the smear was being used against her.

Murray Chotiner, Nixon's campaign manager in '50 and again last year, says this charge cannot be sustained, since only Mrs. Douglas' own record was used. He says further that the support of the rabble-rousing fringe represented by the followers of Gerald L. K. Smith was repudiated by Nixon.

The Senate committee that investigated the campaign against Tydings made some specific recommendations. One was that election laws should be more realistic so that candidates could accept campaign contributions and exercise control over them in relation to the high cost of television and radio. As it is today, satellite organizations raise money and spend it in ways a candidate cannot restrain.

These and other recommendations have been ignored. So have the findings of a Senate committee that showed gross irregularities in the expenditures of Senator McCarthy.

It will not be enough to punish those who engineered the smear against Vice President Nixon. If it results in a new and broad approach to decency in politics, above, artanship, then in spite of the ordeal for Nixon and his family it will mean a major gain for all concerned.

Story Of The Alamo

Handful Of Texans Defended Alamo Against Mexico Hordes 113 Years Ago

The Alamo! No word is so sacred to the Texan as that of the Alamo, a symbol of its defenders' declaration never to surrender or retreat. God and Texas! Victory or death! Thermopylae had her messenger of defeat, but the Alamo had none!

Besieged while Texans at Washington-on-the-Brazos declared their independence from Mexico, the long, heroic, 13-day stand of a handful of Texans against Mexican hordes began 113 years ago tomorrow.

Yet, this mission-turned-fortress came near having no place in Texas history. The Texans' commander in chief ordered it evacuated and demolished. His brave defender-commander, William Barrett Travis, vainly sought a countermand to the order that sent him there.

Sam Houston, as commander in chief of Texas forces, felt that defense of the Alamo was futile and officially ordered that Bexar (San Antonio) be abandoned and the fortifications destroyed.

He so advised "His Excellency, Henry Smith," head of the provisional Texas government, on Jan. 17: "I have ordered the fortifications in the town of Bexar to be demolished, and, if you should think fit, I will remove all the cannon and other armaments of war to Gonzalez and Copano, blow up the Alamo and abandon the place, as it will be impossible to keep up the station with volunteers.

"The sooner I can be authorized the better it will be for the country."

In the meantime, the little force at Bexar, under Lt. Col. J. C. Neill, was pleading for reinforcements. "I did not ask for pledges and resolves," Col. Neill wrote Gov. Smith on Jan. 27, "but for money, provisions and clothing. There has been money given or loaned by private individuals expressly for the use of the army, but none has been received....

"We cannot be fed and clothed on paper pledges. My men cannot, nor will not, stand for this state of things much longer."

It was a desperate message Lt. Col. W. Barrett Travis sent Gov. Smith as he prepared to march Jan. 28 to the defense of Bexar.

"In obedience to my orders I have done every thing in my power to get ready to march to the relief of Bexar, but owing to the difficulty of getting horses and provisions, and owing to desertions, I shall march today with only about 30 men, all regulars except four.

"I shall, however, go on and do my duty, if I am sacrificed, unless I receive new orders to counter-march.

"Our affairs are gloomy indeed. The people are cold and indifferent. They are worn down and exhausted with the war, and, in consequence of dissensions between commanding and rival chieftains, they have lost all confidence in their own government and officers....

"Money must be raised or Texas is gone to ruin. Without it, war cannot be again carried on in Texas. The patriotism of a few has done much; but that is becoming worn down.

"I have strained every nerve, I have used my personal credit, and have neither slept day nor night since I received orders to march, and, with all this, I have barely been able to get horses and equipment for the few men I have...."

Another letter from Burnham's, on Jan. 29, begged for a change in orders:

"Not having been able to raise 100 volunteers agreeably to your orders, I must beg that your Excellency will recall the order for me to go to Bexar in command of so few men.

"I am willing, nay anxious, to go to the defense of Bexar, but, sir, am unwilling to risk my reputation (which is ever dear to a soldier) by going off into the enemy's country with such little means, so few men, and with them so badly equipped."

In the meantime, James Bowie, dispatched to Bexar on Jan. 17 by Houston, advised Gov. Smith, Feb. 2, that "The salvation of Texas depends on keeping Bexar out of the hands of the enemy."

The first determination that Bexar would be defended to the last man came in the communication from Bowie:

"Col. Neill and myself have come to the same conclusion, that we would rather die in these ditches than give it up to the enemy."

Bowie closed with the information received at Bexar that 7,000 Mexicans were marching toward that objective.

Ten days later, on Feb. 12, Travis, having reached Bexar, advised Gov. Smith that intelligence advised of approaching Mexican forces and "We are illly prepared for their regulars and volunteer cavalry. All general orders and correspondence will henceforth be signed by both until Col. Neill's return."

With reinforcements still awaited, Travis on Feb. 16, wrote that "I must again remind your Excellency that this is the key of Texas and should not be neglected by the Govt."

"TOMORROW: The first shot is fired against the Alamo. Texans respond with a cannon blast answering a demand to surrender."

"I am determined to fight to the last," he reiterated, "and should Bexar fall, your friend will be buried beneath its ruins."

Col. Neill, in the meantime, left the post for a visit to his home and has requested me to take command of the post," Travis advised Feb. 12.

But, the next day Travis addressed the governor, explaining he had issued orders for an election, not wishing to assume a command except to satisfaction of the volunteers.

"Bowie was elected by two small companies," he advised. "I do not solicit the command of this post," he explained, "but as Col. Neill has applied to the commander-in-chief to be relieved and is anxious for me to take command, I will do it, if it be your order for a time, until an artillery officer can be sent here. The enemy is on the Rio Grande...."

A joint command quickly was agreed upon, Travis and Bowie jointly signing a communication to the governor on Feb. 14:

"By an understanding of today, Col. James Bowie has the command of the volunteers of the garrison, and Col. W. B. Travis of the regulars and volunteer cavalry. All general orders and correspondence will henceforth be signed by both until Col. Neill's return."

With reinforcements still awaited, Travis on Feb. 16, wrote that "I must again remind your Excellency that this is the key of Texas and should not be neglected by the Govt."

"TOMORROW: The first shot is fired against the Alamo. Texans respond with a cannon blast answering a demand to surrender."

"I am determined to fight to the last," he reiterated, "and should

Around The Rim—The Herald Staff

If Mr. Blandings Lived Through House Building, Why Can't We?

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

No longer will I laugh at Mr. Blandings. No longer will I be smug when experienced friends put sympathy into their voices with the utterance, "So you're planning on building a house, eh?" The question is invariably accompanied with a tak-tak, and a sort of you'll-be-sorry air.

I figured that Mr. Blandings had overdramatized his troubles, just to sell a story. And I figured that, although friends had many headaches and heartaches in building houses, there was no reason for us to stumble into any such foolishness. No trouble for us!

Times do change. Would now that I could hold Mr. Blandings' hand in sympathy, and would that I could run around to all the friends and say, "You are so right."

All this before we have even finished completing ours on paper. There has been enough paper work done, don't misunderstand me. If all the paper we have used in sketches and figures was amassed and converted back into trees, the world would be one vast forest.

This disease of constructivitis struck months ago. It is easily recognizable because the symptoms are universal. First comes the welling up of dissatisfaction with "this old place." This old place is where we live now and have been doing very well, thank you, until the bug bit. Then, everything about the present house is either completely outmoded, an eyesore, or downright dangerous. It becomes a place where a dog would be ashamed to be seen.

Next phase of the disease: Let's remodel and enlarge the place. Paper work starts. Knock out this wall here, put in another one there. Rebuild the fireplace, make a "cute" entry at the front. Get another bathroom. And for goodness sake, plenty of closet space. The kitchen is in a mess, too, and would have to be done over.

Well, let's get some estimates. Poor, abused construction men come by, listen to all the grandiose plans, try their best to keep from looking surprised—or aghast—at the remodeling proposals made. They stay as polite as is possible under the circumstances, and agree to give a "rough" figure.

The rough figure comes to umpty-four thousand dollars, with no telling what it would be when it is smoothed out.

Nights of distress in trying to forget the remodeling project. This is forgotten with Phase 3: Oh, heck, we can build a new place as cheaply as we can remodel. So here comes out more paper, reams of it. Here we go buy 97 different publications having to do with home building, remodeling and decoration. They have the prettiest pictures ever. We find a living room just like we want in magazine A; a dining room in magazine B; the snazziest kitchen yet conceived in magazine C; a doll of a bathroom in magazine D; and so on. Now comes the task of clipping the pictures from all these magazines and fitting them into one house. I love these magazines and their colored pictures, but I have not yet found one that said how to finance these rooms. But we forgot that, we were so busy pasting the pieces together.

Ab, we get a dream!

Only thing left is to take it to an architect and let him draw the plans. By the time he gets through, you would have thought our first picture was a Chinese pagoda. It was so far from his conception.

But the architect has patience, too, and he gulps at our ideas, and tries to make some sense out of them. So he comes up with a result.

Next, you see the builders. These are also patient men, accustomed as they are to having people ask them to "figure" jobs that don't make sense. I suppose contractors get asked for as much free advice as the doctors do.

But contractors also are practical men. So they finally give a figure—one that is in black-and-white, a cold sort of thing, that has no flexibility to it. We look at the figure. We turn pale. We feel weak in the knees. We stagger backward. We faint dead away.

Mr. Blandings, where are you? We need your help. We are now in the next phase, which is the heart-breaking one of "cutting out" the things we can do without. When we get through with this, we doubtless will have a modest little structure a good deal like the place we live in now.

—BOB WHIPKEY.

Business Outlook—J. A. Livingston

Business Men Hail Economist As Defender Of Their Faith

Dr. A. D. H. Kaplan is a harassed man. Probably because he's not accustomed to harassment. He's 60 and most of his life has been spent as a university professor or a researcher and writer in the field of economics. And suddenly he has become a rich man's darling.

As a senior research economist at the Brookings Institution, Washington, D. C., Kaplan has been working for five years on a study of the "compatibility" of big business with competition. The book is due in six weeks. And his phone has been ringing with pre-publication congratulations—thanks to Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of General Motors Corp., whose Alfred P. Sloan Foundation put up some of the money for the project.

Sloan couldn't wait for the finished findings. He wanted a preliminary unveiling. So, three weeks ago, he threw a black-tie, filet-of-beef-perigourdine dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria for America's Industrial Regis-trites. Ernest T. Weir, chairman of National Steel, was co-host.

On the guest list were Henry Ford II, Harlow H. Curtice, president, General Motors; Frank W. Abrams, president, Standard Oil (N. J.); Walter D. Fuller, chairman, Curtis Publishing; Alexander C. Nagle, president, First National Bank of New York; William S. Paley, chairman, Columbia Broadcasting, and hundreds of others of similar substance.

Kaplan spoke briefly, then released a moving picture which emphasized that competition is compatible with big business and vice versa. Many guests left the meeting glowing in the righteous belief that the law of the jungle still prevails in the American marketplace.

Yet the presence of so many convivial competitors in the same room—officers of rival banks, presidents of rival oil, rubber, and automobile firms, publishers of rival magazines—was prima facie evidence of a more refined stage of industrial civilization than the tooth, claw, club and leopard skin.

Kaplan is being hailed as the philosophical apostle of modern competitive capitalism. Fortune magazine has already brought forth an abridged version of the book that's not yet published. The New York Times has devoted a full page of charts and text to it. That bothers him. He's put in the role of defender and apologist for capitalism; rather than analytical economist. Business men look forward to his book as the gospel for free enterprise and their part in it. Here, they hope, will be the devastating answer to the "concentration" and "monopoly" theories of New Deal economists. What if they're disappointed.

Kaplan flashed a fascinating screen trick. Yellow marbles were placed in a square to represent the 100 largest corporations in 1909. Ten years later, 47 of the marbles disappeared, replaced by blue marbles representing corporations which muscled into the top 100. By 1929 only 37 yellow marbles remained, only 33 blue marbles. These were joined by 27 red marbles, and three yellow marbles, which came back to the delight of the onlookers. All told, 205 yellow, blue, red and green, and white marbles shuffled in and out of the diagram from 1909 to 1948. The top, said Kaplan, is a "slippery place."

This economic showmanship was presumed to demonstrate the rigors of competition.

Kaplan's movie also illustrated how industry competes with industry—how aluminum has risen to contest position with steel in automobile engines, with wood and steel in building, with copper in electrical transmission wires. It charted the increasing proportion of sales of the Big Four rubber companies from products other than tires. To Kaplan that meant that profit margins on tires have been diminishing. Therefore, the Big Four were "forced" to expand into more remunerative lines."

To others, however, that could mean that the Big Four, having made their "peace" with competition in the industry, having stabilized the industry, were muscling in elsewhere. Such qualifications will undoubtedly be found in the finished study. What was white in the movie version may be grey in the book, and, therefore, disillusioning to men seeking the last word for use in schools, colleges, and public speaking.

Kaplan finished his Waldorf presentation with these words: "Every form of social organization—slavery, the guild system, the age of big mercantile companies, and other intermediate stages—has had its day. But so long as we have the market compulsions that now exist in the big business area, I believe that we can far extend the days of our present system of private enterprise. It has proved capable of contributing more richly than any dem- strable alternative system to the composite aims of a democratic society basing its economic progress on freedom of opportunity." Applause.

It now remains to be seen whether, when the book comes out, the after-glow comes up to the fore-glow—particularly, among trained economists.

Own Voice May Frighten Speaker

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Sometimes speakers get frightened by the sound of their own voices, says a speech professor at Pennsylvania State College.

Dr. Robert S. Brubaker reports that when a speaker using a microphone hears his own words reverberating through the room a fraction of a second after he has uttered them, he may lose control of his speech and begin to stutter. He discovered this by clamping earphones to the heads of students and enabling them to hear their own words at frequent intervals.

Sunday Talk: Venus And Mars

A week ago I spoke about several eclipses of the sun and the moon which are ahead of us. The best of all will be the total eclipse of the sun which is to take place next year, in June. I predict that millions of Canadians and Americans will go to the pathway where the eclipse will be total.

Not only will that eclipse be total on a pathway in this continent, but also in parts of Europe and Asia. The moon will block the sun in southern Norway and Sweden, and the path of darkness will run through Russia, Iran and a part of India.

We shall have to wait for 16 months to enjoy that eclipse of the sun, but meanwhile there will be other sights in the sky. Have you been watching Venus lately? It has been an "evening star" for months, and will continue as such until almost the middle of April.

We know that Venus is a planet, rather than a true star, but the old system of speaking about certain planets as evening and morning stars still goes on.

Venus really is beautiful at certain times. You will be able to see Venus shining brightly in the western sky tonight, unless clouds block the way. On the seventh night of March, Venus is scheduled to have one of its times of greatest brilliancy. I hope you will remember to gaze at Venus between 7 and 8 p.m. on the date mentioned.

Perhaps you have noticed how close Venus and Mars have seemed to come to each other on various nights this year. There was a conjunction on the 17th of January, and there is going to be another conjunction of these planets in March, during the early evening of St. Patrick's Day.

Some persons might say that Venus and Mars are "flirting" this year, but the simple truth is that they stay a vast distance apart. It only seems that they are close to each other. The always are separated by scores of millions of miles of space.

Mars keeps an average distance of almost 142 million miles from the sun. Venus has an average distance of about 67 million miles from the sun.

Middy And 2-Piece Dress Herald Arrival Of Spring

Fabian, great Italian designer, creates an uncluttered two-piece dress that reflects the fashion points to be seen this spring. The news is in the stand-away neckline, the collar of which is cut-in-one with the waist, and the absence of cuffs.

The front bodice and neckline, pleated and sleeves are interfaced with stiff, medium-weight cotton. The simple lines of the sharply fitted jacket give great beauty and strength.

U.S. Government Standard Pattern Measurements). Study these body measurements and order the size pattern that conforms to your own body measurements.

Size 12, bust 36, waist 25, hip (7 inches below normal waistline) 36; size 14, bust 37½, waist 26½, hip 37½; size 16, bust 39, waist 28, hip 39; size 18, bust 40½, waist 30, hip 40½; size 20, bust 42, waist 32, hip 42. Size 12 requires 3½ yds. of 35-inch fabric. Fabric suggestions include faille, pique, linen, silk or tulle.

The glamorous Simonetta started the middy rage two years ago in Rome where it was claimed as the ultimate in sporty casualness. Now it is a fashion favorite for the American way-of-life for it adapts easily to our informality of dress.

Pattern No. 1101 is available in Standard Pattern sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. (Cut to U.S. Gov. Stan. Pat. Meas.) Size 12 requires 4½ yds. of 35-inch fabric for skirt and middy. The original was made in linen. Also good in cotton, denim, pique, silk, shantung.

The halter for size 12 requires 2¼ yds. of 39-in. material (linen or rayon). To order Pat. No. 1138 and No. 1101, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P.O. Box 535, Dept. 164, G.P.O., New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1 for each pattern. One week delivery. Air mail handling 25 cents. Pamphlets 7 and 8 available at 15 cents each.

Membership Plans Made By SS Class

Plans were made to increase the class membership during the coming year when the Emily Andrews Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Norman Read Friday evening.

Mrs. Read gave the invocation and Mrs. Herk Agee presided. Ellen Tamplin gave the devotional. The group will have their regular monthly meetings on the second Thursday evening of each month from now on.

Refreshments were served to dine.

Sewing Club Makes Plans For Supper

Mrs. J. L. Stevens was appointed reporter, to serve until new officers are elected, at the meeting of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club in the home of Mrs. Neal Bryant, Ellis Homes, Friday afternoon. Mrs. Stevens replaces Mrs. W.

L. Clayton who has taken a leave of absence from the club.

Mrs. Bryant, using as her text Mark 4, gave the devotional and Mrs. J. D. Kendrick offered the prayer.

Plans were made to have a Mexican supper March 6 in the home of Mrs. Denver Yates. The social committee will plan the menu and present it at the next meeting.

Mrs. Elgin Jones, 1407 Stadium, will be the next hostess. Attending were eight members and two guests Mrs. Richard Grimes and Mrs. Frances Burton.

HI-TALK

By Margie McDougle

Well kids, the first six weeks in this semester have flown by and it's time to start studying for exams once more. The tests are scheduled for next week.

Some of the kids seen in Lamesa backing them were Shirley Wheat, Jody Miller, Lynelle Martin, Barbara Bowen, Mary Lou Lepard, Narell Dene Choate, Don Reed, Doyle Mason, Junior Suter, Giz Gilstrap, James Hollis, Joyce Edwards, Dickie Millam, Jackie Millam, J. W. Thompson, Joe Liberty, Sidney Butler.

Wednesday we were very honored to have on the assembly program three speakers representing Brotherhood Week. The eighth and ninth grades came over to enjoy the assembly with us.

Thursday, at noon, the senior class held a meeting to decide where the senior trip would be taken. The first choice was Pecos Kingdom and second choice was Carlsbad. They also discussed plans for selling tickets to the Slim Whitman Show. It was decided that a group would go out of town Saturday to sell the tickets.

Harry Lee Plumley, director of the BSHS choir, and J. W. King, BSHS band director, accompanied the group that made the trip to Galveston last week. The group attended the Texas Music Educator's Convention. Friday night, a concert was held in the Galveston City Auditorium featuring two 110-piece bands, the chorus of 400 voices and 65-piece symphony orchestra. Others who made the trip were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. J. W. King and Mary Wren, Mrs. G. H. Wood and Mrs. Herbert Keaton.

The 4-H Club and FFA members of our high school have just returned from trips to Fort Worth, Houston and El Paso. The 4-H Club took twelve steers to Fort Worth. Some of the students from high school attending were Sonny Choate, Donald Benton and Ann White. Both clubs were represented at El Paso Stock Show. The FFA was also represented in the Sheep Show at El Paso.

The High School P-TA is sponsoring a pancake supper to which the public is invited. It will be held in the cafeteria Thursday, from 6-8 p. m. Pancakes, bacon, syrup and coffee will be served. The price is very reasonable and there is no limit on the food. The proceeds from the supper will be used in furnishing the teacher's lounge and for other P-TA expenses. Everyone come and bring the family. We can all help make this supper a success.

The BSHS stage band received an invitation to play for the Colorado City High School in an assembly program which will be given Tuesday.

A snack party was given in the home of Frances McClain last Saturday afternoon. Those attending were Glenda Coffee, Sheila Suten, Virginia Carpenter, La Velle Wasson, Julia Rainwater, Mary Ann Leonard, Carolyn Miller, Joyce Edwards, Glenda Adams, Iris Jones, La Rue Casey, China Carol. Everyone is sure to get tickets to the Slim Whitman show to be given Wednesday in the Senior High Auditorium. Tickets can be purchased from any senior or at the door. Proceeds will go to the senior class for their trip.

Volleyball season is here so let all back the Steerettes by attending all the games.

HELEN'S HINTS

YOUR HOME AND YOU... will welcome the good news... Ernest Hilburn and Jack Watkins invite you to come by and get acquainted with "THE GOOD HOUSEKEEPING SHOP" (formerly Mead-Deal Furniture) at 907 Johnson, where you will find the finest in furniture, at prices that you can afford. In Early American you'll find the famous Sprague & Carlton solid hard rock maple as well as several lines of modern including the beautiful Tomlinson, Simmonds and Flex-Steel take their place among the famous lines, as well as many, many others... and also S&H Green Stamps are offered with every purchase. No matter what your taste or your budget, you'll find furniture that will echo your interests... your enjoyment of comfort and good living... your pride in your home and those who share it.

THIS IS A SPRING OF A DIFFERENT COLLAR... MI-LADY'S ACCESSORIES brings a touch of spring to your throat with blaring white collars... their crisp flattery bringing exciting variety to your wardrobe... for these collars, dainty or dramatic, make many costumes out of one, and make last year's dresses look like new. You'll find a wonderful collection—all different, exciting shapes, treated with fresh new details... lace, rhinestones, flowers. In cracker crisp pique, there's a saucy, scalloped turnover, or the small Peter Pan variety trimmed with rhinestones centered daisies. If you lean toward the bold, dramatic styles, you'll find a wide, wing collar for V-necklines or deep berthas trimmed with crochet lace, some with matching cuffs. All yours at a white of a cost, to make "collar 'n' cuff-stuff" your most flattering feminine, fashion-touch of the year.

FASHION FORECAST FOR SPRING... I've just received the latest information from the YOUTH BEAUTY SHOP on what the trend for spring and early summer styles will be. Hair continues to go up and off the neckline and crown the new costume line with more feminine silhouettes. Spring demands a coiffure with front-line interest... wispy bangs or feathery ringlets clustering cozily at one side of the head... or perhaps a sophisticated interpretation of the naughty but nice curl, placed precisely at the center of the forehead. The most fashion worthy lengths are short and sweet—close fitting waves and soft curls that rise to meet the backs and shallow crowns of millinery. The Youth can give you this new silhouette, perfected with haircut, and waved and styled to enhance your own individual charm.

FOR YOUR CASUAL CAPERS... ZACK'S Of Margo's gives you yards and yards of denim, fashioned into coordinated separates that wear like iron and welcome washing. Just arrived is a gay little 2-piece dress you'll wear all spring through summer, until the first whiff of cool weather. In favorite faded blue denim, it's destined to go many places, because it's so smart appearing and so beautifully designed... full, gathered skirt bordered with a white floral design, accented with smaller white flowers peeping here and there from the folds of the upper skirt. Scooped neckline, that can be worn on or off the shoulder... and full, full push-up puff sleeves. It's a gay, new approach to the over-practical denim, and at $10.95, it's a wonderful wardrobe booster.

HIGH FIDELITY... at a price you can afford! Sounds unbelievable, doesn't it, but the wonders of science never cease. Now THE RECORD SHOP is boasting the new dimensional Columbia "389" 3-speed phonograph for only $135.50. It's true high fidelity, because it reproduces entire recorded hearing range—without distortion. The product of the revolutionary "Hemispheric" sound system, the two synchronized speakers at the sides, not front, disperse sound around you... the bass and treble effect produced is equivalent to that of the best 15-inch coaxial speakers. It plays all records at all speeds better than you have ever heard them, and shuts off automatically after the last record is played. See it—hear it now, and you'll appreciate this great advance in super-sensitive sound.

ALADDIN'S LAMP... is a reality at BIG SPRING HARDWARE, where you'll find beautiful, modern design planter lamps, styled by Aladdin in matching pairs. This is only one of the famous names from their large and lovely collection. There are lamps of all shapes and sizes... small and dainty boudoir lamps, large imported table lamps with richly colored bases and smooth silk shades... each one a decorator's masterpiece. These bold and stylish lamps open up myriad possibilities in almost any room, with almost any decorating scheme... hall, living room, bedroom, den... they'll mean beautiful, dramatic lighting and distinctive styling for your home, at a moderate price you can afford.

"TRUST DOROTHY GRAY"... and you can always be assured of beautiful skin. Right now you can save your money and pamper your complexion at the same time, because the CUNNINGHAM & PHILIPS DRUGS are having a special sale on two of Dorothy Gray's famous creams... the $2.25 size for only $1.25. If your skin is normal, you'll choose the Salon Cold Cream, for this cold cream type cleanser has the perfect texture for normal skin to enhance its beauty as it removes every speck of dirt and make-up. If your skin is dry, the Dry-Skin Cleanser softens as it whisks away dirt, dust and make-up, and leaves your skin radiantly clean, soft and smooth. Dorothy Gray is not the whim of a single cosmetician, but the combined know-how of many beauty scientists who create cosmetics you can trust.

THE BLESSED EVENT... will soon be here, and FAYE'S FLOWERS and the old stork are in cahoots on how to plan a stork shower in the prettiest possible manner, to herald the coming of the new arrival. Everyone knows what an important part flowers play at any party, and Faye will arrange your centerpieces in the traditional pink and blue, or in pale green and yellow, which seems to be the current favorite in baby motifs. She'll make up individual corages using miniature baby dolls to carry out the theme, as well as the colors you choose. So why not talk baby talk with Faye, and make your plans now to meet the stork in style... and don't forget that after the new baby arrives, mothers always appreciate a gift of beautiful flowers.

IT'S HERE... Time, light and sound, all wrapped up in one beautiful package, and you'll find it at HESTER'S. Now that you're sufficiently puzzled about what "it" is, I'll tell you about Philco's new multiwave clock radio with a special assembly to make it into an attractive lamp. In a distinctive upright design, in keeping with the best traditions of the cabinetmaker's art, it takes no more space than an ordinary lamp yet houses a complete automatic clock-radio with the exciting special service band, for short wave calls. At home in period or modern surroundings, its space-saving design makes it ideal for mantel, night table, book shelf or any other prominent position in the home decorating scheme. Finished in rich mahogany, it's priced at only $72.50, plus tax.

THEY'RE TAGGED... for town or country, executive or formal wear... designed to be the best friend his slacks ever had. At ELMO WASSON'S there's a new shipment of Expanso belts in woven elastic braid, in four striking and different color combinations for Spring. Since they're priced from as low as $2.00, they make it possible for a man to own several to match any color slacks in his wardrobe. If he looks to leather for his choice-in-belts, he'll find pigskin and calf by Colonial or Mort Sorbie for $3.50 each, as well as belts by Hickok, a name well known for fashion-wise accessories. Of course, there's no leather to match the distinction and long life of alligator, and you'll find these beautifully grained belts by Expanso for $10.50. No matter what his choice, a belt from Elmo's is the kind style-aware men appreciate.

Mrs. Ashley To Be Feted At Banquet

T&P Group Has Dance

Approximately 110 members of the Tee Pee Recreation Club participated in a dinner-dance which ushered in the first of social functions for the year.

The affair was held at the Sky-line Supper Club on Thursday evening and those attending were feted to a chicken dinner. Afterwards, couples danced to the music of the Starlighters orchestra. Mayor G. W. Dabney made a brief address. Arrangements were in charge of Bill Cochran, president of the group of Texas & Pacific employes. Gordon Hughes, Leslie Snow and John Hutcheson.

The second affair of the year likely will be held early in April.

Girl Scouts To Have Tea, Exhibit Today

An exhibit of German and Japanese articles will be on display Sunday afternoon when the Girl Scouts entertain at a tea at the Little House.

The tea, in observance of International Thinking Day, will be from 3 to 5.

The exhibit will include magazines, a cookbook, kimono, trinkets and dishes from Japan and similar articles from Germany.

Regina Baker, the young daughter of Mrs. Clyde Baker, will be costumed in a German dress and will have her German doll and doll buggy on display. Both mother and daughter were born in Germany.

Other special guests will include Mrs. Hulén P. Adams, a native of Osaka, Japan; Mrs. Kenneth Embrey, Irish wife of a Webb sergeant; and Mrs. Leon Rodgers and Mrs. Shephard, also from Germany.

The refreshments will include cookies made from foreign recipes, and copies of the recipes will be given as plate favors. The table will be centered with miniature flags from the 32 countries which participate in Girl Scouting.

Mrs. Bill Earley, assisted by Mrs. Wilburn Elliott, is in charge of arrangements. Parents and other relatives of Scouts and anyone interested in the exhibits are invited.

All Brownies and Scouts are urged to wear their uniforms.

Walter Gentrys To Make Home In Columbus, Ohio

COLORADO CITY, (Sp1) — A-2C and Mrs. Walter Samuel Gentry are making their home in Columbus, Ohio, following their marriage recently in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride is the former Barbara Ann Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Moore of Colorado City. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. George Gentry of Eola.

The Rev. Jack Strickland of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, performed the double ring, formal ceremony, Feb. 14.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown designed with a scalloped yoke of white Chantilly lace and a bouffant illusion veil was caught to a white satin poke bonnet. She carried a Bible topped with an arrangement of gardenias and stephanotis.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Jerry DeVore, her cousin, matron of honor; Charlene Atkinson of Eldorado, bridesmaid; and Rayvel Mosley of Colorado City, cousin of the bride, junior bridesmaid. Rayvel also lighted the candles. Oscar Lee Clark of San Angelo served as his brother-in-law's best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held. When the couple left for Columbus, Mrs. Gentry wore a navy and white tweed suit with red and navy accessories and a red sweetheart rose corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Colorado City High School and attended San Angelo Junior College. Her husband is a graduate of Eola High School and is stationed at Lackbourne Air Force Base, Columbus.
