This composite diagrammed Navy photograph shows the biggest area of the earth — about one and a quarter million square miles — ever photographed at one time. The composite is made up of 310 prints from 16 millimeter motion picture film exposed about 100 miles above the earth. The camera was in a rocket fired from the White Sands, N.M., proving grounds, Oct. 3, 1954. A hurricane (upper left) was centered near Del Rio, and had a diameter of about 1,000 miles. The Navy believes it is the first hurricane ever shown completely in one photograph.

DULLES' REQUEST

Ike Fires Army's Intelligence Chief

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Daily News said today President Eisenhower fired Maj. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau as Army intelligence (G-2) chief of the "personal request" of Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency. In a Washington story by John O'Donnell, the News said Trudeau "actually was removed from his intelligence command by Eisenhower despite the violent, though suppressed, opposition of the Pentagon, from Secretary of Defense Wilson down through the all-powerful Joint Chiefs of Staff and uniformed professionals of Army, Navy and Air."

The newspaper said the President today described as "incorrect" a published report that Maj. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau was dismissed as chief of intelligence by direction of President Eisenhower. The Army Office of Information stated Gen. Trudeau has been assigned "an important post" in the Far East. The newspaper said the President "wavered" in his decision to fire Trudeau, 54, but that Allen Dulles, told a newsman that as Foster Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Parr Courtroom Tests Continue

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP)—The courtroom tests of George Parr, the South Texas political leader, continue today. Parr won and lost. Judge Floyd Jones yesterday ruled that absentee ballots cast in a Duval County school election were valid. That would put Jesus M. Salinas, a Parr-backed candidate, on the board of the Benavides Independent School District. Salinas' opponent, Joe Vallejo, was backed by the anti-Parr Freedom Party, a group organized to fight Parr and his political partners.

Jackpot Grows Again, Nobody Got Solution

This thing is beginning to grow into big money, folks! The Cashword Puzzle prize, that is. The announcement is that there was not a winner again this week — despite the fact that there were a lot more tries. The number of entries jumped to 9,318. But nobody had quite the full solution that the puzzle man devised. For his clues, turn to Page 8 of today's Herald.

Citizens Council 'Welcomes' Probe By U.S.

HOUSTON (AP)—A spokesman for the Texas Citizens Council said today the justice department investigation of it, asked by about 50 Negro groups in Houston. "We're not intimidating anyone and we'll welcome an investigation any time by anybody," said Ross Carlton, Dallas attorney for the council, which was organized this summer with the aim of maintaining segregation of Negroes and whites. "And we would suggest that they open up their records for a similar investigation," said Carlton. Citizens councils have been organized in several Texas communities. The Negro groups, organized under the name of the Harris County Council of Organizations, accused Texas Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd and Gov. Allan Shivers of leading aid to the Citizens Councils. They asked U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell to instruct Shepperd to comply with his pledge of office to uphold the U.S. Constitution.

Mobsters May Have Battled On 'Territories'

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A Senate Narcotics Investigating subcommittee has shown an interest in recent gangland killings on the theory the rash of missing or bullet-riddled gangsters may have a tie-in with the international narcotics traffic. Tarrant County Sheriff Harlow Wright offered the same suggestion. Wright said last night gangsters Leroy Eggleston, Cecil Green and Edell Evans were believed involved in three rackets — dope, prostitution and gambling. He said he had indications each had moved into the other's fields and someone's business was being hurt. Eggleston's body was fished from a well north of here Wednesday night. The 49-year-old mobster had been blasted with a shotgun.

Valley, Coastal Areas Get Rain

Texas skies were mostly clear Friday but the lower Texas Gulf coast and some of the Rio Grande Valley were getting rain. The U.S. Weather Bureau station at Houston reported rains and squalls 800 miles southwest of Houston as a result of a cold front meeting a mass of tropical air. "We're watching for possible hurricane developments," a Weather Bureau spokesman said. Temperatures remained mild for September's first week. They ranged at dawn from 53 at Salt Flat to 75 at Galveston. The Weather Bureau said most readings were in the 50s and 60s. Rain fell during the early morning hours at Corpus Christi, Brownsville and Laredo. Forecasts called for more precipitation southern portion of the state through Saturday. Rainfall for the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a.m. Friday included .78 of an inch at Beaumont, .45 at Brownsville and .13 at Laredo.

Young Cowhands Display Speed

Performing with speed that would make any professional envious, young performers whipped through a lively opening of the 10th annual junior rodeo Thursday evening. The 93 entrants did well in the arena — but they needed a lot more help in the stands. There were less than 1,000 in the huge Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo Association bowl just west of the city. Jimmy Taylor, county agent, estimated the total paid at something over 500 due to a number of conflicting events, including a barbecue by the Quarterback Club. He and others were hopeful that the show tonight and the concluding one Saturday night would draw many more fans to the gate. Proceeds from the junior rodeo go to finance the 4-H Club livestock feeding and other activities in the county. Kenny McMullen, San Angelo, turned in a blistering 12.2 seconds in the calf roping event. This came after the show as did three other of the better times in this contest. Bobby Burnett, Hobbs, N.M., had set the pace in the regular show with 14.2, but this was only good enough for a tie for fourth place. Second place went to Olin Young,

Cop Witness Testifies At Death Probe

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The first witness at the coroner's inquest into the death of Mrs. Doris Silver Oestreicher, young heiress bride of a Miami Beach policeman, testified today that he was told that "much pressure" had been applied at the city morgue to release the body "immediately." Dr. Melville J. Aston, medical examiner, did not ask the witness, Detective Nathan M. Smith, to name the source of the alleged pressure. Smith said he was summoned to the North Philadelphia apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz shortly before midnight on Aug. 24 and that he was met by two policemen who said a young woman had "died suddenly." Smith said he found Mrs. Oestreicher lying on a bed and covered by a blanket. He added that she appeared to be wearing only a brassiere. In the bedroom, the witness went on, were the Schwartzes, and another couple he said was identified as the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman R. Silver. Silver is vice president of Food Fair stores, one of the largest super-market chains on the Eastern Seaboard. Two physicians also were there, he testified, Dr. Samuel Katz, a family physician, and Dr. Samuel Manstein. Smith quoted Dr. Manstein as saying he was summoned by Mrs. Schwartz from his office across the street and that Mrs. Oestreicher had gone to the bathroom and suddenly cried out "Help me. I'm sick. Help me." He said the Schwartzes told him they found her on the bathroom floor and that they tried to revive her with alcohol, liniments and ice cubes before calling Dr. Katz. The girl's father said through his attorney last night that he was not acquainted with the Schwartzes before the night his daughter died and that he did not know his wife and daughter were at the Schwartz home until he was summoned there hurriedly when his daughter became ill. Schwartz was identified as a bartender and his wife as a beautician. Smith said he found evidence of "great grief" and therefore did not question the girl's parents that night. He said there was some confusion at first about the girl's identity; that he was told she was married to an Earl Oestreicher from whom she was separated; that at one time she was identified as Shirley and then as Doris Jean Silver. The morgue also had the name Shirley Silver. Oestreicher, a Florida motorcycle policeman, and Doris Silver eloped to Georgia two months ago.

Integration Brings On New Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Negro and white educator said today there are likely to be added pupil behavior problems as race segregation ends in public schools. Robert T. Bower and Harry J. Walker reported that Washington, D.C., first city to lower the race barriers in public schools in obedience to the 1954 Supreme Court decision, has found the number of problem cases great enough to be of "serious concern." Bower is director of social science research at Washington's American University, and Walker, a Negro, is a Howard University sociologist. In a joint report to the American Sociological Society's annual meeting, they said, "It is likely that the change from a racially segregated school situation to integrated school situations will produce certain manifestations of maladjustment." They said this would be reflected in: 1. "Withdrawal of pupils from group participation in activities involving members of the other race." 2. "Decline in scholastic performance." 3. "Organized and unorganized display of hostility toward persons of the other race." 4. "Overt conflict between Negro and white pupils." 5. "A rise in classroom behavior problems." They said many behavior problems among the Negro pupils may have existed all along—that school officials may have ignored them until desegregation called attention to them. "Already," the report said, referring to Washington public schools, "there is considerable concern on the part of the school administration and teaching personnel over the performance of Negro pupils in racially mixed classes." "According to achievement tests administered to junior and senior high school students, the schools which continue to have a predominantly or completely Negro enrollment had average scores considerably below those of the schools which are either all-white or predominantly white in enrollment." A main reason for this, the researchers said, "may be the family and community background of Negro students—the generally impoverished cultural environment from which they come."

1954 Winner Gins Second '55 Bale Of Cotton

Howard County's second bale of cotton was ginned Thursday — this one at Knott. It was produced by J. L. Smith on his farm near Knott, and A. L. Clyburn of the Pymaster GIN Company turned out the bale free of charge. In addition, he paid Smith 25 cents a pound for the 372-pound bale. Smith produced the county's first bale of cotton last year. That bale was ginned on Aug. 16, 1954, also at the Knott gin. Lawrence Adkins, Lomax, turned out the first 1955 bale, which was ginned at Lomax Aug. 23.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell promises to take "immediate and vigorous action" if he finds that Negro rights were violated in Mississippi's Democratic primary elections last month.

But two Mississippi leaders have indicated they don't think anything wrong will be found.

Brownell disclosed late yesterday FBI agents are already conducting an investigation.

"Reports indicate," he said, "that in some counties Negroes were refused ballots when they allegedly failed to answer correctly by several irrelevant and frequently illegal questions."

"In other counties the indications are that ballots cast by Negroes were apparently not counted and that Negroes were kept from the polls by threats and intimidation."

Tom Tubb, chairman of the Mississippi Democratic Executive Committee, which conducted the elections, said Brownell "has a perfect right to investigate. Not that he'll find anything, though."

And Atty. Gen. J. P. Coleman, who won the Democratic nomination for governor, said he knew of "no violation of anybody's civil rights in connection with Mississippi primaries. My services as attorney general will be used to the limit in vindication of Mississippi's good name."

Coleman won the nomination for governor, equivalent to election in the southern state, in a runoff primary contest Aug. 23. More than 360,000 votes were cast for him and his opponent Paul Johnson.

It is not known how many of Mississippi's 22,000 registered Negro voters voted in the Aug. 23 runoff or in the original primary a month ago.

Brownell said he has received many complaints that "registered and qualified" Negroes were denied the right to vote in both contests.

If his investigation "discloses that any citizen has been deprived of his constitutional rights," Brownell declared, "immediate and vigorous action will follow."

Civil rights laws make it unlawful to conspire "to injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate any citizen in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured to him by the Constitution and laws of the United States."

They also guarantee that an individual shall not be deprived by official action of such basic rights as those of liberty and property, due process of law and equal protection under law.

Brownell said it also must be determined first whether the federal government has jurisdiction in the case under the Constitution. That question comes up because the primaries did not involve contests for federal offices.

GOVERNOR RACE

Phillips, White Still Politicking

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
By The Associated Press

Jimmy Phillips and John White, who may or may not make the 1956 campaign for governor of Texas, had put on separate political shows again Friday.

And Reuben Senterfitt, who says he will run for governor but may not, made more motions toward a statewide campaign in a pep letter to the 22 members of his "statewide steering committee."

The Democrats of Texas—keeping up their running fire at the Republican Party—spoke up in the person of Rep. Albert Thomas of Houston to chide the GOP on its budget and tax programs.

Phillips, state senator from Angleton and a large chunk of Gulf Coast territory since 1947, was the honoree at a 5,000-person fish fry on Galveston's celebrated "pleasure pier." The jaunty lad with the big bow tie used every minute for political advantage.

He is convinced, the senator told the Islanders and their visitors, that all the scandals connected with the hundred-million-dollar Veterans Land Program have not been uncovered.

"I am convinced," he said, "that we have not yet uncovered all the dishonest deals, all the graft and corruption, involved. We must continue the search and ferret out all of the wrong-doers."

Phillips was one of the Senate investigators who probed the veterans land deals. So far the multiple investigations have resulted in only Bascom Giles, former land commissioner, going to trial. Giles has been convicted twice, once on a plea of guilty, in two court cases.

The senator from Angleton was presented a bronze plaque on which was engraved: "To Senator Jimmy Phillips in recognition of his loyal and untiring efforts in behalf of the people of Galveston County and the state of Texas."

To which Phillips modestly replied: "No man can truthfully claim to be solely responsible for all of the accomplishments which may be credited to him, particularly in the field of governmental affairs."

White, youthful redhead who has been State Agriculture Commissioner for two terms, criticized the last Legislature for its failure to set up a statewide water program.

White, mentioned frequently as a candidate for governor, said nothing of a campaign but took a firm political stand in making his statements on water at water-conscious Hale Center in West Texas. He spoke before the High Plains Coop Ginners Assn. and the Coop Warehouses Assn.

The commissioner blamed opposing political views and fear of unfair taxation for what he called the "Legislature's failure."

"The legislators are to be commended for recognizing the need for such a (water) plan," he said, "but they were handcuffed by political and regional prejudices."

He added that Texas' water problems never would be solved until political factions and the public

You'll Like The Junior Rodeo

Every year for nearly a quarter of a century Big Spring has looked forward to the cowboy reunion and rodeo. It has been a major show of traditional quality; one of the "old timers" of the rodeo circuit in the Southwest.

Every year for the past decade Big Spring has been the site, too, for one of the region's outstanding junior rodeos. The 10th annual one started Thursday evening, and if you didn't get to witness it then, we suggest you make it a point to go out Friday or Saturday evenings—or better still, both evenings.

The Big Spring Cowboy Rodeo is big league stuff. It draws the seasoned and best professional cowboys here to add precious points to their totals and dollars to their pockets.

Well sir, you may not see such cold and polished precision in the junior rodeo, but you'll see a lot of unrestrained enthusiasm that will more than make up the difference. The juniors are just coming up. Like high school football in relation to college and professional ball, the young rodeo cowboys will make a lot of mistakes, will take a lot of crazy chances and will give it that old schoolboy try.

The show will be wider open, the pace a little dizzier, perhaps the rides more exciting and the spills more frequent. You'll enjoy it—and you'll help the 4-H Club get a little substance into its treasury to help finance the livestock program for which it has become famous from coast to coast.

Teachers And Patrons—A Good Team

Recognition by the community of the importance of the teachers' role in building of increasingly effective school programs is most encouraging. The reception brought into being through the Chamber of Commerce and school administration is most commendable and one which we hope will be maintained and enlarged.

Parents as well as civic leaders and business men (who, after all is said and done are mostly parents) do well to properly appraise the key role which teachers play in shaping the destinies of children. When you stop to consider that the child is under the direction and supervision of teachers or at some school function about as many if not more waking hours than he is at home, then you come to the sobering realization of the power of a teacher. While the good teacher undoubtedly has opportunity and capacity to influence youngsters into correct and challenging channels of activity, best results are predicated upon a good foundation wrought in the home. Moreover, the leaving agency for plus accomplishments is the attitude created at home and manifested in general throughout the community.

Trite but true—good schools demand not only good teachers but good patrons as well, and most of all, good feeling and concern between them. In Big Spring and Howard County we invest around $2 million a year in education; we therefore ought to put more than our money into education to see that we get the most out of our investment.

Government's Security Comes First

WASHINGTON—Which is more important—the safety of the United States or the continued assurance of a government job to some individual about whom there is a reasonable doubt as to whether a foreign enemy could subject him to pressure and use him to its advantage?

This is the fundamental issue which is overlooked in many investigations and studies being started now to shift the burden of proof and to make it more and more difficult for the detective agencies of the government to fight against clandestine enemies. For it isn't the voluntary but the involuntary yielding under pressure which brings trouble to persons themselves innocent yet with ties to relatives behind the Iron Curtain or with relationships to persons in this country duped by Communist intrigues. Why should the American government take chances on persons with doubtful connections?

The Senate Civil Service Subcommittee has decided to give a lot of time to take testimony from those who, while wholly sincere in their belief that a government employee must be protected at all costs, seem to be unmindful of the main purpose of a security program and the enemy techniques. Today there is a tendency in some quarters to belittle "farcically remote" or trivial the questions that have to be asked in a security hearing. There is much talk also of separating "sensitive" and "non-sensitive" positions, as if, once inside a government building, an employee's movements or associations can be regulated with respect to contacts with persons in "sensitive" and "non-sensitive" position.

Few of the critics probably have read the text of the regulations, for instance, of the Secretary of Defense. One regulation, which covers all security cases in the armed services, reads as follows:

"An officer or warrant officer of the armed services holds a sensitive position by virtue of his commission or warrant regardless of the duties and responsibilities of the assignment. Likewise, an enlisted member whose qualifications would normally require that he have access to classified information or material will be considered to hold a sensitive position regardless of the duties and responsibilities of his assignment."

One of the many criteria applied in hearing security cases in the armed services requires information about "membership in, affiliation or sympathetic association with any... association, movement, group or combination of persons which is totalitarian, fascist, communist or subversive."

But this is not all. Another criterion is whether there is a "sympathetic association" or a "close continuing association with a person who has engaged in activities or associations" of the type referred to in the regulations. In addition, hearing boards must ask questions to obtain the following:

"Any facts... which furnish reason to believe that the individual may be subjected to coercion, influence, or pressure which may cause him to act contrary to the best interests of national security. Among matters which should be considered in this category would be the presence of a spouse, parent, brother, sister, or offspring in a nation, a satellite thereof, or an occupied area thereof, whose interests are inimical to the interests of the United States."

A hullabaloo was raised recently when the executive departments considered instances of government employees with relatives behind the Iron Curtain or cases where a mother or father had been in the Communist movement. These cases always awaken public interest and lots of sympathy, but all the background is rarely explained. It usually is inferred that testimony about the loyalty and integrity of the employee is all that is needed to clear an employee. The real question is whether the United States must take the risk of maintaining in its employ persons who could be subjected to pressure or blackmail.

That's why the President's executive order of April 27, 1953, puts into precise form the experience of the previous administration with security risks by requiring that information be obtained from government employees or applicants which relates to "any criminal, infamous, dishonest, immoral, or notoriously disgraceful conduct, habitual use of intoxicants to excess, drug addiction or sexual perversion."

This shows the necessarily large range that the questions must cover and, since the FBI canvasses friends and neighbors, all the unverified gossip as well as the incontrovertible facts have to be appraised. As the Secretary of Defense puts it in his regulation, "the ultimate determination of whether acceptance or retention in the armed services is clearly consistent with the interests of national security must be an over-all common sense determination based on all available information."

Theoretically, as in criminal cases, the individual should be given the benefit of the doubt but, since employment in government is a privilege and not a right, it is the superior right of the government to say, in effect, in a given case that an employee may seem loyal and be devoid of any intention to do anything improper but as long as he has ties which can subject him to pressure or habits that could be taken advantage of by the enemy, there is every reason why the government should protect itself by taking no chances.

The greatest danger the American government faces today on the whole security problem comes from those who either are naive and unfamiliar with the operations of the enemy in our midst or who are still obsessed with the idea that a security case in a government department and a criminal case in a court of law are the same thing and must be procedurally handled exactly the same way.

The eleven Communists convicted in Judge Median's court after a lengthy trial gave a dramatic example of what security-case suspects and their lawyers could do to harass and frustrate governmental operations if the same rules were applied inside the executive agencies. There has never been any decision of the Supreme Court of the United States which says the rights of an individual supersede those of the government itself in the field of security and national defense. The Bill of Rights protects the government, too.

Nothing Done In Arms Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—With complete politeness in the first big test of their good intentions since the Geneva summit conference, the United States and Russia have now talked face to face almost a week about disarmament.

Net result: No solution yet. None in sight. But then, none was expected from this meeting in a subcommittee of the United Nations in New York. A little progress would be pretty good. They still have time to do something.

So far neither the United States nor Russia has bought — nor has either rejected — what the other offered. The closed meeting up to this point has been exploratory. Neither offered anything basically new.

Each was standing on a plan of self-defense. The United States wanted to see the Russian military forces and establishments. Then each would let the other fly over its territory to check its honesty and accuracy from the air.

These were some of the details Stassen gave the Russians for carrying out the President's idea: "The two countries would exchange information piece by piece, not all at one crack. After each exchange the two sides would check each other. Then, finding they were both honest, they would give each other more information and check on it."

In American planes flying over Russia there would be Russian observers. There would be American observers in Russian planes flying over this country. Both countries could take photographs and use electronic equipment for checking.

In addition each side would let the other send ground observers stationed at key points. Their purpose: to check on the information given and warn if they thought there might be a surprise attack. Sobolev for his part wanted to know what the United States thought about the proposals made by Russia last May 10, since the United States hasn't given a final reply. The Russians proposed that the armed forces of the United States, Russia and Red China be reduced to no more than 1½ million men, those of Britain and France to no more than 650,000, and those of all other nations to a maximum of 200,000.

After an agreed-upon disarmament plan had been carried out 75 per cent, there should be a ban on the use of nuclear weapons except to resist aggression. When disarmament, according to the plan, was complete, all nuclear weapons should be banned completely.

Signing Of Jap Surrender Recalled

NEW YORK (AP)—How can America most help Japan to become prosperous and build up her armed forces to protect herself?

This is a major diplomatic problem today which Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu and his beautiful daughter are trying to solve during a visit here.

Shigemitsu, one of the friendliest faces the Japanese empire has turned toward the United States in a time when it has felt friendship was important, had a leg blown off in Shanghai during the Japanese effort to pacify the Chinese.

Shigemitsu, convicted as a war criminal, now is his nation's most popular political salesman in America.

Our situations do change. Ten years ago today, I wrote the following dispatch from the deck of the battleship Missouri:

"There were four tingling moments of high drama in the 18-minute ceremony during which Japan bound herself to lay down her arms unconditionally and bow to the dictates of the Allies.

"The setting was perfect—on the captain's promenade of this battleship, nicknamed 'Mighty Mo.' Allied ships ringed the Missouri in concentric circles of power. Outlined against the murky sky were dark green hills of a nation being occupied for the first time in its turbulent history.

"The first moment of drama came when Gen. MacArthur walked over the gangplank and moved across the deck with a stride lithe for a man of his years. You could feel the intensity of this man stimulate the crowd like a current of electricity. It was MacArthur's hour of a lifetime, and he had prepared for it by almost half a century of military service.

"The next moment of emotional impact was the arrival of the Japanese delegation—four in civilian dress, seven wearing navy or army uniforms. They stood awaiting MacArthur's pleasure like stone gargoyles.

"Then came the spine-tingling climax. Forty-six great-winged Superfortresses swept over the fleet like high graceful birds. And behind them roared the 3rd Fleet's fighters, dive-bombers and torpedo planes.

"They flew over the matted decks of the Missouri in wave after wave after wave, until the whole bay throbbled. The battleship seemed almost to rock with the sound of their passing. There never was a more stirring flight, and it shook the hearts of the sailors and soldiers. It choked them with the pride of kinship in victory and made them feel as if they were swallowing their stomachs.

"There is no way to describe that mystic exultation. It gripped everyone. You felt suddenly that the ink on the documents, lying momentarily forgotten on the table, meant nothing. And that the men who had signed were no more than symbols.

"You felt, in your whole being suddenly, how peace had been grandly won—by the toil and blood of those sirmen in the sky and their anonymous battle brothers of the earth and of the waters, lying in land graves and sea graves around the world.

"The planes came on and on relentlessly. You felt that the nation that produced them could send them on and on forever, until it achieved any noble purpose, any peace, however difficult.

"They droned across the mainland of Japan. The Navy band struck up, 'California, Here I Come,' and the ceremony was over."

MacArthur extended before him. The diplomat-gleamed the inkwell with the first thrust of his pen. Then he laboriously scrawled his name on both documents—a copy for the Allies, one for Japan.

"The right hand of Gen. Hoshiro Umezo, Japanese army chief of staff, shook slightly as he added his signature. Noting the rainbow row of ribbons on his dress uniform, an American spectator whispered: 'Whipped everybody but the United States.'

"The Allied signatories signed quickly, one after the other.

"Let us pray," said MacArthur, "that the peace be now restored to the world and that God will preserve it always. These proceedings are closed."

"The worldwide blood bath at last was at an end.

"Then came the spine-tingling climax. Forty-six great-winged Superfortresses swept over the fleet like high graceful birds. And behind them roared the 3rd Fleet's fighters, dive-bombers and torpedo planes.

Does TV Already Need Clean-Up?

A senate subcommittee has gone on record as claiming that television crime programs are potentially much worse for children than comic books or movies.

Attending a movie requires money and physical effort, according to the report, and the average child's exposure is limited to a few hours per week.

Reading of comic books requires strong imaginary projections for harmful effects, according to the subcommittee, and physical effort is required to seek out and purchase such books.

"But television, available at a flick of a knob and combining visual and audible aspects into a 'live' story, has a greater impact upon its child audience," the subcommittee reported.

The subcommittee, headed by Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, surveyed TV programs in some of the nation's larger cities, including Dallas.

During children's viewing hours — late afternoon and early evening — it was found that as many as three crime shows ran simultaneously in some cities.

The subcommittee held that the greatest danger of these crime programs is that they are sought out by children who are least able to tolerate the violence material. It was emphasized that many children spend more hours before the television set than they do in school.

Some of the crime programs possibly make children think that life is cheap, that death and brutality are subjects of indifference, and that judges, law enforcement officers and lawyers are too often dishonest.

The subcommittee stated that there is no positive proof that TV crime and violence programs are harmful to children, but that such programs have provoked controversy among specialists in problems affecting juveniles.

Sufficient professional opinion exists to demand long-range research as to whether the programs contribute to juvenile delinquency, the subcommittee said.

"The manner and frequency with which crime through this medium is brought before the eyes and ears of American children indicates inadequate regard for psychological and social consequences," it was reported.

The subcommittee recommended formation of local citizen groups to insure good TV programming, stricter Federal Communications Commission control, self-censorship by telecasting stations, and further study as to the danger by a presidential commission.

Limitations On Our Negotiating Power

Last week, addressing the Bar Association in Philadelphia the President expressed some second thoughts on Geneva. They were designed to correct the impression that we have gone soft, and that intoxicated with the spirit of Geneva, we may be willing to sign away our interest in Germany and in Eastern Europe.

Such false impressions are what come of talking about foreign affairs in resounding moralistic inane rhetoric rather than in cool, matter of fact, and precise language. There never was any excuse for letting the impression arise that Geneva would soon be followed by a settlement of the big issues of the cold war. There was never any excuse for raising the false hope that the Soviets were about to surrender their main position in Europe or the false fear that we were about to surrender the Western position.

It is often said these days that nothing of substance was changed by the Geneva meeting. It should be said, I believe, that Geneva reflected and registered the very great change that has taken place during the past two years in the relations between the Soviet Union and the Atlantic community. The change is in the realization on both sides of what has become official doctrine and policy — that with modern weapons and in the existing balance of power there is, in the President's words, no alternative to peace. What was affirmed at Geneva was the recognition of this military stalemate. This stalemate has and will go on having far reaching consequences.

Mr. Dulles, who is now preparing for a foreign ministers' meeting in October, is faced with the consequences. A big problem was posed at Geneva. It is how, if force and the threat of force are renounced, the Soviet Union can be induced to make a settlement that it is not willing to make. What is to prevent the Soviet Union from sanding pat on the partition of Germany and on its satellite empire in Eastern Europe? Mr. Dulles himself since his return from Geneva has proclaimed as the American ideal the doctrine of no force. Yet he is also calling for the unification of Germany on terms which would demand the most radical concessions by the Soviet Union.

The problem of how to bring about changes in international relations, particularly changes in the control of territories, is known as the problem of "peaceful change." It is the crucial and it is the hardest problem in the organization of international peace. Neither the League of Nations nor the United Nations has found a good solution to the problem — as witness Indochina, Korea, Palestine, Kashmir, North Africa.

With very rare exception the maintenance of peace means the maintenance of the status quo. Now, as regards the Soviet Union, it is the West that most wants to change the status quo. The administration policy, as stated by the President at Philadelphia, calls for the withdrawal of the Red Army and of the Soviet political power from Europe. This is what the unification of Germany on Chancellor Adenauer's terms plus the liberation of the satellites means. All this would be very desirable. But it would be a very big chance indeed. How is it to be brought about, especially since it was established at Geneva that the Soviet Union cannot be compelled to withdraw from Europe?

Not, we may be sure, by talking tough once more, or by choosing to scowl rather than to smile. The situation of the great powers is a situation of fact — they are in a military stalemate though the issues between them are deep and unsettled. This situation of fact cannot really be altered by making speeches — by zig-zagging between Eisenhower's exuberant optimism and Dulles' pessimistic forebodings. The main result of the zig-zag is to give an effect of instability, of uncertainty and immaturity, in U. S. foreign policy.

What could the Administration have done, what could it still do, to avoid such confusion? It could explain the military stalemate to our people — that it means that we have the power to prevent the Soviet Union from expanding its orbit but that we are prevented by Soviet power from forcing the Soviet Union to roll back. We can, for example, defend South Korea and Formosa against overt aggression. But we cannot drive the Communists out of North Korea or the Chinese mainland. We can defend West Germany and West Berlin. But we cannot compel the Soviets to withdraw from East Germany and East Berlin.

How under these conditions does change come about? By diplomacy, or failing that, by the passing of time in which a wholly new situation develops.

In conducting diplomacy, as Mr. Dulles is now doing, in the Geneva climate of no force; the chief means of reaching satisfactory agreement is to trade. Something can be done by appealing to world opinion. But not much. For world opinion is unlikely to back us strongly. The net result of Geneva is that, with force stated, agreements now depend on negotiation, and in this contest negotiation is just another name for giving something for something and of trying to strike a mutually profitable bargain.

The President would prepare the country for what is coming if he explained to the country what negotiation means.

Business Mirror

Soothsayers At It Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Plain and fancy soothsaying as to the course of business — and especially of prices — pops up today. Industry and trade are rounding the stretch of a rip-snooring year. The calendar says summer has three weeks to run. But most business men think of fall starting with Labor Day.

The modest predictions today concern the prospects of another good round of inflation in the months ahead and most (but far from all) seem to think price hikes likely.

The fancier ones try to project the economy over the coming 10 years — and here, too, rising prices are often forecast, but again with notable dissenters.

Higher costs of industrial materials have captured the headlines this summer. Weakening prices of farm products — and lower farm incomes — are political and economic worry spots.

But looking beyond these month-by-month fluctuations, and the fact that commodity prices usually rise at this turn of the season, some think they discern a long-term trend toward more inflation. They foresee a gradual rise in prices of the things the manufacturer buys and of goods that make up the consumer's cost of living.

Long-term guesses on whether the economy is going to be popping up frequently of late. One out today by the Research Institute of America Inc. projects the economy 10 years ahead.

The institute predicts "prices will rise at least 10 to 15 per cent in the next 10 years." And it adds the gloomy opinion: "Prices of food, clothing and housing in particular will rise — and they take up the largest part of the consumer's pay."

It foresees the unions obtaining high wages over the next 10 years, with productivity not rising fast enough to keep prices from being pushed higher.

Many economists don't share these views. They cite a number of factors tending to hold prices over the long run. For one, keen competition will force factories to absorb increased costs. For another, better tools and more efficient plants will produce more goods per man-hour of labor and thus help to hold down costs.

A third factor is consumer resistance to price hikes. And a fourth, is the belief the government will move to curb inflation.

Working Secretaries

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—A church secretary may have a tough job.

A survey here found them running lost and found services for their congregations; serving as bridal consultants and church bookkeepers; handling church public relations and looking into cases of Sunday school absenteeism, to say nothing of taking dictation and typing.

Mrs. Jessie Yost, secretary of Trinity Methodist Church, says she has done nearly everything but preach and perform marriages.

One of her bosses, Dr. James Chubb, says of the church secretary: "She is a shock absorber who meets the people in the phone and as they come through the office, classifies their needs and refers them to those who can help them."

In their off-duty hours many of the secretaries sing in the choir, teach Sunday school, call on shut-ins and help with youth activities.

Mentally Disturbed Mother Reportedly Drowns Child

NEW YORK (U)—The case of a mentally disturbed woman, who reportedly admitted she drowned her 24-month-old son when his crying panicked her, goes before a Federal Court judge today.

The mother, Mrs. Christine Tegreides, 22, was quoted as confessing hours after she faked a kidnapping alarm to cover up the slaying.

She was charged with homicide late yesterday.

Her husband Andrew, 23, a lunchroom counterman, told authorities she had been depressed since the birth of the child.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Bernard M. Patton of Queens County quoted the mother as saying she held the baby under water as she was giving him his first bath in a tub yesterday morning.

The mother originally told police that a mystery woman posing as a diaper saleswoman invaded her apartment, threatened to kill her and then kidnapped the baby, George, from his crib. The body later was found in a closet of the apartment.

Advisory Group

TOKYO (U)—Defense chief Shigemasa Sunada today named 11 men who played a major role in Japan's Pacific war to a new and tentative military advisory camp.

He said the five former generals and six ex-admirals would advise him personally, but he might ask the Diet to give the group official status later.

Ike To Confer With Republican Party Leaders

DENVER (U)—President Eisenhower will confer here Sept. 10 with all 48 Republican state chairmen in a move to spur party organization for the 1956 political year.

Announcing this today, the Summer White House declined to shed any light on whether arrangements for the conference mean that the President may have made up his mind whether to seek a second term.

Eisenhower indicated last month in Washington that he probably would not decide until early next year.

The President will have breakfast with the GOP state chairmen at the Brown Palace Hotel here. They will arrive the night before from Washington where a campaign clinic has been arranged for the two days prior to the Denver meeting.

Coming on, too, for the session here will be Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and Rep. Simpson of Pennsylvania, who heads the House Congressional Campaign Committee.

Hagerty said Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) will be unable to attend because of a speaking engagement conflict. Goldwater is chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee.

He and Simpson will play leading roles in the Republican Party's 1956 drive to recapture control of Congress from the Democrats.

Hagerty said the purpose of the Sept. 10 meeting here with the President, as well as the earlier sessions in Washington, is threefold:

"Improvement of party techniques, stimulation of organizational activity, and broadening and expansion of present activity."

In other words, whether Eisenhower decides to run or not, he is taking a personal hand in whipping up party enthusiasm for next year's campaigns.

Asked whether arrangement for the meeting with Eisenhower means he will play a personal role and campaign next fall whether he bids for reelection or not, Hagerty simply smiled and replied:

"They (the GOP state chairmen) are coming here to have a meeting with the President and that is all it means."

Hagerty recalled that last year while he was vacationing in Colorado the President met here with party chairmen from about 20 Midwestern and Rocky Mountain States.

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandow

What Age To Date?

Dear Miss Brandow:

How soon do you think a girl should go on dates? My mother thinks I should when I am sixteen or seventeen. But my friends all do now.

Terry Ann

Your mother undoubtedly has seen the harm too early dating sometimes leads to. Unseasoned elopements and amulets or divorces or sincere attachments that cannot be realized without ruining one's education are sometimes the results when a girl gets into the dating whirl too soon.

However waiting to date until you are at least sixteen, (a high school senior in many cases) would cause you to miss many co-ed activities and much of the normal fun and social life of a high school girl. Her age limit seems a little harsh to me.

If you prove yourself to be trustworthy in all matters, let's hope

she will reconsider her decision.

Dear Miss Brandow:

My girl friend and I have been having an argument over whether a boy or a girl strays more. Can you settle it?

Bob

It used to be that "boys will be boys." They were expected to sow their wild oats when young so they would be able to settle down in maturity. Girls were thought to be "pure" and one that strayed even a little was branded as "that type" and made something of a social outcast.

Today with the advent of equality women have gained the social right to stray as much as men without being condemned any more for it.

However today society does not go along with the "boys will be boys" theory. Bad in any age and in either sex, and no excuses are being made anymore for "straying."

No statistics are available to indicate which sex is the more flirtatious. Because boys have less to use and do not have the strong inhibition instinct for establishing a home and haven, I suspect boys are the worst offenders. Still, girls aren't the shy demure things they used to be.

IN AUGUST CRMWD Output Hits Record High

The Colorado River Municipal Water District reached a new peak in delivery of water during August, E. V. Spence, general manager, announced Friday.

Total for the month was 851,492,000 gallons, which surpassed the previous record of 693,577,000 established in July. Sixty per cent of the volume for August came from Lake J. B. Thomas, the balance from the district's well field and from city production sources.

The draw for August boosted water deliveries of the district to 4,264,393,000 for the first seven months of the year, which was approaching the 4,521,044,000 sold during all of last year.

Responsible for the big end of the gain is the SACROC repressuring project, and more recently the Sharon Ridge repressuring unit, which take water from Lake J. B. Thomas, the district's reservoir on the Colorado River. During the initial seven months of 1955, SACROC has required 1,368,563,000 gallons of water. It did not take water initially until September of 1954. Sharon Ridge only recently started taking water from the system.

Another factor contributing to the August record was the peaking of demand in Odessa, where 339,220,000 gallons were used. This topped its previous peak by 81 million gallons for a single month. Big Spring, which depends on the lake, had peaked out in July with a draw of 188,187,000 gallons, and in August used only 159,667,000 gallons. Snyder, like Odessa, peaked in August with 75,566,000 gallons, or 16 million more than the previous high in July. SACROC took 221,271,000 gallons in August and Sharon Ridge 42,068,000. A refinery and rural users took the balance.

little less than three million gallons.

Demand for the remainder of 1955, will ease off. O. H. Ivie, production engineer, said that the draw from member cities and other customers was scaling down steadily from the August peak. However, it appears certain that the district will sell more than six billion gallons of water in 1955.

New Water Line Being Installed

Ernest Loyd Company of Midland has started work on installing a cross-town water main on Tenth Street.

The new main, which will assure better distribution service to western sectors of Big Spring, will extend from Johnson to Lancaster streets. It is to be 16 inches in diameter.

The intersection of Tenth and Johnson was blocked Thursday so that Loyd employees could install a valve on the city's 20-inch main which ends there. The 16-inch water artery will hook onto the new valve.

City Manager H. W. Whitney stated that the installation of pipe in front of the Junior High School should be completed before school starts on Sept. 7, and that completion of the entire project should not take too long.

Purpose of the new main is to join east and west segments of the water distribution system. It will allow water to be pumped direct to West Big Spring rather than be detoured through the downtown district as is now necessary.

The Loyd Company will also install a large 20-inch main, in East Big Spring which circles the Monticello Addition to the south. At last reports, pipe had not arrived for this project.

Rhee Was First To Oppose Reds

By ROBERT EUNSON

SEOUL (U)—Ten years ago, when the end of World War II brought Korea's liberation from 40 years of Japanese occupation, every political group in the country, including the Communists, wanted one name to head their party.

That name was Syngman Rhee—old Dr. Rhee, who had spent a lifetime being a thorn in the side of the Japanese masters. When he first returned to Korea, he did not want to associate himself with any political party, especially the Communists, who had seized control of the northern part of the country.

"I have no special reason to oppose communism, except this," Rhee said in an interview. "It is the Red leaders came to him. 'All Communists call Russia their fatherland. I am against this idea of one Soviet world. That is why I have no use for your party or any of you. I am not your leader and I don't want to be your leader.'"

Looking back now on that day, Rhee said in an interview. "It appeared the whole country was going Communist in 1945."

He said American occupation leaders and foreign correspondents all favored a coalition government, which would include the Communists.

"I told them there was no agreement possible with the Communists and refused to accept part in a government that would include them. Instead I went on a tour of South Korea, preaching democracy the way I learned it from Woodrow Wilson. We built a government without Communists. . . ."

"We still have no Communists in South Korea. Whenever a person begins to talk in favor of communism, his family or friends try to persuade him to change, but if he doesn't, then they notify the police who come and get him."

"The whole nation is united, just like one person, against communism."

"That is the greatest achievement we have made in our first 10 years of freedom."

The bronzed old President, his white hair neatly combed, sat back in his chair and asked if I would join him in a soft drink. When I agreed, he called a houseboy, who brought us each a cola.

"Next to our united opposition to communism," Rhee went on, "our most important achievement is that we have started a democracy in a country that was a monarchy for 4,000 years. The people are voting for the first time in their lives."

"Our ambition is to become the best democracy in Asia. We cannot rest, however, until all of Korea is united again under one flag. We are grateful to have the Japanese gone, but the Communists are holding half of our country. We must have unification."

This is the phrase most often repeated in Korea today. Ministers preach it from the pulpit. Barbers talk about unification while they cut your hair. Shoe shine boys talk about it with American soldiers while polishing combat boots on downtown street corners.

If this nation of 20 million persons is so set on driving north, what's to prevent them?

The answer is Uncle Sam, who is pouring 800 million dollars a year into the Republic of Korea. He won't let the ROKs march north and disrupt the armistice which brought an uneasy peace in 1953.

While Koreans and United Nations troops guard the armistice line that divides the peninsula, ROK tanks are only allowed three days' supply of gasoline. Infantry and artillery men are given only enough ammunition to keep them shooting three days.

Three days of fighting wouldn't get very far in the stubby hills of Korea where war raged from the summer of 1850 to the summer of 1953.

U.N. commanders are worried, however, because three days' supplies might be enough for the ROKs to hammer into Kaesong, only 10 miles north of the demarcation line at Panmunjom and just before the parallel.

On July 31, Rhee hinted he might do just that. In a declaration, he said Communists occupying territory south of the 38th Parallel were unwelcome guests, even though the armistice gave them temporary control.

This declaration sent U.N. commanders and U.S. Ambassador William Lacy Lusk rushing to the Rhee mansion in Seoul.

"I did not say we meant to imply we would use force," Rhee told them. "I do not say we will never use force."

This vague stand leaves Gen. L. L. Lemnitzer, U.N. commander, on the same hot seat where Rhee often kept his predecessors, Generals John H. M. Clark and Matthew Ridgway.

Lemnitzer has what may turn out to be the toughest diplomatic job of all, because Rhee is really bent on snatching back Kaesong and the Ongjin Peninsula from the Reds.

"Why?" I asked.

capital of Korea until 600 years ago. When the Russian occupied everything north of the 38th Parallel, 10 years ago, they used to fire down into Kaesong and frighten out people. Many of them left.

"When the armistice talks started in Korea, Kaesong was sort of in a no man's land. They wanted some place to conduct the talks and Kaesong was selected. Later on when they decided to move the talks, Kaesong was given to the Communists."

"I think the United Nations negotiators would have thought twice before giving away one of their own cities, but they didn't care in Korea. Kaesong didn't mean anything to them. They had no interest."

"The same is true of the Ongjin Peninsula. The Communists don't belong there. They never took it. The U.N. negotiators just gave it to them."

"I think the United Nations Command should go to the Communists in Kaesong and the Ongjin Peninsula and tell them that if they want to demonstrate they are truly for peace, they should leave."

"I am afraid that while the United States is preoccupied talking about peace, the Communists will attack again in Korea. We know they have built up their air power and that they are massing again on the Central Front."

"There can never be any true peace for us until Korea is united again."

"This talk about summit talks in Asia to settle the Korean and Formosan questions is nonsense. It is a foregone conclusion that they would be a failure."

PERON DRIVE

'State Of Siege' In Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, (U)—Congressional approval of a "state of siege" for Buenos Aires today bulwarked President Juan Peron's new drive to crush his opposition.

The all-Peronista Senate unanimously okayed the bill last night after the Peron-dominated lower house voted it through 109-12 in compliance with Peron's demand for emergency powers to "annihilate" his foes.

Peron was expected to affix his signature today, transforming into law the measure affecting the capital's 3 1/2 million citizens. The whole country was placed under a state of siege for 13 days after the unsuccessful navy revolt against the government June 16. The new restrictions applied only to Buenos Aires, however.

It appeared the chief effect of the measure would be psychological since Peron already had the special powers under a "state of internal war" clamped on the country in September 1951 after military men staged another abortive revolt.

Both "states" suspend constitutional guarantees to permit the government to hold anyone indefinitely without trial and deny them the right to win freedom under habeas corpus proceedings. However, the state of siege is a constitutional measure, while the state of internal war was an emergency act adopted three years ago for the first time in Argentina's history.

As the House of Deputies rapped through the bill, Angel Enrique Peralta, who represents the powerful pro-Peron General Confederation of Labor (CGT) in the House, said the state of siege would last "as long as necessary" until we eliminate the last danger of troublemakers.

The government proposal provoked an uproar from the 12 Radical party members, the only opposition in the House. Radical Deputy Santiago Carlos Fassi charged that Peron's speech proclaiming reprisals against his opponents the night before had been designed to "incite to crime and destruction," but he was drowned out by Peronista deputies chanting "Peron, Peron!"

Egypt-Israel Border Fight Quiets Down

JERUSALEM (U)—Only one minor incident was reported along the tense Egyptian-Israeli frontier last night after Israel announced conditional acceptance of an appeal to end the fighting.

An Israeli military spokesman at Tel Aviv said Egyptian infiltrators blew up a well shortly before midnight near Yad Mordechai, an Israeli settlement northeast of the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip.

It was in the Yad Mordechai area that Israel yesterday claimed two Egyptian jet fighters were shot down by Israeli planes.

Israel last night announced acceptance of a U.N.-proposed ceasefire, provided "all attacks by Egyptians in whatever form will cease."

There was no immediate response from Cairo. Egypt agreed Tuesday to the cease-fire proposal by Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U.N. truce supervisory commission. The United States and Britain strongly backed Burns' appeal.

The Israeli announcement came as estimates of casualties in the past nine days of fighting in the Gaza area reached as high as 61 killed and 91 wounded. The toll soared when Israeli troops in half-tracks blew up an Egyptian military headquarters at Khan Yunis, in the Egyptian-held Gaza region, Wednesday night.

Israel described the raid as punishment for previous Egyptian attacks and a warning against future hostilities.

The Voice of Israel radio said 40 Egyptians were killed and 40 wounded at Khan Yunis. It said the attackers "could easily have occupied the entire Gaza Strip."

Egypt reported 10 of her men killed and 12 injured, while private informants put the Egyptian losses at 17 dead and 10 wounded.

An Israeli spokesman said one attacker was killed and eight wounded.

The stepped-up violence in the Gaza area, a 6-by-36-mile strip of land, came after negotiations between Egypt and Israel on easing tension broke down Aug. 24. Clashes or raids across the border have occurred daily since then.

He Returned To Scene Of Crime

BRIGHTON, England (U)—Two weeks ago John T. O'Reilly, 43, was fined 5 pounds—$14—for stealing a clock from a jewelry store. The judge gave him a week to raise the money.

Two days ago O'Reilly was collared by a clerk who saw him grab the same clock off the shelf and hide it under his coat.

O'Reilly pleaded guilty yesterday to the second theft and got two months in jail after he explained: "I went back for the clock because I wanted to sell it to pay my fine."

Footwear Takes More Abuse Than Garments

No other article of clothing takes as much abuse as shoes. On an average active day, each of your feet will bear several hundred tons of weight which the shoe must carry.

Shoes are subjected to heat, pressure, perspiration, from the body; to dirt, grit, oil, acids and other grime from walking surfaces; to rain, snow, humidity and cold. And in addition they must resist abrasion and friction.

Cold Weather Won't Faze These Cottons

Versatile fall and winter cottons take a look at the calendar and welcome cold weather with exciting new textures, patterns, colors and fashion silhouettes.

For going places—be it college town, snow, humidity and cold. And in addition they must resist abrasion and friction.

The soft, flexible feel of the modern shoe is the result of years of research. And it was all engaged in to bring the wearer more satisfactory footwear.

Millions Are Spent To Improve Footwear

Believe it or not, a pair of shoes on your feet represents at least a million dollars in research costs that have gone into their construction and design. More and more money is spent by the industry each year to assure you leathers that won't crack; colors that won't smudge, better wearing soles, and a host of other things contributing to foot comfort.

For dorm-wear and warm-weather sleeping, there's a football set in red cotton knit. The cotton knit sweater top and Bermuda shorts in broadcloth are color-coordinated to striped sleeves and socks. The high-rise striped socks insure that when winter sets in there'll be no cold feet.

Don't be surprised if one day soon a guest arrives at your party bringing his own piano

The first portable electronic piano, which can be carried in its own case, is expected to be available throughout the country this summer. It weighs about 25 pounds and when packed in its case looks something like a man's two-suitcase.

The guest who arrives with his own piano unspans the lid of the case, sets up the piano on a table or on its own detachable legs and sits down to play at a 66-note keyboard. Without legs, the piano is less than 8 inches high, 29 1/2 inches long and 2 1/4 inches wide.

Because of built-in volume control, the portable piano is recommended for hospital or sick-room use. The volume can be turned down so low that only the player can hear it, wearing earphones. Or it can be turned up to concert-hall volume.

By adjusting bass or treble, the piano can be made to sound like a guitar, a bass fiddle or a harpichord, says Reuben C. Roiting, president of the company which perfected it after six years of research.

Suitable for use in trailers, small boats or small apartments, the little piano can go along on picnics or motor trips. About the only one who may not appreciate its advantages is Junior, who now may have to practice his piano lessons even when he's sick in bed or on a vacation—the piano will go along.

Noted Fashion Reporter Will Receive N-M Award

From an Army post in El Reno, Okla., by 30 Avenue Montaigne, Paris, to Texas was no trip at all for Sally Kirkland.

Fashion's great reporter, interpreter and analyst, Sally Kirkland, associate editor of Life, receives the Neiman-Marcus Award for "distinguished service in the field of fashion" at the famous Texas specialty store's 18th annual Fashion Exposition, Sept. 5-6 in Dallas.

The daughter of an Army family, Sally was born in El Reno, and she says they moved so often she cannot call any place her home town. She went to school at Holton-Arms for two years when she lived in Washington and then to Vassar where she majored in history. Perhaps it was this absorption in history that leads Sally to contend that "fashion has been news since Eve left Eden."

Avenue Montaigne, locale of the famed Dior Salon, is but one of thousands of spots, likely and unlikely, that have been stops for Sally in her years of fashion reporting. After five years of fashion

Stanton Couple Weds In Home Ceremony

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Carlile of Stanton was the scene, Thursday evening, of the wedding of Linda Cathey and their son, Bobby Lewis Carlile. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley G. Cathey of Stanton.

The Rev. Douglas Church, pastor of the Church of the Latter Day Saints, read the double ring ceremony before an arch of jade and jeweled leaves topped with a white satin bow. White chrysanthemums decorated each side, and yellow roses were used with white zinnias.

Mrs. Gene Douglas of Midland, sister of the bridegroom, played the traditional wedding music.

A suit dress of bronze silk and cotton was chosen by the bride for her wedding. Fashioned with a long torso bodice, the small round collar of the high neck and the cuffs of the long sleeves were tucked with Colt brown. Horizontal stripes of the brown trimmed the jacket, and the pleats of the wide skirt were unpressed.

A small white hat, with a beige veil, white pumps and shortie gloves completed the attire. Her flowers were yellow roses in which two small bluebirds nested. She carried a white Bible under this arrangement.

Following bridal tradition, the bride wore a penny in her shoe, a blue garter and a cameo pin, belonging to her grandmother. She had borrowed the Bible from her maid of honor.

Elaine Haslewood, maid of honor, wore a suit of off-white with brown accessories. Her colonial bonnet was of broeze Fringed chrysanthemums. Mr. Carlile attended his son as best man.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a white cutwork cloth over green and centered with an inverted cakestand holding white abelias and tiny chrysanthemums. An arrangement of cups and candles completed the decorations.

The wedding cake, three-tiered, was topped with a small arch which sheltered two doves with wedding rings. Serving was done by Sue Mathern and Suzanne Reynolds.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Estes of Big Spring and Gene Douglas of Midland.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, the bride wore a tailored suit in a champagne shade with a boxy jacket. Her accessories were brown and she wore her bridal corsage.

Upon their return, they will be at home in Kingsville, where both will be freshman students in Texas A&I. They are graduates of Stanton High School.

Hoot, Mon! Plaids Are Popular And Thr-r-riffy, Too

What's the fashion huddle all about? Cotton plaids, of course, in authentic Scotch tartans and modern stylized patterns. For living the life of McTavish, quilted plaid pedal pushers are teamed with a dark broadcloth shirt to make a lounge or study outfit. For day and dates, a princess jumper in quilted plaid can be converted to after-five wear when worn without its own blouse.

Scotch plaids are among the season's smartest raincoats. A new version of the trench coat in jade green broadcloth buttons high at the neck for weather protection, and has a Black Watch plaid lining.

A raincoat that shows its plaid is made in bright colored water-repellent broadcloth with a midy-type collar in plaid. The lining is also plaid. There's a matching umbrella and hat.

Worship Revived in Jerusalem

AFTER TWO INTERRUPTIONS THE TEMPLE WAS REBUILT AND DEDICATED

Scripture—Ezra 3-6; Haggai; Zechariah 1:1-6; 4:1-10.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL.

IN LAST week's lesson we saw the people of Judah return to their own land. Today we learn of the situations they overcame in their work of rebuilding, due to the opposition of strange people.

Today, if a church is destroyed by fire or other calamity, the urge to rebuild it where it formerly stood is often strong because of the cherished associations of the congregation.

The rebuilding is often delayed because of a lack of money, but if the church members are sincere enough in their desires, they will find a way to supply the funds and they rejoice in the dedication of their church home on the old site just as the Jews did when they finally succeeded in erecting a new (even though smaller temple) in the place where they once worshipped.

They first searched for the place where the altar had stood in the glorious old temple of Solomon. They could make their burnt offerings and worship their God without the building, but not without the altar.

They found the place and built the altar there, and offered burnt offerings thereon and celebrated the feast of the tabernacles. The people sang and shouted with joy, but a few older ones, who remembered the glory of the old temple, wept aloud.

Now there were people in the city who opposed the coming of the exiles. Possibly they were antagonistic because they feared competition in their business activities. At any rate, they tried at first to hypocritically pretend that they wanted to help in the building.

When their sham offers were scorned, they wrote a letter to the Persian king Artaxerxes, telling him that the Jews were trouble-makers and accusing them of building walls for the city of Jerusalem, and that when these

MEMORY VERSE

"Not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts.—Zechariah 4:6

So the temple was finished and dedicated, and the Israelites again went to worship the God of Hosts in His temple in Jerusalem.

The prophet Haggai had a word of criticism and advice about the rebuilding of the temple, evidently thinking that Zerubbabel was not doing all he could to see that the building was being done. Haggai accused the Jews of building their own comfortable houses and neglecting the temple.

We have no space to comment on the vision of the angel that came to Zechariah. We can but quote the words from this vision that are also the words chosen for the Memory Verse: "Not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts."

By His Spirit churches can do wonders in building temples and congregations in spite of opposition and discouragements. Also with His help we individually can "renew our strength" and overcome obstacles.

Mexico Gears For Atom Age

MEXICO CITY (U)—President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines today told Congress that Mexico is gearing for the atomic age while still struggling with basic economic problems.

An optimistic balance sheet of economic recovery was offered by the chief executive in his third annual state of the union message, prepared for delivery to the joint session of Congress at noon.

Mexico's monetary reserves today total 305 million dollars as compared to the low of 169 million a year ago, when the effects of April, 1954 devaluation of the peso were still uncertain, the President declared.

He reaffirmed the national policy of government control over natural resources and stated flatly that no contracts or concessions had been granted for development of uranium or other sources of nuclear energy.

The speech trilled with hints of preparations for atomic energy against a background of relatively low standards of living which a government program of public works and industrial and farm development seeks to raise. He confirmed that a law is being drafted for creation of a federal nuclear energy commission. In addition, a coordinating council for irreplaceable natural resources will be proposed.

The chief executive emphasized that government economic guidance does not exclude private enterprise and repeatedly suggested that new capital and know-how are welcome. He cited recent legislation aimed at encouraging private investment through generous tax concessions and said that the response had been excellent.

Daniel Urges Freedom Fight

WASHINGTON (U)—Iron Curtain countries have been urged by Sen. Daniel (D-Tex.), in a Voice of America broadcast, to continue planning and working for their freedom notwithstanding the current easing of world tension.

The Texas' remarks, recorded in Paris, where he stopped en route home from the Geneva Atom-for-Peace Conference, were received in a cablegram here today at his office.

Daniel planned to visit in The Hague and London before returning to the United States in about 10 days.

Explanation Of More Difficult Clues

CLUES ACROSS:

2. Far best fits the clue. He is unlikely to get very Far, in more ways than one, if he is not properly fed, but he might well get Fat even though not properly fed—depending on the meaning of the word "properly" since Fatness is often due to eating unwisely.
6. In his wanderings, he is quite likely to come to a Farm, of course. If he is capable of looking after himself, there is no reason why he should come to Harm.
9. Wife implies his Wife, otherwise it would merely be a question of a lazy "woman" life, on the other hand, is vague. Whose Life? Thus Wife is the surer answer.
13. The amount that Legs will support depends on their strength. The amount Pegs will support usually depends not on the strength of the Pegs themselves, but on the firmness with which the Pegs are fixed.
15. A Cruiser can actually take them. It is the liners, etc., used for Cruisers that actually takes the people.
19. The likelihood of New men feeling out of place is certainly no greater "in a good team" than in a poor team. Few men are likely to feel out of place in a good team, since a good team blends together so well.
25. Robe is much better, bearing in mind the meaning of the clue-word "hamper" (obstruct, impede). The heaviness of the Robe might handicap him, of course, but not exactly hamper him.
27. There will certainly be discomfort if many people crowd into a small Car. Many people prefer a crowded Bar to one that is half empty.

CLUES DOWN:

1. The auditor might query certain facts, as represented in the books, Wages are such facts. The auditor would not be interested in Pages as such, but only what was on them.
3. Being Aped is a reasonable cause for irritation. It is mental and physical health that causes irritation, rather than Age.
4. Hike is clearly an excellent answer since it implies a long walk. He might go out on his Bike for only a minute or two which could hardly be called splendid exercise.
5. Get is best. Since many animals are inclined to panic in face of fire, it is necessary to actually Get them out, rather than to merely open doors, etc., hoping they will Let themselves out.
8. Misers are hardly the type of people to cheer anybody up. "Not at all likely" is an understatement for Misery. Misery can't cheer you up in any circumstances.
10. A Fire "may grow" (of its own volition so to speak), while a Firm has to be expanded. A Fire may grow surprisingly, but a Firm can only grow according to planned intention.
20. Many a new Work is "introduced" (given its first performance, etc.). A new Word finds its way into the language from time to time, but is hardly "introduced".
21. Peas is the surer answer. For him to be proud of his child the boy must have achieved some worthy thing other than just exhibiting. He undoubtedly grew the Peas himself, which was an achievement. As for Pets, he or his father may have bought them.

Take your problems to Church this week

-millions leave them there!

IT ISN'T EASY!

Most anything worth doing, isn't easy. A man's job, for example, isn't easy. Often it's complicated and dangerous with problems a-plenty. It isn't easy, either, to be a homemaker. A dozen skills and more are needed, not to mention endless hours of monotonous tasks. Yet, man or woman, usually you're urged on by a dogged determination to "do it—or else!" But when it comes to living a life that's commendable and above reproach, does your determination still prod you on? Do you dare stand for right against all odds? Then your place is in the Church, where others feel exactly as you do. Join them now in worship and work, and your determination will be strengthened, your faith renewed.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the good material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SEC Asks Stop Order Against Stock Firm

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission announced today it has begun stop order proceedings against American Republic Investors, Inc., of Dallas, who propose to offer 800,000 shares of common stock for sale to the public.

SEC said it has scheduled a hearing here Sept. 12 into "various items" of information in the firm's registration statement and prospectus, to determine whether the company has complied with requirements of the Securities Act. If it is determined that there is non-compliance, the commission said, it will decide whether a stop order should be issued barring the proposed sale of the stock until "all material facts have been accurately and adequately disclosed."

At Dallas, company officials were unavailable for comment. SEC said American Republic Investors was organized under Maryland law on March 28, 1955, for the purpose of offering stockholders an opportunity to become charter members of a new legal reserve stock life insurance company, called American Old Line Life Insurance Co. and organized under Texas law.

Stockholders would be asked to invest on the prospect of capital gains and dividends through long term rise in the value of common stocks of legal reserve life insurance companies in which the new company would invest. Proceeds of the proposed stock sale, at $10 per share for $1 per common stock, would be divided 60-40-60 per cent being used to organize and operate the life insurance company, and the balance to be invested in a fund to be used for the acquisition of common stock of other insurance companies.

SEC said the commission's order for proceedings raised the following questions, among others:

1. Statements with respect to transactions between the new company and its promoters.
2. The character or type of securities in which 40 per cent of the assets of the new company were to be invested.
3. The method of offering the securities for public sale.
4. Questions as to when the new company will begin operations as a life insurance company and other concerns concerning the plan to distribute stock of the subsidiary life insurance company to stockholders of the parent American Republic Investors.

Antarctic Secrets To Be Unlocked

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man who will be chief of staff for history's greatest invasion of the antarctic says man within 25 years will be able to disintegrate polar ice and unlock the secrets of that frozen continent.

Coast Guard Capt. C. W. Thomas forecast that the great ice masses will be conquered through electronics, mechanical abrasion "or even supersonics"—sound waves inaudible to the human ear.

Rear Adm. George Dufek, commander of the U.S. task force that will head for the antarctic this winter, said man will learn more about the antarctic in the next five years than in the past 100.

New Era For Texas Insurance Firms Forecast By State Board

AUSTIN (AP)—A new era of growth and stability for the Texas insurance industry is forecast by the State Insurance Commission as a result of 100 changes in insurance laws that become effective Sept. 6.

The changes are embodied in 22 new laws passed by the last Legislature after a rash of failures among fire and casualty companies and resultant criticism of Texas insurance regulations.

So-called "90-day bills," they become effective 90 days after the end of the session, which is next Tuesday.

As of that date, says the commission, every major loophole in the state's insurance laws will be plugged and Texas will have the most modern and progressive insurance code in the nation.

Major changes include strict surveillance over new companies, higher capitalization requirements, more frequent examinations, and regulation for the first time of insurance stocks.

This is expected to result in a material drop in the formation of new companies and a rise in the rate of insolvencies and receiverships. The board sees these possibilities, however, not as a symptom of weakness, but as a product of greater strength in regulation.

Also coming under regulation for the first time Tuesday will be trust company securities. These stocks were brought under the control of the secretary of state in a new securities code.

It had been charged that inter-related holding companies and insurance companies had taken advantage of the lack of control to buy the public with high-priced but almost worthless watered stock issues.

The regulatory bills over both insurance and trust stocks seek a quick halt to such operations.

Among other major changes in insurance laws:

1. Minimum capitalization for fire and casualty companies will be raised from $25,000 to $200,000 surplus requirement of $100,000.
2. Minimum capitalization for stock life companies will be $100,000 removing the prior $25,000 minimum for limited stock companies. A new $100,000 minimum surplus will also be required and invested in home office buildings generally will be limited to one-third of a company's assets.

3. Examination of companies will be more frequent and more strict. The commission will have authority to review management abilities, competence and financial plans of proposed companies, and more power over appraisals of real estate listed as company assets.
4. The commissioners will act as a board rather than individual commissioners. The chairman will be elected by the board instead of the life commissioner serving automatically.
5. Liquidation procedures will be streamlined, providing for speedier recovery of assets by creditors of insolvent companies.
6. Applicants to become agents for legal reserve life companies will have to pass a personal written examination administered by the commission.
7. Insurance counseling will require a state license.
8. Health and accident policy forms must meet uniform requirements made applicable to all such insurers within a period of five years, except that amount of coverage and premium rates will remain free of regulation.

Plumber Comes To Rescue, But Pipe's Still Lost

MERIDEN, Conn. (AP)—The plumber came to the rescue and 250 families were expected to get water back today. But that little lost pipe is still lost.

Buried somewhere in Meriden, the pipe has had city officials in a frenzy since Monday, when a construction crew rammed a drill into a main water line.

Somebody forgot to put that little pipe on the map of the city's water system some 80 or 90 years ago and Water officials haven't yet been able to trace a shut-off valve that will close off the pipe.

A six-foot gash in the line cut off water to 250 families. Other families got only trickles.

So yesterday, a fellow from Worcester, Mass., who is an expert on broken water mains came to town with his crew. They started champing on a couple of sleeves to cover the gash.

But the Water Department's job wasn't finished.

Its order: Find that little pipe.

FARM PROBLEM

Surplus Solution Will Bring Laurels

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP)—The world will beat a path to the door of the man who invents a solution to America's problem of farm surpluses.

It is a five-billion-dollar puzzle which has defied solution for nearly 30 years in its modern form. What is the American farm problem? Its most distressing symptom today is the $5,370,029,000 surplus taken off the farmer's hands by the government. But what's the cause?

"Too much production," says one school. "Not enough consumption," says another.

Overproduction is the cause, the cure would seem to be in holding down production. The Department of Agriculture tries to do this by controlling planting and marketing under laws dating back to and beyond 1933 when the government paid farmers to kill their pigs and plow under their cotton.

Increased consumption is a goal too. The most notable success has been with the dairy surplus. The school lunch program pours tons of milk into schoolchildren who, in many cases, would otherwise have none. Melted-down butter sent India as a gift is accepted as a delicacy.

America's farm laws are aimed at guaranteeing the farmer that, barring some freak of weather or bugs, he can count on a certain minimum return for his crop. That takes much of the guess out of a "by guess and by God" calling.

The laws do not discriminate among farmers. The top two million who produce half the country's farm goods by value get the same treatment as the seven million who turn out 39 per cent, or the 12 million who live on the fringes of starvation.

The Agriculture Department reckons its support of the farmer in terms of purchasing power. It does this with a standard called parity, which one farmer once described this way:

"If you can sell a truckload of wheat and buy with the money as much food, clothing, building materials, farm machinery, fertilizer and the like as you could in the five years, 1910-14, your wheat is selling at the parity price."

The 1910-14 base period has been brought up to date, but he had the general idea.

Defenders of parity say it does no more for the farmer than a wage contract does for his city cousins. Detractors deny it, as an outmoded link with the past, a bar to incentive and efficiency and a spreader of government controls.

Charles Brannan thought he had a better solution than parity-pegged price supports. As secretary of agriculture in the Truman administration in 1949 he put his plan to Congress this way:

"Let prices go down if they will. Then let the government pay farmers a guaranteed annual cash income for producing our food. Thus consumers would get cheaper food, and farmers would get their income anyhow and everybody would be happy."

Congress was far from happy with the Brannan subsidy plan, especially his inability to say precisely how much it would cost. It was killed, but it left a lively ghost.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced Aug. 15 a kind of subsidy plan for cotton starting after next Jan. 1. Last April he put subsidy payments in effect for wool and mohair, trying to build up the industry.

Still the subsidy vs. supports battle roars on. Every now and then a man like Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), himself a farmer, steps into the middle of the fray with an idea to deal with a particular product.

Eastland came up this year with what he called a "bold new plan" for cotton. In essence it was to lower cotton supports from 90 to 80 per cent of parity, increase allotted acreage from 18 million to 23 million acres and sell surplus cotton on the world market at going prices.

Eastland also is pressing for legislation which would raise the standard of cotton eligible for supports. If accepted, that would discourage production of low-grade cotton which makes up the bulk of the U.S. surplus.

Any such talk of pushing U.S. surplus cotton on the world market brings howls from inside the country as well as abroad. Textile firms fear imports of goods made from such low-cost U.S. cotton.

Some U.S. investment firms have millions tied up in foreign cotton with which it would compete.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson left last Sunday for Western Europe to try to explain the surplus program and perhaps make some sales.

SILSBEE, Tex. (AP)—A Negro mail carrier who said he represented the majority of Negro parents here asked the school board to keep schools here as they have been—segregated.

A. A. Adams said five Negroes who asked the board in August to end segregation did not represent the majority of the parents.

He asked that the board appoint a committee from signers of a petition be presented to work out the situation.

Silsbee has taken no steps toward integration.

Frank Lane Offers Public Apologies

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Lane publicly apologized for his vocal outburst against an umpire during a game in Chicago last week, but the general manager of the White Sox insisted the umpire was at fault.

Maglie Slated For Hill Duty

CLEVELAND (AP)—A surprise choice, Sal (The Barber) Maglie, hurled tonight for Cleveland as the Indians take on the Chicago White Sox in the opener of a four-game struggle for the American League's first place.

It will be Maglie's first start in Cleveland since his sale by the New York Giants a month ago. The 37-year-old right-hander made only one start for the Tribe, a 7-5 loss in Washington.

Facing the Barber will be Connie Johnson, who pitched a 6-0 shutout against the Indians last July 9 in Chicago.

The White Sox, leading both the Indians and the New York Yankees by half a game, will be starting a 19-game tour of the circuit. They have only five home games remaining—two with the Tribe and three against Kansas City—all to be played the final week of the season.

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez said he picked Maglie because he wanted a curve-ball specialist to go against the Sox.

Up to now Cleveland and Chicago have divided 16 games, the Indians winning four out of seven at home. In the past two seasons, they have finished with 11 games apiece.

Early Wynn is slated to pitch for the Indians tomorrow and Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia in a double-header Sunday.

In the final three games, the White Sox are expected to send Billy Pierce, Jack Harshman and Dick Donovan to the mound, though the order they will follow is not yet certain.

Season Tickets Now Available

STANTON, (SC)—Season tickets are being sold for home games of the Stanton High School football team for $5 each. The duets, good for five games, can be purchased at J. L. Hall Pharmacy and Walgreen Drug Store.

Stanton plays home games with the Odessa B. team, O'Donnell, Grandfalls, Sundown and Coahoma.

Paris Trounces McAlester, 8-5

By The Associated Press An argument with an umpire over what Ardmore Manager Frank Mancuso considered a close play cost the Cardinals their chance for a rally in the Sooner State game with Seminole last night.

The Oilers were awarded the game in the top of the eighth with the score in their favor, 8-5.

At Muskogee, Lawton trimmed the Giants 5-3. Shawnee edged Ponca City 3-2 and Paris nosed McAlester 8-5.

Seminole plays Friday night at Shawnee, Ardmore at Lawton, Muskogee at McAlester and Ponca City at Paris.

Nowadays, a quarterback must not only know how and when to run, pass and kick. He must learn dozens of different plays and know the assignment of every teammate on every play. In short, he must be a sort of coach on the field.

Good quarterbacks, in addition to being smart and cool, must also be durable. If they direct their team well, chances are the opposition concentrates on them, with the idea in mind of getting them out of action or bruising them badly, working on the theory that a navigator running on a flat wheel will impair the progress of an entire club.

The ideal quarterback would be one with the running ability of Bobby Hayworth, the coolness under fire of Frank Long, the nerve of Tommy McAdams and the passing ability of the present No. 1 boy, Charles Johnson.

Combine all those talents in one boy and you're going to have college scouts lined up for blocks to gain interviews with him.

The pivot position is another one giving the Steer coaches some uneasy moments.

The Longhorns have the state's best center now in Jerry Graves and have an ample replacement coming up in George Peacock but, beyond George, the material thin out in a hurry.

Someone must be trained to spell Peacock before next season comes on.

George himself must master the art of snapping back the ball but he's working hard at it. It's bound to come to him. He's only a sophomore and should be as good as the best before he completes his eligibility.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Carl Coleman, the local high school football coach, is doing some long range worrying. Carl is wondering where the Steers are going to get a quarterback after this season.

Charley Johnson and T. L. Kennedy will handle the position for the local club this season but both are seniors and there's no one in sight for the job next year, or the season after that.

Fact is, the quarterback situation looks critical right on down to the Seventh grade.

Billy Johnson, ineligible for A team ball this year, would be more than adequate on a Split T team, where the quarterback runs with the ball or pitches out on option plays. Billy excels at both. However, he's shown little promise as a passer and the Split T quarterback must throw the ball a lot, or face the certainty of the opposing team deliberately setting its defenses to stop a running game.

On down the line, Billy Bob Satterwhite looms as a possibility for the job. If he can stay healthy. The gimmick there is that Billy Bob, son of a one-time Steer regular, suffered a broken leg a few years ago and how strong the limb is now remains to be seen.

How times have changed in this game of football. Time was when most of the boys who checked out gear, it seems, 'volunteered' to play quarterback. Football was a fairly simple game in those days and the signal barker reaped his share of glory without working too hard at it.

Nowadays, a quarterback must not only know how and when to run, pass and kick. He must learn dozens of different plays and know the assignment of every teammate on every play. In short, he must be a sort of coach on the field.

YOUNG TEXAN DRAWS ATTENTION IN NAT'L'S

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Shea was Giammalva's final victim in the Texan's surprising sweep to the fast Eastern Grass Courts championship at South Orange, N.J., early in August.

En route, the unseeded and unheralded Giammalva whipped Vic Seixas, the national champion, in straight sets and then conquered Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, this year's Wimbledon runner-up.

If Giammalva can square past his early obstacles, including Shea, then he can test his explosive though erratic big game against Australia's Lewis Hoad, now being hailed as the best of the world's amateurs.

They would meet in the quarter-finals with the winner taking on top-seeded Tony Trabert, the Wimbledon king, the latter's matches going according to form.

August Campaigning Proved Inconclusive

By ED WILKS

For all the huffin' and puffin' they did during August, the three leading contenders for the American League pennant might just as well have taken a month's rest. It just didn't do 'em no good, no how.

For the past 32 days, Chicago, Cleveland and New York (all idle yesterday) have been scraping to a standstill. Going into the final 3 1/2 weeks of the season today, they're practically in the same spot they were Aug. 1.

On that date Chicago was in first place with a .614 percentage. Cleveland and New York trailed with .603, each one game behind. Today Chicago leads with a .608 percentage. Cleveland and New York half a game behind, are tied for second with .603.

The only difference between them is that the White Sox, catching up in games played, had one more game than the Yankees and Indians and lost it.

For the month, New York was on top 13 days, Chicago 12 and Cleveland 5. The Indians, who also shared the lead for a day with New York, had the biggest August lead, two games. The Yanks led by 1 1/2, Chicago by one.

And with Chicago's Marty Marion and Cleveland's Al Lopez agreeing all the way, Yank Manager Casey Stengel says it's just "too awful even."

"All I know is," says Case, "that we have 22 more to play and must win 18 to make sure. I realize that's 97 wins, but that's what it will take. I thought before it could be done with 94."

The Yanks were in the best position to get off quick on their way to 97. They opened a home stand this afternoon with the Washington Senators, whom they've beaten 11 times in 16, while the White Sox and Tribe go at each other in the first game of a four-game series at Cleveland tonight. The Sox and Indians are 8-8 for the season.

The only action yesterday was in the National League, where Brooklyn made the most of seven hits to thump Milwaukee 6-3; Cincinnati defeated New York 7-4; and Pittsburgh again edged St. Louis 7-4.

The Brooks got their hits in the third and fifth innings to score their runs. Roy Campanella singled home two runs and scored another as Brooklyn trimmed the magic number to 10—any combination of

Sinton Triumphs In Tournament

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—The Huntsville, Ala. Packers, who came to the National Non-Professional Baseball Tournament without fanfare, take on the defending champion Wichita Boeing Bombers tonight.

The two clubs are the only unbeaten teams still in the double-elimination meet.

Huntsville surprised the St. Joseph, Mich., Ascos last night, upsetting them 4-1. It was St. Joseph's first loss. The Michigan club, seeded No. 1, and Wichita have been co-favorites to win the title.

In other games last night, Sinton, Tex., Others blanked the Midland, Pa., U.S. Steel Workers Union 11-2 team, 5-0, and North Platte, Neb., trounced Middletown, Ind., 6-1. The defeats eliminated Midland and Middletown.

Waco Pirates Near Top Spot

By The Associated Press

A couple of positions still could change in the Big State League race although there are only four games to play.

Waco drew within a half-game of leading Corpus Christi Thursday night by beating Austin 12-4 while the Clippers were losing to Texas City 3-2.

Port Arthur, three games out of fourth place and considered through, licked Harlingen 8-2 to climb back into the race. New Port Arthur is only two games behind Harlingen and has four games to play—a last one Friday night with Harlingen.

Waco battered three Austin pitchers for 17 hits while Jim Mehan was allowing the Pirates only five. Included in the Waco onslaught were home runs by Sam Milley, Dutch Van Burkleo, Kenny Toothman and Stan Wentzel.

Port Arthur scored three runs in the fifth to beat Harlingen. George Kostelac homered and, with two on base, Jim Kirby tripled in the other two tallies.

Elmer Toth let Corpus Christi down with only two hits as he won his 21st victory of the season. Texas City scored all of its runs in the eighth. Roy Williams tripled in two then scored the winning run himself on an overthrow on third.

Pros Bid For Positions On U.S. Ryder Cup Team

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—

Several of the nation's top golf professionals, among them the magnetic Sam Snead, have more than prize money at stake today when they tee off in the $20,000 Insurance City Open.

They'll be scrambling for points that mean berths on the 10-man U.S. Ryder Cup team, which will be selected after the final round on Monday.

Play in the fourth annual ICO got under way over the par 35-36-71 Wethersfield Country Club course this morning.

Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., the man with the erratic putter, seeks a spot on the Ryder Cup team for the fifth straight year.

Doug Ford, Yonkers, N.Y., this year's PGA champion, and Chick Harbert, Northville, Mich., the 1954 PGA titlist, automatically qualify for the Ryder Cup squad which meets a British team in the annual event.

Assured of Ryder Cup berths are Cary Middlecott, Tommy Bolt, Ted Kroll, Jerry Barber and Bob Tesh. All except Middlecott are entered here.

3 Bills From Greenlease Ransom Found

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said today three bills from the missing $303,720 of the Greenlease kidnap-murder ransom money had been found in Chicago. The FBI declined immediate comment. The Tribune said that after the discovery more than 30 FBI agents, who have been seeking the money for nearly two years, had been assigned to aid bank employees in checking $10 and $20 bills. A woman clerk in the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago discovered a $20 bill that was part of the ransom money, the Tribune said. After she reported this, the bank ordered the day's receipts—between 300,000 and 400,000 bills—rechecked. Then two others were found, the story said. Previously one $20 bill had been found Aug. 4 in Minot, N.D., and two bills earlier this week at the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis. The Tribune said the FBI believes the money now is being put into circulation and FBI men reportedly are checking a theory that carnival workers have started to pass the money.

Bobby Greenlease, 6, was kidnaped Sept. 28, 1953, and killed by Mrs. Bonnie Heady and Carl Austin Hall. They were executed. Only about half the $600,000 ransom money was recovered. Police Louis Shoulters and Elmer Dolan of St. Louis, who arrested Hall and Mrs. Heady, contended they turned in all the money they found in Hall's luggage. However, they were convicted of perjury and were sentenced to prison.

Spence To Attend Lake Dedication

E. V. Spence, director of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, announced that he would attend the dedication ceremony for Lake Leon this weekend. Lake Leon is near Eastland and Ranger, and the dedication program is being sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce in the two cities. Festivities are planned for both Saturday and Sunday. Congressman Omar Burleson will make the dedicatory address at 2 p.m. Saturday, after which there will be professional boat race. The Mosiah Temple Shrine band from Fort Worth will furnish the music. Sunday's program includes an all-day fish rodeo and a bathing beauty revue. Spence received a special invitation to attend the ceremony. "We are sincerely appreciative, Colonel Spence, for your help in the early days of this project," the invitation stated.

Ike Achievement Data To Officials

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House has distributed to key government officials a booklet summarizing "achievements of the Eisenhower administration." A White House statement said yesterday the document was "intended for interdepartmental use and is not made available publicly." Acknowledging that the 42-page booklet could be used for speech material, a spokesman said it "certainly was not tailored for that purpose." "The White House said such summaries are prepared from time to time "to keep officials of the administration informed of the activity of other departments and agencies."

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Catching a limb, Carson was barely able to swing himself to safety.

Kit Carson ranks high among American pioneers of the past century. He was born in Kentucky in the same year as Abraham Lincoln. His family moved to Missouri while he still was a tiny tot, and he spent the rest of his life west of the Mississippi River. The Carsons settled north of the Missouri, in what is now Howard County, Mo. At that time neither the county nor the state existed. The Carson farm was a tiny part of the vast Louisiana Territory bought from France seven years before. Kit went hunting with other frontier boys, and became known for his skill in shooting. He earned his living by working as a helper in a shop where saddles were made and repaired. Carrying on that work until he was almost 17 years of age, Kit dreamed about going west. At length his restless spirit led him to join a party of trappers and fur-traders on their way to New Mexico. During the years which followed, he spent most of his time in the Rocky Mountains. His travels took him from New Mexico northward into what is now the state of Idaho. One day, while with a trapping party in the valley of the Yellowstone River, Carson went out alone to hunt for game. Spying an elk, he used his rifle to bring it down. Hardly had he fired when he caught sight of two bears about 15 yards from where he stood! Instead of taking time to load his rifle again, he scrambled up the small trunk of a nearby tree. The bears tried to strike him, but without success. Breaking off a branch, he used it to hit one of the bears squarely on the nose. Perhaps half an hour passed before the bears left their position under the tree and walked to the dead elk. Carson slipped away and reached camp safely. He was without game that night, but felt happy to be alive.

Californians Set For Heat Wave

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern Californians braced themselves for another scorcher today in the wake of yesterday's record high temperatures which were blamed for four deaths and 57 cases of heat prostration. The mercury zoomed to 110 degrees in Los Angeles, cracking a 64-year-old mark by one degree. Nearby Tujunga recorded a sizzling 120. And on the normally torrid Mojave Desert it was a comparatively cool 90 to 103. More heat was forecast today, with a high of 108 expected for downtown Los Angeles. Searing winds fanned a brush fire in San Dimas, 25 miles east of here, which engulfed 12 homes and blackened 200 acres. Farmers in interior valleys reported that tens of thousands of chickens had succumbed to the heat, 12,000 at one ranch in sub-ban-Bellflower. Commercial flower crops also were damaged. Several downtown offices closed yesterday afternoon. San Diego County authorities said the 104-degree heat there was a major disaster to the multi-million-dollar poultry industry. A farm bureau director, Warren Hooper, estimated that nearly 6,000 chickens and turkeys dropped dead in their pens. Several persons were treated in Santa Monica for burns on the soles of their feet, received as they raced across the oven-hot beach sands to the water. At neighboring Torrance, city construction projects were halted when concrete set before it could be poured and tar boiled in the streets. Los Angeles consumed a record amount of water yesterday—692 million gallons. Officials said there was a plentiful supply for the area. Dzens of autos stalled on freeways, their engines vapor-locked. Minor traffic snarls resulted. Hundreds of people spent last night and the night before in parks and on the beaches. Temperatures remained in the 90s and high 80s at night. Authorities attributed three deaths to the heat yesterday, second day of the hot spell. Victims were Clifford Hollis Ince, 46, Glendale; Mrs. Juared Petra, 57, Highland Park; Charles Harris, 45, Los Angeles; and Mrs. Elma Gale, 67, Los Angeles.

Executed Murderer Delivers His Own Funeral Message

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—An executed murderer delivered his own funeral message yesterday—by tape recording. About 450 persons at the First Baptist Church heard Lester Bartholomew's voice ask "all of you who are my friends, and those near to me" to "get right with God." In the message recorded in death row, he said: "Having faith will get you right with God. "Adopt him as your Saviour now. Don't wait. "I hope to see all of you in Heaven. "Bye-bye, now. Bye-bye." Bartholomew died in the gas chamber Wednesday for shooting his wife and two children at their Phoenix home May 28.

Britain Takes Steps In Russ Fear Of Inspection Abuses

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain has taken steps to calm Russian fears that the West plans to use "proposed disarmament inspection teams for spying." This was learned in diplomatic quarters as the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee members took a breather today after a week of closed talks. The subcommittee will resume work Tuesday. Informed sources said the British have made it clear any control organ set up will be strictly that and not a spy nest. The Russians reportedly seem to feel that the reason the West wants a control organ with wide powers is to set up a spy organization in the Soviet Union. Anthony Nutting, British minister of state, was known to have offered assurances to the Russians.

He reportedly said that in the early stages it would not go into atomic installations. He also insisted that the control organ, in which the great powers would have a hand, must satisfy itself at each stage that it can handle the next stage before it moves on.
