Eight Vie In Run-off

Eight students are in the Student Council run-off election this Thursday, as a result of the election held last Thursday.

CANDIDATES in the run-off for A&S representative are Larry Campbell, Jill Jost, Janis Jones and Marcia Vick.

Gene Tobin and Wayne Isom are the run-off candidates for Freshman president.

Competing for Horn Hall's freshman council representative are Suzann Davis and Karen Wright.

ANNOUNCEMENT of class favorites and Mr. and Miss Texas Tech will be made April 11 at the Coronation Ball, which ends the Spring Festival.

Candidates in the run-off elections must have turned in their expense accounts at the Student Council office by 1 p.m. this Wednesday.

Meet Features Dr. Armstrong

Dr. Louis Armstrong, director of the Indian Springs School in Helena, Ala., will be the featured speaker at the West Texas School Study Council meeting at Tech tomorrow.

THEME of the meeting is "Programs of Acceleration and Enrichment for Gifted Children."

Dr. Armstrong is one of the most well-informed persons in the country on this topic, according to Dr. Bertie J. Fallon, associate professor of education.

INDIAN SPRINGS SCHOOL, which is a privately endowed high school for gifted boys, has stressed more effective teaching methods for the gifted student in its curriculum. Dr. Armstrong will share the conclusions of their experiences with representatives from 15 area high schools.

Other speakers during the all-day meeting include Supt. Floyd Parsons, Big Spring Public Schools; Supt. Omer Douglas, Brownfield; Supt. Fred Cunningham, Hereford; and Pres. E. N. Jones, Tech.

New Library Hours Told

Beginning March 1 the Tech Library will be operating on a new hour schedule which will continue for the remainder of this semester on a trial basis.

ACTION CAME after the Student Council and many members of the student body submitted requests for a change in hours to increase library efficiency.

New hours are 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday; 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and 2 to 12 p.m. on Sunday.

FOR STUDENT PETITIONS

Signers Estimated at 2,000

Well over 2000 Tech students have signed petitions circulating over the campus asking for student discount rates at Lubbock movie theaters.

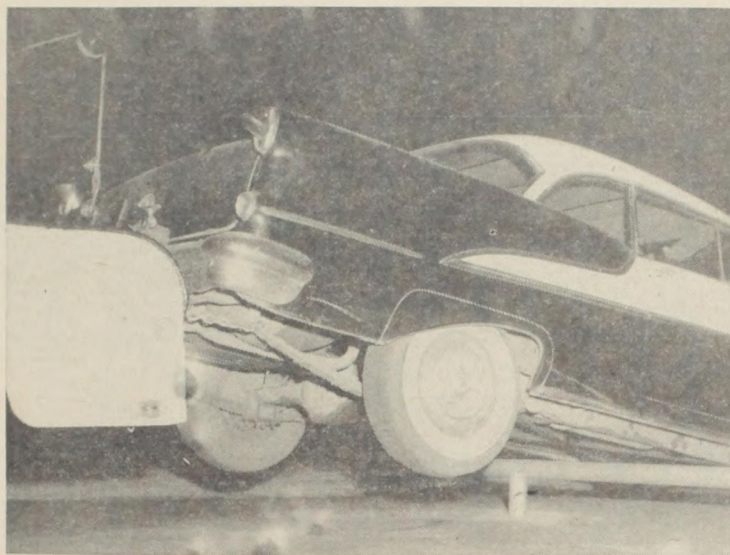

This estimate was made Monday afternoon by a student leader of the movement contacted by the TORREADOR.

The petitions began circulating Friday, Feb. 13 and have continued through the hands of thousands of students throughout the past week.

Student Council Asks Change in Committee

In a meeting last week, the Tech Student Council voted unanimously to recommend a change in the present structure of the Publications Committee.

The present Publications Committee is composed of two representatives of the journalism department, two representatives of the Student Council and one faculty representative at large.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL recommendation is that the Committee be composed of three faculty members and three students with a faculty member serving as chairman.

The three faculty members would be persons not directly associated with the journalism department. The reason behind this being that in order for the students to be well informed, important information and facts must be presented so that members not directly associated with student publications would know what exactly is involved.

IT WAS also recommended that persons officially appointed from the journalism department would serve as non-voting advisory members of the committee, in addition to those mentioned above.

In other council business, a report was given by Johanna Zournas in regard to the upcoming trip by Council members to the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association meeting in Waco. Car arrangements and leaving times were set.

DON SPENCER gave a report on the plans for the World University Service drives on the Tech campus later this spring.

A report on the plans for the annual Spring Festival was given by David Steinman, Student Council vice president.

HE SAID that the Spring Festival Committee has devised a package ticket which will include these Festival activities: Coronation Dance, Skit Row, barbeque dinner and the Dolphin Show. He added that by buying the package ticket, a student would get reduced rates on the individual events.

Larry Pinson, a member of the Library Committee, reported that R. C. Janeway, Tech Librarian, had sent a proposal to Pres. E. N. Jones which, if accepted would extend the operational hours of the library. The Council agreed to endorse and support the proposal.

Australian Lectures at Luncheon

A. S. Cowan, executive officer of the Australian Federation of Communication Broadcasting Stations, will speak at a luncheon in the Tech Union ballroom at noon Thursday.

HE WILL SPEAK to Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism fraternity, and Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism sorority. Journalism faculty members will also attend the luncheon.

Cowan is visiting Lubbock and Tech from Sydney, Australia. He arrived last night at 7 p.m. and plans to stay in Lubbock until Friday. He will speak to a Radio and TV Continuity class at 9:30 this morning.

FROM LUBBOCK, Mr. Cowan will go to the University of Missouri to represent Australia at the International Conference of Newspaper, Radio and TV Officials.

Representatives from every country were invited to attend this conference, with Russia the only country declining the invitation.

Coeds Pick Officers Tomorrow

by PEGGY BRANAMAN

The activity-point system will be weighed in the balance tomorrow in the all-campus Association of Women Students election.

IN ADDITION to the question, "Are you in favor of having an activity point system," AWS officers will be elected.

All Tech women are eligible to vote. Ballots will be available in the dorm lunch lines and in the Tech Union from 11 to 2 p.m.

THE BALLOT will include nominees for AWS officers: Jean Schepers, president; Mary Frank Garrett, first vice president; Carolyn "Sis" Jenkins and Carolyn Scott, second vice president; Kay Sharp, third vice president.

Sally Miller, Billie Jean Strohle, and Donna Christopher, secretary; Ann Fursman and Carol Jean Hanks, treasurer; Mary Helen Fairly, Judy Harper, Betty Sue Mienecke, and Marilyn Gardner, reporter; and Marihelen Jones, IAWS representative.

APPROVAL of the point system would affect all Tech women students, limiting them to a maximum number of activity points.

Points as set up by the AWS at present include: Student Association president, 15; secretary, 10; sorority president, 9; student council representative, 7; dormitory president, 6; and AWS representative, 6.

THE ACTIVITY point system is an attempt to distribute the major offices and responsibilities more evenly, says Barbara McDougal, AWS president.

If the majority of the women students vote in favor of such a system, complete re-evaluation of the present system will be necessary. If the proposal is defeated, the question will be dropped, according to Miss McDougal.

Deadline Set For Friday

Deadline for BSO delegates to turn in their leadership retreat applications is 5 p.m. Friday in the Dean of Student Life Office.

EXPENSES for each delegate are $25 and every organization in BSO may send one delegate to Cloudcroft, New Mexico for retreat on March 6-8.

Harry Walker will be keynote speaker and resource person at Cloudcroft.

Walker received his Bachelor of Arts and Master of Business Administration from Denver University and is presently working on his doctorate at Colorado University.

BESIDES BEING an elder at Westminster Presbyterian Church Walker also serves as vice-president of Men's Fellowship, in local Cub Scout work and in the local Masonic Lodge.

His hobbies include woodwork, athletics and music, with special interest in Eastern religions.

In 1957 Walker represented the western one-third of USA in an International Speech Contest where he placed second in a toastmasters' contest.

HE HAS also had speaking experience from college debating teams and various speaking engagements.

In addition to work, the retreat will feature skiing, sledding and ice skating in the mountaineous scenery of Cloudcroft.

DELEGATES will have a free afternoon to shop in Cloudcroft and visit the surrounding area.

Recreation will also include a games night and dance at the lodge for Techsians.

"Riders to the Sea", a one-act opera written by the late Ralph Vaughan Williams from a short story by J. M. Synge, will be first on the program.

THE PERFORMERS are Dorothy Pijan, the mother, John Gilbert, the son, and Karen Frack and Marjorie Tall, the daughters.

Members of Mu Phi Epsilon music sorority will compose the chorus with solos by Mary Anne Parks and Nancy Russell.

THE SECOND ACT of "Hansel and Gretel", an opera adapted by Humperdinck from the well-known fairy tale, will be performed with Yvonne Skinner, Hansel, Marilyn Campbell, Gretel, and Mary Anne Parks, the Sandman.

The opera panorama will be concluded with the entire second act of "Carmen."

"CARMEN" WILL be staged along the lines of a Broadway musical with dialogue in English between songs.

Linda Hart will sing and dance as Carmen, the fiery gypsy girl. Von Prahll will portray the bull-fighter and Don Clements, Captain Zuniga. The gypsy troupe will be composed of Kay Adkins, Joan McMinn, Douglas Pummil and Patrick Withers.

Students enrolling at Tech next fall will not receive a catalog, but instead a general information bulletin from the school which they are enrolled.

UNDER the new multiple system, each school will have a separate bulletin. The purpose of this system is twofold. It is an economy measure in that it is cheaper to print the smaller individual bulletin than the general catalog. It is also saving because the students have the information from their school in the one publication.

"We are attempting to make the bulletins more informative than the general catalogs of the past," says Mrs. Louise Allen, chief of the catalog and bulletin committee.

Students Sent New Style Catalog

Students enrolling at Texas Tech next fall will not receive a catalog, but instead a general information bulletin from the school in which they are enrolled.

Under the new multiple catalog system, each school has a separate bulletin. The purpose of this system is twofold. It is an economy measure in that it is cheaper to print the smaller individual bulletin than the large general catalog. It is also timely because the student will have the information concerning his school in the one compact publication.

"We are attempting to make the bulletins more informal than the general catalogs of the past," says Mrs. Louise Allen, chairman of the catalog and bulletins committee.

Cover for the bulletins, designed by Mrs. Troy Lockard, asstant professor of applied arts, is in a satellite motif. Each cover has the same.

The Engineering bulletin, fourth in the series to appear, came off the press this week. Already completed and printed are the Home Economics, Graduate and Arts and Sciences bulletins. Those for Business Administration, Agriculture, summer school, and the general information bulletin will be finished later in the semester.

These will not be generally distributed until the present supply of 33rd Annual Catalogs is exhausted. A student will continue to graduate under the program listed in the catalog of the year he enters Tech if he chooses.

Frosh Dance For Friday Night

Take Down The Barrier, Boys

A shining example of an architectural blunder can now be seen located in the center of the barrier to the small parking lot in front of the Journalism Building. It is a metal barrier erected to "discourage" parking in this lot.

This seemingly insignificant little structure has caused confusion comparable to that in Macy's Department Store on "bargain day."

Two immediate problems have resulted. One is that since enough space has been left on each side of the barrier to allow cars to pass through, the lot has become so crowded that the entrances often are blocked and people wanting to leave are unable to do so.

The other problem is that the structure has become a dangerous obstacle to drivers unfamiliar with its presence. An example of this peril can be seen in the picture on the front page of this issue. It was taken after an unsuspecting driver rounded the corner on his way to the Journalism Building and jumped the metal structure. A wrecker was needed to move the car.

If cars are going to be allowed to park in this area, then some qualifications should be made and the barrier should be removed. As it is now, it serves no purpose and is causing more harm than good. Also, designation should be made limiting the number that can park there.

The seemingly logical thing to do would be to open the lot exclusively to Journalism and Library personnel and give parking tickets to violators. No-parking signs have been distributed in the area but at present haven't been enforced.

It is only a matter of time before the lot will be torn up and grass planted. Until then it seems feasible that the barrier should be removed and those personnel mentioned should be allowed to park in the lot exclusively, thereby eliminating the present hodge-podge.

From Other Colleges

Long Study Helps University Study

An 18-month study on aspects of higher education in its home state by Wyoming University was summed up in seven recommendations.

1. COLLEGES OF Wyoming should continue admitting all graduates of Wyoming high schools, and at the same time set up a pattern of high school subject-matter units desirable for students desiring a college education.

2. Cooperation between public schools of the state and colleges should be established to work toward the challenging of gifted students through high school and college.

3. AN EXPANDED program of state scholarships should be established to encourage gifted students to attend colleges in the state.

4. Programs, courses and procedures should be developed to facilitate the progress of superior students in state colleges.

5. GUIDANCE SERVICES should be strengthened wherever possible by employing competently trained guidance officers for the benefit of all students throughout their high school years.

6. Recognizing the limited guidance services available in high schools, state colleges should provide fuller guidance service for entering college students.

7. COLLEGES SHOULD strengthen its teacher education program in guidance and thus provide a fuller supply of competently trained guidance officers to meet the needs of public schools.

PERSONAL QUALITIES which make for success in teaching will be the subject of a five-year investigation by the Texas University College of Education.

The National Institute of Mental Health has authorized a training grant of $51,000 for the first year of the five-year program, scheduled to receive $325,000 from NIHMM funds.

THIS PROJECT is the first of its kind in the United States designed to develop teacher education programs which will foster sound mental health on the parts of the teachers and pupils.

We Win Again

What a time everyone had at the game! Tempers flared, fans yelled, and the Raiders fought their way into a tie for second place.

The extra-curricular activities helped to make the Saturday evening more entertaining, as if the ballgame wasn't enough.

To start things off, there was the first exchange of the "victory bell" between Tech and SMU. It was a shame that we had to give it away first, but we liked Echols' statement which said, in effect, "we don't mind presenting it to SMU because we know we have a good chance of getting it back." Have we a prophet among us?

The half-time show was simply delightful. Why the Modern Dance troupe hasn't appeared before at a ballgame we'll never know.

The first performers (five Tech coeds) did their dance to Dave Brubeck's "I'm in a Dancing Mood." The dance was performed very well except in an instance or two when the dancers seemed to be not in rhythm with the jazz number. Considering the first part in its entirety, it was very acceptable.

Kay Adkins dance to "Tea for Two-Cha-Cha-Cha" was delightful. She seemed to have everything under control, and carried out the dance steps and mannerisms nicely.

The last dance, performed by two Tech coeds to "One Mint Julep" was the most exciting. The girls' movements were graceful (the way they were supposed to be graceful), and they indeed did justice to the fine number they danced to.

We would like to see much more talent like this displayed more often on the Tech campus. Tech, in reality, is located in the center of a cultural desert, despite attempts of many to improve the situation.

It looks as if this situation is to be changed, it will be left up to Tech to change it. For instance, a jazz session with a capacity crowd was held in the Museum Auditorium, and most of the performers were Techsians. Do you ever hear of the townspeople coming up with something like that?

There are no good, decent clubs with the right atmosphere for bringing in good artists. Oh, the Auditorium is all right for a one night stand for a real big name band, but what Tech and Lubbock need (at least one for both) is a big nice place just dripping with atmosphere where jazz and dance bands can perform for the enjoyment of citizens and students in Lubbock.

People are always talking about "how dead Lubbock is." With a couple of "atmospheric places" like the one mentioned above, Lubbock would come alive. But, we all know this won't happen until something else happens . . .

Art appreciation is another thing lacking in this area. The South Plains Art Guild, West Texas Museum and the Tech Union have been working hard to solve this situation, but they haven't been able to stir up enough interest.

We know that a lot of students draw and paint in their spare time, but the only people who see their work are those who visit their dormitory rooms, or other places of abode. It seems that there should be some public spot made available for these students to display their paintings.

It would be ideal if this place would have some type of informal seating arrangement where people could sit around, drink coffee and discuss the paintings, as well as other cultural items needed in Lubbock and at Tech.

Techsians Talk Back

Editor,

I have been following the controversy on religion in the Techsians Talk Back section of the TOREADOR with a great deal of interest. However, it appears to me that the antagonists have been shadow boxing without coming to grips with any real issues. I have certainly become confused.

I would therefore like to request all of those people who have written letters to submit their respective definitions of religions to the TOREADOR for publication. Once terms have been defined it seems to me that this discussion could continue on a firmer basis.

William M. Perel

Editor's Note

If you will check back you will find that James Hamm, who wrote the original article on the subject, defined religion as he saw it. Some of the letters in protest did not seem to realize this.

FOR THE FILES

Editor,

I was most amused to see Mr. Hamm retreat, under Charles O'Dell's pressure in his comment in Tuesday's TOREADOR. Saying originally that religion for Hamm would positively include a dogma to the effect that all other opinions were right also, however contradictory, he now recedes to a toleration that merely omits to condemn others. Such an improvement in Mr. Hamm's religious thinking is a welcome advance.

As to judging, no one required it more imperiously than Jesus. His truth is not to be irrationally accepted; a deliberate decision is commanded. To apply Christ's strictness against our tendency to judge the moral conscience of our neighbor to the quite distinct field of religious truth is to reveal a deplorable lack of contact with the Gospels. In the area of "right" or "wrong" religious no one ever judged so severely or so truly urged his followers to be likewise discerning. Would Mr. Hamm, unlike Christ, have us abdicate our mind's use?

Suzanne Ellis

A Note from Mr. Hamm:

I would like to point out to Miss Ellis that I have conceded no point to Mr. O'Dell. I merely pointed out in Tuesday's Toreador that Mr. O'Dell was putting words in my mouth. He stated that I had condemned Christianity, which certainly wasn't so. As for Miss Ellis' second point, I intend that for me one religion is right—my own. That answer holds true for everyone. To try to cram the personalities of every person on earth into the straitjacket of one narrow creed is the height of ridiculousness.

THE PUBLICITY COMMITTEE of the Student Religious Council has done much to promote Religious Emphasis Week coming up on March 2. Members are (left to right) Jim Dinsmore, chairman, Fred Gloyna, Richard Estes and Dorothy Tennant. The publicity committee is also active in promoting three annual morning watches at Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter.

REW Features Rev. J. Jones

Monday will mark the beginning of Religious Emphasis Week.

THE REV. JAMESON JONES, of the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church will be the featured speaker. He will give addresses Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday nights at 7:30 and at 10 a.m. in the Union Ballroom, Jim Dinsmore, publicity chairman, stated.

Talks will stem from the week's theme: "This faith, Our Day Demands." Both Reverend Jones, who is also the editor of "Motive," national publication of Methodists, and seven other speakers will discuss phases of practical Christianity.

PANEL AND classroom discussions, bull session and individual conferences will be conducted by the visiting speakers. Speakers will also talk to the sororities and fraternities.

A time schedule and speech titles will be given in a later issue of the TOREADOR when topics are complete Dinsmore indicated.

Interviews Set For Weekend

Clinton E. Howeth, Soil Conservation Service, will conduct interviews Thursday and Friday for June agriculture graduates.

HE WILL INTERVIEW soils, range, agricultural engineering and civil engineering students.

Juniors majoring in agricultural engineering, civil engineering, agronomy, range, agricultural education and animal husbandry will also be interviewed for the summer Student Trainee Program.

HOWETH ADVISES students interested in the program to complete Civil Service Form 5000AB, available at any post office, and mail it to the Civil Service Board of Examiners, Box 1898, Fort Worth.

Forms should be mailed no later than March 5 to allow applicants to take the written test March 23.

ANY STUDENT who wishes to make an appointment with Howeth must schedule his interview before Thursday.

Editor Deadlines Are March 2

Deadline for applications for editors and business managers of La Ventana and The Toreador is March 2, according to Prof. W. E. Garret, chairman of the Board on Student Publications. Selections will be made the latter part of the month.

Prof. Schieson Heads Tech Research Project

An efficient method of removing silts from underground water on the High Plains is being sought in an elaborate research project on Tech Animal Husbandry Department land.

A recharge well is being constructed by William F. Schiesow, assistant professor of agricultural engineering, and James Valliant, Tech senior agricultural engineering student from Pecos.

"Past experience shows that frequent pumping of the well is required to remove silt where the gravity flow method is used. This slows down the recharge process an dis an added expense." Says Professor Schiesow, head of the project.

They have installed a tile drainage system for the purpose of providing a large area for filtration into the tile system. Water will then be collected from the system of laterals by a main line and piped to the well.

The system is located on a shallow surface lake with a base area of about ten acres. When the lake is full it covers approximately 34 acres, Professor Schiesow reports.

Estok's Book Is Published

Dr. George K. Estok, associate professor of chemistry, has written a 278-page textbook entitled "Organic Chemistry" which has been published by the W. B. Saunders Company of Philadelphia.

THE BOOK is illustrated and designed for one-semester or quarter-term courses and is directed to students of agriculture, home economics and fields requiring sound background in organic principles.

The publishers describe the book as generous in the use of illustrations, review questions and everyday applications which are combined to make a highly practical text that encourages student interest.

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District irrigation firms and allied industries here are furnishing materials for the project.

Techsans Will Vote On Handsome Man

Red and white checked tablecloths and tallow-covered bottles will lend a night-club effect to the 20th Club Scarlet.

CLUB SCARLET'S Night Club is sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, honorary women's journalism fraternity, and will be held in the Rec Hall 8 p.m. Saturday.

He has participated on REW teams for North Texas State College, Texas A&M and Tech. Also he has served on Religious Focus Week teams for Baylor Professional Schools in Dallas, Baptist Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Memphis, Tenn., East Texas Baptist College, and Mary Hardin-Baylor College.

ENTERTAINMENT will be provided in the form of six skits including a night club theme by Delta Gamma; a musical number, "Frankie and Johnny," by Sigma Kappa; a chorus line by Kappa Alpha Theta; and a "Sack Dance" by Pi Beta Phi.

Also, the Sam Houston Rifles will show what happened "The Day the Devilettes Got Their Guns" and Delta Delta Delta will present "Betty Co-ed and the Psychiatrist."

"ONLY 300 TICKETS are available," says Carol Thompson, president of Theta Sigma Phi. These will be on sale in Tech Union Thursday through Saturday at $1 each.

Each ticket entitles the holder to one vote in the final selection of Tech's Most Handsome Man.

Except for excess decoration, excess commercialism, excess editorializing, excess caroling, excess bibbling, and excess cheer, I heartily approve of the Christmas spirit.

Holbrook Will Impersonate Mark Twain

by JERRY WAGGONER
 "The human race, in its poverty, has unquestionably one really effective weapon—laughter. Power, money, persuasion, supplication, persecution, these can lift at a colossal humbug—push it a little, weaken it a little, century by century; but only laughter can blow it to rags and atoms at a blast. Against the assault of laughter nothing can stand."

 "The Mysterious Stranger"

This old proverb by Samuel Langhorne Clemens will be brought vividly to life by actor Hal Holbrook, who presents "Mark Twain Tonight," solo show at the Lubbock Auditorium, Monday, March 9th at 8 p.m.

THE SHOW, presented by the Movies and Lectures Committee of the Tech Union, will be free and the public is invited.

Holbrook recreates the sort of solo entertainment for which Twain was internationally famous. He appears on the stage made up to look like the white-haired, white-suited, cigar-smoking, Missouri-born humorist and presents an evening of entertainment selected from the author's works.

IN THE GUISE of Twain, once acclaimed as America's court jester, Holbrook recreates episodes from such books as "Huckleberry Finn," "The Innocents Abroad," "Life on the Mississippi," and "Roughing It," weaving them together with the hilarious commentary which made Mark Twain one of the world's best-loved comedians.

Mr. Holbrook, who adds nearly forty years to his own age in characterizing the great humorist, has appeared in night clubs, theatres, and universities across the country, and has been featured on television by Ed Sullivan, Steve Allen and Jack Parr. Last May he scored a noteworthy success as Mark Twain on the all-star NBC Wide, Wide World telecast, "The Sound of Laughter."

HOLBROOK, who graduated with honors from Denison University, made his first professional theatrical appearance at the Cain Park Theatre in Cleveland, July 1942, in "The Man Who Came To Dinner." He was then 17 years old.

He then moved to summer stock companies where he played at various times from 1947 to 1953.

HIS FIRST television performance in New York was as Abraham Lincoln on the "Hollywood Screen Test" program. In 1954 he was engaged to play the role of Grayling Dennis on the CBS daytime television dramatic serial "The Brighter Day," and is currently completing his fifth year on this program.

Holbrook conceived his solo show, "Mark Twain Tonight" in February, 1955. He played his first night club engagement, impersonating Mark Twain in "Upstairs at the Duplex," in 1955, in a Greenwich Village club, remaining there for seven months. Following this engagement, he was featured with noted television productions.

Heather Names Tech Delegate

Dr. Roy J. Sampson, assistant professor of economics, has been nominated to attend a summer faculty seminar at Williams College in Williamstown, Mass., Dean George Heather announces.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS in business administration including quantitative analysis, computation, data processing, general search in business administration will be reviewed at the seminar, problems of curriculum and rescheduled in August.

The Ford Foundation, which provides a $400 grant for each participant, sponsors the seminar. Similar meetings are offered at Carnegie Tech and Harvard University.

To slink in bare feet through a small apartment with only one dim light is as fool-hardy as standing on a frail card table to replace a defunct bulb in the ceiling fixture.

The Pictadors played a fine game against Ince Oilers Saturday night. They went into the same stall that the Varsity used so effectively against SMU.

Del Ray Mounts came through with 18 points and showed all during the game the type of play he was capable of. He was ably assisted by Roger Hennig with 16 points, Vance Moxom with 15, and Billy Wilbanks with 12. Monte lead the attack in what was the best team effort of the year.

The Picadors now stand at 7-1 for the season.

Everyone just seems to pick on poor Podd Hill. It seems a shame that Ronnie Stevenson and Bobby James should take a poke at Podd for nothing. Ask him sometime and he'll tell you that they have no grounds for such conduct.

Who knows maybe tonight old good natured Tom Robitaille of Rice will just happen to want Hill out of the way. That would make three for the season. That should be good for some kind of record.

Rice has been playing everyone a good game, but it seems that with all their effort they just can't come out on top. Let's hope that hard ball luck continues through tonight.

TCU has won the SWC championship and the consensus of opinion is that they will be good representatives to the NCAA playoffs at Kansas City. I personally hope they win the thing.

The Athletes have won the Independent League 1 intramural basketball championship. They finished up the season undefeated in league play.

The Gunners, Independent League 2, seem to have the championship of that league pretty well sewed up. They have two more games, but the teams that are left on their schedule have won only one game apiece. The Gunners, on the other hand, are undefeated for the season.

In the Dormitory Leagues, Dorm 8 seems to be the real power. In both league A and B, Dorm 8 teams are leading the pack and there is not much evidence that there is anyone to give them a run for their money.

The Dwarfs, in Independent League 2, have registered a complaint with the intramural department in regards to the game between the Dwarfs and the Gunners. This game gave the Dwarfs their only defeat of the season. The Dwarfs have been a big power in the league all season and handed the Alpha Delta Sigma team a 112-10 defeat last week.

The results of this complaint could mean the difference in the league championship.

As far as the Fraternity League goes the Fijis have got first place pretty well sewed up. The Pikes and the Phi Deltas are in the race for second place. The Kappa Sigs were eliminated from the race last week when the Phi Deltas defeated them.

Raiders Battle Owls

by BILL DEAN

With all eyes trained on second place in the Southwest Conference basketball race, Texas Tech attempts to at least hold on to a tie for that spot tonight when they meet the Rice Owls at 8 p. m. in Houston.

THE RAIDERS, as a result of their 72-64 win over SMU Saturday night at Lubbock, are now in a tie with the Ponies for second. Each team has a 7-4 record. SMU met Arkansas in Dallas last night.

Three other teams — Baylor, Texas A&M and Arkansas, all have an outside chance at second. Baylor is 6-6 and A&M and Arkansas, 5-6.

The Aggies are in Austin tonight for a battle with the Texas Longhorns in the only other conference game on tap. TCU, who has already sewed up the crown, takes a rest, as does Baylor.

THE OWLS are in seventh place in the conference with a 3-8 mark, but their last outing was a surprise 54-48 win over Baylor Saturday night.

Tonight the Owls will be seeking revenge for their loss to the Raiders earlier in Lubbock.

RICE LOOKED like a real contender in the pre-season SWC tournament but fizzled out as soon as the conference race began. Pacing the Owls is big 6-9 center Tommy Robitaille, who is leading the conference in season scoring with 357 total points on 149 field goals and 60 free throws. His scoring average for the year is 17.0.

BACKING UP ROBITAILLE is flashy guard Dale Ball, who is one of the fastest "drivers" in the conference.

Rice coach Don Suman will probably start Ball (6-0) and Bob Higgins (5-10) at guards, W. A. Preston (6-6) and Gary Griffin (6-5) at forwards and Wade Wolfe (6-5) at center.

LEON "PODD" HILL is still pacing the Raiders. His 23 points against SMU Saturday night sent his total for the year to 341 points on 124 field goals and 93 free throws—good enough for fourth in the conference. His average for the year is 16.2.

Hill is second in conference scoring with 189 points on 124 field goals and 59 free throws for an average of 17.2.

COACH POLK ROBISON will go with Gerald Myers (5-10) and Charlie Lynch (6-2) at guards, Hill (6-6) and Chuck Key (6-3) at forwards and Wade Wolfe (6-5) at center.

Key was a surprise starter against SMU and he backed up Robison's confidence in him with 14 points and an outstanding defensive game. Wolfe has been a standout under the boards and in the point-making department for the last five games after overcoming a mid-season slump.

A WIN TONIGHT would assure the Raiders of remaining in at least a tie for second place. They could take over undisputed possession should Arkansas upset SMU, no small task in Dallas.

The Raiders remain on the road this weekend when they play Baylor in Waco. They return home for their season final against Arkansas a week from tonight.

The Texas Tech swimming team defeated the Rice Institute Owls to gain their first victory over a Southwest Conference team.

THE TECH varsity beat the Rice varsity, 50-35, while the Tech freshmen were waxing the Owl frosh 59-23, in Houston Friday night.

Jim Tom Davis won the 50 and 100 freestyle; Jim Stokes won the backstroke; Harry Van Horn won the 200 breaststroke; the medley relay was captured by Stokes, Van Horn, Dick Phelps, and Bob Alexander; and the freestyle relay was won by Phelps, Eugene Holt, Davis, and Gary Welch.

SATURDAY, however, the Red Raiders lost to Texas A&M, 62-23.

Olmed Wins Cup

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK, (AP) — Catlike Alex Olmedo, the U. S. Davis Cup champion by way of Peru, won the National Indoor Tennis Championship on his first try Monday by outlasting defending champion Dick Savitt, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4, 5-7, 12-10 in a grueling three-hour final.

The bronzed Southern California senior had no easy task with Savitt, though. He was up against a seasoned campaigner and one who has been playing on hardwood floors for many a year. Savitt, in fact, won this same title as far back as 1952.

Outlook

by BILL DEAN

Saturday night's escapade with SMU here was one of the wildest, most rip-roaring events ever held in the Coliseum. The Rodeo Association will have to go far to beat it.

This game had everything. The only thing that didn't develop was an actual riot. And believe me there were several times when it came pretty close to that.

In the final analysis the judges scored it six rounds for the Raiders and four for the Mustangs. Or it could have been called two falls to one.

It looked for awhile like it might have to be stopped on TKO's but it finally went the limit.

So now the Raiders have gained a split-decision over the Ponies and must wait a year to defend their crown.

When that time comes I hope everyone has more insurance!

Loads of good will with Southern Methodist was built up. The Sportsmanship Bell will probably be changed to a loving cup.

Seriously it was a crowd-pleaser. It was hard-fought and well-played (at times). As it turned out the Raiders beat SMU at the free throw line — where the Ponies usually reign supreme.

No doubt it was a bitter pill for the Mustangs. It eliminated them from any possible share of the SWC crown. But they probably wouldn't have had much more of a chance anyway.

On the other hand, this was a sweet one for Raiderland. We needed this one very badly — and we got it.

The work of Chuck Key, Wade Wolfe and "Rocky" Hill will not soon be forgotten. Key, a surprise starter poured in 14 points and played good defensive ball. Wolfe continued his outstanding rebounding and shooting even though he fouled out. Hill led everyone with 23 points and was another top rebounder until he also left the game following a square-off with Bobby James of the Mustangs.

One word here about James. I don't think there is a finer gentleman anywhere than Bobby. He and "Podd" lost their heads a little in the heat of a battle and both were sorry afterwards. James is a credit to SMU and basketball and it is unfortunate that such a thing happened to two fine gentlemen.

So the Raiders now stand a fine chance of finishing second. However, they must win the remaining three against Rice tonight, Baylor Saturday night, and Arkansas a week for tonight.

This would give Tech its highest finish up to date in the conference and a record to point at with pride.

But we must keep going tonight.

Golf Play Set

McALLEN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Professional Golf Assn. will play its annual tournament here and in nearby Mission in October, San Speer, pro at the McAllen Country Club, said Monday.

Speer said no definite date had been set but the 6-day, $5,000 tournament probably would be held the first week in October.

Both Valley cities have 9-hole courses and are only about six miles apart and the tournament will be held over both courses.

Racing Site In South Opened

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two 100-mile events marked the debut of the new Daytona International Speedway Friday with the 2½-mile track living up to its billing as one of the fastest in the world.

THE 100-MILE RACE for hardtop autos was won by Bob Welborn of Greensboro, N.C., in a 1959 Chevrolet at an average speed of 143.60 miles an hour.

The 100-mile event for convertibles was taken by Shorty Rollins of Corpus Christi, Tex., driving a 1958 Ford at 129.5 m.p.h.

In the hardtop event, the torrid pace — the leaders average at the halfway mark was 144.06 m.p.h. — took a terrific toll from the machines. Of the 39 starters, only 23 were on the track at the finish. The other cars went to the pits for a variety of mechanical ailments.

Sixteen of the 21 starting convertibles finished.

Roundup Game Will Be Held Saturday

by JOHN LEWIS

Heads will collide when the Red Raider Roundup game is played Saturday.

CARL GATLIN, a fullback, who stood out in spring training prior to an injury, will not see action in this game. E. J. Holub suffered a pulled muscle and was out of the scrimmage game last Saturday, but is expected to see action in the Roundup.

This game will climax spring training drills, which has seen a new Tech offense go on display.

THIS NEW offense is more open than the offense used by the Raiders last season, with more passing. This offense has been successful in keeping the defense off balance.

DAN GURLEY, who has looked well in drills, will hold down a halfback spot on the first team, Ken Talkington, who has been the passer for the team, will start at the quarterback position, aided by Glen Amerson. Don Waygood and Bob Witucki, will occupy the end positions. Waygood and Witucki are considered two of the best ends that Tech has ever had.

Freshman fullback George Fraser will probably be in the spot vacated by Gatlin, with Ronnie Rice, veteran halfback, holding down the spot opposite Gurley.

ALL IN ALL, the game will be the stage for next year's team and the principal players who make up that team.
