Pig Comes Furnished With Extras

Did you even want to eat like a pig?

Texas Tech has a pig which is unusually well equipped for eating, as well as smelling and seeing.

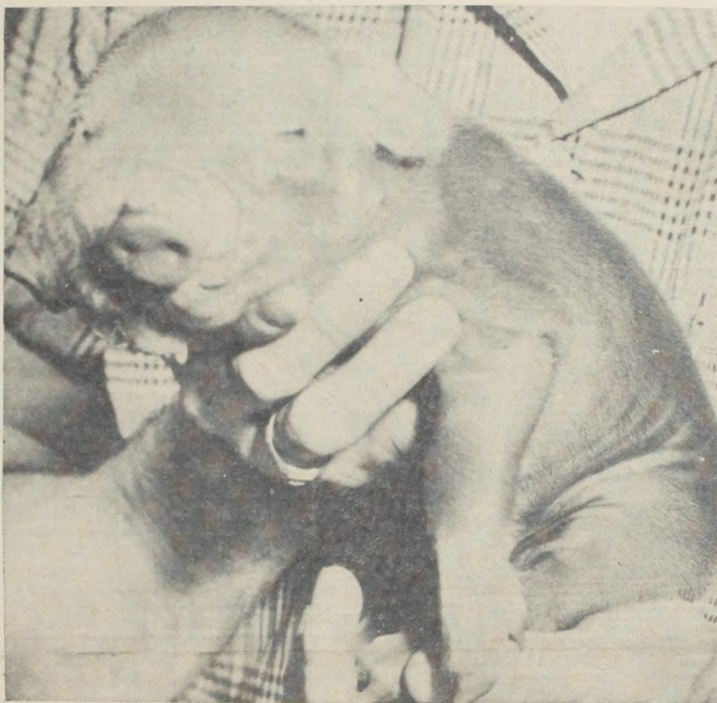

A DUROC WITH three eyes, two noses, and two mouths was born at about 2:30 Thursday morning in the swine division of the animal husbandry farm.

For the first time at Texas Tech a 'Diprosopus Triophthalmus,' which is the pig's official name, was born. Of the ten pigs in the litter, the other nine were normal.

AUTHORITIES SAY freaks such as this are not unheard of but they do not frequently occur. It is not known how long the pig will live, but under conditions without the help of man it could not survive.

The pig can eat through both mouths, but they work simultaneously and if one moves the other must move also. Both noses function also.

WITH THE EXCEPTION of its head the rest of the pig's body is normal.

AND THERE'S ANOTHER EYE ON THE OTHER SIDE
... three eyes, two noses and two mouths

Handsome Techsan Is Feature

Balloting for Texas Tech's Most Handsome Man will take place tonight at Theta Sigma Phi's 20th annual presentation of Club Scarlet at 8 p.m. in the Rec Hall.

BOB DUNN, KDUB disc jockey, will emcee the event, presented in a misty night club atmosphere with dance, floor show and other attractions.

The floor show, consisting of skit competition between six organizations will begin at 9 p.m. and a traveling plaque will be awarded to the winner. James G. Allen, Dean of Student Life, W. E. Garets and Bill Whitted of the journalism department, will judge the event.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA will be trying to win its second plaque in a row. Competing will be Delta Gamma, Sigma Kappa, the Sam Houston Rifles, Pi Beta Phi and Delta Delta Delta.

Following the floor show, the night club goes on. Use their tickets to elect the Most Handsome Man. He will be chosen from seven candidates picked by AWS earlier in the semester.

Religious Emphasis Week Nears

'Mark Twain' Appears In Lubbock Auditorium

by JERRY WAGGONER

Laughter will be keynote of the night Monday, March 9, when impressionist, Hal Holbrook, brings his "Mark Twain Tonight," solo program into Lubbock Municipal Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Holbrook will present a repertoire of Mark Twain's episodes from some of the author's most noted classics. The stage, screen and night club performer recreates Twain, once acclaimed as "America's court jester," in a style which seems to put Twain himself on stage.

DISGUISED AS the white-haired, white-suited, cigar smoking, Missouri-born humorist, Holbrook brings to life such books as "Huckleberry Finn," "The Innocents Abroad," and "Life on the Mississippi."

Holbrook's work for the past five years includes the portrayal of Grayling Dennis on the CBS daytime television dramatic serial, "The Brighter Day." He also has appeared on the Ed Sullivan, Steve Allen and Jack Parr television shows.

THE OHIO-BORN impersonator first conceived the Mark Twain act in 1955. He played his first club engagement in Greenwich Village appearing in "Upstairs in the Duplex." He played this role with such convincing style that he has been portraying Twain ever since.

Demand of Faith Is Theme for The Week

"The Problem of Tomorrow: Sleeping Worlds and Speeding People" is the message to be delivered by the Rev. Jameson Jones Monday.

This evening service highlights the first day of Religious Emphasis Week in Tech Union at 7:30 p.m.

REV. JONES' message is one of a series of four that will be given to express the theme: "This Faith Our Day Demands."

Morning watch by the Rev. Prentis Chunn will be at the Baptist Student Union on Monday at 7:30 a.m.

VESPERS BY the Rev. Alexander B. Patterson beginning at 5:10 p.m. in the Christian Student Center will be followed by other speakers in the Baptist Student Union, 6:30 p.m.; Church of Christ Bible Chair and Methodist Student Center, 6:40 p.m.

Following the evening service, bull sessions will begin at 10 p.m. with the Rev. Jim T. Pickens in Gordon Hall, Dorm No. 5 and No. 6 will meet in Dorm No. 5 with the Rev. Paul Blanton. Mrs. Myrtle Higgins will be in Drane Hall at that time.

ANY STUDENT may schedule a personal conference with the team members, who may be contacted for conferences in the respective dorms where they will be staying. Conferences may also be scheduled in Dean of Student Life's Office.

During Religious Emphasis Week, a large selection of religious books will be for sale in the lobby of the Student Union Building.

Isom Wins By 1 Vote

Wayne Isom defeated Gene Tobin by one vote for the office of freshman president in the runoff elections Thursday.

Isom had 226 votes, while Tobin had 225.

ELECTED as A&S Representative to the Student Council was Larry Campbell, and Suzy Davis was elected as the freshman Council representative from Horn Hall.

The Student Council's proposed amendment to the constitution also met with the approval of Tech Students.

THIS AMENDMENT will also promote greater competition for the officer positions, says Gail Petersen, secretary of the Student Council. Since it provides for separate elections for the class officers and representatives, those who are defeated in the officer elections will still have a chance to represent their class.

Tech Orators Vie Monday

Golden opportunities await good orators when the Intramural Speech Tournament resumes Monday night at 7 p.m. in the Speech Building, according to Mrs. Vera Simpson, student director of the tourney.

ONE GOOD SPEAKER, or at the most two, could make enough points to take a trophy, especially in oratory, declamation, dramatic interpretation and after-dinner speaking," said Mrs. Simpson. "There is no overwhelming lead in these individual events," she added.

Tech Opera Set Tonight

Stylized set designs will be used in each of the three operatic scenes in Opera Panorama, to be presented by the Tech Opera Theater tonight at 8:15 in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

A SCAFFOLDING HAS been constructed and painted black to be silhouetted against a night sky background. Sets have been executed by Instructor Charles Lawrie and graduate student Bob Wall. Von Frahl was chairman of painting sets.

Costuming has been designed by Mrs. Jan Lawrie. A deviation from the traditional color concept of red and yellow will be carried out in "Carmen."

A MODERN one-act opera, "Riders of the Sea" by the late Ralph Vaughn Williams from a short story by J. M. Synge will be first on the program.

Performers are Dorothy Pijan, the mother; John Gilbert, the son;

Lucian Thomas Is Tech Supporter

by ROY LEMONS
 Service to Tech has been the keynote thought of Lucian Thomas since he founded the Thomas Jewelry store in 1942.

THOMAS has also been one of the finest all-around supporters of all facets of Tech life, and his dedicated service to the community and society has been inspiring to everyone that knows him.

He was a senior agricultural student when an accident cut short his intended graduation. Partially disabled, he went into the jewelry store business and has proved that disabled persons have a place in the business world.

HE HAS BEEN one of the most avid supporters of Tech athletics — he was one of the charter members of the Ex-Student Association and served as secretary-treasurer.

He is an honorary member of the Double T Association and sponsor of a handicapped Boys Scouts troop in conjunction with Alpha Phi Omega.

HE RECEIVED an Alpha Phi Omega award in 1957 for outstanding service to his community and society.

Thomas has also been the recipient of the Elks Club Award; a citation for outstanding service to the handicapped; and was selected one of the five outstanding young Texans in 1951 by the Texas Jr. Chamber of Commerce.

Thomas Jewelry, 1207 College, has been the headquarters of all fraternity and sorority jewelry and accessories for Tech since it was made permissible to do so. He carries a complete line of imported diamonds from Belgium, and Elgin, Hamilton and Wylar watches.

SHOPPING— Tech students look over the jewelry in the Thomas Jewelry Store, 1207 College. Lucian Thomas, the owner, is an ex-Techson and supports all phases of Tech life. He is a charter member of the ex-Student Association and an honorary member of the Double-T Association.

Techsans Talk Back

Student Asks 'Is Committee Legal?'

Editor:

Concerning the latest Student Council resolution to change the makeup of the Board on Student Publications, I would like to know if the Board is actually legal as it now stands.

IT APPEARS to me that if the Student Constitution says the student members are to pick the editors and business managers of the Toreador and La Ventana and then if they are picked by students and faculty, then actually the Board at present is unconstitutional.

If the law and regulations of the student constitution are going to be changed illegally, then why have a student constitution; in fact, why have a student government? Alteration of the Board is certainly contradictory to the Democratic principles under which we live.

THIS APPEARS to me to be a direct encroachment by faculty and administration on the rights of students and therefore the resolution by the Student Council is definitely in order.

Sincerely,
Stan Powers
Gordon Hall

Techsan Comments About Committee

Editor,

Having read last Tuesday's edition of the Toreador, there are a few things that I would like to say. Why was not the article concerning the Student Council more clearly stated? I read the article and showed it to other students; their opinion was the same as mine, namely that the publications committee as proposed was to consist of seven members, four faculty members and three students.

I IMMEDIATELY looked up a couple of representatives to the Student Council to find out just what the score was. According to them, the proposed committee is to consist of three faculty members and three students, with one of the faculty members to serve as chairman.

Why shouldn't the students have more to say as to who is in charge of publications, especially the Toreador? After all, does not much of the funds which go toward defraying the operating expenses of the Toreador come from the matriculation fee? And who pays the matriculation fee?

ISN'T IT about time that we, the students, receive a factual account of what is going on? How about a little less "whitewash," and a more factual account of what is happening on our campus.

Sincerely,
Clay Vinson
Dorm No. 5

EDITOR'S NOTE:

We are sorry for any confusion we caused in the initial story regarding the Student Council resolution. However, your second assumption is right. Actually, the proposal calls for a committee of three students and three faculty members with one of the faculty members as chairman and without a vote. Because of recent questions in "Techsans Talk Back" regarding this resolution, the Student Council is preparing a statement for Tuesday's issue in which it will explain its reasoning and why it feels a change would be beneficial to students.

Blow Your Horn

Roving Ron

I have just finished reading a story about American diplomacy abroad. It is called "The Ugly American" and has been on the best seller lists for some time.

THE STORY is fiction and it doesn't paint a very pretty picture about Americans in general even though it was written by Americans. The gist of the story is that U. S. Diplomats (especially ambassadors) are sometimes appointed to posts as the spoils of politics and are for the most part ill-trained for the job.

It goes on to tell how most American workers at these diplomatic posts look upon these jobs as cushy vacations complete with tax free liquor and cheap servants (usually whole families).

MOST OF the workers, from secretaries on up, are recruited on the basis of whether they want to spend some time in a foreign country or not. The book gives the example of a secretary who works in Washington and can't even afford to have a decent night out but has to stay home with her numerous roommates in their cramped apartment.

The secretary applies for a foreign job and gets it. In the foreign country she goes to parties, has a private room and servants, lives it up in general and knows nothing about the country she works in, or the natives.

THE BOOK ALSO tells how the Russians train their foreign staffs on the language of the country, the history and the people's habits and customs. A pretty good course is also given in sabotage, subterfuge and infiltration.

It seems Americans do not take the time to learn the country's customs or language and usually treat the officials of the country with the attitude that if they don't come through their foreign aid will be cut off.

AT THE SAME time the Russians are using their wits to make gains in the country. For example, the book told of an instance when a certain country was in dire need of grain.

The Americans shipped the grain and watched it being stamped at the wharves in the language of the country.

EVERYTHING went off very smoothly except for one thing. The stamp said, "this is a gift from Russia." The Americans, not knowing the language, promptly saw the grain loaded on trucks and taken to the outlying districts for distribution.

The book might paint the picture as it is or it could be worse. It is time for the U.S. to start recruiting trained employees for overseas duty instead of vacation seekers. Most colleges, including Tech, offer very good subjects which could eventually lead to foreign service.

I KNOW THE state department would like to see more college students taking these courses. It might mean the difference between fighting the Russians alone or having a few allies around to help keep the world free.

TEXAS MAY SET a political "first" — that of mixing the church and the state. If HB 495, a bill currently before the state legislature, is passed, Texas will become the first state to set religious qualifications for public jobs—and the state government will become the first American government to seriously abridge freedom of religion.

This bill would require college instructors to take an annual oath that they believe in a Supreme Being. The four East Texas authors of the bill are also pressing for a legislative investigation to determine if there is atheism in Texas' higher education system.

Also tied in with the above charge is another one—that many of the atheists are communists. This argument presents a fallacy common to many weak arguments (a blue-eyed man is an atheist, so all blue-eyed men are atheists), so we won't discuss it further.

As for the bill, we will also disregard the fact that it violates the freedom of religion clause in the first amendment and would mix Church and State.

The bill hints that religious beliefs have a decided effect on how well an instructor can teach. Is it a fair assumption to say that a person who believes in a Supreme Being is more qualified to teach economics than an atheist?

It would seem that educational background, experience, former accomplishments and personality would be better qualifications than the fact that a person is willing to sign an oath that he believes in a Supreme Being.

The bill also points up another problem—how to define a "Supreme Being." Do the backers of the bill have in mind the God of Christians? Or could it be the "Supreme Being" that a Buddhist, Hindu or Moslem believes in?

Even a person who doesn't believe in a "Supernatural Being" can prove with amazing logic that he believes in a "Supreme Being"—in the form of a concept or ideal.

Finally, an oath of this sort probably wouldn't have anymore success in keeping atheists out of the teaching ranks than the anti-communist oath has in keeping communists out of the student ranks.

If an atheist is as low a character as the backers of this bill make him out to be, would he hesitate to sign an oath stating he believes in a Supreme Being?

If a bill of this sort is passed, then Texas has taken a long step toward filling its colleges faculties with incompetents whose only qualification are that they are willing to sign an oath stating they believe in a Supreme Being. We are sure that our competent legislators won't pass such a bill.

HUSBANDS, ANYONE?

It has been alleged that coeds go to college for the sole purpose of finding husbands. This is, of course, an infamous canard, and I give fair warning that, small and spongy as I am, anybody who says such a dastardly thing when I am around had better be prepared for a sound thrashing!

Girls go to college for precisely the same reasons as men do: to broaden their horizons, to lengthen their vistas, to drink at the fount of wisdom. But if, by pure chance, while a girl is engaged in these meritorious pursuits, a likely looking husband should pop into view, why, what's wrong with that? Eh? What's wrong with that?

The question now arises, what should a girl look for in a husband? A great deal has been written on this subject. Some say character is most important, some say background, some say appearance, some say education. All are wrong.

The most important thing—bar none—in a husband is health. Though he be handsome as Apollo and rich as Croesus, what good is he if he just lies around all day accumulating bedsores?

The very first thing to do upon meeting a man is to make sure he is sound of wind and limb. Before he has a chance to sweet-talk you, slap a thermometer in his mouth, roll back his eyelids, yank out his tongue, rap his patella, palpate his thorax, ask him to straighten out a horseshoe with his teeth. If he fails these simple tests, phone for an ambulance and go on to the next prospect.

If, however, he turns out to be physically fit, proceed to the second most important requirement in a husband. I refer to a sense of humor.

A man who can't take a joke is a man to be avoided. There are several simple tests to find out whether your prospect can take a joke or not. You can, for example, slash his tires. Or burn his "Mad" comics. Or steal his switchblade. Or turn loose his pet raccoon. Or shave his head.

After each of these good-natured pranks, laugh gaily and shout "April Fool!" If he replies, "But this is February nineteenth," or something equally churlish, cross him off your list and give thanks you found out in time.

But if he laughs silverly and calls you "Little minx" put him to the next test. Find out whether he is kindly.

The quickest way to ascertain his kindness is, of course, to look at the cigarette he smokes. Is it mild? Is it clement? Is it humane? Does it minister tenderly to the psyche? Does it coddle the synapses? Is it a good companion? Is it genial? Is it bright and friendly and full of dulcet pleasure from cockerow till the heart of darkness?

Is it, in short, Philip Morris?

If Philip Morris it be, then clasp the man to your bosom with hoops of steel, for you may be sure that he is kindly as a summer breeze, kindly as a mother's kiss, kindly to his very marrow.

And now, having found a man who is kindly and healthy and blessed with a sense of humor, the only thing that remains is to make sure he will always earn a handsome living. That, fortunately, is easy. Just enroll him in engineering. © 1959, Max Shulman

TO FORT SILL

ROTC to Take Trip

An Army-sponsored orientation trip for all advanced ROTC students will be March 6 and 7.

The trip to Fort Sill, Okla., is to acquaint students with army life on a typical army post.

THIRTY-FIVE students and six faculty members will make the trip.

Faculty members are Prof. W. L. Jenkins, assistant professor of industrial engineering and engineering drawing; Prof. L. C. Lindenmeier, associate professor of engineering drawing; Dr. W. M. Pearce, head of history, anthropology and sociology department; Prof. L. L. raves, associate professor of history; Mrs. L. P. Eaves, assistant professor of accounting; and W. R. Tatum, assistant director of public information.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY will arrive at Fort Sill Thursday afternoon at 5 p.m. On Friday, the day will start with orientation on post activities, followed by a visit to company level administration and maintenance facilities.

They will observe duties of Army personnel and "see, feel and operate, to a degree" the latest Army equipment available on the post, according to Col. James B. Carvey.

ON MARCH 7 they will see massed artillery fire and air power demonstration before returning to Lubbock at about 1 p.m. The trip is sponsored by the Fourth U. S. Army.

Young People's Art Show Opens Sunday in Museum

The 20th Annual Art Exhibition for Young People of the South Plains opens Sunday in West Texas Museum art gallery.

THE EXHIBITION, sponsored by Art Institute of Texas Tech, consists of artwork done by students in area elementary schools, including watercolors, tempera, casein, oil, crayon, inks, pastels or chalk and cut paper.

Also included in the exhibit are murals done by groups of students. Entries are either mounted or matted for attractiveness and convenience in display.

WORK CHOSEN for exhibition has been selected from the many works submitted. The exhibition is not a competition, and no special awards have been offered other than the honor of having one's work selected for display.

The art Institute will reserve a select group of the paintings and drawings for the permanent collection of art done by young persons of the South Plains.

The Exhibition has been arranged by Dr. Elizabeth Sasser, associate professor of architecture and allied arts, Jim Howze, Bernard and Zelda Farrell, also of the department.

Generally speaking, if a girl has a choice between a plain man and a complicated man, she will choose the former and she will be wise.

Raiders Invade Baylor Bear's Den

Bear Game Is Final Tilt on The Road

by JERRY WAGGONER
Texas Tech's Red Raiders get their last chance to break their road "jinx," which has spelled death for them in the Southwest Conference, tonight at 8 p.m. when they invade the den of the surprising Baylor Bears.

VICTORY IS a must for the Raiders. A victory over the Bears, coupled with a win by the league champions, TCU, over the second place SMU Mustangs, would again place the Raiders into a second place tie with only one game remaining — a HOME game.

The Red Men, 7-5 in conference play, are also battling to keep the surging Bears off their heels. Baylor is 6-6 in loop play.

TECH HAS had a brilliant home season, winning six in succession. All five losses have been absorbed on the road. They have beaten only the cellar-dwelling Longhorns on Texas home ground. The Raiders will also be battling to regain some well-needed revenge after the humiliating loss, 94-64, at the hands of the Rice Owls Tuesday night in Houston.

COACH POLK ROBISON plans to send the same starting five on the court tonight that absorbed the loss in Houston.

Leon "Podd" Hill will lead the Raiders. Podd has been hitting at a 16.5 scoring clip in conference play, good enough for second place behind TCU's giant, H. E. Kirchner. Hill is running fourth in season scoring with a 15.9 mark.

Backing up the 6 foot six inch center will be four other seniors: Gerald Myers, Tech's ball-hawking little guard, sports a 9.8 conference scoring mark and a 10.6 mark for the season. The 5 foot 10 inch guard will be joined by hustling Charley Lynch. Lynch has ripped the nets for a 10.2 season average and a 9.3 mark for conference play.

CHUCK KEY, giant killer of late, will probably start the contest at a forward slot. Key had the best game of the season, in a losing cause, against Rice Tuesday when he popped the nets for 18 point, high for the Raiders.

Key will be joined at forward by Wade Wolff. Wolfe has been a tower of strength for the Raiders in the past few games under the boards.

BAYLOR WILL counter with Carroll Dawson, 6'5" center; Gene McCauley (captain), 6'55" senior forward; Bob Turner, 6'3" junior forward; Jerry Walsh, 5'11" junior guard and 6'4" sophomore, Richard Tinsley.

Dawson has been the big man for the Bruins in the season with a 12.5 average and 262 points. Turner, however, has been carrying the conference scoring load with a 13.9 mean. McCauley is 9.1, Walsh 8.5 and Tinsley 6.6 for loop play. Walsh is also third in conference free throw accuracy with an .857 mark.

Baylor enters the contest with the best defensive record of the league. The Bruins have allowed only 57.2 points per game but have only a 57.3 offensive average. Tech counters with a better offensive mark, 63.4, but has allowed 61.8 points per contest against them.

THE TECH-BAYLOR cage series began back in 1936 and the Raiders have managed to win five while losing three to the Baylor squad. Tech's largest margin against the Bears was a 56-38 licking in 1945. Baylor bounced back with a 58-37 victory over the Red Men.

The two quints have met only once this season. Tech bounced the Bears, 68-65, in the Coliseum.

Baylor has played equally well on the road as at home. They have won six at home and six on the road. They lost their last game, at home, to the rangy Rice Owls. The Bears beat Texas A&M, Rice, Texas, Arkansas on their foes' home courts. The big victory for Baylor came when they humiliated SMU's Mustangs in Dallas by whipping the Ponies by 17 points, a feat very seldom accomplished by any team.

GENE ARRINGTON, James Wiley and Sid Seligmann will also probably see a lot of action for the Raiders as will probably John Moore for the Baylor club.

The Raiders play their last game against the Arkansas Razorbacks here in Lubbock.

Coaches Give Talk

DALLAS (AP) — More than 1,000 coaches flocked to Dallas Friday to hear Duffy Daugherty, Forest Evashevski, Abe Martin, Paul Dietzel and Eddie Erdelatz give the latest in football strategy and defense.

THERE WERE coaches from 14 states for the opening of the huge clinic, last of four held over the nation. The others were at Grand Rapids, Mich.; Santa Monica, Calif., and New York.

Tomorrow Bud Wilkinson, coach of Oklahoma, will add his lecturing talents to those of Daugherty, the Michigan State coach; Evashevski, of Iowa; Martin, Texas Christian mentor; Dietzel, coach of Louisiana State, and Erdelatz head man of Navy.

THREE OR four hundred more coaches will be added, making this the biggest coaching school of the four.

Daugherty, an exponent of the multiple offense, said 90 per cent of the nation's schools and colleges now were using his offense.

"THEY HAVE had to employ more than one formation because the defense has caught up with the T," he declared.

Dietzel, whose team was national champion last fall, talked at length on his Chinese Bandits — the defensive unit that made LSU click.

WHEREUPON Daugherty said he thought he'd have a "go" and a "woah" team next fall, since he'd like to get a catchy name like Dietzel came up with.

Daugherty also said he had been learning a lot listening to the other coaches. "Trouble is they're going to convert me to their style if I listened much longer," he cracked.

HIGH SCHOOL and college Coaches are here from Texas, Nebraska, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Kansas, Louisiana, Michigan, Mississippi, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Missouri.

LEWIS

The big Red team will travel down to Waco tonight and attempt to make up for the bitter defeat that they suffered at hands of the Rice Owls last Tuesday.

All year long the Owls have had the material, but couldn't seem to work it together effectively enough to win. Last Tuesday just happened to be the day when they found out they could win ball games.

It seems all year the Raiders have had the knack for making all the teams they've played look good. After each game you could hear the old familiar phrase, "They looked better than they have all season." It would be nice for once if we could make a team look real bad. Of course, there are no real bad teams in the conference.

Wade Wolfe has sparked the Raiders a lot in the last few games. Wolfe has always been a scrapper and is a real crowd pleaser. Wolfe seemed to come back into his own just when the team needed someone.

Chuck Key, who meshed 18 points against Rice, will be a real factor in the outcome of the final two games. Key has not seen a lot of action this year, but has always been available in the tough spots.

The game tonight is a tough one. The Bears are always the toughest in their own den. They will be out to avenge the loss they suffered in Raiderland.

The game Tuesday night will be a real thriller. Arkansas will be out to break the Raiders win streak at home. The Red Men will be appearing in their last game of theseason and for some the last game of their collegiate careers. They will be out to win at all costs.

The Red Raider Roundup game will be played this afternoon. It should be interesting to see the new offense that Tech is now utilizing.

I gather from the talk of some of the players on the football squad that Carl Gatlin is no pushover. Everyone seems to be building him up a lot, but after seeing him in action I can see why. Let's face it, he's good.

The two teams that take the field this afternoon will be comprised of a number of new names due to the fact that last year's Raider squad was made up of seniors in some important positions. Don't be too surprised if these teams look good, they have in spring training.

Next year could be a good year for the gridiron grubbers if they maintain the spirit they now have.

The intramural basketball teams are swiftly drawing the curtains on another season. The action is hot, heavy, and exciting in these closing games for the championship and to place in the leagues.

Along with this rush to place there invariably will be some upsets. Such was the case when Sigma Nu defeated the Pikes and when the ATO's beat the Phi Psi's.

Wholesale slaughter appeared in one game where the Dwarfs found it necessary to beat the Alpha Delta Sigma team, 112-10. Sometimes I wonder if this is really needed.

With the close of the basketball season it seems only right to say a few kind words for the freshman team.

Although this freshmen squad has not been in the spotlight, due to the shadow cast by the varsity, they have nevertheless, been a fine squad. The names of Mac Percival, Del Ray Mounts, Vance Moxom, Billy Wilbanks, Roger Hennig, and Bill Spitzer will be around long enough to haunt other teams in the conference.

My personal opinion of this team is high. In time and practice, this team could be another group of "whiz kids."

Roundup Game Today

The Red Raider footballer will climax spring training today at Jones Stadium with the annual Roundup game.

THE SQUAD will be split up into two teams. The Red team will be coached by Joe Kerbel and the Whites will be under the guidance of J. T. King.

The game will also serve to introduce the new offense being used by the Raiders. There has been no name as yet applied to the new look, but it will feature split ends, tight ends, single wing attack, and split T plays. One of the main uses of the offense is to completely baffle the defense while providing entertainment for the fans.

at fullback, and Glen Amerson at quarterback.

The other players slated to see action for the Red team are Carey Tidwell, Robert Sanders, and Kelly Mitchell at end, Richard Stafford, James Elliot, and Robert Meyer at tackle; Charles Rice, Blake Adams, and Teddy Ratcliffe at guard; Harvey Klinkerman at center; Pat Riddell, Soapy Sudsbury, Johnny Janak, Carlos Ortiz, Dickie Polson, and Dick Morris in the backfield.

TOM NASH, Jackie Smith, Bill Black, Tommy Turner, Gary Gwyn, Pat Holmes, Don Rose, Jerry Mason, David McKinney, Mike Nichols are some of the additional White players.
