

Seniors Play Final Game

by CHARLES RICHARDS
Toreador Sports Editor

Seven Texas Tech seniors will play the last game of their collegiate careers today when they lead their Texas Tech teammates against a Panhandle rival, West Texas State. The game will begin at 2 p.m. in Jones Stadium.

Twice that number, or fourteen West Texas gridders, will be playing their last game for the Buffaloes.

Texas Tech will throw a double-barreled offense at the Buffaloes. The passing of Doug Cannon and Johnny Lovelace heads the Raider attack, with such ends as Bob Witucki and David Parks a constant threat on the receiving end.

The other half of the Raider duo is the power running of fullback Coolidge Hunt and halfbacks Bake Turner, David Rankin and Bill Worley.

West Texas wasn't left out, however, when the top players were signed up. In "Pistol" Pete Pedro, the Buffaloes have the nation's second leading scorer and one of the leading rushers.

Pedro has gained far more than Tech's leading rusher, Hunt, and the next three backs of WT rank ahead of Tech's second top gainer, Lovelace.

The Buffaloes have a 6-3 won-lost record for the season. They started off in a thunderous fashion, slamming Brigham Young 55-8 and Texas Western 56-27. Wichita slipped by in a scoring fest, 41-34, as did Arizona State, 28-11.

One other loss was to Bowling Green 28-6 with other victories coming from Hardin-Simmons, 42-0; Arizona, 27-23; Trinity, 29-28; and New Mexico State, 35-22.

Leader in the wins for West Texas, of course, was halfback Pedro. In the 9 games he scored 132 points for the Buffs on 22 touchdowns and needs only 7 points to go ahead of New Mexico State's Preacher Pilot for the national scoring championship. He needs three TD's to surpass the national mark of 24 touchdowns by Arizona's Art Luppino in 1954.

The seven Tech seniors will be game captains for the final meeting of the 1961 season also. Witucki and Turner are two of the seven with tackles Larry Mullins, Richard Stafford and Pat Holmes, halfback Dickie Polson and fullback George Fraser being the other veterans.

Starting lineup for the Red Raiders will be the same group that has carried the load for Tech in previous games. At ends are Parks and Larry Jones; tackles are Mullins and Holmes; guards are Kelly Mitchell and Nathan (Sonny) Armstrong; and Jerry Elbert is at center.

LOOK OUT, BUFFALOES!

... for Tech's "secret weapon," No. 77 (Kay Woody, senior cheerleader) shown giving a few tips on how to beat West Texas to Raider halfbacks Bake Turner and Dickie Polson, who are playing their last game for the Raiders.

Tech-WT Game Draws Crowd

A large crowd is expected to be lured to Jones Stadium this afternoon to witness the clash between the Raiders and the Buffs.

They will be on hand to view the antics of the colorful West Texas State crew and the young charges of Coach J. T. King.

The Raiders, winners of three games this season will be hoping to pull their season mark to 4-6. The Buffs have won six decisions so far and lost three games.

The game is expected to feature the running of "Pistol" Pete Pedro and the passing of John Lovelace and Doug Cannon. Both teams are expected to "open" up their offenses in an attempt to catch the other off guard.

The game marks the end of the season for both Tech and West Texas. The Buffs, competing in the Border Conference, haven't played as many tough opponents as have the Raiders. However, this game usually finds both teams throwing out all stops. This should prove especially true this year since Joe Kerbel, former Tech assistant, is guiding the Buffaloes.

Carpenter, Wells Hold Dedication Ceremony

by BILL HEARD
Toreador Staff Writer

Two new residence halls will officially become part of the Tech campus at 2 p.m. Sunday when Carpenter and Wells Halls are dedicated.

Honored at the ceremony will be Spencer Ashton Wells of Lubbock and the late John W. Carpenter of Dallas. These two men are responsible to a great degree for making Tech the school that it is today.

Nine days after the late Governor Pat Neff signed Tech's enabling act in 1923, he named Carpenter to Tech's first Board of Directors.

Along with Tech's first president, Paul W. Horn, Carpenter toured colleges and institutions in the eastern United States. He reported the findings of the survey to the Board of Directors and is credited with having much to do with the original construction on campus and with formation of the first curriculum.

Carpenter died in 1959 after many years of service to Texas Tech. Wells, president of Hemphill-Wells in Lubbock, has had an avid and influential interest in Tech since its founding.

Not only have many students received financial help for their education and jobs in the Lubbock stores from Wells, but many times he has come to the aid of organizations such as the band and the choir. Tech's first football team was kept warm by red blankets provided by Wells.

The presidents of the new halls will be in charge of the public dedication ceremonies Sunday. Elbert M. Marcom, Levelland, will preside at the Carpenter Hall ceremony. James W. Cole, Slaton, will be in charge of the Wells Hall program.

Portraits of Carpenter and Wells will be hung in the halls named in their honor. Special music will be provided by the Tech Men's Glee Club. A reception will follow the ceremonies.

Sigma Chi Hosts Chi O Welcome

All social sororities and fraternities have been invited by Sigma Chi to attend an open house in honor of the newest Greek group on campus, Chi Omega.

The open house, a come-and-go event, will be given from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday. Sigma Chi will host the welcome in their lodge as well as the Chi Omega lodge. Both lodges are located on the 1900 block of 13th St.

Ad-Libs Will Play For Union Dance

The Ad-Libs will play for a dance today in Tech Union after the Tech-West Texas State football game. Students from both schools will be admitted free of charge.

Dance time has been set to begin at 5 p.m. and end at 6:30 p.m. The event will be given in the Student Union Ballroom and is being sponsored by Tech Union.

19 Men Pledge Tau Beta Pi

Nineteen pledges will be initiated into Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honorary fraternity, at 5:30 p.m. today, in Rm. 1 of the East Engineering Bldg.

Pledges are Duane Lowe, Robert Alexander, Greyton Tuggle, Mike Laird, Lynn Nored, Louis Joe, Fred Szenasi, Lynn West, Tommy Tillotson, Merle Whatley, Richard Tarrant, Bill McCulloch, Don Roper, Bill Droll, Frank Potts.

Bill Harrod, Fernando Vidaurri, James E. Crutcher and Terry L. Guthrie.

The initiation will be followed at 7:30 p.m. by a banquet at the Top of the Plains.

Tau Beta Pi is an honorary fraternity that extends over all fields of engineering, even though there are professional fraternities for every field. Juniors pledging the fraternity are required to have a 2.4 average and seniors must have a 2.0.

At present the Texas Beta chapter has 20 actives, 20 faculty members and 5 graduate students.

Tech Station Reschedules Broadcasts

An effort to produce a more pleasant sounding schedule of broadcasting has resulted in the rescheduling of KTXT-FM.

The changes went into effect Friday.

One of the highlights on the musical lineup is a personality disc jockey show Monday through Friday from 4 to 5 p.m. The disc jockey show will feature students of the radio staff.

From 5:30 to 7 p.m. dinner music will be played and the evening of semi-classical and good music will begin at 7:30 p.m. Music selected by Alvin Martin, classical music specialist of the staff, will be heard until midnight, sign-off time, Monday through Wednesday. On Thursday and Friday evenings the music after 10 will be semi-classical and music by which to study.

On the music agenda for Saturday, Mac McCelvey will present an afternoon of popular music. Dancing music suitable for parties will begin at 8 p.m.

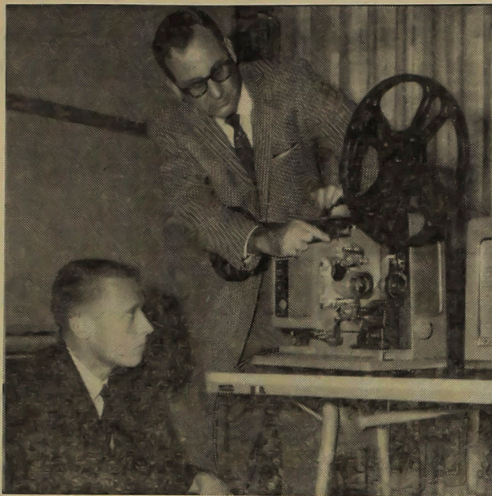

Special music for Sunday will feature Kay Moxley at 4 p.m. with two hours of Sunday Solitude, a program of classical religious music.

The news casts daily will bring listeners 15 minutes of world and national, state and local, and campus news. Approximately three minutes is devoted to campus news and coming events at Tech.

Approximately 35 students participate in keeping KTXT on the air. About half of them are on the air at some time. Student station manager is Don Freidkin; program director is Marilyn Caplinger; and news director is Mac McCelvey. Charles E. Buzzard, associate professor of speech, is director.

The equipment at KTXT is as good as any in any station of comparable size in Texas, Buzzard said.

There are several positions open for students interested in working in engineering and programming. Interested students may contact Mr. Buzzard.

A NEW PROJECTOR

presented to Thompson Hall is tried out by John Little, dorm president, and Ernest E. Morrison, dorm supervisor.

Christmas Arrives Early For Linus, Hall Residents

If you are familiar with Peanuts' insecure little character, Linus, you will recall that his Christmas comes on Halloween and Santa Claus comes in the form of "the great pumpkin."

Linus, however, isn't the only person receiving Christmas gifts early because the 350 male residents of Thompson Hall were buzzing with yuletide joy before the Thanksgiving holidays.

Reason for their premature elation was that C. C. Thompson, for whom the dorm was named, presented Thompson Hall a Bell & Howell sound projector.

Thompson, who now resides in Colorado City, was on the Tech Board of Directors for 20 years and served as chairman for a good part of his tenure.

The projector was purchased through the college wholesale plan. The dormitory association has complemented the projector by purchasing a remote speaker and will begin "flashing flicks" when they acquire a screen.

The hall residents showed their appreciation to Thompson by engraving his name and the date of his presentation on the projector.

Movie buffs will be entertained by a variety of current movies, news features and comic strips.

Voices, Lights Open Holidays At Tech

Bright lights and singing voices will mark the opening of a holiday season on the Tech campus Tuesday night at the third annual "Carol of Lights."

The program, sponsored by the Tech Women's Residence Council, will consist of the lighting of 16,500 Christmas lights and a festival of Christmas songs.

This year the lights will outline nine buildings on campus. The main activity will center around the "Science Quadrangle," which includes the Chemistry and Science Bldgs. and the Library.

At 7:10 p.m. Tuesday, all lights on campus will be turned off in preparation for the lighting ceremony. A trumpet fanfare by members of the Red Raider Band will end the five-minute "black-out," and thousands of lights will be turned on simultaneously.

A program of songs, including performances by several campus groups, will follow.

Additional decorations will include luminaries around the circle in front of the Ad Bldg. and a huge Christmas wreath which will form a background for the choir.

Harold Hinn, of Plainview and Dallas, a member of the Tech Board of Directors, presented the idea of the lights in 1959. He also provided the first funds and the personnel for carrying out the project. The lights outlined only three buildings in 1959. Now nine buildings glow with 16,000 lights placed every 16 inches on 30,000 feet of wiring. Lubbock businesses have joined in sponsoring the lights.

After the ceremony, everyone is invited to the Tech Union for refreshments.

Tech coeds in charge of the event are Judy Cowger, Stamford, chairman; Delores Hunt, Dallas, decorations; Pat Rummels, Brownfield, publicity; Linda Hill, Cleburne, refreshments; Roxanne Townsend, Hale Center, speaker; Mary Ann Fowler, Lampasas, treasurer; and Glenda Johnson, Dallas, WRC president.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY — Revenge is sweeter than life itself.
So think fools.

From Politics To Pool

j. petty

Another Tech tradition—or at least a part of one—may bite the dust shortly.

The Red Raider's spirited ride around the gridiron preceding out of town games will be cut out next year if the Student Council follows the recommendation of a special committee set up to study the question.

It seems that the ride of the Raider on the black mare around other school's fields has caused some commotion this season. Officials at several schools have expressed concern because they were afraid that the horse's hooves would tear up the playing turf.

Things became worse at Little Rock when Tech played the Porkers. Four people standing in the end zone, unaware that the Raider customarily led the team onto the field, were almost run over—only the superior riding of Kelly Waggoner (this year's Raider) saved an accident.

Unfortunately, it is one of those situations that can seemingly be remedied only by cutting out the sprint around the field. While everyone in Jones Stadium expects the horse and rider to come charging around the field, sideline spectators away from Lubbock are not used to it—and since we are their guests, we have to conform to their wishes.

With all these problems in mind, Student Assn. president Carlyle Smith formed a special committee to look into the matter and it will present its recommendations to the council at the next meeting.

While the committee will recommend that the Red Raider not lead the team onto the field, Smith said that it feels that the caped rider and horse should continue to accompany the team on all trips as do all other mascots of SWC teams.

This does not mean that the Raider will be kept from his charge at home. Smith said he felt that everyone here expects to see it. While the Raider may not ride in Dallas or Austin or College Station, he'll continue to do so here.

More than likely, the Council will adopt the committee's suggestion.

Is this good?

Is it another blow to Tech tradition?

I can't see how it will be. If anything, it will help Tech's relations with other school officials. Without a doubt, Tech has, in its Red Raider, the most colorful and representative mascot in the league. We like the charge here—it adds to our games as much or more than anything else—but if other schools feel that it is unnecessary or dangerous, we should respect their wishes.

Is it true that Ralph Carpenter's nomination for a new school song is "The Twist" because he does it so gracefully?

Commenting on the firing of four staff of the Texas Ranger (Texas University humor magazine) because of "obscenity," the Daily Texas (campus newspaper) had this to say:

"It is true that the Ranger has had censorship trouble, and that there have been strong movements in recent years to do away with the magazine. But too many of these problems were brought on by the staffers themselves.

"The Ranger has long evaded the real facts when a funny or irate near-truth would do as well. Usually it has been innocently comical. But not always. People have heard stories so long they were eventually accepted as truth. For example there was the much-exploited tale (Hairy's tale) about the Ranger editor who courageously resigned because of censorship. This was fine, except why make a martyr out of a fellow who had to quit anyhow because of scholastic probation? Another example is the belief that the Ranger is the financial bulwark of Texas Student Publications. Not so."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"ALL RIGHT! WHO LEFT TH' WATER RUNNING IN TH' SPECIMEN TANKS?!"

We Mean It!

Yes, We Need A New Song

We meant what we said in Thursday's editorial. Texas Tech does need a new school song.

We have been approached by a number of persons who remarked:

"Aw, you don't mean it, do you?"

Yes, we mean it. Texas Tech needs a new school song.

We have been questioned about the method we would use to accomplish such a goal. That's simple.

We would organize a committee composed of a Student Council member, a member of the choral staff, head of the Texas Tech band, representative from the athletic department, a member of the Double-T Association and the president of Texas Tech's Ex-Students.

This committee would pick words and music that represent the "spirit of Texas Tech." They could handle the suggestions made from various individuals and hopeful song writers. They should see that the choice made would be easy to sing, easy to learn, carry a fighting tune and most of all, represent Texas Tech.

We feel that their findings would please the student body, the faculty, ex-students, the president and the board of directors.

Again we state our opinion — Texas Tech needs a new school song.

All The Way!

Back The Basketballers

It's that time again.

Texas Tech will meet the University of Colorado Buffaloes in Municipal Coliseum Monday to initiate another basketball season.

As defending Southwest Conference champions, Coach Gene Gibson and the Red Raiders will be in the spotlight across the nation from the word go.

In a pre-season poll earlier this week, Tech was rated No. 19 nationally. In a query of SWC coaches, the Raiders were again given top billing, receiving a unanimous vote as the team with the best chance to take the conference title this year.

A tribute such as this, however, is another example to which the old axiom applies: actions speak louder than words.

The Raiders will attempt to prove themselves Monday; it's only fitting that we, the students, meet them halfway. It's a grand sight to see a championship team backed by a championship student body.

A crowd nearing the 10,300 that overflowed the Coliseum last spring when Tech defeated Texas University to take the title is not expected, but it would be encouraging if a sizeable number turned out to cheer the Raiders on.

Toreador Mail Call...

Dear Mr. Carpenter:

We liberals have a definite set of goals from which we never deviate.

Liberals are always striving for a Socialist welfare state. Liberals are now trying to pass bills on aid to education, so that they can control education and all that the states have invested in their schools; aid to the old folks; so my folks can support grandparents they don't even have; and for the $1.25 minimum wage (so we can raise it to $1.50 in Kennedy's next term, and to $1.75 in whoever's term is next); and aid to the unemployed who don't want to be employed anyway.

We are for making the Supreme Court stronger and for increasing the Income Tax; and we are against State Sales Taxes because they make States less dependent on the National Government (and we can't have that). Liberals are for forced integration, especially in the South and Southwest. (The faster, the better—more turmoil and minority bloc votes for liberals that way.) Of course, since most liberal voting power is in the North, we don't publicize their discriminations. It just wouldn't be cricket.

As we go back through our history we are always giving hand-outs to unfortunate countries so they will love us. It hardly ever works, but at least we try. We were in power in the days before WWI and we could have armed ourselves before the disaster at Pearl Harbor, but our President didn't tell us to. (We always did what he told us to.)

Then there was the fight for the Bank Laws and the FDIC. We didn't know what we were passing (we were passing so much legislation so fast—but, it turned out good). In the thirties we also passed the $.25 minimum wage (so we could raise it to $1.25 in 1962 in our fight for a welfare state).

In 1932 we brought our saviour into power, Roosevelt, and gave him all the power he wanted so he could pass from our drab lives into a blissful welfare Utopia.

We wanted to jump right into the League of Nations so that we could pay half of its support and so that other nations could run our business. However, we have the United Nations now so we are happy. Of course we are only paying a slight one-third of its total support, but at least other nations, peace-loving nations like Russia and Cuba, can hamstring our foreign policies. We also want Red China in the UN so they can hamstring us, too.

We managed to have a war with Mexico, but not so much to help Texas as to obtain the rich gold-laden lands of the West.

At the start of our nation we wanted to ratify a Constitution without a Bill of Rights but the conservative element wouldn't let it pass without one—so we had to give in.

Conservatively yours,
Johnny Franklin

NEA Hosts Fire Marshall Suggests Convention Decoration Safty Rules

Tech's student chapter of the National Educators Association will host more than 200 high school students for the annual district 13 FTA convention today.

Registration for the convention will begin at 8:15 in the Tech Union Ballroom and Mr. and Miss FTA of district 13 will be elected during the general session from 9-11:30 a.m. in the Agriculture Bldg. Auditorium.

Workshops dealing with programming, membership, service projects and teaching will round out the morning activity.

Dr. Morris Wallace, head of the education and philosophy department, will be the principal speaker at the 12:15 banquet in the Union Ballroom.

Gary Gore of Lubbock is president of the 247 member Tech NEA chapter and Dr. Carey T. Southall, associate professor of education, is sponsor of the organization.

Christmas is the time of year to be extra careful of fires, both on campus and in the home.

Every year during the Christmas season, the chances of fire are greatly increased due to carelessness and hazards which exist only during the holidays. A Christmas tragedy need not occur, however, if each individual will follow a few simple fire safety rules as outlined by Tech Fire Marshall Frank Thomas.

When choosing a tree, try to buy one that has not dried out from prolonged storage, since tree branches that are too dry or brittle shed needles easily. Place the tree trunk in water and keep the level of water above the base the entire time the tree is indoors. Support the tree well and keep it away from sources of heat.

Tree decorations and lights provide special hazards. Avoid using candles on the tree or nearby where there is any chance for an open flame to contact the tree or combustibles piled beneath the tree.

Do not use multiple plugs and cords to one outlet, check lighting sets before using for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets and make sure that all tree lighting is turned off before retiring or leaving the premises. Whenever possible, use non-combustible material to decorate. If using combustible material is unavoidable, be sure to have it flame-proofed.

Many fires have started from lighted cigarettes being tossed into piles of wrapping, so avoid smoking near the tree.

Band Presents Last Half-Time

The Tech-West Texas half-time will be the last chance to see the Big Red Band from Raiderland.

For their final appearance, the band will put on a show entitled "Something Old, Something New, Something Borrowed and Something Blue."

Something old will be the grand march from the opera Meistersinger. Something new will be a twirling routine to the tune of "Lucky Day" and borrowed from Bing and Gary Crosby will be a split marching routine to "Play a Simple Melody."

By request will be the forty Tech trumpeters playing "Sugar Blues." Miss Sandy Bell, New Mexico state champion twirler, will do a twirling act to the tune.

Gordon and Jan Payne; a quintet consisting of Nancy Telfair, Carol McCormack, Johnnie Raborn, Carol Henderson and Pam Morgan, and a duet by James Bowling and Enrique Brusasco.

The first place winner will be sent to Texas A&M to compete in the A&M Intercollegiate Talent Show. There will be ten acts chosen for the Southwest Conference show.

Raider Rambles is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 15 in the Ballroom of the Tech Union.

Raider Rambles Announces 'Curtain Call' Theme, Acts

"Curtain Calls" is the theme for the 1961-62 Raider Rambles, annual talent show.

Entries for the show are the following: a quartet consisting of Douglas Pummill, Paul Benningfield, Harold Reevs and V. J. Lowrance; Sharon Vinyard, vocalist; folk-singing trio consisting of Bob Black, Ron Logan and Ken Ballard.

Young Democrats Announce Wright As Banquet Speaker

Representative Jim Wright of PO 5-8939, between 6 and 8 p.m. Fort Worth, widely mentioned as a Democratic candidate for governor next year, will address a banquet sponsored by the Lubbock County Young Democrats Dec. 15.

The banquet will be at 8:15 p.m. in Furr's Town and Country Cafeteria, 4th and College. Tickets for the speech and dinner will be $5 each, Van McVay, president of the Young Demos, announced.

Tech students interested in attending the banquet should call or contact Don Jones, vice president and campus coordinator of the group, at 2221, 16th St., phone

Monday through Friday.

McVay said the purpose of the banquet was to announce the winner of a membership contest which the group has been conducting for the past few weeks.

"Congressman Wright will make the surprise announcement and the winner will receive a free trip to Washington, D. C.," McVay said. The youthful Fort Worth lawmaker ran third in a large field in the special Senate election earlier this year, causing speculation to arise that he would again be a statewide candidate in the 1962 election.

SWC Nears Finish

Quanah Nips Dalhart, 15-6

CANYON, Tex. (AP) — Danny Scarborough led Quanah to a 15-6 victory over Dalhart Friday to remain undefeated and untied and push into the semi-finals of Class AA schoolboy football.

Scarborough scored both touchdowns, ran over a conversion and completed a 59-yard pass that put Quanah on the Dalhart 1-yd. line with a minute left in the game.

Scarborough went over from three yards out in the first period as the climax of a 66-yard drive. He also ran the conversion.

The schedule says Southwest Conference football winds up this weekend, but at least three—and possibly four—of the eight teams will be seeing lots more of the practice field as they get ready for post season bowl games.

A victory over Baylor by Rice Saturday would make the Owls the fourth conference team to play in a national bowl contest.

Texas, Arkansas and Baylor already have their bowl spots clinched. Even with a loss Saturday to Rice, Baylor will play Utah State in the New York City Gotham Bowl Dec. 9.

Texas tied Arkansas for the conference title and, by virtue of its defeat of the Razorbacks, enters the Cotton Bowl against Mississippi.

Arkansas wound up season play last week with its 28-0 swamping of Texas Tech to earn a spot in the Sugar Bowl. It's nearly certain that Arkansas will be playing Alabama for the Sugar Bowl title.

The two other Saturday games pit Southern Methodist vs. Texas Christian at Fort Worth and Texas Tech vs. West Texas State at Lubbock. Neither game will have an effect on the conference standings.

Texas players are to work out on their own next week, return to regular practice the following week and continue until the Christmas holidays.

Arkansas will probably follow a similar schedule, and if Rice defeats Baylor Saturday, the Owls will be back on the practice field readying for the Bluebonnet Bowl game.

Elliott Nixes Track

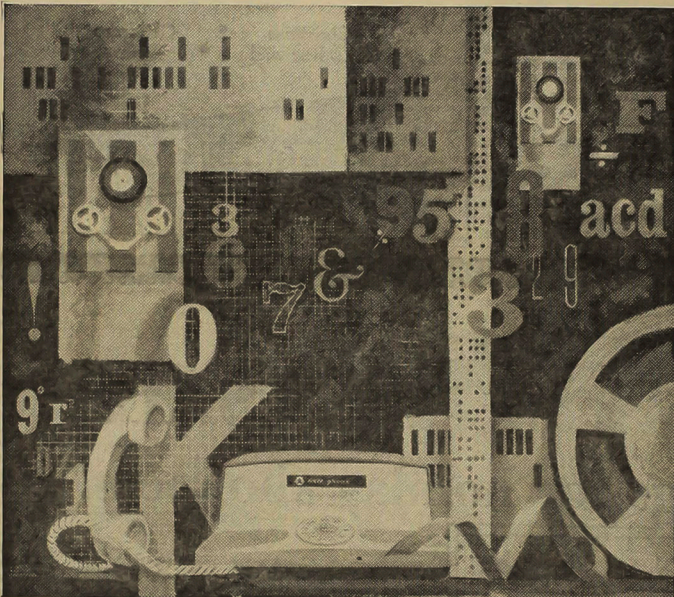

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP) — Herb Elliott, world's fastest miler from Australia who now is a student at Cambridge, said Friday he might withdraw from the 1962 British Empire Games because his studies left him so little time for training.

"I'm here to get a science degree and that's most important," said Elliott.

Bright futures in data transmission at W. E.

New engineers with initiative who can meet Western Electric's high standards are offered many exciting career opportunities with our company in data processing development work as it relates to communications.

For example, Western's engineers—working closely with Bell Telephone Laboratories—have solved development and manufacturing problems connected with the Bell System's new DATA-PHONE Data set (made by Western Electric). DATA-PHONE service lets business machines, such as computers, "speak" to each other in a language of numbers and symbols over existing telephone communication networks. This represents a tremendous boon to business; and consequently, it is estimated that some day there may be more machine talk than people talk using telephone lines.

Of course, data communications is only one of many rewarding career areas that await you at Western Electric. Here are just a few of the others: electronic switching . . . solid state electronic devices . . . microwave radio relay . . . computer-programmed production lines . . . solar cells . . . optical masers . . . futuristic telephones.

We need high-caliber, forward-thinking engineers now to help us transform these plans into realities or to work with us in scores of other key communications areas. Your future, the future of Western Electric, and the future of America's communications—could well depend on your first career connection.

Challenging opportunities exist now at Western Electric for electrical, mechanical, industrial, and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. All qualified applicants will receive careful consideration for employment without regard to race, creed, color or national origin. For more information about Western Electric, write College Relations, Western Electric Company, Room 6104, 222 Broadway, New York 38, New York. And be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when our college representatives visit your campus.

SCARLET Scatterings...

By CHARLES RICHARDS
Toreador Sports Editor

This afternoon's affair between Texas Tech and West Texas State is probably one of the most important of the year to the respective players, even though both teams have finished their conference schedules.

Tech and TCU played earlier in the year for what was called the "West Texas Championship," but the game in Jones Stadium today could be given similar billing.

The Red Raiders haven't shone too brilliantly in Southwest Conference play this season, but most of those going out on a limb have picked Tech to outscore the Canyon boys.

The game is another of a long rivalry that goes back to 1925, Tech's first year of existence. The then-Matadors won that game 13-12 and have since taken 17 more to take an 18-6 lead in the series.

The WTS-Tech match was THE game to both schools a few years ago when the Raiders were in the Border Conference with the Buffs. After Tech was admitted to the SWC, the rivalry died down to a great extent. But the flame is kindled each year when the time comes for the two to meet again.

West Texas and its coach, Joe Kerbel, have everything to gain and nothing to lose. They're not expected to win, but then again they're given a chance, what with their rootin'-tootin' "Fistol" Pete Pedro. The lanky Negro from Massachusetts is only a sophomore, but he's already been named to the third team on several all-American squads. He's only two TD's away from tying the record in that department. In addition, they have several other backs that are capable of breaking loose when the defense concentrates on the celebrated Pedro.

Attacks of virus have hit the Tech squad to further give hope to West Texas fans.

The phantom raiders who struck at Canyon last weekend will probably add a little more flavor to the game. They weren't apprehended, but it's assumed the raiders were Techsians since red double-T's were painted in front of several campus buildings and the big "WT" letter on Anchor Hill by Buffalo Bowl was changed to read "TT."

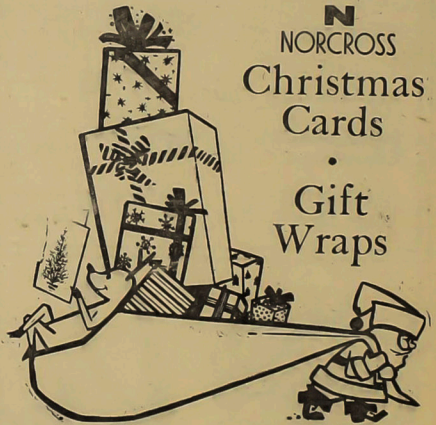

It's not a new thing. A few years ago the situation was reversed when Tech students were greeted at the first football game of the year by a huge "WT" burned into the turf in the center of the field.

Going into the last week of the football season, The Scarlet Scatterbrain has a two-game edge over Toreador News Editor John Petty. Here's the slate for this week.

Tech Cagers Initiate Season Monday Night

December is here and a young man's fancy turns to—basketball. The Buffaloes from the University of Colorado and the West Texas State Calves will furnish the opposition to the Red Raiders and the Picadors, respectively.

And with the initial bounce of the ball will come all the trimmings of Red Raider basketball in the Coliseum—screams (hysterical), laughs, pleas, and even a No. 3 yell once in a while.

In SWC circles, most member teams would rather pose as a Gladiator in a den of lions than meet Texas Tech on the basketball court of the Lubock Coliseum. Because at the end of the affair, the foe usually limps home with an earache and a costly defeat.

And the toughest part about games with Tech this year is that every cage group will be looking into the face of the same monsters that ruled last season—towering 6-10 Harold Hudgens (alias Mutt), 6-4 Roger Hennig (Snake of the good variety), 6-4 Bobby Gindorf, 6-3 Mac Percival; and smallest in size, but not in importance, 5-10 Del Ray Mounts.

Backing up the top five will be Milton Mickey, 6-5; Gilbert Varnell, 6-5; and a few graduates from last year's Picador squad, Sid Wall, Royal Ferguson, Mike Farley and Mike Gooden.

There's another change in the lineup, however. This season the defending SWC champs will be tagged as Coach Gene Gibson's Raiders. But that shouldn't affect the group in the least. Gibson had all varsity members under control in the freshmen ranks not so long ago.

And then there's the other newcomer in Tech basketball, Freshman Coach Charlie Lynch. The former Raider cage star couldn't have started his Tech coaching career at a more opportune time. His Picadors have everything a coach could ask for—height, speed and experience.

Mac Cade, all-regional center last year for the Hamlin Pied Pipers, tops the roster at 6-9. One inch shorter is Harold Denny, an all-district choice at Amarillo High.

Along with the two really big ones are 6-5 Glen Hallum of Brownwood, second team all-state; 6-2 John David Loftin of Tulia, all-state pick and a member of the Texas High School All-Stars; 6-0 Jay Walling of Waurika, Okla., alternate all-state; 6-5 Joe Carroll Fox of Gainesville, all-state honorable mention and 6-1 Royce Woolard of Midland, all-district.

And there are others: 5-10 Albie Pierce of Midland, 6-1 Bob Smith of Sudan, 5-11 Robert Layne of Idalou, 5-10 Max Lynch of Sudan (the new coach's kid brother), Ronnie Siler of Highland Park, 6-1 Johnny McManus of Fort Knox, Ky., and 5-10 Jimmy Lyles of Balmorhea.

The frosh basketballers have a 12-game schedule, 11 at home and one with the West Texas State Calves in Canyon. All Picador games will start at 6 p.m., and all Raider games will open at 8 p.m.

CAGERS OPEN NEW CAMPAIGN

... under new Coach Gene Gibson Monday night against Colorado.

Why college men choose careers with Du Pont

Every year, several hundred new college graduates choose Du Pont. Many Masters and Ph.D.'s do, too.

Recently we asked some of them what factors influenced them to decide for Du Pont. They cited more than half a dozen reasons. Here are some they almost all agreed upon:

OPPORTUNITY AND RECOGNITION

They were aware that college-trained beginners go right to work with men who have achieved. For example, research chemists work with individuals who've done successful research. New engineers work with pros, some of whom have designed new plants, or devised new manufacturing methods, or distinguished themselves in some other way. And other graduates, with B.A. or M.B.A. degrees, go to work with leaders who've been successful in Sales or Advertising or Treasurer's, or another of Du Pont's many departments.

RESEARCH CREATES NEW PRODUCTS; NEW PRODUCTS CREATE NEW JOBS

Men like working for a company that believes in research, enough to invest in it...$90 million a year! The fact is that important new products come from Du Pont laboratories and go to Du Pont manufacturing plants with frequency.

Here are but a few since World War II: "Orlon"* acrylic fiber followed nylon (soon after the war). Then came "Dacron"* polyester fiber, "Mylar"* polyester film, "Lucite"* acrylic lacquer and "Delrin"* acetal resin. These, and many others, have created thousands of new jobs... in research, manufacturing, sales... in fact, in all Du Pont departments.

DU PONT BACKS EMPLOYEES WITH HUGE INVESTMENT

New graduates feel that every facility is provided for doing the job well. Last year, Du Pont's operating investment per employee was $32,500. Since much of this was expended to provide the most modern and best of equipment to work with, it further increases the chance for individual achievement.

DU PONT PROVIDES STEADY EMPLOYMENT

Career seekers appreciate the importance of security. Today, the average annual turnover rate at Du Pont is less than one-third that of industry nationally.

If you'd like to learn more about job opportunities at Du Pont, just clip and mail this coupon. And be sure to tell us your course of study, so we can send you the appropriate booklet.
