

Court clouds screening board issue

By ELAINE McLENDON
Campus Editor

The Tech Supreme Court Thursday morning ruled that the recently-formed cheerleading screening board is unconstitutional in a unanimous vote, three justices concurring and one abstaining.

CHIEF JUSTICE Lonnie Dillard and Associate Justices David Beckman and Wayne Packard earlier had withdrawn from the case stating they were "no longer in possession of sufficient objectivity befitting unbiased and impartial justices of the Court."

Associate Justice Melanie Leopard participated in the case but abstained from voting on the grounds that she was "uncertain in her own mind as to whether the Cheerleader Screening Board is constitutional or unconstitutional."

Student Association President Bill Beuck, when informed of the decision by The University Daily said he would have a statement to make concerning the decision, but that he had not been officially notified of it. As of Thursday night he had not received a signed copy of the ruling. It had been rumored that the Student Association would not abide by the ruling.

Sen. Ronnie Brown, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee who attended the prolonged hearing, said his committee would conduct an investigation of the Court's proceedings. A meeting is tentatively set for Saturday morning.

HE SAID THE committee hoped to call in professionals in the field of law and court procedures to help decide if the Tech Court followed its written procedures and if its procedures are valid. Students and possibly justices are expected to be subpoenaed for the investigation.

Thursday morning's opinion in favor of Randy Hilton, complainant contending the board is unconstitutional, stated that the Senate had acted unconstitutionally in creating the Cheerleader Screening Board through Senate Bill No. 14.

CONCURRING in the majority opinion were Associate Justices Pat D. Taylor, Mac Johnson and Mansker, acting chief justice for the trial.

Hilton in his opening pleas told the court he would try to prove the board unconstitutional.

HE INTRODUCED AS evidence a Daily Toreador editorial dated March 12, 1964 stating that at that time such a screening board was unconstitutional.

He further supported his pleadings by quoting the Student Association constitution which states that the "Head cheerleader shall be considered a voting member of the Student Senate."

The constitution further explains the qualifications for members of the Senate and it was on this reasoning that the three-man court made their decision.

Robert Hoffman, defense counsel representing the Student Association in the case, in his opening pleadings told the justices he would prove that the complainant had failed to state a dispute or controversy or to show substantial interest, that he was not in any way injured because he did not attempt to apply for the position of cheerleader and that qualifications for cheerleader are not the same as those for senators.

THE DEFENSE counsel accused the court of having no jurisdiction and denied that the Student Association recognized Hilton's alleged position as a campaign manager.

Before the trial began Chief Justice Dillard advised both parties that the Tech Constitution would be the "supreme law."

Hoffman cited rule IV of the Rules and Procedures of the Tech Supreme Court which reads: "Judgments will be based upon the Constitution and Bylaws of the Student Association of Texas Tech and any other Constitution, rule, or statute that may apply to the case."

HOFFMAN USED this rule in order to make a U.S. Supreme Court Justice's opinion concerning "legal interest" in a case valid.

Justice Louis P. Brandeis in a U.S. Supreme Court decision of 1935 stated "claims based merely on assumed personal abridgment of rights does not merit judicial jurisdiction."

Hoffman claimed that Hilton had no interest in the case and that the court was assuming powers it did not possess.

IN HIS REBUTTAL, Hilton said, "I file this motion in my name only. I represent myself."

In the pre-trial hearing Hilton had said he was a campaign manager and that his rights as a member of the Student Association had been violated.

At this point in the trial Hoffman asked that the court dismiss the trial on the grounds that "his (Hilton's) position will not be changed."

THE COURT rejected Hoffman's objection and ruled that interest in the case had been established.

The court asked both parties from this point on to restrict their arguments to the question of constitutionality.

Hoffman again moved for a mistrial on the grounds that "the court has ruled on a condition of fact which must be proved by the complainant before the complainant has even introduced any evidence whatsoever."

This was one of the main points causing the three justices to withdraw from the case. A statement signed by the three stated that the Court "ruled on a substantive legal matter (that the complainant had a legal interest) prematurely, before evidence to this effect had been presented to the Court." The justices said they removed themselves because they felt the Court should not be considering the suit because the complainant had shown "no legal basis" for such, and as a result were biased in their opinions.

THEY ALSO stated they believed the respondent's motions for mistrial were valid, that no evidence was presented by the complainant for the respondent to base his refutations upon and that the Court did not give adequate attention to the motions proposed by the respondent.

Following a 10-minute recess Dillard stepped down to allow Mansker to conduct the hearing. He announced that the Court had rejected Hoffman's motion.

Dillard, who had voted with the minority on the motion, was questioned by a member of the majority as to his objectivity in the majority's opinion. He agreed, and allowed the Court to replace him as chief justice in the case.

THIS ACTION prompted the respondent to ask for a mistrial on the grounds that the trial was not being conducted by the same justices.

While citing other reasons for the declaring of a mistrial, Hoffman was found in contempt of court by Mansker for not ending his remarks within a given period.

He then accused the court of shifting the burden of proof from the complainant to the respondent and of violating historical court procedure.

Defense counsel further cited instances of failure of the justices to entertain his motions and of general disinterest in his motions.

AFTER AN HOUR'S deliberation, the court again rejected Hoffman's motions.

Hilton was sworn in after Hoffman demanded that if Hilton himself was to be the complainants only witness correct procedures must be followed, and he must be sworn in.

Hilton restated his original pleading and stepped down.

ANOTHER MOTION for dismissal came from Hoffman due to lack of evidence on the complainant's part and another rejection came from the court.

In Hoffman's rebuttal he accused the court of conducting a pretentious hearing which was degrading to the judicial system.

He further asked Mansker to step down from the conduct of the hearing because he had prejudiced himself a week before the trial began.

THE COURT rejected this motion and Hoffman called Mike Canon, cheerleader candidate, to the stand.

Canon testified that Hilton was not his campaign manager. He said at one time he had consented for Hilton to represent him in court, but later changed his mind.

Sen. Mike Riddle, author of the bill establishing the Screening Board, explained to the court, under oath, why the board was constitutional.

AFTER THE HEARING, Riddle issued this statement to the University Daily: "Actions carried on by the Supreme Court in the pursuance of this case indicate the most serious and gross miscarriage of justice I have ever witnessed. The Texas Tech Supreme Court has demonstrated beyond a shadow of a doubt that they have no conception of the legal principles which govern our society and very little inclination to learn what they are."

Senate follows RFK; jolts Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate jolted the Johnson administration Thursday by following Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's advice to repeal the still-untried presidential campaign-financing plan.

The vote for repeal was 48 to 42, despite last-minute efforts to save the plan by trimming back the multi-million dollar fund it would have split between the two major parties for next year's campaign.

SEN. RUSSELL B. LONG, D-La., who fathered the plan last fall, fought down the line for it and said he will continue the fight in a Senate-House conference and if necessary will urge President Johnson to veto the repealer. The repealer was attached to a tax bill on which the Senate has not completed action.

Johnson endorsed the plan when he signed the bill last year but took no part in the battle to defend it against such critics as Kennedy.

Directors seeking suggestions for names of tower complex

A special committee of Tech's Board of Directors is seeking suggestions for names for the remaining three towers and the commons building of the multi-million dollar Wiggins dormitory complex.

The huge complex is being built in two phases with the first three towers now reaching completion and scheduled for occupancy this fall.

THE SIX-TOWER complex is named for former Tech President Dr. D. M. Wiggins of Lubbock, now a member of the State Coordinating Board. The first three towers were named Chitwood, Weymouth and Coleman Halls in honor of prominent Texans instrumental in Tech's founding and development.

Board Chairman Roy Furr said board member Retha R. Martin of Lubbock would chair the special committee and would serve with directors Herbert Allen of Houston and J. Edd

Kennedy, a New York Democrat, called the projected $60-million federal election campaign subsidy a monster that would give national political leaders control over massive amounts of money.

HE SAID THIS "could lead to destruction of our local political parties and their domination from Washington." He said the most the Democrats had in the 1960 campaign was $8 million when his brother, John F. Kennedy, was elected president.

Declaring "no one has ever seen anything like" the $30 million contemplated for each of the two parties next year, Kennedy told backers of the Long plan, "You could take everything over with that."

Long argued that the plan was designed to make it possible for a poor man to run for high political office and to free successful candidates from any obligation to wealthy contributors.

McLaughlin, Ralls.

Martin said those interested in suggesting names for the towers should put their recommendations in writing and submit them, along with a justification of the name proposed, to the "Residence Halls Name Committee" in care of the president's office.

BOARD POLICY regarding the naming of such building states that "Each dormitory shall be named for a person, but shall not be named for any person actively connected with the college at the time of the naming."

The name committee will submit its recommendations to the Board for final approval.

"We want suggestions," Martin said, "from all interested parties so that no deserving person will be overlooked."

The tentative completion date for the remaining three towers is Aug. 1, 1969.

Officers' questions due

Questions directed to student association executive officer candidates may be given to Karen Kitzman or placed in her mail box in the Student Government Office by 5 p.m. Wednesday. They should be enclosed in sealed envelopes and directed to the office.

Questions to be asked of candidates at the election rally Thursday night will be chosen from those submitted by a board consisting of four members of the student body. Beverly Barlow, president of Tech Union, and Lonnie Dillard, chief justice of the Tech Supreme Court, will serve on the board. Others will be named at a later date.

"This is a chance for the student body to know answers given by future student leaders and an excellent opportunity to know the candidates' views before voting," Karen Kitzman, secretary of the Student Association.

Dorm launches drive for intramural gym

Thompson Hall launched a drive Tuesday to get rid of the Intramural "Barn" and replace it with an all-purpose Recreation Intramural complex.

Mike Brawley, dorm secretary, posed the problem to a meeting of all men's dormitory presidents Tuesday night in Thompson Hall.

BRAWLEY SAID each of the dorm presidents will distribute a resolution to each of their dorms and give the residents a chance to sign it. In this way, the dorms will be able to relay their desires regarding the movement.

"Once all of the signed resolutions are in, we plan to present them to both the Men's Residence Council and the Student Senate asking for their official support of the plan."

"If passed, the resolutions of the dorm residents, the MRC and the Student Senate will be presented to President Grover Murray and we will ask him to relay them to the Board of Directors for appropriate action," said Brawley.

Guy Watts, Thompson Hall supervisor, said that the proposal for financing the complex is a long term process, requiring 40-50 years to complete. In this way, the financial burden would be nominal on each student.

Watts said finances would come from the student services fee which is paid at the beginning of each semester.

HE ALSO SAID that no one would pay for the building until it has been completed and is in use.

Willard Holsberry, assistant intramural director, said, "No one in the administration has taken an official position because they are still trying to figure out the best possible way of financing."

David Thompson, Thompson Hall athletic director, said "The barn is not only dilapidated, but inadequate."

"Things have gotten so bad that the Intramural Directors have had to brace-up the ceiling of the equipment check-out room to keep the space-ball trampoline from falling through the ceiling."

SOMETHING NEW FOR LEISURE TIME—Gaston Hall residents Jim Hamm, Bill Chostain and Kent Sims relax in the remodeled lounge for Gaston and Thompson Halls. Also refurbished in the project were the lounge in Wells and Carpenter Halls.

Cast named for production, 'Desire Under the Elms'

Work on "Desire Under the Elms," by Eugene O'Neill, finally with the announcement of cast members. The play of the 1966-67 University Theater season, began recently, Art Prickett from Mac-

Farland, California and Marilyn Miller from Denver City, will play Ephraim Cabot, the old father of the family, and his unfaithful bride, Abbie.

PRICKETT HAS DONE theater work at Pepperdine College and in the Army, and Mrs. Miller has appeared in past Tech productions, among them "The Contrast" and "Romeo and Juliet."

Robert Byron from Lubbock and Daniel Sample from Abilene will play the two brothers who forsake the farm to seek gold in California. Byron has had experience in Shakespearean drama and appeared in "Right You Are!" Sample has done drama work in high school and the Air Force, and this role is his first at Tech.

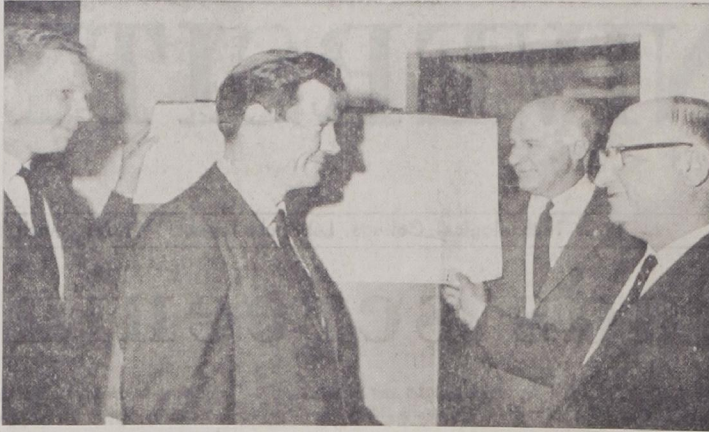

Eben, the brooding third son of the family who is determined to inherit the farm, will be played by Mike Cook, who has played also in "Richard III" and "The Haunted House."

SIX NEIGHBORS will be played by Iris Osmond, Richie Williamson, Rose Lee Head, Sue Skully, Bill Stuart, and Venita Turcotte.

Bob Breez and Steve Maddox will also appear as neighbors in the play.

An intense tale of love and hate on a New England farm, the play tells the story of the influence of a son's dead mother, lust for the farm by all the characters, and violent emotional conflict. A terrifying story of love and infanticide, the play is representative of the work of O'Neill, who won the Nobel Prize for Literature. The play will run May 12-15.

PRESIDENT'S HOSTESSES The President's Hostesses will meet at 5 p.m. Tuesday in the Tech Union Blue Room.

DISCUSSION ON AGRICULTURE—Texas Tech Animal Husbandry Head Dale Zinn (left) and Agriculture Dean Gerald W. Thomas discuss the university's agricultural program Thursday with Greek Agricultural Officials Nicholas P. Triantaphyllides and John Afendakis. Triantaphyllides is the agricultural advisor with the attache office and Afendakis is the general director of the Panhellenic Confederation of Unions of Agricultural Cooperatives in Athens, Greece. The officials are seeking new ways to apply modern technology to Greek agriculture.

Business manager duties increase

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article, fourth in a series of five, is published in cooperation with the Government Committee of the Student Senate, Dick Bowen, chairman. They are intended to promote a better understanding of student government. The last article in the series will be written by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.)

Business Manager

As Texas Tech broadens its scope as well as physical dimensions, there is a corresponding demand for student support and funds from the allocations of the business manager. As chairman of the Student Senate Allocations Committee, he must use responsible foresight and progressiveness in providing sources of revenue for some 30 campus organizations. Several good examples of this are various judging teams in the School of Agriculture, the Engineering Show, KTXT Radio, ROTC drill teams and Sigma Tau Delta, just to mention a few.

Along with the president of the Student Association, the business manager is a student representative on standing committees. Two of these are the Student Services Fee Allocations Committee and the Student ID Committee.

OTHER FUNCTIONAL duties performed by the business manager are coordinator of the Student Government Office and bookkeeper for the Student Association.

However, I feel that the traditional tasks of the business manager have only been the minimum requirements for this year. Progress and action have taken place in the following areas in carrying out the responsibilities of the office:

- Evaluating and redefining by the Student Senate Allocations Committee of its role in dispensing funds to campus organizations.
- Securing additional funds for the Forensic Union, University Theatre, Music Groups and ROTC.

- Questioning residence halls policies on the room property deposit and additional single rate charged when a roommate moves out.

- Polling other universities for a better process of athletic seating for students.

It is evident that the business manager is becoming a more integral part of the Student Association, for the office is constantly being re-defined to include many responsibilities not previously held.

Women's Day elections to be April 29

The 35th Annual Women's Day will begin with the election of Tech's 1967 Outstanding Woman of the Year and Faculty Woman of the Year April 24.

Winners will be announced at the banquet, closing out Women's Day, April 25.

Miss Irene Parsons, assistant administrator for personnel of the Veteran's Administration, will speak at the banquet on "A Woman's Place." Chairman for Women's Day, sponsored by the Association of Women Students, is Rebecca Anderson.

Other chairmen for the activities are:

- Betty Waller, secretary; Margaret Reeburgh, invitations; Mary Dolaway, elections; Dee Thomas, hospitality; Judy Jay, tea; Janice Close, decorations; Janice Langley, ticket sales; Janie Harris, programs; Mary Lou Clements, treasurer; Janice McDuff, publicity chairman.

Nash receives Wilson scholarship at banquet

Jerry Nash, Tech junior from Longview, was awarded the Roscoe Wilson Scholarship in French, Thursday night, highlighting the annual Pi Delta Phi French Awards banquet in the Tech Union.

The scholarship was presented Nash by Head of the foreign language department Harley Oberhelman. Pat Coil, Lubbock sophomore, was named alternate.

RABBI ALEPANDER S. Kline of Lubbock was the principal speaker at the banquet which annually recognizes outstanding French students at the university. Rabbi Kline spoke on the French school of art.

Donna Dodson, president of Pi Delta Phi, served as mistress of ceremonies, and Prof. A. Maynor Hardee presented the awards.

The French Embassy medal for excellence in first year French studies went to Arthur Carnrick, Lubbock freshman. Janice Carol Richards, a freshman from Austin, was awarded the medal as the ranking student in second year French.

Outstanding students in their third year of French studies were presented French Consulate awards. They were Miss Coil, Diana Molt, Amarillo junior and Virginia Viets, Dallas junior.

CONSULATE AWARDS for excellence in advanced studies went to Lubbock sophomore Robert Whitehill, Dallas junior Caren Kay Ferguson and Nash for literature and Kaye Bryant, Lubbock senior and Agnes Schroeder, Abilene senior, for linguistics.

Officers and new members of the sponsoring organization, a French honorary, were recognized as were the officers of Le Cercle Francais.

Sally Shaw, a senior from Fort Worth was announced winner of the essay contest sponsored by "L'Esprit Francais," Tech's French publication. Suzy Crain, a junior from Lubbock, won the poetry contest.

All contributors to the publication were recognized.

Vice presidential platforms

Ronnie Brown

Each year Student Government at Texas Tech has progressed to a degree to make the proceeding year's accomplishments appear insignificant. When I was a freshman, our government operated in the form of a student council, and about the most important thing done all year was a vote on the name change and a defeat of a cheerleader screening board. The past two years have shown to be accelerated periods of activity in which a new form of government has evolved and in which meaningful advances have been made toward accurate student representation. I have been proud to be a part of this evolution toward accurate student leadership. Next year should prove to be no exception to the progress of the preceding two years.

THE ROLE of the vice president in the Texas Tech Student Association has similarly evolved into a position of fundamental importance. As president of the Student Senate, he must now be aware of the needs of 20,000 students and be prepared to take the lead in the legislation of acts which will satisfy these needs. Next year the Senate will face the awesome task of representing more than 20,000 students, and representing them with the dynamism of this year's Senate.

If elected to the office of vice president, I would work for the following action in the Senate:

- Consolidation of all organizations of a student government nature under the auspices of the Student Association. This would include the A.W.S., the M.R.C., and the W.R.C.
- A revised committee system for the Senate, making use of five main committees, each using various sub-committees and covering all aspects of governmental involvement. The five main committees would be those of Student Life, Academic Affairs, Facilities, Intergovernmental Affairs, and Senate Rules. This system would eliminate the arbitrary creation of Senate committees and provide for a more efficient governmental operation.
- Extensive use of the Senate investigation in bringing out all sides of the problems facing students.
- Initiation of Constituent Addresses, a process by which Senators would be required to attend a meeting of at least three student organizations a month in order to discuss proposed legislation, answer questions concerning Senate action, and therefore represent student interest in a more qualified manner.

- Athletic Seating—An acceptable solution should be devised by the Senate to a problem that has remained unanswered for too long.
- Tech Fiesta—Supervision of a project for which the Senate has already legislated.
- A complete Senate investigation of Traffic Security.
- Teacher Evaluation—I would like to see a more thorough and valid evaluation executed by means of a qualified polling agency.
- Better facilities for Senate meetings and continued use of formality and maturity in Senate proceedings.

Jay Carter

The Student Senate has the important and difficult job of representing the students and obtaining the changes the students feel are necessary for the betterment of Texas Tech. While the Senate has come a long way in the last few years, it is yet far from the truly representative body that it could be.

THERE ARE three main reasons why the Senate has not reached its full potential: lack of communication and coordination between the Senate and the students; lack of confidence and persistence on the part of the Senate; and lack of definite goals and directions.

Under the right kind of leadership these deficiencies can be corrected and a more powerful and efficient Senate formed. I propose that: goals and directions of the Senate be more clearly defined; strong and persistent leaders head the different committees; Senators get to know each other so they can work together more efficiently; The Senate and students work more closely together. This coordination would be accomplished by better communication through use of the paper, by publicly announcing that students are welcome at all Senate meetings, and by outlining in more detail the upcoming agenda, so both the students and Senate will have time to prepare for the meeting; Board members and faculty be invited to come periodically to Senate meetings.

IT IS MY belief that the administration is completely for the students' welfare, but in order to get changes made which the students feel necessary, it takes a persistent and unified effort between the Senate and students to convince the administration that the changes being asked for are in the best interest of Tech.

As vice president, it would not be my position to stress certain changes that I personally would like, but rather to coordinate the Senate and students to obtain the changes the students feel are necessary.

Naturally though, I have my own feelings on the issues.

- Our Code of Student Affairs which is vague and outdated has been tied up in committee all year. This needs to be brought out into the open and the students informed concerning the progress on this code, and given an opportunity to express their opinion concerning the revision of the code.

• It looks as though something is finally being done concerning the AA-UP blacklist and the name change. Certainly an all-school election on the name change would have to be held before any final decision is made.

• The Traffic Security over the past years has collected a fund of $100,000 received in the form of student traffic tickets. I would like to see this money used to finance a free bus transportation system that would serve the students.

• We have a ridiculous system of registration which causes frustration. Next year it will be centralized in the coliseum, but could be further improved by a unification of forms, and by allowing sophomores, juniors, and seniors to pre-register.

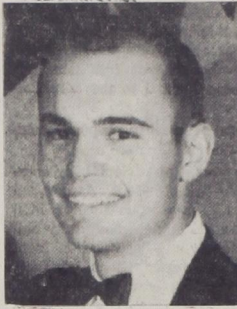

• I'm for the new calendar year, which would end the semester before the Christmas holidays and allow about one month vacation between semesters.

• I think the residence halls food service is a good start and should be given the full support of the Senate and students.

I am ready to work and I am sincerely interested. I pledge to do my best to make Texas Tech and student government mean more and do more.

"Little 500" to be on April 29

On Saturday, April 29, Memorial Circle will be filled with the screams of spectators, the peeling of rubber, and the shouts of encouragement from pit crews as the 10th Annual "Little 500" Bicycle Race winds its way inside the Tech campus.

RACE DIRECTOR Keeton Zachary, Business Administration major from Lubbock, said that all entry fees of $5 will be accepted in the Student Government Office through today.

Each team will consist of four riders and two pit men sponsored by any campus organization or independent group. The contestants must complete a health blank and waiver of responsibility before entering the race.

THE MEN'S division will consist of 40 laps (each lap representing approximately six-tenths of a mile) around Memorial Circle and Soapsuds Pavilion. The girl's race will be 16 laps around Memorial Circle only.

As of yesterday afternoon, the entries in the men's division are:

Sneed Hall, Dolphins, KT-XT-TV, Sigma Nu, Phi Gamma Delta, Carpenter Hall, Delta Alpha, and Murdough Hall.

Contestants in the women's division are Phi Mu and Sigma Kappa.

AWARDS WILL BE presented for the first, second, and third place holders in both the men and women's divisions along with a sportsmanship award for each race. Entry blanks and rules will be mailed to all campus organizations this week. Independents may pick up entry packets at the Student Government Office in the Administration Building, or by contacting the race director.

Peace Corps visits Tech

A team of five volunteers in the Peace Corps will visit the campus next week to encourage graduating seniors to look into the offered opportunities.

This will also be a chance for superior juniors to sign up for summer training in one of the Advanced Training Programs.

THE TEAM LEADER, Dick Jameson, said that anyone with the slightest interest can complete an application form and take the 30 minute Language Aptitude Test. There is no obligation to go anywhere if a student should take these steps, but it does give an individual one more alternative following graduation.

Candidates tell plans of action

— President —

Max Blakney

For the past several years we have been told that we are members of the "University Family." This term implies that all members of the family participate in the affairs of the University and have the right to be heard. However, in the past, one member of the family has not been heard—the student.

ALL MEMBERS of the family are in part responsible for this situation, even the student. This is because we have not effectively unified and presented our ideas and opinions to other members of the family. If we do this, then the others will have no alternative but to listen.

As a candidate for President of the Student Association, it is my responsibility to not only be aware of the problems, but to present an effective way of rectifying them. In other words, it is no longer enough to simply state the problems and offer no solution. The following is not only a proposed solution but the basis of my candidacy.

AS PRESIDENT, I would appoint a student from either the marketing or sociology department to be director of the Student Survey Board. This student would be capable of conducting a valid survey and should be salaried on a per survey basis. His responsibility would be to organize the Board and be prepared to direct a survey of student reactions to any given issue at any given time. This would provide the President of the Student Association with the data needed to support his recommendations for changes in existing policy and provide a basis upon which new policies could be more realistically established.

The Student Survey Board would be an integral part of my efforts to ascertain a valid representation of student thought. In addition to the survey I would keep the students informed of exactly what is happening on all issues pertinent to the university. This would be done in a monthly report printed in The University Daily, and through major addresses to various dormitories and student organizations. I would then solicit public statements by student organizations to further unify and clarify the student position.

THE RESULT of these efforts would be that when the President of the Student Association is in conference with the President of the university, there would be no doubt that the President of the Student Association would be a truly representative figure. He could not be told by any administrator, "we don't know what they want . . . why, this is the first I've heard about it!"

I would be a poorly informed student if I didn't know the food was unsatisfactory; that many students want optional meal tickets; that there is a pressing parking problem on campus; that there is a justifiable dissatisfaction with the existing attitude of "in loco parentis." These are a few of the problems which seriously affect us, but these can only be solved by attacking the most threatening existing problem—the lack of a student voice.

I KNOW that if I am President, student opinion will be heard by the rest of the family. It is upon this basis that I ask for your vote and your support.

Richard Ferguson

Student government in its present state cannot hope to gain full administrative approval of all student proposals. Solutions to campus problems must be arrived at through a series of compromises. Difficulties among students, faculty, and administration can only be resolved by give and take on all sides. I am prepared to offer specific solutions to the variety of problems which face our multi-purpose university.

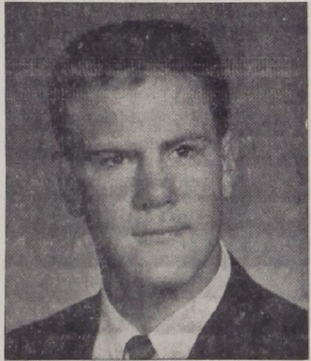

PLATFORMS, at least in previous campaigns, have been a series of promises, many of which end up unfulfilled. I have as many answers as my opponents, ones which I believe to be the correct ones, but I cannot say they will be the ultimate solutions. The office of President of the Student Association is as much an administrative job as an idealistic endeavor; hence, I welcome and encourage any questions on specifics.

I. Due to the increasing size and growth of this university (it doubles in population every ten years), it is becoming necessary to improve communications. To accomplish a common goal, it is somewhat ridiculous to have several distinct autonomous groups, each working toward the same goal. For the benefit of the student body and Texas Tech, I would propose to help the students, faculty, and administration cooperate with and understand one another; rapid and more coherent communication can be brought about by initiating a definite system of communication and by doing away with inefficiency.

I MUST ALSO state that too complex a system is unadvisable, yet a somewhat sophisticated network of communications is vital to any institution of this size. Efficiency and simplicity of communications will be considered as a basic criteria. Since, for the past two years, as President of the Men's Residence Council, I have represented over 3,000 students of many diversified interests, I feel that I can remain receptive to all voices.

II. A corollary to the communications problem is the conspicuous lack of effective student voice and participation. I would strive to gain entrance for the students into the actual policy-making facet of this university. Realistically speaking, there can be little blame placed upon the students for lack of participation. So often in the past, under former leadership, the students were thwarted and rebuffed when they attempted to be heard. These rebuttals tend to discourage and decrease spontaneous enthusiasm and thought, and as thought and enthusiasm go, so goes progress.

ONE REASON for these rebuffs is the routes and methods taken to be heard. In previous years, the student body, under former leadership, has tried to coerce the administration into compliance. I would infer from the renewed outcry for progress that it is indicative of renewed enthusiasm and interest. I would invite the student body to progress with me from a new vantage point. Let us attack this problem from a different angle, one of cooperation and understanding among the students, faculty and administration.

III. With the rapid advance of academic excellence at Texas Tech, it is imperative that the students' opportunities for cultural development remain abreast of dynamic academic achievement. Although there have been a multitude of excellent speakers and artists on campus, I feel that we, as a student body, should constantly strive to obtain greater heights of excellence. To forbid controversial speakers is to deny education. We have been exposed to controversy, and as a student association have come to be better persons for it. I commend this growing spirit of inquiry, and, as President of the Student Association, I would continue to encourage this spirit and the great job that is being done.

Johnny Walker

Texas Tech Student Government is not representing you—the students! For too many years, students leaders have accepted the dictates of the administration, faculty, and Board of Directors without taking the initiative to voice the desires of our student body. Rather than stating the honest problems of the student body and our proposed solutions to the problems, our government has acted as a defensive tool for decisions made without consultation of student opinion.

BECAUSE our ever-expanding Uni-

Space limitations

Due to space limitations, qualifications of vice presidential and presidential candidates will be published Tuesday.

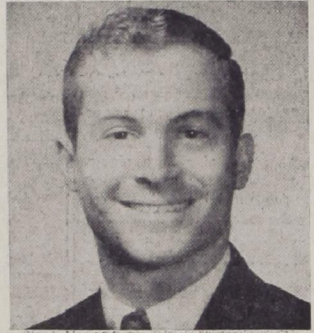

versity is in a volatile period, our student body is earnestly asking the "why" questions to rules that govern us. Student Government must begin presenting these questions to the Administration or it will be replaced by another institution or group.

Thus, our major problem is that our vast student body cannot communicate its desires as one student voice. The president of the Student Association can become that needed "voice" by perception of student needs and the transference of those needs into demands that will be presented to the administration.

The following are my proposed solutions to basic problems:

- Improvement of student body communications—The Student Association must sponsor all-campus forums next year so that the student body may call for clarification and justification from individuals or organizations on their actions concerning campus affairs.

- Reorganization of the Executive Branch of the Student Association—Departments of Finance, Academic Affairs, Inter-Government Affairs, and Student Life would be set up to provide better inter-government communications and to carry out legislation of the Senate. The secretaries and members of the departments would be composed of interested students not serving in the Legislative Branch.

- Expansion of the Judiciary Branch to provide recourse for students and organizations who are treated unjustly.

- Encouragements for more active participation of graduate students in the Student Association.

- Provision for better communications lines and public relations with Lubbock.

- Recognition and freedom for political parties on campus.

- Investigation and evaluation of the Traffic-Security Department.

- Consideration for the use of an optional meal ticket and more efficient channels for food complaints.

- Adoption of a workable plan for guaranteeing students seats at athletic events.

- Expansion of dorm parking lots in relation to the size of the dorms.

The Student Association must be ready to represent the students' views and "must be ready to stand for" students' rights. The President of the Student Association must be always ready to listen and work for student opinion. He must run an efficient and effective Student Association. I want to be your voice in the Student Government and I am ready to demand change when change is needed.

If student problems and opinions are to be heard in our growing multi-purpose university, student government must mature with the same speed and become continuously more effective.

THIS PAST year has seen student government at Texas Tech grow into an effective body representing the individual student more than ever before. The power of the president has increased; the vice president has become more functional in his capacity; and the Official duties of the secretary of the Student Association are threefold: election's chairman, official student government correspondent, and Secretary of the Senate. A new concept of the role of the Secretary has been initiated by the present Secretary—she is elected as an executive officer and should function in this capacity.

BY COMBINING the leadership and administrative roles, it is her duty to see that everything runs efficiently. She should be the key to effective communication between the student government and the students. The opinion of all students need to be heard, especially the wishes of the women students. A platform for the office of secretary should include issues which she can carry out and are within the realm of her authority.

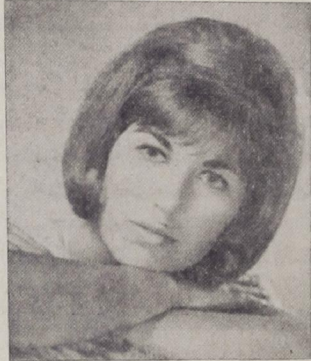

Among the areas that need attention are the following:

- In order to insure a larger voter turnout and greater voting convenience, placement of election polls in dormitories in addition to academic buildings. Manning these polls can be accomplished through enlisting the help of such organizations as ROTC, Angel Flight, Arnold Air Society, and other groups who would be interested in aiding.

- To facilitate reciprocal communication between student government leaders and their constituents by (1) publishing a Senate Record similar to that of the "The Congressional Record," (2) publishing senators' names, phone numbers, addresses, office hours, and schools in the paper and placing a permanent chart in the glass showcase outside the Student Government office, (3) setting up monthly meetings of a board of student senators from each school in the Union to listen to suggested action for the senate.

- As the only elected woman to an executive office, to bring to the attention of AWS the immediate need for a reexamination of the rules governing women students.

- In order for women students to realize and utilize their right to ask questions of AWS or to voice complaints directly to the governing body, to place complaint sheets in dorms, the student governing office, and the SUB that can be filled out and signed. These written complaints can be taken to AWS directly or to the secretary of Student Association who will be responsible for secretary has streamlined her job most effectively. However, for years, one executive office has remained stagnant. It has always played its extremely important role in allocating your funds through the Student Allocations Committee. It has served our financial interest on a more campus-wide basis by serving on the Student Services Fee Allocations Committee. And he is the accountant for the Student Senate. All of these are of vital importance, but should the activities of an executive office end here? I feel they should not. The business manager should be much more than this.

THE POSITION of business manager carries with it influence over almost every phase of campus activity. Through this influence much more can be accomplished than has been in the past.

Areas which should receive special attention are the following:

- Creation of a committee to explore the possible uses of the surplus funds that would benefit the entire student body.

- Work to establish summer night classes for the working student.

- Investigation of the policy of forfeiting the $40 room deposit if a student vacates his room before the end of the semester.

- Secure funds to complete a free campus bus system through the Traffic Security's surplus funds.

- Allocate funds necessary to send Tech students to compete nationally thus promoting the status of Texas Tech among other colleges.

I feel that both my interest and qualifications are enough for me to make the position of business manager much more effective than ever before. If elected, I pledge my total efforts in accomplishing this yearly promise.

channeling them into the hands of this body.

- To make public election dates earlier for the benefit of service organizations who are stationed at the polls.

In addition to these main points there should be a reorganization of freshman elections so that they will be conducted in a manner similar to executive and varsity cheerleader elections. In the field of correspondence the secretary should make deliberate efforts to aid in publicizing Fiesta and making academic recruiting more effective.

THE WAVE of criticism being voiced marks a new feeling on the campus and I have the firm belief that all elements of the student body have to be listened to since they are taking the time and interest to voice their opinion. If I am elected secretary, I would see that this platform be carried out and that the secretary continue to take her proper place in her role as an executive officer of Texas Tech.

I seek the position of Student Association secretary because of my desire to serve you, the students of Texas Tech. During the past years I have served you in various positions and during this time I have become concerned about a number of problems that have affected each of you.

I am aware of the administrative duties of the position I seek. I believe that I am qualified to fulfill these duties and I will work to honestly represent you.

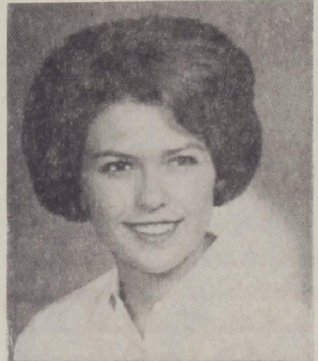

Programs and policies which I shall work to direct as your secretary will include:

- Students to be informed: You, as a student of Texas Tech, should be kept informed at all times of the acts and plans of the administration and your student government. I will work diligently to see that an open door policy of communication be maintained at all times. You will not be kept in the dark about the affairs that concern you, either by a clique in the student government or by your administration. You have the right to know!

- Appraisal of student fees: Each semester we as students are barraged by fees which are ever increasing in amount. The students are entitled to an explanation as to how the money will be used. I will propose a special study to clarify all such fees in order to eliminate those unnecessary.

- For improved athletic seating for students: For the past several years there has been much controversy over the seating at athletic events. Unfortunately, there has been nothing more than talk; there has been no concrete action. As your Student Association Secretary, I will work to see that this problem is solved. I believe now is the time for action.

- Revision for women's rules: The women students should be treated in an adult manner. I strongly favor a revision of the rules which effect the rights of each coed.

To these goals I will dedicate myself as your secretary. Texas Tech is a twentieth century university striving for higher ideals and is forever in competition with other universities. The answer of these ever-demanding advancements lies in the voices of the students and the rights which we must have.

Elections

Elections for executive officers of the Student Association are a week from today, with nine persons filing for the four offices.

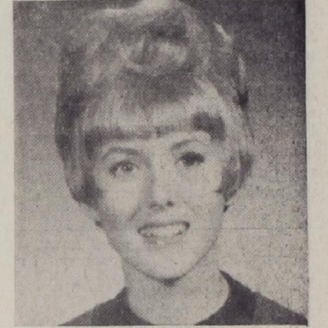

Platforms are being published earlier than they have been in previous years so that students may question candidates as to their ideas and how they intend to implement them.

Many of the ideas appearing on this page are logical and could feasibly be effected next year, while others are obvious pitches for votes and will never get beyond this page. We hope voters will try to distinguish between the two and will place their ballots with the former.

We hope students will take the time to read these platforms so they will be able to vote more intelligently next Friday.

Diane Naylor

In our present Student Association the duties of the secretary are to record the events of each meeting and to be chairman of the Elections Committee. I would like to expand this position by having the secretary assume more responsibility in public relations. Effective public relations are the key in achieving the kind of university for which we are all striving, yet in the past this immense task has been confined to the president.

MANY OF the problems facing our campus today are the result of or are compounded by the communications lag between students, faculty, and administrators, or between the student body and the student government. A current example of a communications block that could discredit a job that was diligently carried out is the unnecessary secrecy surrounding the revision of the Code of Student Affairs. Lack of communications has also hindered Texas Tech's name change because of the numerous independent committees dealing with the problem.

The secretary of the Student Association is in a position to greatly improve communications between the student body and the student government.

To be truly representative, the Student Senators must be well informed of the needs and attitudes of their constituents. As secretary, I would carry out the following proposals:

- Arrange for an informal meeting each month for students to air their complaints to the Senators, offer suggestions for needed legislation, and question Senators concerning what action is being taken on current issues. Also, members of the administration and Board of Directors would be invited to speak and answer questions.

- Make arrangements for the Senate Retreat in the fall. This retreat is essential for indoctrinating new Senators and formulating specific long-range goals for the Senate. The secretary is a logical choice to make such arrangements and compile information that would aid Senators. This information should be in the form of a handbook containing Senate office organization and procedures, a list of administrators and their divisions of authority, Senate attendance policies, and other information necessary for the efficient functioning of the student government.

- Place agendas in the Senator's boxes three days before regularly scheduled meetings to give Senators time to consult their constituents about issues to be voted upon.

- Organize material to be published in the Senate Record to inform all students of Senate actions and bills under consideration.

You, the voter, must select the secretary who will represent you on various committees and who will project the image of Texas Tech to many people and in many capacities. I am willing and qualified to serve you well in this office.

Registration fees determine budget

By JOHN DROLLINGER
Staff Writer

"That will be $109.50, please."

Once each semester, a voice says this to every fulltime student as he finishes registering and pays his fee.

The $109.50 is an example of one resident student's matriculation fees, but how many students actually wonder where their money, or their parent's, goes to each semester?

EACH SEMESTER, a resident student pays $50 registration fee and out-of-state students pay $200. Robert Price, comptroller for Tech, said each student's registration fee is pooled in the state treasury with the fees from other state supported schools.

"This pool is called the general operating fund of the college," Price said. "The amount a school, such as Tech, contributes, determines the amount the Texas legislature will appropriate to that school."

HE SAID laboratory fees of $2 and $4 are also pooled in the general operating fund. A laboratory fee of $2 per semester is charged for all courses in which the combined lecture and laboratory credit is from one to three semester hours. For courses in which the semester credit is four semester hours or more, the lab fee is $4 per semester.

"A course is designated a laboratory course upon the recommendation of each department involved," Price said.

THIS SAMPLE student had to pay $8 in lab fees—$4 for Spanish 141, $2 for Journalism 338 and $2 for P.E. 1112.

There is a $21 student service fee which every student must pay each semester of the long session if he is enrolled for six semester hours or more.

PRICE SAID the $21 is divided among various facilities and organizations. Of the $21, the seven goes to athletics, $7 to health services, $1 to intramurals, 50 cents to the University Speaker Series, 50 cents to the University Artist Course and fine arts programs, $1 to the University Counseling Center, and $4 to the band, choir and other organizations.

The $4 fee is handled through an allocation's committee of the Student Senate. This money is budgeted directly to 13 campus organizations as well as an additional 11 of which get money directly through the Student Senate.

James Allen, Dean of Student Life, said, "Student service fees pay for specific services. Whether a student uses these services determine its value."

IF WE GOT rid of student fees, the campus would scream because the students want to go to a good college," he said.

John Taylor, business manager at Tech, said each student must pay a $7 general property deposit. "The board sets the fee," he said. "It was used for any charges for lab breakage or library fines."

THE STUDENT is required to keep the property deposit at the $7 level. When a student graduates, it is up to the student to notify the school to either keep the $7 or to refund it, Taylor said.

"If the money is left in the comptroller's hands for four years and if the student is no longer at Tech, the $7 plus any interest it might have accumulated is put into the general scholarship fund," he said.

The student is charged $5 for Student Union Fees. This is used to defray the expenses and bonds on the Student Union Building.

IF A STUDENT registers a car, this costs him an additional $11. Chief Bill Daniels said the Traffic Security Council recommends the $11. The board of directors and president of the college approve the recommendations and the money goes into the traffic security fund.

"The money is used to build entry stations, parking lots and the maintenance of the lots," he said. "And if the students keep damaging the entry stations, it is their own money they are throwing away."

FINALLY, if the student wants to buy a "La Ventana," it will cost him an additional $7.50. The yearbook costs $6.50 to publish and $1 for a class picture.

If the yearbook staff shows a profit, it is because of such good sales, one staffer said. Any excess money is used to buy typewriters and the like for Student Publications.

The voice said again—"109.50 please"—the student wrote out the check for four and a half months of knowledge.

BRITISH RECONSTRUCTION—N.E.T. Playhouse presents "The Battle of Culloden," an unsparring documentary reconstruction of the last battle to be fought on British soil and its aftermath. Troopers of King-ton's Light Horse Regiment stand beside a man whose throat they have just cut. The film will be shown at 9 p.m. next Friday on KTXT-TV, Channel 5.

'God is dead' discussed

KTXT to show controversies

One of the current and most controversial theories of theology will be explored next Friday at 6:30 p.m. when KTXT-TV, Channel 5, presents "Local Issue—God Is Dead."

The half-hour program will focus on the beliefs of one of the leading modern exponents of the "death-of-God" theory, Thomas J. Altizer, associate professor in the department of religion at Emory University. Featured also will be a dormitory discussion of the topic by Emory students.

Another controversial topic will be aired Monday at 9 p.m. when N.E.T. Journal presents "The Smoking Spiral." This documentary on the "man-made epidemic" focuses on the life of two afflicted smokers—an American emphysema victim and an Englishman with chronic bronchitis. It studies efforts to curb the smoking habit, which has continued to rise in the three years since the Surgeon General's report on harmful effects.

An experiment in making history live, "The Battle of Culloden," will be seen on "N.E.T. Playhouse" at 9 p.m. next Friday. The program is a detailed documentary reconstruction of the last battle to be fought on British soil and its aftermath.

Breaking new ground in documentary film making, its producer took a film unit to the very moor where the historic battle was fought, and wrote the script as though cinematography had been invented in 1746 and used at the battleground.

An analysis of the past month's headlines and interpretation of major news developments around the world, "News in Perspective" will be shown at 9 p.m. Wednesday. Reporters will be a trio of New York Times newsmen.

George Balanchine, co-founder of the New York City Ballet and its choreographer, has assembled star members of his company for "U.S.A. Dance—New York City Ballet," to be viewed at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

"Tarantella" and "Meditation," and excerpts from "Agon" and "Pas de Deux" will be performed by his six leading dancers. "Spectrum," the weekly science series, looks at man's pre-historic ventures beyond his native shores to his present probe of outer space at 8:30 p.m. Monday in "The Story of Navigation." Man's progress in navigational science from the development of the compass in the twelfth century to today's use of highly sophisticated inertial guidance systems for space craft is seen.

"U.S.A.: Poetry—Brother Antonious and Michael McClure" will be broadcast Tuesday at 9 p.m. It is part of a series of programs on the contemporary American poetry scene.

Dames Club elect leaders

The Texas Tech Dames Club elected officers for the coming year Monday night.

Those elected were Mrs. Jack Stagner Jr., president; Mrs. Charles Clark, first vice president; Mrs. Robert Marshall, second vice president; Mrs. Philip Norton, recording secretary; Mrs. Keith Snedeker, corresponding secretary; Mrs. George Akers, treasurer; Mrs. Don Worthan, historian; Mrs. Mick Redwine, publicity director; and Mrs. Ronnie Shortes, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Pauline Pruitt of Merle Norman Cosmetics presented a demonstration using Mrs. Sylvanian Gillespie as model.

Tennis, golf action today

Texas Tech's golf and tennis teams will play a couple of important matches today as they host Baylor and New Mexico State University, respectively.

The golfers will be after a win that will send them into the upper division of the conference standings while the courtmen, who play a non-conference affair, will be after their seventh dual match win of the season.

THE BEARS will go into today's match at Lubbock Country Club as defending Southwest Conference champions and, although not the conference favorite this year, have a good chance of sighting in on the title.

Rich Rogers, Texarkana, and David Smith, Waco, are returnees from last year's title winning foursome. They are joined by Pat Boyd of Cleburne and Jimmy Martin of Waco, both members of the 1966 squad, in forming the power for Baylor's repeat title and 1-1 won-loss-tie mark. THE BEARS' are 6-6 for the conference season after splitting matches with Southern Methodist and Arkansas. Tech will go into the contest sporting an 8½-9½ point and 1-1 won-loss-tie mark. In match play this year Tech has downed Rice 5-1, lost to Texas A&M 5½-½ and split with the conference favorite Texas 3-3. The match will begin at 10 a.m. COACH GENE (Butch) Mitchell will counter the Baylor attack with Robert McKinney, Lubbock, who defeated defending individual champion, Mason Adkins, Tuesday; Jim Wilcoxson, Childress, Ronnie White, Corpus Christi; and Jim Arnold, Tulsa.

The Tech courtmen will be after their seventh win against two losses as they host New Mexico State at 2:30 p.m. on the Varsity Courts.

THE MATCH will precede a conference outing with Texas A&M Saturday at 2 p.m.

Slated to see action against NMSU will be Mike Beene, Odessa; Rudy Gutierrez, Mike Farrish, and John Woods, Midland; Pat Acton, and Murphy Yates, Wichita Falls.

The Raiders are 1-1 in conference play with a 4-2 win over Rice and a 4-2 loss to Baylor.

Hannum after S. F. hand

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Alex Hannum is going to get a chance to bite the hand that fired him.

Hannum, coach of the Philadelphia 76ers, was canned at the end of last season by owner Franklin Mieuli of the San Francisco Warriors. The reason given was that the bald veteran was not a year-round coach and that was what the job required.

HANNUM wasn't among the unemployed very long. Irv

Kosloff snapped him up for the 76ers as the man to lay the hard hand on a team which appeared destined for greatness.

Hannum did the job. He led the 76ers to a record 68 victories and the regular season Eastern Division championship of the National Basketball Association. The 76ers then eliminated Cincinnati in the semi-final Eastern playoffs and Tuesday night ended Boston's 10-year reign as Eastern playoff champs.

MEANWHILE, Bill Sharman, who succeeded Hannum at San Francisco, led the Warriors to the Western Division title. They eliminated Los Angeles and St. Louis in the playoffs and earned the right to meet the 76ers for the NBA's whole ball of wax.

When the 76ers open the best-four-of-seven-game series here Friday night against the Warriors, Hannum will have his chance for revenge.

OVER THE BAR—Foster Miller, Texas Tech high jumper, clears the bar at 6-6 to set a new Tech track record during the triangular meet with Arlington and TCU. But the record didn't last long as TCU's Robert Nees upped the mark to 6-8. The Raider trackmen will be on the road Saturday as they run against ACC and Baylor in Abilene.

Track marks improve; six meets Saturday

Southwest Conference track and field performers, gaining greater stature with every outing, will spread their talent on six fronts Saturday. Meets scheduled for Houston, Abilene, Ft. Worth, Denton, Albuquerque and Memphis, Tenn., are attracting SWC performers.

The prospect of good competition points to more outstanding performances by the SWC stars who last week improved on top marks in seven events.

LED BY Randy Matson of A&M, who was scant inches away from two world records, the Conference leaders improved on top performances for the shot put (70-5½), the discus throw (213-9½), the 440-yard relay (40.6 by Rice), the one-mile relay (3:07.6 by Rice), the 220 (20.9 by SMU's Jim Bankhead), the 880-yard run (1:50.9 by David Matina of Texas) and the high jump (6-9¾ by Baylor's Stan Curry).

Curry and Matina are sophomores, as are three members of each of Rice's talented relay combines (Conley Brown, Doug Belzung and Dale Bernauer of the 440 unit and Mike Casey, Bernauer and Brown of the mile contingent).

INTRA-CONFERENCE competition is booked only for Houston and Abilene. Rice and Texas, who own eight of the top performances in the sixteen common events, meet in a Houston dual, while Baylor and Texas Tech go against Abilene Christian at Abilene, site of last week's stirring meet that involved Texas, Rice and ACC.

Texas A&M competes against Kansas and New Mexico at Albuquerque, while TCU will be at home to Lamar Tech and Arlington. SMU runs in the North Texas Relays at Denton, and Arkansas competes in the Civitan Relays at Memphis.

SHOT PUT
Randy Matson, A&M, 70-5½; Ed Mooney, Tech, 56-9¾; Gerge Resley, A&M, 56-3; Toby Belt, Texas, 56-1½; Ronnie Urbantke, Baylor, 54-4.

DISCUS THROW
Randy Matson, A&M, 213-9½; Joe Williams, Rice, 172-8; Gerald Holtzman, Rice, 168-3½; Ed Mooney, Tech, 166-0; Toby Belt, Texas, 159-2½; Jim Napier, TCU, 157-2.

Mets win first

NEW YORK (AP)—Chuck Hiller's pinch double drove in the winning run in the eighth inning Thursday as the New York Mets edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 with effective relief pitching by Chuck Estrada and Ron Taylor.

A slim crowd of 5,005 at Shea Stadium saw the Mets score their first victory of the season and end Vernon Law's long jinx over them.

Law, who relieved Woody Fryman in the fifth inning with the score tied 2-2, was rapped for the tie-breaking run with two out in the eighth.
