

Dry Old Gulch Could Turn Into A Spa; Depends On Results Of A Survey

There's a possibility that a good-sized recreational lake near Hub, 18 miles north of the Draw — six, anyway. All of which could turn a dry old gulch into a spa — but without the usual mineral springs.

It all depends on the results of a survey started in January and due to be finished in the middle of summer.

There are a lot of "ifs". Clovis was the first city to express an interest in a recreational lake. But one has been proposed north of here and another in Hale County near Edmondson.

The survey, paid for by interested persons along the six-county serpentine route of the "draw", is being made by Soil Conservation Service, and follows months and months of studies, meetings and preliminary surveys. Leader in the drive has been F. F. (Flip) Calhoun, Plainview, who heads the project steering committee. Calhoun has spent more time and personal money — in promoting the taming project than any other man in West Texas. He's interested in it for three reasons:

1. For soil and water conservation.
2. As a flood preventative such as hit Plainview in 1969.
3. For recreation.

Conducting the survey is Phil Grazer who has headquarters in San Marcos. Grazer carries the long title of Acting Watershed Work Plan Staff Leader for the State of Texas Soil Conservation Service.

He has met with federal and state personnel interested in promoting the Running Water project. The meetings were held at the two terminals, Plainview and Clovis. His staff is interested in the overall project but Grazer has found the recreational aspects prominent in the thinking of High Plains residents, says Southwestern Crop and Stock magazine.

The magazine quoted him as saying, "I've never seen anything that's captured the imagination more than the prospect of water skiing, boating and fishing in the recreational lakes that have been proposed for this project."

Preliminary studies indicate the water shed project would require a series of probably 10 dams, most of them on private property and available to landowners for their own use.

It works like this: The landowner would be required to obtain a state water commission permit to use water from his lake for irrigation. For recreation for his own private use he would need no permit, nor would he need a water commission permit to charge admission to his lake with privately supported recreational facilities.

Communities, says Southwestern Crop and Stock, which have expressed an interest in using Running Water Draw watershed project storage to increase municipal water supplies include Earth, Dimmitt, Abernathy, Hale Center and Olton. No community, however, can contract for water from a government-endorsed watershed project until it has considered a second study made by engineers hired privately by the community to evaluate such a tie-in.

It's reported that no major opposition has been encountered to the project. Grazer said he added that the work of his office has been greatly eased by the groundwork done by Edmondson and his committee. The committee represents Curry county in New Mexico and Parmer, Castro, Lamb, Swisher and Hale counties in Texas.

The SCS man has commended the people in the six counties for "particularly fine cooperation."

The survey now being made provides studies by SCS geologists, hydrologists, civil engineers and economists working under Grazer's leadership.

The preliminary survey estimated a cost-benefit ratio would return $1.25 in benefits for every dollar invested. Public Law 566, under which the project was established, permits no government funds to be assigned for construction unless benefits reach at least $1.20 for every investment dollar made, and the current detailed survey should establish the ratio.

Calhoun's committee has much work it will have to do. For instance, working with soil conservation districts in the six-county area, it must get land easements for any proposed

COULD BE A LAKE - Somewhere along about here, there may be a nice lake when and if the Running Water Draw six-county control program is approved. This spot, 18 miles north of Muleshoe on SH 214, has been designed as a possible recreation lake. (Journal Photo)

THAT'S COTTON, PODNER! - This is probably the first cotton in the Muleshoe area to pop its head out of the ground this year. Reaford Wanner, four miles south of Lazbuddie, planted the cotton April 15, 60 acres of it. Here he and his 5-year-old son, Rayburn, point out the young plants emerging from the soil. It's Gregg. Area Towns Show Keen Interest In Proposed Junior College Here

Area towns and communities which will figure prominently in the creation of a junior college district — if one is formed — are "getting the junior college story" in a big way.

Alex Williams, chairman of the junior college committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and others have been visiting the communities to give everybody a picture of a junior college and what it could mean to our area," Williams said.

Harmon Elliott, Williams and Chamber Manager Roy Davis spent last Tuesday in Olton giving the junior college picture to residents of that area. "Everybody we talked with seemed very much interested," Williams said, "and we ran into no opposition at all to our proposal."

The three met with the Olton Lions club Tuesday noon and presented the junior college story to that group. "Everybody present seemed greatly interested," the committee chairman reported.

That afternoon they staged a coffee in Olton and invited interested persons to drop by to learn about the proposed junior college.

Thursday night, Williams and others appeared before the Parmer County Program Building Committee in Friona to discuss the college proposal, and next Tuesday a group from Muleshoe will go to Olton to meet with the Olton Chamber of Commerce board of directors at a breakfast. Again they will tell of the advantages a junior college would offer the area.

"We intend to take the junior college story to everyone in our area who would be interested in learning about our proposal," Williams said. "Doubtless we will make a systematic campaign from community to community to present our picture."

Olton, Springlake, Earth, Friona, Farwell, Lazbuddie, Farwell — all these communities will be included in the junior college district, it is expected.

Extension Of Feed Grain Plan Asked

Bailey County Farm Bureau board of directors and their families are invited to attend a family night supper Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the high school cafeteria, says Joe Wheeler, president. All families are asked to bring a salad and deserts. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schuster and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Little will show films which they made on their recent European market tour.

Farm Bureau Women's committee will not meet this month, it was announced Saturday. Instead the group will meet June 3 at 2 p.m. for a workshop in the First National Bank's Community Room.

Scores are expected to be on hand today when Muleshoe High School band and choir - 112 altogether - return from Enid, Okla., after taking part in the Tri-State Band and Choir

Freeman from the current operation of the law.

These included:

- (1) Removal of a 20 per cent minimum requirement for participation in the program.
- (2) The number of certificates received by each farm to be based on the "projected farm yield" rather than the "normal yield".
- (3) The taking into account "the extent of participation by the producer" in determining the scale of payments, which in effect moved to a graduated scale rather than a fixed percentage of participation scale.
- (4) The permission for producers to have acreage devoted to soybeans considered as devoted to feed grains and still be eligible for feed grain payments within limits set by the Secretary.
- (5) The provision for distributing certificates on a "fair and equitable basis" instead of requiring them to be distributed on the basis of respective shares between landlord and

Tomorrow last winter's felt hats will go on the top shelf in the closet and Muleshoe men will blossom out in summer straws.

Which is by the way of saying that Monday is straw hat day in Muleshoe, so proclaimed by his honor, Mayor L. B. LeVaque.

Said the proclamation: "Whereas, with the arrival of spring and warm, balmy days, straw hat time is here again, and Muleshoe stores have on hand a complete line of summertime headgear for men, and

"Whereas, straw hats for summertime are more comfortable and more stylish, replacing heavier winter felts.

"Now, therefore, I, as mayor of the City of Muleshoe hereby proclaim next Monday, May 3, 1965, as STRAW HAT DAY in Muleshoe, and urge all male citizens to visit Muleshoe stores and buy a new straw hat."

They include 122 books given by Mrs. Norma Jones, both fiction and non-fiction; 11 non-fiction books and one Bible by Jack Dale and Donalé Griswold; and 15 books and six paper backs on Art in Japan by Ola B. Library Offers Success's Key, Club Leader Says

Mrs. O. N. Jennings, a member of the Muleshoe Study club and a past president, points to the need for a small town library in an article prepared for The Journal.

She writes: "This last week having been library week, the question naturally comes to mind of the whys and wherefores of a library, especially in a small town. Libraries hold the key to knowledge which is power, which in turn holds the key to success. No one is a success without at least a partial understanding of our world, our times, our fellow man and our selves.

This priceless gift comes from reading and studying books which are a reflection of the thinking, experience and authority of the world's recognized leaders in every field of learning.

Any town large or small is very drab indeed without an incentive to better itself. Neither can it remain static. It either grows or deteriorates. It is interesting to note that from earliest times the most prominent city of the day boasted a library. Even before paper had been invented writing was done on wet clay, then baked. Some are still in existence. Even though they are invaluable it would be awkward and primitive to have to study them as we do our modern books.

Libraries are BOOKS. One can literally boast an education by availing himself of this opportunity that not everyone has. It can mean the difference between penance and power.

Education today is both valued and respected. The thinking person recognizes the lasting affect a library can have in regulating and enriching not only his life, but in molding the minds of children.

Why not be a "COLUMBUS" and discover anew our shrinking world. Exciting things are happening every day and minute. Books will open the door to this adventure.

Lariat Church Will Confirm 4 Teen-Agers

In the 10-30 service Sunday morning at St. John Lutheran Church, Lariat, four teenagers will be received as communicant members by the rite of confirmation, reported the church's pastor, the Rev. Herbert F. Peiman.

Members of this year's class are Robert Haseloff, Wayne Kube, Marilyn Krieger and Wayne Kube. For the past two winters these youngsters have met for two hours every Saturday to be instructed in the fundamentals of the Christian religion.

In Sunday morning's service, before giving their pledge of allegiance to the Lord Jesus, they will give a public witness of their knowledge of the Bible and of Christian doctrine by means of a question and answer period conducted by the pastor.

Dressed in their white confirmation robes these new members will receive their first communion with the congregation on the following Sunday, May 9.

Since the second Sunday after Easter is known as Good Shepherd Sunday, the Lariat pastor will speak on the familiar words of the Twenty Third Psalm. His theme will be "Flattened but Fortified".

Sunday from 3 to 9 p.m., Pastor Peiman, together with some of his members, will be in Lubbock for a "Living Lutheran Leadership Workshop" conducted by the Rev. Guido Merkens, pastor of Concoria Lutheran Church, San Antonio.

Band Boosters Hear Report

Band Boosters met at 8 p.m. Monday in the band hall.

Main discussion was the band trip to Enid, Okla., with final arrangements being made.

Five dollars was voted to be put on deposit and draw interest for next year to meet necessary emergencies.

A financial report was given at the meeting. It was reported that $1290.07 was on hand at the beginning of the year. Deposits of $4489.27 brought the balance up to $5,689.34. Current balance is $1,327.14, as of April 26.

'Guilt Release' Is Scientists' Sunday Theme

The spiritual requirements for release from guilt and suffering will be examined at Christian Science church services this Sunday. Subject of the Bible lesson is "Everlasting Punishment." Included in Scriptural passages to be presented are these verses from Ezekiel: "Make you a new heart and a new spirit. . . For I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, saith Merkens is pastor of the fast growing Lutheran congregation in the state of Texas. Purpose of the Lubbock workshop is to acquaint the churches of this area with the methods used by the San Antonio church to reach and win the unchurched people in the community.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Since this letter will probably be a long one, I had better tell you the gist of it so that you can decide whether it is worth your time to read it. It is motivated by the pleasant anticipation of a visit I plan to make back to my home town with the California Baptist College Choir of Riverside, Calif., to the First Baptist Church either the last week in May or small town of America is one of the loveliest of America's twentieth century institutions. No matter where I go or what I do I find myself irrevocably joined by choice to the advantages of having been reared in the small town of Muleshoe, Texas.

I was graduated from Muleshoe High School on May 17, 1935. There were 25 of us in the graduating class and we were the largest class in the history of the school. In those days the town really rolled out the red carpet for the seniors; we had so many wonderful parties and banquets. I have some faded, but still cherished, records of them in my scrapbook. The teachers we had during these depression years were pitifully underpaid and dreadfully overworked, and yet they were never too busy to help a student who needed help. I feel sure that the example of these wonderful teachers has served to inspire me to keep trying in the midst of overwhelming obstacles as we began California Baptist College in 1950 with no money and much opposition. Certainly these teachers must have chafed sometimes, under the watchful eye of the community and the restrictions it unconsciously placed upon them, and yet I feel that our schools are suffering today because of the emancipation of the teachers to the extent that they feel little or no responsibility to the community outside of the classroom. I trust that this is not true in the small towns to the extent that it is true in the huge schools of the city. At any rate, I am grateful that the teachers in the Muleshoe schools have continued to be my friends through the years, and that they did such a good job in their classroom work until I was able to compete successfully in college with students from bigger and better equipped schools. It was very important to me that not only the teachers, but also the community people believed in me. Young people need so terribly to feel that their elders believe in them. I have always been grateful that no one felt called on to tell me that my graduation speech was full of trite expressions and hackneyed phrases.

The city in which I live has one of the most beautiful settings in the world, but I am always annoyed with people who cannot see the beauty of West Texas. The bright blue of an afternoon sky contrasted with fluffy, dazzling white clouds which my mother called "Thunderheads"; the unsurpassed beauty of a prairie sunset; the invigorating, ozone filled air of the early morning; the frightening power of a thunder storm; the angry strength of a biting sandstorm; the myriad shades of green and brown on the prairie at various times of the year; thousands of acres of irrigated farmland with crops of amazing abundance in long, carefully cultivated rows — these are the beauties of Bailey County which I have never seen and felt elsewhere.

Life in a small town seems to the uninitiated to be placid and dull, and yet I remember it as very busy. There is so much involvement for everyone with all that is going on. People react and sometimes the reaction is painful, but small towners react because they care — they want to "do something" about situations which arise. There are prejudices and animosities in small towns, but there is great generosity and forgiveness too. In a small town one has a better opportunity to know different types of people than he has in the city. One usually chooses a group in a city and he is identified with this group almost exclusively. To me Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" is a much more adequate representation of life in a small town than Sinclair Lewis' "Main Street." If I ever have time to write about small town life, I would attempt something about halfway between the two, I think. (Smiles.)

When we had the last class meeting of the Class of 1935, we agreed that we would meet every 10 years, and that people would send their change of address to my mother, Mrs. A. W. Coker, "Because," I said glibly, "we will always live here." Within five years we had moved from Muleshoe and within seven years my mother was no longer living. As we talked that day about what we planned to do in life, I do not remember that anyone has done exactly what he or she planned at that time. My ambition then was to be a foreign missionary. This desire was blocked for many reasons, but I felt such wonderful, humble gratitude when the first graduates of California Baptist College were appointed as missionaries to Formosa three years ago. Since then several other couples have made application for appointment and one of the group is now on his way to Nigeria. Somehow I feel that God has used me in missions in a way that I never dreamed possible thirty years ago. We have never had our get together and I so wish that we would at least attempt one sometime.

At present I am librarian of California Baptist College. It has been an amazing venture in faith to see the library grow from a conglomeration of about three hundred volumes on one rickety book shelf to a collection of more than 54,000 volumes housed in a comfortable building that will accommodate about one-third of our student body of 315 at one time. I worked in our small High School Library at Muleshoe all during high school days, and it helped my knowledge of the classics in literature considerably, but this did not prevent my having a real tussle with the difficult library science course at the University of Southern California when I of necessity earned a degree there in 1956. California Baptist College is a coeducational, liberal arts college that offers majors in music, religion, history, Spanish, mathematics, science, English, religion, pre-med, business administration, and many fields of graduate work. It is accredited with the Western College Association, and it is the only Southern Baptist College on the Pacific Coast and the Great Northwest. It has students from more than thirty of the fifty states and from about fifteen foreign countries. The future is very bright for the college. It has been invited to bring its choir to Southern Baptist Convention in Dallas this year, and it is on this tour that the choir will visit Muleshoe. My husband is Dean of Students at CBC, and he is the only staff member who has been with the college since its inception.

Before I close this overlong letter I should like to say that I can never adequately express my thanks to the people of Muleshoe who were so kind to my father, the late Alton W. Coker, during his several illnesses in Muleshoe. Daddy often said to us, "Girls, Muleshoe will be a fine town someday," and he took great pride in the growth and development of what to me has been, and always will be a "fine town."

Sincerely yours,
Signed: Sibyl C. Brown

NEW QUARTERS - Farmers Spraying Service has moved to new quarters on U.S. 70 at the north edge of Muleshoe. The business, which now offers a full line of agricultural chemicals, is owned by Allen Haley and Gary Miller. (Journal Photo)

Farmers Spray Service Now In New Building

An old business is in a new location with greatly expanded services. It's the Farmers Spraying Service, owned by Allen Haley and Gary Miller, which opened in new quarters five blocks north of the railroad on U. S. 70.

While the firm has been operating here for four years it has expanded its services to offer full retail chemicals, Haley explained, with exclusive dealership for Niagra Chemical Co. The line includes herbicides, fungicides and insecticides.

Also carried are Hi-Yield hybrid insecticides, and Haley and Miller also are dealers for Time Chemical Co. products and Paymaster seeds.

The two are making contracts now for spraying, and will launch their 1965 season with Johnson grass spraying followed by cotton spraying for early season control of thrip.

Al Haley has been in business here for four years, and Miller joined him here two years ago. Haley has been here for two seasons.

Another new product being handled by Farmers Spraying Service is Lanstan, a new soil fungicide which is calculated to prevent seedling diseases in young cotton. It is put into the soil at planting time, and frequently is used with a herbicide to prevent weeds.

Lanstan, Haley says, has proved valuable, and on a five-year test conducted by Texas A & M has increased cotton stand by 20 percent and has resulted in 53 percent healthier roots.

Hundreds of acres of crops in the Muleshoe area have been sprayed by the firm during the past four years.

Muleshoe

Lee Pool, Muleshoe, who suffered a heart attack while visiting a brother in Levelland Easter Sunday, is reported as greatly improved, and may return home tomorrow. He has been in South Plains Hospital in Levelland.

Four Muleshoe Pupils are due to attend South Plains College's "Play Night" next Wednesday when three one - act plays are to be presented. They are Wanda Kay Harris, Ray E. Jackson, Ada Spurgeon and Carlotta Morgan. All have indicated they are interested in attending SPC next year.

Area youths have been invited to attend the sixth annual Lubbock Christian College youth lecture series slated for June 6 - 10.

Mr and Mrs. Erick Moeller will be in Muleshoe the week of May 2 to help his mother, Mrs. Ann F. Moeller, celebrate her 84th birthday.

College

Continued from Page One junior college expert with the University of Texas, is working on a report which he will make soon at a second mass meeting here. He visited Muleshoe and the area two weeks ago and spoke at a mass meeting, telling all details of a junior college program. He also made a survey, and results of that survey will be revealed when he returns to Muleshoe, probably around the middle of this month.

Dr. Colvert told the backers of the movement here that "due to the sparsely settled condition which prevails here, it will be necessary to draw in school districts in Parmer, Bailey, Castro and portions of Lamb County in order to make a junior college in this area possible."

However, the program is meeting with enthusiasm throughout the region for the most part. After Dr. Colvert makes his report (which will deal for the most part with conditions which must be met before the area is a quality for a college), the local group will launch a gigantic public relations program to "sell" the project to the area. It was pointed out that a minimum enrollment of 500 students within four years will be necessary in order to procure a junior college. Also the junior college district will launch a minimum of 400 graduating seniors from high schools in the district. Thus the need to incorporate all area communities into the project.

After Dr. Colvert has completed his survey and made his report, a petition will be circulated in all the school districts asking that the school be created. The petition must be signed by at least 10 percent of all the voters in each school district. The petition also must include a number of facts, such as tax rate, valuation, etc.

After the petition is presented to the state junior college board, that group will send some of its members to this area to conduct a second survey, and if they make a favorable report, an election will be called, creating the district, naming junior college board land Crosby, who has charge of umpires; Jack Riles, in charge of teams, and Owen Jones, secretary - treasurer.

GETS TWO HONORS - Joe Adams, Muleshoe High School Junior, has been handed two honors; he has been nominated for the annual "achievement awards program" sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English, and also has been picked by the Muleshoe American Legion post to represent the local post at Boys' State in Austin June 5 - 12. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Adams. Also picked for English honor was Lana Carol Adduddell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adduddell, Bula.

Survey

(Continued from Page One) dams. All property owners adjacent to the project also must employ SCS - approved practice project's future value. This would prevent soil erosion that eventually would cause silt to build up and destroy the project.

As of now, it looks good for the overall project, but whether it received all the private, local, state and federal green lights it will need can't be known at this date, concludes the Southwestern Crop and Stock article.

"What is sure, is that people on the High Plains of Texas look to a better future than the Plains' incredibly good past - a future planned to protect and improve their wealth in soil and water resources."

School's Many-Front Building Program Progresses

Spring weather, most of it warm and dry, has speeded operations at Muleshoe's $830,000 school building program, and all systems were "go" as April came to an end. Much progress has been made since the Journals checked up April 1.

Two units are farther along than the others, but all are moving on schedule, builders reported, and the entire expansion program should be ready for Johnny and Sary by the time school opens next autumn for the 1965-66 term.

DeSazo Elementary school's project, biggest of all the remodeling programs, has virtually completed the brick-laying work, and steelwork is practically all in place. The DeSazo project amounts to almost a completely new building all around, the cafeteria and the old gymnasium being the only portions of the old structures which will be salvaged. The gymnasium will be "worked into" the new building, contractors explained.

Much progress also has been made at the shops building, located just south of the present high school and west of the municipal swimming pool. Workmen this past week were winding up the roofing job at that unit. That structure will house the seasonal theatrical department and will provide space for a complete wood-working department and an auto mechanics' division. This will be the first time Muleshoe high school has offered the latter two courses. That structure is 188 by 56 feet.

The huge new cafeteria, which is to be located on the north side of the high school on ground formerly occupied by the ag building, has completed foundations and floors, and workmen had just started putting up steel framework. The new dining hall, when completed, will seat more than 600 persons. The present cafeteria will be converted into home-making department and the homemaking unit's present quarters will be converted into additional high school classrooms.

The gymnasium addition to junior high school is making progress also. Footings and foundations have been run, and steel and brick have been started in for the second phase of that construction job.

The entire expansion program is due to be ready for use next autumn. When completed, the school system will be changed to a 5-3-4 system - the first five grades in elementary school, the 6th, 7th and 8th in junior high and the 9th through 12th in senior high.

The expansion program was launched after patrons approved a bond issue last year.

AG BUILDING SPEEDS - The new structure just west of the swimming pool has reached the roofing stage to make it one of the most advanced of all the building projects. This structure will be used for shops.

GYMNASIUM - Among the additions planned is a new gymnasium for junior high. Foundation and footings have been run, and steel and brick were being moved in last week.

CAFETERIA STARTS - Floors and foundation have been laid for the new 650-seat junior-senior cafeteria, and this past week workmen started putting up the steel framework.

CLASSROOMS - Junior high school is to have an addition to both ends of the present building. Here's the classroom addition which has reached the brick-laying stage.

ANY TYPE - ANYWHERE - ONE of six large moving trucks operated by Langer Bros. is shown above. This firm moves houses anywhere, anytime.

Langer Bros. Move Houses Anywhere

If you want a house or business building moved across the street or across the state call Langer Bros. House Movers Co., at 5091 in Muleshoe; Porter 3-3497 in Clovis; and 238-3641 in Bovina. These men have been in the house moving business since 1939 and are experts in this field. They have moved houses as far as 450 miles.

This company is licensed and bonded both in Texas and New Mexico and the customer is protected from loss or damage resulting from moving.

This firm can move any type house or business building whether it is of frame construction, stucco or steel. They have six large house moving trucks and all other necessary equipment to do the job in an expert manner.

Three offices are maintained by this establishment — one in Muleshoe at 924 Ave. F; one in Clovis and one in Bovina. They can be on the job in a short time and move the building the shortest time consistent with safety and proper care for the building.

In addition to moving houses, they also have houses for sale. Joe Langer who lives in Muleshoe and his brother Fred, who lives in Bovina are the owners of this business and both take an active part in it. Twenty-five years of experience has taught them many things about this type of work and they have learned how to do the job efficiently and safely.

The annual banquet was held at Vann's Catering Cafeteria on Avenue A and the awards ceremony followed. Several parents, sponsors and students from Muleshoe attended.

The United States Mint cannot change a coin's design for 25 years without Congressional approval. The Jefferson nickel has been in use since 1938 and may be legally changed, but officials say the Mint has been too busy meeting coin shortages to switch to a new nickel design.

The woodchuck and ground squirrel enter a state of suspended animation that is, in effect, a vacation from life. Body temperatures drop dramatically; pulse and breathing approach the vanishing point.

Mark Twain published a successful book that contained, according to a biographer, "not a single word that critics could praise or condemn." His brain-crip "book" with gum-coated blank pages.

Today's Meditation

A story is told of a young man who stood at the bar of justice to be sentenced for forgery. The judge had known the young man from childhood, for his father had known a famous legal light and his work on the Law of Trusts was the most exhaustive work on the subject.

"Do you remember your father," the judge asked, sternly, "that father whom you have disgraced?" The prisoner answered, "I remember him perfectly. When I went to him for advice or companionship, he would look up from his book on the Law of Trusts and say, 'Run away, boy, I am busy.' My father finished his book, and here I am." The great lawyer had neglected his own trust with awful results. This tragedy evidence a reality in hundreds of homes across the nation everyday.
We have questioned the cause of the rise in crime, juvenile delinquency, and immorality; and have blamed it on hundreds of reasons. However, the answer lies basically in the home. If just one member of the home fails to respond to the needs of the rest of the family, there arises frustration by the one denied, and that member goes elsewhere to get this need filled.
This need, whether it is for love, respect, integrity, or any of the many intricate parts of the personality, cannot be healthy if failed outside the home, and it results in perversion, crime, and immorality.

Lions Planning Children's Camp

The camp is free to eligible blind, deaf, mute or crippled children. Transportation to and from the camp is supplied by the Local Lions. All handled locally by Lions.
For more detailed information about the camp, persons interested are urged to contact Owen Jones of the Muleshoe Lions Club.

Notaries Must Seek Re-Appointment Soon, Secretary Of State Warns

Secretary of State Crawford C. Martin announced that all qualified Notaries Public desiring re-appointment for the new term ending June 1, 1967 must re-qualify by the payment of the required fee and the filing of a new oath and bond with the county clerk of his residence between May 1 and May 15, inclusive.
Martin emphasized that notaries public should not send requests for re-appointment or for commissions directly to the Secretary of State. The Secretary of State further pointed out that each person applying for a commission as a Notary Public must be at least 21 years of age and a resident of the county for which he is appointed. The exact name and permanent address of the applicant must be furnished the county clerk.

Any person not now a Notary Public who desires appointment should apply to his county clerk before May 20. Application during this period will assure that the appointment will be made in sufficient time for the applicant to qualify at the beginning of the new term.

Labor Shortage On The Farm Could Lead To Increased Mechanization

By DAVID L. COWGER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) The government's decision to cut the flow of seasonal foreign labor to the United States in order to provide more jobs for domestic labor will probably also lead to increased farm mechanization.

There may be fewer jobs in the vegetable crops industry, but jobs that will require greater skills and offer more permanency at higher pay.

Turn elsewhere

Growers have maintained that the domestic labor supply is adequate, especially in the peak harvest seasons. They have counted on the availability of foreign labor to supplement the domestic force. With this assurance gone, they should be expected to turn elsewhere - to mechanization.

In California, where the $3.64 billion a year agricultural business is the state's biggest industry, growers are looking ahead four or five years to the day when machines will replace most of the human labor employed today.

Already cotton, once the biggest user of hand labor, is almost fully mechanized.

The trend has extended to vegetable crops.

For years tomatoes were harvested solely by laborers. Today about 20 machines bring in part of the state's rich crop. Each replaces 50 migrant laborers but provides permanent jobs for 1 to 20 men. Some progress also has been made in developing harvesters for melons, asparagus and lettuce.

Manual Labor

For the time being, however, most growers depend almost completely on manual labor.

Until the 14-year-old Public Law 78 expired last December, foreign laborers could be counted on by 1 per cent of U. S. growers using them.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz is now considering use of the Immigration and Nationality Act, which permits a limit on number to enter the country for temporary work providing the need is established.

Now that the hourly wage has been raised from $1 to $4.40

it is Wirtz's contention, and that of organized labor, that more domestic labor would go to the fields if housing were improved. During an inspection of migrant housing in California last month Wirtz repeatedly showed his unhappiness with existing conditions.

California has moved on this front. The state plans to build temporary housing for 1,000 migrant families in time for the September harvests. A $2-million federal antipoverty grant, plus $200,000 in state funds, will finance the project. But since 161,250 migrant workers were employed last year in California, the state's effort is modest at best.

For the Council of California Growers this emphasis on housing is obviously regarded as an interim measure. As one spokesman said recently? "The ultimate solution is mechanization".
