Support For Denomination Work Urged

Universities, Missions, Training School Cited

Appeals for support of various phases of the denominational work—the educational program, general pension board, Southwestern University, the Methodist student movement, the Texas Mission and Training school—were voiced before the Northwest Texas Methodist conference in session here Thursday morning.

Dr. H. W. McPherson, Nashville, Tenn., secretary of the division for educational institutions general board of education, struck the keynote for educational support, declaring that "there is no hope when we cannot educate our children in a Christian way, in a Christian atmosphere and with Christian motives."

Speaking for Southwestern University at Georgetown, Dr. J. W. Bergen, president, said the institution offered education in a "spiritual and Christian" and more than that it was offering "individual education."

Texas Methodists are faced with a challenge in adequately caring for their students in state supported schools, declared Dr. Glen Flynn, director of the Methodist Student Movement.

Although it has been possible to double the force working with these students, Dr. Flynn declared "that we have hardly scratched the surface" in this movement.

Only five cents per annum from every Methodist church in Texas will adequately finance the work of the Texas Mission Home and Training school, according to the Rev. John K. Beery, San Antonio.

3 Charged In Hit-Run Death

COLOADO CITY, Nov. 13 (AP)—Charges of hit and run driving were filed against three Mitchell county men late Wednesday in the death of 19-year-old C. B. (Cecil) Beasley, Jr., of Colorado City.

Young Beasley was almost instantly killed shortly after 10 o'clock Tuesday night when the bicycle on which he was riding was struck by an auto on U.S. highway 80 in east Colorado.

Officers arrested Hubert and Pete May Wednesday morning and Johnnie Haggerton Wednesday evening. The Mays live seven miles north of Lovaine, Haggerton in Lovaine. Pete May was driver of the car in which he was riding Wednesday night, according to information given officers.

The three had made bond Thursday morning to appear before the 32nd district court grand jury which convenes Friday.

300 Taking Part In Methodist Session

With more than 300 ministerial and lay delegates actively participating, the Northwest Texas Methodist conference moved with dispatch Thursday morning through most of the routine business of the four busy days of the annual parley.

Committees were named at the opening session following communion services Wednesday evening when more than 700 partook of the sacrament with Bishop Ivan Lee Holt, assisted by the nine district superintendents, presiding.

Rev. Cal G. Wright, Vernon, superintendent in that district, was re-elected secretary of the conference, a post he has held for 15 years. Named assistant secretaries were the Rev. M. E. Norwood, Hereford, and the Rev. W. E. Hicks, Spearman. The Rev. Norwood also was selected as editor of the conference journal.

Among those presented during the Thursday morning session were Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church in Lubbock, and Dr. E. G. Hamlett, although Dr. Hamlett was not present for formal presentation.

District Superintendent E. E. Bowen, Sweetwater, presented Mother Mary Zinn, only living charter member of the host First Methodist church, and told how she had taken her first airplane ride on her 85th birthday recently.

Those announced as having completed their first year course after admission on trial and who were advised on the general board were: David W. Binkley, Adrian; Hugh Freeman Blaylock, Vico Park; Charles H. Gates, Kellerville; Robert Lawrence Gilpin, Tye; Lloyd V. Hamilton, Sagerton; Charles N. Starnes, Harrah church, Pampa; Sam Franklin Wier, assistant pastor First church, Pampa.

Advanced to the fourth year were Noel Bryant, Abilene; Howard H. Eickel, Ackerly; H. E. Coggin, Southland; John A. English, Big Spring; J. L. Mayhew, Hart; Ellis A. Todd, Wilson; Jordan Groom, assistant pastor, Polk Street church, Amarillo. J. L. Mayhew also had passed his fourth year.

Ministers who are retiring included J. H. Bateman, Whitetace; C. W. Foote, Abernathy; J. T. Howell, Allen; W. G. Anderson, Hawley; C. A. Duncan, Acme; C. C. Coppage, Sunray, and E. L. Nance, Coolidge, Ariz., who has been doing special evangelistic work.

Opening the conference Thursday, standing rules were adopted. Mayor Grover C. Dunham welcomed visitors to the city, assuring that his welcome was "from the heart out," and that he was happy to see the conference had come to Big Spring because "of what you stand for."

At communion service Wednesday evening, when almost all available seats were taken, Bishop Holt passed on the mediation that bread and wine were employed by the Master rather than fruit and water because they represented the utilization of God's gifts by the hands of man.

On the program for Thursday afternoon were board, committee and commission meetings, a conference at the First Christian church on visitation of the sick by Dr. Russell Dickie, S. M. U., and a message by Dr. Angie W. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist church in Dallas.

Ray Nichols, Vernon, chairman of laymen's activities, was to conduct a lay board meeting and the laymen's banquet in the Settles at 5:45 p. m. At the evening hour, Dr. C. K. Vleit, New York, division of mission culture, general board of missions, was to speak. Friday's day program was to be almost identical with that of Thursday. Dr. Vleit spoke at the watch service in the church parlor Thursday morning.

Merchants Parley At 4 P. M. Friday

Merchants were reminded again today of a meeting at the chamber of commerce office at 4 p. m. Friday of all Big Spring retailers.

Object of the meeting is to plan a campaign to encourage sensible and early buying of Christmas merchandise, such care being made necessary by new complications imposed by the defense program.

STRIKE THREATS SPREADING

Is Confident Of Neutrality Amendments

Rayburn Says Administration's Bill Will Pass House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn calmly predicted today that the administration's neutrality revision legislation would pass the house despite dissatisfaction expressed by members critical of defense strikes.

Whether President Roosevelt will ask congress for legislation to curb them was said meanwhile at the White House to be a matter which would have to be held in abeyance.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that failure of congress to repeal neutrality act restrictions on United States shipping would bolster aggressive steps and intentions in Germany and other aggressor nations and would be definitely discouraging to the British Empire, China, and Russia.

pending the outcome of a conference tomorrow between the president, CIO leaders and steel company officials on the captive mine situation.

"We have enough votes," Rayburn told newsmen, while declining to estimate specifically what he thought the margin would be.

In response to questions, however, he asserted he had "no knowledge" of any commitment by President Roosevelt or any other administration leaders to the house group seeking stronger action by the president to curb strikes.

Although Rayburn talked with the president late yesterday after a group of southern democrats bolted the administration's foreign policy because of the labor situation, Rayburn said it would not be correct to assume that he had complete information as to what the president might have decided to do in the situation.

Presidential Secretary William D. Hassett, asked about reports Mr. Roosevelt had promised congressional leaders that he would propose some measure to halt work stoppage in defense industries, told reporters:

"Nothing can be said about that in anticipation of the meeting tomorrow."

To a question whether this meant the meeting and possible strike-halting legislation were connected, Hassett replied:

"I would not say they were connected, but the meeting tomorrow is of great importance and it is hoped that some constructive results will come out of it."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Finnish minister called at the state department today, while word spread in diplomatic circles that the United States and Great Britain might renew their efforts to end Finnish-Russian hostilities.

The visit of the minister, Hjalmar J. Procopo, to Under-Secretary of State Welles followed closely on the delivery of the Finnish government's note rejecting a Soviet offer to negotiate peace with Finland, which was transmitted to the Finns by the United States.

Nazis Storm Gateway To Russia's Oil Territory

Reserves Moved Up For A New Moscow Battle

By The Associated Press

Masses of German and Russian reserves were reported moving up to the central front today for a possible climactic battle for Moscow, while in the south, Adolf Hitler's Crimean armies were declared to be storming the fortifications of Kerch at the gateway to the Caucasus oil fields.

A naval spokesman said the German air force was already roaring over the narrow Kerch Strait to carry the war into the great fields which produce much of Russia's oil.

German military dispatches said naval assault troops had captured several of Kerch's key fortifications and that the port was open to direct attack from the west and south.

On the Moscow front, Soviet reports said the Germans were intensifying their scouting operations, testing Red army lines along the entire 200-mile defense arc, apparently as the prelude to a new grand offensive. Fresh Soviet troops were streaming up to the front to meet the expected assault.

On the north flank, in the Kalinin sector, the Russians said they had driven the German and Rumanian forces back occupied the port, which lies on a narrow strait separating the Crimea from the Caucasus mainland.

Reuters, the British news agency, quoted the Rome radio as announcing that German and Rumanian forces had occupied the port, which lies on a narrow strait separating the Crimea from the Caucasus mainland.

Dispatches to the Soviet newspaper Pravda, however, asserted that Red army troops had beaten off a German attempt to turn the Russian lines in the Kerch area.

"The German attacks were repulsed by the joint efforts of land troops, aircraft and naval forces," Pravda said.

Russian front-line reports said the Germans were "equally unsuccessful" in fighting near Sevastopol, key Black Sea naval base at the southwest tip of the Crimea, and that repeated tank assaults "failed to break through our defenses."

German bombers were pictured by the high command as blasting furiously at Soviet ships which might be used to evacuate Red army troops from the peninsula. A naval communiqué reported that three cruisers, a destroyer and five large merchant ships were badly damaged in nearby waters.

On the central front, Soviet dispatches declared that fierce battles were raging on both flanks of Moscow's 200-mile defense arc at Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of the capital, and at Tula, 100 miles south.

Local Men Visit Highway Office

Jimmie Greene, chamber of commerce manager, and Charles Sullivan were in Fort Worth Thursday to attend an "open house" at the new office of Highway Commissioner Reuben Williams there.

Order Rail Strike—Chiefs of the five railroad operating brotherhoods (above) ordered 300,000 members to strike beginning December 7 for a 30 percent wage increase.

Chiefs of the five railroad operating brotherhoods (above) ordered 300,000 members to strike beginning December 7 for a 30 percent wage increase. They are shown at Chicago. Left to right seated—Alvanley Johnston, of locomotive engineers (signing order); C. J. Goff, of locomotive firemen and engineers; standing—D. A. MacKenzie, of railroad trainmen (for A. F. After Four Years—Chase Ends Search For Theft Suspect

After four years of searching, the long arm of the law reached out Wednesday to grab a man under indictment here for cattle theft in a melodramatic series of events on a highway between Hale Center and Plainview.

Indictment in Mitchell county, was arrested after an automobile chase along the highway by Deputy Sheriff Bob Wolf of Howard county and Deputy Sheriff Ed Sanders of Lynn county.

Wolf and Sanders were en route toward Big Spring with a prisoner they had taken in custody at Amarillo, North of Hale Center, Wolf recognized the driver of a car going in the opposite direction as Stroup, although both automobiles were speeding along the road at near 60 miles per hour.

The deputy sheriff wheeled his car around and pursued Stroup at high speed for 10 miles. Wolf pursued him and again caught him after a short chase.

Stroup refused each of the passengers in his car the money paid for transportation, and the return to Big Spring continued uneventfully.

In Wolf's car throughout the episode was J. C. Starnes, who was being returned here on a felony warrant for burglary. Starnes was indicted here for burglary of a Coahoma store June 15, 1940.

QUAKE KILLS 15

ISTANBUL, Nov. 13 (AP)—Fifteen persons were killed, nearly 100 injured and heavy property damage done by an earthquake which shook the Erzingan district in eastern Turkey yesterday, belated dispatches reported today.

Phone Lines, Rails, Mines All Affected

Disturbed Labor Situation Menaces Neutrality Measure

By The Associated Press

Labor disputes today cast dark shadows over the immediate future of railroad transportation, long distance telephone communication and the mining of soft coal to fuel the nation's steel mills.

In addition, there was a growing possibility that the disturbed labor situation might even cause the defeat of administration sponsored legislation. Some house members declared they would not vote to send American merchant ships into war zones unless the administration took firm steps to prevent work stoppage on defense projects.

White House action of some sort appeared certain in the soft coal dispute, involving the CIO United Mine Workers' demand for a union shop in the captive coal pits operated by the steel companies.

President Roosevelt invited UMW President John L. Lewis, CIO chief Philip Murray, UMW Secretary-Treasurer Thomas Kennedy, and the heads of three large steel companies to confer with him tomorrow.

Murray and Kennedy resigned Tuesday from the defense mediation board, in protest to that group's 9-to-2 recommendation against the UMW's demand for the union shop in the captive mines.

There was no indication of what action Mr. Roosevelt had in mind, but the conference was called for the very day that Lewis summoned the UMW policy committee to a special meeting, presumably for a decision on union action in view of the mediation board recommendation.

Linemen Asked To Delay Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP)—The government appealed today to the Independent Federation of Long Distance Telephone Workers to postpone for one week a strike set for Saturday and to resume negotiations for settlement of its wage dispute with the American Telephone & Telegraph company.

The appeal, telegraphed to John J. Moran, president of the union, was made by Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the U. S. conciliation service, shortly after the union announced that transmission of news and news-photos by wire would not be affected by the threatened walk-out.

Henry Mayer, attorney for the union, composed entirely of employees of the A.T.&T., said members would be polled by telegraph during the day on Steelman's proposal.

Moran continued preparations to call other workers off their jobs at 12:01 a. m. Saturday and walk-out tomorrow, he said would tie up the A.T.&T.'s long distance communications in 42 states. The union's entire membership, which Moran placed at 15,000, including 5,500 women, is composed of A.T.&T. workers.

Rail Wage Plan Is Turned Down

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (AP)—Fourteen unions of non-operating employees, representing 300,000 workers in the railroad industry, issued a joint statement today rejecting the recommendations of the president's emergency board for settlement of the rail wage dispute.

Finn Issue Kept Open

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Finnish minister called at the state department today, while word spread in diplomatic circles that the United States and Great Britain might renew their efforts to end Finnish-Russian hostilities.

The visit of the minister, Hjalmar J. Procopo, to Under-Secretary of State Welles followed closely on the delivery of the Finnish government's note rejecting a Soviet offer to negotiate peace with Finland, which was transmitted to the Finns by the United States.

Procopo declined to make any comment except to say he expected to "talk" about the situation with Welles.

The informed belief here was that the Helsinki government had left the diplomatic door open for further discussions along such lines, even though its note to the state department did reject Russia's overtures for peace.

American officials were noncommittal on the subject, pending a thorough study of the note which set forth the Finns' position and their insistence upon guaranteed security for their little republic.

Secretary Hull gave the only hint of possible future action when he voiced the hope yesterday that Finland would not irrevocably commit to collaboration with Nazi Germany.

Envoys' Plane Long Overdue

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP)—Increasing anxiety was expressed in London tonight over the safety of a plane carrying Laurence A. Steinhardt, U. S. ambassador to Moscow, and Maxim Litvinoff, new Soviet ambassador to Washington, which was understood to have left Kulybshver, U. S. S. R., two days ago for Teheran, Iran.

Usually informed persons said they had heard word as to whether a search had been instituted along the route, adding that the only definite news that the plane was overdue came in press dispatches from Teheran. Officials said, however, there was a good chance that the plane had been forced down by weather at some point out of communication with Teheran or Kulybshver.

The direct air line from Kulybshver to Teheran is about 1,300 miles, part of it over the Caspian sea.

Also reported aboard the plane were Sir Walter Monckton, chief of British information services at Cairo, and one or two other British officials. They were due at Teheran Tuesday and it had been arranged for them to continue immediately to Cairo.

Big Tax Collections Boost City Funds

Unprecedented collection of both current and delinquent taxes during the period resulted in a sharp boost in the city's general fund. City Comptroller Herbert Whitney's monthly report to the commission shows.

Current tax collections amounted to $66,536.82 which, together with $1,907.07 allowed as discounts for early payment, represents better than 90 per cent of the 1941 tax roll. In addition, delinquent taxes in the amount of $1,541 were collected during the month, with 266 pieces of property being cleared of delinquent taxes during that period. The total delinquent tax collection for the city's fiscal year is now $18,273.18.

General fund revenues from all sources during the month amounted to $95,035.64 and disbursements were $62,309.07, including $47,876.11 of tax collections transferred to the interest and sinking fund. This left the general fund with a cash balance of $34,180.88 at the end of the month, representing a net increase of $32,804.58 for the month. Water revenues continued at a lower level, with October billings of $8,968.02 being $1,068.07 less than for September and $2,335.35 less than for October of last year.

Whitney's report said that general fund expenditures for capital outlay and operating expenses are continuing to be held well below the budget appropriations for these purposes, the October expenditures being $13,807.38, or $5,229.56 less than the appropriation for the month. For the first seven months of the fiscal year, general fund expenditures have amounted to $136,471.19, which is $14,905.43 less than the budget allowance for that period.

Interest and sinking fund receipts during October were $125 interest on securities owned and $47,576.77 transferred from the general fund. Disbursements from this fund amounted to $18,248.45 in payment of principal and interest maturing on the city's bonded indebtedness. This left the interest and sinking fund with a cash balance of $31,821.79 as of October 31, being a net gain of $29,733.32 for the month.

Red Cross Gets Good Response

Canvass of downtown establishments for memberships in the Red Cross was started this morning by 25 workers directed by Schley Riley, while women under direction of Mrs. Adolph Swartz continued solicitations in the residential sections.

Encouraging results were reported in both branches of the campaign.

Those persons who are missed either at their homes or businesses are urged to call Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle, executive secretary of the Howard-Glasecock chapter, at 256.

ROY READER, general chairman of the roll call, urged each member to wear his membership button throughout the remainder of the campaign as a part of the campaign to stimulate interest in the Red Cross.

Miss Laneous Notes

By MARY WHALEY

Have you taken a ride in one of the new "defense" cars? It's quite an experience really because the first thing the driver tells you is that it is minus everything in the way of gadgets that require aluminum, steel or any other metals now needed in armament.

But the funny part is that the car really runs better than it did before. The dashboard that used to have everything on it but the kitchen stove, is almost bare and most pleasing to the eye.

These plastics you read about make very good looking substitutes and to our undiscerning eye, they look just as well. Then too, when you want to pull out the check, turn on the lights or even start the car, you don't have to have a map to find the right knob.

Since there are only a minimum of knobs, buttons, and handles, it doesn't take you long to discover the right one. Quite a relief from spending forty minutes in a new car looking for the starter.

And something else, although you may be shocked to find this out. The car runs just as well, too. The motor seems to get along very well in spite of the lack of dashboard tricks such as machines that shoot lighted cigarettes into the drivers' mouth or the equivalent.

It's quite amazing the things we strong-bodied souls have given up for our country.

Mrs. F. L. Tollett and Mrs. Albert P. Groehl, who are on a South American cruise, writes from Port Limon, Costa Rica where they stopped October 31st before going to Panama.

According to their letters, Costa Rica has the ideal climate, about 75 degrees the year around, and the tropical foliage and flowers are beautiful.

They traveled from Havana, Cuba, to Port Limon and had a nice voyage all the way. The trip was full of entertainment as seventeen native rumba dancers embarked at Havana for the trip to put on programs.

Watch Firms Are Indicted

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Hamilton Watch company, Elgin National Watch company, Waltham Watch company, 26 other corporations and 78 persons were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Three indictments were handed up to Federal Judge John W. Cline.

The first named the Hamilton company, of Lancaster, Pa., its officers and 23 distributors and their officers, located in principal cities including New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Kansas City, Omaha and Dallas.

The indictment contains one count alleging a combination and conspiracy to restrain interstate trade and commerce in the distribution and sale of Hamilton watches, in preventing certain described persons, partnerships and corporations from buying, selling, distributing or dealing in those watches.

Presbyterian Anniversary Is Mapped

Committees are rapidly whipping all details into shape for the fiftieth anniversary homecoming celebration of the First Presbyterian church Sunday.

Invitations have been sent out to hundreds of members, friends and former members of the church under direction of a committee composed of R. T. Piner, T. S. Currie, Mrs. E. L. Barrick, Mrs. C. W. Cunningham and Mrs. J. O. Tammsitt.

A. A. Porter, R. V. Middleton, Mrs. T. S. Currie, Mrs. R. T. Piner and Mrs. S. L. Baker comprise a committee that has shaped a program which will include appearance of three former pastors. Entertainment is being arranged under direction of Mrs. Carl Strom, Mrs. E. A. Boatler, Mrs. Cecil Wasson, Mrs. J. C. Lane, Carl Strom and Lee Porter.

First Presbyterian church was organized under leadership of the Rev. J. H. Zivley and Judge William Kennedy of Dallas on November 14, 1891, with 12 members. The present membership is 324.

Rev. Zivley directed erection of the first building in 1896, at a cost of $1,300. Opening services were held in the present building, erected and equipped at a cost of $70,000, in 1930. Rev. R. L. Owens was then pastor.

Pastors of the church have been: J. H. Zivley, O. G. Jones, M. E. Sentell, W. S. Baker, T. M. Strubling, J. S. Thomas, L. O. Cunningham, T. S. Henderson, J. C. Ramsey, J. W. Harrison, W. L. Shepard, R. L. Owen, J. C. Thorns, D. F. McConnell, and the incumbent, O. L. Savage.

FORSAN, Nov. 13 (Sp.)—A covered-dish luncheon and book review will be held by the Baptist Woman's Missionary Society in the home of Mrs. C. H. Tippie.

Last week the society met at the church to hear "His Golden Cycle" an autobiography by Robert Thomas Brown given by Mrs. Tippie. Brown was a missionary to China and the book tells of his life there.

Mrs. R. M. Brown and Mrs. Walter Russell had the prayers, a number present were Mrs. L. L. Bee, Mrs. L. O. Shaw, Mrs. E. T. Branham.

Improvement Of Cemetery Progresses

Work of cleaning up the cemetery is progressing satisfactorily, city commissioners were told at their meeting Wednesday night by City Manager Boyd McDaniel, who said that practically all the burial property had been improved with the exception of that in the Odd Fellows cemetery, and that workmen would continue on this position.

The cemetery property has been extensively reworked during the past month, with only a nominal outlay for labor.

The commission discussed at length proposed revision of the contract with Art Winthelmer, airport operator, with changes due to center about commissions on gasoline sales. A special committee composed of Mayor G. C. Dunham, J. B. Collins and McDaniel was to continue study on the matter today.

The commission received reports for the month of October from the police, fire and health departments. Police reported issuance of 51 traffic violations and 10 speeding tickets during the month, and 107 arrests for various types of complaints, with practically all cases disposed of. The municipal radio station KACM handled 713 local calls and cleared 134 out-of-town messages.

There were three fires during the month, representing a total insured loss of $4,827. Causes were reported as defective wiring, rubbish, and a cigar.

Health Inspector H. W. Leeper reported on the month's inspections, and said that eight persons were summoned into court for failure to obtain health certificates.

McDaniel was instructed by the commission to enforce restrictions on the sale and lending of city equipment.

Wheeler said he had "known for some time that the Chinese and some of the British want us to send an expeditionary force to protect the Burma Road." He expressed confidence, however, that "the president will take counsel on the matter with the army rather than our hot-headed Secretary of the Navy (Frank Knox). If he does, I am sure he will not send an expeditionary force."

Wheeler thought differently. "The people of Japan, like the people of the United States, do not want war in the Pacific," he said. "There is no reason why differences between the two countries can not be worked out in a peaceful way."

Defense Output First, Says Hull

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—After a conference with President Roosevelt, Secretary Hull said today he naturally was anxious to see defense production increased and increased and increased and then added with emphasis that he would not let anything stand in the way.

Hull's statement was given his press conference in answer to questions regarding the effect of defense industry strikes on national security.

By seeing to it that needed war materials are produced without interruption in ever-increasing volume and are shipped where they are most needed, he added, this nation can make itself ready for defense at any time from dangers threatening from any quarter.

The best possible way to keep the United States out of war is to unify public opinion behind a sound national policy and then double and treble American production of war materials, he said. That, he added, should be done as quickly as possible.

One Senator Foresees War With Japan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—Senator Murray (D-Mont.) said today "there is a definite possibility" that the United States may go to war with Japan, but his colleague, Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), declared that "we now have a real chance to adjust our differences with the Japanese."

Murray, a member of the foreign relations committee, told reporters that forthcoming conversations between state department officials and Saburo Kurusu, Japan's envoy appear pretty futile.

"We can not afford to agree to any Far Eastern settlement which would sanction the oppression of the Chinese," Murray declared. "Japan must get out of China if there is to be any agreement."

"I have little hope that anything will come of the Kurusu conversations, because the war party is in control in Japan and it is unlikely that it will back down now. There is a definite possibility of war in the Pacific."

Wheeler thought differently. "The people of Japan, like the people of the United States, do not want war in the Pacific," he said. "There is no reason why differences between the two countries can not be worked out in a peaceful way."

Wheeler said he had "known for some time that the Chinese and some of the British want us to send an expeditionary force to protect the Burma Road." He expressed confidence, however, that "the president will take counsel on the matter with the army rather than our hot-headed Secretary of the Navy (Frank Knox). ### NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers follow nursing backache quickly once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of filtering the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisons to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headache, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, lassitude and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smearing and burning sensations shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

FLASH PREVIEW OF "Louisiana Purchase"

A one-minute movie of Paramount's lavish new musical comedy, starring Bob Hope, Vera Zorina and Victor Moore.

When Senator Loganberry (Victor Moore) comes to investigate New Orleans politics, Bob Hope poses as a waiter to compromise him.

The Senator learns he has proposed to Vera Zorina, as a result of Hope's plot.

During the Mardi Gras festival, Bob is kidnapped by his opponents.

Next, the Senator pulls a surprise marriage with Irene Bordoni.

This leaves the way clear for Bob to pair off with Zorina before the fade-out.

MEET THE STARS With Vic Boesen

Brian (Sergeant Markoff) Donlevy, whom we'll soon be seeing starred in "Hellrope Harry," the earlier version of which was called "Forgotten Faces," likes to build walls. Robert Frost, a native of New England, where stones from the fields and pastures built into walls serve as fences, makes the point in his poem "Mending Wall," that the work of replacing the boulders loosened by the elements deepens acquaintance between neighbors, for they are meeting in a common cause. But Brian likes to work with walls for quite different reasons. For one thing, it gives him exercise while at the same time creating something. Thus, he has enclosed his house in Brentwood Heights with a wall of brick. This is a happy attainment, for not only has he had some good vigorous fun, but the wall does for him in fact what the Great Wall of China was intended to do for the Celestial Empire in theory: keep out intruders. Far from suggesting a hostility toward the world, there is a symbolism of some laudable character traits in Brian's wall. He dislikes the folderol and

ERSKINE JOHNSON'S HOLLYWOOD

EXCLUSIVELY YOURS: Gen. Charles DeGaulle, leader of the Free French, will be the first man in London to see "Paris Calling," the movie in which Elizabeth Bergner makes her American film debut. Through arrangements with the Charles K. Feldman Group Productions, the film, based on the downfall of France, will be flown to London in an RCAF bomber for the special DeGaulle showing before its London premiere. . . . Since her suspension by Universal studio, Deanna Durbin has received thousands of letters from moviegoers everywhere pledging allegiance to the star and protesting the studio's action. It's the first time in Hollywood history that the public has been 100 per cent behind a star in a studio squabble. Aside to Universal: If you think Deanna is worried about the suspension, forget it. She isn't. . . .

Add modern miracles: Director Joe von Sternberg completing "The Shanghai Gesture" without a single retake.

Hollywood is still giving Orson Welles' flicker, "Citizen Kane," the cold shoulder. One of the minor players was cast the other day in a new film at a valley studio. . . . Welles' last picture was "Citizen Kane," the casting office advised the publicity department, "but the studio prefers we don't mention that fact."

Leslie Charteris is paying Lucille Fairbanks for the film lead in the film version of his latest mystery thriller, "Saint Overboard." It's the best in the Saint series. . . . Rather than have wife Elsa Lanchester removed from the cast because of illness, Charles Laughton is working two weeks without pay in 20th Century-Fox's "Tails of Manhattan." They'll both appear in the film and he'll make up for the time lost by her illness. . . . Author John Steinbeck finally has given Metro his okay on the screenplay of "Tortilla Flat" and production starts soon. . . . Madeleine Carroll—without Stirling Hayden—arrives back in Hollywood soon after a New York vacation.

It's Harold Huber's story about an English couple awakened by an air raid alarm. They jumped out of bed, ran out of the house and dashed madly for a shelter. Suddenly the man turned and started running back to the house. "What's the matter?" yelled his wife. "I forgot my teeth," he shouted back. "You dope!" screamed the wife, "they're dropping bombs—not sandwiches!"

Latest lad in Linda Darnell's life is Jack Hopkins, a young golf-playing millionaire from Cleveland. He's sending her orchids daily and will follow her when she goes east for personal appearances with "Rise and Shine" . . . George Brent, who now can get along very well without Ann Sheridan, is thinking about Hedy Lamarr while kissing Joan Bennett in scenes for "Twin Beds" . . . Leo Gorcey, the toughest of the Dead End kids, has turned poet and is working on a book of poems. . . . James Wong Howe, the cameraman, is having a postman's holiday in New York—photographing the sights with a 10 mm. camera.

There just isn't any screen justice for Virginia Grey. In recent roles she's worn either diamonds, gingham or a single costume. Now, in "Mr. North," she gets to dress up in several elaborate gowns. But she goes through the entire film with a black eye.

And it's Walt Ramsey's story about a down and outer who was roaming the streets of New York, cold and hungry, on a cold winter night. Finally he drifted into a flophouse he occasionally frequented and was handed a letter from a lawyer. He opened the letter with trembling hands and discovered a forgotten uncle had just left him $4,000,000. He folded the letter, put it in his pocket, then fumbled around for a quarter for a bed for a night. He could find only four pennies. Again he drifted out into the night. The cold grew more intense. His body screamed for food and warmth and rest. He could stand it no longer. He walked to an East River bridge, jumped overboard. Just as he was about to hit the water a look of astonishment came over his face. "Who—ME?" he yelled.

KEN MORGAN'S HOLLYWOOD KEYHOLE

Your reporter has just returned from Paramount Studios where he sat in a small projection room beside a nervous actor and his proud and just as nervous agent looking at a screening of a test which had just been completed. The actor's name is Alan Ladd and we predict a splendid future for him. After seeing the test that statement is an easy one to make. You also remember his agent. Her name is Sue Carol, at one time one of Hollywood's best actresses and now known as the town's shrewdest judges of talent. Mr. Ladd told me of the struggle he and Miss Carol have been having for months to get some studio to give him a chance and how Director Frank Tuttle, frantically searching for an unknown to play the difficult part of the crazed killer in "This Gun for Hire," gave him the opportunity and hoped he'd make good. He did! And now Paramount is on a buying spree for vehicles to star the new find. Your reporter is glad he made good, too, because he found him an intelligent gentleman and a good guy.

Pat O'Brien's agent overheard him saying the other day that a year's inactivity was getting on his nerves and that he was itching to get back into action. A few days later, his agent overheard him say that he wished things weren't so hectic because he was already tired just from thinking about the immediate future. He also overheard Pat wail that it was unfortunate the agent heard him in the first place. Here's the lineup: He goes into "Trinidad" at Columbia this month, stays there for "He's My Old Man"; moves to 20th Century-Fox for "Express to Heaven"; followed by "Highway to Hell"; and before he collapses concludes the stretch with "Trippin'" and "Life of Floyd Gibbons."

Max Terhune's appearance in Hollywood was ill-timed. Long before Edgar Bergen teamed with Charlie McCarthy, Max was known as tops in ventriloquism—but Hollywood shunned a second ventriloquist. But a producer named George Weeks started a series of westerns called The Range Busters and needed such a performer. Bergen was not available for this type of picture, so Weeks planned to Miami to watch Max Terhune's act. With a signed contract in his pocket, he returned to the studio and now, less than a year later, Max is in the top western bracket.

THE GOOD RUMOR MAN: George Montgomery, who raised plenty of cattle on his Montana ranch, is now helping Ginger Rogers stock her ranch in Oregon. . . . Hollywood wonders if George Sanders is married to Elsie Larson and he won't talk. . . . A new high in love scenes will be reached in "Son of Fury" when Gene Tierney and Tyrone Power swim under water and embrace when they meet. . . . Rumor that Dorothy Lamour and Greg Bautzer are married is not so. . . . Eddie Foy's description of a note: "that which when it comes due and you have to meet it, it's a helluva." . . . Arthur Murray describes "pan"—"something a man gets put on when he comes home with lipstick on his." . . . James Wong Howe, ace cameraman, will be the guest of Chinese Ambassador Hu Shih, during his trip to Washington. . . . W. R. Burnett's new novel, "The Quick Brown Fox," will be released by Alfred E. Knopf in December. . . . Michele Morgan was so impatient to get into her new home that after a recent rain, she visited the yet unfinished house and spotting water in the bottom of the pool—went wading! . . . Phyllis Brooks cut Hedy Lamarr out of an evening with John Howard at the new night spot, the Trouville. . . . Reason Wendy Barrie has so many friends—she greets them with a kiss. . . . Muse: why doesn't Harold Lloyd wear his famous horn-rimmed glasses so people can recognize him. . . . Amusing story about Mrs. William Cagney's (Doris Mary) Jap gardener—when she returned from a trip to Santa Barbara, she found half her shrubs nipped. The polite gardener explained that he was allergic to jasmine and petunias! . . . Richard Travis, new Warner's hope, is being observed at the St. Vincent's Hospital—possible appendectomy. . . . Adios!

ATTENTION MOVIE FANS
Again this week we are offering to Fan Club Members ONLY a free autographed photograph of Beryl Wallace, beautiful Earl Carroll star soon to appear in "Tomatoes" and "I Married an Angel." Non-club members may secure the picture by sending 5 cents for postage and handling. Write to Hollywood Today, Crossroads of the World, Hollywood, California—AND BE SURE TO MENTION THIS NEWSPAPER.

JOE FISHER'S Reviews of Previews

Early this spring Director John Ford won the 1941 Academy Award for his work on the 20th Century-Fox led with the John Steinbeck story, "Grapes of Wrath." Last week the preview of the 20th Century-Fox film, "HOW GREEN WAS MY VALLEY"

Maureen O'Hara and Walter Pidgeon in "How Green Was My Valley."

LEY," also under Mr. Ford's direction, moved it into a top place among the films that will be balloted on next spring for the coveted "Oscar." Produced by Fox's astute chief, Darryl Zanuck, this film version of Richard Llewellyn's best-selling novel (which, casually, cost a mere two and a half million dollars) is the best picture to come off the big Westwood Village lot this year. For Walter Pidgeon, Maureen O'Hara, Donald Crisp, and particularly for young Roddy McDowall the picture is a triumph. Set against the drab background of a Welsh coal-mining village, built in Hollywood at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars, the story takes you back to the days when this scene was a beautiful spot, unspoiled by the wreckage that modern industrialism brings to the green foliage of an old-world town. The joy of living in those days, with the simple pleasures that went with them, leave a memory with you that no audience can ever forget. If you have not read the book, the story will be a revelation; if you have, the picturization is something to remember. "HOW GREEN WAS MY VALLEY" is not a film to write about. It is a film to see.

Contrasted with this super-special film is Gregory Ratoff's Columbia production, "THE MEN IN HER LIFE," starring Loretta Young and a vibrant supporting cast topped by Conrad Veidt, Dean Jagger and Otto Kruger. Mr. Ratoff, a four-way Hollywood threat man (he produces, directs, writes and acts, often in the same film) hits the top in his directorial effort. Loretta Young has never been seen to better advantage. She tops herself—and that is topping. An especial nod to little Ann Todd is definitely in order.

An extremely well written story, "THE MEN IN HER LIFE" is an adult picture that will awaken the emotions in any audience. K-B Productions previewed "I KILLED THAT MAN," a fast-moving whodunit that has punch galore, plenty of suspense and topnotch performances by a veteran cast. Ricardo Cortez hits his old-time stride as a crafty assistant to the District Attorney, while Joan Woodbury makes an attractive partner as the fast-talking girl reporter who acts as leader for a gang of wise-cracking newspapermen. Along with other old-timers, those of you who remember your leading men of the past will spot Herbert Rawlinson and Jack Mulhall in minor but deftly-handled roles, with Vince Barnett also present in a hilarious comedy bit. There's nothing to frighten the youngsters in "I KILLED THAT MAN," and grown-ups will enjoy it too.

On the Sets With RED JOHNSTON

Hold on to your hats now because I'm going to try to explain how they make those Puppetoon pictures and it may get away from me even while I'm telling you about it. Or, on second thought, maybe I'd better just follow standard practice in this department and describe what was going on during the George Pal Studios, without attempting to go into too much detail. Well, so the picture in production was a fantasy in technicolor called "Jasper and the Watermelons," a tale of misadventure involving a scarecrow, a small pickaninny, and a wisecracking crow who insists upon perching on the scarecrow's shoulder. But here already it must be explained that a wide difference exists between live actors and the characters in a Puppetoon production; for whereas a living performer is of necessity all in one piece, a puppet actor must be built as a separate figure for each motion he makes during a picture. Wait now. This looks easy when you see it! What I mean to say is that several hundred models of each character must be made to fit all the positions to be assumed during the picture's action. Anyhow, a man in one corner was shooting a close-up of the three major characters, and this required a microscopic adjustment of each puppet between every two exposures on the color film, a feat calculated to send a person of ordinary nerves screaming into the street from sheer impatience. In another corner three men were shooting a second scene involving the same characters, though the miniature background was different. And all over the place other people were hammering, sawing, carving, painting and, somewhere in the building, even composing music.

All this activity begins in the workshop of George Pal, originator of the Puppetoons, who makes a drawing in watercolor for each key scene in the picture. His assistants then make additional drawings for these central situations, which are then filmed and projected on a screen to test the movements. Somewhere along the line accurate working-blueprints of the figures and landscapes must be turned over to the carvers, woodworkers and set-builders who turn them out on lathes and by hand. Next the figures are passed along to the girls who paint them, and finally the technicians who do the actual photographing assemble them for the cameras. This is about the point where your reporter would go quietly but completely mad, for every step before the camera must be recorded accurately on paper to provide for the split-second timing necessary to give that lifelike smoothness of living people. There's one big advantage in working with Puppetoons, though. Once you get your figures carved you don't have to worry about paying them a salary; and they have one other attraction too, besides the pleasure of seeing them on the screen. They can work in two or a dozen scenes all at the same time, and just try that with a live actor!

Victor is preparing for the Christmas trade. The company has inked John Barrymore to a contract calling for an album of readings from Shakespeare. Bluebird has signed NBC's Singing John Powers Models to wax an album to contain the ten top tunes of 1941. Albums will be recorded especially for purchase by British collectors and the first off the table will be flown to England on a bomb.

Harry James needed a goody to follow Minka and he chose You've Changed. Employing three violins, a viola and a cello, Harry brings it out in a breath-taking manner with the trumpets and trombones swinging out brightly. Companion platter is an engaging fox-trot version of the spiritual Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen, in which Harry's saxophone is dominant. The label is Columbia's.

This stick's prophecy is starting to come true—our discography, Stanley Kenton, who will release through Decca, gets the best showcase in the country when he opens for five and a half weeks at the Hollywood Palladium. Stan will be the first unknown to hit the spot.

Eddie Duchin, on a few hours notice, gave a command performance in New York for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor—initiated the concert with Yankee Doodle Dandy.

Fashion Scene By MARGARET MCKAY

Glitter and color take the fashion front this week. It's a shimmering winter in clothes even to daytime outfits, and color is beginning to have full swing in all kinds of wear, with some thrilling new colors on the scene. Dove gray is a new winter tone and is especially lovely in corduroy. Dolores Del Rio was garbed in just such a combination while lurching at the Hollywood Brown Derby with Orson Welles the other noontime. She accented the gray with a rose red (new name for old time American beauty red) hat and ruby ear clips. Another new color is called Flame Blue. It's best described as a sort of midnight blue. Claire Trevor has a wool coat in this color with a cowl hood for sportswear.

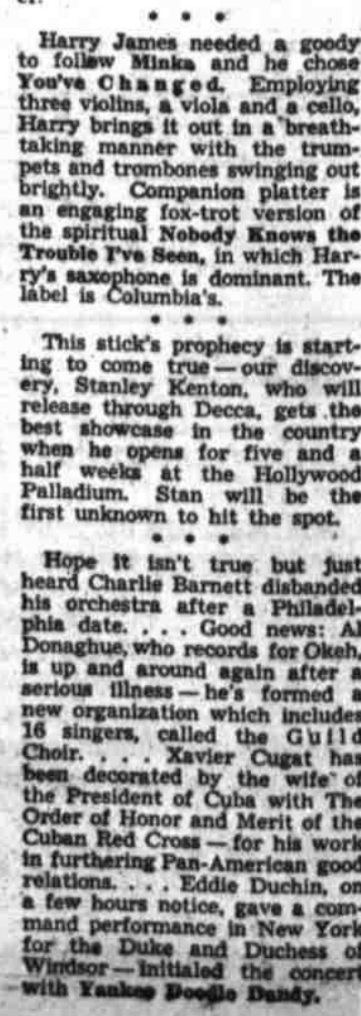

South American colors recently introduced at the buyers' fashion shows out here. One of her sports costumes introduces several south-of-the-border shades. A verdant green wool skirt is topped by a plaid jacket that combines tones of terra firma red, sun yellow and dusty purple. Wood rose is another new color. It's a sort of mauve rose and Shirley Ross was the first wearer in Hollywood. Mrs. Herbert Marshall introduced one of the new vests with slacks at El Rancho Vegas, the holiday spot in Las Vegas, Nevada, and at the same time introduced a new color called May apple. It's a pale, yellowish shade of green. The vest was wool knit and the May apple color combined with maize and gray, while her slacks were pin-waled corduroys in beige. As for the glitter, there are many new ideas to sparkle up one's clothes. Marlene Dietrich suggests a beaded muff for evening wear. In "The Lady Is Willing," she wears an evening gown of white bugle beads designed by Irene. With this she carries a muff of the same beads. Even footwear falls into the shining spot this season. Rita Hayworth, whose dancing feet tap out Cole Porter tunes in Columbia's "You'll Never Get Rich," wears black sandals with both evening clothes and Sunday night or cocktail dresses of black crepe with jet bands across the ankle, while Ginger Rogers uses Chantilly lace rosettes sprinkled with gold sequins for buckles on her night wear shoes.

Life In France Now Consists Mainly Of Constant Struggle To Obtain Food

By HENRY McNULTY

EURICH—I dropped part of a tomato sandwich on the crowded corridor floor of the Marseilles-Lyon express and kicked it under the radiator. "I'd pick that up, if I were you," my French companion suggested. "With food conditions as they are, and the Legion, which is a young SS-Corps, probably watching, I think it would be wise not to waste that tomato. We have already been noticed for talking English."

A man finished a bottle of pop and threw the bottle out of the window. "Wasting glass," I heard someone mutter.

When a Frenchman talks about a vegetable dinner at the Grand Hotel at Cannes as though it were ambrosia and nectar, you know there is something wrong in France. It is becoming a nation of vegetarians, not of choice but of necessity. The vegetables are still the best cooked vegetables in the world, but there is scarcely a man who does not grow about the neck of meat. Meat, butter and coffee seem to be the items Frenchmen complain about missing, according to my observations during a recent trip to unoccupied France.

Germany Take Potatoes

Eggs are nearly impossible to get. Potatoes are difficult to find in some parts, other things are scarce, depending on the section of the country in which one lives. It is said that this is due not so much to a lack of these items, as to the fact that much farm produce is going to Germany.

While I was in Lyon the Germans requisitioned 500 tons of potatoes from one nearby village.

and the farmers were said to be selling their stocks to anyone who would come to get them, to avoid having to give them up.

Such sales are without much effect, however, for in the first place there is not sufficient private transportation to carry any quantity away, and in the second, it is forbidden to transport food from one part of the country to another—even from neighboring farms to the city—without special permission. It is said German inspectors in plain clothes roam the countryside looking for cattle and farm products which can be requisitioned.

Fish Supply Limited

In Marseilles women stand in line for hours before empty fish stalls waiting for the day's catch to come in. When the fishing boats arrive, there is seldom enough for every one and the women fight for each morsel.

There is almost nothing you can buy without ration cards. One exception is lace. I bought several pieces of what I believed to be hand-made French lace in Marseilles. Later I exhibited the lace to friends in Lyon and discovered in one corner an infinitesimal piece of paper whereon was printed the word "Germany."

Leather is so scarce that when a person requests a new pair of shoes, government officials come to his home to make sure that he has no other shoes. Old shoes, as a consequence, are "lent" to friends for a couple of days till the inspectors are satisfied. Shoes are being re-soled with crass rubber.

Even drinks are scarce. In some places there is no more whisky and cognac is a rarity. However, though there are supposed to be restrictions as to wine consumption, they seem to be ignored, except in Vichy. Champagne, despite continual seizures by the Germans, still appears to be plentiful, though not of the best quality.

Food Theft Feared

Food stocks of those fortunate enough to have them, must be kept under lock and key, for it is impossible otherwise to prevent stealing.

Of course, there are "speakeasy" restaurants where a diner can obtain nearly anything one wants, but these are expensive. How a workman making from $60 to 1,000 francs a month ($8 to $10 at black market exchange rates) manages to feed himself, let alone his family, is a mystery to Frenchman and foreigner alike.

With six meatless days a week, restricted bread rations, not much choice of vegetables or fruit, even the rich have a rather sorry gastronomic existence. For the poor, life is reduced to its simplest terms. It is merely one continuous effort to get sufficient food.

Newspaper Advertising Brings Increasing Cook Book Requests

Cook book requests received by the Imperial Sugar company of Sugarland, Texas, as a result of newspaper advertising are coming in at twice the rate of last year.

While cook book requests from all medium of advertising have increased 23 per cent over 1941, returns from newspaper advertising have increased 105 per cent.

Advertising men use common returns from advertisements as one yardstick in determining the total number of people who actually read or hear an advertising message. While only a small percentage of the people reading an advertisement will actually clip a coupon and mail it in response to an advertisement, it is thought that the total number of readers is usually in ratio to the number of people answering the ad by mail.

Since the direct response to Imperial advertisements is 105 per cent of last year, advertising experts figure that newspapers are read more thoroughly than before.

According to Tracy-Locke-Dawson, the agency handling Imperial Sugar advertising, this increased readership of newspapers is due to the detailed coverage of vital news that is available only in the newspaper.

Although most authorities agree that world conditions have caused people to spend more time reading their newspapers, many have argued that the average reader is spending less time reading newspaper advertisements. The study of returns from Imperial Sugar advertisements proves that ads are receiving more attention, too.

For more than a decade Imperial Sugar has been consistently advertised in newspapers. Independent investigations in representative Texas markets have shown that Imperial Sugar is preferred by 23 times as many housewives as the next competitive brand. A large measure of this overwhelming leadership is credited to consistent newspaper advertising by Imperial officials.

Recipe For Preparing Turkey

Golden brown, stuffed and tender—ideal of all good cooks—the Thanksgiving turkey emerges from the oven in its familiar enameled roaster. Now it is ready for the final festive "skin" preceding the grand entrance to the dining room. Apply this final gala touch, as shown, while the turkey rests in the convenient inner pan, or rack, of the enameled roaster, or in the roaster itself. It's a deserving tribute to a perfectly cooked bird.

Let's prepare a turkey. Here's the method recommended by Gaudencio Garces, executive chef of the Stevens hotel, world's largest hotel, in Chicago. Roast Young Tom Turkey Singe and clean turkey, then dry. Fasten legs. Season with salt and pepper and stuff with plain American dressing. Place turkey breast side up in bottom pan of enameled roaster, and rub well with soft butter. Roast in moderately heated oven. A 15-pound turkey usually requires about three hours of roasting. Baste, as necessary, with drippings from pan or use a mixture of butter and hot water. This will nourish and flavor the bird, and prevent breast from drying. When turkey is done, remove some of the fat from the roasting pan and make gravy. Serve with cranberry sauce or cranberry jelly. Turkey Stuffing Soak small loaves of bread in cold water, then press the water out. Fry one chopped onion with chopped bacon; add it to the bread with a little chopped fresh parsley, thyme, sage and two whole raw eggs. Mix well. Season with salt and pepper.

Dodger Prexy Ready To Do Some Trading

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP)—If a bankroll of approximately $250,000 and some excellent trading material held any charms for rival club owners, President Larry MacPhail of the Brooklyn Dodgers has no intention of standing pat with the club that won this year's National league flag.

In the first place, he admitted today, the Dodgers badly need a good left-handed pitcher and another outfielder who bats right-handed.

And in the second place, he said with a twinkle, both the Dodgers and the Cincinnati Reds had better get busy and do something if they expect to live in the same league with the St. Louis Cardinals next year. "I just got through telling Warren Giles that in this letter," he said, waving a copy of his epistle to the general manager of the Reds. "Warren would like to do some trading, and I've told him I hope we can get together to our mutual benefit, because St. Louis is going to be tough. "Giles would like to have Babe Phelps. He needs a catcher, and it's no secret that we're going to trade Phelps to somebody. But it depends on what he's willing to give up to get Phelps. "Sure, we would like to have

Blasted By British, Italians Are Turning Ships Over To Germans

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Italian merchant marine, dismayed by heavy blows dealt its Mediterranean convoys by the British navy and air force, is stopping aside and letting German seamen take over many of its ships, British sources said today.

The swastika now is flying from many sailing ships and other convoyed vessels in the Mediterranean. Nevertheless the axis, in its effort to supply its Libyan forces, is going through one of its blackest months, the British say. Already November sinkings are put at 23 ships, including three Italian destroyers, and British officers say thousands of axis soldiers and seamen and millions of dollars worth of war supplies have gone down.

Nine more ships are listed as severely damaged this month. Since August, British surface ships, submarines and planes have sunk 108 axis ships in the Mediterranean and heavily damaged 70 more, according to the British navy. The British navy now is centering its attention on a program of Johnny Vander Meer. He's the left-hander we need. And so would Giles like to have our Pete Reiser. But I doubt he would give up Vandy, and I know we're not trading Reiser—though one of my rules is that no player is indispensable. Maybe we'll get together on something."

At Least, Tulane's Intentions Are Good

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13 (AP) Coach Red Dawson of Tulane has conclusive proof that they don't pay off on statistics. In the three games Tulane has lost, the Green Wave gained 562 yards rushing to 345 for the three opponents, gained 314 yards by passes to 179 for the enemy, and led in first downs, 50 to 19. Tulane had the statistical edge in each game, but lost—to Rice, Mississippi and Alabama.

Sidelights From The Methodist Conference Former Big Spring Churchmen Numerous At Convention Sessions

Name a place in West Texas and you'll find a minister and a delegate from it at the Northwest Texas Methodist conference now in session here.

And the surprising thing is how many came from or once were in this particular territory. Arriving here Wednesday afternoon was the Rev. Wayne Cook, a Big Spring man who got his preliminary education here before furthering his studies to enter the ministry. He is the son of Frank Cook and now is pastor at Wheeler. Of course, the host First Methodist church is like home to him.

Ahead of the delegates came the Rev. Newton Starnes, who was given a pastorate in the Panhandle last year after serving as assistant pastor here to Dr. J. O. Haynes. He was heading up the registration desk.

Rev. L. N. Culwell, Anton, who held a revival meeting here during the ministry of Dr. C. A. Bickley at the First Methodist, was here, but he had lost his trunk and his keys. Dr. Bickley, district superintendent at Abilene, was among the early arrivals, coming here for the first cabinet meeting Tuesday evening.

The Rev. A. T. Mason, now at Orvina, has three churches in his charge besides pursuing his education at McMurry college in Abilene. He formerly was at Stanton and Knott and has been in the ministry for eight years. Now classed as a super-annuated minister, the Rev. Ben Hardy, Tahoka, father of Dr. W. B. Hardy, Big Spring, was in attendance. He has been here off and on in recent months due to an illness and most recently for an eye operation. The Rev. Hardy was pastor of the First Methodist in 1919-23, and spent 41 years in the active ministry before retiring three years ago.

Another former Big Spring pastor in attendance was Dr. Will O. House, now district superintendent of the Amarillo district. He was pastor of the First Methodist for the year beginning in 1937.

The Rev. Sam Young, for several years presiding elder in the Sweetwater district, was on hand. He now is pastor of the First Methodist church in Sweetwater and laughingly said that when he changed from the post of presiding elder back to a pastorate that the Methodists had to change their whole set-up.

From Littlefield came the Rev. J. H. (Jim) Sharp, who was pastor for two years at Stanton. His work has prospered during the past year, he reported.

Laymen from over the district had no trouble in recognizing Ray Nichols, publisher of the Vernon Record, and an outstanding Methodist layman. He is to preside at the laymen's banquet at 5:45 p. m.

In the Settles ballroom today. With Mr. Nichols was J. A. Harrington of Vernon.

Dr. Herman I. Robinson, pastor of the First church in Lubbock, was buying himself about conference business. Finishing out his first year as pastor at Lubbock after transferring into the conference from Galveston, his ministry has been blessed by 363 additions during the year. Dr. Dwight L. McCree, pastor of the St. John's church in Lubbock, was present, too, and had around 300 additions to report for the year.

Carl Matthews, who has been with the First Methodist in Lubbock for six years, was a busy man assembling reports for the auditor's committee, of which he is a member.

If anyone knows everyone by his first name it is the Rev. C. E. Lynn, Lubbock, retired. For 13 years he has been serving as conference postmaster, selling postcards, collecting and distributing mail. Only the new men transferring in or entering the ministry give him trouble in delivering the conference mail. He spent 20 years in the active ministry, interrupted by three breakdowns before he had to retire because of his health. But he still keeps plenty busy as a supply pastor in his area.

The Rev. M. M. Beavers, Hereford, and the Rev. Claude Ledger, Abilene, retired ministers, were far from the "super-useless" ministers they jokingly said they were, for they gained real enjoyment in looking back over their trials and tribulations as pastors and in noting the progress of men who were mere striplings back in the good old days but who now have responsible places.

Among delegates present was L. M. Deming, Hooker, who has been active in the Methodist church there since 1916. Like many ministers attending, he also was "retired."

Now retired, the Rev. C. L. Hill lives near San Antonio, but he still thrills over the progress made by his son, the Rev. Leslie L. Hill at Friona. The elder Hill came into the conference from the Central Texas district, pastored at Cisco, Vega and Dumas. His later charge, covering two big counties, was such a tax, that although he won a victory, his health failed him.

If the Rev. Hubert Thompson, pastor of the 10th Ave. church in Amarillo, keeps up his record, he is going to land with a life-time job at some church someday. His first pastorate was for three years, his second for four, and now he has been at Amarillo five.

From Kellierville came the Rev. C. R. Gatas, a young minister just rounding out his first year of active service. He is not a mere boy, however, for he taught school for several years before being called. Last year he had 37 additions, despite his total membership is only little more than 100.

To mention a few others around: Rev. A. C. Hayes, rounding out his first year at Shamrock; the Rev. Joe Michael, an old timer who is now pastoring at Claude and many, many others.

Texas Retailers Agree To Conserve On Paper Wrappings Due To A Shortage Caused By Defense

DALLAS, Nov. 12.—Blame it on the war in Europe: Texas housewives may soon start carrying shopping bags again, to hold the articles which they buy in stores. Retail merchants, cooperating with the government in a campaign to prevent the waste of paper so that supplies will be available for the army and navy and defense industries, today began a campaign to eliminate all unnecessary use of paper bags and wrapping paper. Today was chosen to start the campaign because it is "War Against Waste Day," established in President Roosevelt's proclamation of Civilian Defense Week.

The reason for the campaign is simple. The United States is producing only twenty-one million tons of paper a year, but it is using twenty-six million. That situation cannot go on forever. The government and the merchants want to bring the figures together while there is still time.

The war directly responsible for this shortage. Huge quantities of paper, especially the kind used for wrapping paper and sacks, are needed in defense industries. In addition, much of the wood pulp which this country uses for making its paper comes in normal times from Finland and Norway, and these supplies, of course have stopped.

To help solve the problem presently by this paper shortage, organizations representing retail stores of all types have joined a conservation movement and have asked the cooperation of consumers. A resolution approved by eleven retail organizations explained: "Urgent advice from governmental departments indicate that at the present time the consumption of paper in the United States is exceeding the sources of supply. In the interest of national defense it becomes necessary to immediately curtail all waste and to reduce some of the ordinary civilian uses of paper."

"Therefore, the retail merchants of Texas have pledged themselves to reduce, as far as possible, their use of paper, and to advise their customers, the consumers of the state, that this program will be carried out at once. "Consumers will be able to cooperate greatly by reducing as far as possible the demand for paper wrappings, paper bags, and paper in any form not necessary to the processes of distribution or to the comfort or convenience of the household."

This statement was approved by members of the Council of Texas Retailers' Association, including the Retail Merchants Association of Texas, Texas Shoe Retailers Association, Texas Hardware & Implement Association, Texas Retail Clothiers Association, Texas Retail Grocers Association, Restaurant Owners Association, Panhandle Hardware & Implement Association, Retail Furniture Association of Texas, Texas Retail Dry Goods Association, and Texas Retail Jewelers Association. It also was approved by the Texas Chain Stores Association.

Smelter Worker Lauds Hoyt's For Bringing Relief

Indigestion, Gas Pressure, Kidney Distress and Dizzy Spells Relieved By Hoyt's, Says Mr. Clay Ford

Mr. Clay Ford, 2913 San Jacinto, Amarillo, Texas, states: "Years ago, I began having terrible spells of indigestion, with gas pains and

MR. CLAY FORD sourness following meals. There was severe gas pressure around my heart. I would become very dizzy and twice I fainted. It felt as though there was a big, solid lump in my stomach. "Since taking Hoyt's Compound, I now sleep well, have gained weight and have good color. I do not have those gas pains and I feel like a new man. Hoyt's has left no ill effects!" Hoyt's Compound is recommended and sold by the Collins Bros. Drug Store and by leading druggists everywhere.—adv.

Found: Reason For Kids To Ride Truck

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 12 (AP)—A truck driver backed into a customer's garage to unload a shipment of coal, but its removal caused the springs to raise the truck so much that the box of the vehicle caught the top of the garage doors.

It looked like some of the coal would have to go back into the truck for ballast until the lady of the house had an idea. A few minutes later the truck rolled out easily—loaded with all the kids in the neighborhood.

Food For Defense -- Farmers Use New Tricks To Increase Output

(Last of a series)
By JOHN GROVER
AP Feature Service Writer
WASHINGTON. — When they pass out the medals after this emergency, some U. S. farmers and scientists who never heard a gun should get a hatful.

Scientists are doing the quarter-backing and farmers are carrying the ball in this food-for-defense program. The goal is the greatest production of farm products in U. S. history in 1942. It will keep America and Britain eating at par next year if it's successful.

In the world. For more than 80 years they've been patiently, quietly raising production and efficiency standards on U. S. farms.

Liaison officers between the laboratories and the nation's farms are the county farm agents. It's their job to see that farmers get the dope on the production short cuts in time to do some good.

It might even be ready, with luck, in time to boost food-for-defense totals.

There are other ways the scientific planters, with farm cooperation, are fertilizing crops with brains.

County agents are slinging a song of farm gardens. They want more than 5,000,000 big vegetable gardens on farms in 1942. Grow-stuff that 5,000,000 farm families would buy in cans will be produced at home, releasing that amount for current needs and the stockpiles.

They're suggesting that whole milk be shipped to creameries. Dairymen now ordinarily separate the cream on the farm, ship that, and feed the skim milk to hogs.

H. G. Cook Of Colorado Dies

COLORADO CITY, Nov. 13 — Funeral for Henry George (Pop) Cook, 82, long-time resident of Mitchell county, was held from First Baptist church at Colorado City Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

Mr. Cook died Monday night at the home of a daughter with whom he had lived for the past eight months at Irian. He had lived in Mitchell county since 1901, farming in the southeastern part of the county.

Surviving children are Mrs. J. H. Huggins of Irian, Mrs. R. D. Hualock of San Antonio, Mrs. John Degan of Mount Vernon, Ind., Mrs. N. F. Davidson of St. Louis, Mo., Earl Cook of Wichita Falls, and Claude S. Cook of Mount Vernon, Ill. There are nine grandchildren.

You can't fail to make perfect frosting the KARO way!
For frosting that's fluffy, flavorful—frosting that doesn't get sugary and crack—frosting that piles up nicely, looks beautiful and cuts smoothly—follow this fool-proof Karo recipe:
PERFECT KARO FROSTING
3 cups granulated sugar 1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup Karo (red label) 1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 cup water 2 egg whites
Cook sugar, Karo, and water over low heat, stirring only until sugar is dissolved. Then boil rapidly, without stirring, to 242 degrees F., or until syrup forms a firm ball when a small amount is dropped in cold water. Add vanilla and salt to egg whites, and beat until stiff but not dry. Four syrup slowly in a thin stream into beaten egg whites, beating constantly. Continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks and is of consistency to spread. Makes enough frosting for filling, top and sides of 3 (3-inch) cake layers.

per acre; third, eliminate waste. The scientist-farmer partnership is using all three in the more-food war.

They're stepping up the acreage of soybeans, peanuts and vegetable oil sources. Plus that, "ag" research has increased production of soybeans per acre to 18 bushels from an average of ten. Increased acreage plus increased yield will up soybean harvests 100 per cent next year, if average weather prevails.

The scientists found, for instance, that some soybean varieties were strictly union. Work 'em overtime, and they quit 'cold. Varieties that thrived in the deep south wouldn't produce up north.

Reason was, northern summer days are considerably longer, and the southern varieties weren't used to that extra daylight. They're working to eliminate that growth-limiting factor now.

Increased dairy production means scientific feeding. There isn't time to breed a new generation of heifers for production right now. The need is desperate. More milk per cow, through increased feeding, is the answer.

Feed stocks have been surveyed in every producing area. Where local production is short, and a scarcity threatens, they've moved in supplies from surplus holdings.

They used their heads, too, and shipped the grain in before the fall shortage of freight cars. They're using their heads all the time in this food-of-defense program.

Yearlings Risk Unbeaten Record In S'water Tilt

Big Spring high school's Yearlings risk their unbeaten season's record here this afternoon when they clash with the powerful Sweetwater Colts. The contest is slated to get underway at 3:30 o'clock in Steer Stadium.

Thus far in the season the Yearlings have won five games. In only one, with San Angelo's Crimson Tide, have the Big Springers been scored on. Remainder of the card has been a top-heavy affair for the Yearlings with the opposition seldom if ever threatening.

Today's game may be the one that knocks Big Spring from the unbeaten row. Sweetwater, although it has never tested its wares with those shown by the Big Spring Juniors, is reported to be a rather heavy and powerful aggregation.

Most of the clashes in which they have engaged thus far in the season have been won by comfortable margins. Coach Davis Fisher is due to have his full team's strength in the fray, none of the youngsters coming out for the week's drill showing any ailments.

Claude M. Block, brother to Yearling Randle and Varsity Fudge, will be out of the struggle, as he sustained a broken leg last week at Lamesa.

Next week, the Big Springers wind up their year's work when they vie with the already-met-and-beaten San Angelo club.

Cottonseed Crush Running Higher

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP) — The census bureau reported today that cottonseed crushed in the 3-month period, Aug. 1 to Oct. 31, totaled 1,196,068 tons, compared with 1,130,993 tons in the corresponding period a year ago, and cottonseed on hand at mills Oct. 31 totaled 1,248,500 tons, compared with 1,089,636 tons a year ago.

Fall Of Texas 11's Features Grid Records

Aggies, Steers Drop In Offensive Statistics; Ariz., Duke Advance

By GAIL FOWLER

SEATTLE, Nov. 13 (AP) — The rise of Arizona and Duke and the fall of Texas and Texas A. and M. featured last week's yardstick battle for total offensive and defensive football statistical supremacy.

American Football Statistical Bureau figures released today showed the undefeated Texas Longhorns, first a week ago, suffered more than a blow at their prestige in being tied 7-7 by Baylor. The Texas dropped from first to fourth as a total offensive unit.

Meanwhile Arizona, winning its sixth straight game after losing its opener to Notre Dame, moved into first place with a 383.6 yard average per game from rushes and passes.

And Duke, 13th a week ago, rolled up 709 yards in punting. Davidson, 56-0, to go into second place with a 372.7 yard average.

The Duke Blue Devils, incidentally, suffered what might be called a collapse of their aerial game. In six previous tilts they had but two passes intercepted. Then last Saturday Davidson intercepted as many as four before they were another pair. Duke has led the country in the low number of interceptions for the past five years.

Now they're tied with Marquette, which otherwise ranks 14th as a passing team while Duke is 12th.

The Texas Aggies, after scrambling for a 21-0 win over S. M. U., dropped to third as a total defensive team at 113 yard yielded per game to rushes and passes, but they're still only a couple of yards out of first place.

Two teams with one game unreported—Texas Tech and Mississippi State, outstrip them by two and one stride, respectively.

The figure: (x denotes one game played and unreported; xx two games played and unreported); Total Offense—(gains rushing and passing)—Arizona, 383.6 yards average per game; Duke, 372.7; Utah, 354.4; Texas, 346.9; Tulane, 331.1; Georgia, 326.6; Clemson, 324.3; Missouri, 319.9.

Rushing Offense—Missouri, 288.4; Utah, 270.9; Syracuse, 268.7; Duke, 258.4; Texas, 245.1.

Forward Passing Offense—Arizona, 177.7 yards average per game; Texas A. and M., 176.4; Detroit, 165.9; Washington (St. Louis), 156; Notre Dame, 144.1.

Total Defense—(x) Texas Tech, 111 yards average yielded to rushes and passes per game; (x) Mississippi State, 118; Texas A. and M., 113; (xx) Duquesne, 114.4; Notre Dame, 113.4; Tulane, 124.4; Georgia, 123.9; Purdue, 124.3; Minnesota, 122.4; (x) Brown, 122.4.

Rushing Defense—(xx) Duquesne, 41 yards yielded per game; Texas A. and M., 48.4; (x) Texas Tech, 59.3; Tulane, 58.4; Notre Dame, 60.3.

Forward Pass Defense—(x) Boston University, 14 yards yielded per game; Purdue, 22.5; Denver, 34; (xx) Harvard, 24.3; St. Louis, 36.7.

Punting—Clemson, 42.13 yards average per punt; Navy, 41.62; Texas Mines, 41.33; Fordham, 41.11; Colorado, 40.48.

Presto Johnson Is Top Iron Man Of S'West Conference

DALLAS, Nov. 13 (AP)—Preston (Presto) Johnson, the Southern Methodist fullback who has only four more games in his collegiate career, has played 653 minutes of football—an average of 35 a game—without ever having to have time called out for him or being withdrawn for physical disability.

Johnson is the top punter of the Southwest conference, the fourth leading ground punter and second in conference scoring, with 41 points. And he has accomplished this on a team that has won only three of six games.

Irish Prepare For Another Wildcat Pelt

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 13 (AP)—An 11-year gap in Notre Dame football fortunes challenges a little band of fighting Irish who'll charge into Northwestern's tough Wildcat at Dwyer Stadium next Saturday.

It's a far cry to 1930, Knute Rockne and Notre Dame's last undefeated team, one which won 10 games and lost none. That team—and many before it—had reserve strength in every position, with Rockne using shock troops pulled from third, fourth and fifth elevens.

It's different with the 1941 Irish under Frank Leahy, who started practice with a comparatively slim half-hundred candidates. From that half-hundred Leahy culled some 20 players who've carried the load through seven games without defeat. And Notre Dame believes those players will be good enough to take the Northwestern hurdle before winding up with Southern California next week.

District 3-AA Executive Body Turns Down Proposal To Revamp Holiday Grid Schedule

1942's Cage Slate Adopted By Circuit

Meeting in a session here Wednesday night, called upon the suggestion of Supt. Bryan Dixon of San Angelo, the eight members of the district 3-AA executive committee met in Big Spring to iron out difficulties resulting from a mix-up on Thanksgiving day football games. A special committee, composed of school officials not involved in the discussion, voted 4 to 0 to retain the November 30 games as originally posted. Games originally scheduled for November 25 were moved back to November 27.

In addition to the holiday settlement, a basketball schedule was adopted by the committee.

Twenty-six school officials, including superintendents, principals, coaches, board members appeared at the meeting. On the district governing body were Supt. W. C. Blankenship of Big Spring, Supt. Murry Fly of Odessa, Supt. V. Z. Rogers of Lamesa, Principal Chester Kenley of San Angelo, Supt. Ross Covey of Sweetwater, Supt. L. E. Dudley of Abilene, Supt. John Watson of Colorado City, and Supt. George Heath of Midland. In closing session Heath, Rogers, Fly and Watson cast the 4 to 0 vote against the proposal stated: "Shall the 1941 holiday game be changed as proposed by Abilene, Big Spring and Sweetwater?"

In opening the discussion, Dixon declared, "We don't blame Big Spring for wanting the Thanksgiving game but that does not move the fact that Big Spring does not have one."

"I maintain the integrity of the schedule should remain, otherwise we'll lose $500 to $1,000," Dixon added.

Blankenship said that the Thanksgiving game between Big Spring and Sweetwater was a traditional affair and when the schedule was originally drawn up the holiday date was assigned the two schools. He contended that the spirit of the schedule should be maintained regardless of the mistake in date made by the schedule-arranging group. Blankenship declared that the date was made in good faith because it was a holiday, not because it was a convenient day on which to play, that the debate was carried to its finish.

The original schedule calls for games between San Angelo-Abilene and Sweetwater-Big Spring games November 20. The next week, Sweetwater-San Angelo and Big Spring-Abilene games were scheduled. The proposed change would have had Sweetwater in San Angelo and Big Spring in Abilene November 20, and Abilene in San Angelo and Sweetwater in Big Spring November 27. The latter plan was adopted by the four schools involved last Saturday, vote being 3 to 1 in favor. San Angelo's disagreement with the decision brought about the Wednesday night meeting.

According to the executive committee November 20 will be served officially, despite the fact Abilene, Sweetwater and Big Spring business men will observe the 27th.

Following settlement of the schedule dispute, the group discussed the advisability of increasing admission rates to games. It was decided to table the issue.

It was also decided to split the tax cost on admitting school bands in the event the schools are called upon to deal with it.

Schoolboys To Have Calm Fri. On Grid Front

By The Associated Press

Little Yuleta gets its chance Friday night to win an undisputed district championship—the first in history for the Indians and the first of the season in Texas schoolboy football.

Yuleta already is conceded the title because it has knocked over both Austin (El Paso) and El Paso High, the only teams retaining a chance of finishing in a tie with the Redskins for first place in District 4.

It is believed the district committee would vote the pennant to Yuleta even should the Indians lose to Bowie of El Paso this week.

Elsewhere in the state are few crucial games but there will be much leveling off for the big battles of next week and Thanksgiving when all district championships must be determined.

Here's a birds-eye view of the situation: District 1—Amarillo still undefeated team. No conference games scheduled.

District 2—Wichita Falls, the lone undefeated team, plays unbeaten, one-titled Burk Burnett Friday. Wichita Falls has two more games and must lose them both to drop the district title and could tie for it by losing one and tying the other.

District 3—Sweetwater and Odessa in a virtual tie for the lead with one defeat each. Odessa has played the most games. No conference tests scheduled this week-end.

District 4—Paris, the only undefeated team, does not play a game this week.

District 5—Hiland Park, undefeated, plays once-beaten Greenville Friday. Greenville and Denton both retain mathematical chances of winning or tying for the title.

District 6—Masonic Home, the lone undefeated team, meets four times and must lose them both to drop the district title and could tie for it by losing one and tying the other.

District 7—Woodrow Wilson and Sunset, both undefeated, play Forest and Adamson on Friday and Saturday nights respectively.

District 8—Breckenridge and Harker, both undefeated, do not have games this week.

District 9—Unbeaten Temple and Waco meet Corsicana and Ennis respectively on Friday night. Corsicana is the lone team with an outside chance of finishing in a tie with Waco or Temple. The Tigers would have to beat Temple and Ennis to win Waco, then Waco and Temple play a tie.

District 10—Unbeaten Tyler do not have a game.

District 11—Unbeaten Tyler do not have a game.

District 12—Livingston plays at Jacksonville Friday but the game means nothing. Unbeaten Nacogdoches and Henderson do not have games.

District 13—Here is a real jumble, with Jeff Davis, Sam Houston and Lamar all tied for the lead. Sam Houston plays Austin Friday and Davis meets San Jacinto Saturday but Lamar does not have a conference game.

District 14—Conroe and Goose Creek, both unbeaten, play Orange Friday and Fort Arthur Saturday, respectively. No other team has a chance at the title.

District 15—Austin is the only undefeated team. The Maroons do not have a conference game this week.

District 16—in the north zone Rosharon and Corpus Christi play next week for the championship. In the south zone, Harlingen, Edinburg and Brownsville are tied for the lead and McAllen can make it a four-way proposition by beating San Benito Friday.

With Lots Of Hope And Ammunition — — Big Springers Go To Deer Haunts

With guns full of ammunition and hearts full of hope, Big Spring hunters are out on the chase.

This time, it's the annual pilgrimage to the deer haunts south and west of this area.

Several parties are getting their gear in readiness for an early start. Most groups going to the hunting grounds are going on location by Saturday at least, thereby being on the spot when the season officially opens Sunday morning, November 15.

As in years past majority, of Big Springers will hunt in the Mason county and surrounding territory, the Big Bend country and in the Chisos mountain range. Reports coming from those localities are brightly colored, what with the assurance of an abundance of water, cover and feed for the behorned animals.

There have been a few Big Springers who have surveyed prospects on ranges over which they hold hunting leases and they are quick to declare that deer season will be one to long remember. Out-fitters of huntersmen declare they are doing a hand-office business and expect to do much more before the season gets too far underway.

As is customary when matching wits with deer, fairly large parties are due to leave for their grounds—making up in numbers what they may lack in equipment—to tangle with the wily deer.

Grover Dunham leads a party on an eight-day trip to Mill Creek, Mason county. In a locality which Dunham has hunted for eight years, the ranch is operated by Walker White. Du-ham's group consists of Tom Coffey, Darrell Douglas, V. A. Merrick, Carl Morrison, Larry Lattick, Jack Smith and Joe Progress. The expedition will be accompanied by a brace of coons.

T. J. A. Robinson and a party make an annual foray into the Chisos, setting up camp south and west of Junction. They will leave Saturday morning on a four-day expedition. Included in the party in addition to Robinson are Russell Stringfellow, Herschel Petty, C. W. Cunningham, Harold Homan and C. Davis.

G. H. Hayward will captain a trip to the Davis mountains, leaving Friday morning and returning some time during the middle of next week. The group consists of Hayward, Bob Finer, Elton Taylor, Frank Powell, H. W. Smith, Morris Patterson, Malcolm Patterson of Odessa and Mayo Bowen of Fort Worth. Hayward and his company will go into territory that is proven so far as they are concerned, since they have hunted the same area for the last three or four years.

Others going in search of the elusive deer are Alex Walker, Alvin Walker, Wayne Brown, C. Cantrell, Murrell Hancill, Glen Cantrell, E. B. Carriger, D. H. Petty, Bobby Asbury, T. M. Parker, Gene Linck, C. A. Nell, W. L. Carriger.

Ed Dudley Named PGA President

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (AP)—Big Ed Dudley, a star tournament performer in the Professional Golfers association, today had a new starring role—as PGA president.

Dudley, 29-year-old pro at Broadmoor country club, Colorado Springs and three time member of the Ryder cup team, was selected yesterday to succeed Tom Walsh of Chicago, who declined to run for a third term.

It was the first time the PGA ever had selected a president from its playing stars.

Lookin 'em Over

WITH JACK DOUGLAS

For the second time in five days, district 3-AA's football schedule has undergone a change. It's all a bit confusing. First, there was the Thanksgiving Day schedule as originally arranged by the district executive committee. Then, it was decided to revamp the cards of four schools, Abilene, Big Spring, Sweetwater and San Angelo. Wednesday night the district group met in Big Spring upon the suggestion of San Angelo's Supt. Bryan Dixon. Seems as though Mister Dixon was unhappy about the whole thing.

When the dust of battle finally settled, the district once more was lined up in the original order so far as all games on November 20 were concerned. November 28 games had been set back a day, making it a Thursday game.

Now, this is the way it stands—and it's supposed to be definite this time — SWEETWATER IN BIG SPRING AND SAN ANGELO IN ABILENE ON NOVEMBER 20; BIG SPRING IN ABILENE AND SWEETWATER IN SAN ANGELO NOVEMBER 27.

But did the committee stop there? It did not. Some of the towns in the district decided on November 27 for their holiday when the date was made optional. The business men of these towns changed the date from the 20th of Thanksgiving Day by their proclamation, to the 27th mainly on the suggestion of school officials. The district body decided to forget about the change and return to the 20th, calling that date the official holiday.

Now, the schedule as drawn up for the season is contrary to the traditional plan. It has been customary for Big Spring to play Sweetwater and for San Angelo to vie with Abilene on Turkey day. That was the spirit of the original schedule but the mix-up on just which day was Thanksgiving resulted in the conflict. It was the hope of W. C. Blankenship, Big Spring school superintendent and chairman of the executive committee, that the 20th schedule might be changed to conform with the spirit of the thing.

After some debate by all members of the body last night, it was decided to put the problem in the hands of a special committee composed of school officials from Odessa, Midland, Colorado City and Lamesa. They voted, in closed session, that the November 20 games remain as originally scheduled and the November 28 contests be played on the 27th. It was an unanimous vote.

It was a fair election by a neutral group—not by those involved. The meeting last Saturday, at which the schedule was first rearranged was also a fair election—by those involved.

Blankenship and Coach Pat Murphy graciously accepted the special board's decision. It was San Angelo's attitude toward the Saturday meeting that caused the

Louis, Baer To Battle For Navy Benefit

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis has been offered princely sums for fighting, but his wage scale is sliding to the vanishing point.

Within a few weeks he will be inducted into the army to fight, if necessary, for $21 a month and now he has agreed to fight for the navy for nothing.

A 15-round title bout between the champion and Buddy Baer, the big Californian he beat in six rounds last spring, was announced last night for Jan. 9 in Madison Square Garden.

The profits will go to the New York Auxiliary of the Navy Relief Society and Louis will receive nothing more than his expenses for staking his heavyweight crown, the most valuable bauble in sports.

Rear Admiral Adolphus Andrews, commander of the third navy district and commander of the North Atlantic naval coastal frontier, announced the match, which was arranged for him by Promoter Mike Jacobs.

Aside from the fact that Louis will be donating his services, the financial arrangements for the champion's 20th defense of his title were not disclosed.

But Ancil Hoffman, Baer's manager, said in Sacramento, Calif., that Buddy would receive the cus-

Editorial— Welcome Methodists!

Big Spring welcomes delegates and visitors of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference in the sincere conviction that they are gathered for the cause of common good.

This is no ordinary gathering, for to it come the leading clerics of the denomination in this area, the grand old men who have served God long and well, the young launching anxiously and prayerfully on careers of serving God through humanity, the laymen who bulwark for pastors in carrying out the tenets of the Great Commission.

This is a quality meeting, one given seriously to a serious business. Those outside of the Methodist denomination welcome the presence of the conference in the city because it symbolizes a work toward a cause all God-fearing people hold dear.

Whatever constructive comes out of this conference will not be confined to Methodist congregations of the area, but will spread everywhere just as surely as the spirit overflows to every niche and corner.

Big Spring would be calous if it looked upon this gathering as it looks upon the usual convention.

The element of money is not to be considered, nor indeed is it, for even in a world such as we know there are still some things more precious than materialism.

So the people of this city, regardless of race, creed or color, join with the Methodist brethren in hoping that bountiful blessings and much good shall come from the sessions in the brief days the delegates and visitors are with us. Like the scripture concerning church attendance, we hope that they shall go away saying that they were glad they were invited to come to Big Spring.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds— Pacific Isle Sets Are Just Too-Too Real

By ROBBEN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—One of our un-falling joys out here is seeing simple, unspiced native folk from the Pacific islands making movies like the "Song of the Islands."

They were all there for the luau, the big Hawaiian feast on a 20th Century sound stage, to welcome Betty Grable back from the States to the old pineapple plantation. It was a technicolor luau, and Joe Wright, the set-maker, had done himself proud. So had Eddie Jones, the property man.

Joe and Eddie, between them and their helpers, had spread around enough color to satisfy any of Hawaii's simple, unspiced chambers of commerce.

Even the inevitable waterfall, surging and splashing among the rocks and ferns and being pumped back to gurgle and splash again, was in color—a translucent blue produced by copper sulphate. A huge coral tree flamed among the plaster coconut palms, brilliant orchids and lilies glowed in the lush foliage, and crimson bougainvillea added its far from modest bit.

There may have been quite a few Hawaiians, real ones, among these simple native folk. There were also some Hollywood chorines, with pretty Hollywood figures, black wigs and great big blue eyes. There was Virginia Hogan, generally the ring-leader of movie luau girls, who looks like the native girl's ideal of beauty—or Hollywood's ideal of the native girl. Virginia, Irish-Mexican by descent, cheerfully admits the only island she's ever visited is Catalina—and that for a movie. There was Clara Enters, buxom Hawaiian comedienne known as Hilo Hattie, direct from Manahattan's St. Regis. The simple native boy gawling down the rocks by the waterfall, helping his native sweetheart descend, was of Italian background.

But the lad stirring the poi pot looked and talked like an Hawaiian. He didn't know what the sticky grey stuff really was, but he was sure it wasn't poi, the boiled ground root of the taro plant which is an Hawaiian delicacy. He thought maybe it was rubber cement, the way it stuck.

"But back in Iowa," said a simple, unspiced native bystander, "they won't know the difference." Eddie Jones said it wasn't poi. Poi, imported in small frozen packages, costs $20 a package. Eddie has a substitute whipped up of corn meal dough, colored the lavender-grey hue of the real thing. He had some real poi, however, for those who would actually be eating it in the film.

Betty Grable, of course, wasn't around yet. Even now, a native lad was perched high up the trunk of a plaster palm, alert for her approach. Even now, carpenters were nailing in wooden rests for the lad's simple, unspiced native feet.

Man About Manhattan— Here's Bit of Dope On Maxwell Anderson

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK — I thought you might like to have this stick of incidental information on Maxwell Anderson. . . . When you go to see Helen Hayes in "Candle in the Wind," you will be sitting in on Anderson's 22nd play. . . . His first written in collaboration with Laurence Stallings, was "What Price Glory." . . . That was 17 years ago. . . . Just before "What Price Glory" went into production Anderson borrowed $500 from the National Bank of Nyack, N. Y. . . . With it he bought a waterfront and three acres of land in a township called New City, a few miles beyond Nyack, and his acres have been increased to 67.

Anderson does all his writing in longhand with pen, in a small, neat, legible script. His writing is done in ledgers, a play to a ledger, and his first script is generally his final one, save for minor revisions. A play is completely worked out mentally before he writes a word. . . . He makes few notes, sometimes none at all. His scripts are typed by his wife.

that common honesty and decency under a totalitarian regime has no more chance than a candle in the wind. . . .

As for Anderson personally—he never has been known to go to a night club. . . . He frequently dines at drugstore counters, and in this he is not unlike his confrere and fellow member of the Playwrights Company, Robert E. Sherwood. . . . He wears tweed suits and in cold weather usually a slip-over sweater. . . . He hates tuxedos and evening clothes. . . . Six or seven years ago when the New York drama critics presented him their award for "Winterset," he was the only male present who wasn't dressed up. He came in his usual tweeds. . . . The only thing he has ever invested money in has been land. . . . He owns a lot of it now in Maine. . . . He likes New England, and especially Maine. Maxwell Anderson is slow to arrive at decisions, giving everything careful, measured thought. . . . Once, however, he has stated his position, he rarely veers from it. He is a rapid thinker, but a slow talker.

which some critics feel does not quite measure up to their expectations. . . . Nevertheless, their opinion of Helen Hayes is unanimous and unqualified. . . . Since its opening, the house has sold out every single night. . . . That is good. . . . I doubt that you can find a better buy for your $3.30 anywhere in town.

British Fear U.S. General Strike
LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP)—A prediction that the United States labor situation "may be leading up to a general strike simply due to inexperience of trade union leaders" was put forward today in the opening of parliamentary debate on British war policy.

That possibility was pointed out by Austin Hopkins, independent, in support of his statement that despite the United States' contribution, Britain's enemy "has a greater production and uses that capacity very much better than we do."

Hopkins said "it is all very well to point to the United States but people don't realize in this country what the industry of the United States is going through in the present generation."

Washington Daybook— Mr. Roosevelt Remains Busiest Man In Capital

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — The nation's capital probably is working overtime these days harder and longer than any other city in the United States, but Washington's No. 1 example of business as usual is President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

No two days at the White House are exactly alike but the pattern is sufficiently set, so that a "typical day" can be described without exaggeration.

Awake with the squirrels on the White House lawn, the president starts work even before he has dressed or had breakfast. First off is his conference with the White House right-handers, the little group of men who help him work out the plans for the day and see that the schedule comes off without a hitch.

Ring-leader of this little group is Stephen Early, who not only is eyes and ears for the president but is his liaison man with press and radio and through them with the whole world. While he is dressing and eating his usually hearty breakfast, the president lays his plans for the day, ticks off his appointments, and otherwise gets "his ducks in a straight line" for a stretch of work that may run from 10 to 16 hours.

Often present for these early morning sessions is the White House's star boarder, Harry Hopkins, who, as administrator of lend-lease and a member of the over-all National Defense Council, is the president's finger in just about all the important pies there are in Washington these days.

It might be Secretary Morgenthau, to talk over taxes; or Admiral Harold R. Stark for a private report on what the navy is doing to combat submarine sinkings around Iceland.

Perhaps by 2 p. m., the president will have desks cleared for a little paper work, but even then he is not content to do just one thing at a time. As when recently, President Canacho of Mexico asked the president to sit for a portrait by Painter Armando Dreocher, which when finished will be presented to the United States, Roosevelt chose his paper work time for being a model.

If it's Friday and 4 p. m., the president will rock back in his chair, cock his long cigar holder at its jaunty angle and receive the press—an ordeal that may last anywhere from 20 to 45 minutes—and almost invariably begins with an exchange of quips with those newsmen and women nearest his desk and always ends with (often planted to terminate the conference at) psychological moment) some reporter shouting "Thank you, Mr. President."

Coronado Sold To Stanolind
TULSA, Okla., Nov. 13 (AP)—Dr. J. C. Karcher, president of Coronado Corporation, Dallas, Tex., and his associates announced Wednesday sale of all capital stock of the company to the Stanolind Oil and Gas company of Tulsa at a price in excess of $5,000,000.

The Coronado Corporation was founded in 1930 and now owns and operates oil properties in Texas, Louisiana and Alabama.

It produced approximately 2,000 barrels of oil daily from the Larosa and Welser fields, and also operated a 60,000,000 cubic foot recycling plant in the Larosa field. It also owned producing royalties in the Luby, Chapman and Placedo fields of southwest Texas.

The Texas and Louisiana properties of the company will be taken over by Stanolind immediately and operated from present Stanolind general and division offices.

THE PHONE BOOTH MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

Chapter Two
DESERTED INN
"Lady, orders is orders," said the soldier.

The woman bit her lip. "But I simply must get on! I've got to consider. They," the woman pointed toward the Army, "they are headed toward Boston and are using one side of the road. I am headed for Provincetown and I'm on the other side of the road. I shall drive with great care on the extreme right of the road, my car is not large, and I shall not get in the Army's way! I—"

"Orders, lady." The soldier's patience was wearing very thin. "Oh, it's no use talkin' with him!" Jennie said "Red tape, red tape! Minute you run into the Army, you run into stilly old red tape! Asey, give me the newspaper out of your pocket to put over my hat, will you? My hat's—"

"Please," the woman held out her umbrella. "Won't you share this? And as for you, young man, you'd best look out for that dog. If he's not caught before he jumps out in front of those trucks, your theoretical problem may have an actual incident!"

Asey and the soldier rushed to grab the playful black-and-white setter pup which, having just discovered the Army, gave no indication of ever wanting to give up its new-found pleasure of bounding at every canvas-covered truck that passed. Three times he allowed his prospective captors to lay their hands on him, and each time, with a joyous yelp, he wriggled his wet body out of their grasp and bounded away after more trucks.

Five minutes later, Asey, breathless and soaked to the skin, placed the dog bodily in the arms of two soldiers and returned to where he had left Jennie by the traffic light. She and the woman with the umbrella were shaking hands like old friends about to part for many years, and as Asey watched the pair curiously, Jennie turned calmly removed her hat from her head, and tossed it into the path of the still passing column.

Then, before Asey could stoy her, and with a sublime disregard for her own safety, Jennie dove after the hat.

The exact sequence of the ensuing events was something Asey never quite sorted out in his mind. There was a multiple shrieking of brakes, a great deal of whistle blowing and order shouting, and then the third truck back from Jennie's hat suddenly skidded on the glassy asphalt and headed, with a certain drunken dignity, for an adjacent telephone pole.

Although the impact seemed slight enough, the pole broke neatly in two. There was a flash of blue sparks, and at once the street lights and the traffic lights went out, and the gas station and stores and houses on the opposite corner were plunged into inky darkness.

But, over and above the subsequent din, Jennie's voice still managed to ring out shrill and clear. "Cross over quick, Asey! I'm on the corner! Cross over quick! Hurry! Cross over!"

Opportunist
Asey found himself feeling a little guilty, as he ran for Syll's truck, but he consoled himself with the thought that there were literally no red lights barring his way across the intersection. Those trucks which had passed before Jennie put on her hat-retrieving act had already rumbled out of sight, and the remainder of the column had halted while the soldiers with the red lanterns bustled themselves with the ditched truck.

As he struggled with Syll's starter, Asey suddenly realized that the small sedan of Jennie's new-found friend had sneaked past in front of him and was now speeding along the road toward Provincetown.

Asey grinned. She was an opportunist, that woman was, and he hoped that Jennie's spur of the moment act wouldn't get her into any trouble with the Army as she passed the column. Jennie should have known better. Jennie, he told himself as he guided the truck past the blacked-out traffic lights, was going to get a talking-to.

"Here I am!" Jennie jumped on the running board and plopped herself down on the seat beside him with a satisfied sigh. "Now!

Evidence Gets Too Smelly At Trial

Crop Work In Full Swing

AUSTIN, Nov. 13 (AP)—For the first time in more than a month Texas farmers were able to work regularly in their fields in the week ended Nov. 9.

They took full advantage of the opportunity to harvest feed crops, peanuts and cotton and to plant fall crops where possible.

The U. S. agricultural marketing service reported fields in most northern sections were too wet for working the soil for seeding of small grains but other kinds of work went forward rapidly.

Cotton was opening rapidly in the northwestern districts. Light freezing temperatures and frosts speeded up maturity of the late crop.

During wet October much damage to grain sorghums had occurred in the northwest in the field, shock and bundle and more was anticipated.

The week of fair weather, however, has checked the damage and if more favorable weather follows the amount of actual loss will be lessened.

A large proportion of the tremendous grain sorghum crop remains to be harvested.

Pean harvest reached its peak with good crops reported from western and northern portions of the important pecan area, but short crops in most other sections.

Damage to rice continued as rains during the week hampered harvest and salvaging of fields damaged earlier.

Up the street an' take the first left turn, an' it's just a little way down from there. Hustle!

"Jennie, Assey said gravely, 'I don't know what's goin' to happen to you, but I think you're liable to court-martial! I saw you. You deliberately threw that hat!'"

"An' it wasn't hurt a bit," Jennie said cheerfully. "Didn't even bend the feather. Hurry, Assey! Did she get away?"

"Why bother to hurry now? It's been a lot more than eight minutes since we stopped. Nearer twenty, I'd say."

"Yes, yes, but there's the extra fifteen minutes!"

"The what?" Assey demanded.

"The extra fifteen minutes! You know I always keep my watch fifteen minutes fast," Jennie said, "so I don't miss radio programs. I think it pays to keep watches fast. We got three minutes. Did she get away?"

"Your girl friend with the umbrella? Uh-huh! She sneaked across. Jennie, you want to think twice before you do things like that hat-tossin'! It wasn't just dangerous for you—"

"Oh, it wasn't either! I only pretended I was goin' to jump after that hat! An' no one saw me, Assey, an' even if they did, they'd still have an awful hard time provin' it didn't blow off. An' anyway, I knew I was safe with you there. I knew you'd stick up for me if anyone made any fuss. Hurry up!"

"But s'pose someone did see you!" Assey persisted. "I know this business of the Army rushin' around seems like a lot of play actin' but they mean it! S'pose some uppity officer decided to make an example of you. What do you think would've happened?"

"Well," Jennie said complacently, "I s'pose he'd just have to arrest me as a Fifth Column, wouldn't he? Turn here."

Assey mentally decided that his talking-to was not making much progress.

"Now look," he said. "Consider. If some officer—"

Nobody Home

"Don't miss the driveway," Jennie interrupted. "It's somewhere ahead on the left, an' if the lights was only on, you could see that cunning little whale-shaped light they got. I wish I'd thought to ask her name, Assey."

"The whale's?"

"Course not! The woman! I liked her. Schoolteacher, I think she was. Had steel-rimmed glasses on, an' she talked kind of precise. I didn't get a real good look at her, but her hat was that smooth, expensive kind of felt, even if it was kind of plain an' unbecomin'. Her gloves an' her bag was nice, too, an' that tweed coat couldn't have cost a penny less than fifty dollars unless she got it at a sale. With different glasses an' her hair done sort of up instead of all down at the nape of her neck, she'd look lots smarter. How old do you think she was?"

"Don't you try to get me off the track by talkin' about her!" Assey admonished. "You done a crazy thing, Jennie, an' you know it. An' even if that woman in the sedan didn't have a thing to do with it, they'd have got her in Dutch along with you if they'd picked you up, an' all account of this fool spur of the minute impulse of yours. Don't you dare ever do anything like it again!"

"All right, all right, I won't! But we did get across, didn't we? Turn now, Assey. Here, I s'pose," Jennie added, "we ought to go around to the back door, but I don't know just where it is, an' with the rain an' no lights to guide you, maybe you better just stop by that covered part ahead. There!"

Assey obediently drew the truck up beneath a porte-cochere.

"Now what?" he inquired.

"Why, get them clams out, nunny! What did you think?"

"Wa-eh," Assey drawled, "considerin' what we been through to get here, it seems to me we ought to blow a trumpet or have a fanfare. Don't you think I should give 'em a blast of Sly's exhaust whistle?"

"Assey, don't you dare toot that swart thing!" Jennie said in a scandalized voice. "You get the clams out an' put 'em on the steps. I'll go inside an' find Mrs. Doane an' tell her we're right on time. Don't it look nice in there, with all the candles?"

It did look nice, Assey thought, as he hauled out the first of eight buckets of clams from the rear of the truck.

After halbstorms and wet dogs and pouring rain, the Whale Inn's glowing candle, and chintz-covered chairs and lighted fires that he could see through the wide French doors were all a pleasant and welcome sight.

He had the last bucket lined up

Four Killed In Collision

HOUSTON (Nov. 13 (AP)—Two young couples, homeward bound from a picnic, were killed early today when their car collided with a truck on Galveston road near Ellington Field.

The victims were Jack Weldon, 19, a freshman at the University of Houston, Erin Sloan, 18, Millicent Wallace, 17, Dorothy Mae Sheppard, 19. The car in which the four were riding plowed into the side of a six-wheeled truck and trailer driven by Buddy James Van, 26, of Texas City, driver for the T. S. C. freight lines, who suffered burns about the face, arms and chest, and serious head injuries.

As the car struck the side of the truck, hitting it just where the gas tank was located, the gasoline in the tank apparently exploded, spraying the car and its occupants with flaming gasoline. Some of the burning gasoline also struck the truck driver.

Ball Player Finds Missing Man's Skull

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13 (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Vincent Nalins, playing with companions, dashed into a thicket to recover a football—and stumbled over a skull.

Police identified the skeleton as that of Albert Cuffee, reported missing months ago. They said he apparently died from natural causes.

Red Hair Responds Best To Vitamin Restoration

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP)—Red-heads are getting the best results in restoring natural color to white or gray hair by taking the new B vitamin, P-Amino-Benzole acid.

A beautiful red returns, Dr. Benjamin Sieve of Boston, reported today to the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine. Blondes and brunettes get varying degrees of restoration to youthful color, and a few of them are almost complete.

Dr. Sieve disclosed that about 1,500 persons all over the United States already are trying the new vitamin for hair, under guidance of physicians.

Some startling incidental effects on other troubles have cropped up. Several women who had been sterile for years entered upon motherhood. A man reported restoration of sex life which had been lost for eight years.

A few asthmatics reported benefits. A skin disfigurement, vitiligo, in which white patches appear, is disappearing on a fair number of victims. Some reported improved appetites.

These secondary effects, however, were quite lacking on some persons, and there is as yet no explanation of the difference in reactions.

The vitamin is now made from coal, synthetically, and, in contrast to many vitamins, is inexpensive and plentiful.
