

New code sent to Murray for approval

By BARBRA WORLEY

The Committee for the Revision of the Code of Student Affairs, working since October, voted unanimously at its final meeting last week to send to President Murray for approval a code which includes a Student Appeals Board which will hear both individual and organization disciplinary cases, a 21-year-old age limit on required campus-approved housing and a statement of "basic student rights."

INCLUDED AMONG THESE RIGHTS are freedom of speech, peaceful assembly, and the right of petition, freedom to participate in off-campus political activity and the right to join or organize groups "to promote their (student's) own interests."

However, the 14-page code later qualified this by saying, "Inherent in the relationship between the university and organized student groups is the understanding that the purposes and activities of such groups should be consistent with the main objectives and formal organization of the university."

Committee chairman Dr. Keith Marrison delivered the code to Dr. Murray Friday, along with a letter of recommendations not included in the revised code.

THE CODE WILL BE SUBMITTED to members of the Executive Council, composed of Vice Presidents W. M. Pearce, S. M. Kennedy, Marshall Pennington and Bill Parsley, Presidential Adviser and Coordinator R. C. Goodwin, Presidential Assistant Roy Wells and Executive Administrative Assistant Jean Baker, as well as Dr. Murray. The committee meets on Tuesday mornings and is expected to receive the code next Tuesday. Dr. Murray is out of town this week, but was expected to review the code while gone.

Also in the proposed revised code are a section on alcoholic beverages which applies state law only to off-campus functions, the elimination of faculty or staff chaperones at off-campus functions and a statement on dress standards which makes the determination of appropriate dress "the responsibility of the individual."

The proposed code also provides for a procedure of amending itself, a procedure absent in all previous codes.

AMENDMENTS WILL BE PROPOSED by a two-thirds vote of the Student Senate and will then be presented in a student body election. Upon a two-thirds favorable vote, the amendment will be submitted by the Committee on the Code of Student Affairs with their recommendations to the president for final approval.

In its recommendations to Dr. Murray, the committee stressed that "all campus organizations whose constitutions or bylaws conflict with the new Code of Student Affairs should revise those documents as appropriate."

A reorganized Committee on Student Organizations, as provided in the code, consists of four faculty members including the faculty adviser to the Student Senate (who is appointed by the Senate) and three appointed by the Faculty Advisory Committee (FAC) and approved by the president, and three student members.

THE VICE PRESIDENT OF THE Student Association is a permanent student member and the president of the student association appoints the remaining two student members. The committee is chaired by the dean of student life, who votes only in case of a tie.

The CSO has both original and appellate jurisdiction in hearing cases of organizational offenses. Charges against organizations must be brought by the dean of student life and then referred to the proper organization court or upon writ of certiorari, directly to the CSO.

Final appeal in either individual or organization offenses rests with a Student Appeals Board (SAB) set up by the code, also an innovation from previous codes.

THE SAB IS ALSO COMPOSED OF four faculty and three student members. The chairman shall be appointed directly by the president and the FAC appoints the other three with presidential approval. One student member is a Supreme Court Justice appointed by the Chief Justice and the Student Senate designates the remaining two students.

The SAB in essence does away with the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court in disciplinary cases, leaving it to function only in constitutional matters.

The disciplinary procedures of the revised code provide:

- Appeal to the SAB for penalties of probation, suspension or dismissal as imposed by the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women, with final authority vested in the Board of Directors or president of the university.

• Pending final action on charges against a student, his status as a student is not altered and he may continue to attend classes in most instances.

• Charges which might result in probation, suspension or dismissal must be made in writing and the person informed of who made the charges.

• The burden of proof in all cases rests with the officials bringing the charges.

The right of petition included in the code provides for a referendum among members of any organization when 10 per cent of the organization's membership have petitioned for such a vote.

AMONG THE COMMITTEE'S FURTHER recommendations to Dr. Murray are immediate implementation of the 21-year-old age limit in campus-approved housing, an investigation of dues collected by certain campus organizations and abolishment of the use of Semester Evaluation Forms in residence halls.

Dr. Murray is expected to return to the campus next week. His office did not know when definite action would be taken on the code.

The complete text of the code as it was presented to Dr. Murray will be published in The University Daily as soon as space permits.

Increase in budget may come

By JUDY FOWLER
Managing Editor

The House Appropriations Committee sent to the floor Tuesday a one-year, no-new-tax bill totaling $559.3 billion that would, if passed, increase Tech's fiscal budget by roughly $2.5 million.

REP. DELWIN JONES OF Lubbock told the University Daily Tuesday that the budget had originally been planned for a two-year period.

"We started under a two-year allocation. Under the first year of this Tech would have received $13.4 million for the first year. Under the present bill Tech would receive $15.6 million for the first year," he said.

The bill has $500,000 ear-marked for building funds for the new multi-million dollar museum complex Tech has been planning.

JONES SAID HE WAS confident the bill would clear the House, but anticipated possible trouble in the Senate.

"The Senate is working on their own version of this bill and they may either accept or reject our bill. If they reject it we will meet in joint committee over it. Some compromises may have to be made in this joint committee," he said.

The House bill closely resembles the same amount Connally recommended for education. Jones said the difference in the size of the Tech appropriation lies in the fact the House did not track Connally's plan but that of the Legislative budget board.

"THIS BOARD HAD LOWER figures than Connally's recommendations, but the previous plan allowed for a fairly large amount of monies to be left in a general fund put under the control of the Coordinating Board.

"The distribution of this money was to be left up to the board. Under the House bill this fund was done away with and the money was applied to specific schools."

Jones said that the bill would probably come up for a House vote the last part of this week or the first of next week.

Fund to cover legal expenses

Rev. Ralph Macy of Ecumenical Campus Ministries said Tuesday the defense fund for the three men charged with marijuana possession will cover their legal expenses only.

THE FUND CURRENTLY stands at $220, most of which has been contributed by faculty and townspeople. It was started after police arrested five men, four of whom were Tech students, at a party on 13th St. on April 1.

When the fund was begun, Macy said the group sponsoring it wanted to assure an adequate defense fund because of the open nature of the charges.

THE CASE WILL BE tried when the 137th grand jury convenes next month.

WOMEN OF THE YEAR—Sandy Harris, named Student Woman of the Year, Mrs. Irene Parsons, who was speaker for the annual Women's Day banquet, and

Dr. Johnnie Dorsey, named Faculty Woman of the Year exchange congratulations.

— removal from blacklist —

Officials to attempt reconciliation

Three Tech officials travel to Cleveland today in hopes of removing Texas Tech from the "blacklist" of the American Association of University Professors.

PRESIDENT GROVER E. MURRAY, Dr. S. M. Kennedy, vice president for academic affairs, and Dr. Lawrence Graves, president of the Tech chapter of AAUP, will present the case to the AAUP committee on academic freedom and tenure. The committee will conduct inquiries and make a recommendation to the convention as a whole Friday.

Dr. Kennedy said the convention usually accepts the recommendation of the committee, and that a final decision will be announced Friday evening or Saturday morning.

The action was prompted by a unanimous vote of Tech's Board of Directors April 8 to offer a contract to one of the three professors ousted by the Board almost 10 years ago.

THE CURRENT BOARD VOTED to rehire Dr. Byron Abernethy as a full professor with tenure in the department of government beginning Sept. 1, subject to removal from the list of censure.

Abernethy and Dr. Herbert Greenberg were ousted by the Board after a four-and-one-half hour closed meeting on July 13, 1957. The job of Dr. Per Stensland, head of the department of adult education, was abolished at the same meeting.

The Board gave no reasons for the removals and refused to grant public hearings to the dismissed professors.

TECH WAS THEN CENSURED by AAUP and has remained on its "blacklist" since that time.

Dr. Kennedy said he would be "very disappointed" if the censure was not removed because every effort had been made to rectify the situation.

In a story by Robert L. Jacobson in the Chronicle of Higher Education, he said "at least one of the 17 institutions on the association's censure list appears close to satisfying requirements for removal of censure."

THE INSTITUTION IS TEXAS Technological College in Lubbock. Its board of directors was censured in 1958 after it fired three professors without stating reasons.

William P. Fidler, deputy general secretary of AAUP, said last week he had been informed that the college's tenure policy had been "brought into rather close accord" with the association's 1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure.

The Chronicle listed the 17 institutions currently on the AAUP censure list. Tech has been censured second longest of any school, preceded only by Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia which was censured in 1956.

THE OTHER INSTITUTIONS AND dates of censure are: Lowell Technological Institute, Mass. (1960); Benedict College, S.C. (1961); Alabama State College (1962); South Dakota State University (1962); Alcorn A&M College, Miss. (1963); Arkansas State Teachers College (1963); Grove City

Harris selected Woman of year

Sandra Harris, 1966-67 president of Women's Residence Council, was named Tech's Woman of the Year at the annual Women's Day Banquet Tuesday.

MRS. JOHNNIE DORSEY, of the Home Economics school, was named Faculty Woman of the Year at the dinner, the highlight of the 35th Women's Day celebration.

Miss Irene Parsons, assistant Personnel Director for the Veterans Administration, was guest speaker for the event, sponsored by the Association of Women Students.

She told the nearly 400 women at the banquet that a woman's place in the career world "is everywhere."

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES FOR women have improved significantly, she said, because of technological advancement which has provided employment opportunity for skilled women. "The distinctions between skilled jobs for men and those for women are vanishing," she said.

"The most important factor in doing a job," she concluded, "is a determination to do something—a desire to excel."

Scholarship awards were presented to members of each sorority with highest grade point averages for the fall semester. Kappa Kappa Gamma was presented an award for the sorority with the highest overall grade point average.

DORMITORIES RECEIVING scholarship awards were Weeks for upperclassmen and Wall for freshmen. Both are repeats from last year.

Special awards presented and their recipients included the following:

Alpha Lambda Delta Award, Nancy Taylor; Mortar Board Award, Jane Stewart; Home Economics Award, Sharon Baumgardner; Phi Gamma Nu

Award, Kitty Chapman; Intramural Award, Barbara McKinney; Chi Omega Award, Mrs. Jean Spalding;

Delta Delta Delta Scholarship, Nancy Taylor; Kappa Kappa Gamma Scholarship, Jane Howe; Pi Beta Scholarship; Cherly Tarver and Pat Patillo; Tau Beta Sigma Scholarship, Karen Elkins; WEEKS HALL SCHOLARSHIP, Carol Weingartner; Zeta Tau Alpha Scholarship, Ruth Rucker; Delta Kappa Gamma Scholarship, Mary Lynn Anderson.

Lubbock City Panhellenic presented an award to Kappa Alpha Theta for most improvement in scholarship for the past year. The group also presented scholarships of $100 to five Tech women, Suzy Crain, Judy Jay, Gwen Henry, Janie Kinney and Ginger Viets, a repeat winner from last year.

Secretary run-off is set today

Voting will begin today at 8 a.m. in the Student Senate elections and run-off for secretary.

STUDENTS WILL BE ABLE to vote for secretary and for senators from all schools in the Tech Union from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Polls will be open for the election of senators in the following buildings from 8 to noon and 1 to 5 p.m.: Ad Building for A&S, B.A. Building for B.A., both engineering buildings for Engineering, Agriculture Building for Agriculture, and the Home Economics Building for Home Ec.

Benefits are worthwhile

(Second of four: the benefits of a name-change.)

Changing the name of Texas Technological College to a name which truly represents this university will accomplish more than mere attainment of proper terminology. It will benefit the university in many ways, and along with it, persons associated with the university.

A name which adequately describes our university will help improve the quality of faculty by aiding in faculty recruitment. Faculty "stealing" from other universities is a recognized practice now, but it is difficult to lure anyone from a "university" to a "technological college." Once a prof is here, he often finds it difficult to gain acceptance and wide recognition of his research and writings because of the name of his institution; he may avoid the situation by not coming. As one department head said recently: "We failed to secure the services of two new men with doctorate degrees . . . both were very interested in Texas Tech, but expressed concern about the limitations placed upon us by our misleading name." Similar comments are frequent in sciences, humanities, languages, arts, social sciences and other fields.

A name which adequately describes our university will increase grants and fellowships, for it will improve the credentials by which both private and federal sources often distribute money. Although research money goes to schools with research facilities, this is often judged by names. A school of university status would naturally seem to have more research facilities than a "college."

A name which adequately describes our university will improve the opportunities for employment for many graduates, for employers often fail to see that a graduate of a "technological college" can help them, especially if a person is applying with someone not familiar with the school. Also to be remembered are the thousands and thousands of future graduates of "Texas Technological College," emphasized by the fact that as many people have graduated from Tech in the past 11 years as did in the previous 30 years.

Undeniably, a name-change for Texas Technological College will benefit both the institution and its members. The change is now past due, indicated by the present content of our campus. Delay is no longer needed, and in its place should come a new, representative, descriptive name for our university.

(Tomorrow: Why not Texas Tech University?)

Senatorial aspirants give qualifications for positions

SCHOOL OF ARTS AND SCIENCES IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER

SAM M. BERGERT
The Graduate School is an integral part of the campus of Texas Tech. Its enrollment has increased rapidly the past few years, and it is now an important force in our college. This should be no less true concerning student government. The student government should be interested in the graduate student.

MIKE BRAWLEY
Texas Tech is fast becoming a University of prominence. In order to maintain its high position, Tech will need capable leaders in the Student Senate. Men who will not be afraid to voice the opinion of the student body, men who will make Tech not only a place of learning, but more important, an institute of learning. The following are, in my opinion, a few of the ways in which this can be achieved.

BILLY PAYNE
During the past year significant improvements have been noticeable in the Student Senate, however much remains to be done. As a candidate for Senator, I definitely support a thorough student poll in order to present the ideas of the majority of the student body to the administration of the school. If this is done then they cannot simply avoid our demands, but instead they must act.

ROSEMARIE SALVATO
How often have you been asked for your opinion on a controversial and current idea or issue? Supposedly, our Student Senate is a representative body for the 17,000 students who attend our university. Yet, I am sure the majority of you will have to admit that you have never personally contacted to voice your opinions. It is not time you, the students, were asked for your opinions concerning the decisions which face our student government?

SANDY STEARNS
Apathy on the part of the Student Senate and the student body is the main problem on this campus. The tendency to let issues rest in committee has to stop. The back has been passed long enough. Action needs to be taken. What is being done about the A&S blacklist, the Pool Service, the name change, and the Code of Student Affairs? The fact that these issues are "under consideration" by a committee is not an answer. What are the details? The students need to know specifics. The issues should be placed before the students because their opinions affect these issues and changes in them.

CLAUDIA WELCH
The many students on the Tech campus today are unaware of who their Senators are, what they are doing, or where to submit suggestions. The first goal as Senator would be to acquaint myself with all our current problems. However, these suggestions must be taken to the Senate for their consideration. But it is just as important to inform the students of the Senate's answer to their suggestions.

BITA WILLIAMS
Serving as a Student Senator this year, I feel that I have had an opportunity to survey the problems of the Senate and to formulate ways to remedy them. The Senate has gained recognition in the right direction through its past legislative action. The Elections Revision Bill, the Campus Transportation Act and the Calendar Act are just a few beginning but only that—a beginning.

BARBARA KELLY
If elected Senator of Home Economics, I will do my best to represent the voice of the students at all times. I am in favor of:
● Co-ordinating all the organizations on campus under one roof and more unified work between organizations; a main source to which problems may be taken and a main source of knowledge of all campus activities may be obtained.
● Expanding the executive branch to include cabinet officers to be held by non-senators with approval of the Senate.
● Obtaining the students' opinions on current matters by taking frequent polls.
● Providing for an appropriate name change to allow the school to be recognized as a university.
● Providing for optional meal tickets.

CARE HUDSON
Strong student government is necessary for the welfare of the student body. The strength of student government lies in the participation of individual students. To further this participation I would support the creation of a Senate of Agriculture. This would also work to create a committee, made up of representatives in the School of Agriculture, to study and collect opinions of the Ag students. Then this committee would meet with the Ag senators to help formulate their thinking and plan their actions to best represent these students.

JIM COLLIE
Although much has been done this year to open ways of exchanging ideas between the administration and the student body, we have learned one thing: a bull-headed, unreasonable approach by student leaders to university administrators is doomed to failure.

JACKIE GOODWIN
A strong interest in government has always been a major part of my life as a student. Since entering Tech, however, I have felt completely out of contact with our Student Senate. Outside of occasional articles in the University Daily and two "Gripe Notes" that were sponsored by the Ideas and Issues Committee, of which I am a member, I feel the ordinary student has been kept uninformed as to the daily operations of our student government.

DAVID SANDERS
The issue in this campaign are obviously more than attempts to convince the voter that the candidate is capable of having or presenting good ideas. I feel that my work in originating and developing the idea for summer night classes, as well as ideas submitted formally to the committee for the Code of Student Affairs, and research on the problems of a speaking of dormitory hours, qualified me in this regard.

LINDA TILINGHAST
The Student Senate is a privilege, a privilege that should not be abused with irresponsible legislation. It is a privilege through which the student body can be communicated to the administration. My platform is based on the desires of this student body. I feel that I have brought to the attention of your senators.

EVERETT URSCH
My platform consists of several major planks. I will try to get students to take a greater interest in their Senate and to actively work to take a greater interest in the student body. The Senators should wear name tags and be more visible so that the students can recognize their senators and voice their opinions to them.

CAREY WINDLER
I would strive to see that the Chancellor Screening Board is legal and approved by Tech. I would work for Senate backing of expenses for the outmoded intramural facilities.

DIANE KING
I would like to represent you, the Home Economics students, in the Student Senate. I would like to make the ideas gained through that representation available to you by posting the proceedings in our new Home Economics Building. On particular items, I will strive to see that the new foods committee is given a more effective, but better preparation of food served in the Student Senate would insure my support of bringing women's rules up to date and to present and discuss student problems in more dignified and personal sessions.

CHRIS BENTON
This senatorial election is an important one for us as students at Tech, for student government is at a crossroads and a decision must be made whether to follow the laissez-faire policy we have adopted in the past or to strike out in the direction of dynamic leadership and government in the hands of the students. I prefer the latter.

ROXNY DICKSON
The Senate of Texas Tech is the one representative body that enables all collegians to have their wishes, voices, and demands known to the administration. Through a united Senate, Texas Tech will become a true university structure, regardless of name.

PETE KYLE
The position of Senator, as stated by the Constitution of the Texas Tech Student Association is to promote, support, and actively work on the activities and opinion. An awesome task in a school of 18,000, such a position cannot be lightly regarded and requires competent individuals to fulfill its needs.

BILLY SINGLETON
As a candidate for the A&S Senator, I propose the following platform:
● I will endeavor to keep the insolation, however, I do believe that the Senate should give more aid in coordinating the various organizations so that the student body can be more representative.
● I will endeavor to work for better student government in all athletic events. Several proposals have been presented before the Senate, however, little has been done. I believe a more progressive Senate will help solve this problem.

SHARON WALKER
I feel that the channels of communication between the student body and the administrators should be expanded and less bureaucratic. I am an elected Senator, I will try my best to see that each student does have a voice in the Senate. I believe I am a vote for the voice of the students.

MARSHA ZINN
As a senator for A & S I would try to initiate the following changes:
● Better student action on campus meetings by providing a gallery for student visitors; the suggested "gripe box" should be expanded to include a list of Senator's names, addresses, and phone numbers outside Senate office and in the dean's office of their respective colleges.
● A standing Senate Publicity Committee to inform the student body of pending actions and to coordinate the reporting of data regarding Senate action on ideas and issues, and information about elections under Senate jurisdiction. This committee is necessary for the realization of I and II, and is a definite step of progress.

ALAN BROWN
As a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Freshman Men's Honorary, a social fraternity, and as a dorm resident, I strongly support a united Senate. I would like to represent the entire student body fairly and equitably.

MIKE EVANS
"Two score and two years ago" this campus was the same as it is today. The present code of student government was enacted in 1927 and except for minor changes, is the same code of the pre-World War II era.

J. B. MURPHY
The greatest stigma of student government at Texas Tech is a lack of communication between the students and their elected representatives. I feel the duty of the student Senator is to voice the opinion of his constituent and not merely his own personal opinion.

SANDRA SHELTON
If elected Senator in A&S, I will do my best to evaluate all evidence brought before me and do all within my power to see that student opinion is represented fairly.

BILLY SINGLETON
As a candidate for the A&S Senator, I propose the following platform:

SUSAN WEINER
The Student Senate can and should be the medium through which students and administrative committees meet. The Senate's responsibility is to see that this communication system is effective. The Senate also has the responsibility to promote the image of Texas Tech and to work for the students' best interests. I believe I am being done by each of these groups.

ELAINE BAKER
This year, I was elected as a student government. This led to a lack of communication because I did not know who to contact or how to go about it. Therefore, I propose this solution: The Senators and where they may be contacted should be published in a particular section of our campus directory. This would enable the students to contact the Senators and voice their opinions and ideas for their representative.

LARRY CRAIG
The students as a policy-forming body, the increasingly parking problem, off-campus housing, seniority system of registration for women's dorms, and other campus problems many other campus problems must have Student Senate attention. For those who want this university to be a university, I will support a candidate for Senator from B.A.

BARRY CURLEE
It is my desire to serve this student body with my best efforts. As Senator in the School of Business Administration I hope to accomplish the following goals:
● Fair seating arrangements for all students at athletic events.
● An optional meal ticket, paying one for four.
● Free campus bus service, supported by surplus funds of the Traffic Security.
● A better communication with organizations not within the Student Senate.
● I also favor getting stronger support from the City of Lubbock.

WOMEN'S SENATOR
I am a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Freshman Men's Honorary, a social fraternity, and as a dorm resident, I strongly support a united Senate. I would like to represent the entire student body fairly and equitably.

ROBERT FAIRCHILD
The Student Senate has made great strides in the past year, but it still can make much greater strides in the future. I feel that I can help both the Senate and the student body by being elected and working on the following issues:

Rodeo attracts crowd

Doc and Festus, stars of "Gunsmoke," saddled their horses and took off for higher pastures Sunday morning after four successful nights at Tech's indoor collegiate rodeo.

THE RODEO, sponsored by the Tech Rodeo Association, began Wednesday night with 12 colleges and universities from all over the Southwest entering cowboys and cowgirls in the eight events.

Wednesday night the Rodeo Association named Miss Betty

White, a Midland sophomore, as rodeo queen and presented the Dub Parks Award to Bob Bradley, Dimmitt graduate student in animal husbandry. This award is given each year to the member who has contributed the most to the 273-member organization.

DOC AND FESTUS, better known as Milburn Stone and Ken Curtis, the kindly old doctor and shiftless saddle tramp of television's popular "Gunsmoke" series, provided the musical entertainment at each performance. Stone and Curtis, neither of whom has been cast in musical roles on the show, surprised the audience of 3,500 the first night when they stepped to the microphone and sang "Tumblin' Tumbleweed" in a style reminiscent of Gene Autry.

Their performances became the highpoints of each show and the word spread until on Friday and Saturday nights crowds of 7,000 sat in the Coliseum to hear them sing familiar ballads.

THE RODEO riders themselves put out crowd-pleasing efforts with Eastern New Mexico University finally drawing first place in men's division. Texas Tech's girls team swept the field to take top honors in their events including barrel racing and goat tying. Tech cowboys took third after Sul Ross with second.

Injuries ran light with one broken ankle suffered when a rider landed wrong after he was thrown from a bull.

Dr. Frank Hudson, of Tech's animal husbandry department, said the difficulty the bull riders had in staying on was due to the good, rough stock the rodeo uses. Wednesday night only one rider completed his ride and Thursday night saw only three more stay in competition.

APPROXIMATELY $1,800 in prizes was awarded in trophies and buckles.

The rodeo was handled strictly by students with Bob Bradley, president of the Association, in charge, and Jack Horne, vice-president, and Bob Young, Association board member, working as rodeo secretaries.

ANYBODY GOT A TRUCK?—It's usually a "fisherman's lie" when a fan remarks that you could drive a truck through a hole in the line, but that's not always the case. In Saturday's scrimmage such a hole was cleared for Jimmy Bennett. Bennett elected to run—rather than drive—through the gaping hole and got substantial yardage on the play. The Raiders have their final scrimmage of the spring training session this Saturday.

Spring workout lags following scrimmage

According to superstition, a poor dress rehearsal is supposed to mean a good play. However in football the opposite usually holds true.

Such was the case as the Raiders returned to the bump and grind of a daily workout yesterday following their best performance of the spring training routine Saturday.

"THE WORKOUT was pretty good," commented Coach

J T King, "However, it wasn't as lively as some in the past. I'm sure Saturday's scrimmage is having its effects on the boys."

As hot gusts of wind swept over the practice field, the Raiders worked mainly on fundamentals and smoothed over some of the rough spots from the spirited scrimmage.

"We worked on just about everything today," King said. "In addition, we drew some attention to some missed assignments from the game and went over them."

WHILE THE drill was a bit lackluster, King commented on a few grid aspirants who shined during the session.

"I thought Roger Freeman was running pretty well, and Bobby Allen was doing a good job catching. On the offensive line, Mike Patterson and Phil Tucker were blocking well."

One injury was reported during the drill. Stan Edwards, an offensive tackle, suffered a leg injury.

Clay's lawyers fight induction

HOUSTON (AP) — Lawyers for Cassius Clay told a federal judge Tuesday the heavyweight champion will never submit to induction into the armed services.

U.S. Dist. Judge Allen B. Hannay also was asked in a 67-page petition to halt Clay's scheduled Friday induction and stay all actions in the case pending a full scale hearing at which time Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and Gov. John Connally would be required to appear as witnesses.

HANNAY was asked to restrain Houston's Selective Service officials from reporting Clay as a delinquent if he fails to take the symbolic one step forward and submit to induction Friday.

"Clay has publicly declared and here alleges that he will not do as commanded on the 28th day of April, 1967, or anytime thereafter," the petition said.

Clay has said he will not take the oath or wear an Army uniform but said again Tuesday he will report to the induction station.

"YES SIR, I will be there," Clay told a reporter. However, when he was asked what he would do at the induction station, he replied: "I have said all I am going to say."

Lawyers Hayden Covington of New York and Quinlan Hodges of Houston filed the action after the Supreme Court on Monday turned down similar pleas for the second time in eight days.

Clay had his draft files transferred here after adopting Houston as his "new hometown" in January.

THE NEW petition specifically asks the court to compel the district draft appeals board to change Clay from 1A to IV-4 classification as a minister of religion exempting him from all training in the service.

Clay, who calls himself Muhammad Ali, claims he is a Muslim minister.

"He devotes 160 hours a month to his ministerial duties," Covington told reporters. "Boxing is an incidental sideline to him."

Raiders prepare for ACC series

By GARY TILORY Sports Writer

Riding the crest of a three game winning streak in the second half of the season, the Red Raiders eagerly await the Abilene Christian College Wildcats to invade the Varsity Field for a three games series here Friday and Saturday.

With their bats still red hot from the fierce encounter with all-powerful Sul Ross, they are now aiming their sights on a winning season. Their record standing now at 7-13 they have 10 games to go.

"Even after a bad start we can have a goal of a break even or winning season. However, we can't have a bad game along the line," commented Head Coach Burl Huffman.

"ACC is having a fine season so far this year. They broke even with Baylor (a team which took two games from Tech over the Easter break) and they beat Sul Ross twice in Alpine. And that's something you don't do is beat Sul Ross at home," said Huffman.

"As far as the rest of the other teams are concerned Eastern New Mexico is having a winning season and Pan American, which is as good a baseball school as you'll find in the country, will be tough," he said.

For the first time this year the Raiders will be at full strength. Hampered all year with injuries, ineligible players and the measles the diamondmen will try to live up to their pre-season press clippings.

Coach Kal Segrist commented on the team by saying, "If everybody stays healthy and our hitting continues as it did during the Sul Ross series we can finish real strong."

Theta Sigma Phi will meet noon Thursday in the Journalism Seminar Room.

Town Girls will have a luncheon today at noon in the Coronado Room of the Tech Union.

Netmen whitewash ACC, 6-0

Tech's netmen ended their home tennis season on a successful note Tuesday by whitewashing Abilene Christian College, 6-0.

The Raiders have but one dual match remaining in the season, that being the SWC showdown with the University of Texas at Austin. The winner will probably be SWC champions, unless the match is close and second-place Baylor defeats Southern Methodist by an impressive margin.

THE RAIDERS had little trouble putting down the Wildcats as none of the singles-or doubles matches went more than two sets. Pat Acton, playing No. 1 for Mike Beene who missed the match to hit the books, defeated ACC's Dickie Hill, 6-3, 7-5.

In other play, Rudy Gutierrez beat Bryan Post 7-5, 6-1; Murphy Yates defeated Tim Drachenberg 6-1, 6-2; and Mike Woods beat David Pittard 6-0, 6-3.
